About Town

Tommy and Billy Hoboth, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoboth of Phoenix street, Vernon, formerly of Manchester, are spending the week at Camp Winnipaug, Mass., and write that they are greatly enjoying camp life.

Mrs. Philip Cheney, of 50 Forest street, arrived in New York Monday night on the Cunard White Star Liner "Mauretania." Mrs. Cheney and an old friend from Long Island have been abroad since the middle of May. They spent considerable time in England, toured the Scandinavian Peninsula and France, and report "a beautiful trip."

Mr. and Mrs. Morton E. Willis and daughter, Carleen, of 44 Haynes street, recently returned home after a vacation spent on board their yacht. While on their cruise they visited with Ted Sweeny, New York Times reporter, and his wife, Mr. Whipple, a former actor now an advertising agent with the National Broadcasting company, and Captain Erlwine in Amityville, Long Island. They also visited Shelter Island, Shinnecock, Fire Island and Sayville, L. I.

Miss Nancy and Miss Priscilla Burnham of Cohasset, Mass., are visiting friends and renewing acquaintances in town. They are the daughters of Charles Kenneth Burnham and the late Mrs. Ethel P. Burnham. The family resided on Henry street for many years and moved to Massachusetts three years ago.

The C. L. Hale Construction company of Manchester has received a contract for $47,167 for highway construction at Windsor Locks.

Major and Mrs. B. C. Jones of the Manchester Salvation Army Corps, their son Neil and daughter Grace, will leave tomorrow on their vacation. They will spend some time with relatives in Rochester, Penna., and later attend the annual camp meeting of the Army at Old Orchard Beach, Maine. Sergeant Major David Addy will be in charge during the absence of Major Jones.

Harriet Flavell and Effie Doebener, members of youth groups at the Center Congregational church, are leaving tomorrow to attend the John Robinson conference at Deering, N. H.

Claire Young, 21-year-old Chicago girl who followed the Rev. Luciano Negrini across the Atlantic to avow her love, sits with the priest as they tell their story recently in Milan, Italy. The Roman Catholic church unfrocked the priest Aug. 1, and he raced against time for legal permission to marry her. She is scheduled to be deported from Italy on Aug. 6.

See Truman Hedging On Judgeship Battle

Washington, Aug. 3—(AP)—The Justice department suddenly asked a postponement today of Senate hearings on a federal judgeship appointment that President Truman made over objections from Senator Douglas (D-Ill). The department said it wanted to look further into the nominee's qualifications.

The request was delivered just before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee was to hear Douglas in opposition to Mr. Truman's choice of Cornelius J. Harrington for one of three vacant federal judgeships in Chicago.

Chairman McCarran (D-Nev) postponed the hearing until next Friday.

Drucker Hearing Slated

Hearings on a second nomination—also opposed by Douglas—are scheduled to be held tomorrow. This nominee is Joseph J. Drucker. McCarran said he had no idea whether the Justice department would also want a delay in these hearings.

Mr. Tuman's third nominee is Joseph Sam Perry, a man that Douglas supports. The subcommittee held a routine hearing on this nomination but took no formal action.

The White House professed to have had no advance knowledge that the Justice department would ask a delay in the hearings in Harrington.

Nevertheless, the general interpretation was that the Truman administration was backing away from the showdown fight with Douglas over the disputed appointments.

"I Can Guess"

McCarran intimated that was his view. He told reporters he did not know what was behind the Justice department request but remarked smilingly:

"It just may be that someone is trying to pour oil on troubled waters. I can guess as well as anyone."

McCarran also said he had read

Bradley Field Expansion Due

Air Force Asks Funds To Extend Runway for Jets, Build Warehouse

Washington, Aug. 3—(AP)—The Air Force has advised Congress it intends to spend $2,218,000 to expand airports in three states for National Guard jet planes if the current military appropriation bill is approved.

The program calls for expenditures of $1,656,000 at the Concord, N. H., municipal airport; $334,000 at Bradley Field, Windsor Locks, Conn., and $168,000 at the Theodore F. Green Airport, Providence, R. I.

The figures were contained in a report of hearings on appropriations bill for the Defense department, just made public. The bill is expected to be presented to the house next Wednesday.

The report says the extension of runways at Grenier Field in New Hampshire for jets is "economically prohibitive. Therefore, the proposed construction of facilities at Concord is to provide the New Hampshire National Guard with adequate facilities and adequate runways for the operation of jet-type aircraft."

The justification of the proposed spending gave these details of expenditures at the three New England airports:

Concord—Runway-taxiway extension, $414,000; aircraft parking, $200,000; aircraft fuel storage, $74,000; crash truck station, $27,000; hangar, two-story, $676,000; roads and utilities, $142,000; squadron warehouse $101,000 and motor service shop, $52,000.

Bradley Field — Runway-taxiway extension, $1,100,000; group and squadron warehouse, $135,000.

Green Airport — Runway-taxiway extension, $128,000; aircraft parking apron, $72,000.

Says Radio Killing Minor League Ball

Washington, Aug. 3 —(AP)— George Trautman, minor league baseball boss, said today that an "over-abundance" of major league radio broadcasting threatened to destroy the minors.

Trautman told a House Judiciary subcommittee that a survey has been made of 64 minor league towns.

In 1949, these towns had 75 stations broadcasting major league games in their area. Now, he said, these same communities have 188 radio outlets broadcasting in descriptions of big league games.

The reason: In 1949 minor league clubs could restrict major league broadcasting in their area.

But threatened with antitrust suits, baseball modified its rules. Now, no major league game can be broadcast in a minor league area at the same time the minor league team is playing. The major league

Ferry Flight to England Ends in Rapid Romance

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 3—(AP)—An American airman and his British bride honeymooned today after a whirlwind courtship and wedding that could not have happened before the age of fast airplanes.

"I still feel a bit strange," said the bride, the former Mrs. Winifred F. Spears of Rickmansworth, Hertfordshire, England. The 36-year-old divorcee added "I'm very very happy."

S-Sgt. William Griggs, 23, said he was "very happy, but I hope things soon calm down to normal."

Griggs, stationed here at Biggs Air Force Base, proposed during a four-hour chance meeting in England while he was on a plane ferrying mission. She was an employe of British Overseas Airways. They met after someone in Griggs' crew whistled at the attractive Englishwoman and she walked over to chastise them.

A few weeks later Griggs a native of Akron, Ohio, got back to London and made arrangements for her to join him in America.

Arrived Wednesday

The bride and her 11-year-old daughter, Antoinette, arrived in El Paso Wednesday night. They were married yesterday afternoon.

New Parley On Iran Oil Scheduled

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 3—(AP)—Britain and Iran exchanged notes today formally agreeing to start new negotiations over the oil nationalization dispute.

The text of the agreement will be announced simultaneously here and in London this afternoon, an announcement said.

The formal exchange of notes, after a month and a half of bitter stalemate, took place at an hour-long meeting this morning at the Iranian Foreign Ministry between Foreign Minister Bagher Kazemi and George Middleton, counselor of the British embassy.

Both were smiling when they left the building.

W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special ambassador who brought the two sides together, was not present. He was busy elsewhere working out details for the start of the conference.

Mission Leaves

London, Aug. 3—(AP)— Britain's cabinet mission to Iran left by plane for Tehran today to begin new negotiations toward settling the bitter dispute over nationalization of Iranian oil.

In an exchange of formal notes at Tehran, Britain and Iran today agreed to the round table discussions. Britain accepted the "principle of nationalization of the oil industry in Iran."

The leader of the British mission, Richard R. Stokes, Lord Privy Seal, told newsmen at the

Shapely Redhead Smiles Her Way Into Billet At Air Force Bases

Austin, Tex., Aug. 3 —(AP)— A shapely redhead charged with impersonating an officer says she smiled her way to a four-day stay at Bergstrom Air Force Base here.

The 120-pound bundle of glib happiness wired her husband, Sgt. Rufus R. Evans of Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso, yesterday to come to her aid. There was no immediate answer.

4 Poles Flee Red Gunfire in Plane

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 3—(AP)— Four young Poles, one a woman, landed their bullet-riddled, makeshift plane in southern Sweden today and told of a dramatic escape from Red Poland amid gunfire.

They asked asylum, saying they were "fed up" with the Communist regime in their homeland.

Their exploit was less than 24 hours after 12 sailors of the Polish Navy staged a Baltic mutiny aboard a minesweeper and chose refuge in Sweden.

Hint at Unrest

The two incidents created speculation concerning a possible connection with the recent visit to Poland of Soviet Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov, who warned in threatening terms against Titoist revolts.

The four refugees today, made a perfect landing, despite riddled landing gear, at Bullkofta Airport near Malmoe, and said they escaped after a gunfight with Polish military guards.

They told a thrilling story of zig-zagging at 10,000 feet through the Baltic clouds to shake off a pursuing military aircraft. Once, a hatch flew open and they almost fell into the sea.

Overpower Guards

They crept up on the stolen plane—a crazy craft put together from a Polish engine, wheels from a German Messerschmitt, an American carburetor and some parts — at 3 a. m. at an airport near Poznan.

Overpowering two guards, they took off under the gunfire of other guards. The three men and a woman still had an old pistol when they landed but said they had dumped a submachinegun into the Baltic.

The four were whisked to a camp for political refugees in Swedish police cars.

The men told police they were all born in 1929. The woman said she was born in 1931. Police said the plane bore markings indicating it belonged to an aviation club at Poznan.

Yesterday 16 Polish mutineers overpowered their officers at pistol point aboard the Polish minesweeper Hedregfarczon and pulled

Sees Red Plot To Take Asia

McCarran States Hearings to Cast Light on Existing Conspiracy

Washington, Aug. 3—(AP)—Senator McCarran (D-Nev) said today that the hearings being conducted by his Internal Security subcommittee are designed to bring to light "a Communist conspiracy to take all of Asia."

He told reporters that such a conspiracy not only has operated in the past but "still exists today."

Americans were used and still are being used, he said, to "soften up" the will of the people of that country to resist the spread of Communism and to strengthen themselves militarily.

McCarran said the subcommittee's hearings, which are to be resumed next Tuesday, will show how this conspiracy is operating today."

Who the next witness will be was not disclosed immediately but McCarran said he expected to announce this shortly.

Bermuda In Path Of Tropical Storm

Miami, Fla., Aug. 3—(AP)— The second tropical storm of the year developed today in the Atlantic about 1,400 miles east of Fort Pierce, Fla.

The storm, with 50 miles winds and developing greater strength, offered no threat to the Florida coast.

It was moving northwestward about 15 miles an hour.

Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said the disturbance should pass near or a little east of Bermuda late tomorrow. Bermuda is a British island about 700 miles off the South Carolina coast.

"We are alerting Bermuda, but indications at present are that the storm will give it a near miss," said Norton.

The first storm of the year was a freaktish disturbance which developed east of Florida on May 17, earliest date ever recorded for such a disturbance in this area. It moved southward, lashed the northern fringe of the Bahama Islands, then roared out into the Atlantic with winds up to 110 miles an hour.

Dixiecrats Bolt If Truman Runs

Philadelphia, Miss., Aug. 3—(AP)—Southern Democrats will bolt the national party again before they will accept President Truman to head the 1952 party ticket, predicts Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi.

Wright, 1948 State's Rights candidate for vice president, said the South is opposed to the President's program which he termed as centralized and socialistic.

He said he did not think the South would accept President Truman as a candidate for re-election under any conditions.

Wright made the comments last night in a telephone interview from Jackson, Miss., when he was asked to elaborate on a speech earlier in the day here.

Wright forecast another southern rebellion if the national party follows its 1948 course. He said the national administration had Dares Reds to Send Leaders to See U. S.

Washington, Aug. 3—(AP)—Senator McCarran (D. Conn) has proposed an exchange of visitors between Russia and the United States: a congressional delegation for the 14 members of the Soviet Politburo.

The Congressmen, McMahon told the Senate yesterday, could tell the Russian people "about 1th peaceful and friendly desires" of the American people.

And the Soviet leaders "could . . . decide for themselves whether the American people want peace or war."

McMahon set forth the suggestions in a Senate speech late yesterday. He said he would like to see Congress approve resolutions endorsing both of the trips he proposed.

Wants Discussion

The Connecticut Senator told a reporter he wants to discuss the matter with some of his colleagues before deciding whether to sponsor such legislation.

"I tossed out an idea," he said. "Let's wait a bit and see what happens."

McMahon indicated, however, that he would be perhaps the most surprised man in American it agree and company said come ahead and we'll be over to see you, too.

BACKS LIVING WAGE HIKE

Washington, Aug. 3 — (AP) — The Wage Stabilization board today unanimously recommended that cost of living wage increases be allowed for all workers.

Reds Hold Demand on Use of 38th

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 3—(AP)—The Allies today pointedly reminded the Reds that United Nations warplanes and ships range at will far north of the Korean battlefront and must be taken into account in setting up any cease-fire buffer zone across the peninsula.

An authoritative source said the U. N. envoys emphasized this virtually unchallenged air and naval might during the deadlocked armistice negotiations at Kaesong.

The Communists have been insisting on a cease-fire buffer zone straddling Parallel 38. The U. N. demands a dividing line generally following the present front, which extends diagonally, from south of 38 in the west, into North Korea, for as much as 35 miles.

So, in effect, the Allies told the Reds today not to forget that the ground line is not the only battle front—that the war can, and is, daily being carried to the Reds as far north as the Yalu River boundary between North Korea and Red Manchuria.

When Allied negotiators used this lever in Friday's two hour and 35 minute session, a U. N. spokesman said, North Korean Lt. Gen. Nam Il grudgingly admitted that the superior United Nations air power had influenced Communist ground action.

Reds Hold to Demand

However, the chief Red delegate did not weaken his demand for a cease-fire line along the 38th parallel.

The sessions ended with the two delegations still unable to agree on terms to create a buffer zone. They take up the same subject for the 10th time in Saturday's session, set for 11 a. m. (8 p. m. Friday, e.s.t.)

Suggests Congress Finish Critical Air-Ground Fight

Washington, Aug. 3—(AP)—Congress has been asked to settle what is described by a House member as a critical wrangle in the armed services over air support of ground troops.

Representative Cole (R., N. Y.) proposed yesterday that the House Armed Services committee study the problem as soon as possible.

He told the House there can be no doubt that there exists very definite inter-service antagonism and basic disagreement on the important problem of the role of tactical air support.

In fact, he added, there is serious disagreement within the Air Force itself.

Gives Army Control

Cole advocated the return of close air support operations to the Army. He said that in taking this command from the Army and giving it to the Air Force, Congress went too far in its armed forces unification program.

Earlier session by Chairman Vinson (D., Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee that he had in mind a review of the workings of military unification.

Dares Russia Send Visitors

he fired at Soviet leaders for failing to publish in Russia resolution, already approved by Congress, expressing American friendship for the people of Russia.

Soviet Commits Crime

"By refusing to publish this expression of friendship by the American Congress, the Soviet government has committed a crime against peace," declared McMahon, chief sponsor of the resolution. "The Kremlin crowd are now self-confessed war mongers."

He added that the Red leaders "have now shown to the world that they are gorefully afraid the Russian people will catch on to their deception and double-dealings—that the Russian people may learn that peace is possible whenever the Politburo wants peace."

McMahon said one of the resolutions he has in mind would "formally ask the Soviet government for permission for 50 Congress members to visit Russia while we are in recess to tell the Russian people about the peaceful and friendly desires of the American people." He added:

"I'd ask for permission for these members to visit every city and town within a thousand-mile radius of Moscow—and let that government refuse such permission if it dared."

Label Claims False

A turn-down, McMahon said, would label "the spurious Soviet peace claims meaningless from now on."

Noting that the friendship resolution was sent to Nikolai Shvernik rather than to Premier Stalin because Shvernik is president of the U.S.S.R. and titular head of the Red government, McMahon said:

"The Kremlin crowd has made a farce and a mockery of representative government by insisting that communications be sent to Mr. Shvernik, who has no more authority than the lowliest peasant on a collective farm."

Turning then to what he termed "ridicule" and "contemptuous banter," McMahon said of Shvernik:

"Can the man be an imposter? Is there such an office as the president of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics? If there is, where is the man hiding? Why won't the man answer his mail pouch?

"Is there foul play here? Has Mr. Shvernik been liquidated? Has he won that famous Soviet prize . . . a one-way ticket to the salt mines of Siberia?"

Flight to England Ends In Romance

For a while it appeared that the Texas requirement of a health certificate might slow down the marriage plans. That usually takes three days. However, medical personnel at Biggs made her blood test in half an hour and the license was issued.

Forty or 50 persons, most of them from Griggs' outfit, attended the wedding. Sgt. Delbert M. Peoples of Griggs' squad was best man. Mrs. Peoples stood up with the bride.

A reception arranged by the airmen's buddies was held in a downtown cafe after the couple left the church in a convertible flying both the U. S. and Canadian flags. A union jack could not be found in El Paso, so the Canadian flag was used.

Antoinette was too tired to attend the wedding and stayed at the hotel to read comic books.

The couple left for a brief honeymoon at an undisclosed place. They plan a trip to Florida later.

Engagement

McKinney-Coleman

Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. McKinney of 57 Hemlock street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Elizabeth McKinney, to Pfc. John F. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coleman of 188 Lydall street.

Both are graduates of Manchester High school. Miss McKinney is employed with the Manchester Division of the Connecticut Power Company. Pfc. Coleman is serving with the Air Force, and is now stationed at San Antonio, Texas, awaiting overseas duty.

No definite date has been set for the wedding.

Boyle Probe Delay Assailed By Byrd

Washington, Aug. 3—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) has asked for a Congressional investigation, if necessary, into the charges that Democratic National Chairman William Boyle profited from an RFC loan.

"There is no reason for the President to delay the delivery notice of Mr. Boyle," Byrd said yesterday in a statement. He (the President) should not withhold information of this kind from the American people."

"If he does delay further," Byrd added, "the appropriate committee of Congress should immediately institute an investigation so that the real facts may be known."

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) has suggested that the Senate Expenditures committee look into the case.

President Truman, in reply to a news conference question yesterday, said he was still looking for the facts as he said he always tried to do. Asked if he favors a Senate investigation, the President said that was up to the Senate.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch has published stories saying that the American Lithofold Corp., of St. Louis, Mo., received a previously rejected $365,000 loan from the RFC in 1949 after retaining Boyle as its lawyer.

The Post-Dispatch said Boyle received $8,000 from the firm. Boyle has said he had nothing to do with the loan, although he once was a lawyer for the company.

Byrd said that if Boyle influenced a government loan, he should immediately resign his party chairmanship or the Democratic National committee should fire him.

"The time has come," said Byrd, "when this creeping moral deterioration at Washington must stop and those guilty of such acts must be exposed and punished."

Boyle has been a friend of the President for more than 20 years. He once served as secretary to Mr. Truman when Truman was a Senator, and was given a big government job with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation at Washington must stop and those guilty of such acts must be exposed and punished."

In close air support, aircraft use bombs, rockets and guns against the enemy immediately opposing friendly troops. Such operations require great accuracy and other specialized skills.

Must Command Support

"There can be no doubt in the mind of any person that this close air support question can never be successfully resolved until the ground commander is given full command over his airborne artillery in the same manner as he commands the use of his ground artillery," Cole declared.

He claimed that in Korea, Navy and Marine aircraft are now providing one-half of the air strikes. Air Force fighters for June, however, showed 21,000 sorties by the Air Force and 8,273 by the Navy and Marines. A sortie is one flight by one aircraft.

Many Army men are known to favor divisional command over close air support control, since most Air Force officers oppose such a system on the ground it would hamper the mobility of the Air Force in meeting general battle situations as they arise.

LANDS ANYWHERE

Fresno, Calif., Aug. 3—(AP)—John W. Hodgkin—who set out to fly "lands anywhere" when he dipped his Piper cub into the crater of Mount Rainier last April —yesterday pleaded guilty in Fresno County jail.

He was released on $100 bail, charged with reckless flying.

Hodgin, 42, an Air Force reserve lieutenant, sideslipped into Fresno's Mayflair district yesterday and set his plane down in a string of vacant lots. He said he just wanted to visit a girl friend.

Hodgkin remained two days in the crater of Mount Rainier, unable to take off after his stunt landing. When a rescue party of mountain climbers got within 6½ feet of the 14,408-foot summit, Hodgkin managed to get his plane into the air.

Cat Hikes 2 Years To Rejoin Family

San Gabriel, Calif., Aug. 3—(AP)—This is about an alley cat named Tom whose owner says he traveled here all the way from St. Petersburg, Fla., to rejoin his family. The trip took him two years and six weeks.

When Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Smith left for California in 1949 they gave Tom to the man who bought their home, Robert Hanson.

Two weeks later, Hanson wrote that Tom had run away, and it was the last the Smiths heard about their cat—until last night.

"Charlie, there's a big cat meowing in our yard," Mrs. Smith told her husband. "I wish you'd go out and chase him away."

Instead of running, however, the cat leaped into Smith's arms and began to purr. "Hey, Betty!" Smith shouted. "This is old Tom!"

No doubt about it, Mrs. Smith said. She couldn't explain how the Florida-born cat had found its way to California.

Old Tom was skinny and worn and so tired from his 3,000-mile walk that he collapsed on the kitchen floor. But he was happy. "And we're happy to see him, too," Mrs. Smith confided.

U. S. Blocks Soviet Grab of 13 Ships

Washington, Aug. 3—(AP)— The United States has said "No" to Russia and Canada for 13 small German merchant ships.

The U. S. said yesterday that the Russians probably got more than their "rightful share" of Germany's war-end Merchant Marine, anyway.

A U. S. British and Russian commission in 1947 proposed that the 13 German vessels be delivered to Russia as a reparations debt.

Delivery of the ships had been held up by U. S. refusal to approve the recommendation.

Summer Session At High Closes

The six-week summer session at Manchester High school, which opened on June 25, closed today. High School Principal Edson Bailey said this morning that attendance at the courses has been "fair."

Subjects offered included Eng., lish, science, mathematics, social studies and beginning typing.

Primary purpose of the summer school is to give those students who have failed courses during the regular year an opportunity to make up credits.

Eucharist Hour For Dominicans

North Guilford, Aug. 3—Anyone who wants to become acquainted with the Dominicans, as well as Dominican tertiaries and all the friends of the order, as well as priests, the active Sisters, and the cloistered Nuns of the Dominican Order are particularly invited to attend the Eucharistic Hour at 3:30 p. m. on Sunday, Aug. 5 at the Monastery of Our Lady of Grace in North Guilford, which will be offered in support of all Dominican activity for the honor and glory of God.

The Mother of God did not wait until her Fátima apparitions in 1917 to teach the power of the rosary. In 1206 when the efforts of armed forces and St. Dominic's brilliant preaching both had failed completely to bring peace in a socially and morally corrupt France, the Mother of God told St. Dominic to use the rosary, to pray it and teach it. "Me was successful for a time, the reality Dominicans have always been the outstanding promulgators of the rosary — which, of course, will be included in Sunday's Eucharistic Hour. The Monastery is located in North Guilford just off Routes 80 or 77. A special bus for the Eucharistic Hour leaves New Haven at 2:00 p. m. and also stops in North Branford.

Prison's Chaplain Here Two Sundays

The well known Protestant chaplain of the Connecticut State Prison, Rev. J. Bernard Gates, will be the guest speaker at the ten o'clock service at the South Methodist church on Sunday morning and again on Sunday, August 12. Knoth as an outstanding speaker Chaplain Gates has preached in a number of local churches and spoken for a number of groups in this area.

He has chosen as his theme for Sunday, "Time Will Tell." Music for the service will be provided by the summer choir under the direction of Herbert A. France, minister of music.

At the eight o'clock service on Sunday morning, Rev. William J. McLaughlin, minister of the North Methodist church, will be the guest speaker. He will use as his subject, "Cold Water."

Boom Peron, Eva In Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires, Argentina, Aug. 3—(AP)—The boom to re-elect Juan D. Peron as president of Argentina and make his wife, Eva vice-president was officially underway today.

Although such a ticket has been widely predicted, it received new impetus last night when the General Federation of Labor (CGT) came out for both Peron and his wife. It was the first group with government connections to do so.

The CGT said it would sponsor a mass rally Aug. 22 to whip up support.

Meanwhile, a strike of Argentine railway engineers and firemen opposed to the Peron regime entered it third day. Service on two main lines was slowed down but there was no indication of any serious effects nor that the walkout was spreading.

Cormier Families To Have Reunion

The eighth annual reunion of the Cormier family will be held in Gardner, Mass., Saturday and Sunday, August 11 and 12.

Although the majority of the members of the family are from the New England states, many attend from as far as Canada, Maryland and Louisiana.

The medal, "Honneur et Merite," will be presented to Rev. Clement Cormier, director of St. Joseph's University in New Brunswick, Canada, for his work in compiling the history of the Cormier family in North America.

Reservations may be made by telephoning Henry J. Cormier, Manchester 2-1187.

Korea Vet Finds Long Lost Mother

Seattle, Aug. 3—(AP)— A young soldier came down the gangplank of the transport Gen. Meigs with 4,736 other returning veterans of the Korean war yesterday and was greeted by his mother whom he had thought dead for years.

The mother, Mrs. Lavetta Day, 35, of Seattle, sobbed with joy as she embraced Pvt. Danny Lee Stephens, 19, of Petaluma, Calif.

The young soldiers murmured "Mother."

Mrs. Day and her first husband parted more than 16 years ago. The husband vanished with Danny Lee, then only 2½, and she won a divorce.

A paternal aunt wrote her some weeks ago that her son was in Korea, had suffered frostbite and soon would be home.

While the mother waited anxiously yesterday a Navy officer went aboard, located Danny, stunned him with the news, then guided him ashore for the happy reunion.

Dancing Teacher Attends Congress

Mrs. Rolda Gibson, local dancing teacher and her assistant, Miss Berly Castellini of East Hartford, recently attended the Dance Congress at the Edison Hotel, New York City, where they made their headquarters.

The Congress is composed of many national and internationally known instructors in their respective phases of the dance, including ballet, character study, acrobatic, Hawaiian, children's ballet and other dances, tap and ballroom dancing.

While in New York City Mrs. Gibson took special courses in methods and techniques of television production under well known television technicians and choreographers.

Mrs. Gibson is at present at the shore but will open her own studio this season on Center street and receive registrations in the near future.

Town's Budget Is Filed Today

Put in Hands of Town Clerk in Accordance With Charter's Rules

General Manager George H. Waddell today filed a copy of the 1951-52 budget with Town Clerk Samuel J. Turkington as provided in the Town Charter. The budget, which was approved Tuesday by the Board of Directors, totals $3,318,337. The fiscal year starts August 15.

Lengthy budget study by the directors resulted in only $2,088 being cut from Waddell's recommended total of $3,120,425.

With the major increases due to education costs, the budget is the highest in the history of the town. For the 1949-50 year it was $2,310,764, and the estimated cost for the current fiscal year is $2,974,043.

not soft-pedaled its Civil Rights proposal, but that a coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans had blocked them.

He listed Gov. James Byrnes of South Carolina, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia and Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, all Democrats, as likely leaders.

Wright said, "The South is opposed to the police state of the FEPC (Fair Employment Practices commission) would set up."

He added that he was retiring to private life after his term expires next January, but as a private citizen he would "accept a small part (in such a southern rebellion) if called upon to do so."

Eight candidates are seeking to succeed him in next Tuesday's primary in this solidly Democratic state. All are avowed States Rights.

The 1948 southern revolt against the Fair Deal and civil rights resulted in the States Rights ticket headed by former Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. It carried Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and South Carolina.

Wright said he was not opposed to proposals by Sen. Carl Hamdt (R-ID) for a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats. he said, however, that he thought such a proposal would involve too many difficulties to be ironed out in time for the 1952 elections.

He believed there should be a realignment of political forces, with conservative elements of both major parties forming one group and the so-called liberal elements of both parties in the other, he declared.

He said he was not in favor of setting up a third party, that he believed in the two-party system, without any splinter groups.

into the port of Yatad in southern Sweden.

Twelve of the 16 came ashore and asked for Swedish asylum. The four others sailed back aboard their ship last night, deciding they wanted no more of the mutiny and would face whatever fate awaited them in their homeland.

This was the second mutiny aboard a Communist ship in the Baltic in two weeks. Three Lithuanians locked up the other crew members of the Russian trawler Samsun July 19 and escaped to Sweden.

These incidents followed the declaration of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia last week that Russian fears of a revolt is brewing in Poland. Tito said it was this fear which prompted Soviet Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov and an unusual array of East European satellite leaders to appear on the platform at Warsaw recently on the seventh anniversary of the founding of the Polish National Liberation committee, forerunner of the present Polish Communist government.

A big show was made of the occasion and Molotov publicly warned that Tito's anti-Moscow government would not last long.

rence Duggan into her "apparatus."

That was in 1933 and 1934 when both Field and Duggan were State department officials. Field since has disappeared behind the iron curtain while Duggan plunged to his death from a 4 New York office building in 1948.

The Vienna-born Mrs. Massing, former wife of Gerhard Eisler, also testified that she and Alger Hiss, another former State Department official and a convicted perjurer, had competed for Field's services.

McCarran said at the hearing that he realized the names of some dead persons would be brought into the testimony and that he was reluctant to have this happen.

But he said that a Congressional committee "must present every possible fact to shed light on present day conspiracy."

"An association of five or ten years back involving a man or woman now dead can well illumine a relationship of today or aid in characterizing a living conspirator," he added.

Mrs. Massing was a witness at the second trial of Hiss, who was convicted of having lied in denying that he gave State department documents to a pre-war Soviet spy courier.

In her testimony before the Senate committee, Mrs. Massing said that she became a Communist after she had married Eisler in 1917 and remained one until 1938.

Eisler, who jumped $25,500 bail in May, 1949 and fled aboard the Polish liner Batory, once was named by the House Un-American Activities committee as the No. 1 Communist in the United States. Mrs. Massing said she left him in 1923 and divorced him a year or two later.

REFUND—AND A HALF

Washington, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Jay Biesser, 18-year-old Rockville, Md., high school student, asked the government for a tax refund of $21.85. He got a government check for $508,668.26!

Calling yesterday to find out what it was all about, Biesser was told it was all a big mistake. A Treasury department spokesman said a check writing machine operator probably punched the serial number instead of the correct amount.

gram continued today (9:30 a. m. E.S.T.) before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees. The House Foreign Affairs committee has begun writing its aid bill.

An additional issue was passed to the Senate group yesterday when the House passed a bill which would cut off most U. S. aid to foreign nations sending war supplies to Russia or her satellites.

This bill sped through the House on a voice vote. It duplicates in part an earlier measure passed by both the House and Senate as part of an appropriations bill.

Authored by Senator Kem (R-Mo), it directed an immediate halt in U. S. aid to nations that refuse to cut off trade in war potential supplies with iron curtain nations.

President Truman suspended action on the Kem rider it odd days and his advisors then prepared the substitute the House passed yesterday.

Charge Gordon On Dope Count

pol said that if Gordon is tried and convicted in Federal Court in New York state he could be sent to prison for life as a fourth offender under state law.

Had Pure Heroin

Saypol said the four prisoners had pure heroin worth $100,000 when diluted and sold in the underworld retail market.

All four were charged with violation of the federal narcotics laws at a narraignment which lasted from 1:30 a. m. to 2:30 a. m. (e.s.t.).

Waxey Gordon— Born Irving Wexler—was named by Saypol as "the source for the West Coast" of dope arriving here on ships from Europe and the Near East.

Gordon and his three co-defendants, all New Yorkers, were seized on Manhattan's East Side last night by ten federal agents and city detectives.

The bail set by U. S. Commissioner Edward W. McDonald:

Gordon—$250,000; Samuel Kass, 39, who gave his occupation as Katz, alias Benjamin Kassop, 45, an unemployed machinist, $100,000; and Arthur Repola, 23, an unemployed chauffeur, $50,000.

Saypol told the commissioner that Gordon received narcotics from the other three men after it arrived on ships.

Gordon had been operating in the dope racket for "several years," Saypol said.

The U. S. Attorney did not make public any of the racketeer's alleged West Coast dope dealings, but said he was implicated with other persons convicted on the West Coast.

San Francisco, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Three men, including two who have been named as West Coast heads of a big narcotics ring, are under indictment today by a Federal Grand Jury on charges of sale, concealment and transportation of narcotics.

They are Abe (The Trigger) Chapman and William Levin, already under indictment on a similar charge, and Frank (Blackie) McKee, identified by the U. S. Attorney's office as a former Alcatraz convict and member of the Roger Touhy gang of the 1930s.

Irving Saypol, U. S. Attorney in New York, has identified Chapman and Levin as West Coast leaders of a ring distributing heroin in packages bearing brand names.

The four-count indictment yesterday was based on an offense the government charged took place here April 12. Conviction would subject each man to a possible maximum of 30 years imprisonment and $24,000 fine.

McKee was arrested at his home and held in lieu of $25,000 bail. Levin presently is free on $25,000 bail set after a narcotics indictment in May, while Chapman is free on bail of $50,000 bail in the same case.

Flood Relief Quota $1,200

Chairman Edgar Clarke Appoints Members of His Drive Committee

Manchester's quota for the Flood Relief Drive to be held August 9, 10 and 11 will be $1,200, Edgar Clarke, chairman of the Drive, announced today. This is Manchester's proportionate share of a nation-wide quota of $5,000,000 which is sought in the first special disaster appeal to be made since the New England hurricane of 1938.

Mr. Clarke also announced that the members of his Flood Drive committee will be Jacob F. Miller vice-chairman; Elmer Weden, treasurer; Wells C. Dennison, Mrs. Allan Bours, Arnold C. Thompson, Mrs. Kathleen Thompson, Dr. Allan Bours, Arnold C. Thompson, Mrs. Kathleen Thompson, Dr. Ethel W. Berr of Main street and Mr. Herbert McKinney, Earl Yost, Horace Murphy, Father John Hannon and William Cooper.

Because of the urgent need for relief funds for the flood victims the main solicitation will be carried on by letter and by volunteer collectors who will cover the downtown street next Thursday evening, Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. 1,200 letters are being sent out today by the committee asking for contributions to be in the hands of Red Cross office, 953 Main street.

Manchester residents who are not directly solicited are asked to send in their gifts as soon as possible to the Flood Relief Drive, Manchester Evening Herald his city Editor offered to cooperate with the drive by publishing the names of contributors as the donations are received.

There will be a special Entertainment Rally at Center Park at 9:00 p.m. Thursday evening, August 9. Talent is being arranged by the Insurance Entertainment Bureau in addition to the Travelers' Clown Troop under the direction of Arnold C. Thompson. Horace Murphey will be in charge of the staging of the show and William Cooper, local insurance agent, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Mr. Clarke also asked for volunteers to help with the street solicitation next weekend. There will be Forty Girl Scouts working on Saturday morning for whom adult supervision is needed. If any of the mothers of these Scouts or other women would be good enough to volunteer their assistance they are requested to call 5111 to give their names.

Women volunteers are also needed for Friday afternoon solicitation. The Flood Relief Committee will be very grateful for the cooperation of any public-spirited volunteers to help in this emergency drive.

Ellington

The Rev. John C. Miller, the pastor of the Ellington Congregational church for the past "six years preached his final sermon as the pastor of Ellington Congregational church, Sunday July 29. He resigned to take effect July 31. Mr. Miller is now pastor e. eritus of the Ellington church and following his vacation will move to a new home as soon as it is finished in Greenwich, Conn.

Mrs. Barbara Patterson who has been visiting her sister Mrs. Frederick H. Arens of Maple street has returned to her home in Springfield.

Fred M. Wilcox and daughter with his sisters Mrs. Clara Prout and Mrs. Jennie Hazard of Suffield visited the new home of Mrs. Ethel W. Berr of Main street on Sunday.

A copy of the new book "Miracle at Carville "by Betty Martin, has recently been presented to the Hall Memorial Library by Hathaway-Miller Post, American Legion Auxiliary.

The following cases were tried in the Ellington Justice Court on Monday night, before Justice of the A. Goehring. Francis Raymond of Ellington, was found guilty of breach of the peace, for which he was fined $5 on each count, Clifford Lake was charged with operation of a motor vehicle without a license, also driving an unregistered car. Smith was fined $5 on each of the above counts. Arthur Bertoli of Ellington was charged with violations of the rules of the road and was fined $10. Ivan Thompson of Lancaster, was also fined $10 for the violations of the rules of the road. Michael Beigin of Hartford was arrested for driving a motor vehicle when intoxicated and was fined $100 with $50 being remitted on Luther Babbitt of Somers arrested for reckless driving was fined $50. Stephen Lendson of Ludlow, Mass., was arrested for evading responsibility, reckless driving and breach of the peace. This case was continued to Thursday, August 30.

Mrs. E. Howard Lane of Job's Hill and two daughters have been spending a few days at Hammonasset.

The Northern Connecticut Grange softball championship was won this year by Coventry Grange. The cup that Ellington has held for two successive years will be given to Coventry.

The Ellington Grange team has been the champion for five years in succession. Ellington has a cup that they will always keep having won that three years in succession.

Beginning the sixth day of August the Hall Memorial Library will be closed for two weeks while the librarian Miss Nellie McKnight is on her vacation.

Danbury Man Hurt In Aerial Jump

Missoula, Mont., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Aerial rescue teams brought three smoke jumpers to medical attention here yesterday after they were injured on fire jumps.

James Russell Forbes of Danbury, Conn., was injured in a jump to a fire in the Salmon River area of the Bitter Root forest in Idaho.

Forbes received injuries to both ankles and his left knee in an 80-foot fall from a tree in which he landed. He was flown to Salmon, Idaho, by helicopter and here by airplane. He was reported in good condition at a hospital here.

The other injured jumper was not reported in serious condition.

Reuter Assails McCloy's Order

Berlin, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Mayor Ernst Reuter today assailed as "one of the worst things that has happened to Berlin" an American order that he instruct a Berlin court to reverse its verdict against an American-Soviet agent accused of having delivered Germans into Russian captivity.

Reuter told the City Parliament yesterday he had defied the order from U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy on constitutional grounds. He said he had no power to intervene with an independent court and that the court itself must decide if it would obey.

This morning the Mayor called a news conference for foreign correspondents to add his personal comments on the case, which has damaged German-American relations in the outpost city.

The agent, Hans Kemritz, worked for the Russians and American spies in the early years of the occupation. A Berlin court, acting under American directives, has assessed heavy monetary damages against Kemritz in favor of a German widow who charged the agent had lured her husband to an east sector and eventual death in a Soviet prison.

Explaining his own defiance of the American order, Reuter said:

"I am confronted with a situation I find utterly incomprehensible. I don't understand how any body could give to the Mayor of Berlin an order which would be impossible to execute in any democratic country—an order to interfere with an independent court.

"I feel that this is one of the worst things that has happened here in Berlin. We have had some differences before, among ourselves and with the Allies, concerning my powers, but this is the first political difference."

Red Curbs Force Baby Berlin Airlift

"baby airlift" might grow. Unofficial quarters talked of a goal of 300 tons daily but everyone hoped the Russians would soon back down.

Under the present plans the city government engages the air space for the exporting firms and accepts the freight bills. No announcement had been made about payment of the increased freight costs, but it was generally understood they would be met with ECA aid or counterpart funds.

The Communist press yesterday took first notice of the commercial airlift with an editorial in the Berliner Zeitung.

The Zeitung said it was all "a profiteering scheme" which would be unnecessary, if West Berlin firms met Soviet demands to present certificates of origin for their products. The newspaper said that such certificates would show they had made West Berlin products or are manufactured from materials "smuggled out of (Soviet) East Germany."

The West has refused to deliver such certificates and, in an attempt to make the Russians retreat on the issue, has stopped trade between West and East Germany.

Rural Leaders to Be Honored

Mrs. Percy B. Cook
Andover

George C. Dudley
Litchfield

Storrs, Aug. 3.—For their service to Connecticut agriculture and rural life, Mrs. Percy B. Cook of Andover and George C. Dudley of Litchfield will receive certificates of honorary recognition at the University of Connecticut on August 8 in exercises that will be a part of the Farm and Home Day program. R. G. Hepburn, chairman of the honorary recognition committee, announced today. The certificates will be presented by President A. N. Jorgesen on behalf of the University Board of Trustees. The speaker for the occasion will be Herschel D. Newsom of Washington, D. C., master of the National Grange, whose address will be "Rural Leadership in World Affairs."

Mrs. Cook has been active in the work of the Tolland County Farm Bureau and the county Agricultural Extension Service for many years. She represents her town as a director of the Farm Bureau, and has served as chairman of the county home economics committee and as a director of the homemaking group. She has been a 4-H club leader for 15 years. As a result of her guidance and encouragement, many of her club members have won some of the highest county and state awards in 4-H work. For three years her club was selected as the outstanding homemaking club in Tolland County.

Mr. Dudley, a dairy farmer, is a past master of the Litchfield Grange, is chairman of the county dairy committee and a trustee of the county 4-H Foundation. He has served on the executive committee and the board of directors of the Litchfield County Farm Bureau. He is a director and the treasurer of the Litchfield County Agricultural Center, and has been president of his county dairy improvement association. He is a director and a member of the executive committee of the Connecticut Milk Producers' Association, vice president of the Connecticut Farm Bureau Federation, a director of the Connecticut Farmers' Production Credit Association and of the Eastern States Farmers' Exchange. In town affairs Mr. Dudley has been a member of the Board of Selectmen, the Board of Tax Review and the Board of Education. He is a former deacon of the Litchfield Congregational Church.

GOP HAILS ALCORN

Old Saybrook, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Meade Alcorn of Suffield didn't get a cash fee for acting as counsel for the Republican Judges who won the recent minor court controversy. But he received yesterday the praises of GOP State Chairman Clarence F. Baldwin and other party leaders at a meeting of the State Central committee here. Also singled out for congratulation were Attorney General George C. Conway, who argued the case for Governor Lodge and Alcorn's assistants, John R. Thim, of Hamden, and Henry P. Bakewell, of West Hartford.

McCarthy's Sister Asks $143,500 Fee

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The spinster sister of John A. "Fish-hooks" McCarthy, who is worth millions but believes he is broke, has asked a court allowance of $143,500 in fees to lawyers and psychiatrists to care for the 83-year-old man.

The sister, Anna V. McCarthy, 72, had been accused of wrongfully withdrawing $1,000,000 from the elderly man's assets, set at between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000.

In Supreme Court yesterday, Miss McCarthy termed the legal and medical fees spent on her brother "excessive and exhorbitant." She asked that the four-man commission handling McCarthy's affairs be reduced to two.

The sister has been joined in the protest by the Catholic Chancery of the Archdiocese of New York. Half of the estate will go to the church at the death of McCarthy and the entire estate will go to the church organization under the will of both the millionaire and Miss McCarthy.

Virginia's Horse To Be Auctioned

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Virginia Hill's luxurious $35,000 home will be sold at auction here today.

The government seized the home for non-payment of $161,000 in income taxes which they claim the one-time girl friend of the late Ben (Bugsy) Siegel owes them.

The government received almost $35,000 from auction of her personal effects and household goods yesterday.

More than 2,500 persons crowded the lawn of the house to bid on items from garbage cans to mink coats.

J. P. Gehrig of Spokane got a bargain when he bid $10 for a set of cuff links and a ring. The ring, covered with bread dough and soap, turned out to be the $500 diamond and ruby wedding band Virginia was to have used to marry Siegel, a gangster slain in her Los Angeles apartment.

Gehrig said he would not give it back to the government but would return it to Virginia if she wanted it for sentimental reasons. However, late last night she said she didn't want it back, saying she wanted to start out fresh without memories of the past.

Miss Hill cooperated with Internal Revenue authorities in sorting the 100 pair of shoes and many suits and dresses in her wardrobe for the auction. She said she wanted to get the whole thing over so she could join her husband, Hans Hauser, and eight-months-old son, Peter, in Chile.

Crowds braved a bright cloudless sky to 98 degree heat yesterday to take part in the auction. Bidding was brisk, and all the personal articles—over 1,000—had been sold by early evening.

Even in the sweltering heat the mink coats found buyers. However, they raised only approximately $20,000, brought in only $5,200. Highest price paid was $1,550 for a silver blue mink valued at $5,000.

Never mind the wind-up— HOW ABOUT THE PITCH?

In recent years, the people of certain countries have been hypnotized by leaders with what baseball players would call "a terrific wind-up—but not pitch." They've listened to them make great, empty promises for the future—but they're still waiting for results. The results never come.

There has been some effort to sell Americans on some of these imported political "isms" that promise so much and do so little. But Americans aren't buying—for three very good reasons:

1. We still don't believe that you can get something for nothing—really.
2. We're too smart to trade what we know we have right now for something we know we'll never get.
3. We know how our own American system of free enterprise continues to provide us with the most and the best of everything—with more and better goods—with better working and living conditions—with more freedom, equality and decency for all than ANY other country enjoys, ANYWHERE on earth.

We Americans enjoy a good wind-up—but only if it's followed by the right pitch.

That's why, in this country, the "isms" and the "ists" will never get to first base!

Familiar Role For Germany

Our frantic wooing of Germany is having the inevitable result. The Germans can read, every day, some statement to the effect that Europe cannot be integrated, or defended, without them. They know that we feel we have to have German manpower if we are to have any chance at all of defending Western Europe. They know that the economy of Western Europe cannot operate successfully without them.

They have every excuse, therefore, for rating themselves as vitally essential to the foreign policy purposes of Britain and the United States.

A nation which finds itself essential to other nations is no longer called upon to wear the attitude of a defeated enemy in its dealing with these nations. To the contrary, if it finds itself possessed of such importance, it has a natural tendency to claim the whiphand for itself. German statesmen, today, are already behaving more like victors in the last war than losers.

They are already defying the occupation powers, in their own way. The latest specific news is that they have junked their trade agreement to supply a certain amount of scrap metal to Britain. But that, according to news from Germany, is only one sample of a general mode of behavior, in which West German officials have reestablished an insolent dominance which would have been unbelievable six years ago—unbelievable, perhaps, except to old hands at dealing with Germany.

The Germans have stopped exhibiting any respect for occupation policy. They have begun to pound the table and demand their own way. If they don't get it, they do nothing. It is always the occupying victor powers—not the occupied defeated enemy—which make the compromise. In all these tactics, Germany is safe—for it knows the western powers have to have Germany on their side.

"If they act like this now what will they be like when they have their equality and their arms?" one Allied occupation official asked the other day.

And another occupation official, a veteran in German affairs, wondered what reliability there would be in Germany as an ally.

"I feel that all of us, in our desire to check the Russians and to 'bring the Germans onto our side,' " he said, "have been too quick to overlook the lessons of 1914, 1939 and, for the French, 1871."

Providing, of course, that it halts short of new war on German territory, the cold war between the victorious allies of World War II is the greatest break that could have come to Germany. It is the same kind of break for German power and German arrogance which came in the diplomatic split between Britain and France after the First World War. From that split arose a Germany capable of launching new war. Britain, for its own diplomatic purposes, tolerated and encouraged that rise. Now we are doing the same thing again, and, for the Germans, it presents an old and familiar role. They are beginning to play it as they played it before. And if we and Russia are not careful, both of us will have lost the war we once won together.

Britain And The Bomb

Britain is getting ready to test its first atomic bomb. That will, apparently, make it the third world power to possess the bomb.

What is Britain's purpose? One has to guess that Britain's purpose is primarily to demonstrate to this country that she can make the bomb, in spite of the fact that we canceled our war-time atomic partnership with her, in spite of the fact that we have shut Britain off from our atomic knowledge.

That conduct, on our part, has probably rankled the British to a degree we could understand only if we were living in a reversed situation, and the first bomb made by the war-time partnership had been made in Britain, and all the other joint processes retained there. We have a curious sense of proper relationship, we Americans. During the years, for instance, that we have been keeping atomic knowledge and design from the very people who helped us to our start in atomic affairs, we have been busy benefiting from British progress in the jet field—a progress which has been freely shared with us.

So the approaching British atomic bomb explosion is to be something in the nature of a gesture of atomic independence and defiance of our attempt to create a national monopoly out of something which began as an international project.

British pride will be restored, and those somewhat idiotic minds who ever thought that atomic energy could be made the monopoly of one nation alone will be disconcerted again, and perhaps, as a result, there will be a more sensible atomic relationship between the two nations.

We are a little bit sorry that Britain has felt the compulsion to produce its own bomb. There is really no atomic secret, and there never really has been any. Nor is there any glory—only curse—in being an atomic bomb power. The nation which will really be the world's atomic leader will be the nation which leads in the development of atomic energy for the good use of man rather than his destruction. That is an opportunity Britain has neglected, to some degree, in its concentration on the bomb itself.

Bay State In The Bag?

After the one-two punch the MacArthur-Taft political alliance delivered in Massachusetts this week the Bay State looks in the bag—for Eisenhower.

General MacArthur delivered the MacArthur-Taft campaign speech before the Massachusetts Legislature last Wednesday. The senator delivered it at Plymouth Rock on Sunday. For good measure, Representative Joe Martin delivered it too.

The conclusion that, nonetheless, Massachusett's Republican delegates to the 1952 convention will be for General Dwight Eisenhower is based on a survey of the sentiment of Bay State party leaders made by Edgar M. Mills, the astute New England political observer for the Christian Science Monitor.

He sees such leaders as Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Senator Leverett Saltonstall, Representative Christian Herter, former Governor Robert Bradford, and former Lieutenant Governor Arthur W. Coolidge as ready and eager to support General Eisenhower if his candidacy materializes.

That leaves, as the MacArthur-Taft chieftain for Massachusetts, Congressman Martin, who is not only outnumbered, but tremendously outweighed in calibre by the other state leaders. He is the man whose Congressional leadership, together with that of Senator Taft, has put the Republican party behind the eight ball in the last three elections.

The trouble with all the other Massachusetts Republican leaders may be that they want to win in 1952.

Progress To The East

Two of our neighbors to the east have been doing themselves good turns.

Two referenda in Norwich have transformed and reformed that community's political set-up. The first consolidated city and town. When consolidation won, by a slender margin, the choice was then between a mayoral type of city government and the modern council-manager plan. In this voting, the council-manager plan, which is working so well in Hartford, and which, in modified form, is also Manchester's new style town government, won a very decisive victory. Our congratulations to the people of Norwich.

Closer home, the town of Bolton has finally decided it cannot successfully negotiate the obvious period of population growth ahead of it without the safeguard of a zoning code. Bolton has the charm and asset of space. The need has been for some guarantee that this asset will be used so that the charm and pleasantness of an ideal suburban community would be protected. The new zoning code—with its 150 foot frontage requirements for building lots in the A Zone—is a reasonable and conservative precaution. Bolton has done well for its own future.

Police Save Red On Park Avenue

New York, Aug. 3—(AP)—Police had to rescue a Russian on Park avenue last night. He was jostled and thumped by pickets parading in front of the Soviet Union's United Nations building.

The Russian emerged from the building with two others, all headed for a waiting car. When he was intercepted by the pickets, the other two drove off. None was identified.

Some 150 marchers, members of the American-Hungarian Federation have been demonstrating in front of the Soviet headquarters —protesting conditions in Red-dominated Hungary.

An unidentified woman thumped the Russian's back with her fist during the excitement. She was ordered out of the picket line by police and picket leaders.

The demonstrators previously were called "Hooligans" by Jacob Malik, Soviet U.N. delegate.

Wapping

Messmer-Platt

The wedding of Miss Jacqueline Mae Platt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene W. Platt of Sullivan avenue, Wapping, to George Arthur Messmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Messmer of Williamstown, Penn., took place Saturday, July 28th in the Wapping Community Church, the Rev. David Crockett performing the ceremony.

The church was decorated with palms and white gladiolus. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Claire P. Newberry, of South Windsor acted as matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Barbara Larson, of Cromwell, and Miss Barbara Burdon, of Hartford. Judith Ann Platt, sister of the bride was flower girl. Mr. Messmer's best man was George Lewis, of Reading, Penn. and the ushers were Donald Herbert, of Hartford, and Douglas Platt, brother of the bride.

The bride's dress was of summer satin and marquisette, with full train. Her veil, of nylon illusion and chantilly lace was caught in a Juliet cap trimmed with pearls. She carried a cascade of white gladiolus blossoms and baby's breath.

A reception was held in the Wapping Community hall for about 100 friends and relatives.

After a week at Lake Winnipesauke, N. H., the couple will reside at the home of Walter Nichols of Sullivan avenue, Wapping.

At a meeting of the Town Zoning Board Monday night, the request of Robert Risley, for a change in zone from residential to business on a piece of property on the west side of Route 5 north of Stoughton's Brook, was granted. The change is effective Aug. 10

A special campaign has been announced by Frank Masenda, chairman of the local Red Cross Chapter, in an effort to raise $1000 for flood relief in the three Midwest. The drive will last ten days and all money received will go directly to the relief of flood victims. There will be no house-to-house canvas but donations may be sent or given to Mrs. Peter E. Moran. The special campaign is the result of an appeal to the State Red Cross by Acting Governor Edward N. Allen.

St. Francis of Assisi CYO girls softball team were defeated here Monday evening, 7 to 4 by St. Gertrude's of Wilson. Tonight St. Francis will play the Mansfield Training school staff at 6:30 p.m. at Mansfield.

The total receipts for the fiscal year of the South Windsor Town Court were $3,137.80 according to Prosecuting Attorney George Stone who is also Clerk of the Court. Of this amount $2,109.27 was placed in the town treasury. Costs and fines netted $2,122; forfeited bonds, $822 and other collections, $144.80. There were 202 criminal cases disposed of by the court, 16 small claims cases and 8 civil cases. Of the criminal cases, 153 were motor vehicle, 15 breach of the peace and intoxication, 3 robbery with violence, 2 policy playing, three breaking, entering and theft, 4 non-support and 8 miscellaneous. Guilty findings were made by the court in 133 cases, 42 bonds were forfeited, 8 cases were nolled, 3 appealed, 6 bound over, two were found not guilty, 4 were dismissed and in 4 cases judgment was suspended.

Charles Enes, town clerk, is ill at his home and Mrs. Hazel Van Siclin is acting town clerk during his absence.

There was a meeting at Community Hall Monday evening of the Community Improvement Association when it was discussed sponsoring a South Windsor entry in the tobacco festival planned for Sept. 11 and 12 at Springfield.

There was no Town Court Tuesday as Prosecutor George Stone is on his vacation.

A fire of undetermined origin Sunday at 2:55 completely destroyed a cabin occupied by Frank Donahue on the William Thresher farm on Pleasant Valley road. Mr. Donahue was found lying on the ground outside the cabin and was taken to East Hartford hospital where he was treated for burns on the face and head. The Fire department kept the blaze from spreading to other buildings. Chief Enes estimated the damage including building and contents about $300. The building was partially covered by insurance. The fire was discovered by State Policeman Joseph Pilkin.

Rev. David Crockett and Mrs. Crockett will spend part of their vacation at Conway, N. H. They have the month of August.

HELD AS ROBBER

Hartford, Aug. 3—(AP)—Kenneth J. Paine, 26, of Middletown, has been arrested in connection with a series of recent package store holdups in this area. He was booked on an armed robbery charge after his arrest yesterday. Detective Capt. Joseph P. McDonald said he had been "positively identified" as the man who held them up in statements by two persons who were working in liquor stores here and in Cromwell when they were robbed.

U. S. Birth Rate Near '47 Record

Washington, Aug. 3 —(AP)— American babies are being born at a pace approaching the all-time record set in 1947, according to the Public Health service.

In a report yesterday, the agency linked the increase to a "marriage license upswing that began in June 1950 at the start of the Korean war," and said that if the increase continues throughout the year, 1951 will set a new record.

The service said 1,508,000 births were registered during the first five months of this year. This was a gain of 8.4 per cent over the same months in 1950, but 2.6 per cent below the same five-month period in 1947.

This year's marked upswing started in March, the Service said. Births in April were 13.1 per cent greater than in April, 1950, and in May the gain over a year ago was 14.3 per cent.

Hibbard Candidate In 8th District

At a special meeting of the Board of Directors of the Eighth Utilities district, held recently in the North End fire department headquarters, Walter H. Hibbard of 300 North Main street, announced himself as a candidate for director to fill the unexpired term of Howard Keeney, now treasurer, who recently resigned as director.

Mr. Hibbard is well known for his active interest in civic affairs, and is the son of William E. Hibbard who for 35 years the clerk and treasurer of the Eighth district and who was one of the prime movers in the installation of the sewer system in the district. His grandfather Edwin B. Hibbard was largely responsible for the location of the railroad station, having headed the group that presented the land to the railroad, and having built the barn that housed the horses that worked on the railroad.

Walter H. Hibbard is a graduate of Brown University in Providence, R. I., and holds a Bachelor's and a Master's degree. He is a past president and the present secretary of the Manchester Improvement association. He is a director and the vice-president of the Waterford Heights association at the inlet end of Coventry lake. He is a Past Chancellor of the lodge of Knights of Pythias. He was leader of a group of technicians in the Red Sea area during the World War II. He is a former member of the staff of the State of Connecticut Development commission and has done safety engineering work for the Department of Labor of the State.

Sunday Services At the Center

The Center Congregational church will hold two services every Sunday during the month of August beginning this Sunday, August 5. The first service will be at eight o'clock, and will be brief, with scripture reading, prayer and a meditation by the pastor, Rev. Clifford O. Simpson.

The second service will be held at 9:15, and will follow the same order as the service during the month of July, with Mr. Simpson delivering a preaching every Sunday except this Sunday, August 5, when Dr. George Roberts of West Hartford will be the guest minister.

HOW TO PAINT

Whatever the surface we'll show you the right way to paint it!
● There's a Pratt & Lambert paint or varnish for every purpose, but a big difference in how each is used. For example, you wouldn't put "61" Spar Varnish (perfect for exterior) on an interior floor because it doesn't dry hard enough to take the daily pounding of busy feet. Yet, tough, elastic "61" Floor Varnish protects wood floors for years against wear, although you wouldn't use it for exterior work.
● Bleached or light furniture should have "38" Pale Trim Varnish, almost water-clear, to reveal the blond beauty of the wood. These are only a few of the things we can tell you, before you start to paint.
Save the surface and you save all!

Pick Vegetables At Quality Peak

Storrs, Aug. 3 — Mid-summer vegetables are now maturing in most gardens. Picking them at the right degree of maturity has a lot to do with the satisfaction they provide at mealtime, says E. C. Mimnum, vegetable specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service, University of Connecticut. Mimnum finds that many home gardeners pick tomatoes when they are slightly pink, then let them ripen in a room or on a window sill. When picked "on the turn," tomatoes do not develop the same flavor as when they are allowed to ripen on the vine. "If you want your tomatoes to have full flavor," he says, "do not harvest them until they are vine ripe."

Cucumbers and summer squash should be picked when they are-of eating size. If they stay on the vines until the seeds fully mature, they are not only less satisfactory for table use but the vines will not produce as many fruits. Keeping them picked assures the gardener of a more abundant harvest. The time to pick sweet corn, says Mimnum, is just before it will be used. Sweet corn contains an enzyme, which changes the sugar to starch after the corn is picked. The warmer the weather, the faster the change takes place.

Girl Is Hit Riding Bike

Four Year Old Struck By Auto When She Turns Across Street

Sandra Auden, four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Auden of 9 Durkin street, was admitted to Manchester Memorial hospital this morning about 11:30 following an accident in which she was struck by a car while riding her bicycle. Patrolman John Baldyga is investigating the accident that occured on Lenox street near the intersection of Durkin street.

Operator of the automobile was Mrs. Phyllis Tedford, 38, of 16 Hale road, whose three youngsters were riding in the car with her. According to the officer's report, Sandra was riding her bike in the street on the right hand side of the road and suddenly decided to make a left hand turn into Durkin street. Mrs. Tedford said she noticed the girl and slowed to about 15 miles an hour. When the girl swung her bicycle, Mrs. Tedford pulled the wheel to the left but the right front headlight struck the girl who was knocked to the ground.

Dr. A. E. Diskan examined the youth at the hospital and said she had a large swelling on her head and abrasions of both shoulders. She was admitted and will remain in the hospital under observation for 36 hours.

Cyclist Killed In So. Windsor

cycle club which holds weekly meetings in Manchester. A corn roast was held in this area Tuesday night, a club official reported, and the riders traveled through Avery street.

The club records give Stevens' address as Station 16, YD Trailer Park, Weatherhogue Point. Police the address found on the motor-cycle registration. Stevens was a new member of the club.

Stevens was apparently riding down Beaslands road, which opens into Avery street, and failed to make the turn. The motorcycle went across Avery street, went over a six-foot embankment and flew 15 feet through the air before striking a tree. The body was lying close in front of the machine.

High foliage partially hid the motorcycle from view, and the body was not visible from the road.

Lights Had Been On

State Policeman Morse reported that the motorcycle was apparently in second gear and had lights on at the time of the accident, indicating it happened at night. Tires on the "bike" were in good condition.

Definite identification of the dead man had not been made at 3 p. m. and State Police were still checking. Stevens is reportedly married but his wife was not immediately available to question.

State Policeman Manuel Simon is assisting Morse in the investigation.

16 Commie Aliens Report to Custody

New York, Aug. 3 —(AP)—Three additional aliens surrendered today in the government roundup of 30 persons alleged members of the party furnished by the Civil Rights Congress, branded subversive by the U. S. Attorney General.

The three brought to 16 the number in custody in New York. One was surrendered in Boston and one in Philadelphia, after the attorney voided all bail posted through the CRC.

All face deportation on charges of being members of the Communist party or having Red connections. The bail fund of the Congress had posted a total of $110,000 for the defendants, 11 of whom live in the New York district and eight in the Detroit area.

They must produce new bonds or go to jail.

Their re-arrests started yesterday after Attorney General J. Howard McGrath announced that the Justice department considers void all bond furnished by the Congress' bail fund.

Four New Yorkers were excused from appearing yesterday, and lawyers representing all but two of the others promised to produce their clients sometime today.

The federal directive had ordered surrender in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Detroit. The Justice department warned that all who fail to report today must have good excuses or face forfeiture of bail.

Outlawing of the CRC as bonafide subversive was initiated last month by New York by federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan.

Reds Hold Demand on Use of 38th

tioned air and naval might was introduced into discussions at the start of Friday's sessions, said Air Force Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the Allied briefing officer.

Vice Adm. C. Joy Turner told General Ham II that a military armistice should maintain the approximate overall balance of military power existing when the armistice is signed.

This was the first announced reference in cease-fire talks to the guarantee Allies have said they would demand that the Reds do not take advantage of an armistice to reinforce their ground troops, or run in now non-existent air and naval forces.

Joy went on, Nuckols said, to emphasize that ground forces alone do not constitute the complete balance of power. Naval and air power must be taken into consideration, too.

Under the authoritative, but non-official view, Joy was using emphasis on air and sea might to support the Allied demand for an armistice along present battle lines, most of which are north of the 38th parallel in defensable hill terrain.

Allied warships are shelling targets on both coasts of North Korea daily while U. N. warplanes range freely over all North Korea. Ground fighting has been at arms of Allied might from North Korea, under this authoritative view, should be sufficient compensation for the Reds to agree to the Allied ground forces remaining in the tactically favorable positions they have won in hard fighting.

How impressive such an argument might be with the Communist negotiators was indicated indirectly when Ham II, during Friday's session, He said, in effect: "You insist on strong defensive positions north of the 38th parallel, deep in our territory."

And he repeated the same statement 14 times—almost word for word.

Since the cease-fire talks started in Kaesong July 10, U. N. naval and air craft have scored at will on the shooting. Ground forces have not engaged in major offensive operations.

Admiral Joy, a U. N. communique said, also "emphasized that the United Nations command would not relinquish its present military defensive position to satisfy political desires to subdivide Korea."

Maintain Stands

The Communists are insisting on a buffer zone along the 38th parallel, said political boundary between North and South Korea. The U. N. demands a cease-fire line along the present front, which follows terrain that can be defended.

Joy closed Friday's session, the communique said, by posing "several searching questions in an effort to establish the general attitude of the Communist delegation toward a purely military armistice and the resultant cease-fire."

Red replies were not disclosed.

The communique said General Ham "spoke for nearly two hours attempting to justify his previously expressed view that the military demarcation line should be laid along a parallel of latitude rather than following significant terrain features which are military important to the security of the United Nations forces."

This was the first time that an Allied communique had specified the exact nature of the deadlock: the Red "political desire to subdivide Korea . . . along a parallel of latitude" versus the U. N. demand for "security of United Nations forces" along the "military important" line they hold along the Imjin River in west Korea and across the high hills of central and east Korea.

Split In Reds

Nuckols did not comment on the speculation of newsmen that a split may have developed between the three Koreans and two Chinese generals composing the Communist delegation.

However, he observed that the Chinese showed more than usual interest in Admiral Joy's remarks Friday.

And, Nuckols said, Lt. Gen. Tung Hua appeared slightly bored during Nams dissertation. Turg sat in a characteristic pose, with his head in his hand and his back turned slightly on Nam.

Nuckols commented, as he has before, that he did not know whether there was any significance in General Tung's backturning attitude.

Columbia

Columbia Recreation Council held its monthly meeting on Tuesday, August 6, Monday night, in Yeomans hall. It was advanced to take care of necessary business before certain of its members went on vacation. Reports of Community Beach activities and program were heard. Mrs. Lucola Beck, chairman of the membership committee reported that more than 800 memberships are registered and the money from these, as well as from very generous individual contributions, assure the successful operation of the beach with excellent waterfront supervision. The Council set up the beach facilities and operates it in—what seems to be the best interests of all concerned. Daily records kept at the gate house indicate the beach is used by a good cross section of the population and that great gains are being made toward the goal of individual, one particular day, comparable to all others, 25 families brought with them, 41 guests.

The council's swimming program is more successful, if that is possible, this year than ever before. Perhaps because, since the area is private piers and cat walks and roped areas have been so set up that it is easier to handle the large groups of children. Of 157 registered for the program there is a daily average of 115 attending the classes the first three days of the week. Wally Lahr is instructor and lifeguard. Mrs. Leola Wolmer, chairman of the council swim committee, is planning for the usual acquatic which brings the swimming lesson to a close, late in August. Interest is keen in baseball. This year there is both a senior and a junior group of boys for the Intercommunity League. The seniors, their coach, Stanley Field report, lost to the meeting, leads the league at the moment. He plans to take his group of boys, about 25 of them, to Boston Wednesday to attend a game between the Red Sox and the Phillies.

The junior team is to be newly outfitted, uniforms a gift of Harvey S. Collins. They expect to have them this week. Sol Snider, reporting for the juniors said there are enough boys interested to make up three teams right here in town. They are smaller boys for the most part and outclassed by the boys in the other community. However, what they lack in size they make up for in enthusiasm and have the makings of splendid ball players. There is an average attendance of about 25 boys each week in this group.

The Fourth of July parade committee, making a brief report, stated they had found balloons a super attraction and might have sold twice as many. They felt, however, that the enthusiasm for a parade is lacking, that is among those people who have had the burden of the float building work for the past five years. Spectators are most enthusiastic. It was reported too, that ideas for floats seemed to be running out. It was suggested that a different kind of a celebration might be planned for next year. Twenty-eight council members attended Monday night's meeting. Some new delegates attending the first meeting were Miss Patricia Jones, Mrs. Sarah Axelrod, Mrs. Mary Barnes and Saul Blum.

Mr. and Mrs. Lufkus W. Robinson, Jr., Post Hill, are parents of a son born at Manchester Memorial Hospital Monday. The baby is their third boy. Their oldest, Jimmy, is staying at home with his aunt and great-grandmother during his mothers hospitalization. Also in the little one, Richard is visiting in Mr. and Mrs. John Champe in Lebanon.

Mr. and Mrs. Karel Lockwood left Wednesday for Maine where they plan to spend a few weeks at Moosehead Lake.

Mrs. Charles Stoltenfoldt is a patient at Windham Community Memorial Hospital where she underwent surgery Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wiley and daughter Carole of West Natick, Mass., are spending the week with his parents Mr. and Mrs. John J. B. Wiley at Tallbrook Farm, Chestnut Hill.

Richard and Paul Miller were once again in the lead when the Lightning class came to the end of their race on Columbia Lake Sunday afternoon. O. S. Schaller was second and Dick Moit third. Maurine Leonard was in first place in the Comet group, with Clarke, second and Mike Wheeler, third.

Mrs. William Robinson, chairman of the supper committee for Columbia Ladies Society Auxiliary, which is putting on a ham and baked bean supper August 11, in Yeomans Hall, held a committee meeting for planning, at her home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Ralph U. Wolmer entertained the members of the Tuesday afternoon bridge club at her Columbia Lake cottage Tuesday. The group enjoyed swimming and bridge, and had dessert lunch served by their hostess.

Arrest Fake WAF Officer

spend four days at the base as a WAF officer.

Arrived By Plane

Mrs. Evans arrived at the jet fighter training base Monday by an Air Force plane from Biggs. At Biggs yesterday it was learned she had arrived there by military aircraft also.

She slipped up when she went to see Colonel Lichty and asked him to help her get a waiver of college credit so she could become a WAF officer. She mentioned the flight from Biggs in an Air Force plane. Lichty had a check started on her right away.

Mrs. Evans explained two reasons why she wanted to be a WAF officer. If she were a WAF officer, she said, she would be able to keep her sergeant husband from being sent overseas, and she could "knock the pins from under" a certain warrant officer at Las Cruces, N. M.

The Warrant Officer restricted her movements to the base the day after the two were married July 23 in Las Cruces.

Pleven to Try Ruling France

since July 10 to either refuse to try to form a cabinet or fail to get parliamentary confirmation as premier.

One of the seven was former Premier Minister Maurice Petsche who tried twice. Early today Petsche was refused confirmation by the National Assembly, failing to get the 314 votes required.

Former Premier Henri Queuille resigned on July 10 after four months in office. It was a formality paving the way for a new cabinet in the wake of France's June 17 elections.

Since that time, however, no one has been able to rally enough support to form a new cabinet.

Tolland

The East Central Pomona Grange, "Friendship Chain," will start making its visits earlier in the year, has now reached Tolland Grange, the last Grange in the jurisdiction to receive it. Tolland Grange will present the chain at its public ceremonies at a Pomona Grange meeting Wednesday, September 19. Each of the Granges receiving added a link to the chain as the chain traveled to each Grange.

Old Home Day will be observed in Tolland this year on Sunday, August 26. The committee is making plans for a full day of pleasure for all old home-coming patronage. The committee making the plans is composed of: President, Aaron Pratt, Jr., vice president, Rev. W. C. H. Moe; secretary, Miss Mary Leonard; and treasurer, Mrs. Walter P. Anderson.

Patricia Cleveland of Peekskill, N. Y., is spending the summer with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sargent and son, Stephen, of Lowell, Mass., are guests of Miss Bernice A. Hall at her cottage at Lake Chaffee, Ashford.

Mrs. Zoe Beckley is entertaining guests from Alabama and California at her Tolland summer home, "Cubby House."

Seventy Tolland children have registered in the Red Cross swimming classes. The Tolland registration has been greater this year than at any time since the Red Cross has sponsored these classes. This is the first time that classes have been given in Tolland. Children have formerly been transported to Crystal Lake, as there was no suitable pool in town. The old pond on the former Edwin Crandall Cider Mill property has had the old stone dam torn down and the bed of the pond cleaned by bulldozers, so that with a new dam there is clean water fed by Paul Hill brook. Dressing rooms have been supplied for bathe. The old cider mill still standing is the edge of the dam makes an attractive setting for the new community recreation field across the road.

Town Projects Being Studied

Several Improvements To Be Discussed by Directors on Tuesday

Several capital improvements recommended by the Town Plans and Zoning Commission are slated for discussion at Tuesday's meeting of the Board of Directors, according to the agenda released today.

Included among the improvements is a suggestion that Manchester investigate the possibility of joining the Metropolitan Water District of Hartford.

Other unfinished business is the Lenox street culvert, the placing of town insurance on a bid basis, the acceptance of a state grant for the construction of the Bowers school and the report of the salary committee on possible raises for some town employes.

Under new business is the proposed amendment that would ban fireworks, a discussion of a possible addition to the Bowers school, and the action of Robert Boyce of the Manchester Housing Authority.

A public hearing is scheduled on the final assessment of the water main extension on Middle Turnpike, east, and Greenwood drive.

TV System to Go Coast-to-Coast

New York, Aug. 3 —(AP)— The long awaited coast-to-coast television hookup of stations is ready to go into operation Sept. 30, the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. said today.

The big network companies already have announced plans for putting some of their top shows on from Hollywood when the link is completed. It also will permit television viewers on the Pacific coast to see the World Series and those in the eastern half of the country to see the Rose Bowl football game.

The basic link will be by way of A. T. and T.'s $40,000,000 microwave relay system between New York and San Francisco, previously in operation as far east as Omaha. Use of coaxial cables and San Francisco already are connected by a microwave system consisting of towers averaging 30 miles apart, which relay sharply focussed radio beams from horizon to horizon.

Denounces Butler Campaign Tactics

duct of those who carried on Butler's campaign, but it said Butler "was negligent in respect to certain implied responsibilities of a candidate for high public office.

The member, he said in a report to the Senate Rules committee of which it is a part—that actually there were two campaigns within one."

Two Campaigns

It added:

"One was the dignified 'front street' campaign conducted by candidate Butler in his speaking coverage of the state . . .

"The other was the despicable 'back street' campaign waged, which usually, if exposed in time, backfires."

Tydings charged that the Butler campaign was "at the time of late" and stated that the subcommittee come to the same conclusion.

The subcommittee said the "back street" campaign was conducted by "non-Maryland outsiders" and "was of a form and pattern designed to undermine and destroy the public faith and confidence in the basic American loyalty of a well-known figure."

An aide to Butler's office told a reporter the Senator left for New York by train shortly after the report came out.

The aide said Senator Butler made no comment and had not had a chance to read the 39-page document before he left.

Fires Reported During July

Twelve fires were reported in the South Manchester Fire District during the month of July, Chief James Schaub announced today. All were still alarms except the box alarm 161 early Sunday morning at Foley and West Center streets when a mulkmat fire covered flames in a home at 4 Waddell road. Furniture in the home was burned. Damages were light in the other cases reported.

Chief John Mersi of the Manchester Fire Department also reported twelve calls responded to by his companies. All were minor fires with no damage reported.

airport.

It is quite sure that the conversations will be conducted in an atmosphere of what I would describe as the utmost goodwill. As long as we do that, we should find some solution which will be acceptable to everyone."

But he added that "it doesn't mean everybody will get everything they want."

The group — including stokes, four additional government officials and about 10 others counting clerical assistants—expects to arrive in Iran tomorrow morning. Stokes said he hopes to see Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh Sunday morning, at which time the negotiations are expected to begin.

Iran agrees in the exchange of notes that the way in which the government takes over the vast oil resources—heretofore exclusively exploited by the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company—"shall be subject to negotiations between the two governments." Previously Iran had declared the dispute was a matter between Iran and the oil company and would not accept a British government negotiator.

The conferences will take place in the summer palace of the ministry of Foreign Affairs, 15 miles north of the Iranian capital.

the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Internal Revenue and had found nothing objectionable in it and that all the other information the committee had obtained on Harrington.

"His record is as clear as a bell," he said.

Harton Ford, deputy attorney general, asked for the delay in the hearing on Harrington.

Request Surprising

The Justice department's request was surprising since it is usual custom is for the White House to "clear" a nominating for a federal judge with the department before it is sent to the Senate.

At the White House, Roger Tubby, an assistant press secretary, said Mr. Truman was not aware that the Justice department was going to ask a delay.

Douglas seeks to block Senate confirmation of Mr. Truman's choice for two of three Chicago judgeships: Harrington and Joseph J. Drucker. The Senator recommended two other men.

Douglas and the President agreed on a third judge nominee: Joseph Sam Perry.

The Perry appointment came up first today and the judiciary subcommittee, composed of McCarran, Senator Wiley (R-Wis) and Senator Langer (R-ND) finished with it quickly.

Fire In Engine Forces Landing

Hillsgrove, R. I., Aug. 3—(AP)—Fire broke out in an engine of an American Airlines plane enroute from Boston to New York late last night but the pilot extinguished the blaze and made an uneventful one-engine landing here.

The plane carrying nine passengers and a crew of three had taken off from the Boston airport here after a brief stop to pick up 11 more passengers.

The plane was over Mosaup, Conn., Frank Lennon of New York, the pilot, noticed one engine was dead. He turned on the fire extinguishing system which quickly doused the flames.

With that engine feathered, he had the propeller feathered, he and the co-pilot, M. R. Gertsen, of Moline, Ill., brought the ship in.

At the field a fire department and ambulance stood by, unused. Lennon said he had no trouble in the control tower.

Another Boston to New York plane not usually carried on this land base was routed in and picked up the passengers.

Nab Harvard Law Student In Fix

New York, Aug. 3—(AP)— Described by a spokesman for the District Attorney's office as never an athlete but "strictly a fixer," Jack Rosenberg of Brooklyn was in custody today in connection with the college basketball scandal.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor said Friday that Rosenberg was bribing three Bradley players to fix the games played in the Bradley Invitational Tournament at Madison Square Garden.

Feinberg, O'Connor said, paid the players from 100 to 500 points, but they lost by five because of last minute substitutions. Feinberg was described as a graduate of New York University who did further study at the Harvard Law school.

He was said to be a member of the Jack (Zip) West organization. West still is at large, hunted by police of five states in connection with the fixing of numer

American League Standings Are Again a Jumbled Mess

We Need Him to Win Flag Say Teammates of Joe D.

By Frank Eck
AP Newspaperman Sports Editor

New York—The Yankees had just returned from St. Louis and a western trip on which they had won eight and lost five. Joe DiMaggio was sitting on his stool in front of his Yankee Stadium locker. He had his back to his teammates, oblivious of four players autographing baseballs and Yogi Berra smoking a cigarette from a holder.

Joe was thumping through some 300-odd letters.

"Just looking for bills," said Joe. "They must be answered first. The rest of the mail will go upstairs and then I'll go over all of it later on."

He shuffled the mail in his lap, he came across a letter from Italy. He put it aside in a special pile since no one in the Yankee office reads Italian. He opened a few others upon recognizing the return addresses of friends.

The Boston Incident

The talk got around to a Boston incident following Manager Casey Stengel's decision to relieve DiMaggio, Phil Rizzuto and Gerry Coleman from further pain after the Red Sox had scored six runs in the first inning. DiMaggio hadn't been feeling well and he positioned himself in centerfield for the second inning. Casey sent out word that Joe could take the rest of the day off with Rizzuto and Coleman. Joe left the game.

Questioned in the dressing room that day, Joe gave a Boston writer a short answer as to why he left the game. "Ask Stengel," said DiMaggio.

"Ask Stengel," was ballooned sky high. The boys began writing of a DiMaggio-Stengel feud.

"It was a vicious lie," said DiMaggio as he sat there in the depths of "the stadium that Babe Ruth built" (and Joe DiMaggio helped to fill so often.)

"Casey and I have never had any words. At the time I thought it best not to give out any information on the team. We still had two important games to play in Boston.

Always Thinking of Baseball

That's the DiMaggio I know. The talk got around that he was moody as some people think. He's thinking baseball all the time and while he doesn't go around slapping fellows on the back in public he's always thinking of the team. His mates know this and it is one of the big reasons why they respect DiMaggio as "all ball player."

Here's what one of the Yankees said when they returned home:

"The boys feel that if they are going to win a third straight American League pennant for Casey, Joe will have to play center field even if he doesn't hit a lick. He means so much to us just to be in the lineup and much more to the other outfielders.

The day after Joe left that game in Boston he tore a ligament in his left leg sliding into second base while breaking up a double play. It was a painful tear, coming as it did, on the top of an old injury," said Tommy Henrich.

It was because of this injury and not because of the alleged feud with Stengel that DiMaggio missed all 13 games in the west.

Visited Dying Boy

The DiMaggio I know is the DiMaggio who walked into a Philadelphia hospital to visit a dying boy a few years ago. As he approached the door, Joe stopped. He had forgotten to bring the boy a bat or a ball, or some kind of present.

DiMag felt around in his pockets. His wrist watch, and expensive piece of jewelry given him by Frank Wallumb, Philadelphia restaurateur, fight manager and philanthropist, caught his eye.

As DiMaggio reached the dying boy's bed, he said:

"This watch is for you."

There was another time in particular that DiMaggio went far to do a good deed. He flew from San Francisco to Chicago to Miami, at his own expense, to spend two hours with the cardiac children at Mending Heart Village.

"I'll go, but no publicity," said Joe. Thousands of dollars were raised at a dinner and a ball game. They made Joe the "mayor of the village," as boast they had bestowed on Babe Ruth the previous year.

Happy Chandler couldn't possibly give DiMaggio permission to play, even for charity since Joe was an off-season game and baseball has a strict rule. But Dr. Maggio coached.

Three Years in Army

He lost three of his best years in the Army, a good part of the time with stomach ulcers. Maybe if he had been Joe Blow and not Joe DiMaggio he would have been out of uniform sooner than 1945.

There was the time he had a weekend pass. With one foot of snow on the ground he spent the Sunday at Hollister General Hospital on Staten Island, talking to wounded veterans.

Then there was last November, when Joe and Lefty O'Doul visited hospitals in North Korea. One of the incapacitated GI's said: "Here's the only guy who came around and made me forget what I've been through."

"He's just a real guy," says Billy Martin, reserve Yankee infielder. "After a ball game he sits and thinks over the game. He's usually the last one to leave the ball park."

Thousands of people — adults and kids—wait outside the ball parks, hoping for the day when DiMaggio will leave early so they can pat him on the back. But he avoids being hero-worshipped and stays late to duck the crush.

Only once did I get a slight brush off from DiMag. That was the day Al Gionfriddo, after four years in the big leagues, became famous with one 450-foot World Series catch. DiMag was peeved at himself, not because Gionfriddo was playing shallow. DiMag just sat silently in the middle of the Stadium dressing room. Not even the other players dared talk to him. He was mad at himself because had he hit another foot or two it would have been a home run. It could have won the game.

Another Fish Story

Hudson Bay, Sask.—A local fisherman just has rest to a friend.

But on the first cast the reel flew out of his friend's hands into 10 feet of water.

The host decided to fish it out with a rake.

As he did, a night watchman at a nearby mill was an interested spectator.

"What are you doing?" asked the watchman.

"Fishing," said the angler.

"They bite on that?" asked the watchman, eyeing the rake.

"They bite on anything," said the angler.

The watchman shook his head and walked away.

The story spread and now the angler is having trouble convincing his friends he isn't crazy.

Bosox, Indians Ready To Overtake Yankees

Sox Beat Browns Twice, Indians Edge Nats, Tigers Upset Yanks; Dodgers Pull Away

By Jack Hand
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Talk about traffic jams. The American League standings is a jumbled mess of Sunday drivers with everybody honking the horn to go by. Only one game separates the speeding Yanks, Red Sox and Indians with eight weeks to go.

Unless somebody taps the field noon President Will Harridge had better start drafting plans for a playoff—or maybe a triple playoff.

It happened again yesterday. For the fifth time in 12 days the top three are only one game apart. Boston won two, Cleveland won one and the leading New York Yanks were shut out by Detroit, 6-0. Even Chicago picked up ground and now trails the Yanks by six games in fourth place.

Just the opposite in the National where Brooklyn opened up a 10-game gap on New York by bombing Pittsburgh, 10-5, while the Giants took it on the chin at Chicago, 6-3. The Phillies in third place, 15½ games out, edged Cincinnati, 7-5, and Boston and St. Louis played one of those "suspiciously game," called in the Braves catch a train to Chicago, with Boston leading 7-3 in the last of the ninth. They'll complete it Sept. 13.

Great Relief Pitching

Probably the top thrill of a busy day was Bob Cain's remarkable relief job for Detroit at Yankee Stadium. The curve-balling lefty shutout Hal White's shutout—and first win—with a brilliant performance.

Here's the picture: Detroit led 2-0 in the seventh. The Yanks had three men on, nobody out and the count was two balls-no strikes on pinch hitter Johnny Hopp. Then Cain replaced White.

Cain's first pitch was a ball. He followed with three curves to nip Hopp on a called third strike. Billy Martin and Gene Woodling fanned on sweeping hooks to retire the side. The slim lefty blew down the next six men in order in the eighth and ninth, striking out two more.

Heartened by Cain's job, the Tigers tore into Spec Shea for four in the eighth, three of them unearned because of errors by shortstop Martin. Art Schallock, the $50,000 purchase from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League was the starter and loser. White and Cain allowed only three hits.

Boston popped up with a new slugger in Charlie Maxwell. He hit a pinch homer with the bases full assuring the Red Sox of their second game sweep over St. Louis, 11-6. They manhandled the Brownies in the opener, 12-1, behind Ray Scarborough's effective eight-hit pitching. Johnny Pesky hit a homer in that rout.

Maxwell, a rookie recently recalled from the Louisville farm, had hit two pinch homers before yesterday. But this was the big one, coming off Satchel Paige in the seventh to change a slim 7-6 lead into a solid five-run margin. An early 7-0 Boston lead had all but disappeared before Maxwell came through.

Clouts Long Homer

Larry Doby struck the longest homer seen at Washington since Babe Ruth hit one some 50 feet back of the centerfield fence and into a tree in 1923. Doby's cleared the 35-foot wall, 405 feet from the plate in dead center in the fifth inning with Dale Mitchell on base to help nail down a 5-2 triumph. Luke Easter's two-run triple in the first started loser Bob Porterfield on the way to trouble. Steve Gromek went all the way with a four-hitter.

Fleet Jimmy Busby hit a 10th inning homer for Chicago's 4-3 victory over Philadelphia. Big Gus Zernial smashed his 24th for the A's off winner Randy Gumpert in the fifth. The A's rallied for two in the ninth to send it into extra innings where reliefer Joe Coleman gave up the big hit to Busby.

Andy Pafko led the power-packed Dodgers at Pittsburgh with a double and two singles that knocked in four runs. Pee Wee Reese hit his ninth homer and two singles and Duke Snider added three singles to the 14-hit attack. Carl Erskine went the route for his 11th win, snapping Gus Bell's 18-game hitting streak. Joe Garagiola touched him for a two-run homer in the eighth.

Bob Rush got into the win column for the first time since June 19 by stopping the Giants with four hits. Sandy Jackson's 13th homer with Hal Jeffcoat on base gave the Cubs an early lead off loser Sheldon Jones but it took a four-run rally in the seventh to win for Chicago.

Boston needed only two more outs to get a legal win at St. Louis when they stopped play with St. Louis batting, two on and one out in the last of the ninth. Both clubs agreed before the game to stop play at 11:15 p. m. (EST) so the Braves could catch a train for a day date in Chicago today. Bob Elliott hit two homers and a single, driving in four runs and Sid Gordon and Sam Jethroe also homered for the Braves.

The Phils hopped on Herm Wehmeier and Ken Raffensberger, who shut them out yesterday, to come from behind with five in the eighth inning. Del Ennis' 13th homer assured the victory. Connie Ryan hit a home run for Chicago.

Two-Time Winner

Bobby LaFrancis

Bobby LaFrancis is the fifth member of the Manchester Country Club to win the coveted Club Championship Tournament on two occasions. The young star copped the tourney in 1949, lost out in the finals last summer to Don McKee, but won the 1951 event by default from Billy Thornton.

Other two-time winners of the tourney include Earl Ballsieper 1934 and 1939, Paul Bailey 1936 and 1938, Roy Fraser in 1940 and 1941, and Art Wilkie, Sr., in 1943 and 1944.

O'War's world record of 2:40 4-5 for the mile and a fifth distance.

Ten Years Ago—The New York Yankees dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the St. Louis Browns to have their lead cut to 11½ games.

Twenty Years Ago—Lefty Bob Weiland pitched his 22nd victory of the season and his 13th in a row, as the Philadelphia Athletics took a doubleheader from the Washington Senators to increase their first place margin to 12 games.

Runs batted in: Keeney 3, Pickral, Johnson, Hoyart, Alookyl, two-base hits, Keeney 2; sacrifices, Gerer; left on base: Yanks 5, Cards 4; bases on balls, Keeney 4, Simmons 5; struck out, Simmons 1, Keeney 1; runs in 3-2 innings; Simmons 2; hits, off Simmons 5 in 5 innings; off Farrell 2 in ½ inning; hit by pitcher, Kenney (Jones); wild pitches, Keeney 2; passed ball, Squerito; losing pitcher, Farrell; umpires, Dentlin, Brasland; time, 1:20.

Two wins in two starts is the record of the Little League Yankees in the second round of play after a convincing 7 to 2 win over the Cardinals last night at Memorial Field. Charles Keeney, ace right-hander of the Yanks' pitching staff, was at his best, striking out six hits, walked four and fanned five. Charlie also aided his own cause with two ringing doubles in the three spending Yanks. Red Sox and Indians with eight weeks to go.

Unless somebody taps the field noon President Will Harridge had better start drafting plans for a playoff—or maybe a triple playoff.

It happened again yesterday. For the fifth time in 12 days the top three are only one game apart. Boston won two, Cleveland won one and the leading New York Yanks were shut out by Detroit, 6-0. Even Chicago picked up ground and now trails the Yanks by six games in fourth place.

Just the opposite in the National where Brooklyn opened up a 10-game gap on New York by bombing Pittsburgh, 10-5, while the Giants took it on the chin at Chicago, 6-3. The Phillies in third place, 15½ games out, edged Cincinnati, 7-5, and Boston and St. Louis played one of those "suspiciously game," called in the Braves catch a train to Chicago, with Boston leading 7-3 in the last of the ninth. They'll complete it Sept. 13.

Great Relief Pitching

Probably the top thrill of a busy day was Bob Cain's remarkable relief job for Detroit at Yankee Stadium. The curve-balling lefty shutout Hal White's shutout—and first win—with a brilliant performance.

Here's the picture: Detroit led 2-0 in the seventh. The Yanks had three men on, nobody out and the count was two balls-no strikes on pinch hitter Johnny Hopp. Then Cain replaced White.

Cain's first pitch was a ball. He followed with three curves to nip Hopp on a called third strike. Billy Martin and Gene Woodling fanned on sweeping hooks to retire the side. The slim lefty blew down the next six men in order in the eighth and ninth, striking out two more.

Heartened by Cain's job, the Tigers tore into Spec Shea for four in the eighth, three of them unearned because of errors by shortstop Martin. Art Schallock, the $50,000 purchase from Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League was the starter and loser. White and Cain allowed only three hits.

Boston popped up with a new slugger in Charlie Maxwell. He hit a pinch homer with the bases full assuring the Red Sox of their second game sweep over St. Louis, 11-6. They manhandled the Brownies in the opener, 12-1, behind Ray Scarborough's effective eight-hit pitching. Johnny Pesky hit a homer in that rout.

Maxwell, a rookie recently recalled from the Louisville farm, had hit two pinch homers before yesterday. But this was the big one, coming off Satchel Paige in the seventh to change a slim 7-6 lead into a solid five-run margin. An early 7-0 Boston lead had all but disappeared before Maxwell came through.

Clouts Long Homer

Larry Doby struck the longest homer seen at Washington since Babe Ruth hit one some 50 feet back of the centerfield fence and into a tree in 1923. Doby's cleared the 35-foot wall, 405 feet from the plate in dead center in the fifth inning with Dale Mitchell on base to help nail down a 5-2 triumph. Luke Easter's two-run triple in the first started loser Bob Porterfield on the way to trouble. Steve Gromek went all the way with a four-hitter.

Fleet Jimmy Busby hit a 10th inning homer for Chicago's 4-3 victory over Philadelphia. Big Gus Zernial smashed his 24th for the A's off winner Randy Gumpert in the fifth. The A's rallied for two in the ninth to send it into extra innings where reliefer Joe Coleman gave up the big hit to Busby.

Andy Pafko led the power-packed Dodgers at Pittsburgh with a double and two singles that knocked in four runs. Pee Wee Reese hit his ninth homer and two singles and Duke Snider added three singles to the 14-hit attack. Carl Erskine went the route for his 11th win, snapping Gus Bell's 18-game hitting streak. Joe Garagiola touched him for a two-run homer in the eighth.

Bob Rush got into the win column for the first time since June 19 by stopping the Giants with four hits. Sandy Jackson's 13th homer with Hal Jeffcoat on base gave the Cubs an early lead off loser Sheldon Jones but it took a four-run rally in the seventh to win for Chicago.

Boston needed only two more outs to get a legal win at St. Louis when they stopped play with St. Louis batting, two on and one out in the last of the ninth. Both clubs agreed before the game to stop play at 11:15 p. m. (EST) so the Braves could catch a train for a day date in Chicago today. Bob Elliott hit two homers and a single, driving in four runs and Sid Gordon and Sam Jethroe also homered for the Braves.

The Phils hopped on Herm Wehmeier and Ken Raszeneberger, who shut them out yesterday, to come from behind with five in the eighth inning. Del Ennis' 13th homer assured the victory. Connie Ryan hit a home run for Chicago.

Silk City, BA's Play Tonight

Cats Can Clinch Second Place in Standings, Loss Will Mean a Tie

A second place tie can be created in the Twilight League tonight on Silk City and the British-American collide in a crucial game. The Aces have won eight and lost five while the BA's won 7 and lost 6. Should the BA's win the teams would be deadlocked for the runner-up post. Fred Whitney has already clinched first place.

Silk City can practically nail down second place with a victory. A victory would leave them with a 9-5 record and only Ridges would then have a chance to move up on them. Ridges have three games remaining and would have to sweep while Aces were losing their final game on the schedule to create a tie.

Coach Pat Bolduc will send his ever-ladened lineup on the field in search of wrapping up the pennant. Either Shipp Kearns or Jimmy Bulak will be on the mound for Silk City against George Kepler. Freddie Booth, Ike Pieczon, Star Gridiron, Brown and Nolan Lewis will see action.

Carl Lyles is ready to hurl for the BA's with Tony Berube or Jerry Kosta catching. Cliff Cox, Jimmy Griffin, Al Surovino, Bob Foley and Bob Kurz will share the lineup of the BA's who'll be out to stop the winning ways of the Aces.

Looking Back 28 Years

Scanning through the October 4 and October 8 issues of the year 1923 the following items of interest were noted . . . Hermod Bronkie's All Stars scored a 6 to 1 win over Manchester at the new park in the Bluefield section of town, today a residential section . . . Bronkie's squad was composed of Eastern League players . . .

Losing pitcher for Manchester was Tim McNamara of the Boston Braves who was then the largest to witness "a ball game in some moons" . . . Umpires were Jim Leary and Jimmy O'Leary. Both men are still active . . . The article on the game said, "Chris Leary had one of those off days and at a bad time, the fourth inning . . . The article adds, "There were several sparkling plays made during the game that kept the fans in their seats despite the chill October wind forced them from the first base bleachers . . . Manchester lineup was Lamprecht C, McNamara P, Zielke 1B, Dowd 2B, Dwyer SS, Sullivan 3B, Good LF, Sipples CF, Kotsch RF.

The Pirates football team of Bristol 6 to 0, Sherman scored the touchdown . . . Bill Jones, Skoneska's defensive play featured the game . . . Pirates lost at Richmond, Carlson LE, Skoneski LT, Finnegan LG, Cox C, Hoffman RG, Thornton RT, Harrison RE, Thornton QB, Ambrose LHB, Finnegan RHB, Moore FB . . . Bristol TD came in the last two minutes of the game . . . Bristol was Manchester Olympics soccer team played a 2-2 tie with Hartford Swedes. Mason and Wylie scored the local goals. Playing for the Olympics were Dickson G, Mason RB, Potts LB, Boyce RHB, McDonnell CHB, Taggart LHB, H. Hyde OSR, J. Hyde ISR, Wyle CF, McCann IRL, Cranston OSR . . . Manchester's distance runners copped the eight mile relay race from East Hartford to Rockville in 47 minutes, 22 seconds. Bridgeport was second and Windsor third. Mahoney, McPhearson, Ahearn and Lyons Hall competed for the winners.

Strange's touchdown enabled the Cubs to tie the Hartford Clay Hills at the West Side, 6 to 6. Cubs lined up like this: RE Vorsakt, RT Rowe, RG Hansen, C Hosue, LG R. Rowe, LT Vincent, LE Moske, QB McCann, RHB Strange, LHB Angelo, FB Wellman . . . The State champion Manchester soccer team trounced Torrington, 5 to 0. Sam Pratt booked three goals for the locals. Lindsay scored also three goals. Welsch and Greenwood accounted for the other tallies . . . Dodger Dowd and Tommy Holmes were in attendance at the baseball game at the Park that "was better than anything seen outside of big time vaudeville circles" . . . Coach Will Clarke has great hopes for the Manchester High football team.

Football, under the new rules was introduced to Manchester in 1919 by the North End Cardinals. The Cardinals were played under the old fashioned rules since 1908. Most games were played at Mt. Nebo, others at the Flower street grounds . . . Playing with the Cardinals were Joe Dilworth, Bill McCullum, Joe Arenti, Ben Kurz, Ed Smith, Joe Robbins, Joe Looney, Art Starkweather, Jim Ryan, Ed Sullivan, Ed Sullivan, Jr., Frank Edgar and Sam Mazzotti . . . Many Manchester fans wanted a team and the Tigers were formed under Dutch Rea. Rea was contacted upon but once in three years, going undefeated and unscored upon. The other standout football team was the Hall of Fame team managed by Earl Wright, and coached by George Moonan . . . In that Hall of Fame football team there was a big hit, no run hurler for Yale. In 1893 Bowers held Holy Cross hitless and won the game 19 to 0. Soccer team personnel in 1923, the State champs, included Ken Robertson, Gowans, Smith, Faust, Cunningham, Dryburgh, Pratt, McCann, Lindsay, Wilson, Little and Hamilton. Joe Forbes was the trainer and Bob Pratt president. . . Nationally, the Giants and Yankees were playing in the world series. . . Note on Casey Stengel, outfielder with the Giants, "The inimitable Casey, half lion, but all ball player."

Thinn and Dann in 1923

Thirteen rents were advertised in the classified section. Armour's Star hams were offered at 30 cents a pound and Armour smoked shoulders at 13 pennies a pound . . . Park theater (razed several years ago) listed Jackie Coogan in "Circus Days" while the Circle theater offered movie-goers Gloria Swanson in "Bluebeard's 8th Wife."

LEFTHANDED CHAMP

Youngstown, O., Aug. 3—(AP)—Ross Collins, athletic director at Arkansas A and M and a 10-letter man while in college, today had the National lefthanders golf championship to add to his athletic laurels.

The 27-year-old mentor yesterday trounced another coach, Ken Mast, 25, of Bluffton, O., College, 5 and 4 to win the four-day tournament.

Thursday's Stars

Batting—Charlie Maxwell, Red Sox—Hit pinch homer with bases loaded to nail down Boston's second game 11-6 win over St. Louis after first game 12-1 romp.

Pitching. Bob Cain, Tigers—Saved shutout win for Hal White against Yankees, 6-0, by striking out side in seventh inning with bases loaded and 3-0 on the batter. Then he retired Yanks in order in eighth and ninth in sensational relief job.

Rolfe Undecided About Future

Boston, Aug. 3—(AP)—Red Rolfe was reported today as undecided about his 1952 plans.

Before the Detroit Tigers shut out the New York Yankees 6-0 yesterday, Manager Rolfe had a brief parley with Charley Gehringer. It was their first meeting since Gehringer was named to succeed Billy Evans at the end of this season.

Gehringer again said he thought Rolfe has been a good manager in the Yankee farm system and with the Tigers.

"I certainly want him to continue," Gehringer said. He added that owner Walter O. Briggs also wanted to retain Rolfe. There has been no formal discussion, however.

Rolfe said he appreciated the confidence of Briggs and Gehringer.

"I'll mighty nice to have their support," Rolfe said. "I do not, however, know, as yet what I want to do about next season."

Rolfe isn't expected to make his final decision until after the end of the 1951 season. His indecision was due to the sagging fortunes of the Tigers this season and lack of talent available on Detroit farms last night. Frantically dressing and giving away hundreds of pounds of tuna.

Six Local Sportsmen Enjoy Fishing "Circus"

Six local sportsmen had a fishing "circus" in Block Island Sound yesterday and returned to Manchester last night with 31 tuna running from 12 to 40 pounds each. The men made the trip on Captain Glen Gordon's "Mariette" out of New London.

Included in the party were Maurice Moriarty, William Fisher, Joseph Sylvester, Dr. Bernard Sheridan, Herbert Kearns and Michael Sheridan.

Two schools accounted for almost the entire catch, with one school averaging 35 to 40 pounds and the other producing the smaller tuna. Approximately 15 more tuna were hooked and then lost as lines fouled or the fish "threw" the hooks.

The local men report they had ideal weather and all the fishing they could hope for. As many as five fish were often hooked at the same time, providing plenty of action as the tuna slashed around the boat.

Captain Gordon reported the local party made one of the biggest catches of the year.

The "fishing" didn't end when the party returned to New London, however. Most of the men were up to a late hour last night. Frantically dressing and giving away hundreds of pounds of tuna.

Dick Foley Enjoying 48 Point Lead in Twi Race

Third baseman Dick Foley of the British Americans enjoys a 48 point lead over Ray Dunnack of the Cubs in the race for the individual batting championship in the Twilight League. To date, Foley has a .487 average while Dunnack is hitting at a .439 clip.

Four other players are over the .400 mark. Joe Tripp of Pratt and Bob Kenney of the Cubs are third and fourth with .425 and .421 respectively. Bob Kenney is the only other player who has gone into the .300 circle.

Following is a list of the .300 or better batters in the league:

New England Finals

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 3—(AP)—Only two of the pre-tourney threats remained in the New England Amateur golf championship today as it swung into the quarter-finals round at the Country Club.

They were British Champion Dick Chapman of Oyster Harbors, and Ernie Gerardi of Orange, Conn., the 1949 winner. During yesterday's opening round, defending titlist Bobby Knowles of the host club, and Charlie Clare, also of Orange, Conn., the 1934 New England victor, were sidelined. Victims of second-round upsets were Ike Martin of Winchester, the Massachusetts State champion, and medalist Don Hosing of Thompson, Conn.

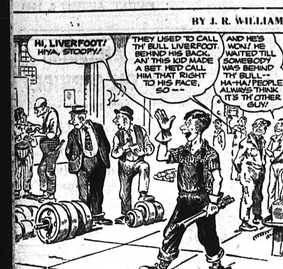
Sense and Nonsense

BY J. R. WILLIAMS



Whistler's Mutter

Though my trill is nice and mellow,
Every girl I whistle at
Looks upon me as a fellow
She could hurt a missile at.
—Richard Wheeler

In the early days of the war, the troop carrier command established a glider pilot training program in Nebraska. Probably very few people in this sparsely settled section had ever seen or even heard of a glider being towed by a mother plane. Certainly it must have been a new sight to an old farmer who lived some ten miles from the field. On one of his monthly trips to town soon after the gliders arrived he expressed his sympathy to one of the pilots at a corner hangout. "Sure feel sorry for you boys these cold mornin's," he drawled, "havin' to drag these dern airplanes around half the sky trying to get them engines started. Have the same trouble with my old tractor!"

Why It's Foolish to Hoard

No one can buy enough. It deprives others of the necessities of life. It's selfish. It's unpatriotic.

Mother (indignantly) —Why did you strike little Nancy, you naughty boy?

Peter—What did she want to cheat for, then?

Mother—How did she cheat?

Peter—Why, we were playing Adam and Eve, and she had the apple to tempt me with, and she never tempted me; she just went and ate it all herself.

Sign observed on a honeymoon car: "Until Draft Do Us Part."

The quack was selling an elixir which he declared would make men live to a great age.

Quack—Look at me. Hale and hearty, I'm over 300 years old.

Listener—Is he really as old as that?

Assistant—I can't say. I've only worked for him 100 years.

In the names of the states and the capitals of the states in the United States, only one letter isn't used. That letter is "q."

He—I wanted to give my girl a book for her birthday, but I didn't.

She—What changed your mind?

He—I found out she had a book.

Girls who are charmless find men quite harmless.

Auto Arrests Drop in Town

Criminal Offenses in Manchester Up During The Past Month

Motor vehicle arrests decreased during July but arrests for criminal offenses jumped from 29 to 54, according to the monthly report submitted by Chief of Police Herman O. Schendel to General Manager George H. Waddell. Motor vehicle arrests dropped from 106 to 79.

The report shows accidents decreased from 31 to 22 while parking violations rose slightly from 538 to 550. Ninety-seven complaints were received last month as against 116 for June.

Most frequent criminal offenses were intoxication and breach of the peace, with 23 and 10, respectively. Others were: keeping unlicensed dogs, 8; assault and battery, and theft, three each; non-support and obtaining money or goods under false pretenses, two each; and assault on a minor child, larceny, violation of the sanitary law and peddling without a license, one each.

Speeding was the top motor vehicle violation with 21 while rules of the road and stop signs were next with 10 each. Eight were arrested for reckless driving and eight for driving without a license. Parking violation arrests totaled nine.

The report shows 60 buildings were found open and secured, 27 street lights burned out, 55 open windows and 68 vacant homes checked. Four lost children were returned to parents.

Sleeping Driver Held as Reckless

William J. Murphy, of 71 Birch street, was arrested this morning at 8 o'clock for reckless driving by Patrolman Milton Stratton. Murphy was driving a 1941 Dodge east on Wethersfield street when he "dozed off." His car went off the left side of the road and travelled 62 feet before striking a tree. The car caromed off the tree and went another 160 feet across Server street into the backyard of 129 Wethersfield street, hitting a grape arbor and clothes line before coming to a stop. Damages were estimated at $50 to the car.

Couple Observes 10th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Hansen of 21 Bremen road were surprised last evening by a group of their relatives and friends from Hartford, Coventry and this town, in recognition of their tenth anniversary, which occurred yesterday. The guests presented them with a group gift of twenty dollars, a sign for the lawn and illuminated letters and several gadgets for the tenth or "tin" wedding.

Mrs. Hansen was the former Mildred B. Schuetz, daughter of Mrs. Anna E. and the late Oscar Schuetz. Mr. Hanson is a foreman employed by the Hanson-Whitney Machine Company of Hartford. They have two young sons, Peter and Richard.

Mrs. Regeanne Levesque, 32, of 3 Margaret road was fined $3 for keeping an unlicensed dog.

Arthur E. Dechard, 40, of 47½ Pleasant street, Willimantic, was fined $5 each on two charges of parking violations. He was found not guilty of failure to notify the Motor Vehicle Department of a change of address.

John Kivacs, 44, of 109 Holl street, was fined $35 for speeding.

Melvin Varley, 19, of 208 Woodland street, was fined $21 for speeding.

Dominic Gentilcore, 29, of 10 Bliss street, was fined $5 for disregarding a stop sign.

Anthony Catucci, 29, of 271 Wells street, New Britain, was fined $21 for speeding.

Norman L. Marchand, 26, of 97 Harland road was fined $3 for keeping an unlicensed dog.

Louis Sitser, 55, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was fined $6 for a stop sign violation and found not guilty of a parking violation.

Sidney Alpren, 39, of Bronx, N. Y., forfeited a $3 bond for a parking violation.

Judge Rottner ordered a warrant issued against Robert B. Rothe, 18, of Rockville, who failed to appear and answer to charges of double parking on Main street last night.

Continued to next Wednesday was a charge of assault against Walter Perkins, 39, of 80 Garden street.

Continued to next Friday was a charge of driving while license was under suspension against Roland C. Jones, 21, of 120 Vernon avenue, Rockville.

Merit Award For Swanson

Watkins Advertising Manager Wins Prize For Advertisements

Herbert W. Swanson, advertising manager of Watkins Brothers, yesterday received a Cash Merit Award in a nationwide advertising contest sponsored by the Deltox Rug company, makers of fiber rugs. In a letter received by Swanson, President Carl E. Steiger of the Deltox company stated, "I am personally grateful for the nationwide support given Deltox rugs each year—specially for high calibre support such as yours." Watkins Brothers advertisement which appeared in this year's May and June issues of The Herald were entered in the contest.

Swanson has also been honored by the National Retail Furniture Association of Chicago by the inclusion in its "Promotion and Advertising Guide" of several of Watkins Brothers advertisements and copy excerpts. The "Guide" issued quarterly is mailed to National Retail Furniture Association members throughout the country and Swanson's work is regularly selected as representing high Deltox furniture advertising.

The Fall issue of the "Guide", illustrates Watkins 1950 Home Fashion Time advertisements, a clearance ad on outdoor furniture, and an announcement of the opening of one of the many Jarvis model homes which the local store decorated in the past.

All the advertisements selected by the National Retail Furniture appeared last Fall in The Herald.

Allies Blame Reds For Korea Strife, Weak China Move

Tokyo, Aug. 4 — (AP) — Allied general headquarters statement today ripped into Russia, accusing the Soviets of starting the Korean war and of trying to weaken Red China by bleeding her on the battlefield.

An hour later the GHQ Civil Information and Education section, which issued the statement, tried to withhold publication. It said the release was intended as "background information" for editors and was not intended to be printed.

By then the statement had been broadcast on radios overseas. It was in print at least in the United States. The withhold request was cancelled.

Stronger Than Usual

The release carried far more voltage than usual Allied utterances.

It declared the Communist system "cannot survive." It referred to the "calculating, twisted intellects of the Communist leaders."

It said the free world was now on guard and would not relax when the Reds call off the tension."

It said the Kremlin wanted China to weaken herself because the Soviets fear a strong line on "Russia's vulnerable southern frontier." It expressed doubt that the Peiping regime could last. It suggested Red China might break away from Russia as did Yugoslavia.

It was rumored at GHQ that the release had the approval of Lt. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, and Gen. Mac Arthur's top hands still on the job there. Hickey is chief of Staff to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme U. N. Commander.

Ridgway himself, in a statement in June, made much of Russia's failure to give more military aid to Red China.

Hint at Split

The GHQ statement today came at a time when there is speculation that Red China and the North Korean Communists are on the outs over the armistice and that Red China wants to get out of the Korean war because of heavy losses.

"Letting China take a hideous pounding from the United Nations does Sino-Soviet relations no good at all," the statement said.

"It may mean that China eventually goes the way of Yugoslavia's Communist Marshal Tito —if her regime holds up, which is doubtful."

The statement said many of Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung's best troops "are dead or crippled," and much of his equipment is lost.

Russia's strategy has made the Chinese Reds less sure

Unknown Ship Sending SOS

Distress Call Indicates Vessel Sinking Rapidly in Alaskan Waters

Seattle, Aug. 4—(AP)— An unidentified ship sent out a distress call in southeastern Alaska waters early today, reporting it was sinking rapidly.

The Coast Guard said the vessel reported it was seven miles off the Coronados islands, which are located to Prince of Wales Island.

The vessel said it needed assistance but failed to identify itself.

On Aircraft Base

The Coast Guard said the message was picked up by a radio station at Watson Lake, B. C. It was 1,620 kilocycles, a distress band primarily for aircraft but also used by ships.

Nothing was heard from the vessel after the initial call.

Earlier, two separate collisions, one involving a tanker and a freighter and the other involving two tugs, were reported in waters off the northwest coast.

One man aboard the tanker was killed. One tug crew member was reported missing.

Savage Battle On Burma Line

Say Red China Troops Clash With Nationalist Invasion Forces

Rangoon Burma Aug. 4—(AP)—A report from Mandalay today said savage fighting is going on near the border of Burma and Red China between Nationalist and Communist Chinese forces.

The report published in the independent Burmese newspaper Bahsai broke the silence on the Chinese Nationalist forces that penetrated Red-ruled Yunnan province some time ago from its Burma refugee base.

Bahsai said Communist columns surging southward in Yunnan have trapped some Nationalists units and the Nationalist are fighting savagely for a breakthrough so they can reenter Burma.

When the penetration of Yunnan by 5,000 Nationalists first was reported 10 days ago, Burmese authorities indicated they had been prodded on their way by the Burma Army and said the

Shamed Scientist Kills Self with Snake Venom

Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 4—(AP)—world famous scientist, threatened with prosecution for mishandling University of Michigan funds, killed himself with a hypodermic one of snake venom and morphine late yesterday.

Three hours before his suicide, scholarly, handsome Dr. Malcomb H. Soule, a bacteriologist, was told by university regents he had been fired and would be prosecuted.

The Washtenaw County Prosecutor's office called a conference today to decide whether to go on with an inquiry into the way the scientist handled Department of Bacteriology funds. Dr. Soule, 54, had been chairman of the department since 1935.

Start Investigation

The regents told Dr. Soule at 3 p. m. that they would not accept his resignation submitted last July 13. The Prosecutor's office was asked at 4 p. m. to begin an investigation.

About 6 p. m. Dr. Soule's wife, Alma, found him dying in the basement of their home. He had given himself the fatal injection. In virtually his last conscious breath he told his wife it was useless to call for help.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor Edmond de Vine pointed out the suicide precluded any prosecution. He added it was to be decided whether to proceed with an official investigation of department funds.

Despite prompting from the weatherman and the contests there are two major parties' predictions as to the turnout:

Democrats—250,000 to 300,000.

Republicans—100,000 to 125,000.

Kentucky has more than 1,500,000 eligible voters, but a lack of races is blamed for the anticipated poor showing. The record was set in 1929 when the Democrats

Four Aliens Fail To Give Selves Up

New York, Aug. 4—(AP)—Four aliens still were missing today in the government's crackdown on the Civil Rights congress bail fund, bondsman for Communists and alleged subversives.

Another 35 aliens, whose CRC bail was voided Thursday, were accounted for but not all had surrendered.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan outlawed the CRC as a bondsman last month after four convicted Communist party leaders jumped $80,000 in Congress-posted bail. The court action followed the refusal of four bail fund trustees to name contributors to the fugitive Reds' bond.

Thursday's Justice department action revoking $110,000 as CRC bail started a roundup of the aliens, all of whom face deportation on charges of being members

O'Dwyer Asks Solons Reveal Rumor Source

Mexico City, Aug. 4—(AP)—Ambassador William O'Dwyer demanded last night that the Mexicite Crime Investigating committee expose "the forced whisper" which his name to a million-dollar fund transfer.

The committee issued a statement in Washington earlier yesterday saying it was satisfied with a State department explanation that the transfer was a routine transaction by Mexico to the United States on its lend lease account. The committee said it had not spread the original reports.

The reports, first published by the New York Daily News, said the committee was investigating a million-dollar letter of credit "reportedly transferred from Mexico to a Manhattan bank for the account of Ambassador O'Dwyer," shortly before the committee opened televised hearings in New York last March.

Lend-Lease Payment

The State department said that what happened was that the Mexican government made out a million-dollar bank draft to O'Dwyer, in his capacity as American ambassador, for a payment on its lend-lease account.

The department said O'Dwyer asked that the draft be changed into its equivalent in pesos to use for American diplomatic expenses in Mexico. The money was then deposited to the credit of the U. S. government in the

Defies Truman To Oust Boyle

Senator Byrd Challenges President to Defend Or Fire Supporter

Washington, Aug. 4—(AP)—Senator Byrd (D-Va) challenged President Truman today to defend or fire William M. Boyle, Jr., as chairman of the Democratic National committee.

Byrd, who has demanded to know if Boyle "peddled influence" in connection with a $565,000 RFC loan, said he had urged colleagues to delay action on nomination of Mr. Truman reports what he found by looking into the matter.

The President told a news conference Thursday that he is trying to find out facts as he does in every case. Byrd's move was obviously an effort to force the President's hand.

Usual Defense Missing

"The President has not defended Boyle in this case, as he usually does when any of his supporters are accused of anything," Byrd told reporters. "If he can't defend Boyle, he ought to see that he is fired."

Flash Flood Waters Strike North Colorado Killing One

Fort Collins, Colo., Aug. 4—(AP)—One man was dead and other fatalities were expected today as flood waters smashed down the Big Thompson river and other streams in Northern Colorado.

Cpl. A. C. McSpadden of the Colorado highway patrol said there were "bound to be fatalities" as waters from cloudbursts washed over the banks of the river.

The Fort Collins patrolman reported that houses were washed away and cars swept from roads as flood waters boiled out of Big Thompson canyon and spread eastward.

Three separate crests were reported in the river after cloudbursts poured torrents on one of the most spectacular areas of the Rockies. The rains struck east of the town of Estes Park, on the eastern boundary of Rocky Mountain National park.

The flood waters spread out approaching the town of Loveland, about 15 miles east of the canyon mouth, and forced car and house occupants to scramble for high ground and tree, McSpadden reported.

He said rescue parties were forced to go to Loveland to use

Report Allies Want Buffer North of Present War Line

India Sees Pakistan in War Move

New Delhi, India, Aug. 4—(AP)—The Indian government issued a White Paper today asserting Pakistan is whipping up a frenzy over Kashmir so "it can fish in troubled waters."

The document repeated Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's claim that India moved troops toward the Pakistan border recently as a defensive safety measure.

The Foreign Ministry said Nehru has replied to the latest message sent here Thursday by Premier Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan.

Liaquat Ali again proposed Nehru come to Pakistan for peace talks and suggested both countries pull back troops from border areas. The contents of Nehru's reply will not be released until tomorrow, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said.

Trying For Accord

The two countries fought a war in 1947-48 over the princely state of Kashmir and still have troops there along a cease-fire line. The United Nations sponsored a truce and now has mediator Frank Graham on the spot trying for a peaceful settlement.

The spokesman said India is "seriously concerned over Pakistan's recent war hysteria."

He charged the Moslem country is more intent on starting a war in Kashmir than in permitting the people there to vote on which country they want to join.

Pakistan stepped up its propaganda on the Kashmir question, he said, after former mediator Sir Owen Dixon reported to the U. N. last September. Dixon proposed both countries pull back troops from the cease-fire line because of the "danger to peace." The Aus-

NAB CANADIAN DOPE RING

Montreal, Aug. 4 — (AP) — Royal Canadian Mounted police said last night they have smashed a narcotics ring in Montreal which they described as the biggest ever to operate in this city.

Police said five men have been arrested and $20,000 worth of narcotics seized. Two more arrests are expected shortly.

RCMP Superintendent Noel Courtois said the ring had been broken with the assistance of United States federal agents after 12 months investigation.

West Point Probe Asked by Congress

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 4—(AP)—Bob Blaik, star quarterback on the team and son of West Point's head football coach, bitterly criticized the United States Military Academy today for the manner in which it ousted 90 cadets for "cribbing" in examinations.

Young Bob declined to say whether he was one of the Cadets involved in the biggest academic scandal of West Point's 150 years. However, he used the pronoun "we" when discussing the ousted Cadets.

Surrounded by admitted members of the 90-man ousted group, Blaik told newsmen:

"We were not allowed to notify our parents all over the country in advance. First notice they got was from the newspapers and over the radio."

Washington, Aug. 4—(AP)—The dismissal of 90 West Point cadets for cheating in exams brought demands today for Congressional investigation of the military academy—including its football activities.

Senator Young (R-ND) urged Congress to probe the possibility that over-emphasis on football led to the breakdown in the academy's famed honor system.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, reportedly blamed such over-emphasis yesterday in telling lawmakers of the mass dismissals, largest in the Academy's 149 year history. Senators said he hinted that a majority of the academy's game-winning football players cheated on exams because football practice cut down their opportunities to study.

Win Or Lose

West Point officials said the academy football team will play its fall schedule—win or lose.

"An investigation is in order and it should also cover too much liability in conducting examinations," Young told a reporter. Young is a member of the official Congressional Board of Visitors which inspects the academy every year.

Rep. Brooks (D., La.), ranking member of the House Armed services committee, said "The academy should be cleaned from top to bottom of all moral dishonesty. If any military officials are involved, they should be fired."

However, Army sources said no faculty members at West Point were involved.

Rep. Doyle (D., Calif.), a member of the Congressional Board of Visitors, said he would ask that the board investigate or that he be given a full report.

Nation's Hope

Senator Byrd (D., Va.), acting as chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee, said he was particularly saddened by the affair because the Cadets are among the cream of the nation's young men and the "nation's hope is for its fine young men."

No Congressman publicly criticized the mass dismissal as too severe. But one lawmaker, who would not permit use of his name, said:

"There would not be many football players in my state university, or as far as that goes, many students, if every person who cribbed in an exam was dismissed."

The dismissed cadets were ac-

Revive Heresy Case In Westerly Arrests

Westerly, R. I., Aug. 4—(AP)—A heresy dispute which had far-flung ramifications two years ago came up again yesterday with the arrest of six persons for selling a book supporting the views of a priest deprived of his faculties by the Catholic church.

The six, all of Cambridge, Mass., were arrested for selling without a license a book entitled "The Loyolas and the Cabots."

The book purportedly gives the background of the heresy which involved the salvation of non-Catholics.

The Rev. Leonard Feeney and his follower held the view there was no hope of salvation outside the Catholic church.

That belief was pronounced a heresy by the late Cardinal Richard J. Cushing of the Boston Catholic archdiocese who then silenced Father Feeney and deprived him of his (church) faculties.

Expelled from Society

Father Feeney also was expelled from the Society of Jesus, scholarly order of teachers and missionaries.

St. Benedict's Center—officially termed "a study group"—which Father Feeney conducted near Harvard university was deprived of its rights under the GI education law and Catholics were forbidden to attend it.

Four Boston college instructors, all laymen, were dismissed for publicly stating the same views

Red Party Maintains Old Stand

U. N. Advance Headquarters, Korea, Aug. 4—(AP)—Red negotiators today said they wouldn't budge an inch on their demands that a cease-fire buffer zone be drawn along the 38th parallel in Korea.

In Tokyo, the Civil Information and Education division of Allied Headquarters said the United Nations wanted the buffer zone somewhere between the Yalu River on the Manchurian border and the present battle lines.

There was no immediate confirmation of the statement here or in Tokyo.

In fact, an Allied spokesman told reporters trying to get him out on the subject—before the statement was issued—"I think it would be seriously in error and the wildest sort of speculation if you attempt to derive this line is the vast area between the present (battle) lines and the Yalu River."

The spokesman, Air Force Brig. Gen. William P. Nickols, apparently was not aware of the statement being issued in Tokyo.

Red Delegates Pour to West

East German Communist Youths Start Streaming Into Free Berlin

Berlin, Aug. 4—(AP) — Troubles began today for the Communist "World Youth Festival for Peace" in East Berlin when some of its delegates deserted to the West even before the festival formal opening tomorrow.

Fifty blue-shirted young East German Communists came over to United West Berlin to seek asylum, western youth organizations reported.

They were the first of what observers expect to be a substantial stream during the two-week festival.

Ducked Guards

The youths came over despite the road barricades and heavy police patrols established at sector

Missing Art Angel Hartford Resident

Hartford, Aug. 4— (AP) —The angel of Abbott Thayer's famous painting of the 90's has been found in Hartford.

She has been here some 25 years but apparently nobody was aware that the quiet, white-haired Mrs. Fred Beaulieu was almost a legend in the golden era of American painting. She was Bessie Price then.

At 16, fresh from Dublin, Ireland, she inspired Thayer and he painted her as an angel on several canvases. There are portraits of her in the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, in the Smithsonian Institute and in other notable collections.

Now 72 and a grandmother she is occupied with the affairs of a large family. But she holds dear the memories and souvenirs of her "angel days."

After all these years it remained for a Waterford artist, Nelson C. White, to find her here. He had been gathering material for a book on the life and art of Thayer. But Thayer was gone. His family was gone. Even the Thayer home in Dublin, N. H., once a rendezvous of noted artists, has

Checks Nominees For U. S. Judges

Washington, Aug. 4 —(AP) — A Senate subcommittee tries again today to get started with its review of the tilt between President Truman and Senator Douglas (D-Ill) over two federal judgeship appointments in Chicago.

Yesterday's start ended abruptly when Senator McCarran (D-Nev), chairman of the judiciary subcommittee checking on the appointments, ordered a week's delay in hearing from Cornelius J. Harrington, one of Mr. Truman's nominees.

The delay was requested by the Justice department which said it needed more time to look into Harrington's qualifications.

Douglas opposes the appoint-
