Mrs. Baker Joining Husband at Air Force Station in Azores

Announcement has been made by the Manchester Girl Scout Council of the resignation of Mrs. Lucille Baker, Girl Scout Executive. Mrs. Baker will leave on August 18 for the Azores, where her husband is stationed with the Air Force.

Mrs. Lucille Baker

Mrs. Baker has been the first paid executive in the Manchester Girl Scout organization and has contributed to strengthening and unifying the work. She established a well run office where records and information are contained. She also acted as Director of Camp Merri-Wood and instituted an extremely successful program of progression in camp skills and opportunity to develop special interests.

The continued growth of Girl Scouting in Manchester has shown the need for a Girl Scout executive and the Manchester Girl Scout Council is taking steps to obtain a qualified person to fill the position.

Attention all poker players who like to sneak off from the wives once in a while to play a few rounds with the boys.

Here's a scheme that might ease the pain of your departure—or return.

First of all, suggest to the boys that so much from every pot go into a kitty. The dough would be allowed to pile up and could then be used to throw a big party—including the wives, of course.

Next step is to casually mention the "savings plan" to wifey. Don't push it too hard. Just drop a word.

Bet she'll be interested. Might even have some ideas as to how the money should be used. But it might make her a little more agreeable to poker and your poker-playing pals.

Surprising how much dough can accumulate with the kitty system. Some local social clubs throw big outings each year with money saved by the kitty method.

One poker group we know has started taking just a nickle from each pot. One three-hour session produced seven dollars. After three meetings, the boys have $19 saved and they're just starting to roll. Wait 'til winter comes.

The late Will Asimus, long time City Editor of this publication, was very much against the covering up of people's exploits from newsprint. One publication Will read most religiously was the Publisher's Auxiliary. The following article which appeared in a recent issue of this magazine bears out Wills stand:

The "girl friend" of an infamous ganster protests: "Why won't the press leave us alone."

The government official proclaims: "This matter will work itself out, if we can avoid the publicity."

The town marshal declares: "This is a matter between the fellow I arrested and me. The newspaper shouldn't say anything about it."

Sympathy is wasted on these arguments. As long as the public is interested in the activities of the gangster's "moll," newspapers are charged with hounding her. As long as this nation remains a democracy, the people have a right to know what their employees are doing. Since the town marshal acts as a representative of the people, his actions are of direct concern to all.

A newspaper is usually derelict in its duty if it bows to the "let's keep this quiet" appeal.

(We say usually, because there are mitigating circumstances which any editor must face on a moral ground. Publications of names of under-age first offenders can be an example.)

But there is too much secrecy in the public business. There is too much in its law enforcement. And this secrecy goes right down to the smallest element of government, perhaps even starts there.

You've faced the common plaint: Let's not say anything about this. A newspaper story will only cause trouble."

Unfortunately, the "trouble" has usually been caused.

In the small town, just as last week's editorial cited as being true in Washington, gossip runs rampant. While in Washington, much of it is motivated by malice, smalltown gossip is usually prompted by a genuine interest in fellow men.

But gossip tends to distortion.

Particularly in the small town, publication of the true facts will reduce the scandal to proper proportions and put an end to the gossip. That is the positive reason for printing.

On the negative side we can only observe:

"If the wage of sin is death, certainly truthful, newspaper publicity is the withholding tax."

It has happened before and undoubtedly will happen again. In fact, it happened this week, right here in town.

The young lad asked his mother to buy him a pair of those handcuffs he saw in the store. They were the kind that are released by a push button release, not the snap-ons that require a key to open.

He was home but a short time when he decided to play with his new bracelets. There wasn't any trouble hooking them on, but try and get them off. Even mother couldn't unsnap the things and before they were through, it took a hacksaw to get junior loose again.

This department has just received a moving complaint over the fact that Manchester is a dry town. But this complaint does not refer to the fact that the town is dry on Sundays. This beef is to the effect that Manchester has been dry all summer long.

It's almost as if the weatherman sends rain only to those communities which do allow Sunday sales. This summer has seen generous rains a few miles to the east of us, a few miles to the west of us, a few miles to the north of us, a few miles to the south of us. All New England, in fact, has had what farmers would call a wet summer.

All except Manchester. Here the rainfall has been well below normal, and fields have continually been on the verge of drought. Manchester has been a desert in the midst of plenty, not only on Sunday, but every day.

So the plea which comes to this department is all in favor of having Manchester go wet. But friend farmer wants it understood that he is a teetotaler, and speaking only for thirsty lawns and crops.

Merchant's Day was different this year. For one reason or another, there were people downtown all day long. This was a disappointment to the old-timers who, on this one day a year, like to see the town go sleepy and quiet, like a ghost village, until they can dream once more that it is the town of their own youth, an unchanged Brigadoon which emerges, on this one day a year, from the cloud and din of traffic, from the bustle and haste of shopping crowds. But this year the magic was missing; the day never did get quiet enough for anyone to hear the soft pad of hooves and the soft grate of carriage wheels down gravel lanes.

Having trouble sleeping these hot, sticky nights? Do your pajamas—if you're still wearing 'em—cling to you and bind and generally take all rest out of sleeping?

If the answer is yes, we cordially invite you to try a sure-fire cool cooling prescription which has been recommended to us. Easy as pie, and even if it doesn't work on your particular case you'll probably get a laugh out of it.

First of all, recline flat on your back in bed. Stretch out and relax. Then using the forefingers of your right and left hands, respectively, start at the top of the ribs on each side of your chest and run the fingers down the rib cage in a tickling motion. Repeat until thoroughly cooled.

(We had better state here that Heard Along assumes no responsibility for chills, pneumonia or hysteria contracted or caused through this method.)

That's all there is to it. Simple, eh? And our informant claims it works. Honest.

To prove that a fireman's life has its lighter side, let's delve into Fire Engineering's "Watch Desk" column for a few human interest highlights.

The Rye, N. Y., fire department was scheduled to play host to the local County Fire Chief's Emergency Plan. Piece de resistance for several hundred visiting firemen was to be New England clam chowder, buckets of it! To do a bang-up job, the Rye recipe called for hours of slow cooking. Smack in the middle of the culinary preparations, with all available wash boilers brimming with chowder, the boys were called out to save a $65,000 house. Lack of water proved to be a problem until someone remembered the chowder simmering at headquarters. A kitchen detail, "armed with spoons and ladles" saved the day!

Firemen of Jacksonville, Ark., near Little Rock, decided to do something drastic about the motorists who always get in their way at fires. They hit upon the idea of faking an alarm. When motorists started driving over fire hoses at the scene of the nonexistent fire, the boys let loose their streams of water—at the unsuspecting motoriss. (A word o the wise—?")

Being a volunteer fireman, subject to call 24 hours daily can be tough on a man—especially if he has his own business where every customer counts. A Granbury, Texas, barber's not complaining, mind you, but he would like to see a little rain. Like everywhere, the dryer the weather, the more frequent the fires. Barber Roberson (also Chief of the local Department) fled his shop four times in a recent day to fight fires—leaving a customer in his chair each time. The week before he went to 18 fires. (Weatherman, please note! Take pity on John Merz.)

The Model T Ford zoomed into the Oakland street gas station, whisked by the pumps and finally came to a halt back in the middle of the highway and about 40 feet away from the pumps.

The driver got out and sauntered over to the wide-eyed attendant.

"Fill 'er up," he said.

The attendant eyed the weaving autoist and immediately smelled the situation. So he went out to the car, backed it up to the pumps, and did as he was told.

Then he took the keys to the car, placed them in his pocket and informed the driver that any future travelling for the day would have to be via foot 'or bus. The driver, it seemed, had tanked up before his car did.

The driver didn't take kindly to the situation, and after much grumbling asked the attendant for a nickle. The latter asked why.

"I," the driver announced solemnly, "am going to have you arrested for taking the keys to my car."

But the good-hearted attendant gave the man a nickel anyhow. After several unsuccessful attempts to fit the coin into the slot of the pay phone, our slightly-glued hero gave it up as a bad job.

The attendant finally got a look at the man's driving license and discovered he lived in Hartford. So the attendant hailed the next bus.

When last seen, our hero was heading toward the Capital City—minus his car and keys. The only thing he had left was his slightly-dampened dignity.

Why is it that one month can have so much and another so little? Sunshine, that is.

Right now, Old Man Weather is making us look pretty good. A couple of weeks ago, we commented on the beautiful vacation month that July had turned out to be. We warned August vacationers that they might be in for some poor weather.

Well, so far August cannot quite be considered the ideal vacation month. Cold, windy, rain. Nasty stuff for most beach lovers.

But cheer up. We have another prediction. Summer is going to return to us for a few days this month. And we don't mean Indian Summer, either.

But you can't beat some of our local old-timers as far as forecasting the weather. We were talking to one of them during one of the hottest days of July.

"Won't be long now," he said. "We'll have a good rain and then it's going to cool off for a while. Nice sleeping."

And, by gosh, he was right.

Hungary, Slav Tension Grows

Budapest Formal Note To Tito Charges Shells Fired Across Border

Budapest, Hungary, Aug. 13—(AP)—Hungary charted in a formal note to Yugoslavia today that Premier Marshal Tito's border forces fired 105-millimeter artillery shells deep into Hungarian territory.

The note said the number of such "border violations and provocations" have more than doubled since last May.

(Hungary, as well as other Soviet satellite states which border on Yugoslavia, have made numerous charges of violations since Tito broke with the Cominform. Yugoslavia has denied the charges and brought counter-accusations against Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria and Albania.

(Tension has been mounting steadily on the Yugoslav border, a tinderbox area where the cold war could turn into a hot one).

The latest Hungarian note, delivered to the Yugoslav legation, said the number of border violations reached 31 from July 1 to 7. This was in contrast to 14 such cases in May, the note added.

Hungary charged there were 46 instances of Yugoslav frontier guards aiming and firing shots at Hungarian border police and civilians, and that Yugoslav military aircraft were making reconnaissance flights over Hungary. The

500 Unhurt, Streamliner Hops Tracks

Four Oaks, N. C., Aug. 13—(AP) Hundreds of passengers escaped death or serious injury near here yesterday in the wreck of the Atlantic Coast Line's streamline passenger train, the East Coast Champion.

According to C. G. Sibley, ACL assistant vice president for operations, more than 500 persons were aboard the Miami-New York train which crashed two miles north of here at 1:20 a. m. (e. s. t.) The railroad announced no one was killed and no one was seriously injured when the nine middle cars of the 18-car train were derailed and three cars plunged down a 20-foot embankment.

Miracle

The fact that none were killed in the wreck was termed "the most miraculous thing I've ever seen" by Dr. Watson Wharton of nearby Smithfield where nine persons were hospitalized following the wreck.

Six derailed cars held to the right of way, although one turned over. One of the three cars that toppled over the embankment landed on its side, one on its wheels and one on its top. The

Zwillman Hunted In Boston Suburb

Boston, Aug. 13—(AP) — Senate Crime committee agents today hunted a shore hideout of Abner "Longie" Zwillman whom they described as a former bigtime bootlegger who gave them the slip at sea.

Richard Roser, chief counsel of the committee, asked a nationwide alert for the 47-year-old, six-foot, 200-pound Zwillman. The Senate probers want more testimony from Zwillman concerning New Jersey underworld activities.

The search turned to an undisclosed greater Boston city after a yacht on which Zwillman went to sea last week was located at Block Island, R. I. He was not aboard and others on the 70-foot "Howdy Podner" said he went ashore last Friday night at Marblehead, Mass.

New Hitch Develops in Parley When British Withhold Their Plans

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 13 — (AP) — Iranian officials today expressed pessimism on the outcome of their oil nationalization talks with the British.

A new hitch in the negotiations British postponed submission of their proposal for a settlement of the dispute over the nationalization of Anglo-Iranian Oil company holdings. Iranian coolness to their overtures was given as the reason.

Talks With Shah

The British proposal was scheduled to be presented tonight by Richard Stokes, chief of the British delegation. Stokes saw the Shah for a half hour this morning, and is believed to have outlined his proposal and appealed for the Shah's support.

Kazem Hassibi, Undersecretary of Finance and adviser to the Iranian negotiating team, told reporters: "In view of our talks in the first four meetings with the British, it is very difficult to be obtimistic that their proposals will meet a satisfactory response from the Iranian government."

The crux of the dispute is this: Who shall have actual control of the refinery and the oilfields? The British said they are willing to accept the princple of nationalization, but informed sources reported that their proposal, not yet made public, insists upon contin-

German Red Leaders Call Stalin Fuehrer

Berlin, Aug. 13—(AP)—German Communist youth bosses publicly hailed Generalissimo Stalin today as their "fuehrer." They did this in a message to the Soviet leader following up yesterday's screaming parade of Communist youth, a demonstration which far outdid anything the Nazis ever whipped up for Hitler.

But the West used the Communist World Youth Festival to get in some propaganda blows of its own. Hundreds of thousands of youngsters who slipped by the Red guards on the sector border saw things in "imperialist" West Berlin they never dreamed existed before.

Pledge Loyalty

The leaders of the Communist "Free German Youth Movement" (FDJ) used the word "Fuehrer" (leader)—once applied exclusively to Hitler—when they sent the Soviet Prime Minister a pledge promising undying loyalty to him and unfailing opposition to "Western imperialists." Time after time the message, purportedly signed by 4,145,839 young Germans, addressed the Soviet leader as "Dear Joseph Stalin." It concluded with the words: "Long live our wise teacher and fuehrer, our best friend, the great Stalin."

More than a million hoarse and footsore Communist youths were sent home today after they screamed praise of Stalin for hours in yesterday's parade, the climaxing event of the youth festival.

At once youngsters resumed their secret invasion of West Berlin with its capitalistic lures. One special attraction was the opening today of an American television exhibit. Something new even for West Berliners, the television shows in color and in black-

Asks New Tax, Spending Cuts

Washington, Aug. 13—(AP)—Chairman O'Mahoney (D., Wyo) said today there appears to be "general agreement" in his Congressional Economic committee "that expenditures must be kept to a minimum and taxes increased."

He made the statement to reporters after the committee studied a staff report warning of probable rising prices, more inflation and three years of federal deficits.

"There was general agreement," O'Mahoney said, "that inflation is the most serious threat to the position that this country is taking in the world. The American economy is the principal bulwark of the free world."

No Quorum

He said that in the absence of a committee quorum the report was not adopted today. But among members present, he said, there was no criticism of the report "and no objections."

Main theme of the report appeared to be arguments in support of:

1. A considerable higher increase in federal taxes than the $7,200,000,000 a year boost voted by the House. Senators have been talking of holding the increase to five or six billions.

2. Stiffer government controls over prices, wages and credit with emphasis upon savings by individuals.

O'Mahoney, in advance of the committee discussion, told reporters:

"My personal opinion is that the American economy can meet the problems providing the problem is

'Sick' Crews End N. Y. Ferry Tie-Up

New York, Aug. 13—(AP)—"Sick" crewmen of Staten Island ferryboats decided today to return to work, promising relief for the milling thousands of commuters stranded at the waterside on their way to work.

Union committeemen said the crewmen, who had reported sick in a demand for more pay, would be back on their jobs by noon. The committee set noon Friday as a deadline for the city to meet its pay demands.

The "sick slowdown," which had cut ferryboat service between Staten Island and Manhattan to one-third, was the first major labor dispute in the 45 years the city has operated the line.

Only two of the line's six ferries were in service to handle an estimated 38,000 commuters on the famed run known as the world's best five-cent boat trip.

Normally an additional 10,000 Staten Islanders make the trip

Ridgway Skeptical On Kaesong Talks

Washington, Aug. 13— (AP) —Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, United Nations Commander in Korea, apparently hasn't much confidence in the cease-fire talks now going on at Kesong.

But he's banking heavily on the fighting spirit of his men, if the talks fail.

In an interview published today by the magazine U. S. News and World report, Ridgway said:

"The ceaseless flow of falsehoods, perversion and slanted statements which continue to emanate from Communist-controlled public-information media, together with the long record of Communist duplicity, deceit and faithlessness in contractual obligations, have dissolved all doubts in the minds of members of this command as to Communst objectives.

"The members of the United Nations command will now judge Communist intentions not by words, but by performance. This performance to date has produced no concrete evidence of honest, peaceful intentions. Our forces know why they fight and their spirits were never higher."

Of American fighting man, Ridgway said: "He is unsurpassed in battle."

The interview between Washington and Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo was conducted by teletype.

Arrest Woman, 2 Men In Slaying of Ex-Con

Hartford, Aug. 13—(AP)—Two men and a women were under arrest here today in connection with the fatal shoting yesterday of Joseph A. Cackowski, 61-year-old ex-convict and husband of the woman.

Chief of Police Michael J. Godfrey said that Howard A. Hough, 42, identified by the chief as "the boy friends" and Mrs. Sophia Cackowski, 51, the victim's wife were being held on manslaughter chargers. Joseph A. Parlante, 23, who, Godfrey said, furnished the revolver for the shooting, was booked on a technical charge of violating parole.

Cackowski was shot as he tried to force an entrance into his home. Godfrey said that the dead man had not been living with his wife for some time and that recently he had a fight over her with Hough who administered a severe beating to the older man.

Godfrey said that Hough and Mrs. Cackowski were inside the house when Cackowski tried to enter through a window. Four shots fired through the window found their mark in Cackowski's body and he died almost instantly, Godfrey said.

Hough was arrested at his home about two hours after the shooting. Chief Godfrey said that Hough admitted the shooting and claimed that Mrs. Cackowski had promised to buy him a new automobile if he would kill her husband.

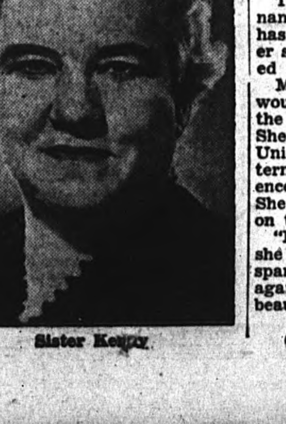
Sister Kenny Reports She Is Incurably Ill



Sister Kenny

Sydney, Australia, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny, a leader in the fight against polio, told a Sydney Sun reporter today she is incurably ill and has little time left in this world.

The world famous nurse did not name the disease with which she has been stricken, but the reporter said she was shaking and looked ill.

Miss Kenny, who is 65, said she would continue her fight against the ravages of polio "until I die." She will leave Thursday for the United States en route to an International Poliomyelitis Conference in Copenhagen, Denmark. She will be under a nurse's care on the trip.

"I am unwell and incurably so," she said. "I only hope I will be spared the time to come home again. I am very happy in my beautiful Toowoomba home

Nam Halts Parley on New Items

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 13—(AP)—The chief Communist armistice negotiator said tonight Korean truce talks "will not make any progress" unless the United Nations changes its demands on where to create a buffer zone.

The statement from North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il was broadcast by the Red Pyongyang radio 10 hours after he had again refused to change his own demands.

Not Satisfactory

The Red position is so firmly fixed that in Monday's negotiation session Nam Il rejected a United Nations statement as "not satisfactory" as soon as it was delivered.

And, a U.N. communique said, Nam Il made the rejection while "speaking from a previously prepared and translated paper."

In the Pyongyang broadcast Nam Il called on the U.N. delegation "to change its attitude" and "to take into consideration our demands" for a buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

He said if the Kaesong truce negotiations are to "make any progress at all" U.N. delegates must "change their distorted demands they have made up to now."

Want Reds to Change

U.N. spokesmen have made it clear that the Allies will not consider a demarcation line on the 38th parallel. They say the Reds

Navy Bomber, 12 Men Lost

Alaska - Bound Plane Is 4th to Vanish on Route Since July 21

Kodiak, Alaska, Aug. 13—(AP)—A four-engined Navy patrol bomber with 12 crewmen aboard was reported missing today in Alaska. It was the fourth plane to have vanished along the Alaska and British Columbia coasts since July 21. They carried 60 persons.

The Navy PB4-Y-2 Privateer disappeared yesterday after taking off at 7:35 a. m. (12:35 p. m. EST) from its Kodiak base on a routine operational mission.

The Kodiak Naval Station said nothing was heard from the big plane after it gave a position report at 10:14 a. m. Its fuel supply would have been exhausted at 9:35 p. m. Alaska time last night.

Names of the three officers and nine enlisted men in the crew were withheld.

An air and sea search was start-

Ship Vanishes After SOS Call

Hamburg, Germany, Aug. 13—(AP)—The Belgian freighter Bess disappeared after flashing distress signals last night.

The Bess radioed that the crew was taking to the lifeboats and that the 1,116-ton ship, loaded with sand and wire was listing 30 degrees to starboard.

Seven rescue ships have combed the area of the North German bight of Borkum, from where the freighter last was heard. They reported finding no lifeboats, no flotsam.

The Bess, bound for Norway, sent a final call for help at 11 p.m. (6 p.m. e.s.t.) yesterday.

"Come as soon as possible. We are going into the starboard lifeboats," the message said.

Trailer Camp Owners Tried

Larkin Finds Proprietors Guilty of Building Violations; All Appeal

Rockville, Aug. 13—(Special)—At the opening of the session of the Rockville City Court this morning Associate Judge Thomas L. Larkin found all defendants in the trailer camp case guilty of violation of Section 107 of the Statutes of the General Assembly adopted in 1947, or the State Building Code, and fined each $10. Appeals were taken in all cases and bonds were set at $50 each.

The following are the trailer camp owners involved: Valentine Sudol, Edwin C. Tuxbury, Henry Daubeneck of the Vernon Trailer Camp; Clayton K. Bradeen and William Bassett or the Knisett Enterprise, of the Vernon Inn Trailer Camp; Raymond Chambers Sr., and Rose S. Sandre of the Chambers Trailer Camp, Irwin I. Newman, Jesse F. overly freightened by Russia's military strength.

But Senator Hunt (D., Wyo.), a member of the Armed Services committee, told a reporter he hopes the North Atlantic Defense commander's estimate of comparable free world and Iron Curtain strength doesn't "lull Congress to sleep."

"I can agree with the General that the free world has a great perponderance of material, intellectual, spiritual, technical and professional resources," Hunt said, "but I hope that doesn't lull us into a peaceful sleep we were enjoying before the Korean war started."

Eisenhower's views were in a subcommittee report prepared for the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. These groups are meeting jointly to consider the administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign aid bill.

The sub-committee, including nine members who visited Europe in July, reported that Eisenhower had told them:

"The material, intellectual, spiritual, technical and professional resources available to the free world or so overwhelming as compared with what the Iron Curtain and satellite countries have that it is almost ridiculous for us to be talking in terms of fright and hysteria, which we often do."

The report said Eisenhower acknowledged the Soviec bloc has a unity lacked by the North Atlantic treaty nations but he said it was brought about " by a gun and a sword held forever behind a man's back ready to chop off his head."

To gain real unity, the Senators said, Eisenhower told them the job is to convince every nation and man participating in western Europe's defenses that "we are approaching this thing from the standpoint of enlightened self-interest."

There will be unity when every man "believes what he is doing is good for him," Eisenhower was quoted as telling the committee during conferences at his Paris headquarters.

Senator H. Alexander Smth (R-NJ), one of the touring group, said he agrees with Eisenhower's views on potential western strength and believes the general's encouraging words will be reflected in a determination by the committees not to reduce materially the $6,300,000,000 in foreign military aid that would be authorized by the bill.

"I think our conferences with the General strengthened the feeling that we are justified in going ahead to try to equip the European divisions as fast as we can," Smith said.

The subcommittee, headed by Senator Green (D-RI), said that Eisenhower had been promised a 75 per cent increase in European contributions to the Nato army next year, to be followed by a 40 per cent increase in the number of divisions the following year.

Hunt said that one of the reasons Europe hasn't already put more men into uniform was because American arms had not yet been made available to equip them."

BENTLEY TO TESTIFY

Washington, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Elizabeth Bentley, self-styled former Communist espionage worker, will testify before the Senate internal security subcommittee tomorrow.

Subcommittee Chairman McCarran (D., Nev.), in announcing this, said her testimony would be confined to the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR).

OLDER FOLKS OFTEN HAVE "TIRED" BLOOD
As you get older, when your color is bad and you feel tired, "all in," the chances are as high as 8 in 10 your blood is below par. Then it's time to try Geritol—the scientific blood tonic made especially for people over 35. Pale, weak blood leaves you "logy," tired and "blue." Red, healthy blood goes with dynamic energy—invites that "million dollar" feeling. Geritol's action is amazing—within 24 hours Geritol iron appears in your blood. Geritol also contains remarkable Vitamin B12, the wonders of which were described by Reader's Digest. If your doctor says you need an iron blood tonic—get Geritol at your drugstore today. See how much better you feel as your color improves and tiredness goes.

clearly understood by the Congress and the country."

Avoid Deficit

He noted that the Senate-House committee had unanimously approved a "pay-as-we go basis" for meeting the long-range multi-billion dollar defense and foreign aid program.

This was done, the Senator said, "to avoid piling another deficit on top of the national debts now remaining from World Wars I and II."

O'Mahoney noted that for the fiscal year which ended last June 30, the government showed a surplus of $3,500,000,000 despite defense outlays of about $20,000,000,000.

But he said there would have been no book surplus if all defense goods orders had been delivered on time and paid for.

He said the surplus actually had been disappearing since last April.

No Relief Seen

Both O'Mahoney and his staff experts stressed the fact that a cease-fire agreement or even peace in Korea would not bring relief from the multi-billion dollar defense program for the next five to 10 years.

Both also agreed that a recent leveling off in prices—after sharp increases since June 1950—probably would end later this fall and winter.

"The problem of Congress is to determine how this danger may be counteracted," O'Mahoney said.

The staff report said "prices will rise" as more of the national production is diverted late this year into defense goods.

Anti-Special Revenue

It suggested a $10,000,000,000 tax increase immediately and said the "additional revenue, for maximum anti-inflationary effect, should be derived largely from groups in the $3,000-$10,000 income brackets."

The report estimated federal spending will total about $68,400,000,000 for fiscal 1953, drop slightly to $84,000,000,000 the following year; decline to $72,000,000,000 in fiscal 1955 and then level out at about $60,000,000,000 thereafter.

A deficit of three to five billion dollars was predicted for the current fiscal year; 10 to 12 billions for the year following, and about 5 billions for fiscal 1954.

The report said that once the size of the defense program is agreed upon, the people will pay the costs now—either through inflation which reduces the purchasing power of the dollar or through a rational and equitable tax program."

Navy Bomber, 12 Men Lost

ed yesterday after the bomber was presumed lost. Fog and rain curtailed rescue efforts. Planes of the 10th Air Rescue Squadron at Anchorage were standing by today awaiting clearing weather.

Meanwhile, there was no slackening in the hunt for a Korean airlift DC-4 with 38 aboard which disappeared July 21 over the Alaska Panhandle between Cape Spencer and Yakutat, about 500 miles east of Kodiak.

Six days later a ski-equipped single-engined Norseman plane vanished in the same area en route from Mt. Hubbard to Yakutat. It carired the pilot and the wife and daughter of millionaire New Jersey scientist Walter Wood, who was conducting experiments on the mountain for the Arctic Institute.

On August 4 a chartered Queen Charlotte Airlines single-engined plane was lost on a 37-mile flight from Muchalat arm to the tiny settlement of Tofino on Vancouver Island, B. C. The pilot was flying isx pasesngers to Tofino from logging camps on the island.

The Navy declined to give the location of the bomber when it was last heard from.

Cripps Is Improving

Zurich, Switzerland, Aug. 13—(AP)—Doctors reported today that Sir Stafford Cripps, former British Chancellor of the Exchequer who has been under treatment in Switzerland for a tubercular infection of the spine, is "in a slow state of convalescence." The bulletin said "he is able to walk a little more each week" but would not be able to take part in any political or other work for a long time.

Crash Hurts Seven Here

Cars Collide Head-on in Hilliard Street Underpass; Arrest Drivers

A head-on collision at the Hilliard street underpass about 1:30 Sunday morning sent seven persons to Manchester Memorial hospital. Some of the injured were treated and then discharged.

Operators of the cars were Edwin Chandler, 20, of 107 Larrabee street, East Hartford and Frank J. Wright, 32, of 587 Parker street. Both cars were heavily damaged.

Patrolman Milton Stratton investigated the accident and was assisted at the scene by Patrolmen George McCaughey, Samuel Maltempo, Wilfred Bulla and Lieutenant Walter Cassells.

In a statement to the officer, Chandler said he was traveling about 20 to 25 miles an hour while Wright said he was going 20 miles an hour. The width of the underpass is 13 feet at one end and 14 feet at the other, making it unsafe for more than one car to go through at a time. The collision occurred at about the center of the underpass.

Chandler received lacerations of the face and head. He was taken to the hospital in the William P. Quish ambulance. One passenger in the Chandler car was Miss Maureen Carson, 19, of 77 Bigelow street, who suffered a lacerated knee and lacerations of the right hand. She was removed from the car by Patrolmen Maltempo, Bulla and McCaughey and placed on a stretcher carried in the cruiser. She was taken to the hospital in the John B. Burke ambulance. Miss Stella Roman, 20, of 18 Woodbridge street received a lacerated knee and possible internal injuries and removed to the hospital in the Burke ambulance. John J. OKeefe, 20 Sunnyreach drive, East Hartford, the fourth passenger in the Chandler car, refused medical treatment.

It was learned today that O'Keefe went to his family doctor yesterday and was found to be suffering from cracked ribs.

Wright was treated at the hospital, being taken there in the cruiser, for a lacerated lip. Three stitches were taken to close the wound and he was discharged. Bernard Kasulki, 43, also of 587 Parker street, received lacerations of the face, right arm and left leg. He was taken to the hospital in the cruiser and admitted. Mrs. Genevieve Atkins, 30, of 148 Loomis street, received a lacerated left arm. An unidentified passing motorist took her to the hospital. David Stansberry, 24, of 10 Depot Square, went to the hospital in the cruiser, was treated for head injuries and discharged.

Both drivers were arrested by Patrolman Stratton for reckless driving. Chandler was also arrested for over-crowding the front seat of his car. Cases will be presented in Town Court next Monday morning. Both cars had to be towed from the scene. (Photo Page 1).

Woman, 2 Men Held In Slaying

The woman was arrested several hours later. She denied Hough's statement, Godfrey said.

A .38 calibre German pistol was found beneath a dresser in Hough's apartment. He at first denied all knowledge of the gun and later claimed that he had bought the weapon from Parlante. This Parlante denied.

Cackowski had a police record that dated back to 1922. He had served a 3½ years sentence in state prison for breaking and entering and theft. He was an uncle of the late Eddie Sadowski who was shot to death in a battle with Cleveland, Ohio, police.

Hough, according to police records served time in Pennsylvania on non-support and theft charges.

China Reds Hold Catholic Clergy

25. Rigney, only remaining American missionary in China and former rector of Catholic Fujen University, was bound when taken to jail. He was an Air Force chaplain in World War II.

Take Over Parishes

Simultaneously with the arrests, the Reds took over 12 of Peiping's 17 Catholic parishes.

Catholics are the only large body of foreign Christians left in China.

There are about 3,000 foreign Catholic missionaries still in Red China. The all time high was 5,000 in 1949.

Only 100 or so Protestant missionaries remain, including hospital workers and doctors. The Reds took over administration of all mission hospitals and schools several months ago. A few foreigns doctors and nurses were still working.

In the open struggle between the Catholic Church and the Peiping government, most high foreign officials of the church have been jailed or placed under house arrest.

Arrest Archbishop

Archbishop Anthony Riberi of Monaco, Italy, Papal Internuncio, is under house arrest in Nanking.

Bishop Francis Ford, Brooklyn, N. Y., of Kaysing diocese in Kwangtung province has been unreported for weeks. He was paraded through a score of villages and then apparently jailed in Canton.

Those in jail include Archbishop Patalone Laccio, an Italian, of Changsha, Hunan province; Archbishop Frederick Melendro, a Spaniard, of Anking, Anhwei; Bishop Cuthbert Ogara, a Canadian, of Yuanling, Hunan; Monsignor Eugene Fahy, San Francisco, of Yanchow, Kiangsu.

Other Bishops are known to be in jail or under house arrest. At least 50 Catholic priests are known to be in jail, and possibly more than 100 under house arrest. About 20 nuns, brothers, and others are in jails.

Push Own Church

The Chinese Reds have been campaigning for an "independent" Catholic Church which would have no connection with the Vatican. Propaganda broadcasts from Peiping have mentioned the campaign frequently, but have said nothing about police action.

The official Red press previously had demanded suppression of the Legion of Mary in Tientsin and elsewhere throughout Red China.

The arrest of Father Rigney and other priests was described by sources who requested anonymity. They said police went to Fujen university at night, bound his hands and forced him and other priests into a car.

The priests were then taken to prison.

At the same time, police surrounded other church centers in Peiping and arrested other priests. Those not taken away were placed under house arrest.

The next day the Reds announced Father Rigney was charged with being "an imperialist and agent of a foreign government."

The sources said the arrests were preceded by official suggestions that the priests join the "independent church movement."

Zwillman Hunted In Boston Suburb

"This former bigtime bootlegger is believed to be bigger than (Frank) Costello but so far more successful in avoiding the public spotlight."

In the old port of Marblehead, crowded last week with all sorts of yachts for an annual racing meet, police said several yachtsmen identified a picture of Zwillman as someone they'd seen in the past few days.

Chief Samuel H. Bradish said: "We're checking a rumor that he was seen at a party here last night but I don't think he is here now. I believe he contacted friends in the greater Boston area and is hiding out with him."

Deputy U. S. Marshal George Reed would say only that he was checking with police in an unidentified city in the Boston area.

Zwillman, now in the tobacco business at Hillsdale, N. J., has been sought by the committee for two weeks to testify at the hearing opening on Wednesday. He appeared before the committee last March.

Moser said Zwillman is "apparently a fugitive from the committee's subpoena.

Zwillman's attorney contends Zwillman is "on vacation."

Killed In Mishap, Well Known Here

Morgan C. Aldrich of 58 Tryon street, South Glastonbury, who with his wife, Helen C. Aldrich, was killed as a result of an automobile accident in Portland Saturday night, was known in Manchester through several business houses whose advertising accounts he handled. Mr. Aldrich's principal client in Manchester was the G. E. Keith Furniture Company. Mr. Aldrich was a familiar figure on the main streets of Manchester driving the small English sports car in which he was killed.

The fatal accident happened on the East Hampton road in Portland when the small sports car was hit from the rear by an automobile driven by Merritt Terrell, 25, of 77 Putnam avenue, Hamden. The shock of the crash knocked Mr. and Mrs. Aldrich out of the open sportster, which rolled over on them. Terrell said that they had turned in front of him to enter a drive in ,and he was ,unable to avoid the collision.

Special Service For Old-Timers

Inglewood, Calif.—(AP)—The Social Security offices in this city are on the second floor of a downtown building. On the ground floor is a sign that reads:

"Are the stairs too hard to climb? Go into the furniture store and call Orchard 1-7604. We will come down to see you; Social Security Administration."

George Kretz, manager of the office, says the sign was put up because many of the people his staff serves are past retirement age and "find stairs much higher than they used to be."

HUNT FOR TRUSTEE

Enfield, Aug. 13—(AP)—Police in 13 states today sought Raymond Becker, 24, of New Haven, who escaped from the Osborn State Prison farm here where he was a trustee.

A farm spokesman said the New Haven man, serving two to six years for burglary, disappeared with a state-owned dump truck with which he had been carting manure from the farm barn to a nearby field.

The National Geographic Society says the ancients believed the topza would cure insanity, asthma and insomnia.

Reported Arrested

Father Harold Rigney (above), former rector of the Catholic Fujen University, and only American missionary still in Peiping, China, was arrested by Communist police along with 19 other Catholic priests, church sources in Hong Kong reported Aug. 12. The arrests were said to have taken place during raids which closed 12 of Peiping's 17 parish centers on July 15. Father Rigney is a native of Chicago. (AP Wirephoto).

Air Scouts Back From Air Base

Thirteen members of Squadron 25, Air Scouts, Boy Scouts of America, and their leader, Frank Crawshaw, returned Saturday from a week's encampment at Stewart Field, Newburgh, N. Y.

At this special encampment, which was attended by members of air squadrons from the states of Connecticut and Massachusetts, the boys received training in the theory of flying and other techniques as well as doing some flying. Air Force personnel at the field instructed the boys.

Members of the local squadron who attended the encampment included, besides Mr. Crawshaw: Squadron Pilot Raymond Juros, Assistant Squadron Pilot Peter Mitchell, Edward Stiles, Walter Szemplinski, Henry Szemplinski, Joseph Dubiel, Edwin Lynn, Gordon Lassow, Richard Ellington, Leonard Shankman, Earl Carron, David Custer and Norman Miner.

Fracchia Injured By Enraged Cow

Edward Fracchia, 28, of Andover, suffered a fractured pelvis last Friday when attacked by a cow at his farm in Andover. It was reported that Fracchia was leading the cows to pasture when one cow suddenly became enraged and charged Fracchia. The farmer was knocked off balance and landed on the ground. He was then stamped on by the cow.

The injured man was taken to Manchester Memorial hospital where he is still a patient.

Truman, Ike, Taft Get Backing for '52 Race

Washington, Aug. 13—(AP)—Political weather vanes swinging toward 1952 have registered a couple of sizeable blows from out of the West.

California's Democratic organization Saturday endorsed President Truman for reelection.

Senator Thye (R-Minn) predicted today that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will sweep Minnesota's "open" Presidential primary next spring, if his name is entered.

And Senator Cain (R-Wash) said Senator Taft (R-Ohio) would be elected president if he got the Republican nomination. Cain, interviewed on a television program, declined to say, however, whether Taft was his personal choice.

Truman Silent

The California move to back Mr. Truman was made by the Executive Committee of the Democratic State Central committee which noted in a resolution that state election codes give it the power to become a state campaign committee working for election of the party's Presidential candidate.

Mr. Truman hasn't said yet whether he will be a candidate.

The Minnesota test—next March 18—Is the first in which a candidate can be entered without his formal consent. Thye said he will not be surprised if Eisenhower is represented in some way in the bidding for Republican delegates.

Stassen Possibility

If Eisenhower isn't publicly available at the time, this possibly might come through a maneuver by Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor and now President of the University of Pennsylvania.

Stassen could say he was seeking the state delegation in order to deliver it to the general if the latter becomes available.

Thye told a reporter he doesn't know about that. He said he is going to support Eisenhower if he runs and Stassen if the general isn't available.

Eisenhower backers obviously hope that he will be free of his commitments to the North Atlantic defense command before March 18 and can let it be known that he would be interested in the GOP nomination.

If that doesn't happen they said he doesn't believe any Eisenhower group will spring up in Minnesota outside the Stassen-Thye camp to put the general's name on the ticket.

Taft to Skip Primary

On the other hand, They said he could see the possibility that some Republican group might put Taft's name into the primary.

Taft has made it clear he does not intend to enter the primary. He is credited with some strong supporters there, including Roy Dunn, Republican National committeeman, and some of them might be tempted to try out the voters' sentiments.

Stassen recently has been patching some of the Minnesota political fences damaged by President Truman's appointment of Republican Gov. Luther W. Youngdahl to the federal bench.

Senate action on Youngdahl's appointment has been delayed but his departure from the state house will leave in the governor's chair Lt. Gov. C. Elmer Anderson.

Apparently about the best the Stassen forces can expect from Anderson in any scrap over the Republican convention delegation would be neutrality.

Tired Teachers On Bike Tour

London —(AP)— A preparatory school teacher near here who believes that "school mastering is bad for the brain," has set out on a round-the-world motorcycle tour.

John L. Cook, the teacher, took along T. H. Hamilton Fletcher, a farmer, who answered his advertisement for a traveling companion with another motorcycle. The tour is supposed to cover 33,000 miles in 14 months. The two men expect to visit in Europe, India, Australia, Africa, the United States, Mexico and Buenos Aires.

Members will also have some training in the art of vegetable judging. A judging contest will be held, to select a County Vegetable Judging team which will enter the State competition in the near future. Arrangements for transportation should be made with the local leader.

Rev. Clifford O. Simpson of the Center Congregational church, Manchester, was the guest speaker at the Ellington Congregational church Sunday at 10:45 a.m. The sermon theme was "Love Is Never Selfish."

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Pease and family accompanied by Mrs. Pease' mother from Natick, Mass., visited Mr. Pease' aunt, Mrs. Marion Pease Saturday.

Grave Too Small, Corpse Not Dead

Rangoon —(AP)— Relatives preparing to bury Ma Khin Nyunt, 18, of Mandalay, found the grave too small to admit her burnished teak coffin.

The superstitious, regarding this as an omen, demanded the coffin be opened. Removing the lid, they saw Khin Nyunt's eyelids fluttering. The girl was taken to a nearby Buddhist monastery where she is reportedly progressing, a Mandalay report said.

Child Should Be Prepared On Entering School Life

Storrs, Aug. 13 — Over 30,000 Connecticut children will start to school for the first time this fall. Will your child be among these first-graders? If so, is he looking forward to this venture into the grown-up's world happily or fearfully, asks Fay Moeller, Family Life Specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Connecticut.

His attitude about going to school will depend a great deal upon how well he has been prepared for it, she states. "To be able to take this new world in his stride, alone, a child must first have learned a number of things at home."

Following is a check list for parents of pre-school children suggesting ways in which the child can be helped toward a successful first year at school:

1. My child knows his name and address and his father's name.
2. He is free from all physical defects that can be taken care of.
3. He knows the way to school.
4. He has been taught how to cross streets.
5. He recognizes policemen, is not afraid of them, and will follow their directions.
6. He can go to the toilet and manage his clothing by himself. He knows that boys and girls use different toilet rooms at school.
7. He can tie his shoe strings, hang up his coat, and put on his outdoor clothing. He usually recognizes his own outdoor clothing.
8. He is content to stay with adults other than those he knows well.
9. He has had some opportunity to play with children his own age so that he knows what they are like.
10. He has been taken to some of the places in the neighborhood of interest to children his age—such as the post office, the grocery store, a building under construction—so that he can enter into the conversation that is so important a part of every child's first days at school.

Fortunate is the child whose parents can answer "Yes" to the following questions also:

My child can entertain himself with constructive tasks for short periods of time.

He is interested in books and will spend some time looking at them quietly.

He attacks a new job willingly even though, at first, he may not be very much interested in it.

He is in the habit of sharing certain household tasks with other members of the family.

He is curious about many things and, with a little help from an adult, can follow up his interests.

Brothers Head Treasury Plan

Des Moines—(AP)—Iowa has the first team of brothers ever to head a state program for the U. S. Treasury Department's Savings Bond Division.

Gerard S. Nollen, retired president of the Bankers Life Co., and Dr. John S. Nollen, president emeritus of Grinnell College, are serving as co-chairman of the Iowa bond organization.

It became a brother set-up only recently when Gerard Nollen was appointed by Treasury Secretary Snyder to fill a vacancy. Dr. John Nollen has been serving as a co-chairman since 1941.

Ecabert Hit Riding Bike

Elderly Man in Critical Condition; Failed to Stop at Intersection

Charles Ecabert, 64, of 453 Center street, was in critical condition at Manchester Memorial hospital this afternoon. While riding his bicycle to work at Cheney Brothers about 6:30 this morning, he was struck at the intersection of Pleasant and Cedar streets by a car driven by Mrs. Edith Maxwell, 48, of 91 Fairfield street.

Patrolman Milton Stratton is investigating the accident. His early report revealed a statement by Mrs. Maxwell to the effect that Ecabert was going south on Cedar street and did not stop for the stop sign. Mrs. Maxwell was driving west on Pleasant street, she said, and upon seeing Ecabert come out of the street without stopping, pulled to her left. Ecabert, she stated, pulled to the right and the collion occurred. The Maxwell car came to a stop on the lawn to the northwest of the Washington school on the southwest side of Pleasant street. The front of the hood and grille of the car were damaged.

Patrolman Samuel Maltempo aided Stratton in removing Ecabert from the street onto a stretcher in the cruiser. The John B. Burke ambulance rushed to the scene and Ecabert was placed in the ambulance and taken to Manchester Memorial hospital.

Ecabert is a long time employee of Cheney Brothers in the broad goods preparation department.

Tax Hike Bill In Committee

sources, however, expect the Senate to go along with the $2,850,000,000 increase in individual income levies voted by the House but to adopt a different method of getting the money.

Several senators have shown a preference for a plan which would concentrate more of the increases in lower income brackets.

Experts from the Treasury and the staff of the Joint Congressional committee on taxation met with the Finance committee at its first executive session on the bill today.

Bill on "Must" List

The bill is on the "must" list compiled by the Democratic leadership for action before Congress quits this year.

Chairman George (D., Ga.), of the committee told newsmen he expects the 13 senators to finish writing their version within two weeks—by Aug. 24 or 25.

It will take another week for the committee staff and Treasury to write a report on the measure, he said. George predicted the bill will reach the Senate floor shortly after Labor Day.

There appeared to be little or no sentiment for increasing the tax hike to the $10,000,000,000 asked by President Truman. Estimates by committee members on the amount their group would approve ranged from $5,000,000,000 up to the amount set by the House.

Against House Plan

One Republican member, who asked not to be identified by name, told newsmen he was sure the group would throw out the House's method of raising individual income taxes.

The House proposes to get about $2,850,000,000 in additional revenue by adding 12½ per cent to the tax bill each person pays now.

This would concentrate much of the increase in the middle and higher income brackets.

The G.O.P. Senator predicted the committee would go for the Treasury plan which is to add the same number of percentage points to each tax bracket.

The Treasury plan calls for boosting each bracket by four percentage points. For example, the lowest rate of 20 per cent would go up to 24 per cent.

Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder told the Senators this would have greater impact on the lower backets. Some lawmakers favor this as an anti-inflationary measure on the ground the bulk of the spending is in these brackets.

76,000 Quit Burma, Return to India

New Delhi —(AP)— During the past two years, nearly 76,000 Indians left Burma for India for unknown reasons. Deputy Foreign Minister B. V. Keskar told Parliament.

It might be because of the troubled conditions in Burma or the policy of the government of releasing non-Burmese personnel from public service, Keskar added, replying to questions. The Government of India, at its own expense, repatriated 13,411 Indians from Burma during the same period he said.

Argentine Sabotage Arrests

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 13—(AP)—Eighty railway men were in jail today on charges of plotting to sabotage train service. Sixty of them will be courtmartialed under President Juan D. Peron's decree militarizing the railroads and 20 will be tried under a law protecting the security of the state.

The men were accused of plotting to disrupt services in connection with a work stoppage Aug. 1, when a series of bomb explosions tore up railway tracks and disrupted commuter service.

Also arrested over the week-end were 15 Socialists and former Conservative Congressman Eduardo Dicas Colodrero.

General's Decision To be Scanned

Monmouth, Ill., Aug. 13—(AP)— A minister has asked the Army to look into what he labelled the "unprecedented" action of a general in the court-martialing of an Illinois soldier who lists himself as a conscientious objector.

The minister said Saturday the Army as well as Senator Dirksen (R., Ill.), both have agreed to conduct investigations in the case of Pvt. Robert M. Wingo, 22, a former Monmouth carpenter stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

The Rev. C. K. Sparks, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene of which Wingo is a member, said Wingo was court-martialed for refusing to bear arms. He said the court-martial was approved by Maj. Gen. S. D. Sturgis, the fort's commander, despite recommendation of a post chaplain that Wingo be transferred to the Medical corps. The minister called the action "unprecedented."

Referring to Wingo's claim of being a conscientious objector, the general said yesterday at Fort Leonard Wood, that that is a matter Wingo should have taken up with his draft board.

500 Unhurt, Streamliner Hops Tracks

derailment left the diner crosswise of the double-track line, with one end in the air and the other buried in mud at the bottom of the fill.

A cloudburst hit the area Friday, Sibley said, "Indications are that the cause of the derailment was the fill sloughing off while the train was passing over due to recent heavy rains."

Sibley reported that the wrecked train was traveling 45 to 50 miles an hour at the time of the accident and that the engineer saw nothing wrong with the fill as he aproached it. Another passenger train passed safely over the fill an hour ahead of the streamliner, the railroad official added.

The call for help brought 25 ambulances and all available doctors to the scene about 30 miles southeast of Raleigh, the state capital. But after rescue workers had inspected the damaged cars, many of the ambulances returned empty.

Workers loaded uninjured passengers and those with slight hurts into the five cars that remained on the track behind the diesel locomotive. Others boarded the last four cars of the train and were hauled by another locomotive back to Four Oaks where doctors treated minor injuries.

The crash blocked both north and south tracks. Wrecking crews arrived here before daylight and had one line open by 6:15 a. m. After the undamaged cars were coupled together, the train proceeded to New York, where it was originally scheduled to arrive at 10:15 a. m. (est).

The scene of the accident was only 75 miles from the site of the ACL's worst wreck also involved the East Coast Champion. Seventy-two persons were killed in the wreck of the streamliner Dec. 16, 1943, at Rennert, N. C.

Reporters, passengers and rescue workers were amazed that no one was killed and so few injured in the wreck.

Word of the accident brought a huge crowd to the scene. Fifteen highway patrolmen were busy keeping U. S. Highway 301 open to traffic.

Plan to Adjourn Congress Oct. 1

Washington, Aug. 13—(AP)— Senate Democratic Leader McFarland (Ariz.), today set Oct. 1 as a target date for adjournment of Congress.

But House Speaker Rayburn (D., Tex.), said he had "no idea" when Congress could wind up its work. He does hope, Rayburn said, that the House will be able to take a recess of two weeks beginning about the latter part of next week.

Reporters talked with the two leaders at the White House after their regular Monday morning conference with President Truman. Vice President Barkley and House Democratic Leader McCormack (Mass.), sat in.

Both McFarland and Rayburn said they were satisfied with the progress being made on the legislative program.

The leaders reported they and the President went over "the box score" on his legislative program. For several years, it has been the White House custom to keep a chart of bills recommended by the President and what has been done about them. This has come to be called "the box score."

Rayburn said he advised Mr. Truman that the House likely will complete action this week on the bulk of its legislation except for conference reports.

When the Senate and House pass different bills dealing with the same subject, the bills are sent to a committee made up of Senators and House members who try to work out a compromise. Recommendations from such a committee are known as conference reports.

Rayburn said the House expects to act this week on extension of the sugar act, defense housing and the authorization bill for foreign military and economic aid.

McFarland said the Senate will get a tax increase bill from its finance commitee by Labor Day and that there is every prospect Congress can finish work on all "must" legislaton by the end of September.

"We are working toward that goal at the present time," he added.

The legislation tagged as "must" by the Congressional leaders does not include many measures Mr. Truman has recommended, especially those in what he calls his "Fair Deal" program.

But McFarland and Rayburn both said this session of Congress will show a good record of accomplishment by the time of adjournment.

Mr. Truman has taken the attitude that no Congress can be appraised until after it finishes its labors. And he also has pointed out that the 82nd Congress still has another sesion, opening in January, at which it can give further conideration to his recommendations.

Youth Hurt in Newtown

Danbury, Aug. 13—(AP)—James Henry Harris, 19, of Stratford, suffered severe head injuries this morning when his car left Route 25 in Newtown, a half mile south of the Fairfield State hospital, knocked down eight highway fence posts, struck a tree and then overturned in a culvert.

State Policeman George Bunnell said Harris was thrown from the car and landed on his head among rocks. He was brought to Danbury hospital in an ambulance.

Streamliner Wrecked by Washout

More than 500 passengers escaped serious injury. The train's diner (center) turned over and was upended. A washout in the roadbed caused the wreck (AP Wirephoto).

Wind Insurance Fees Doubled

Hartford, Aug. 13—(AP)—A 100 per cent rate increase will be slapped on holders of windstorm insurance today, a date which will also find a 10 per cent drop in fire insurance policy rates on residential property.

State Insurance Commissioner W. Ellery Allyn made this announcement today, explaining that the frequency and regularity of severe windstorms was the reason for the doubling of the rate in such policies.

At the same time, he said that more favorable experience in reduced fire damage will drop such premium rates from 5 to 25 per cent, with 10 per cent being the figure for residential property.

The state's insurance chief said that heavy windstorms in 1950 caused insurance companies to pay out three times as much as received in premiums. Over the past 11 years, he said, companies have paid out about $2 for every $1 received in windstorm insurance.

Injures Fingers In Meat Grinder

Miss Claire Martin, 18, of 195 North Main street, suffered serious injury to the fingers on her left hand in an accident late Saturday afternoon at the First National store on East Center street.

he young woman was working in the cutting room of the meat department when she caught her hand in a meat grinding machine. She was rushed to Manchester Memorial hospital. Her condition was described as fair today.

Iran In Doubt On Oil Accord

uing British management of production.

In the Iranian Senate, Senator Matine Daftard, son-in-law of the Nationalist Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, and a member of the Iranian negotiating team, submitted a bill providing prison terms for any persons who "weaken" the authority of the Iranian Oil Nationalization board by the "distribution of false rumors, intrigue and plots."

12 Sign Bill

The bill needs the signatures of 15 Senators before being raised for debate. Thus far, 12 have signed it.

The measure is believed aimed at critics of the oil board members, who have been accusing the government of planning to compromise in carrying out the nationalization law.

The Senate has given final approval to a bill permitting the diversion of $39,200,000 banked in London as backing for Iranan currency. The bill, which previously passed the lower house, would permit the Sterling reserves to be used to finance imports during the Mossadegh government's financial crisis which came as a result of the loss of oil royalties.

The note asserted Hungarian guards were instructed against permitting themselves to become provoked, but the "patience of the Hungarian people and government cannot be endless in tolerating silently the series of organized provocations."

MFD Company Schedules Drill

Hose Company No. 1 of the Manchester Fire department will hold an important drill tonight at 6:30 at fire headquarters, corner of Main and Hilliard streets.

Chief John Merz reports that the firemen will practice with the new Scott air-pack gas masks. Following the drill, Don Willis will show movies of the recent Civilian Defense demonstration in which the firemen participated at Mt. Nebo.

Nam Halts Parley on New Items

must change their stand if negotiations are to progress.

No progress was made in today's one hour and 20 minute session—the 13th devoted to the same question.

Communist delegates again rejected every United Nations attempt to break the deadlock.

Opposing representatives could not even agree on where their armies are.

Meet Tuesday

Their next session, scheduled for 11 a. m. Tuesday (8 p. m. Monday EST) will find them right back where they started.

A U.N. spokesman said the Red generals refused again Monday to side step the deadlock and talk about something else. They ignored a U.N. invitation to express their views on a demilitarized zone based on the present battle line. And they again insisted on a buffer zone along the 38th parallel.

The difference in view of present battle positions became apparent when Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U.N. delegate, introduced a map comparing the Allied and Red cancepts of the fighting front.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, U.N. briefing officer, said they were in general agreement but there were some differences—"particularly in the center and on the flanks." Joy noted they were practically the same on parts of the line.

Presented Map

General Nam had introduced a map the preceding day showing the Red concept of the front. His map compared this with (1) the Allied view of a demilitarized zone based on the present line and (2) the 38th parallel as a demilitarized zone.

Nuckols said the Reds on Monday were "no less firm than in the past" in insisting the fighting be halted right where it started—on the old political boundary between North and South Korea.

Nam Il insisted it was a just and reasonable line. "This," commented Nuckols, "is a statement rather than an argument."

Communist arguments became slightly less temperate. Nuckols said. General Nam's remarks were sprinkled with such words as "arrogant, absurd and contradictory."

Joy opened the Monday session by reading a 38 minute statement. In was an answer to five questions asked by Nam Il.

The North Korean general immediately rejected the answer as "not satisfactory." The U. N. command said Nam made the rejection "speaking from a previously prepared and translated paper." He wasn't sure.

Joy States Terms

After answering the Communist questions, Admiral Joy's statement concluded:

"The proposed zone was given to you for the purpose of providing a clear and concise understanding of our concept of a demilitarized zone reflecting the current military realities.

"We have already stated that we were willing to discuss this proposal jointly on a map with a view to making such adjustments as would be acceptable to both parties.

"We would listen attentively to any views you may care to present on a demarcation line and demilitarized zone based on the battle lines and existing overall military situation.

"Have you any adjustments to make?"

Nam ignored the question, Nuckols said.

Nuckols emphasized that Joy's statement did not represent any departure from the previously expressed U. N. position.

Newtown Banker's Burial Tomorrow

Newtown, Aug. 13—(AP)—Arthur Treat Nettleton, 89, whose ancestors settled this part of Connecticut, died yesterday at Danbury hospital where he had been a medical patient since May 1950.

Nettleton was the retired president of the Newtown Savings Bank which he had served also as secretary, treasurer and vice president after joining its staff in 1898. He retired as president and treasurer a year ago because of ill health, but was elected honorary president by the directors.

A descendant of Colonial Governor Robert Treat, he was a native of nearby Bridgewater. An ancestor, Samuel Nettleton, settled in this area in 1639.

Nettleton was a former warden of the Borough of Newtown; the first secretary of the Savings Banks Association of Connecticut which he later became president: a director of Bridgeport hospital and a former treasurer of the Connecticut order of Founders and Patriots.

He was a member of the Masonic order and of other fraternal and patriotic groups.

A brother, John H. Nettleton of New Milford, and a sister, Mrs. Susan Judd of Stamford, survive.

Funeral services are scheduled to be held here tomorrow.

Soviet to Free 15 Alsatians

Paris, Aug. 13—(AP)—After three years of negotiations, the Soviet government has agreed to release 15 of some 300 Alsace-Lorraine citizens taken prisoner by the Red armies, the French Foreign office disclosed today.

The Alsatians were among those pressed into military service by the German Wehrmacht after the fall of France in 1940, and later sent to fight in German uniforms on the Russian front.

Foreign Minister Robert Schuman first made a request for their liberation in 1948 at a Big Four foreign ministers conference.

The foreign office said today the Kremlin had advised the French Ambassador in Moscow that the 15 prisoners would be set free and returned to France by way of Frankfurt-on-Oder.

France will renew its demands for release of the remaining Alsationas held by the Russians.

PROBE WESTON FIRE

Weston, Aug. 13 — (AP) — The State Fire Marshal's office today is helping local authorities seek the cause of a fire which early Sunday morning destroyed the Weston Town hall and the adjacent Grange hall with a loss estimated at $18,000.

Fire Chief John O'Brien, who said the blaze was of suspicious origin, added that the Norfield Congregational church and the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Eustace de Cordova were threatened for a time by the blaze.

Hopalong Party Marks Birthday

Russell Rogers, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rogers of 37 Lilac street, who was four years old on August 9, was honored guest at a birthday party the same afternoon by a group of his playmates. Those who attended were David Lyons, Johnnie Mott, Susan Straight, Bobby Dowd, Craig and Dean Johnson, and all remembered him with gifts.

The party was in Hopalong Cassidy style, and Mrs. Rogers decorated the birthday cake with cowboy motifs. Other good things served included assorted sandwiches, ice cream and cold drinks. Games were played by the children and prizes awarded the winners.

Russell's father, who is known as "Rusty" Rogers of WTIC's Down Homers, entertained the youngsters with cowboy songs, accompanying himself on the guitar.

Blood Donor Program

YOU SHOULD KNOW—

Your fellow residents of Manchester who work so hard to make the monthly Bloodmobile visit a success.

Mrs. Lillian Watts, the wife of Frank Watts of 63 Arvin place, a busy mother of four, three times a grandmother, is an important cog in the volunteer machinery that keeps the Red Cross organization working so smoothly on Bloodmobile days.

Mrs. Watts is chairman of Volunteer Services for the Manchester Chapter of the Red Cross. That means that she is responsible for all the local workers in the various branches of the Red Cross work. Motor Corps, Canteen, Gray Ladies, Arts and Skills, Social Welfare Aides, Nurses' Aides, Production Service—all of these come under her jurisdiction.

On Bloodmobile days, Mrs. Watts sees that there are Staff Aids to take the records, Canteen workers to prepare the donors' lunches, Gray Ladies to receive the volunteers, Motor Corps ready for transportation, and Nurses' Aides to help the Bloodmobile staff in the donors room. She supervises the readying of the hall and the clearing away of all the paraphernalia after the work is done. If the procedure slows down, she attempts to speed it up so that as many donors as possible can be accommodated. She answers innumerable questions and makes decisions on the multitude of small emergencies which arise.

When the Bloodmobile comes to Woodruff Hall next Tuesday, Mrs. Watts will be on hand at noon, an hour before the doors open for the first donor, and will stay until an hour after the last donor has been dismissed at 6 p. m. That means a full eight hour day with no break. It is her usual monthly stint she does whenever the Bloodmobile visits Manchester. It is a labor of love with no recompense and no special recognition. It is done as her contribution to the success of the Blood Program.

"No one can overestimate the importance of the Blood Program. No one can do too much to make it a success," says Mrs. Watts. "It is literally a matter of life and death to thousands of people. I am anxious to do everything possible that it may continue."

Are you doing your part to make it a success? No one is asking for eight hours of your time next Tuesday. Only 45 minutes are required to be a blood donor—but it may mean a lifetime to someone else. Make your appointment tomorrow, won't you?

New Navy Uniforms For Use, Not Beauty

By Clarke Beach
AP Newsfeature Writer

Washington—The Navy's newest uniforms aren't pretty but they're guaranteed to keep a sailor warm in the Arctic and dry on the deck of a submarine.

In 1946 the submarine medical research labratory at the Navy Base at New London, Conn., asked for better togs for the gobs on pigboats. Submarine decks are continually being washed by the waves. In cold climates it could produce casualties. Besides, drying wet clothes in a submarine has always been a headache.

The matter was referred to the research and development department of the Naval Clothing Depot in Brooklyn, N. Y. T. J. Seery, then the head of the department, and his men designed a suit.

They are now being tried out on many submarines. The suit however, has not been officially adopted and is still undergoing tests and revisions.

The outfit is composed of low boots, a one-piece rubber and nylon suit that zips up to the neck, rubber gloves, and a helmet which is combined with an inflatable life preserver, fitting over the chest and shoulders like a bib.

The B. F. Goodrich Co., designed rubber lips which close over the slide fastener to make the seam watertight. The only possible seepage from spray would come at the face, around which the helmet's sponge rubber frame fits tightly. The wearer could stand in water almost to his chin before any of it got into his watertight shell.

The other uniform is the new cold weather clothing. It has been tested on ships in the Arctic.

To develop the Arctic gear, a group of experts were sent to the Navy's installation at Point Barrow, on the Northern coast of Alaska. The arctic clothing incorporates two entirely novel features: (1) the "moisture barrier principle" and (2) the "third dimensional principle."

The first one is based an the observation that to keep warm in extremely low temperatures, a layer of dry air, warmed by the body is enough. So they built clothes that are two layers of air tight cloth, between which is an air chamber. The chamber is kept puffed out by a stuffing of synthetic fibre.

Whether or not such clothing could be adapted for use by the troops who fight ashore, however, has not yet been determined.

The new Navy Arctic boots, nevertheless, have been ordered by the Marine Corps — enough to equip every Marine in Korea if they have to fight there next winter. Like the rest of the suit, they are in two layers, with a stuffing of fibre between the layers. Seery says they completely overcome the danger of dampness within the boot, which in deep cold, causes frostbite.

The third dimensional principle means that the clothes fare not shaped to hang neatly from teh shoulders and arms. The jacket rests on the hips, like a box. The sleeves are held off the arm by heavy ridge seams. The knees are baggy.

All this is designed to retain air chambers between the clothing and the body. Even the long drawers are woven in a waffle pattern to provide air chambers.

Herzegovina, in Yugoslavia, is estimated to have one fifth of the world's known bauxite aluminum ore, according to the National Geographic Society.

Press Secretary's Burial Tomorrow

Washington, Aug. 13—(AP)— Stephen T. Early, press secretary to two presidents, will be buried in Arlington National cemetery tomorrow morning.

Early died Saturday of a heart attack. As a World War One veteran he will be eligible for burial in the National cemetery where lie many of this country's great military and naval heroes.

Early was close friend and press secretary to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. He stayed on for a time after Roosevelt's death to help President Truman through his early White House days.

Funeral services will be held at the Washington National Cathedral at 9 a. m. (est) and burial will follow at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Early has asked friends not to send flowers. She suggests that those wishing to do so make contributions, instead to the Washington Heart Foundation (1906 M Street, NW.)

STABBED TO DEATH

Stamford, Aug. 13—(AP)—Charles G. Miller, 61-year-old Negro, was stabbed to death in his home at 151 Worth street here yesterday, and police said they are holding Richard MacArthur, also a Negro, on a charge of murder as his assailant.

Detectives Lester McDonald and Robert Seidl who arrested MacArthur said he was a roomer in Miller's home, and that the stabbing occurred during an argument.

Fete 75th Birthday With Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swanson of 374 Hackmatack street held "open house," yesterday afternoon from three o'clock on for Mr. Swanson's mother, Mrs. Jennie Swanson of Packard street, whose 75th birthday occurred on Saturday, August 11.

Early in the day Mrs. Swanson received a beautiful corsage from her two small granddaughters, Ingrid and Evelyn Swanson. She was also the recipient of many beautiful personal gifts, a number of bouquets of mixed flowers; gifts of money, many cards and congratulatory messages from relatives and friends at a distance. An unusually large, interesting card came from relatives in Sweden.

The hostess had aranged a most attractive buffet table, with a centerpiece of vari-colored garden flowers. A feature of the refreshments was the large, decorated birthday cake with the inscription, "Happy Birthday, Mother, 75th Birthday." Party sandwiches, cupcakes, cookies and coffee and mints were served. Mrs. Swanson's daughter, Mrs. John Person, poured at the coffee table. Mrs. Ralph Swanson was assisted during the hours of the reception by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Person; her sister, Mrs. Herbert Bengtson, and Miss Hazel Johnson and Mrs. Carl T. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Snow have as guests for two weeks her mother, Mrs. Lillian Keeney of Bloomfield and Robert Lawson of Newington. Mr. and Mrs. Snow attended a Snow family reunion in Tryingham, Mass., recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henning Carlson with about 82 family members present from Great Barrington, Otis, Westfield, Pittsfield, Mass., Canton and South Coventry, Conn., and Haddenfield, N. J. Of those attending 58 were adults.

GUNSHOT KILLS BOY

Danbury, Aug. 13—(AP)—Gerald Fee, 13, of Yonkers, N. Y., was shot accidentally Saturday in the abdomen and died today in Danbury hospital.

State Police of Brewster, N. Y., barracks, describing the shooting as "strictly accidental," said Gerald and his brother, Bryan, 12, were playing with "BB" rifles at the Tonette Lake home of Mrs. Margaret Long, where they were visiting with their mother, Mrs. Agnes Fee.

Police said Bryan picked up a .22 calibre rifle, which both boys thought was not loaded, and that the weapon discharged, the bullet striking Gerald in the right side.

FOUR HURT IN CRASH

New Haven, Aug. 13 — (AP) — Four Fort Hancock, N. J., soldiers are under treatment at St. Raphael's hospital today for injuries they received in an accident in the West Rock tunnel of the Wilbur Cross Parkway yesterday.

Most seriously injured was William Bradford, 20, of Portland, Me., who received a compound fracture of his right leg. His condition was said not to be serious.

The others, said to have been held for observation, were identified as Merrill C. Leach, 24, of South Portland, Me.; Theodore R. Osier, 24, South Portland, Me., and Lester Cash, 19, of South Portland.

Mao Stalin's Equal?

It is now being emphasized and interpreted from so many directions that the China of Mao is engaged in an ideological split with the Russia of Stalin that the thing has almost become fact—as much as such a thing can be fact.

It is the Chinese and the Russian Communists themselves who are actually doing most to further the belief. When the Russians, in their propaganda, are at great pains to prove that they were instrumental in the Communist victory in China—which they were not—and the Chinese, in their propaganda, are at equal pains to ignore any Russian contribution at all to their own success—there is every reason for shrewd American observers and such experts on ideological matters as the Titoists of Yugoslavia to speculate toward interesting conclusions.

When the Chinese Communists, in addition, formulate definite statements to the effect that the Communism of Mao is a special brand of Communism, in which Mao himself is a legitimate major prophet, and not any disciple of Stalin, but his equal, then there need not be much doubt about the way the wind is blowing.

The possibility involved in the way the wind is blowing is that there has been a Communist conquest of China, but not a Russian conquest. There is the beginning of confirmation in it of the wisdom and accuracy of British foreign policy, which has consistently calculated that Russia and China had to split in Asia, not unite. There is confirmation in it of the reading of General MacArthur, who told Congress that reawakened Chinese nationalism is more of a force in China than Russian influence. There is confirmation in it of the advice of those American diplomats who, in policy recommendations for which Senator McCarthy and others have been calling them Communists, recommended that we try to turn Mao into a Tito even before Tito himself had turned against Moscow.

There is confirmation in the way the wind is blowing for the policy Secretary of State Acheson once had, of trying to drive wedges between Russian and Chinese Communisms, before he yielded to his critics and courted the danger of uniting them by last-ditch American championship of Chiang Kai-shek.

What we can do about this wind, now, is problematical. It might solve so many problems for us we ought to help it blow. But, if it is really blowing, that fact is becoming apparent at a moment when we ourselves are out of position, linked more definitely to Chiang than we were a year ago, more definitely opposed to Chinese Communist admittance to the United Nations than we were a year ago, and engaged in war itself with Communist China because we did not know how to stop in Korea short of the point which would produce Chinese intervention. Our present hope has to be limited to the hope that the wind will keep blowing, even though we can't do anything to encourage it.

Our Leader Not Afraid

The Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee which has been visiting in Europe has returned quoting General Dwight Eisenhower to the following effect:

"The material, intellectual, spiritual, technical and professional resources available to the free world are so overwhelming as compared to what the Iron Curtain and satellite countries have, that it is almost ridiculous for us to be talking in terms of fright and hysteria which we often do."

In such a statement, General Eisenhower is definitely out of step with the frantic alarmism of the Washington administration, including General Marshall himself. That administration, which should know as much about the basic strength of the free world as does Eisenhower, nevertheless considers it necessary and politic to wear a world inferiority complex. The purpose of this seems to be to frighten the American people with their own weakness in a tough and cruel world, and thereby keep them from becoming complacent.

What the administration does not seem to realize is that its own fright and fear are so pronounced that they almost give the impression that the task of living and surviving in the world is a hopeless one. And one taking the pronouncements of Washington leaders seriously would naturally be inspired to a defeatist, desperation state of mind. It is actually an impression of the hopelessness of our position and cause, for instance, which moves some individuals to urge such a drastic policy as one of immediate atomic attack upon Russia.

Eisenhower, by contrast, is coming more and more to stand for the mood of hope and confidence which should become this nation and our world, for the poise which can keep us effective in the world instead of demoralized and uncertain in the world, for the assumption that we are strong enough not to have to fight. In this, he is, quite obviously, not speaking merely from a tabulation of the divisions he has under his command in Europe. They in themselves, to be strictly military about it, are almost nothing. But he is aware, as others do not seem capable of being aware, of other factors in our ultimate strength, and he is free, as others are not, of that blind and unreasoning and hysterical fear which magnifies the power and resources of the potential enemy. It is good we have one leader who can preserve his own sanity, and his own respect for the intelligence of the people themselves, while he carries out an all important assignment for the defense of freedom.

The Unyielding Knot

The split was an unnatural operation, but the log parted cleanly, except for one knot. That threatened to ruin both halves of the log. And perhaps the whole world forest.

The knot is Kashmir, the disputed area left between free India and free Pakistan. Actually, after some tragic violence at the time of the original split, the two new nations have managed their affairs and relationships not too badly. But Kashmir has them both in an emotional, rather than a rational, mood. Kashmir has them both involved in a taut relationship in which reason is difficult. It is, in a way, a miniature of the world situation. Each side makes defensive moves, which the other side, in its turn, considers offensive in character, so that it makes new defensive-offensive moves of its own.

The dispute reveals Nehru, the passionately dispassionate statesman when it comes to the quarrels of other nations, refusing those solutions by negotiation and arbitration which seem reasonable to the outside world. It reveals both sides irresistibly drawn toward the fuse which, even they themselves can realize, may set off a world explosion, for no one knows who would be able to keep out of such a civil war.

Leaders on both sides are consciously afraid of the fact that some incident or act not even of their own intention may occur, and imprison them and their peoples in the course of tragedy. They know the danger of allowing the present deadlock to continue. And yet, for all this, they continue to seem powerless to move out of the drama of their own quarrel into the atmosphere of objective reason, in which they themselves could be sure that force would not become their reliance.

These nations are members of the so-called free world. They are free of outside domination. They are loyal members of the United Nations, whose mediator is even now on the scene. It would be a welcome development, and perhaps a harbinger for the settlement of even larger quarrels in the world, to have peace come here.

The Doctor Says

Malaria Victim Should Be Treated as Soon as Possible

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

A worried young lady writes that for the past two weeks she has had a chill followed by fever every few days and wonders what it could be. She added that she recently returned from a trip to South America. Now there are a lot of possibilities, but one of the most likely is malaria—a disease which is one of the great scourges of mankind in many parts of the globe.

Malaria is an infection. It is carried by a particular kind of mosquito which first picks up the disease by biting someone afflicted with it and then deposits it in the blood of the next person it bites. Without this mosquito, or if the mosquito is prevented from biting people, new cases of malaria will stop. It is this knowledge which has made possible the almost complete conquest of malaria in some parts of the world.

The mosquito can be attacked in a lot of ways. It breeds in stagnant water; this water can be drained off or covered with something like kersoene which prevents the mosquito from developing. Since the discovery of DDT and other insect poisons, these mosquitoes can be killed more successfully now than ever before.

If it is not possible to kill all the malaria carrying mosquitoes, they can often be prevented from biting. Screens or mosquito nets do this job, though one has to be sure that they are tight and you are snug inside by sundown when the insects start biting.

New Types

There are several kinds of malaria and during the last war our soldiers, sailors, and marines ran into some which were new to us and plenty tough ones. If the malaria mosquitoes couldn't be prevented from biting as happened in the Solomon Island and elsewhere, the next best thing is treatment. For this purpose quinine and a chemically prepared drug, atabrine, proved about the most useful. Treatment, it is known, should be begun as early as possible and removal to a good climate also helps.

In the case of the young lady the first problem is to find out promptly whether her chills and fever are actually caused by malaria. If they are she should get to work right away on treatment.

Dr. Jordon will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

"Career Woman" Turned Thirty Had Better Think Things Over

This is for the working woman who at age 30 or over hasn't found a husband. It's good, sensible advice and it comes from a career woman who knows what she is talking about. She asks:

"Wish you would write a column for the career woman, or rather the woman who works from graduation to grave. She is going to become ever more commonplace and she isn't a rarity even now.

"Tell her not to let her job become her only interest in life. Job and sleep are not enough. If there's no husband by 30, then the working woman must (if she is to remain well-rounded instead of becoming neurotic) begin right then to put something into her life besides the job and a bit of social life that revolves around that job, and sleep.

"It could be working with children. It could be studying, learning—becoming an expert on something. The greatest men who have ever lived always studied—to the end of their lives.

Must Be Serious

"It could be painting—seriously, or music—seriously. But whatever it is, it had better be something done as seriously and conscientiously as her luckier sisters do their homemaking. Otherwise, she'll end up like hundreds I meet every year, in little jobs as well as big careers. They are the ones who always stay overtime, who always take work home, who discuss the job endlessly and who, at 40, are bitter about life, uncertain of themselves and generally neurotic.

"You can always spot them. They never listen. They just talk. And they run to doctors like mad. They usually think the world is going to the dogs, the people in it a mean lot. They hate all younger women who threaten their security — because they have built all of their security on that one big or little job.

"Tell them books and movies are not enough. They all need some all-absorbing work to do (besides the job) as absorbing as the married career woman finds home and husband."

All I can add to that is: Think it over. For it is well worth thinking about. And it comes from a career woman who knows career women.

Jittery Talker? You're Normal

Los Angeles—(AP)—Are you nervous when appearing before an audience? Do your knees shiver and shake? Then you are perfectly normal, says Dr. Waldo Phelps, instructor in speech at the University of California.

"Tenseness is natural even in people with years of public speaking experience," he states. The instructor outlined three rules a speaker should follow to control the trembling and shaking. They are: 1. Use gestures to release excess energy; 2. Prepare carefully; and 3. Have something to say which you want to share with your audience.

To Pick Town's "Queen" Entry

Will Be Selected for Cigar Festival by End of This Month

Thomas J. Hackett chairman of the Manchester Cigar Harvest Festival committee announces that Manchester's candidate for Cigar Harvest Festival Queen will be selected by August 31.

All organizations, groups and individuals are asked to submit their entries. All candidates must be residents of the town of Manchester and not be engaged in professional modeling.

The winner will be selected not only for her beauty but also for a pleasant and attractive personality.

The winner of the local contest will be awarded valuable gifts donated by the merchants of Manchester. The local winner will be featured on Manchester's beautiful float. She will then compete with other community queens for the title of Cigar Valley Harvest Festival Queen.

The Cigar Valley Harvest Festival Queen will have the honor of being publicized throughout the valley and nation. After being introduced as the reigning personality in the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Associates Exhibit at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield. She will go by plane to Amsterdam, Holland, with a companion of her own choice, where she will represent the Connecticut Valley Tobacco Associates at the World Tobacco Congress for one week. From there she will travel to Paris to spend a few days; thence back to the United States. Many awards will be bestowed upon her and much publicity will be directed toward her and the Connecticut Valley.

Sister Kenny Incurably Ill

among my own relatives and the people among whom I made my discoveries on poliomyelitis. I want to end my days at home."

Loves America

Her journey to the United States is eased by the fact that the American Congress, in a special bill, granted her "the freedom of the United States." She is the second person in history to gain this distinction which allows her to travel back and forth without passport or immigration formalities. The first was Gen. Lafayette who won the right for his services in helping the American colonists gain their independence from England in the 18th century.

"I have an abiding and deep love for America and the Americans," Miss Kenny said, "and it has been through American friends that I was able to return to Australia and now go to the Copenhagen conference."

Miss Kenny lived in the United States from 1940 until February of this year when she returned to her old home in Toowoomba, Queensland.

The noted nurse will present a manuscript on her controversial concept and treatment of polio to the American Medical association while in the United States.

Miss Kenny's theories and treatment of polio threw U. S. medical circles into an uproar when first introduced. A survey earlier this year showed that most doctors, by 1951, gave her credit for a "virtual revolution" in the treatment of polio, but still disagreed with her concept of the disease.

Bears No Grudge

The Australian Sister (an Australian Army medical title) teaches that polio can strike any muscle or organ of the body. Most doctors think it is confined to the central nervous system.

Despite this difference, the Associated Press survey showed, most doctors said she had spurred the medical profession into much greater use of methods designed to prevent crippling of polio victims.

"I bear no grude against the doctors who know nothing of my discoveries," she said today. "I have fought for 40 years to make my discoveries known and I will fight on until I die."

Charge Wife With Murder

a sanity test for the wife, but there was no indication yet whether a psychiatrist had examined the black-haired woman.

Mrs. Chevallier, a handsome woman in her late thirties, called police to her home and was quoted by them as announcing: "I have just killed by husband." Investigators said she told him she and Chevallier had quarrelled, as they often had before, about his frequent absences from home on political business. She said that when he told her he wanted a divorce, she shot him five times.

Premier Pleven was reportedly deeply shocked by the news of the death of Chevallier, World War II hero, Mayor of Orleans and a deputy in the National Assembly—a man with a promising political future.

The body was taken to a private hospital for autopsy, and later was to lie in state in the Orleans municipal offices. The funeral will be Thursday.

Mrs. Chevallier, mother of two boys, aged eight and four, was taken to an Orleans prison cell after the formal charge was filed. Police said she told them she had bought the pistol a few days ago and used it at the height of the furious argument over her husband's mention of divorce.

Called Police

She then called police headquarters and asked the officer in charge to come to the couple's modest apartment. When Commissaire Antoine Gazano went there, he said she let him in with the tearful announcement "I have just shot my husband."

Chevallier, who served as mayor of war-devastated Orleans, was a physician in private life. Yvonne, who, friends said, was in her late thirties, was a former midwife.

Associates said the couple had been on the outs for some time and that she rarely accompanied him on his frequent trips to Paris made necessary because he was a deputy in the National Assembly (Lower House of Parliament).

They said that a few days ago Mrs. Chevallier bought a small revolver and asked permission to carry it on the grounds her husband had dangerous enemies.

The Chevalliers were married while he was an interne at the Orlens hospital.

Chevallier was a member of two constituent assemblies that drew up the Constitution of the Fourth French Republic. He was parliamentary leader of Pleven's own small political party — the Democrtic and Socialist Union of the Resistance (U.D.S.R.). It was he who introduced the motion to confirm Pleven as Premier.

Flower Show Prize Winner

Mrs. W. W. Eells of This Town Honored At Hartford Exhibit

Mrs. W. W. Eells, past president of the Manchester Garden Club, who is well known in this area for her skill in flower arranging and lectures on floriculture, was one of the prize winners at the 26th annual gladiolus exhibit at Radio Center, Hartford, Saturday and yesterday. Mrs. Eells entered two artistic arrangements, one of Ethel Cole pink glads in a round, gray green container, with a base of caladium leaves; and another of all yellow glads in a boat-shaped container, green with a light shade of green on the inside.

There were a number of beautiful and novel arrangements in pottery, driftwood and baskets, some not in competition. A joke exhibit, entitled "The Thing", was a slender stalk which resembled a genuine glad stem with all the blossoms picked off. However, it was seven feet tall, and while two gladiolus adorned the tip, many doubted whether it was genuine.

New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts Gladiolus societies cooperated in this show, which was easily the finest ever staged by the Connecticut society. There were a large number of complimentary exhibits by florists and commercial growers, and hundreds of specimens of the new varieties, seedlings and miniature gladiolus. The latter are becoming very popular for decoration in homes and for corsages. Many were encased in cellophane. One Hatick, Mass., grower arranged his exhibit in the shape of a large artist's palette. Corsages of vari-colored flowers and ribbons were arranged all around the edge and in the thumb hole were several spikes of lavender liatris, sometimes called Kansas Gay Feather, representing brushes.

Visitors at the show learned that both the North American Gladiolus Council and the Garden Magazine some years ago approved "glad-i-o-lus" for both singular and plural, with accent on the "o", instead of "gladioli."

'Sick' Crews End N. Y. Ferry Tie-Up

daily for shipping or other purposes.

Throngs of islanders milled about the ferry house as the morning rush hour got underway.

The two ferries, carrying from 2,000 to 3,000 passengers each on the half-hour run to the sky-scrapered battery, could handle about 9,000 commuters an hour.

The pressure was relieved somewhat when another ferry line, which operates a much smaller type ferry from Staten Island to Brooklyn, placed seven small craft in service.

Commuters taking this line boarded subways in Brooklyn to complete their trip to Manhattan.

Other drove automobiles by bridge to Bayonne, N. J., and thence into New York.

Bridge traffic was reported three times as great as normal.

The Manhattan ferry line is city-operated. Most of the crewmen are represented by the Marine and Aviation Local 373, Government and Civic Employes Organizing committee.

"This is not a strike," said Peter Robinson, the local's first vice president. "The men are just sick—sick of the budget director giving them the run-around."

The union called a meeting for this morning.

Reich Red Chiefs Hail Joe Stalin

and-white obviously amazed the Iron Curtain youngsters.

Drab Outlook

Against such competition, the Communist World Youth Festival, continuing for another week in East Berlin, looked even drabber. Communist managers were keeping it going with "cultural programs" ranging all the way from concerts to circuses, but many Red youngsters preferred to gaze into the well stocked shop windows and taste the forbidden deliciousness of free meals being dealt out in West Berlin.

West Berlin officials estimated that during the first week of the festival some 500,000 Communist youths visited the West, despite the vigilance of Red police guards. Of these, 250,000 were served free hot meals to pad out the slim diet they got at their East Berlin festival kitchens. Official deports said 1,590 youths asked about political refuge in the West, but only about 50 were accepted. Western policy was to send them back across the border if the youngsters could get there safely.

Peek Through Curtain

Ernst Reuter, mayor of West Berlin, said the Red youth festival was "a great success for the free world." Some observers here said the festival had given the Communists such a jolt that East Berlin would not be chosen for such a role again. It was too easy for the kids to get a look at the other side of the curtain.

Communist youths leaving their big parade heard instructions from East German Communist Boss Walter Ulbricht to sabotage western defenses by "all manner of strikes" in West Germany. He told them there would be ultimate ruin for West Germany if it rearmed.

Organizers of the Communists' "World Peace Festival" immediately began moving hordes of replacements for the departing boys and girls into the city as the second week of the "Hate America" jamboree got under way.

Mass Hysteria

They will have a hard time, however, matching the pitch of mass hysteria reached in yesterday's demonstration.

From early in the morning until late in the afternoon seemingly endless waves of blue-shirted kids shouting "Long Live Stalin" and "Ami (Americans) go home" marched past the reviewing stand in Marx-Engels Platz.

There were at least a million boys and girls in the parade and the Reds claimed 500,00 more cheered from the sidelines. Western authorities thought this latter figure exaggerated.

Once past the reviewing stand, where East Germany's Communist President Wilhelm Pieck, Premier Otto Grotewohl, Ulbright and their Russian guests took the friendship salute," observers noted that the kids' enthusiasm collapsed.

Breaking ranks, they literally dropped out of line and fell asleep on the ground. Some of the marchers were only six years old.

Their wearisome was understandable since thousands were brought in overnight—without sleep—to swell the ranks of the marchers. Even those who had been in Berlin for other "peace" activities were routed out of their tents and attics before dawn to line up for the parade. Few of them had anything to eat.

Court Cases

Judge John S. G. Rottner fined Wolcott T. Hitchcock, 43, of 520 Main street, Wethersfield, $100 in Town Court this morning for violation of the liquor law. He remitted $50. He also sentenced Hitchcock to 30 days in jail, sentence to be suspended. The accused was arrested for selling to construction workers without a vendor's license in violation of the liquor law. Hitchcock was represented by the law firm of Intravia, Intravia and Intravia of Hartford.

Richard A. Keefe, 18, of Hebron, was fined $25 for reckless driving.

Kermit K. Stone of Putnam was fined $11 for violation of rules of the road.

William J. Kodes, 18, of 37 Edward street, was fined $5 for failure to stop at a stop sign.

Mrs. Betty R. McNamara, 33, of 40 Durkin street, was fined $50 for evading responsibility and received a suspended sentence for failure to carry registration for a motor vehicle.

Paul F. Nedwied, 25, of South Willington, was fined $11 for violation of rules of the road.

Dominick DeSianto, 58, of Willimantic, was fined $15 for violation of rules of the road and $5 for failure to sign his operator's license.

Veriato F. Noiva, 20, of 286 Park street, Hartford, was fined $10 for violation of rules of the road, $21 for speeding, and received a suspended sentence for failure to sign his operator's license.

Willard H. Begley, 31, of 48 Bunce drive, received a suspended sentence for speeding.

Assistant Prosecutor David Keith recomended continuances of the following cases: Marcel P. Jobert, 50, 722 Center street, to Monday, August 20, impersonating an officer and breach of peace, released under $100 bond; Edwin R. Chandler, 20, of 107 Larrabee street, East Hartford, continued to Monday, August 20, reckless driving; Norman R. Williams, 17, of 21 Griffin road, continued until Wednesday, driving without a license and operating an unregistered motor vehicle; Seymour Ampole, 33, of New York City, continued until Monday, August 20, speeding, passing on the right; Warren E. Smith, 36, Belleville, New Jersey, to Monday, August 20, speeding, released under $35 bond.

Also, Anthony Uriano, 103 Congress street, driving while under the influence of liquors or drugs, continued until Friday, being held in lieu of $200 bond; Robert C. Gargan, 40, of South Coventry, continued until Wednesday, evading responsibility and driving while license was under suspension, released under $200 bond; Russell Weigold, 34, of Rockville, continued to Wednesday, speeding; Harry Ross, 42, of 28 Scarborough road, continued until Monday, August 20, reckless driving; and Jean Sienda, 32, of North Elm street, continued to Wednesday, charge of intoxication.

Ecuador Charges Peru Aggression

asserting that drunken Ecuadorean troops had touched off the clashes by firing on Peruvian outposts in the Chinchipe area).

Last night's Foreign Office communique said Peru has been able to occupy a large part of the disputed territory only by use of force. It asserted that Peruvian President Manuel Odria admitted this on Feb. 24, 1950, when he said "Thanks to the victory of our arms, Peru has liquidated a secular problem of limits."

The communique was a reply to one issued Saturday by Odria which said Peru would not permit any discussion of her rights in the disputed area. Ecuador rejected that stand.

The Foreign Office said aerial maps have shown there was a geographical error in the 1942 Rio de Janeiro protocol which fixed the border line now in effect.

The communique added that Ecuador is confident she has he cooperation of the four countries which are the guarantors of the protocol—Argentina, Brazil, Chile and the United States.

Supplies Pulpits In Three Churches

Rev. Willard McLaughlin of the North Methodist church who is supplying during August at the early Sunday services for both Rev. Fred R. Edgar of the South Methodist church, and Rev. Leland O. Hunt at the Second Congregational church used as his subject at both churches yesterday, "A Chilly Night," with emphasis on Peter's denial of Christ.

Organist William L. Brown accompanied the soloist, Mrs. George Shedd of Bolton, who sang "Grateful Am I" by Carc Roma. Sunday, August. 5, Gerald Chappell was the soloist.

Mr. McLaughlin directed attention to the beautiful white gladiolus which were in memory of Mark Hanna, and paid tribute to Mr. Hanna, who was present at the service the Sunday previous and who died suddenly Monday morning, August 6.

Barbara's Divorce Must Wait

Cuernavaca, Mexico, Aug. 13—Dime store heiress Barbara Hutton must remain a Princess—at least until Aug. 27.

Federal Judge Alfredo Giullen on Saturday suspended her divorce from Lithuanian Prince Igor Toubetzkoy until that date. The court will grant a hearing at that time to test whether the decree violates the Mexican constitution because Miss Hutton lived in Mexico only a month.

Troubetzkoy, the heiress' fourth husband, is fighting the divorce on the ground that she never established residence in Mexico.

Observe Signs Schendel Says

Six Per Cent of Drivers In Fatal Crashes Ignored Traffic Signals

"A word to the wise apparently doesn't mean as much as commonly supposed!"

Chief Herman O. Schendel made this point today in emphasizing the regularity with which many motorists and pedestrians ignore the good advice given to them in the form of traffic signs and signals.

"In 1949," Chief Schendel said, "six per cent of the drivers involved in a fatal traffic accident had ignored a sign, signal or traffic officer."

In all, he said, 57 per cent of the drivers in fatal accidents in 1949 were reported as violating a traffic law at the time.

"Some of these laws were clearly expressed on signs and signals," Chief Schendel said, "but were, obviously, disregarded by the very people they were designed to protect."

Alarm by traffic safety officials over the high death toll among drivers and pedestrians was cited by the Manchester Police department for this month's emphasis on the importance of "Signs of Life."

"The 'Signs of Life,'" he said, "are all regulatory and advisory traffic signs and signals erected for the protection of all of us. Too often, though, they are interpreted by drivers and walkers as some form of official persecution."

Nation-wide, this August program, Chief Schendel said, is being sponsored by the National Safety Council. In Manchester the local work is being coordinated with the national program by the Mancester Police department.

RECENTLY, a study was made to determine the present state of health and well-being of 78 diabetics who had been placed on a diet and Insulin twenty years before. Previous to Dr. Banting's discovery of Insulin in 1922, their chance of survival for more than two or three years would have been slight.
It was found that 77 of the 78, or 98 percent, were alive and living active, useful lives.

We Were Victims of Rotten Luck Casey Stengel Moans

So-Called Fabulous Luck Of Yankees Runs Out

Philadelphia, Aug. 13—(AP)—The so-called fabulous luck of the New York Yankees ran out on them yesterday.

Manager Casey Stengel and his American League champions lost a game to time. It happened in the second game of a doubleheader against the Philadelphia Athletics.

New York trailed 7 to 4 as they came to bat in the first half of the eighth. They already had lost the first game 9-5 and dropped into second place behind the pace setting Cleveland Indians. Stengel needed this game in the worst way.

A victory left New York half a game behind Cleveland. A defeat mean trailing the Indians by 1½ games (which is where they are today.)

So, in typical Yankee style, the Bronx Bombers scored five runs to take a 9 to 7 lead. However—

The State of Pennsylvania has a law that prohibits baseball games from being continued after 5:59 p. m. (EST) on Sundays. When the Yankees started their big inning there were 23 minutes to play. When they finished it was 5:58. The Athletics couldn't bat; the game was called, the score reverting back to the end of the seven innings, 7-4. The A's won the ball game.

Under American League rules the game was over when time ran out. Had it been a National League game, the two teams would have to finish the game the next time they met.

Conceivably, this curfew could cost the Yanks a pennant.

A half game in a tight race could mean the difference when World Series time rolls around in October.

How did Stengel take this tough break?

"We played the game under the rules of the American League. The umpires will make their report and that's that. We did all we could. We scored five runs and took the lead. Then up comes that law."

Just a case of the Yanks' running out of luck. Stengel doesn't think so.

"I hear that in every major league city, Detroit, Cleveland, Chicago. We all play on the same field with the same dimensions. We use the same equipment. Why don't the other clubs have luck," Stengel said.

"I'll tell you why. Because they didn't have players like Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio, Tommy Henrich, Red Ruffing, Phil Rizzuto and a lot of others. The other clubs worry a little when they see the Yankees and they make a few bad plays. Then we exploit them. If that's luck, give me more of it."

Hogan Winner In TAM World

Celebrates 39th Birthday—$12,500 Present; Duplicates Open Feat

Chicago, Aug. 13—(AP)—Little Ben Hogan, the man who dodged a rendezvous with death two years ago, today celebrated his 39th birthday with a $12,500 present as "world" tourney champion and recognition as the game's greatest stretch-drive player.

Hogan yesterday virtually duplicated his heroic victory finish in the U. S. Open last mid-June as he erased a five-stroke deficit on the final round to win by three taps at 15-under-par 273 in the $50,000 "World" at Tam O'Shanter's gaily bedecked course.

Ben's roaring, six-under-par 66 demoralized his good fairways friend, Jimmy Demaret—the stout 54-hole leader—who floundered to a closing 74 for second-place 276 and a $7,500 prize.

Much has been said about the ability of Hogan to come back after the 1949 highway smash-up that nearly claimed his life.

But even more amazing is his killer form on a selective basis, a contradiction to experts who claim golfers must play week-after-week to stay at top form. He said yesterday he plans no further tourney activity until the Masters next April.

Hogan has played in only six major tourneys this year, winning the Masters, the U. S. Open and the World. He tied for fourth in the Colonial, withdrew from the Phoenix Open, and tied for sixth in the Greenbriar Pro-Amateur which the P.G.A. does not count in its money winnings.

Ben's "World" triumph raised his earnings to $20,400, second only to Lloyd Mangrum, who leads at the moment with $21,078 in 19 tournaments.

The steel-nerved Hogan used only 25 putts on his devastating 33-33 closing round. Demaret, who had been one of the first to visit Hogan in the hospital after his 1949 accident, putted like a duffer, requiring 36 taps on the greens.

Deadlocked for third at 277 were Pete Cooper and the top finisher among 10 foreign delegates, South Africa's Bobby Locke, who each pocketed $2,750.

A stroke behind at 278 and netting $2,100 each were Lawson Little and Clayton Heafner, the latter slowing to a closing 73 after trailing Demaret by only three strokes at the three-quarters mark.

Sammy Snead, who has done little since winning the National PGA tourney this year, was deadlocked with Lloyd Mangrum at 280, worth $1,650 to each.

Top amateur among the 10 simon-pures who played along with 64 pros was Toledo's Frank Stranahan with 283.

In the concurrent women's "World," Babe Zaharias exercised her usual title monopoly by winning with a 298, six strokes ahead of Patty Berg. The Babe won $2,100 in copping the Tam "World" for the fourth straight time. Miss Berg, who was "World" runner-up for the fourth consecutive time, won $900.

Color TV for College Grid Game

New York—(AP)—Football enthusiasts with TV sets—plus the necessary equipment to view color television—will see nine top notch college games this fall in color. The NCAA has given its approval. CBS will take care of the technical color video department. The first game on the color TV grid schedule will be the California-Penn game at Phila., Sept. 9. Other games on the color card include: Princeton at Navy, Dartmouth at Army, North Carolina at Maryland, Columbia at Army, Notre Dame at Navy, Maryland at Navy, Army at Penn and Harvard at Yale.

THE Herald Angle

Major League Flavor

The only known former major league player connected with a Twilight League baseball team this season is Johnny Roser of Pratt and Whitney. Roser, coach of the pace-setting Airmen, spent 14 years in organized baseball. The Brown-haired mentor was with the Boston Braves in 1922.

At 50, Johnny proved he can still lace a ball when he appeared with the Airmen against East Hampton recently at the West Side Oval. After fouling a drive far over the road in right field, Johnny skied to deep rightfield. On his second trip to the plate, Roser dunked a single into rightfield.

Roser has guided the Pratt and Whitney baseball nines for the past four years. A native of St. Louis, the left-handed throwing and batting skipper was plucked from the sandlots by St. Louis Cardinal bird-dogs and signed to a contract in 1921. It was the start of a long career that included a tenure with the Braves and several seasons in top-level minor league competition.

The Airmen's coach started his career with Mineral Wells of the West Texas League as a pitcher-outfielder. He finished the 1920 season with Alexandria of the Louisiana State loop as a pitcher. Released at the end of the season, he hooked on with an independent Kentucky circuit in 1921 which later was christened the Kitty League.

Johnny returned to organized ball in 1922 and helped St. Petersburg win the Florida State League pennant. With the season ending earlier than the majors, Roser was sold to the Boston Braves. Taking part in 32 games, Roser batted .239 as an outfielder. This was Roser's only record in the big show but he gained plenty of rave notices for his home run hitting ability in the minors.

38 Circuit Blows

In 1923, Johnny played with Worcester and Pittsfield in the Eastern League, batting .318 while clouting 22 homers. The following year he spent with Worcester and compiled a .330 batting average while banging out 38 circuit blows one more than Lou Gehrig socked for Hartford.

Strolling through memory lane Roser recalls lone homer Gehrig hit during the 1924 home run race. "About halfway in the season when Lou and I were running neck-and-neck, Hartford played a doubleheader in Worcester and we wound up with three homers apiece. I pitched in relief in the nightcap and Lou got his third homer off me, a terrific wallop that cleared some railroad tracks and went through the window of a freight office. I think the ball is still going."

For the second and only other time that Roser was with a championship team was in 1925 with the Baltimore Orioles in the International League. Johnny batted well over the .300 mark and slammed out 24 homers. Teammates included George Earnshaw and Joe Boley. Earnshaw and Boley later played for years with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

There was a highlight in Roser's career with Baltimore. A tailor, an ardent supporter of the Orioles, offered a suit for every Oriole homer hit between rightcenter and right field. Roser socked three round trippers in this area in the first few weeks of the season. The tailor cornered Johnny in the clubhouse one afternoon and made a deal to give Johnny only six suits for the entire season, regardless of how many homers were hit in the specified area. Roser not only got six but free cleaning and pressing for the season. Whenever, Johnny blasted a homer to right center and right field after the six suit deal was made, the tailor would give Johnny one of the old suits in home plate presentations.

Eastern League

From 1926 through 1931, Roser was back in the Eastern League with Williamsport after a short stay with Birmingham of the Southern Association; Bridgeport, Hartford 1928-29-30, Richmond and Norfolk were other stops in his much traveled career. Roser decided to play semi-pro ball in 1932 and 1933 and was with the Savitt Gems, highly rated Hartford team. Johnny came back to organized ball in 1934 with Hartford in the illfated Northeastern League and then played independent ball with the Hartford Underwoods in 1935-36-37. His next fling at pro ball was in 1938 as playing-manager of Gloversville in the Canadian-American League. Playing in 112 games, Roser batted .340. His O. B. career ended the following season as manager of Bradford in the Pony League.

Roser joined Pratt and Whitney in 1940. He played three years with the Airmen, 1940-41-42 before deciding to call it quits as an active player. He took over the coaching reins of P&W in 1948. He's employed in the purchasing department.

This, Johnny's first season as head man of the Airmen in the local Twilight League, will be a memorable one for the P&Ws have already clinched regular season championship honors. In addition, the Airmen are on their way to compiling the best record ever in Twi League competition.

PAL Defeats Bankers 14-9

Locals Blow 8 to 1 Lead And Drop Out of Top Place in Standings

The East Hartford P.A.L. trounced the Manchester First National Bank at Martin Field yesterday, 14-9. The loss knocked the locals out of frist place. The Bank had been in first place since June 2nd. The East Hartford Board of Trade takes over the league leadership with an 8-5 record. The locals have a 7-5 record, having played one game less than the new league leaders.

Both the Board of Trade and the First National Bank have been invited to play in the A.L.L. Tournament in West Hartford. The tournament will get underway Tuesday night with the above mentioned teams opposing each other. Game time is 5:30.

Indians Pull Away As Yanks Drop Pair

Philly Curfew Ruling Wipes Out Yanks' Lead And Gives A's Win; Dodgers Beat Braves

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's Indians stood alone atop the American League today, enjoying a game and a half lead over the New York Yankees—and all along the circuit they were whispering "poetic justice."

That's not what Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees believes, though.

"We were the victims of rotten luck," he said. "Nothing more."

Stengel was referring to yesterday's second game 7-4 loss to the Athletics in Philadelphia. The A's also won the opener, 9-5, to sweep the doubleheader from New York. The double loss, coupled with Cleveland's triumph over the Chicago White Sox, for their tenth straight win, snapped the Yankees-Indians first place tie.

Stengel had a point, too. His Yankees actually had a 9-7 lead following a five-run rally in the top of the eighth when play was halted and the score reverted back to the seventh inning. Pennsylvania has a Sunday 6:00 p. m. (est) curfew low. Since the Athletics did not bat in their half of the eighth, the Yankees' five runs were wiped off the records. That made the A's the winners.

The Yankees' sorry plight brought to mind a game played between the Yankees and Chicago in New York July 27. The Yankees led, 3-1, as the White Sox went to bat in the ninth. Chicago tallied three times to go ahead 4-3. But rain intervened and after an hour's wait the umpires called the game. The score reverted to the end of the eighth. That made the Yankees the winners.

Poetic justice? Perhaps.

Regain Winning Ways

Boston's third-place Red Sox regained their winning ways, sweeping a pair from Washington by identical 6-2 margins. Hoot Evers punched a bases loaded single in the ninth inning to break a tie and give the Detroit Tigers a 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

Don Newcomb pitched Brooklyn to a 7-2 victory over the Boston Braves but the Dodgers' first-place lead in the National was reduced to 126 games as the runnerup New York Giants swept a twin bill from Philadelphia's Phils, 3-2 and 2-1.

The St. Louis Cardinals overcame a 3-0 lead to win 4-3. Pittsburgh and Chicago swapped shutout. Murray Dickson hurled the Pirates to a 1-0 lead over Joe Hatten in the opener. The Cubs retaliated when Paul Minner blanked Pittsburgh 6-0 in the nightcap.

The Yankees-Athletics nightcap ended in rain and darkness amid a wetler of confusion. Philadelphia manager Jimmy Dykes changed Philadelphia pitchers twice in the eighth inning. Alex Kellner made a wild pitch. Catcher Joe Astroth was charged with a passed ball. The Athletics appeared to be using stalling tactics. The Yankees, ing stalling tactics. The Yankees, after going ahead, appeared to be anxious to make outs. The game was called before the A's had a chance to take their turn at the plate.

The A's snapped rookie Tom Morgan's eight-game winning streak in the opener, raking the young righthander for six runs in less than three innings. Jack Kramer was charged with the second game loss. Bob Hooper and Bobby Shantz were the winners.

Mike Garcia chalked up his 16th victory for the Indians, who raked four White Sox pitchers for 1[illegible] hits including home runs by Larry Doby, Bobby Avila and Ray Boone. Dale Mitchell got three of Cleveland's hits to stretch his consecutive hitting streak through 2[illegible] games.

Ray Scarborough and Wi[illegible] Wight, principals in the Red Sox White Sox winter trade, teamed up for the first time this season to give Boston its double win. Each permitted eight hits. Scarborough won his ninth and Wight his fifth.

Jim McDonald, St. Louis rookie was within two outs of pitching a shutout. Doubles by George Ke[illegible] and Vic Wertz, tied the score. A walk and an error preceded Evers' game-winning hit. Bob Cain was the winner.

Campanella Homers Twice

Roy Campanella helped Brooklyn's Don Newcombe register his 16th triumph, blasting a pair of homers to drive in five runs. They were homers Nos. 23 and 24.

Monte Irvin and Bobby Thompson drove in all New York's runs in the Giants' double win. Irvin homered with two out in the first game to offset a 2-0 deficit. Thompson doubled in two runs in the nightcap after Philadelphia had taken a 1-0 lead. Sal Maglie won his 16th in the opener. Rookie Al Corwin won his third without defeat in the nightcap.

Herm Wehmeier walked Bob Scheffing with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to give the Cards their 4-3 win over Cincinnati. Harry Brecheen won his eighth against two losses.

George Strickland's single scored Clyde McCullough in the fifth to produce the only run in the first game as Dickson won his 16th game for the Pirates. Minner scattered eight Pittsburgh hits for his sixth Chicago victory in the nightcap.

Ridges Hope to Clinch Spot in Playoffs Tonight

The Ridges will be trying again tonight to clinch at least a tie for the playoff berth in the Twilight League when they tackle the champion Pratt & Whitney at the Oval at 6 o'clock. Bobby Dunnack is slated to take the mound in quest of the victory and his opponent is expected to be Bob Ericson or Bob Andrews.

Two games remain on the schedule before the playoffs begin. The Thread City team must split to be assured of a berth. A double loss eliminates them while a double win gives them sole possession of third place. Wednesday they meet Silk City. The first playoff game is Friday with the BA's meeting Hamilton.

It will be the Dunnack brothers carrying the hopes of the Ridges tonight. Ray, Jerry and Del lead the attack while P&W banks on the hitting of Jackie May, Joe Tripp, Johnny Satagaj and Paul Cichon.

Fans to Honor Feller Tonight

Cleveland, Aug. 13—(AP)—Bob Feller steps up to home plate in Cleveland Stadium tonight to be honored before cheering fans—many of whom booed and cried he was "washed up" only two years ago.

The 32-year-old dean of the Cleveland Indians' pitching staff then goes to the mound against the Detroit Tigers. The first major league hurler this year to win 18 games, he's beaten the Tigers all three previous times he pitched against them this campaign.

But characteristically, Feller's worrying about winning—about keeping Cleveland in the American League lead and extending the team's longest winning string of a decade—10 games.

"I hope I don't louse up the night with a bad pitching performance," was his first reaction to a night in his honor.

The pre-game ceremonies will be simple—lasting only about 15 minutes. From the Cleveland Baseball Club, his employer for 15 years, he will receive an inscribed silver coffee service. From the baseball writers, he and the fans will get a one-page newspaper detailing the highlights of his illustrous career. And then, from the fans he's thrilled—and sometimes disappointed—he will be given a mighty cheer.

That cheer may mean the most of anything on the program to Bob. Always one of the game's top money-earners, he didn't want presents from the fans and said so. He can well afford his own convertibles, or other expensive gifts.

Certainly he knows his five-figure pay check was a part of the reason the boo-birds rode him during the past three seasons when his records were 19-15, 15-14 and 16-11.

Those are respectable pitching records, but not for Feller and five years of 20 or more victories. Now only two games away from that charmed 20 and with only four losses, he's back on top.

And the crowd will cheer louder than ever tonight because they remembered that when Bob couldn't get any heat in the old fireball, couldn't seem to get anyone out, and threw a lot of home-run pitches—in those days he took the boos like a man. He didn't alibi, he didn't throw his glove or show the emotional storm he must have felt within. He just tried harder the next time, and a skill and superb control came to replace the speed that wrote baseball history.

Next weekend tournament will be a Selected Nine Holes.

Senators Want to Probe Boxing Activities of IBC

Washington, Aug. 13—(AP)—Senator Welker (R., Idaho), who used to "fool around as a welterweight," wants to probe activities of the International Boxing Club (IBC), which stages fights in Madison Square Garden and has branches in Detroit and Chicago.

And Senator Cain (R., Wash.), another lawmaker who once roamed the canvas, said a boxing probe would be "a gold mine" compared with the investigation of organized baseball.

Both say they can prove that a practical money monopoly exists in professional boxing.

They told a reporter yesterday they were determined to get a congressional investigation of the sport, but don't care who does the job.

Welker wants to take a long look at the IBC as well as other boxing organizations.

"I think (it) will show why you and so many others in the public are staying away from boxing programs now," he told a reporter.

Cain's objective is "to help every young fellow who wants to fight with his fists get a chance to meet even the champion, if he is good enough."

Both Welker and Cain say the IBC billed a fight between Irish Bob Murphy as an elimination for a match with Joey Maxim, present light heavyweight champion.

Matthews, whipped Murphy, they say, but the IBC still gave Murphy the title bout with Maxim July 22.

The two senators had planned to introduce a boxing probe resolution in the Senate this week, calling on the judiciary committee to take charge.

But Senator Magnuson (D., Wash.), has already made a formal request for an inquiry into both boxing and professional wrestling. He asked the Senate Commerce Committee do the job.

Rep. Clemente (D., N. Y.), has a similar request in the House. He wants a special five-man group to run the investigation.

Cain said he may be willing to support either the Magnuson or the Clemente probe but Welker wants a separate boxing inquiry.

Flocks of Ravens Irk Fishermen

Prince Albert, Sask. — (AP) — Flocks of ravens ranging over Northern Saskatchewan are keeping fishermen and trappers on the jump. The airborne predators are robbing fish nets, eating fish left on the ice overnight by fishermen, and ruining pelts of trapped furbearing animals.

"They're as wily as a wolf," said one trapper. "If you are carrying a gun they keep their distance, but if not they strut around as tame as pigeons."

Davis Cup Tennis Stars Top England

Montreal, Aug. 13—(AP)—Frank Shields, non-playing captain of America's Davis Cup team, said with a degree of disappointment today that he "hadn't learned a thing" from the weekend sweep over Canada's weak squad in the North American Zone finals here.

"So far as picking the players who will face Sweden in the interzone finals in Australia, I'm no further along than I was when we came here," said the handsome young man who faces one of the biggest problems ever dumped into the lap of a selector.

"All I know for certain right now is that Dick Savitt will play singles and that Tony Trabert will be my left court man in doubles," he said frankly. "Beyond that, your guess is about as good as mine. The way things look now I might have to take seven or eight players on the trip and not reach a decision on my four-man team until the last minute—that is, 10 days before the interzone starts."

Savitt, of course, showed Shields and the Canadian fans all that was expected of him as he overwhelmed Brendan Macken, Canada's singles champion, in their match on Friday. The tall, dark fellow from Cornell has developed into a terrific tennis player in the past year, and Shields feels some confidence he will win two singles against Sweden.

But after that the singles picture is very obscure. Trabert, though a barecat at doubles, did not show enough in defeating young Lorne Main of Canada to stamp himself as a likely winner against either of the Swedes, Lennart Bergelin and Sven Davidsson, much less against the Australians.

Silk City Holds Football Meeting

The Silk City A. C. will hold an important football meeting this evening at the VFW at eight o'clock. All members and all candidates interested in playing with the Aces this coming season are urged to attend tonight's meeting.

The final decision as to whether or not the local organization will field a team will be decided tonight. Two sponsors have approached the club stating their interest in backing a football team and it is expected that another party will approach the club at this meeting. It is solely up to the members as to which offer they will accept this coming year.

Last season the Aces copped top honors in the newly organized Northern Connecticut Football Conference with a record of six wins and no losses. As yet, no word has been received as to whether or not this league will be organized once more. Thompsonville, Stafford Springs and Rockville were other NCFC members. Rumors have it that only the latter will field a team this fall.

From all indications, there will be fewer semi-pro teams in the state this season, and that those clubs that do continue will be stronger than ever, thus the locals are attempting to get an early start in the hopes of acquiring some of the better players from teams that have folded because of the man shortage. Manchester is a football town and the locals hope to show their followers their best team ever.

The Syracuse Nationals in the National Basketball Association will play in Syracuse's $3,500,000 Onondaga County War Memorial next season.

Bryan Limits Losers To But Three Hits

Winners Score Twice in 7th and 9th Innings To Gain Place in National Tournament

The Bi-State championship was returned to Rhode Island yesterday afternoon as the Circle A. C. of Providence whipped Moodus in the deciding game at the Oval by a score of 4 to 1. Jim Bryan, ex-Brown University star, pitched a three-hitter as his mates gave him good hitting suport in the seventh and ninth frames.

George King went the route for the Noisies and suffered the loss, his second in the series. Rain played havoc with both teams and the hurlers had trouble with the wet balls. Charlie White, sales manager of the East Hartford Coca Cola Bottling Company, presented the Bi-State trophy following the game. Providence was undecided on the trip to Kansas but had hopes of filling their spot in the nationals.

Dick Paterson, outfielder for the Circle A. C. and a policeman in Providence, suffered a separated shoulder when tried to stretch a double into a triple in the second. He slid into the third base bag and his right shoulder hit. The game was held for a few moments. He was taken to the hospital but returned later to witness the final few frames.

Trimble Comes Through

Joe Trimble, the right-handed pitching star, filled in for Patterson and was deadly at the plate. He rammed a single off Walt Golet's knee in the seventh, took second on a wild pitch and scored the tying run on Johnny Poland's liner single to right. The throw to the infield got away from King and Poland went to second. He stole third and broke the tie when King uncorked another wild pitch.

Noises Score

Joe Kupzaro scored the Connecticut titlists' run in the fifth when he walked, was sacrificed to second by King, and scored the first run of the game on an error after going to third on a wild pitch.

Trimble started the ninth inning rally with a double to center. Johnny Braxton's single sent him across with the third run for Providence and Braxton scored moments later on Nick Cariglia's infield hit.

Bryan gave up a single in each of the first three innings with Jay Breslow getting two of the hits. He fanned ten and gave up but three passes. King struck out six and walked four. Bryan pitched the Circle nine into the Rhode Island championship and was making his lone start in the Bi-State event.

Sense and Nonsense

What Money Won't Buy

Faith or courage.
Nor the love for a fatherland.
It won't buy the laugh of a baby's face.
Nor the caress of a mother's hand.
It won't buy the love of a woman.
Nor the song of the nightingale.
It won't buy a true and loyal friend.
Nor the wag of a little dog's tail.
It won't buy the joy of duty done.
Nor the peace when you come to die.
The best things that life has to offer money won't buy.

Father—Say, young fellow, it's almost two o'clock. Are you going to stay with my daughter all night?
John—Sorry, sir, I'd sure like to, but I promised to be home.

Jim—Say, why do you let your wife rule you? Are you a man or a mouse?
Sam—Of course I'm a man, but I think I'd fare better if I were a mouse.
Jim—How do you figure that out?
Sam—Well, if I were a mouse, my wife would be afraid of me.

Fond Mother— Would you like to hold my baby for awhile?
Sailor—No, thanks.
Fond Mother —Why, don't you like babies?
Sailor —Yessum, but the last time I held one it got—er—er—sea sick.

Your Influence

Each of us in some way exercises a certain amount of influence on those with whom we come in contact.

Do you influence people to be cheerful and contented or are you one of those individuals who spread gloom and dissatisfaction instead of happiness?

Whether you realize it or not, your words, manner, attitude and deeds exercise a certain amount of influence on your family and your associates.

Have you ever taken the time to think about the way and the degree to which you influence people?

If not, do it today.

You can be a strong influence for negative or positive thinking. The person who is a creative thinker—who plans things, makes things, does things, that help to maket his a better world for his fellow man in a good influence.

Most of us in some degree exercise an influence on others—every man or woman is a guide—a pattern—an ideal—or an "oracle" to someone else.

Yes, even your habits in some way influence others— they either harm or help, hinder or hasten, the mental growth and development of others.

The family that used to be proud to own one automobile now thinks it necessary to have two or three cars.

Rogers Staffs Hold Outing

Over 300 Employees, Guests Enjoy Party—Local Man Honored

Over 300 employees and guests of the Rogers Corporation attended the firm's annual outing Saturday at Happy Acres, Middlefield. At the dinner in the evening Thomas Armstrong of 14 Ashworth street was awarded a $200 U. S. Savings Bond in recognition of thirty years service with the company. Germain Meunier of Danielson, employed at the Goodyear plant was awarded a $50 bond for a sales suggestion submitted to the management. This is the first such award ever given by the Rogers Corporation.

In the sporting events held during the morning and afternoon the Rogers Staff team defeated Oak Lodge, IBPM, of Goodyear 8 to 1 to win the Rogers Softball title. The staff team defeated the Manchester team 21 to 10 to enter the finals.

The Goodyear Girls' softball team defeated the Manchester girls 10 to 4.

Tony Bayliss and Louis Beaumont, both of Manchester, won the annual row boat race defeating five other two-man teams.

Mrs. Phylis Backofen of the Manchester office and Wanda Grondelski of Goodyear shared honors in the 50 yard dash for women when they finished in a dead heat in two trials.

John Kaczor, Jr., of Goodyear won the 100 yard dash for men and Hugh French and Leonis Thomas, both of Goodyear, won the coupled race and the egg tossing contest.

The Combined Rogers staff team won the hundred yard relay in the pool events defeating the teams from the two unions. Anchor man on the winning team was Ed Sweeney of Manchester.

William Hoss of Goodyear was the victor in the 50-yard freestyle swim. Winners in the novelty pool events were Andre Lernould, William Hoss and F. R. Anderson, all of Goodyear.

The tennis title was won by Norman Greenman of Goodyear, and the handball title was won by Dave Dunay of New York City, a member of the sales force.

Guests were present from the Connecticut Federation of Labor and from the international offices of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers at Albany, N. Y.

A pleasant day was enjoyed by all who attended the annual affair which is jointly sponsored by the Corporation and by Oak and Maple lodges of the IBPM.

St. Margaret's Circle, Daughters of Isabella, will hold its regular business meeting tomorrow evening at the Knights of Columbus home at eight o'clock.

Ex-Courier Links Many In Spy Plot

Washington, Aug 14—(AP)—Elizabeth Bentley, self-styled former Communist spy, swore today that she and fellow agents knew the Institute of Pacific Relations (IPR) to be "Red as a rose" and too openly tied to Communism for undercover workers to approach.

She told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that IPR was described to her once by a fellow Communist espionage agent as "one of our organizations" and "under our control."

But, she added, Russian agent Jacob Golos, who was her boss, also told her once that "IPR is operating far to loosely" and as a result was making "many blun-

Army Head Again Hits 38 as Line

Munsan, Korea, Aug. 14—(AP)—Kaesong armistice talks snagged today on an argument over the importance of Allied air and naval supremacy.

If cease-fire negotiations break down, the United Nations ground commander, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, said his troops are ready to "clobber" the Reds.

In Tokyo Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. N. Supreme Commander, said the Reds have been steadily building up and are in a materially better position to attack than they were when truce talks started July 10.

Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army, commented:

"The military feels we would like to have the opportunity to meet the Communists if they attack. It would be a real clobber.

"I don't know of a better way to get it over faster.

"The enemy is hurt. He is in bad shape. He needs peace."

Cites Red Build-up

Van Fleet's opinion of the ability of the Eighth Army to meet a Red onslaught coincided with views expressed by Ridgway, when the top Allied commander told about the Red build-up.

Ridgway said the U. N. position was not inflexible, but that his troops must have a defensible position during a truce approximately along their present battle line. He said the U. N. won't go back to the 38th parallel, where

Europe's Defense Problem Is Funds

Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—Europe's major defense problem is money, not manpower, the House Foreign Affairs committee said today in supuport of a $7,848,750,000 Foreign-aid program.

In a formal report to the House, the committee quoted General Eisenhower, head of Western Europe Defense Armies, as saying that "men were being called up and trained faster than equipment was arriving."

"Manpower is not the bottleneck in developing European defense," the committee said. "The limiting factors are equipment and money . . . General Eisenhower was emphatic on this point."

What's needed, the committee emphasized, is American financial help until the free nations of the world are in a position to pay for their own defenses.

But, it warned, the Foreign-aid program is "not a program under which we will carry the rest of the world on our backs . . . it is the plan of the program that United States assistance to western Europe self-held will enable our friends in that area to hold the line themselves soon."

The Program approved by the committee calls for $651,250,000 less than the $8,500,000,000 asked by President Truman.

A Republican-sponsored move was under way in the Senate to trim the administration request by 15 per cent. Some Democrats labelled that too drastic.

The House group declared "there is no time to spare" in building up defenses even though military experts, including Eisenhower, believe that "We have sufficient time for better preparation." The report added:

"Russia apparently fears our superiority in atomic warfare. The Russian army is ready and could get into action in a short time. It could undoubtedly overrun a considerable territory under present conditions.

"Nevertheless, the Soviet gov-

House Backs Building Bill

Approves 5.7 Billion For Military Construction in U. S., Abroad

Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—The House today authorized the largest single military construction program ever presented to Congress in war or peace. It calls for spending $5,768,720,000.

The roll call vote was 352 to 5.

The major portion of the proposed work, $3,480,661,000, is allotted the Air Force and will be used to strengthen its bases in this country, in the territories and overseas.

The sum of $1,368,025,000 is earmarked for Army construction and $786,267,000 for the Navy. In addition, there is about $133,766,000 for joint projects and for construction of recreational and welfare facilities at bases.

The bill simply authorizes the

Lodges Quizzed On Rome Radio

Rome, Aug. 14—(AP)—Governor John Davis Lodge of Connecticut and his Italian-born wife spent a busy afternoon today answering Italian radio interviewers.

The governor was asked if he was of Italian origin.

"No, but my wife is," replied Lodge.

When another interviewer asked Mrs. Lodge, a one-time Italian film star, how Italian women

Defense Head Sees 3rd War

Wilson Warns Nation Against Let-down by Moscow's 'Sweet Talk'

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 14—(AP)—Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson said today the danger of a third world war is "greater than ever" and it can be averted only in building America's might.

Warning the country against being lulled by Moscow's "sweet talk," Wilson said military and industrial strength is the only language Soviet Russia really understands.

Wilson made the statements in an address prepared for the National Institute for Chamber of Commerce and Trade Association executives.

Meat Black Market

On the domestic front, he said that price control changes recently directed by Congress may mean meat black markets and living cost boosts of five to eight per cent.

He said the ban voted by Congress in the new Defense Production act against government slaughtering controls may concentrate meat supply in large packers. This may lead, he said, to local meat famines—which the customer can avoid only by paying

Recover 11 Bodies In Seattle Crash

Seattle, Aug. 14—(AP)—Charred, smoldering rubble and melted metal marked the pyre today where at least 11 persons were consumed in gasoline-fed flames spewed out from a crashed B-50 Air Force bomber.

Those who lived remembered the hot breath of death that swept through a hillside apartment house into which the medium bomber plunged yesterday afternoon moments after taking off on a routine check-out flight.

Dozens of persons in Seattle's south end industrial section saw the doomed plane suddenly lose altitude from 700 feet up and veer off sharply to the right.

Hits at Top Speed

With its four engines churning at apparent full power, a wing dipped violently, the B-50 flicked against the side of a brewery, then plowed into the frame and brick Lester apartments on the hill behind.

What led to the tragedy was as yet unknown. But expert observers theorized that the pilot, Lt. Lloyd G. Vanderwielen of Seattle, heroically banked his stricken ship toward the Rainier Valley wall to spare hundreds of workers in factories below. It is believed Vanderwielen was trying to crash land on the tree covered, sparsely populated bank—the only open spot for blocks around.

The scene is a short distance from the spot where a prototype B-29 crashed into a packing company plant in 1943, killing 31.

Mass of Flame

A witness to the B-50 disaster, businessman William F. Schodde, said the big bomber was laboring heavily, nose up and tail down in an effort to gain altitude. Then it tipped almost on its side with engines wide open and turned into a mass of flame when it hit.

"The noise was so loud I thought it was a jet coming," recalled Fred Prout, who was below the residential hill. "Then I saw it, the wings at a 90-degree angle to the ground—straight up and

Riot in Utah State Prison

Officials Make Another Plea for Help, Report Some Guards Captured

Bulletin!

Point-of-the-Mountain, Utah, Aug. 14—(AP)—Three inmates of the State Prison seized the acting warden and a guard today in the third outbreak of trouble at the modern prison in three months.

Salt Lake City, Aug. 14—(AP)—The Utah State prison at point-of-the-mountain sent a "plea for help" this morning in what the state highway patrol said is "another riot."

The highway patrol said cars had been dispatched to the prison, 15 miles south of here.

The Salk Lake county sheriff's office also dispatched all available officers. The dispatcher said he understood "some guards had been captured by the prisoners."

Red Youth Fete Seen as Failure

Berlin, Aug. 14—(AP)—The western Allies sized up the World Youth Festival in Berlin today as a near disaster for Communism in Germany.

Official observers are planning to report back to their governments at the end of the festival this week the following conclusions:

1—East German Communist youth were exposed to West Berlin in such numbers they may flood their home areas with pro-western feeling.

2.—Many delegates from the satellite nations, restricted to the Soviet sector of Berlin, were impressed by the fact that the cause of Communism has been stopped cold on the Iron Curtain border and isn't pushing westward.

Lack Enthusiasm

3—The lack of enthusiasm among the German youth has cast a sharp reflection on the party indoctrination work and the men responsible for it.

It's possible these same conclusions are being sent eastward too, for the Soviet Politburo to think about. Russian political advisers presumably saw the patent evidence as well as the westerners who kept an eye on the doings.

A steady rain since dawn dampened the spirit of the festival even more today, the ninth day of the two-week long Red jamboree.

It cut down the flow of German

Expect Red Show, Walk At Jap Pact Sessions

Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—American officials expect Russian delegates to walk out of the 50-nation Japanese peace conference after staging a spectacular propaganda show to emphasize Moscow's opposition.

These officials expressed confidence to a reporter that Russia's denunciations would not succeed in blocking the signing of a peace treaty by an overwhelming majority of other countries.

The United States is ready to sign without Russia, if necessary, said these officials who may not be quoted by name.

Secretary of State Acheson, they hinted, may have a trick or two up his sleeve to curb the anticipated Russian propaganda filibuster, if it threatens to drag on indefinitely.

Moscow's delegates, headed by acting Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, have promised to show up in San Francisco Sept. 4 for the opening of what was planned as a five-day conference.

Top-Flight Group

Assisting him will be three other of Russia's more noted conference orators—Alexander S. Panyuhkin, ambassador to the United States; Georgi N. Zarubin, ambassador to London; and S. A. Golunski, Russian Foreign Office legal chief and former judge at the Tokyo war crimes trials.

State department officials consider it a top-flight delegation.

Department officials look for Communist Czechoslovakia and Poland, the only Russian satellites invited, to follow Moscow's lead shortly and announce they will attend the conference.

The State department, announcing Russian acceptance yesterday, declined to comment formally or to indicate what its strategy

'Enemy' Stopped In Mock Battle

Fort Bragg, N. C., Aug. 14—(AP)—U. S. commanders were confident today that their forces would push back a mythical enemy aggressor in the second day of the largest mock war since the opening of World War II.

The two-week Army and Air Force training maneuver titled "Operation Southern Pine" opened here yesterday with 110,000 troops involved. At the end of the first day's fighting, U. S. troops forced the enemy to halt his advance and dig in. The aggressor, moving up from the Caribbean area, had theoretically established a beach head

Bowles 'Deficit' Almost Wiped Out

Hartford, Aug. 14—(AP)—The so-called Bowles' deficit—an important factor which brought GOP victory last fall—was virtually wiped out today through war-fed taxes.

The estimated deficit which stood at $7,400,000 last November and undoubtedly lost then-Governor Bowles many votes has been hacked down to probably less than $200,000.

State fiscal experts would not be surprised if the deficit melted entirely by the time the comptroller's annual report comes out in mid-September.

Tax collections during the fiscal year which ended June 30, brought $84,978,131 into the general fund—$12,651,978 or 18 per cent above the previous year ac-

TRAIN TOLL AT 12

Simmesport, La., Aug. 14—(AP)—The death toll in the head-on crash between a Marine troop train and a fast Kansas City Southern streamliner stands at 12.

A second Marine, Sgt. William Leonidas Jurney, Jr., of Washington, D. C., died yesterday at Brooke Army hospital at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

Sixty persons were injured.

State Accuses Danbury Doctor

Hartford, Aug. 14—(AP)—Dr. Frank T. Genovese, Danbury health officer, has been formally accused by the State Health department of having signed the death certificate of Miss Elizabeth M. Ayres before she actually died.

The death of the 74-year-old Danbury spinster has resulted in a manslaughter charge against Dr. Donald F. Gibson, 49, of Danbury, who shared her home and was made her heir.

A Fairfield county grand jury which indicted Dr. Gibson last month declined to take any action against Dr. Genovese, who was called in as the attending physician in Miss Ayres' last illness.

The Health department, in filing charges against Dr. Genovese yesterday, said that he would be given a hearing on Sept. 5 by the State Board of Medical Examiners. If found guilty, he faces possible loss of his license to practice medicine.

A department spokesman said no action against Dr. Gibson was contemplaced until the disposition of the criminal case against him. He is free to practice medicine in the meantime.

9 Safe, 31 Lost As Ship Upsets

Rotterdam, The Netherlands, Aug. 14—(AP)—Nine survivors of the Norwegian freighter Bess were plucked from the North Sea last night, but small hope was held for the rest of the 31 persons aboard the ship abandoned Sunday in a gale.

Radio messages received here last night said the bodies of two of them, a man and a woman have been picked up.

Culture Hangs Its Head

Music Depreciation Night Squares Bums, Local 802

New York, Aug. 14—(AP)—The world of culture hung its head in shame over the murder of music at Ebbets Field last night.

Music was tormented, tortured and finally done to a horrible death by 2,426 Brooklyn Dodger fans who posed as "musicians."

It was "Music Depreciation Night." And the 2,426 got in free by bringing along an instrument.

They proved they could make noises more ghastly than those of the regular "Dodger Sym-Phony" which has wrecked 10,000,000 ears.

As music was losing the one-sided contest with the executioners, the Boston Braves lost to the Dodgers, 7 to 6. There were 25,000 paying customers.

Despite the heat, folks for blocks around the ball park closed their windows to shut out the din.

War in Stands

The "musicians" gave forth with trumpets, trombones, zithers, tubas, accordions, bugles, flutes, snare drums, base drums, violins, mandolins, assorted horns—and a glockenspiel and a washboard.

Says GOP to Pick Taft, Win If Democrats Name Truman

Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—Senator Brewster (R., Me.), said today if President Truman will make it clear he wants the Democratic Presidential nomination the Republicans "will pick Senator Taft as his opponent."

"If the Democrats will give us Truman, the Republicans will beat him with Taft," Brewster declared in an interview.

Told about the statement, Taft shrugged his shoulders, grinned and commented that "It's a free world."

Taft, regarded as a leading candidate for the GOP nomination, said he hasn't made up his mind finally whether he will run. However, Mr. Truman has named Taft as the man he would like to see the Republicans nominate.

"Senator Brewster is entitled to his opinion but he is speaking for himself, not me," Taft said.

Truman In Primary

Brewster's proposal came after Monroe Sweetland, Oregon Democratic State chairman, said he had told Mr. Truman the latter's name would be filed in the Oregon Presidential primary next May.

The primary is an open one, in which a candidate's name may be entered without his consent. Sweetland said petitions already are being circulated to enter Senators Douglas (D., Ill.) and Kefauver (D., Tenn.)

Upholds Convictions On Short-weight Birds

Hartford, Aug. 14—(AP)—The Connecticut Supreme Court has upheld the conviction of three officers of the Ger-Ron Farms corporation of Somers on charges of conspiracy to cheat and defraud customers by falsifying the weights of turkeys.

Named as defendants were John R. Gerich of Somers, general manager of the farm; fined $5,000 and sentenced to two to five years in state prison; Claude J. Brodeur of Thompsonville, secretary of the corporation, sentenced to serve one to three years in state prison, and John G. Seybold, of Springfield, Mass., farm manager, sentenced to a year in the Tolland County jail. The corporation itself was fined $5,000.

The sentences, imposed by Superior Court Judge John H. King on April 21, 1947, have been held in abeyance during two appeals to the Supreme Court. On May 29, 1950, the court over-ruled an appeal for a new trial based on the fact that Miss Nita Kellogg of Waterbury had been dismissed as a court stenographer by Judge James B. Murphy before she had transcribed her notes on the trial.

The second appeal, decided today, challenged the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain the convictions.

The Supreme Court's unanimous opinion held that the evidence overwhelmingly supported the existence of a conspiracy to over-

Cites McCarthy In Vote Victory

Washington, Aug. 14—(AP)—Senator Benton (D., Conn.), said yesterday his victory in last November's election might have been partially due to opposition to him by Senator McCarthy (R., Wis.).

He told the Senate McCarthy visited Connecticut three times. He invited McCarthy to return, asserting the people of Connecticut "have very strong stomachs."

Benton said that when McCarthy spoke at New Haven "there were only 376 persons to hear
