Welfare Costs Here Decrease

Better Employment Opportunities Given as Reason by Officials Coast.

A drop of $1,487 in the December town welfare costs from the same month a year ago is noted in the monthly expenditure of the welfare department.

Town charity costs for the month of December were nearly in balance with the November relief expenses, report of the director, Albert E. Behrend, shows today. Last month $7,671.22 was spent. In November $7,687.23 was spent, leaving the slight balance of $16.01 less for last month.

In December there were 76 cases with 116 persons aided and in November there were 74 cases with 109 persons aided, the numbers helped going up slightly last month.

A year ago in December there were 95 cases with 191 persons aided for a cost of $9,158.88.

The large drop in costs from those of a year ago is laid to better employment opportunities at this time.

State to Seek Expanded Civil Defense Funds

Lodge Puts Need at Top Of Legislative List; GOP Caucus O. K.'s Separate House Rules

State Capitol, Hartford, Jan. 11—(AP)— Governor John Lodge said today that one of the first things the General Assembly should do is to provide more money for civilian defense.

In his first news conference since his inauguration, Lodge asserted that the problem of setting up a statewide protective organization was "something of prime urgency."

Because of that, he said, one of his first acts will be to determine how much money will be needed for civilian defense and what changes will have to be made in the State Defense act to meet present needs and probable future needs.

Eyes Special Message

Lodge said there was a possibility he might outline what he considers the State's Civil Defense needs in the way of more money and more legislation in a special message.

Already, he told newsmen, he has consulted with Roger Gleason, State Civil Defense Director and other department heads on the problem. Lodge said he was now awaiting reports from Gleason and others as to probable fiscal and legislative needs.

Until then, said Lodge, he could not say how big a Civil defense appropriation he would propose to the legislature

Gleason, said Lodge, had told him, for example, that nearly $20,000,000 would be needed to set up a system of bomb shelters in the State.

Lodge told the newsmen he was not ready to say whether he intends to retain Gleason as Civil Defense Director. Gleason was appointed to the post by Lodge's Democratic predecessor, Governor Bowles.

The Governor was told that some

New England Steel Mill Is OK'd by U. S.

Plant to Be Located in New London - Waterford Area; Certificate Is Due Today

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP)—New England is going to have a $250,000,000 steel mill, the government announced yesterday.

The mill is expected to be located in the New London-Waterford Connecticut area.

Stuart Symington, Chairman of the National Resources Security Resources Board, notified McMahon (D-Conn) that a certificate of necessity will be issued today. The plant will be built for the New England Steel Development Corp.

Jobs for 40,000

Sen. Benton (D-Conn) said that the plant means new jobs for 40,000 to 60,000 New Englanders.

Two other New England regions sought to have the mill located in their areas.

Governor Sherman Adams (R-NH) tried to have the plant located in the Portsmouth, N. H., area.

Governor Paul A. Dever (D-Mass) and Rep. Joseph Martin (R-Mass) said the River-Peregian, Mass., region would be an ideal place.

Now that the certificate has been secured, the next step is to raise the money and to get the men and materials needed to construct the plant.

Plan Was Opposed

Construction of an ore-to-steel plant in New England was opposed by the steel industry on the grounds that the present non-New England plants could take care of the six-state region's increasing demands for steel.

New England Steel Development Corporation's executive, however, hope to get an operating steel company to build and operate the mill.

If no company is willing to undertake the project, Development Corporation officials will ask the

Seven Hurt As Plane Crashes

C-47 With 11 Aboard Falls Near Albuquerque; Jill Leap to Safety

Albuquerque, Jan. 11—(AP)—A crippled, twin - engined C-47 crashed and burned near Albuquerque last night but all 11 persons aboard parachuted to safety. Seven were injured.

Ground search parties found the three crewmen and eight passengers clustered around two fires in a rugged, barren area about 30 miles west of Albuquerque. Early today, the searchers brought them to Albuquerque where the seven injured were taken to hospitals at Kirtland Air Force Base and Sandia Secret Weapons Base.

First reports said the injuries included one broken leg and two possible broken backs. Further details were not available. Names were not released immediately.

"The men, all military personnel including at least one lieutenant colonel and a Navy man, bailed out of the plane after the crew radioed Kirtland that one engine had failed and they were abandoning ship.

The plane was on a flight from Norton Air Force Base, San Bernardino, Calif., to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O.

Lt. L. A. Young, the pilot of an Air Force C-45 sent to help in the search, said the seven injured were gathered around one fire. A mile or so away, around another fire, were the others.

Girl Believed Suffering From Cancer Is Okay

Rochester, Minn., Jan. 11—(AP)— Four-year-old Carolyn Purcell going to lose her eyes and cancer, believed threatening her life, doesn't even exist in her case.

That was the joyous report given by Mayo Clinic specialists yesterday to Carolyn's mother, Mrs. Frank Purcell of Alpharetta, Ga., after eight hours of examination at the Mental Center.

The happy mother and daughter were to leave Rochester by airliner today for Chicago where they will board another plane for Atlanta, arriving there tonight.

Shrinkers Aided

Mrs. Purcell brought Carolyn here by plane late Tuesday with a grim choice tormenting her mind. She had been told by doctors in Atlanta that Carolyn must either undergo surgery to have her eyes removed or die of cancer.

Marshall Urges Draft of 18-Year-Olds

May Prosecute Aide Accusers As Perjurers

Senate May Ask Court Showdown With Men Who Called Mrs. Rosenberg a Communist

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP) — A Senate committee agreed to decide today whether to move for a court showdown with the men who sought to label as a Communist sympathizer Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, which unanimously denounced the accusations as false in a report to the Senate, called a meeting to determine its next step.

Before the group were twin motions by Senators Cain (R-Wash) and Morse (R-Ore), urging that Mrs. Rosenberg's accusers be charged with perjury if the Justice Department can find a basis to prosecute such a charge.

Courts Must Decide

"Obviously there always is a question in a case like this of whether the proposed accusations against Mrs. Rosenberg arose from mistaken identity or from willfully committed perjury," Morse told a reporter.

"That is a matter for the courts to decide, and I must press for adoption of my motion. As a lawyer, I believe we must protect the sanctity of the oath we administer to witnesses that they shall tell the truth."

Morse said he also recognized that some persons have questioned whether Mrs. Rosenberg should be subjected to "a re-hashing of the accusations" in court, but added:

Principle At Stake

The basic principle of whether congressional committees can allow themselves to be used as springboards for unfounded, smearing charges against American citizens outweighs that argument."

He added that Mrs. Rosenberg never has asked the committee not to act. Committee Chairman Russell (D-Ga) also said he knows of no request by Mrs. Rosenberg that the case be dropped.

Cain, who is in Florida recovering from an operation, had expressed sentiments similar to Morse's when he filed his motion.

In the last Congress, the committee spent 15 days investigating the accusations against Mrs. Rosenberg. They were voiced first by Benjamin Freedman, retired New

Writer Says Washington Stripped General of Authority to Speak Freely on War News

Chicago, Jan. 11—(AP)—The Chicago Daily News said in a story from Tokyo today that "there is evidence that Washington has stripped" Gen. MacArthur of "authority to speak freely on the Korean War."

The story, by Keyes Beech of The Daily News Foreign Service, reported that view "although Gen. MacArthur retains titular command of the United Nations Forces in Korea."

Beech's dispatch, as released by The Chicago Daily News, said also:

Ridgway Now Boss

"This came out Wednesday night in the form of an unprecedented action taking away from MacArthur the authority to issue communiques on current ground military operations in Korea.

"This authority was transferred to Lt. Gen. Mathew B. Ridgway, 8th Army Commander. All U. N. forces come under the 8th Army."

Beech said the new setup was announced by Col. Marion P. Echols, MacArthur's Public Information officer. His story added:

"MacArthur's Headquarters is reduced to releases of general nature, human interest stories and awards and decorations.

"Not in the memory of the oldest correspondents covering MacArthur's Headquarters for a decade has the illustrious general been submitted to such a buttoning up.

"On the contrary, during the Pacific War and the five years of occupation of Japan, nobody has ever spoken for MacArthur's command but MacArthur himself.

"That MacArthur would knowingly surrender his freedom of speech is unthinkable to those who know him best."

Beech said the new information

Cook May Have Killed 2 More

Fear Badman Slew Prospectors Missing in San Felipe, Mexico

El Centro, Calif., Jan. 11—(AP)— Desperado William E. (Bill) Cook may have added two more victims to the list of killings attributed to him, Sheriff Robert W. Ware theorized today.

Formally charged with murder and kidnaping in Oklahoma, Cook is still being hunted in California's Imperial Valley and across the border in Mexico.

Sheriff Ware's theory is that the 22-year-old Joplin, Mo., ex-convict may have done away with two missing El Centro prospectors and seized their automobile for his flight.

The prospectors, Forrest Damron, 37, and James Burke, 33, left here on last Saturday, expecting to return next day.

Seen at San Felipe

The sheriff said he had information that they were seen at San Felipe, Mex., a fishing village on the gulf of Lower California Saturday night. Other information indicates Cook was also seen at San Felipe Saturday night.

The automobile of one of Cook's victims, Robert H. Dewey, Seattle, Wash., salesman, was found 30 miles north of San Felipe. Dewey's

British Nations Eye Proposal To Seat Reds

Bevin Urges Admission Of Peiping to U. N.; Timetable for Foreign Exit from Korea

Bulletin!

London, Jan. 11—(AP)—Britain and India have proposed a high-level conference between the United States and Red China to discuss a Korean Peace, informed sources reported today.

Their move had the blessing of the seven other British Commonwealth nations represented at the Commonwealth Premiers' Conference under way here.

London, Jan. 11—(AP)—A set of principles which Britain and India are said to feel would aid in ending the Korean War was before Commonwealth Premiers today.

It included admission of Communist China to the United Nations, reaffirmation by the big powers of the 1943 Cairo Declaration promising the return of Formosa to China, a time table for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea, and a seat for Red China on any U. N. group set up to restore Korea politically and economically.

Informants said the proposals were expressed by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin in the form of principles in a long private talk last Friday with India's Prime Minister Nehru. They were not proposals.

Opposes War On China

Bevin was represented also as opposing any limited or open war against China and as having spoken out against imposition of any economic sanctions against the Chinese Communists.

The nine Commonwealth nations were said to be agreed that East-

"Lady Bountiful" Aids 1st Quadruple Amputee

New York, Jan. 11—(AP)—"The Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

That's how Mrs. Martha S. Reynolds explains her gift of $1,000 to the Korean War's first quadruple amputee, Pfc. Robert Smith.

Mrs. Reynolds, a bird-like little woman in her 60s, says she's always been very lucky.

True, she fell down a coal chute once, broke a leg and an ear drum and can't hear very well today.

And she had four husbands — all bankers.

Today her greatest pleasure is giving away money.

"I can't help it," she said yesterday. "I must help people. I love to give—oh, how I love to give."

In the past ten or 15 years, she estimated, she has given away money at the rate of about $10,000 a year.

She looks in the newspapers for deserving cases. She gives heavily to organized charities, especially

Chinese Bugle Vanishes Too Fast for Fotogs

Western Korea Jan. 11—(AP) —An American infantry company captured a Chinese bugler complete with bugle.

Cameramen wanted to photograph the bugle. But:

The company had sent it to a battalion. The battalion had given it to the regimental commander. He had presented it to the division commander, who had turned it over to the corps commander. The latter gave it to the commanding general of the Turkish brigade.

The commander of the Turkish brigade said he had rushed the bugle back to Turkey for presentation to the Turkish chief of staff.

Proposes Six To One Ratio In Arms Plan

Sen. Knowland Would Have Europe Put 60 Divisions in Field to Ten American Units

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP)—Senator Knowland (R., Calif.) proposed today a six-to-one ration for arming Western Europe against Communist aggression with the United States ultimately furnishing 10 divisions and the other North Atlantic nations 60.

Informants said the idea is that Western Europe not be allowed to fall into Communist hands, but he held that the bulk of the defensive land forces should be furnished by the Europeans themselves.

"If war comes," he said, "we must then do with our air, sea and land forces what the strategic necessities require in support of our commitments. We will not let our Allies down nor must they let us down."

Pleads for Unity

In a speech to the Senate Knowland pleaded for unity within this country and between the free nations of the world, saying history has taught us "we must hang together or be hanged separately."

Chairman Connally (D., Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee also expected to deliver a foreign policy speech during the day.

Senate Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona likewise planned a speech on foreign affairs. He told reporters yesterday it

Order Probe of TV, Radio, Racing News

FCC Moves to End Flash Broadcasts Aiding Illegal Bookies Throughout Country

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP)—The Federal Communications Commission today ordered a general inquiry into the handling of horse racing information by radio and TV stations.

The Commission announced it is sending a questionnaire to all standard, FM and television outlets, requiring full information on all regular programs related to racing.

The announcement emphasized that the survey is not concerned with occasional broadcasts of results and other information about feature race events such as the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby.

Want All Data

FCC said it does want to know what stations have regular racing programs, the form of their handling, what detail is included, and the source from which the station obtains the information it broadcasts.

The decision on the survey grew out of differences within the commission over an order of last October for radio station WTUX at Wilmington, Del., to close down its business and go off the air.

The order was based on a finding by a commission majority

Milford Official Says He Couldn't Stand It Any More; Uses an Axe

Milford, Conn., Jan. 11—(AP)— Mrs. Mary Kristie, 48 was killed because "she kept nagging me," police quoted her husband as saying.

Mrs. Kristie, her skull crushed by a blow from a hand axe, was found dead yesterday in the basement of her home here.

Her husband, Victor Kristie, 51, Town Recreation Director, was taken to the County Jail at New Haven on a warrant issued by Coroner James J. Corrigan.

He said Kristie told him his wife had been nagging him at lunch and followed him downstairs to the cellar, still nagging him, when he went to fix the furnace.

Labor Advises Flexible Wage-Price Policies

Proposal Follows U. S. Decision to Drop 30-Day Freeze Plan; F. D. R. Jr. Gets Post

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP)—Major labor leaders said today the government must mould a wage-price policy flexible enough to work for a decade.

They gave that appraisal to the Wage Stabilization Board, an arm of the Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA) which announced last night that it will not now put into effect a mandatory 30-day freeze on prices and wages.

That left the controls situation as indicated a six-stone ration. Ten ago before ESA began giving serious study to the wisdom of applying an immediate interim freeze in advance of more permanent controls.

See Long Crisis

The appeal for a long-range policy came from spokesmen for the AFL, CIO, machinists and railroad unions, joining in testimony as the United Labor Policy Committee (ULPC). They said the present emergency may stretch on indefinitely, and "we're not planning for a short-term situation."

The group represented all major elements of the organized labor movement except John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers (UMW) Chief, who was heard separately by the wage board yesterday. He advised against any kind of wage or price controls.

The other labor officials today accepted the theory that there must be some kind of stabilization program — although they did not attempt to tell the board what kind of formula to adopt.

Must Still Bargain

They made these general points in a prepared statement:

1. There can be no wage controls without an all-out program of price stabilization, taxation to

Face Bitter Attacks by 20,000 Reds; Big Threat to Allies Is Shaping Up on 50 Mile Stretch Between Chungju and Osan

Tokyo, Friday, Jan. 12.—(AP)—American Second Division troops clung stubbornly last night to a salient one and one-half miles south of Wonju on the critical central Korean front, but two Korean Red divisions were attempting a flanking move from the north and east.

A spokesman with the Americans, who were bolstered by French and Dutch troops, identified the Reds as about 20,000 men of the North Korean Sixth and Tenth divisions.

The censorship withheld further details of the attack which was reported by AP Correspondent William C. Baggard in a dispatch timed at 10 p. m., Thursday (8 a. m., Thursday, e.s.t.), and received in Tokyo early Friday.

Reds Beaten Back

A Second Division spokesman also said a Red force was beaten back with 200 to 300 casualties when it tried to encircle a Second Division unit five miles to the southeast on the Wonju-Chechon highway.

Otherwise, Barnard reported, the front was stabilized Thursday, with only some small-arms fire south of the wrecked and empty town of Wonju.

On that front, 55 miles southeast of Seoul, the Reds lost an estimated 2,100 troops in an

No 'Voluntary' Exit in Korea

We Will Fight on As Long as Possible; Denies Beech Story

Washington, Jan. 11—(AP)— The official U. S. attitude toward the military action in Korea remains unchanged: There will be no "voluntary withdrawal," and American forces will fight on as long as possible.

Informed officials reiterated this basic policy yesterday after the Defense Department denied a Chicago Daily News report from Tokyo that Gen. Douglas MacArthur was understood to have recommended to Washington a prompt withdrawal.

Keyes Beech, veteran correspondent of the Chicago paper, said today he would "stand on the story" despite denials. His statement followed a declaration in Tokyo by Col. M. P. Echols, MacArthur's public information officer, that Beach's story was "a figment of the writer's imagination." Beach said he had it from "authoritative sources."

The restatement of the policy laid down by President Truman early last month apparently means that the military is planning to hold on to a beachhead around the southern port city of Pusan as long as possible.

Might Minimize Losses

It is understood that some military men have argued in policy councils that a voluntary with-

Plane Firms Need a Year

Even Then They Can Produce at Only Half World War II Rate

Los Angeles, Jan. 11—(AP)—It will take the aircraft industry at least a year to begin producing half as many planes as it did in the other war, a survey of main plants in Southern California indicated today.

President Truman has called for a production capacity of 50,000 planes annually in the present emergency.

Plantemakers here claim they can expand to any capacity required if they get the necessary materials, tools, and manpower.

A spokesman for Douglas Aircraft Corp., said the industry turned out military planes at the rate of nearly 100,000 a year during the peak period of World War II. Douglas is producing at one fourth of its wartime maximum and would have to double its pre-

To Talk Over Salary Boost

Directors and Board of Education Members to Discuss Timely Topic

Salary matters are arising now, as during the World War II period, to indicate that more Manchester public funds will have to be devoted to this item of the budget now than before in order to maintain the town's educational and public service departments. Monday the Directors held a salary discussion session to review the conditions which already has claimed some of the town workers who have left local employ for the war industries.

Next Tuesday, when the Board of Directors hold its second January session, the Directors will jointly discuss with members of the Board of Education, a proposal by the latter group to establish basic salaries for all education department employees on a new, higher level.

To Have Public Hearing

The Board of Education will take the matter under a prelude to a public hearing it has requested under which an additional $44,486 appropriation for wages would be sought for the balance of this fiscal year which ends August 14.

The morning General Manager George H. Waddell said it looks as if the sixth month of the request, if it is granted, would be to increase the next annual education appropriation to the salary brackets, by some $100,000, and maybe more thereafter.

To Increase Basic Pay

According to the information furnished the Board of Education by the Board of Education wants to make a "salary adjustment" which would be effective as of February 1 under which the basic teacher pay would be upped from $3,400 to $3,600, with other basic increases up to the $4,000 stage, which would be jumped to $4,500. The program would extend over a 2½ year period, with the top increase in any one year limited to $400.

In addition to teachers, it is proposed that building custodians get a $300 rise, and that this same amount of increase go to clerical workers, nurses and other staff members.

The details of the proposal will be aired at the Tuesday meeting. Today General Manager Waddell said that many future aspects of the request are not clear to him and members of the Board of Directors.

The Board of Education estimates that this year's increased salary burden would be divided with $38,590 going to teachers, $1,941 to nurses and clerical staff and $4,755 to custodians.

to cancer research. One of her husbands died of cancer.

She said she got her habit of giving from her mother, Mrs. Ernestine Schaffner who in the years before World War I was known as "The Tomboy Angel."

"The Tombs" was the dismal old prison in downtown New York, Mrs. Reynolds said her mother helped the inmates there.

Beguiling, and sporting a mink coat and sprightly bejewelled hat, Mrs. Reynolds disclosed that she inherited considerable property and had been lucky in investments.

She Has Been "Taken"

In her years of cheerful giving, she admitted she had been "taken" more than once.

"But that's human nature, I guess," she said.

Proposes Six To One Ratio In Arms Plan

would be primarily a plea for harmony and unity.

Rankin said, a vigorous critic of Administration Far Eastern policy, strongly urged a reconciliation of differences between Congressmen and the Administration on all foreign issues.

He said no effective foreign or national defense policy could be formulated or executed without cooperation.

The California lawmaker took a stand with New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, and John Foster Dulles, adviser to Secretary of State Acheson, in opposition to a foreign policy pronouncement by Former President Hoover. All three are Republicans.

Knowland also appeared to oppose the resolution of Senate Republican Leader Wherry demanding that no American ground troops be sent to Western Europe "pending determination by Congress" of an overall policy on the issue.

Wouldn't Shackle President

"In meeting our North Atlantic Treaty obligations I do not believe that the hands of the President, as Commander in Chief, should or could be tied," Knowland said.

However, in his major foreign policy speech last month, contended Knowland, he had stated its own "sure damn" against "Communist aggression but that U. S. extended additional military aid.

Knowland said that the country could not expect the Europeans to "build any army that would make Europe impregnable and a munitions arsenal before we place an additional man or dollar on the continent."

He went on to propose that for every six divisions raised and put in the field by our North Atlantic partners, the U. S. send an additional division to Europe until there were ten U. S. and 60 European units.

Since the U. S. now has two divisions there this would mean that the Europeans would be required under Knowland's formula to put 18 divisions in the field before the United States would send additional foot soldiers to the continent.

Knowland branded Russia as "Godless aggressive tyranny determined to destroy the free way of life." He warned the Soviets of the consequences of pursuing such a course, declaring:

"The men in the Kremlin should thoroughly understand that the free world does not intend to be on the defensive once they have thrown down the challenge."

There were these other developments:

1. Wherry told reporters he is ready to call up his resolution for Senate debate "at any time" but that if President Truman consulted Congress before ordering any foot soldiers to Europe under the Atlantic treaty such a step wouldn't be necessary.

2. Senate Republican Leader Taft, of Ohio, said if Secretary of State Acheson wants to hold any conversations with Senate Republicans to get their cooperation the conferees ought to be Wherry; Senator Millikin, of Colorado, Senate Republican Conference Chairman, and himself.

He said he wouldn't decline a personal invitation from Acheson but told a news conference yesterday,

"If he (Acheson) is talking about Republican cooperation he should have the three elected party leaders. He can do it any way he likes. It depends on what he wants to get. Does he want Republican cooperation or just agreement with a bipartisan man?"

Acheson earlier had said he would be glad to consult with Taft or other Republicans on foreign policy.

Ellington

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Hathaway-Miller Post American Legion No. 62 will sponsor another grocery social to which the public is invited to attend on Friday, January 12, at 8 p. m. in the Ellington Town Hall. The unit is now sponsoring a group of girls that play basketball at the Center School each week.

The next meeting of the Unit will be held at the home of Mrs. Wallace Bergh on Somers Road, Ellington, Tuesday, January 16. A special invitation is extended to the new members.

Joseph A. MacVarish of Somers road has received a report on a year's test of his registered Jersey cattle by the Official Herd Improvement Registry. The herd, averaging 19 cows during the testing period, gave an average of 10,290 pounds of milk and 375 pounds of butterfat per cow during the year. The tests were made by the University of Connecticut and verified by the American Jersey Cattle Club, whose national headquarters are in Columbus, Ohio. The average butterfat production of the MacVarish herd is more than two and one-half times the amount produced by the average dairy cow in the United States.

Edmund Magderfrau, who is employed at the Cordtsen Dairy on Somers road is confined to his home as the result of a fall while shoveling snow off the roof at his home. No bones were broken, but the leg is so badly bruised that it is in a cast and it will probably be some time before he can take up his duties at the dairy.

New England Steel Mill Is OK'd by U. S.

government for a construction loan on the basis that this is essential to the National Defense program.

Council Led Move

The New-England Steel Development Corporation was organized for the purpose of getting a steel mill into the region. The organizational work was done by the New England Council, a non-profit group of New England businessmen who promote New England as an ideal place for business and industrial operations.

In Boston, Dudley Harmon, executive Vice President of the New England Council, said the RFC's action in granting the certificate was "recognition of the economic soundness of a project which has been termed the most important in New England's industrial history.

"It has been more than four years in the making," Harmon said, "and into it has gone the very best of Yankee ingenuity, thinking and research, inspired and coordinated by the New England Council."

The New England business leaders who have long sought to have a steel plant in the area contend that the present high cost of transporting scrap to the metal working plants in the region has been retarding New England's industrial development.

Can Save $8 a Ton

They maintain that iron ore can be brought cheaply by water from the Labrador field, which is no more to bring coal to New England from West Virginia than it does to ship it to present steel production areas and that water and limestone are available in the six-state region.

Estimates have that $8 to $12 a ton can be saved by producing steel in New England for New England use instead of shipping it to other areas and that the savings would be reflected in consumer cost of metal products.

The state of Connecticut put $800,000 into a development fund administered by the New England Council for surveying Connecticut's possibilities as a steel plant site.

Former Connecticut Governor Chester Bowles (D) under whose administration the $800,000 fund was appropriated, said in Washington last night that the steel mill will enable New England to compete on more even terms with other sections of the country.

FCC Will Probe Racing Broadcasts

that horse racing programs had been handled by the station on a daily basis, and had been so expedited that they were of aid to illegal bookmaking operations in the Wilmington area.

The station, giving notice it has discontinued all racing broadcasts has asked reconsideration. The request acts as a stay to the cease-down order until it is acted upon.

In the WTUX case, some members of the commission objected to the shut-down edict, contending this station should not be singled out for punitive action in view of indications that some other stations had been pursuing the same policy on broadcasting racing results.

The commission has reviewed a number of racing programs in various parts of the country, and has stated a general policy that such programs are not objectionable if the broadcaster allows a time-lag between the end of a race and the announcement of results.

quoted Kristie as saying, "I picked up an axe and struck her."

Police Superintendent Arthur Harris said the Recreational Director had been acting peculiarly since about a week before Christmas when he fell down a flight of stairs in the Town Court building and suffered a severe head injury. He described him as a slightly built, quiet and reserved man.

Had Many Arguments

Coroner Corrigan said Kristie had made a statement to him that he killed his wife, "She nagged me and I lost my head," the coroner quoted him as saying.

Corrigan said his preliminary investigation indicated that Kristie and his wife had had arguments over a considerable period of time. Married 25 years, they had no children.

Under the coroner's warrant, Kristie may be detained in jail until an inquest is held. It contains no charge.

Kristie had been Milford's Recreation Director for several years.

York City businessman, and by Ralph De Sola, a self-styled former Communist. Freedman said his knowledge of the matter came from De Sola.

Wife Disputed Testimony

De Sola insisted before the committee that Mrs. Rosenberg 35 years ago had attended New York meetings of a Communist organization with which he was affiliated. She denied his charges categorically.

De Sola's former wife, Mrs. Helen Winner, and other former associates also disputed his testimony. The committee said in its report that an FBI check discredited the accusations.

Mrs. Rosenberg, top Manpower Aide to Secretary of Defense Marshall, is currently testifying on a proposed Universal Military Service and Training Bill before an Armed Services Subcommittee.

A pint sized and valuable witness was testified at length yesterday, only rarely calling for information from the squads of generals, colonels and majors and Navy brass who sat just behind her.

Jobless Claims Increase Here

Rise 14.2 Per Cent Over The Week Before; Conditions in the State

Continuing to rise after the holiday season, the number of jobless claimants here rose 14.2 per cent last week. For the first time in over three months a veteran was among those filing under the cumulated GI law. The overall total was 290 of which 170 were females. Besides the veteran, 289 filed claims for unemployment compensation, including 72 initial claims, 219 continued and seven agent claims.

In the state figures, the rise was from 18,689 to 18,998. Two weeks ago the number of claimants was 13,612. The increase for the past two weeks was mainly due to temporary inventory layoffs. One metal products manufacturer in New Britain laid off 3,300 for one week during inventory. Women claimants made up 55.5 pec cent of the total.

Initial claims, denoting new periods of unemployment, numbered 3,397, a decline from 6,380 the previous week. However, the total was almost as large as the figure of 2,960 for the week ended December 23.

The Manchester office ranked next to last among 19 offices reporting.

Layoffs were reported in the following industries: metal products, 100; iron and steel products, 5,450 for one week during inventory-taking; chain, 250 for one week; textiles, 200 inventory; zipper, 200 inventory; radio parts, 90 reconversion; roofing materials, 40; brushes, 35; and timepieces, 25 due to lack of materials. Hirings and retirings were as follows: garments, 370; heat equipment, 100; slippers, 100; toys 90, and bearings, 55.

Bristol Given Safety Honors

Largest City in State to Be Free of Pedestrian Fatalities in Year

Hartford, January 11—Bristol was the largest Connecticut city to be credited with pedestrian fatality-free experience during calendar year 1950 and on this record, will be recommended in staff reports of the Highway Safety Commission for special citation, according to a bulletin of the safety agency issued today. Other large towns on the Highway Safety Commission's "Pedestrian Safety Roll-or Roll" are Milford, Windham, Wethersfield, Shelton, East Haven, Stonington, Westport, Branford, Winchester and Derby — all of which were free of pedestrian traffic deaths during 1950 and so will receive certificates to that effect.

These eleven towns have more than 10,000 population each with natural traffic hazards always found in more populous communities," comments the safety bulletin. "Bristol is a city of 35,873, located on important cross-state highways which add substantially to normal traffic flow of the community. It is an important manufacturing town, with problems of heavy factory-worker traffic movement morning and afternoon. As sound basis for no ped-fatalities Bristol, apparently, will be charged with about the same 1950 pedestrian injury experience as during 1949. In the face of increased highway travel, this is commendable. Survey of Bristol's traffic safety program indicates praiseworthy progress in traffic engineering devices and especially, safety effort in schools. The program is planned and handled by the Police Department."

Fifteen other towns, between 5,000 and 10,000 population, were also free of pedestrian fatalities last year. They were Bloomfield, Cheshire, Farmington, Griswold, Mansfield, New Canaan, Norwalk, Milford, Newton, North Haven, Plainfield, Plainville, Portland, Stafford, Thompson and Trumbull. All 38 towns will be recommended to the American Automobile Association by the Highway Safety Commission for citations in recognition of ped-deathless" experience during 1950.

Rep. Bowers Is Re-Named

Again Chosen as Member of Committee on Cities and Boroughs

Representative Sherwood L. Bowers of this town today was renamed to the Cities and Boroughs Committee of the House of Representatives as the House chose its members of its more important committees. To its committees the House named Republicans in all key posts, while in the Senate, where there is a Democratic majority, members of that party got the leading assignments.

Other Republican legislators in the House named to committees included Representative Bryan of Bolton who is on the Finance Committee, Representative Clough of Tolland on the Cities and Boroughs group with Bowers and Representative Cohen of Ellington, picked for both the Judiciary and Labor Committees. Representative Cohen is a director of the First National Bank of Manchester and, the Representative Bryan and Representative Bowers, has served previously in the House.

Representative Bowers is listed second after Chairman Raymond of Norwalk on the Cities and Boroughs group.

Announcement of other committee assignments is expected to be made shortly.

Allies Hold Below Wonju

earlier fight that lasted seven hours.

Quit Wonju Monday

The Allies abandoned Wonju Monday. On Wednesday, a tank-led patrol of the U. S. Second Division pushed back into the town from the southeast.

Finding no Reds there, the patrol looked around for a while, then voluntarily withdrew towards the overlooking hills in the south.

South of the town, the Reds fought back the company-sized patrol was jumped by more than 7,000 North Koreans. At one stage the Americans fixed bayonets and charged.

After other Allied forces reinforced the patrol, the Reds broke off the battle Wednesday night.

Foe Readies Trap

But the greatest menace to Allied arms was shaping up in a 50-mile stretch between Chungju and Red-held Osan in western Korea.

Chinese and Korean Red forces estimated at 285,000 were in the area or moving toward it in an apparent bid to cut off the main forces of the U. S. Eighth Army on the road south of abandoned Seoul.

In that area, roads fan out through the hills, affording many avenues of approach to the Allied forces.

AP Correspondent John Randolph said the Chinese evidently hope to force the Eighth Army to accept battle in the rough country suitable for swarms of night-fighting Red Infantrymen.

Six Chinese Armies were in the general western area, south of Seoul, and seven armies were north and west of Wonju. This force included very Mongolian pourrow cavalrymen. Intelligence officers said 500 Chinese planes and 200 tanks are available to back the push.

Bombers Hit Capital

Another hint that the Reds may be about to challenge Allied mastery of the Korean skies came in far North Korea. Fifteen Russian made MIG-15 jet fighters attacked a B-29 Superfortress as it lagged behind a formation because of engine trouble.

The B-29 took cover in a cloud bank but its gunners reported the possible kill of one Red jet. The bombers had dumped more than 100 tons of explosives on the airfield at Pyongyang, Korean Red Capital and other cities in North Korea.

Overall Picture Grim

Except for the bombing raids and few attacks series, Allied warplanes had been grounded for two days because of snow and rain. But fighters returned to the fray Thursday and caught hundreds of Reds in the open.

Toy Navy planes dived through a hole in the clouds and plastered Red troops on the Western Front. U. S. Fifth Air Force fighters fanned out against enemy troops and supplies in the Seoul area.

The blustering local defeat handed the Reds three to four miles south of Wonju was heartening, although the overall picture was grim. Eighth Army Headquarters called the action a "successful operation." A foot of overnight snowfall added to the GI's misery.

General MacArthur's Headquarters said it was a counterattack aimed at throwing the enemy off balance.

Labor Advises Flexible Wage-Price Policies

combat inflation through excess profits and higher individual taxes.

2. Wage stabilization is a supplement to collective bargaining, not a substitute for it. Actual adjustment of inequities under a wage control program must be left to bargaining, they said.

3. The wage board, headed by Cyrus S. Ching, must have real authority to make decisions. "It can't be an adviser to an assistant to Mr. Wilson," they said. Under the present Defense Act, the board advises Economic Administrator Alan Valentine, who in turn is under Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson.

4. The Defense Act must be amended to permit tough controls on food prices. They cannot now sink below the level prevailing just before the Korean War or parity, whichever is higher. Parity is a calculated price said by law to be fair to both farmers and consumers.

In dropping for the present the idea of an immediate price-wage freeze, Valentine accepted the judgment of those advisers who believed general price controls would be unjust until there is a bigger staff to administer them.

A Senate committee asked today for more information on how stabilization proposals to draft 18-year-olds into the armed services and set up a Universal Military Training program.

Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant Secretary of Defense, was called back for questioning by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee before which she and Secretary Marshall unveiled the proposals yesterday.

The Defense Department officials said then that a bill containing the new program would reach Congress next week. They added that it was backed by President Truman.

Congressional reaction to the program varied, with some Senators in both parties suggesting a draft age minimum of 18 years and six months. The present Draft Act limits actual inductions to the 19 through 25 year age bracket, although young men must register when 18.

Mrs. Rosenberg agreed with Senators that it might be possible to fill immediate manpower needs for the next year or two without lowering the age limit, provided there is no war or all-out mobilization. "But we hate to come up to Congress for amendments every few months," she added.

Mrs. Rosenberg estimated that 1,050,000 young men would reach 18 in the year beginning next July and that 650,000 of these could be induced into the services.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Jr., and E. Carroll Reece, former chairman of the Republican National committee, are among new House members slated today for assignment to the enlarged Foreign Affairs committee.

Roosevelt, a New Yorker elected on the Democrat and Liberal tickets, is a son of the former President.

He and two other Democrats scheduled to get the foreign posts are known on Capitol Hill as "Fair Dealers." The other two are Representatives Chet Holifield of California and Edna F. Kelly of New York.

The fourth Democrat is Brooks Hays of Arkansas, who has followed administration foreign policies generally but has opposed President Truman's domestic program.

In addition to Reece, who signed from the House to become chairman of the GOP National committee and was returned this year, Republicans named Representative Herter of Massachusetts for the Foreign Affairs committee.

State to Seek Expanded Civil Defense Funds

held the belief that uncertainty as to whether Gleason would remain as Director had served to slow up the program.

Lodge said he didn't believe that any other Connecticut town felt the reason that more had not been done in Connecticut was the delay in Washington on a Federal Defense Program. Lodge's attitude, he said, was that the state had not provided sufficient funds for the program.

Lodge told the reporters he was working hard on the matter of appointments.

Reorganization legislation adopted at a special session last year makes him the first Governor faced with the task of naming many important civil defense posts at January 1 deadline. The appointees will assume office March 1.

There was no hint from the Governor as to whom he has in mind for the various posts, which include such important political posts as Motor Vehicles Commissioner and Highway Commissioner. But he said they probably would be announced separately, or no more than two or three at a time, up to the February 1 deadline.

The Governor plans to appoint a Banking Commissioner, now filled on a temporary basis, next week because Commissioner Richard Harcourt resigns from office Monday.

A deputy could assume control of the Department in the absence of any appointment, but Lodge indicated he would nominate a Commissioner next Tuesday.

House Will Rule

The legislature will set a uniform date for commissions and other department heads to take office also removing the necessity of political wrangling over confirmation of nominees. Lodge said that the appointments he submits will be not only one House, with the Governor waiting for action on sending them into the House or the Senate.

Lodge, of course, will submit his appointments to the Republican-controlled House.

While Lodge met with the newmen, legislative leaders remained closeted in caucus to settle the partisan dispute over rules.

The dispute delayed Lodge's inauguration last Wednesday and all but stalled the legislative machinery.

A House Republican caucus approved a set of separate rules for procedure in that Chamber.

British Nations Eye Proposal To Seat Reds

West talks should be held to settle the cold war, but that the West should enter freely into talks with Russia under no threat of force and that a cease fire should be worked out for the talks to bring positive results.

One of the conferees, Canada's Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, said last night the western nations must seek "by every honorable means" to bring a cease fire in the Korean War.

"No responsible person in the western world wants to see the Korean crisis develop into a sort of undeclared war between the United Nations and the Chinese people," St. Laurent said in a BBC broadcast.

Rotary Clubs Under the Ban

Pope Pius XII Forbids Catholic Clergymen to Join the Group

Vatican City, Jan. 11 —(AP)— Pope Pius XII has forbidden Catholic clergymen to join Rotary clubs or participate in their meetings.

A decree of the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office—one of 11 congregations that govern Catholic church affairs—was published today in the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano giving that directive. The Pope is the prefect of the congregation.

The decree advised laymen against joining Rotary clubs, but did not expressly forbid them from doing so, Vatican sources said.

The decree, printed in Latin, was drawn up at the Dec. 20 meeting of the congregation in answer to queries on the subject. It said Catholics could not join the organization or attend its meetings.

Laymen, it said, should be exhorted to follow the dispositions of canon law number 684, insofar as Rotary is concerned.

"The church law to which laymen are referred by the decree states:

"Those faithful (members of the Catholic church) are worthy of praise who give their names to associations established in the Holy Church, at least recommended by it. They (The Faithful) should guard faithfully, however, from secret associations (which are condemned in ordinary or suspected, or that seek to draw away from the legitimate vigilance of the church."

Keeney St. Club Enjoys Lecture

William Benedict of the Connecticut State Health Department was the speaker at a series of interesting and informative talks and movies, "Human Beginnings," before the Keeney Street Parent Teachers Club Tuesday evening. The attendance record was won by Mrs. Carrie Podolski's room. Although enough boys have signified their desire to start a Cub Scout den, the matter was tabled until the next meeting in order to obtain further information. Any woman willing to become a Cub mother should contact Mrs. Eldon Price, Harold Greer or Dr. Kingston Wilcox.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Lucy Jackle, Mrs. Corrine Schumacher and Mrs. Sue Howard.

Cook May Have Killed 2 More

Sheriff Dave Thus theorizes that Cook fled from California through Mexico, then on to New Orleans. Near New Orleans he abandoned the car of Dampier and commandeered the car of Dampier and headed for the Northeast.

The Future

"I do not feel that I should close this brief resume without a reference to the chaotic international situation. First, I believe we should anticipate the unexpected and many times unfounded rumors which will be flung about world enlightened, inspirational and constructive thinking. Having watched Manchester and its enterprises grow for a period of more than half a century I am convinced that the area will continue to go ahead, and I assure you we shall continue to cooperate and mortgage the future.

"May God restore the world to peace, prosperity and happiness, yours be privileged to enjoy wholesome happiness."

Bacon Eyes State Post

Hartford, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Otis A. Bacon, of New Haven, has confirmed reports that he is a candidate for appointment as state bank commissioner. Questioned yesterday about reports current in Republican political circles, Bacon said, "Yes, I'm interested in the appointment." The banking commissioner's post became vacant Monday when the resignation of Richard Rapport of West Hartford became effective. Rapport retired to become executive manager of the Connecticut Bankers' Association. Bacon, as assistant treasurer of the Union and New Haven Trust Company, has been active in Republican politics in his home city. Also reported as interested in the appointment is Lynwood K. Elmore, of West Hartford, now deputy commissioner. Governor Lodge's office said no decision has been reached on Rapport's successor, but added that an announcement might be forthcoming within the next few days.

National Bank Lists Officers

Two Promoted as President Rogers Reports On Expanding Scope

The Board of Directors of the First National Bank of Manchester has re-elected the officers of the institution and has acted to promote two members of the bank's staff to official positions.

Again named president of First National is Willard B. Rogers, whose report on the bank's first year of operations follows: Saul M. Silverstein was re-named vice president, N. William Knight is executive vice president and cashier and John S. G. Rottner is secretary with Edward J. Lehan assistant cashier and mortgage loan officer.

With the exception of Mr. Lehan, who joined the bank some months after its start of business, the other officers took part in the founding of the institution.

The new officers named are Justus W. Paul Jr. and Douglas H. Ainslie. Both are now assistant cashiers.

Justus W. Paul, Jr., is a Yale graduate where he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He served in the U. S. Army World War II in Hawaii, India and China and was honorably discharged with the grade of first lieutenant, Infantry. Previous to his war service and immediately following he was employed by the Hartford National Bank and Trust company.

He started with the local bank prior to its opening day in the capacity of savings teller. His official duties will include heading the installment loan department which includes personal loans, automobile loans, appliance sales as well as all floor planning supervision. He is 32 years old, married and has one son and resides at 36 Crosby road. Green Manor Estates.

Mr. Rogers has stated that the phenomenal growth of the bank in its ten months of existence, it has been necessary to delegate additional duties to provide maximum service to the community.

The following is the statement made by President Rogers to the stockholders as he reviewed the first year's activity of the First National Bank:

Roger's Address

"Today is a memorable one for the First National Bank of Manchester, Connecticut, for while our institution has been in existence only ten months, this is actually the first birthday of the new corporation and therefore, the second Annual Meeting of the Stockholders, as required by our by-laws.

"While the primary purpose of annual meetings of stockholders is the election of a Board of Directors to guide the affairs of the corporation, we are particularly pleased to avail ourselves of this opportunity to report directly to you upon the progress of our Bank, and tell you in greater detail than is possible in the conventional annual report, the activities and results of our first year of operation and of projected plans for the incoming year.

"The First National Bank of Manchester, as you probably recall, opened with a Trade Display on February 25, 1950. I say a Display of glory advisedly for many substantial deposits were made on that notable Saturday morning. Including one of $100,000.00 by a startford insurance company. The very public acceptance of our "Friendly Bank" has localized the attention not only of New England but, throughout the Eastern States. Indicative of the extent to which outside radio and newspapers have watched our opening and growth, we quote from page spread of illustrations in an issue of the national publication "Business Week" which carried a Bank nothing, not even the price of the very costly cuts.

"This recognition of our Bank in a national publication not only developed wide newspaper publicity but also further stressed the excellent job of advertising the Bank of Manchester was a success from the beginning. Resources of our Bank on December 31st, 1950 were $3,077,388.18 while deposit growth makes an interesting comparison on the 27th of each month since opening date:

Official Opening Day	Deposits
February 27, 1950	$ 562,363.24
March 27, 1950	1,076,325.22
April 27, 1950	1,358,602.10
May 27, 1950	1,452,360.64
June 27, 1950	1,598,832.25
July 27, 1950	1,711,190.90
August 27, 1950	1,914,097.92
September 27, 1950	1,928,008.47
October 27, 1950	2,161,322.27
November 27, 1950	2,185,441.41
December 27, 1950	2,309,529.52

"The first National Bank of Manchester is known in banking circles as a commercial bank but it is designed to offer every complete banking service to greater Manchester, in which category if you please, we unhesitatingly include the City of Hartford, from which very substantial deposits have been received. Considering the progressiveness of our Bank, this is not unusual for hundreds of Manchester residents have been using Hartford banks.

Mortgage Loans

"Following intimate contact with our operations for the first four months, your Board of Directors was convinced by July that we should establish a Mortgage Department attuned to the great demand upon us for home loans. Fortunately for both our Bank and the applicants for home loans, we were able to obtain the services of Mr. Edward J. Lehan, formerly of the Federal Housing Administration, Hartford. Many substantial commitments have been paid to our Personnel Committee for both by local appraisers and Hartford insurance and banking officials because of his selection of Mr. Lehan.

"Bringing with him his twelve years experience and extensive knowledge of real estate and mortgage financing, we have developed prompt, efficient and friendly service in processing 144 mortgage loans as follows:

	Number	Amount
Conventional	38	$312,800.00
F. H. A.	33	335,600.00
G. I.	38	317,250.00
C. S. H. A.	35	342,400.00

"However, this is but one department of the 32 which we have set up from the beginning to serve the public. The 4826 customers using the various depository services of the Bank at year end appear as follows:

	Number	Amount
Regular Checking	656	$1,762,658.04
Special Checking	388	47,293.80
Savings	2415	1,014,901.41
Christmas Club	1204	10,455.25
Dividend Bonds	157

"In addition, we sold 3399 registered checks, received over 4890 Series E Savings Bonds, and granted 301 commercial loans (75 installment, 226 personal) loans.

In Order

"During these past ten months we have been subject to two regular examinations by the National Bank Examiners (in June and November) and in addition, the Directors Examining Committee, on two occasions under the requirements of the Comptroller of the Currency, examined the assets and operations of the bank and on all four occasions it was found that its affairs are in good order.

"Sheriff Wave has commended our adopted policies which are designed to offer all banking services to the community. Our aim is to get people to use our banks and our more of its services. That is why we have installed a drive-in teller's window, unlimited parking, savings services in loans, mortgages and investments, and Saturday morning hours.

"As a further indication of the volume of detail handled in the office, we suggest that it may be of interest to know that in excess of 10,000 separate items of transactions representing checks deposited and withdrawn, deposit tickets, notes, etc., passed through the records of the bank. Each of these items was photographed through our Recordak Machine and are retained as our records in microfilm form.

More Insurance

"Since September 21, 1950, each depositor is now insured up to a maximum of $10,000 by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation in this bank. First National Bank of Manchester is the 1 billion 4 hundred 1 eighty 2 thousand 1 hundred 1 eighty 2 thousand 1 hundred 1 eighty 2 thousand 1

Eisenhower In Washington

The public formal utterances of General Dwight D. Eisenhower, since his appointment to his European post, have seemed to reflect more faith and sanity and balance than those of any other American during the same period.

Now there comes, from the typewriter of Joseph C. Harsch, writing in the Christian Science Monitor, a moving description of some of General Eisenhower's less public influences on the mood of the day. Mr. Harsch describes General Eisenhower's progress through Washington before his departure for Europe, and observes as follows:

"This is a different city because General 'Ike' went through it. Somehow the mood and tone have changed, for the better. It is not easy to define what he contributed because it is compounded of intangibles, such intangibles as the effect on people of the set of his shoulders, the ruddy good health of his complexion, the confidence in the rich voice which speaks on the important policy issues of the day from a mind which has wrestled with these issues and come up with clear and well-phrased convictions of his own.

"Not everyone he talked with agreed with everything he said. But I think that everyone, or nearly everyone, liked the way he said it, for he spoke without malice—and with a basic faith in America, in the western world of which America is a part, in the possibility of preserving our western society against communism providing we can find the will and unity. He radiated practical confidence without a hint of the Pollyanna. . . .

"He is the last person in the world to underestimate the danger of Russian imperialism, but he gave those who heard him speak a revival of faith in our power to resist it because he reminded them that Moscow's very dogmatic insistence on the ultimate communization of the world discloses a basic admission of inferiority in communism. Our society is not afraid of the comparison with others which comes when they exist side by side. Moscow's ideas cannot abide comparison.

"Most of all, I think," continues Mr. Harsch, "he helped this city and raised its courage and its tone because he proved in his own person and in his own ideas that it is possible to bridge the awful gulf which has opened between Americans. His friends say he considers himself a Republican. He personally disapproves of many policies of the present administration. He does not go along with all of its foreign policies. But he feels no hatred for those of different persuasion, nor has he fallen into the habit so common on both sides of our political fence of attributing evil motives to the opposition. He doesn't pass judgment on other person's motives. He judges results.

"This happened in an atmosphere which has come perilously close to being one of mental civil war. . . . Many a Washington politician of both parties has come to feel an intensity about the domestic issue which has made it difficult for him to see the foreign danger as a real and imminent thing. Both sides have identified the domestic opponent with the foreign danger. Democrats have accused Messrs. Taft and Hoover of aiding communism just as passionately as Republicans have accused Mr. Acheson of doing the same.

"There wasn't any real leader swimming against this tide until Mr. Eisenhower came to Washington. He didn't swim against it, he just ignored it as though it didn't exist. He came as an American with an important job on his hands to talk over his assignment with other Americans whose patriotism he assumed and treated, regardless of whether he agreed with them at all points."

From this description, as from several Eisenhower's more public utterances, there comes the impression that Eisenhower has some of the attributes of what the philosophers would call the "whole man," sure enough of himself and sure enough of others to move with serenity and confidence through the events of his time, enough of a man not to be subject to the animal-like fear which has affected so many, believer enough in his own way of life to contemplate other creeds without demoralized terror. This is the kind of philosophy in leadership this country could stand a lot more of.

New Truce Proposal

What is going on at Lake Success, where scheduled open discussion of the Far Eastern situation has been postponed, is a business of waiting for the possible fruits of some secret diplomacy.

This secret diplomacy involves a new approach to Communist China, by the same group which previously sought cease-fire agreement. The group has now, according to report, acted informally through Indian diplomats, and what it has informally submitted to Communist China is a new cease-fire proposition which comes closer to meeting some of the Chinese demands.

The new proposition is basically the same proposition which was made by Israel the other day, with surprisingly minor objections from Russia. Whether what seems acceptable to Russia will also be acceptable to Communist China is a troublesome question, in view of the many evidences that what is going on in the Far East is an undercover rivalry between Russia and China in addition to the great surface rivalry between Communism and the West.

The new proposition has four points, the first providing for an immediate cease fire, enforced by a truce commission which would include Chinese Communist observers, the second providing for a progressive withdrawal of all non-Korean troops, the third providing for UN-supervised elections throughout Korea, and the fourth providing for a conference on Asian issues among the United States, Great Britain, Russia, Communist China, France, India and Egypt—or any other nations the Chinese Communists might suggest.

This proposition contains obvious concessions to the Chinese Communist point of view. That is one thing, the interesting thing is that United States diplomacy has apparently given its tacit approval to the idea that the proposition be made to Peiping. This may reflect our diplomatic opinion that the Chinese Communists are still sure to reject this modified peace proposal, which would leave us strong and unchallenged in our demand for a more vigorous United Nations stand against Communist China. Or we may ourselves have some positive hope for the proposal. In any case, there is a faint chance of peace involved, and again we say that these nations in the United Nations who refuse to concede the inevitability of full war, who persist in the exploitation of every last fairness in the direction of peace, deserve praise. They are fighting for humanity.

Inching Together

Germany is beginning to sense the potential advantages of its own position. Knowing that both East and West must bid for its favor, it is exploiting every chance of increasing the prices offered by facing both ways at once.

Thus the Western German government, at the very time it is entering preliminary military discussions with the generals of the West, has also made a conditional acceptance of the East German proposal for bilateral talks on the problem of unifying Germany.

So, on the one hand, Western Germany is talking with the West about the possible creation of a Western German army with which to defend itself and western Europe against the possible onslaught of the Russians and their possible East German followers. And, on the other hand, Western Germany is talking unity with East Germany.

So far, obviously enough, East Germany's bid for such talks is part of a Russian propaganda plot. In making the proposal, East Germany is acting as a Russian satellite. Its purpose, inconceivably, is to draw Western Germany out of its position as a satellite of the West, and to persuade it that there is a chance of unifying Germany if only Western Germany will cut loose and negotiate for itself.

So far, Western Germany seems quite aware of the nature of the East German approach. It imposes strict conditions on the proposed unification talks. It takes pains to proclaim its own ties to the West, even while it considers these talks. At the present stage of things, all seems safe and secure enough. But in reality the inevitable is beginning to happen. The two halves of a partitioned Germany are beginning to inch together. So far neither half dares throw off the authority of the occupying victor. But the unity of Germany itself is all either half really cares about. It will be what both sides strike, for its defiance of both Russia and the United States, as soon as they see their opportunity.

Wapping

Mrs. Ralph Green who was scheduled to speak on "Antiques" yesterday at the Wednesday afternoon Club was unable to do so on account of illness. The guest speaker was Henry G. Ford, office manager of the Traveler's branch office in Hartford and past president of the Hartford Poetic Society, who discussed his hobby, the making of sterling silver jewelry.

There are twelve towns listed in Hartford County of which South Windsor is one, which made the Highway Safety Commission's honor Roll for 1950, because of traffic fatality-free experience for the calendar year.

A meeting of the Timothy Edwards Fellowship will be held tonight at 8 at Wolcott Chapel.

Twenty-five packs of playing cards were collected by the children of Pleasant Valley School for the American Red Cross. They were given to patients at the Harriet Jones Home of McCook Memorial Hospital. The children have received from the authorities a letter of commendation for their efforts.

Sunday afternoon the Volunteer Fire Department was called to the home of Mrs. Katherine Dunn to extinguish a chimney fire. There was very little damage.

The Land Owners Protective Association meeting which was scheduled for Monday night has been postponed until Feb. 5, at the Town Hall.

P. F. C. Glenn Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rose of Ellington road, South Windsor's first soldier, has been reported missing in action at the Korean battlefront by the War Department. The family had been notified that P.F.C. Rose was wounded on Sept. 6, 1950 but recovered and returned to the front Nov. 12. The telegram said he has been missing since Nov. 30. The family received a letter from him Nov. 24, at which time he was serving with the 23rd Infantry Regiment of the Second Army Division, which was engaged in savage fighting with the enemy north of Pongyang during the latter part of November. Rose was born July 4, 1931, attended local schools, and graduated from Ellsworth Memorial High School, 1949, where he was active in sports. He enlisted in the army in October, 1949, and was sent to Korea on Aug. 5, 1950.

Mrs. Georgia Shipman of Avery street, who fell in her home and fractured her knee, is a patient at the Manchester Memorial hospital.

Connecticut Yankee

By A. H. O.

If the main pulse of Democratic State Chairman John Bailey's policy on inaugural day was psychic, it was a strong pulse. He intended to claim equal prestige and right for himself and his party in the conduct of state business, that explained why he deadlocked in his insistence that the Republican House help him vote a rule which the Democratic Senate could easily have adopted for itself.

Why he wanted that particular Senate rule, however, is a question on a different level.

To summarize quickly, the rule in question is the instrument by which he hopes to safeguard his own control of the Democratic Senate. To judge boldly, this very stratagem by which he hopes to safeguard Democratic control of the Senate is quite likely to be the thing which loses him that control.

Mathematically speaking, the situation in the Senate without the Bailey rule would be that the Republicans could gain control of that body through the purchase of one Democratic senator, or through the illness of two. With the Bailey rule, the Republicans would have to purchase seven Democratic senators to obtain control.

We seem a little cynical writing such a paragraph, don't we? But the cynicism, we have to point out, comes from Mr. Bailey himself. He, by his strategy, has been the one who has voluntarily confessed that only the strongest kind of chains can keep some of his Democratic senators from jumping over the party line. He, by his strategy, has been the one who has placed the entire proposition of Democratic senatorial loyalty on the most cynical level.

He has been the one who has been behaving as if he expected the Democratic senators to turn into traitors to their party.

According to report, the presentation of his two-thirds of all the membership rule in the Senate was merely one phase of his suspicion of his own men. The story goes that the pre-session caucus of the Democratic Senate was a most extraordinary affair, featured by the signing of a pledge of party regularity prepared by Mr. Bailey, and also featured by Mr. Bailey's reading and exposition of pertinent sections from the corrupt practices act. This story may be exaggerated in detail, but it fits in well with Mr. Bailey's later open strategy.

In that strategy, what did he do? He led the members of the Democratic Senate into a deadlock in which they fought to the bitter end for a legal weapon with which to control their own apparently inevitable dishonesty. They were held in this self-defaming course of action all the way through an extreme bluff in the delay of the new Governor's inaugural. When that bluff was called by resolute Republican action, they were left with sheepish grins and a silly explanation that they hadn't been invited to attend the inaugural and didn't contest its legality after all.

They were put through this whole course of action in what amounted to a proclamation of their own lack of ordinary, honesty and decency, because it had been assumed that nothing but the strictest kind of legal chain could possibly prevent them from betraying their own party.

If there is going to be anything which produces a break in the Democratic ranks in the Senate, it will not be primarily any inducements the Republicans may offer, but the very techniques Mr. Bailey has used in trying to prevent such a break. If they ever sell him out, it will be because he has already conceded that they would if they could. If they ever escape from him, it will be because he has tried to put a binding upon them which is a degradation in itself.

Big Addition To PTA Group

Verplanck Unit Welcomes 115 Members at Its Meeting

The Verplanck Parent Teachers association welcomed 115 additional members last night at its first meeting of the new year. The enrollment now totals 320 parents and friends of the school children.

A most enjoyable program was presented by the teachers of the school. Miss Catherine Shea, principal, welcomed the large group of parents and spoke about the educational philosophy being carried out through the grades by the able personnel of Verplanck School.

Miss Shea then introduced each of the teachers and one from each grade gave a word picture of her age group, their accomplishments and progress. Mrs. Ona Livingstone spoke for the kindergarten; Mrs. Mansur, first grade, Mrs. Marion Lynch, second grade, Mrs. Marion McLaughlin, third grade, Miss Emma Treadwell, fourth grade; Mrs. Dorothy Paris, fifth grade, Miss Winifred Sarstski and Joseph W. Schmidt, sixth grade.

Hold Business Meeting

Mrs. William Strek, president, conducted the business meeting at which time a 1951 budget was proposed and adopted. Suggestions for a money-raising project for the year were presented and approved. It was agreed to send pupils from grades 4, 5 and 6 to hear the operetta, "Hansel and Gretel," which will be presented by the Julius Hartt School of Music, March 27, at the State Theater.

Reports of Chairmen

Committee chairmen made reports as follows: Program committee, Edward Feltham, chairman and Miss Catherine Shea, Mrs. Ann Cowles, Mrs. Alice Powell, Mrs. Shirley Walker and Anthony Wallace; Membership committee, Mrs. Adrian Rosenhymer; Ways and Means, Max Goodatine; Hospitality, Mrs. Stanley Baldwin and the estate which, according to the petition attached to the will is listed as being "under $10,000" in personality.

Miss Johnson was graduated with high academic honors last spring from Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill. During past summers she has been employed as Burah Research assistant for the Division of American Missions of the National Lutheran Council.

She came to Rosalind Lutheran Church of this town in September to serve as parish worker, succeeding Mrs. Everett Johnson, Jr.

Mr. Bergman is a student at Augustana Theological Seminary, Rock Island, Ill.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Call Meeting Of Dairymen

To State Their Views On Recent Increase in The Price of Milk

Dairy farmers and milk producers in this area, interested in a milk price rise to the producer, have been called to state their views at public hearing on the question, together with those who may be opposed to such an increase, the hearing to be held by Milk Administrator D. O. Hansmeberg in Hartford at the Hotel Bond at 10:30 a. m. Friday, January 19.

Milk dealers recently have increased delivered milk prices and farmers assert they have a right to share in any increase.

The proposals to be aired are: 1. To increase the prices for Class I milk under Order 1 and for all milk under Order No. III, and 2. To reconsider whether or not and upon what basis the prices for milk in Class I under the above orders should be related through a formula to the prices established by the Secretary of Agriculture for Boston and other nearby federally regulated markets.

All interested parties, producers, dealers and consumers may give testimony or submit proposals may be related to the above two subjects of discussion.

Quits Democrats

Meriden, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Sophie Z. Kline, veteran Democratic Party worker here, has announced a switch to the other side of the political fence. Mrs. Kline said yesterday she had erased her name from the Democratic Primary list and had applied for enrollment as a Republican. Reason for the change, she said, was the Democratic Party Committee's attitude in denying her renomination as a State Representative. Mrs. Kline served two terms in the State House of Representatives in the 1945 and 1949 sessions, and has been a Democratic Party worker for 23 years. She said she intended to remain active in politics.

Engaged to Wed

Miss Doris Rolstee

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peterson of 20 Waddell road announce the engagement of their daughter, Doloires Winifred Rolstee, to Arthur Laurance Turkington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Johnson of 46 Florence street.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Pythian Lodge Seats Officers

Memorial Temple Has Colorful Ceremonies At Its Installation

Memorial Temple, Pythian Sisters, installed its officers for the year 1951 Tuesday evening in Odd Fellows hall. The ceremony was in charge of District Deputy Past Grand Chief Mrs. Lillian Hanson of East Hartford, who was assisted by Past grand chiefs, Mrs. Martha Snyder and Mrs. Sarah Hartt of Hartford.

Mrs. Ann Desmonne was installed as most excellent chief, succeeding Mrs. Jane Smith, who becomes past chief. Other officers who will serve the Temple are the following:

Most excellent senior, Mrs. Ethel Lindsay; most excellent junior, Mrs. Georgiana Smith; manager, Mrs. Martha Johnson; conductor, Mrs. Alice Edgerly; guard, Mrs. Irene Anderson; secretary, Mrs. Ethelean Lewis; treasurer, Mrs. Sarah Godfrey; pianist, Mrs. Mercyl Peckham; press correspondent, Mrs. Carrie Samlow.

Third trustee, Mrs. Annie Alley; degree committee, Mrs. Frances Herron; grand representative, Mrs. Catherine Perkins; alternate, Mrs. Muriel Bolin.

The installation was preceded by a pot luck supper in the banquet hall at 6:30. Apple pie a la mode was the dessert served following a variety of delectable dishes. Mrs. Frances Herron, chairman of the supper committee, was assisted by Mrs. Marion Barrett, Mrs. Georgiana Smith and Mrs. Carrie Samlow. Officers and members were present from West Haven, Plainville and Hartford, and as the guests entered they were cordially welcomed by two remarkable and wearing, grotesque costumes, who later were discovered to be Mrs. Muriel Bean and Mrs. Mercyl Peckham. The latter during the evening, in behalf of the Temple, presented gifts to the three installing officers, also to the retiring excellent chief, Mrs. Jane Smith.

Issues Appeal For Workers

Volunteers Need to Help In Local Blood Donor Campaign

The importance of the work being done by the Staff Aides of the local Red Cross was stressed by Mrs. Charles Peckham, Staff Aide chairman, as she issued an appeal for additional volunteers.

"The past two weeks have been exceptionally busy ones for our volunteer workers," said Mrs. Peckham. "Since we have been calling the list of blood donors in order to make appointments for the visit of the Bloodmobile, Unit next Monday. It is necessary to place over 1,000 telephone calls a month in order to make the 180 appointments we need for each Bloodmobile visit.

"This, as you can realize, is a tremendous job for our present group of Staff Aides to tackle each month and we feel sure that, through this public appeal, we can secure the additional help which we need. Any person qualified to be a Staff Aide Blood Donors program and the impressive need of it for the benefit of our "buddies" and boys over in Korea and elsewhere. He emphasized the need for more donors and called for the support of all members in this very worthwhile contribution of what money cannot buy. At the end of the meeting on Monday night a number of members present volunteered to help and added their names to the donors list. Any other volunteers among the members who wish to become eligible blood donors should get in touch with Carl Priess, who is available at his home, phone number 3585.

A report was received from the membership committee indicating that a program of personal solicitation over the telephone is being formulated to regain former members back to the Post. Several workers with cars will deliver the paid-up cards to men interested in rejoining the Post.

A recent bulletin from Department headquarters was read concerning the national campaign known as "Cocke of the Walk" program, a new idea in connection with spurring the current membership drive.

Bob Weitzel, chairman of the committee for the local Post's second annual "Tide of Toys" project reported that progress was being made in the campaign. He indicated various means and steps which are being formulated to accelerate the program of getting toys into the local Post home for shipment to underprivileged children overseas in Europe, Asia and elsewhere. Plans were formulated to publicize the worthy project among the local school children and to arrange a special movie matinee in a local theater at which the price of admission for each child would be a toy of non-military character.

Tuesday night a delegation from the Post attended the funeral services held for the late Chief Pharmacist Mate Francis E. Jilson at the Holloran Funeral Home. Chief Jilson died in service in November while aboard the U. S. Whipple. The Post extends its sympathy to past Commander Charles Norris in the recent death of his sister.

Legion News

The regular business meeting previously postponed because of the Christmas holiday was held at the Post home Monday evening, owing to a siege of the grip. Commander Ted Fairbanks was unable to attend. In his absence, Senior Vice Commander Vince McFadden filled in.

The following new members were accepted: Robert Bleck, Charles Clemson, Fred Teising, Eugene McCurn, John Lopechino and Walter Potyra, all of Manchester. The new members were welcomed into the Post by the membership.

A number of reinstatements were also accepted by the Post, namely Herbert Clemson, Edward Kloda, Earl Bryant and John Maxwell. Past Commander Frank Miner spoke on the current membership drive, the local Civil Defense program and several other timely topics. Frank stressed the necessity of all local veterans, both members of the Legion and all others, "to wake up" and actively support the Manchester Civil Defense program.

Numerous veterans have previously received application forms for the program and have failed to fill them out and return them. All such veterans are urged to complete the application and return them without further delay. Veterans are being relied upon by the public as the main bulwark for carrying out the civilian defense program. This is so because of the training and experience they acquired in service to their country during the World Wars.

Carl Priess spoke about the Blood Donors program and the impressive need of it for the benefit of our "buddies" and boys over in Korea and elsewhere. He

Virginia Schaub Honored at Party

Miss Virginia Ann Schaub, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schaub of 105 Highland street, was honored with a miscellaneous shower last night at her home. The party was given by her sister, Miss Janet Schaub, and was attended by about thirty relatives and friends. Many of them were former associates of Miss Schaub at the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft.

Red and white predominated in the decorative scheme. The bride-elect unwrapped her choice assortment of gifts while seated beneath a watering-can decorated in these colors.

A delicious buffet style supper was served. The centerpiece was a shower cake decorated in red and white.

Miss Schaub will be married to Carl H. Anderson, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Anderson, Sr., of 53 Birch street, on Saturday, January 27, in Emanuel Lutheran church.

Ellington

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Aborn of Meadow Brook road, are the parents of a daughter born Sunday at the Johnson Memorial hospital, Stafford Springs.

Fred Gerber, 80, a former Ellington resident who died in Pomfret Monday, was buried in the Ellington Center cemetery today.

William E. Kibbe, a former selectman of Ellington, observed his 80th birthday Sunday at his home on Somers road. There was no special celebration. Mr. Kibbe is well and accompanied his son and other friends on a hunting trip to Maine this fall and stood the trip well along with the younger set.

Labor Poll Closes

Waterbury, Jan. 11—(AP)—A collective bargaining election yesterday at Waterbury Companies, Inc., resulted in an apparent four-vote victory for the CIO Progressive Metal Workers Council. The result was so close, however, that NLRB Field Examiner Ernest Modern said he would refer the case to Washington for decision. The PMC received 273 votes in the balloting, against 269 cast for no union. Four ballots were challenged. If these should be validated by the NRLB and if all were in favor of no union, the vote would be tied.

Soon, 20, filed suit for divorce in Superior Court, but withdrew the action a few days before Christmas with the announcement that she would settle in Florida.

Mrs. Ross and her mother-in-law, Mrs. R. L. Ross, have been living here since December. The mother-in-law was called to the school during yesterday's disturbance. She said she was told there "was quite a pulling match" during the melee. She is Dr. Ross' foster mother.

direction to reach the President's capacity quota.

Few Skilled Workers

California manufacturers were agreed on three principal points:

1. The factories can't retool and hire additional help until the orders come in and until they know what is expected of them.

2. There is an acute shortage of skilled technicians.

3. The whole program is going to cost the taxpayers considerably more than last time.

No Rosie the Riveter

At present, about 96,000 persons are employed directly in aircraft work in the Los Angeles area. Douglas alone had 160,000 in 1943. Lockheed had another 94,000. More help must come from somewhere.

As an official at North American Aviation put it: "We don't need Rosie the riveter this time; we need skilled labor—draftsmen, engineers, machinists, and electronics specialists. There just aren't enough to go around.

That means some sort of training program must be set up. Four plants already are working on it. Northrop has maintained a technica, school since 1946 to train skilled men for its own use as well as for other factories. The school, which takes men directly from college, keeps up an enrollment of 750 to 1000 students.

Expanded production will create more work—and employment—in thousands of small machine shops and plants making everything from castings to electrical switches.

Plants Tool Up

Only Lockheed proposes any major alteration in its World War II production methods. Previously Lockheed sub-contracted work to 1000 small plants. The company now plans to have six larger firms do the same work.

Lockheed reports that Ceasna, and Beech, Wichita, Kan.; Chance-Vought, and Temco, Dallas, and Rohr, San Diego, already are tooling up in anticipation of increased orders. Lockheed will build only the center sections of its F-94 jet interceptor, T-33 jet trainer, PV Navy patrol bomber, and Constellation cargo plane.

The company figures that 21,000 employes will be sufficient to handle its output. Some 20,000 now work at the big Burbank plant.

North American had 24,000 last time and believes it will have to surpass that figure in the present effort because its operation is larger. In work now at North American are the F-86 F and D series Sabre jet fighters, T-28 trainer, AJ-1 Navy attack bomber and B-45 light bomber.

Make Guided Missiles

North American and Northrop are developing guided missiles. Northrop has only one plane in work, the F-89 twin jet Scorpion, an all-weather interceptor.

Douglas, the largest firm with three plants and another opening up in Tulsa, Okla., has 25,000 employes building the AD series Navy attack bomber, the F3D carrier based jet fighter and the familiar DC3 and DC6 transports. Douglas will build the B47 jet bomber for Boeing at Tulsa.

The industry since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea has been hiring at the rate of 200 a day.

To Speak Here

Dr. W. E. Bergsrand

Dr. Wilton E. Bergsrand, of Minneapolis, Minnesota, Youth Director of the Augustana Lutheran Church of America, and popular speaker at gatherings of Christian youth throughout the country, will address the "Youth Rally" of the Hartford District Luther League, Sunday, January 14, in the afternoon at 4 o'clock at the South Methodist church. He will speak on the subject, "The Spotlight Is on Youth." He will also be the guest preacher at Emanuel Church Sunday morning at 10:30.

The afternoon rally will bring together youth and adults as well from more than twenty Lutheran churches in Connecticut. Delegations are also expected from Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

The sponsoring group, the Hartford District Luther League is headed by Leonard Anderson of Emanuel Lutheran church of this town. The officers of this organization will meet with Dr. Bergstrand on Saturday afternoon to discuss the possibility of inviting the International Youth Conference of the Augustana Lutheran Church to meet in New England, perhaps Hartford, in the Spring of 1953. This conference of youth held every two years, will be held in Colorado Springs, Colorado, in June of this year and is expected to bring together more than 2000 young people.

Delegates from the local Luther League of Emanuel Lutheran Church are planning to attend.

A Saturday evening "Supper Meeting" with Dr. Bergstrand has been arranged by the local Luther League at Emanuel church at 5:30. Officers of local leagues throughout the Hartford District have been invited, as well as youth and other interested persons of Emanuel church.

The Sunday afternoon rally at South Methodist church is open to all interested youth of the town as well as adults. A cordial welcome is extended.

No "Voluntary" Exit in Korea

drawal might minimize losses to U. S. and United Nations forces and permit concentration of forces elsewhere in the Communist-plagued Far East.

On the other hand, although the U.N. troops are falling back before vastly greater numbers of Chinese and Korean Reds, it is believed here they have a lot of fighting power left.

And as yet there has been no decisive battle.

Expect Stand Soon

In view of that fact, Washington officials believe the U.N. Army will shortly make a stand. With its supply and communications lines shortened, it would be in a generally stronger defensive posture than at any time since the Chinese Communist assault began.

At the same time, Communist supply lines strung back to Manchuria, would provide a vulnerable target to air strikes. It is not impossible that such a situation if fully exploited might result in a great weakening of the Chinese war potential in this and any other theater of action.

According to the best available information the present American policy is based on these main considerations:

1. Any appearance of running out on the U.N. commitment to repel aggression in Korea would greatly weaken the faith of threatened people everywhere in the determination of the U.N. and the U. S. to stand by them.

"Defense Outpost"

2. The fighting in Korea is occupying Chinese Communist strength which might be employed elsewhere in Asia, for instance against Indo-China.

3. From both the military and political points of view, the continued presence of a U. N. force in Korea constitutes a defense outpost for Japan which should not be yielded lightly.

4. It is not at all certain that a total Chinese and Korean victory is inevitable. If the Chinese suffer heavy and prolonged losses there is some belief here that they might eventually back down.

"Cancer Sufferer" Declared O. K.

son, refused to consent to the operation. Days of anguish followed. Examination at the Mayo Clinic was suggested, but the Purcelle had little money.

The Shriners in Atlanta stepped in and supplied money for a plane trip.

Early Wednesday morning Carolyn and her mother reported at the clinic. Mrs. Purcell followed the little girl step by step through eight hours of examination. When it was all over, Clinic doctors said there was no evidence of cancer.

They said there was an inflammatory reaction within the child's eyes which has impaired Carolyn's sight. They indicated it can be corrected by treatment.

"Thank God"

The weary mother said little aloud when given the favorable report. She whispered, "Thank God," and then moved her lips obviously in prayer. Mrs. Purcell took her daughter immediately to their hotel room for their first night's sleep in weeks.

Mayo doctors said it will not be possible to tell whether Carolyn's sight will be fully restored until presenting treatment has progressed. The girl can only discern objects now. She will not resume treatment at Rochester. The doctors recommended she be taken to Atlanta physicians.

In Atlanta, Carolyn's father broke into tears when informed of the Mayo diagnosis.

That shows you what the Lord can do," he said.

Marine Held in Death

New Haven, Jan. 11—(AP)—A 17-year-old Marine has been held criminally responsible for the death of a Milford woman, killed last November 3 when a car he was driving careened out of control down Abington hill in West Haven and crashed head-on into another automobile. Coroner James J. Corrigan said the Marine David E. Campbell, of Medford, Mass., was responsible in "one of the most aggravated cases of wild and reckless driving that has ever come to my attention." Campbell, who had left without leave and driving a stolen car, was attempting to escape at high speed from a Milford policeman when the accident happened, the coroner said. Mrs. Mary Angelo, 61, of Milford, a passenger in the car struck by the one driven by Campbell, was killed instantly. Her daughter, Mrs. Helen Hopkinson, was injured severely.

Indians Split Holiday Games

MHS Downs Windham, Loses Close Game to West Hartford 38-36

The Manchester High School basketball team split in two contests over the holiday vacation. It they turned back Windham at Willimantic and lost a close 38 to 36 decision to West Hartford. In every the season's record at 3 wins and 3 setbacks. A third game at Meriden, December 28, was cancelled because of bad weather.

West Hartford Game

The Indians, playing their tightest game of the season, were beaten by Hall High of West Hartford Friday, December 22, 38 to 36 at the local armory.

The contest was by far the closest witnessed by both Hall and Manchester and was won with but 30 seconds to play, as West Hartford's John Wilson dropped in a hook shot just before the game ending whistle.

The game was played nip and tuck all the way with both teams holding a first period lead of 13 to 8, Manchester holding a half time lead of 19 to 18, and a third quarter count of 27 to 25.

West Hartford stepped back into the driver's seat shortly after the fourth period started and from 27 all command until Manchester's Bill Sheekey tied the score at 36 all with a one-hander with about 1 minute to play. Hall, however, rallied back as Wilson sunk his game winning goal with little time to spare.

Bill Sheekey topped the Indians' column that night dropping in 5 field goals and a foul shot for 11 points. John Perry was second with 10 points, while Steve Adderson hooped 7, Al Morgan 6, and Pinky Hohenthal 2. John Wilson of Hall scored 12 points for the visitors.

Windham Game

The Clarkmen gained their third victory of the season Wednesday, December 20, as they defeated the Windham High school 45 to 38 at the rival's home court. Steve Anderson, the Indians lanky center paced the Red and White with 17 points with his bucket shots and one handers from the side.

Like the Hall contest, the game was close all the way except for the last period, which saw the Indians break out with a commanding lead. Manchester led throughout most of the game however, holding a half time lead of 23 to 21 and a three quarter mark of 29 to 26.

Behind Anderson in the scoring column Pete "Pinky" Hohenthal split the nets for 18 points, while Al Morgan accounted for 12, Bob Perry and Bill Sheekey for 4, Jimmy Glenney for 3 and Bob Francis for 2. All of the Indians saw action that night with Red Case, Ollie Tropp, Walt Kosakowski and Harold "Tosh" Moore also helping out in the victory.

A third game against Meriden High school at the Silver City was cancelled because of bad weather. The Red and White will play the game at a later date, as yet not announced. Meriden is currently in second place in the CCIL league behind Bristol.

This Friday Manchester will play host to Hartford Public at Manchester Armory in a CCIL game, their fourth of the year.

Dick Day '52

Hamden Defeated By Both Teams

The Indians gained their first C. C. I. L. triumph of the 1950-51 campaign Friday, December 15, beating Hamden 58 to 46 at the Manchester Armory. The victory pulled the Red and White out of the cellar and ahead of last place Hamden.

The Green Dragons held a 12 to 10 first period lead over Manchester, but were outscored during the remainder of the contest as the Blue Red took period leads of 28 to 22, 38 to 30, and a final 58 to 46 edge.

Two forwards Bill Sheekey and Eric "Pinky" Hohenthal lead the Indians' attack with 18 and 14 point apiece. Sheekey hit hot streaks in the second and fourth quarters, while Hohenthal hooped 7 of his 15 tallies in the final stanza.

"Pinky Hohenthal hooped 3 free throws and 2 field goals for 7 points during the final quarter, while Sheekey hit for 6, and Morgan, Perry, and Willis 2 each.

26B Leads Frosh In Ball League

As the midway mark in the Freshman intramural basketball league is reached, 26B is leading the pack with three wins, no losses, for a perfect record. Others boasting a 1.000 percentage are 25F, 27B and 25B, although they have won only two games. Trailing are the other team standings in order, 27F, 26F, 25F, 27F, 26B, 24F, 24F, 12F, 21F, 23F and 26F.

Junior points were scored 26B defeating 24F, 48 to 15. Victors and Pontiac led the winners' scoring, with 21 and 13 points respectively. Hand and Hackney tallied high for the losers with 6 and 4. The half time score was 20 to 10 in favor of 26B.

Twenty-five B dumped the 12F squad for their second win in as many starts by a score of 58 to 17. Leading the victors were Moller with 20 points and Nodwell with 11 while Modesto led the losers in the scoring column with 18 points. Two fouls were given and only two fouls were committed.

24B cropped their second win, as against one setback, by defeating the 26F quintet 48 to 34. At the 22-all deadlock at halftime, 24B polled ahead for the victory. Steve Friedman scored 16; 15 and 14 points in that order, for the victors. Linnell and Bob Namara paced the losing team with 12 and 8 tallies respectively.

The first-place deadlock will probably be divided when the tilters on top of the school title, Coach David Hartwell expects, this coming homecoming will cop the trophy.

Plan Youth Day: See Y. M. Film

Did you know that youth from all over Connecticut take over the offices of the state government as well as the Senate and House of Representatives for a day each year? The state Hi-Y sponsors this educational and novel affair each January. This year it will send two representatives to the House, in the person of Jim Foster of the Junior Hi-Y, Robert Stevens of the Hartford County Y. M. C. A. executive, will be the boys and at the end of his term of office, Governor Lodge promises to send two representatives from the Junior Hi-Y at M. H. S.

On the Youth in Government Day, which will be held this year early in April, the boys have been sent in by the various groups to be argued and voted upon. It is exact procedure followed by our State Legislature. The bills can be signed and passed or vetoed by the governor if they are concerned.

He stressed the danger of being recognized in people met during a vacation or places away from your own home. The reason for this is, that the character of the person is not known and that the meeting may have occurred just because of loneliness or homesickness.

Report Successful Xmas Seal Drive

The Christmas seal drive, which was conducted in the schools before vacation, netted $173.92, according to the report given by Treasurer George Pazianos, at the regular meeting of the Student Council which was held Tuesday morning. 27M contributed the largest amount, averaging $.51 per pupil.

The Council voted that any person from another school who comes to M. H. S. after January 1 can join the S. A. A. by making only the second payment.

There was a detailed discussion on the present game schedule and ways to select the twelve students who will take office for a day and govern the town of Manchester during Boys and Girls Week. The Rotary Club which sponsors this idea of student government for a day has set up requirements for the boys and girls or the method by which they should be chosen.

Gilbert Hunt, in answer to a previous request from the Council, wrote a letter explaining the requirements for the Student Council if a member of the rifle team wishes to join the Council in numerals.

The Council voted to support the March of Dimes Drive, which will be conducted sometime within the next month.

Guests of Y's Enjoy Talk

Paul Harris Advises on Young Romance; Tells Of Travel

Before an enthusiastic audience of 450 students, including members of the five Y's and guests from the Varsity Club, and others, Paul Harris, Jr., independent lecturer and author, spoke Monday evening on the subject "Boy Meets Girl—What About It?"

The young people of today are faced with greater problems and responsibilities than the teen-agers of forty years ago, said Mr. Harris, and, now if the draft age is lowered to eighteen, there may be many hurried-up war-time marriages thus giving the need for a new sense of perspective for boy and girl.

Mr. Harris told the group that there are many handicaps when one marries into a different nationality or religion than the one to which he has been accustomed. These handicaps only serve to strengthen the bonds between a couple if they are sincere.

He stressed the danger of being influenced in people met during a vacation or places away from your own home. The reason for this is, that the character of the person is not known and that the meeting may have occurred just because of loneliness or homesickness.

Mrs. Harris and he related many humorous and unusual experiences of their life and travels, which have taken them through Europe and South America.

Enter Enhancers At Science Club

Betty Whitney '52 explained to the members of the Science Club during the January meeting, how cookies taste enhancers to make food taste delicious. Taste enhancers are flavors that impart a delicate quality to food, making them appealing to the palate.

Betty showed examples of the different food enhancers and explained how they helped make food more enjoyable to eat. Among the samples were Monodium Glutamate, which intensifies flavors already present in food, salt, pepper, which also brings out food flavors and cinnamon, which imparts a pleasing smell to food as well as a pleasing taste.

Betty went on to explain that if food did not have taste enhancers it would taste flat and would not be a pleasure to eat.

See Speech Films At Drama Club

Can you be heard and understood, and are you pleasing? These three points were stressed in a film on speech, January 8, at Sock and Buskin's meeting in the Drama room.

Members of speaking clubs, class, or in public were invited to attend. Refreshments were served.

A second film was presented showing that the eyes and ears of your audience also must be appealed to in making a speech. Appearance, too, should be considered. This includes such things as perfect grooming and good posture.

Club members performed feats described in the films, many finding they had faults to overcome.

Legion of Honor

June McKinney

Andrew Gibson

"With a song in her heart and no lump in her throat this week's Legion of honor candidate, June McKinney is popularly known as the musically minded girl of the senior class. June's achievements in music have been many throughout high school.

Member of Round Table for two years and A Capella choir for four years has increased her interest for music. Besides this musical ability June plays the piano and the organ, as beautifully as many of her recitals reveal.

During high school June has followed the college course. Her senior subjects include English, Spanish II, Modern Problems, Typing I and Harmony. She lists her favorite as English.

June's participation in extra curricular activities have been numerous. In the sports field she has enjoyed tennis and bowling. During her Junior and Senior years she has been a member of Spanish club. June was a member of Student Council in her Freshman and Junior years and of art club this year.

Outside of school June is president of the Young People's Fellowship at St. Mary's church. Dancing and playing the piano take up the remaining spare time.

Uncertain as to what college she would like to go to, June plans to major in music and minor in psychology. With her fine record of accomplishments at M. H. S. we are sure to be seeing this popular senior in the "limelight."

Indians Thank M.H.S. Students

A letter of thanks has been received from our Navajo school in Chinle, Arizona, expressing the children's appreciation for the Christmas candy that the students of MHS sent to them.

Miss Helen Estes, the teacher in the particular homeroom that the Student Council sponsors, sent two letters of appreciation, one addressed to the Student Council Chairman, the other to all the students of Manchester High School. In the letter to Miss Estes, they told her about the fine Christmas party the Navajo children had and especially how much they enjoyed the candy that was sent. Miss Crites has been transfered to another school in Arizona and therefore the future correspondence with school will be through another teacher.

The following is the letter which was addressed to the students of MHS who have helped in this Indian Project:

"Dear Students,

"Again you have made our Navajo children very happy indeed. Your very lovely Christmas treat. They were also very pleased with the pretty cards. It was a real thrill for them to get Christmas cards in the mail.

"We had a party in our classroom and gave out the lovely mail cards. The nice variety made it possible for them to trade around and get different kinds.

"Thank you sincerely, thank you notes from as many of my children as can write and also from the children who received your lovely candy.

"It was indeed a very thoughtful and wonderful thing for you to do for us. I pass the children to expressing to you our sincerest thanks."

The thank you notes that the children sent will be displayed on the Navajo Reservation in Chinle and Franklin building for all students to see.

First round of play was completed in the Y Senior Basketball League last night as the Rockets downed the North End Pharmacy, 52 to 40, Bolton tightened up Garden Grove Caterers, 43 to 38.

The Rockets got off to a fast start, running out of the 8 to 0 at the end of the first quarter as the North Enders could not locate the hoop. However, the second period was a direct reversal of form as the Pharmacy started hitting from all angles and led at the half, 24 to 18. The Rockets slowed down considerable as the Rockets resumed the lead at 34 to 30 at the end of the third and 38 to 32 advantage. The final period saw the Rockets pull away and control the ball to win. Bob Copelland was high man for the winners with 20 points while Ken Morgan tossed in 16 for the losers.

In the second game Bolton took the Caterers by a 43-38 score. The hilltoppers led all the way but there was a heart battle after the halftime score which stood at 24 to 16. In the third period the Caterers Arcari put the Caterers within two points of Bolton but the Caterers could not close the gap further as the period ended, 31 to 27. In the final frame, Dave Doonan came through to put the game on ice with three quick hoops and a foul. Thus, the Groves could not make up and the game closed with the Treesa. Doonan put in 11 field goals and six foul shots for 28 points and Paul Arcari caged 16 for the losers.

Sense and Nonsense

Joe was dead and John called on the the widow to express sympathy.

John—Joe and I were mighty close friends. Isn't there something I could have to remember him by?

Wife (tearfully raising her eyes and whispering softly) Would I do?

The alcoholic is a sick man and frequently his wife; his mother and all of his relatives and friends are even sicker than he is.

"She was a good woman," said the husband who had just beaten his wife to death in a drunken rage.

Young Man—I want to see you in the worst way, dearest.

Girl—Well, I usually get up about ten in the morning.

Sympathy is often only tongue deep.

Poor Golfer—Well, how do you like my game?

Caddy—I suppose it's all right, but I still prefer golf.

Most men who fall in love are right and worry they didn't take a second look. —Grit

Harold—I told my girl if she didn't accept my marriage proposal I was going out and throw myself in front of the first passing blonde.

The widower said he'd marry again, but wither was almost over.

It's true that "speed kills." But it's also true that really slow drivers breed speeders among other drivers who itch to get past. The man who drives too fast, or too slow, is like the soldier who said that everyone was out of step but himself.

Marital Evolution

When we were young, I fell for Because he was handsome and clever.
And now though he's bald and I've heard all his jokes,
I still love him more than ever.

Robert—Went coupering last night.

Miller—Good time?

Robert—Fair. She did the cooking while I did the paying.

A Vermont girl was spending her vacation in Florida. She had been there only a few hours when a gentleman asked her out to dinner and also to spend the night in his apartment. Rather skeptically she replied—"So this is the famous Southern Hospitality the girls back home were raving about!"

A nudist is a person who obviously wouldn't be too upset over a raw deal.

Almost Incredible

In 156 years in the United States the 32 residents from George Washington to the end of Franklin D. Roosevelt's second term spent $170,620,113,645, according to the Reader's Digest.

In less than five years President Truman's administration has spent $191,081,594,191.

The extraordinary war expenditures from 1941 to 1945 are not included in either of the above amounts.

So, in five years President Truman has spent almost $11,500,000,000 more than all the other 32 presidents combined.

That goes a long way in explaining why American taxpayers are hollering for tax reduction.

High—Aren't people funny?

Hank—Yes. If you tell a man that there are 270,678,934,341 stars in the universe he'll believe you—but if a sign says "Fresh Paint," that same man has to make a personal investigation.

She—How dare you strike a defenseless woman.

He—Let me up and I'll show you.

St. John's Church Being Decorated

Painting Contractor John I. Olsson and his employees are busy decorating the sanctuary and altar of St. John's church, on Goliway street, and hope to have the work completed for the Sunday services. For nearly ten years the color on the sanctuary walls has been a deep pink shade. A much lighter and more cheerful tint is being used, with gold leaf applied to the white altar, which has also been redecorated.

Sunday afternoon the traditional Opiatek supper will be served in the parish hall, following the installation of the different chairmen and committees of the various organizations of the church: namely the trustees, the Ladies of the Adoration Sodality, of which Mrs. Genevieve Wojnarowicz is president and Mrs. Katherine Rubacha, vice president; the Young Ladies Friendship Club and St. John's Lutnia choir.

Members of the Adoration Sodality will prepare and serve the supper, which will feature the Polish dish, Golabki, and all that goes with it.

All parishioners of St. John's church will be welcome to attend this traditional festival, and this includes the grandparents as well as members of the third generation.

Geaney Slated For Key Post In Legislature

Picked as Senate Clerk Of the Appropriations Committee; Shelters To Cost 20 Million

Hartford, Jan. 12 —(AP)— Former Deputy State Comptroller John J. Geaney is slated for the important post of Senate Clerk of the Legislature's Appropriations Committee.

Selection of Geaney, a top Democratic source said, is based on the belief he is the best informed state fiscal expert available to that party.

Geaney, a resident of Nichols, has had considerable experience as Deputy to Raymond S. Thatcher, who left his Comptroller's post Jan. 3 when the new Republican Administration took over.

Bostic Relied on Him

During that period then-Governor Bowles relied heavily on Geaney's monthly and quarterly reports on the state fiscal picture. It was his figures that were back of Bowles' claim that the State faces only a modest deficit of around $800,000 next June 30 when it closes its books. This figure was recently challenged by the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council which said the deficit might run as high as $11,000,000.

No salary has been set for Geaney's services which will run from Feb. 1 until June when the session closes. But officials believe it will run from $5,000 to $5,500. Two years ago Democrats used Penn Kimball of New Britain as Senate Appropriations Clerk.

House Clerk for the committee, to be selected by Republicans, has not been named.

Election is "Official"

The Appropriations Committee, through whose hands all agency requests for funds during the coming two year period must come, is considered as one of the three key committees of the Legislature. Others are the Finance and Judiciary committees.

Meanwhile the Democratic controlled State Senate finally has made it official: John Lodge WAS elected Governor on November 7.

Rail Wreck Victims Plagued by "Chasers"

B-29 Falls In Flames, Six Killed

Official Says LIRR Crashes Produced Flagrant Examples of "Outrageous" Fees

Five Parachute to Safety from Craft Dropping Through Overcast Over Texas

Seguin, Tex., Jan. 12—(AP)—A B-29 Superfortress—groping blindly through an overcast—crashed in flames last night, killing six men.

Five other men aboard parachuted to safety. Only one of the five was injured.

Capt. Norman A. Rivera, 27, of Los Angeles, the pilot, said the plane was returning to Randolph Air Force Base from a seven hour training flight. He said at 8,000 feet he cut off the automatic pilot and began flying on instruments as he started to let down through the overcast.

"Suddenly my flight instruments went out," he said. "I couldn't reach my mike so I hit the emergency bell and released cabin pressure in the navigator's compartment enabling the men down there to get out. I locked the emergency bell down and went out the nose wheel door."

The plane crashed ten miles southwest of Seguin, Randolph Air Base is some 18 miles from San Antonio, Tex.

Names of two of the dead, whose widows live in San Antonio, were released last night. They were

Official Says Crashes Produced Flagrant Examples of "Outrageous" Fees

Mineola, N. Y., Jan. 12—(AP)—Nassau County District Attorney Frank A. Gulotta reports "flagrant examples" of ambulance-chasing and "outrageous" legal fees after the two disastrous 1950 wrecks on the Long Island Rail Road.

The prosecutor charged yesterday that some unscrupulous lawyers had attempted to "prey on the misery" of relatives and victims.

He said some lawyers visited hospitals while the victims still were under anesthesia.

Complaints

He said his week-old investigation grew from complaints received from both victims and lawyers connected with claims for damages for death or injury.

A wreck last Feb. 17 at Rockville Centre, Nassau county, killed 32 persons and last Thanksgiving Eve at Richmond Hill, New York City, killed 79. Hundreds of others were injured.

A $6,000,000 safety program for the railroad was approved yesterday in U. S. Court, Brooklyn.

The District Attorney's investigation will continue indefinitely under direction of a special bureau cooperating with the Nassau County Police Department.

Evidence Is Key Group

Evidence of overcharging by lawyers will be turned over to the Nassau County Bar Association, which has promised cooperation. Ambulance chasing—solicitation of accident cases in an illegal manner by lawyers or their agents—is punishable by a year in jail, $500 fine or both.

The new safety program was approved by Federal Judge Harold M. Kennedy, who is in charge of the line's bankruptcy proceedings. The program was outlined at a hearing by William H. Draper, Jr., who was appointed substitute trustee of the railroad after the Thanksgiving Eve disaster.

To Install Speed Control

Some immediate and some long-range projects are included in the program. They are:

1. Immediate installation of train speed control devices on 44 miles of the railroad.

2. Installation of more train-stop trippers on the Atlantic branch between Brooklyn and Jamaica, the main connecting point, as soon as approval can be obtained from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

3. Expenditure of $150,000 to work out an over-all, long-range safety program.

Plane Bomber Dies Boasting

Canadian's Plot to Kill Wife, Collect Insurance Nearly Worked

Montreal, Jan. 12—(AP)—J. Albert Guay, the little Quebec jewelier whose yen for quick riches led him to kill his wife and 22 others by time-bombing an airliner, died on the gallows in Bordeaux Prison today.

Guay, convicted of a plot to get his wife's insurance, mounted the scaffold at 12:36 a.m. (e. s. t.) and seven minutes later he was pronounced dead.

To the last, Guay retained his yearning for public attention. Informants said he boasted to the guards, shortly before he was led to the gallows, "at least I die famous."

Guay was convicted of having a bomb placed on a Quebec Airways plane, which exploded and

St. Louis Restaurant Man Father of Egyptian King's Favorite

Paris, Jan. 12—(AP)—William S. Medart, St. Louis restaurant man, plunged to death from a Paris hotel window today. His family said he leaped from the window shortly after midnight.

Medart, 46, was the father of Mimi Medart, 17, whose name was linked romantically with King Farouk of Egypt last September. She told a reporter that her father had been depressed over world affairs and had been insisting that the family return to the United States. She said the other members of the family disagreed with him and wanted to remain abroad. She said she has signed a contract to make a motion picture in Spain.

New England Steel Mill Gets Necessity Certificate

Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—The New England Steel Development Corporation, which proposes to build a $250,000,000 steel plant at New London, Conn., has been issued a certificate of necessity.

The certificate was issued yesterday by Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board, under the Internal Revenue Act of 1950. This provides for accelerated tax authorization on facilities created or expanded for defense work.

Some million and a half of steel ingots and 710,000 net tons of strip mill products would be produced annually in the proposed blast furnace and open hearth plant.

The application for the tax benefit was made on behalf of the corporation by its president, Clifford S. Strike.

Asks Probe of Alleged Black Market in Korea

Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—Representative Mansfield (D, Mont.), today asked an immediate investigation of an American GI's complaint that U. S. supplies are being sold at fantastic prices on the black market in Korea.

A letter from the soldier, which Mansfield read to the House, said GI beer was being sold in Korean groceries at $1.25 a can, liquor at $35 a fifth, and medicinal brandy at 75 cents for a two-ounce shot. He also said GI clothing was being peddled in Korean shops.

Nation Readies A Non-Military Loan to Spain

Congress Has Okayed Credits Up to Sixty-Two Million Dollars; Plan No Military Aid

Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—The U. S. was reported today about ready to make an economic recovery loan to Spain when as yet unwilling to give any substantial aid in building up Generalissimo Franco's military forces.

Preliminary negotiations for a loan have been completed by the Export-Import Bank with Thomas Suner, Undersecretary of the Spanish Foreign Ministry. Officials forecast an early decision by the bank.

Spain is asking $60,000,000 largely for fertilizer and for mining and transportation equipment. Congress last summer authorized credits up to $62,500,000 to Spain.

Vatican Rule Is Clarified

Decree Forbidding Catholic Clergy to Join Rotary Is General

Vatican City, Jan. 12—(AP)—A Vatican degree forbidding Catholic clergy to join Rotary International, it was explained today, applies equally to such a similar organizations as Kiwanis, the Lions and other civic groups.

A member of the congregation of the sacred office, which drew up the decree, said the document reiterated the church's preference that Catholic laymen and women associates themselves with Catholic church-sponsored or recommended organizations, such as the Knights of Columbus.

The member said the decree, published yesterday in the Vatican weekly "L'Osservatore Romano," is a general directive and neither a condemnation of Rotary nor an imperative to membership in Catholic laymen in the organization.

Approved by Pope

The decree was approved by Pope Pius XII, who is prefect of the congregation, one of 11 such bodies that govern church affairs.

The decree, this source said, is explicit insofar as it regards

See U. N. Okay Of Final Peace Bid Late Today

U. S. Approves Plan Calling for Parley on Admitting Red China To United Nations

Lake Success, Jan. 12—(AP)—The United Nations drove toward a vote today on a final peace bid to Communist China offering a political conference on Far Eastern problems in return for a cease-fire in Korea.

The United States accepted the plan Russia, which seemed to be a stall for time, expressed coolness toward it.

Non-Communist spokesmen made it plain that if Peiping rejects this offer, the Reds can expect no further overtures and the war will go on.

Expect Peiping Veto

Diplomats here held little hope that China's Communists would agree to the proposals. They felt, however, the effort was worth while if only as a demonstration that the U.N. had explored the last possible avenue to peace.

The five-point plan, drafted by the Cease-Fire Commission members Nasrollah Entezam of Iran, Sir Benegal N. Rau of India and Canada's Lester B. Pearson, will be put before the 60-nation Political Committee in a resolution late this afternoon.

Sponsors hoped for a vote before today's session ends. General Assembly approval of the resolution also could come today, since the Assembly can be called merely by adjourning the committee, then convening its parent body in the same room.

Malik Seeks Time

Announcement of the plan yesterday brought from Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik the charge that it was an ultimatum. Malik, however, did not completely close the door. He said he needed more time to study the proposals.

Explaining U. S. approval, American Delegate Warren R. Austin said the proposals restated the principle that a cease-fire must precede negotiations. He added the U. S. wanted to maintain the unity of the United Nations.

Rejection of the proposals, Austin added, will cause the U. S. to pursue its original plan to demand that the U. N. brand Red China as an aggressor and call for her punishment.

U. S. Will Fight

This view was strongly supported by Britain's Sir Gladwyn Jebb. He said that "if the present effort to end the crisis today ended in failure, the U. S. would be entirely justified in continuing the fight against the Communist Chinese."

Guessing around Capitol Hill is that the President will ask for $10,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 in new taxes. Lawmakers looked for some word in Mr. Truman's economic message due today, but his detailed tax recommendations are not expected until later this month.

Study Sales Tax

Nobody pretended to know where the extra money would come from. Under instructions of the Senate Finance Committee, however, the staff of tax experts employed by Congress is looking into the wisdom of a national retail sales tax, a transactions tax or a general manufacturers' excise tax, as well as an excess profits tax on individuals and partnerships. That does not mean, of course, that Congress will vote such taxes.

Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the Finance Committee already has said he expects another increase "all along the board" in the rate of individual and corporation taxes.

Senator Saltonstall (R., Mass.) called on administration officials today to "prove their case" in proposing that 18-year-olds be drafted into the armed services.

Call Rosenberg Again

"So far they have not convinced me that the present draft law, with some amendments, is not enough," Saltonstall told a reporter.

The law now requires registration of all men of 18 but restricts actual induction to those 19 through 25 years old. The Defense Department wants the age minimum lowered by one year to help meet the accelerated preparedness program.

Saltonstall is one of the senior Republicans on the Senate Preparedness subcommittee. This group called Mrs. Anna Rosenberg, assistant secretary of defense, back for a third consecutive day today to answer questions about the new Administration Universal Military Service and Training bill.

In the meantime, the Defense Department disclosed yesterday that the Army plans to increase its draft call by 50,000 men because of casualties in Korea. Casualties

"Chasers" Follow Engines To Blazing—Lecture

Salem, Ill., Jan. 12—(AP)—Attendance was good at a lecture here on the evils of fire chasing. Everyone was right on time, too.

Fire trucks had to detour around a crowd of onlookers who beat them to a blaze Wednesday night. Police and firemen put their heads together. What could be done about it?

A false fire alarm was turned in. Sirens screaming, fire trucks raced into a dead-end street. Interested motorists followed. They came the police, who blocked off the street behind them. The fire chasers got a scolding—and a warning that the next time they chased a fire engine it would mean a fine.

Allies Crumple Red Offensive South of Wonju

But Large Enemy Force Flanks Advanced U. N. Position, Imperiling Central Korea Stand

Tokyo, Jan. 12—(AP)—Blistering Allied air strikes and artillery barrages crumpled a Red Korean attack near Wonju today. But another Communist force striking 30 miles behind this Allied position threatened the entire United Nations stand in central Korea.

The deep-striking Red column skirted an American-French-Dutch line in the Wonju area. It fought several sharp clashes with Allied patrols on the outskirts of to Tanyang, 37 miles southeast of Wonju.

The flanking Reds set up a roadblock, mined a vital supply highway and poured a half of small arms fire into an Allied force sent out to clear the route.

Ram Deep Wedge

Two North Korean divisions — the Sixth and 10th—were ramming a deep wedge into the U. N. positions in central Korea. Possibly 20,000 Communist troops were in this force which was threatening the supply of withdrawal routes of the U. S. Second Division and its French and Dutch supporting units making a fighting stand just south of Wonju.

The immediate peril in the Wonju area eased as daylong Allied air strikes and artillery barrages routed two Red Korean regiments which had seized a commanding height Thursday night.

This force, striking from the northeast, had cut across the Wonju-Chechon road, occupied the dominant hill and slammed a withering fire into the Allied horse-shoe shaped defense perimeter just south of Wonju.

Says She Won't Marry Elliott

Mrs. Ross Will Divorce Doctor; Called Roosevelt "Just a Friend"

Miami Beach, Fla., Jan. 12—(AP)—Mrs. Minnewa Bell Ross said yesterday she plans to divorce her husband but not for the purpose of marrying Elliott Roosevelt.

The husband, Dr. Rex L. Ross of Santa Monica, Calif., in a California court action accused his wife of "touring the country" with Roosevelt.

"I know the Roosevelt family and think John and Elliott two of the finest men I know," Mrs. Ross said upon arrival here from New York by plane. "But they are just friends. I'll have to think a long time before I marry again."

Saw Elliott "Five Minutes"

Dr. Ross, 42, appeared here Wednesday and attempted to take his two-year-old son from the home of Mrs. Ross, 39, arrived from New York where she said she saw Elliott "for about five minutes."

Elliott Roosevelt had been expected to arrive here late this week but Mrs. Ross said only that "he might be down."

"I'd like to protect Elliott's name," she told reporters. "There is no reason for dragging his name into all this. I think that's horrible."

Doubts Solons Will Ever OK U. S. Sales Tax

Saltonstall Wants "More Proof" That 18 Year Olds Are Needed in Armed Services Now

Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—Rep. Eberharter (D-Pa) said today Congress never will approve a national retail sales tax, "except as a very last resort" to stop ruinous inflation or dangerous piling up of the nation's debt.

The Pennsylvanian, a member of the tax-framing House Ways and Means committee, made this observation as Congress awaited President Truman's recommendation for what may be the biggest tax bill in history.

Guessing around Capitol Hill is that the President will ask for $10,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 in new taxes. Lawmakers looked for some word in Mr. Truman's economic message due today, but his detailed tax recommendations are not expected until later this month.

President Says U. S. Must Pay $140,000,000,000 in Next Two Years for Defense; Wants One Million More Men and Women For Armed Services; Urges "Pay As We Go"

Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—President Truman today called on Congress to boost taxes this session by "very much more" than the $8,000,000,000 combined total of the last two increases. The President, in his annual economic message, notified the lawmakers that the nation's security program calls for raising and spending authority totalling $140,000,000,000 for this fiscal year and next. The present fiscal year runs out next July 1.

As he set it out, this total would be for actual military and foreign aid spending plus contracting, Treasury authority to guaranteeing authority for national security purposes. Other government expenses would be in addition to this.

Mr. Truman said workers must accept wage restraints and business men must accept lower profits—that no one should seek to take his income to escape his share of the higher tax burden.

Boosts Draft Quota

He told the legislators, too, that 1,000,000 more men and women may be added to the armed forces within a few months. The military manpower goal has been a force of 3,200,000 by June 30, but only today this figure was raised to 3,462,205.

Congress voted a $4,700,000,000

Britons 'Liable' In Hong Kong

All Must Register for Military Service; Red Army 80 Miles Away

Hong Kong, Jan. 12—(AP)—This crown colony in the deepening crisis with Red China today called all British subjects in Hong Kong—men and women—liable for immediate military service.

All British subjects above the age of 17 are required to register for the service of the Empire by Feb. 1, it applies to Eurasians and Chinese born in Hong Kong.

A government spokesman said the decision was made "in the light of the world situation." He added that no conscription of under the emergency ordinance was expected.

J. L. Murray, Director of Hong Kong Public Relations, told newsmen those subjects up would be paid similarly to those now in His Majesty's armed forces. He added that equal consideration would be given to any Chinese or other Oriental British subject.

New Movie Probe Studied

Solon Believes Some Film Figures Are Still Active as Reds

Washington, Jan. 12—(AP)—A renewed congressional probe of any Communist influences in Hollywood and the entertainment world was proposed today by Rep. Walter (D-Pa).

Walter, a member of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee, told reporters he wants to clear entertainment personalities unjustly accused of Communist sympathies as well as expose any who are Reds.

"We should set the record straight both ways," Walter said.

At extensive hearings which the committee held here and in Hollywood in the fall of 1947 the names of many prominent movie figures were mentioned.

Ten Went to Jail

As a result of those hearings ten Hollywood writers and motion picture directors were convicted in contempt of Congress for refusing to tell the Committee whether they were or ever had been Communists. All ten said that under the Constitution they

British Journal Twits Truman on His Cravats

London, Jan. 12—(AP)—The British Tailor and Cutter declared slerply today that President Truman has a public duty to dress well.

And that goes for his dummy in the famous London wax works of Madame Tussaud's.

A previous issue of the tailoring trade journal had protested against the loud tie worn by the dummy, to this President Truman replied at a news conference last week that it was none of Tailor and Cutter's business.

Running back to the attack today, the journal asserted in an editorial:

"Unfortunately, perhaps, for Mr. Truman, what he does and what he wears is almost everybody's business.
