Ridgway Offers to Renew Talks

Unrest Stirs Mossadegh Regime

For a Hero

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg presents the only Congressional Medal of Honor so far awarded for Air Force action in the Korean War to the son of the late Maj. Louis J. Sebille, Louis "Flip" Sebille, 19 months. The baby is held by his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth J. Sebille, during ceremonies at March Field Air Force Base, California. (NEA Telephoto).

People Ask For Reward On Oil Grab

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 25—(AP)—Iranian foes of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh are speaking up again, now that oil talks with Britain have collapsed for a second time.

Trouble threatens in the politican field. Elections are coming up this fall and there will be a battle for control of parliament.

The frail, stubborn-willed nationalist has staked his popularity on refusing an oil deal with Britain despite almost certain economic troubles.

But the breakdown of talks with Britain this week means more than money trouble for the man who won power by nationalizing property of the influential Anglo-Iranian Oil company.

Spurs Foes

Collapse of the negotiations has spurred Mossadegh's enemies, ranging from moderates to wealthy landowners in parliament. They fear the governing national front will make big gains in the November-December election if Mossadegh controls the ballot boxes.

The growing political strife, unemployment and business slump is bound to stir up Iran as a result of the loss of oil revenue—source of half the government's budget.

Only the underground Communist Tudeh party and Russia, Iran's northern neighbor, stand to gain. Western diplomats fear a continuing oil crisis. They feel the social unrest will soften Iran for Communism.

Blasts Red Charges as Falsehoods

Tokyo, Aug. 25—(AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today sent a blistering message to top Red commanders in Korea and left it up to them whether armistice talks would continue in Kaesong.

The Supreme Allied Commander said he was willing to resume negotiations, halted by the Reds.

But he rejected as "malicious falsehoods" Communist accusations that United Nations forces violated Kaesong's neutrality.

Reds broke off the talks two days ago. They demanded a "satisfactory" answer to their charge that a United Nations warplane attacked Kaesong to murder the Red delegation.

Ridgway's reply said the charge was "so utterly false, so preposterous and so obviously manufactured" that it did not merit a reply.

The next step was up to the Communists. Ridgway's scathing message gave them a hard choice.

The harshly-worded reply was sent to Kim Il Sung, North Korean Premier, and Gen. Peng Teh-huai, commander of Chinese Red forces in Korea.

Door Open—A Crack

It was the first broadcast over the Armed Forces Radio, then delivered to a Chinese liaison officer at the Red outpost of Panmunjom, six miles east of Kaesong.

The last paragraph left the door open—just a crack—for a resumption of talks.

Ridgway said, "when you are prepared to terminate the suspension of armistice negotiations . . .

Urges Egypt, West Accord

Head of Powerful Bank Defends Treaty With Britain for Suez Base

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 25—(AP)—Hafez Afifi Pasha, president of the powerful Misr Bank, today urged Egypt to line up with the West in a treaty with the United States and Britain.

Afifi Pasha, in a lengthy statement to the influential newspaper Al Ahram, defended the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty which has been under violent attack here. He called it a "step towards independence," and urged a settlement of all outstanding disputes with Britain.

Afifi Pasha's name has been mentioned frequently as siding possibly Egypt's next Premier.

Afifi Pasha's statement struck the first optimistic note for the West in this part of the world for a long time.

Egypt's President Prime Minister, Aged Moustapha Nahas Pasha, and her Foreign Minister, Mohamed Salah el Din, have denounced the 1936 treaty in recent public statements. The treaty permits Britain to maintain her largest mideast base at the Suez Canal.

Both men have declared that Egypt soon will cancel the treaty which is supposed to run to 1956. Sunday is the anniversary of its signing.

Afifi Pasha said "the world is divided into two blocks and I would not hesitate to choose the bloc of freedom."

He said an Egyptian-British-American agreement would help Egypt realize its aims and "is the best that I could wish for my country."

"It should be clearly understood," Afifi declared, "that no country

Says Truman Sent Thanks to 'Worker'

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 25—(AP)—Senator Joseph McCarthy (R., Wis.), declared that in 1944 the Communist newspaper Daily Worker made a friendly gesture toward President Truman and Mr. Truman thanked the newspaper for it.

McCarthy's statement was made in a network radio address here yesterday in answer to President Truman's Aug. 14 attack on "scandal mongers" and "character assassins." McCarthy interpreted this to include him although the President mentioned no names.

The Wisconsin senator said that after Mr. Truman was nominated for Vice President in 1944, the Daily Worker published an article of which "the whole tenor . . . was that the Worker approved and

Icardi to Discuss OSS Case Version

Pittsburgh, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Aldo Icardi, former OSS lieutenant accused by the Defense department of planning the slaying of a superior officer in Italy during World War II, is in favor of a public discussion of the case on the radio.

Icardi, who has denied the accusation, said yesterday he welcomed an offer by the Civil and Criminal Courts Bar association of New York City, to participate in a radio discussion of the case.

Icardi and ex-Sgt. Carl G. LoDolce, of Rochester, N. Y., are accused of plotting the death of Maj. William V. Holohan, who was killed while the three were on a mission behind enemy lines.

LoDolce, who also denies the charges, has been invited to join Icardi on the program.

The date for the proposed broadcast has not been announced.

List Top Issues For '52 Campaign

French Lick, Ind., Aug. 25—(AP)—Three Midwestern Governors today placed public morals, inflation, and world peace as major issues in the 1952 election campaign.

The governors are Henry F. Schricker of Indiana, Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, and G. Mennen Williams of Michigan.

They talked to newsmen and spoke at a public radio interview here last night at a Midwest conference of Democratic leaders. The conference, will end tonight with an address by Vice President Barkley.

Schricker listed as a prime 1952 issue the "peace and security of the world to save America for future generations."

Greatest Red Weapon

Stevenson added, "and we can't do that without saving the peace of the world or without resistance to Communist imperialism."

Williams said, "Stalin's greatest weapon is inflation in America."

Schricker declared, "The moral

Harriman, Tito To Talk on Aid

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Aug. 25—(AP)—President Truman's roving trouble-shooter W. Averell Harriman arrived here today to talk with Premier Marshal Tito about Yugoslavia's basic needs in the way of military and economic assistance.

Enroute home from Tehran, Harriman looked wan and weary from his long efforts to break the deadlock in the now suspended negotiations between Britain and Iran over oil nationalization.

Harriman said his mission to Yugoslavia was to talk to Tito about "various assistance programs" both military and economic.

After a quick breakfast here, he flew on to Bled, Yugoslavia's summer capital in the Slovenian Alps, to meet the Yugoslav Marshal. It will be his second meeting with Dover, England, Aug. 25—(AP)—A gale reported blowing up in the English Channel today virtually closed the 1951 channel swimming season.

The season ends usually by Sept. 1. If the weather stays bad, none could try the swim with any hope of success by that date.

Florence Chadwick, the 32-year-old San Diego, Calif., typist, who hoped to swim from England to France, was pessimistic. She said she would await weather reports before deciding definitely whether the attempt was off.

Gerich Starts Term in Jail

Begins 3 to 5 Years in Wethersfield for Falsifying Turkey Weight

Wethersfield, Aug. 26—(AP)—The fate he tried to avoid through more than four years of legal maneuvering—confinement behind prison bars—has overtaken John Gerich of Somers, a Thompsonville and Rockville manufacturer.

Police said he was brought here yesterday to begin the three to five year sentence imposed on him in April, 1947, by the Tolland County Superior Court. They added that his fellow defendant, Claude Brodeur, probably would begin his two to five year term today.

Dope Ringleader Living on Relief

New York, Aug. 25 —Mariano Rubino, alleged ringleader of a $500,000 a year dope business conducted inside Bellevue Hospital, has been living on relief the past 26 months.

During that period, the City Welfare department said yesterday, the 42-year-old Rubino, his wife and child drew $32,835 in public relief checks. The family received $130.80 monthly until last March, when Rubino obtained rent free residence as an apartment house superintendent and the relief allotment was cut to $81 a month.

Rubino, held without bail for a hearing Thursday, is accused of hiding illicit heroin in the hospital and of using Bellevue's main waiting room to contact dope customers. He was not a hospital employee.

An alleged henchman in the drug pedding scheme, hospital maintenance engineer Benjamin Provenzano, 43, was held in $10,000 bail yesterday. He will stand trial in Special Sessions Court on

Pledged to Return For 36th Birthday

Hartford, Aug. 25—(AP)—Miss Josephine Sena promised her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Saverio Sena of Wethersfield avenue, that she would be home Monday to celebrate her 36th birthday.

Miss Sena, executive secretary for a group of touring girl singers, made the promise in a telephone call from Binghamton, N. Y., Wednesday. But before returning here, she said, she was going to Oakland, Calif., where she would have a reunion with her two sisters.

She hoped to get an early plane out of Chicago yesterday, but couldn't obtain a reservation and instead took a later flight, the United Airlines plane that crashed only 10 miles from Oakland, killing all aboard.

Two From State

Her brother-in-law, Powell Carroll of Oakland, waited throughout the night last night to identify her body at the small Decoto, Calif., schoolhouse which was used as a temporary morgue.

Miss Sena was one of two Connecticut people among the 50 killed.

Andrew Colegrove, 42, of Mystic, boarded the ill-fated plane at Windsor Locks, flying west to bring home his daughters, Susan, 12, and Sarah, 10, who had been spending the summer in Carson City, Nev., with their grandparents.

6,000 Paratroopers Set To Jump in War Games

Fort Bragg, N. C., Aug. 22—(AP)—Six thousand paratroopers were ready to jump into combat against "enemy invaders" today to climax the Carolina war games which have had a sidelight of Army-Air Force differences over tactical air power.

The paratrooper jump by elements of the 82nd Airborne Division was scheduled to start in mid-morning as part of a combined air-ground assault designed to drive the aggressor forces out of North Carolina.

Dangerous Mission

Medical units stood by in readiness to give quick aid to any of the men who might be injured in the always dangerous mission of parachuting from low-flying planes.

Stowaway, Crew Rescued at Sea

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Forty crewmen and one stowaway, who were rescued in the Atlantic last night after abandoning a leaking Spanish freighter, today were safe aboard another freighter bound for Philadelphia.

The 41 persons took to lifeboats when their vessel, the 3,688-ton Castillo Guadalest, sprang a leak in her No. 2 cargo hold. The cause of the leak has not been determined.

The survivors, picked up about 740 miles southeast of New York by the Honduran feighter Eurystheus, all were described in good condition.

The radioed "SOS" of the stricken ship was received by a British freighter, the Abraham Baldwin, which in turn notified the Coast Guard. The radio message exchange indicated that the Guadalest would sink within eight hours and that it was "a menace to navigation."

The Coast Guard cutter Lowe is expected to reach the scene early today. Plans to put the survivors

8 Die As Bolt Sets Off Blast

Wondervu, Colo., Aug. 25—(AP)—Eight men were killed or fatally injured and 10 hurt yesterday when lightning touched off a dynamite blast at a damsite and searchers still checked today to see if there were other casualties.

The explosion sent a rain of boulders and debris smashing down on the site of a $12,000,000 dam project of the City of Denver in South Boulder Creek Canyon, a gash in the front range of the Rocky Mountains.

The damsite is about 35 miles northwest of Denver and is southwest of Boulder, the site of the University of Colorado.

Between 50 and 60 men were working in the area when the lightning touched off the dynamite which was to have been fired when the day shift went off duty at 5 p.m. (m. s. t.). The blast was at 1:40 p.m.

As finally approved by the two committees, the bill carried $6,013,000,000 in military and $1,52,000,000 in economic aid.

Senate Tax Writers Study Corporation Levies Today

Washington, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Senate Finance committee has lopped about $800,000,000 off the House-passed $7,200,000,000 tax increase bill and still has several important phases to consider.

The group agreed tentatively yesterday to boost personal income taxes by about $2,409,000,000 a year. This is $438,000,00 less than would be raised by the individual income hike voted by the House.

The committee meets again today in an unusual Saturday session to try for more action on the bill.

Chairman George (D., Ga.), said the group would tackle corporation tax rates first. The House boosted these to get an additional $2,855,000,000 in annual revenue. After finishing with corporate levies, the senators still must work on excise taxes.

Two Options

The tentatively-approved finance committee income tax hike formula gives the taxpayer two options. He may take the lesser of:

1. An 11 per cent levy figured on the tax he pays now.
2. An eight per cent levy figured on the taxable income he

Senate Passes Money Bill, Restores Funds for 'Voice'

Washington, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Senate last night passed a $1,045,450,000 money bill carrying $85,000,000 for the State department's "Voice of America" and related activities.

Passage came on a voice vote after a successful Republican-led fight to restore a $22,000,000 appropriations committee slash in funds for the overseas information agency.

Senator Mundt (R., S. D.), captained the victorious push to match the $85,000,000 the House voted for the "Voice." The vote, by roll call, was 52 to 16.

McCarran Riled

A bitter effort to keep the sum at the $63,000,0000 approved by the Senate committee was led by Senator McCarran (D., Nev.). He read to the Senate from a magazine, "Reporter," which he said printed and distributed all over the world "scurrilous" articles about him.

This raised cries that an attempt was being made to censor publications which the State department sent to its foreign missions.

As passed by the Senate, the bill included $227,877,000 for the State department; $182,137,000 for the Justice department; $609,500,-

Moose Holding Picnic Sunday

Expect Over 500 Members and Friends to Attend Annual Event

Rockville, Aug. 25—The Rockville Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold its fifth annual family picnic Sunday, August 26th at the Rockville Fish and Game club starting at 12 o'clock noon. This annual affair has increased in attendance each year to the point that about 500 members and their families and friends are expected to attend Sunday's gathering. The program for the afternoon will include hot dogs, corn roast, watermelon, ice cream and soda. There will be pony rides, and athletic events for the children, planned by the Co-chairman, Rudy Cormier and William Kowski. As in the past, the children of the Vernon County Home have been invited to attend the picnic.

Costume Parade

A variety of costumes marked the costume parade at the Rockville Municipal playground in the center of the city on Friday afternoon. In the 5 to 10 years of age group, Karen Stone in her Little Bo-Peep costume was judged the prettiest, and two awards were given for the most original, one to Elaine Shattuck who was Alice in Wonderland, with her brothers, Tony and William Shattuck as the Rabbit and the Mad Hatter. A second award was given to Fred Kauppi, dressed as a lady in a long black dress, complete with white gloves, hat and veil. In the older age group, Neal Brooks and Jimmy Cohen impersonating Francis the Mule were judged most original, with second going to Sandy Genovesi, dressed half girl and half boy. The funniest award went to Beryl Semple, dressed as a painter.

Next week will be the final one for the playgrounds which have drawn an attendance of about 125 each day. This is the first year that the project has been carried out at the recreation field.

Sunday Services

Union services of the Baptist, Congregational and Methodist churches will be held on Sunday at 10 a. m., at the Union Congregational church. Rev. Edwin Brookes, pastor of the Baptist church, will preach on the subject, "Sustaining Spirit."

Charles West will occupy the pulpit at the First Congregational church of Vernon Center on Sunday as supply pastor. The service will be held at 10:45 a. m.

Rev. Leonard Stryker of Tolland will be in charge of the services at St. John's Episcopal church on Sunday, while Rev. Maurice G. Foulkes, rector, is on vacation.

At the 10:30 a. m. service at the First Evangelical Lutheran church tomorrow, there will be sermon by the pastor, Rev. Gordon E. Hohl, noting the 14th Sunday after Trinity.

Jimmy Fund

The Jimmy Fund Cancer drive will open in Rockville on Sunday, August 26, and continue for two weeks. Arthur Poirier, manager of the Palace theater, is serving as chairman and Raymond Spurling, treasurer of the People's Savings Bank, is treasurer for the campaign which is sponsored by the Variety Artists of New England. The fund was started four years ago for cancer research and treatment of children afflicted with the disease, and a large hospital is now under construction in Boston to care for children and to further research.

At Conference

Miss Irene Cone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon G. Cone of High street, will be among the 5,000 delegates expected to attend the fifth quadrennial National Convocation of Methodist Youth to be held at Purdue University, LaFayette, Indiana, August 27-31. Miss Cone is president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Southern New England conference. She is a member of the MYF of the Rockville Methodist church.

Attend Ball Game

A group of Red Men and their friends will leave Sunday at 9 a. m. to attend the baseball game in Boston. Emil Gessay has been in charge of the arrangements.

Hebron

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll W. Hutchinson, who are occupying the former St. Peter's Episcopal Rectory at Hebron Center, observed their 41st wedding anniversary Friday, Aug. 24. Mrs. Hutchinson is the former Miss Lola Crocker of Springfield, Mass. She was a teacher in the Gilead schools when first coming to Hebron. Her marriage to Mr. Hutchinson took place Aug. 24, 1910.

Mr. Hutchinson is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hutchinson of Gilead. The newly married couple lived in Gilead for the first 10 years of their married life. They have lived in the old rectory for the past seven years.

They have four children, Everet, of East Longmeadow, Mass.; Mrs. Herbert W. Porter of Hebron; Mrs. Frederick E. Hyatt of Amityville, L. I., and Alfred W., of Hebron. They have eight grandchildren.

Another wedding anniversary this week is that of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Jones, who live on the Hope Valley road. They will observe their 5th wedding anniversary Saturday, Aug. 25, and will celebrate by an out of town trip. Mrs. Jones is the former Miss Corene Jane Farris, of Lewiston, Me. They have one daughter, Bonnie Mae. They were married in St. Peter's Episcopal church five years ago, the 25th, the Rev. H. R. Keen performing the ceremony. They have lived in Hebron since that time.

A complaint was made several weeks ago regarding buildings which were put up without permits from the zoning authorities, in some cases regarded as nuisances. Nothing further has been done since a builder was called upon to look into the matter and make a report. It is now said that the matter will be taken up at some future town meeting.

Since about the middle of June there have been five building permits issued, according to the report of the secretary of the zoning board, John E. Horton. These permits were made to Joseph Knapp and Edwin Stohlstrom, each of whom asked for permission to put up a cottage at Amston Lake; to Madison and Ida Dorsey, for a one car garage at their place; to Walter Nelson, for a four room house on the Gilead-Hebron road; to C. Daniel Way, for a silo on his farm in Gilead.

The primary and intermediate classes of St. Peter's Episcopal church school, spent the day picnicking at Weekapaug Beach, R. I. Their teachers, Mrs. Nellie V. Rydell and Mrs. William W. Hammond chaperoned the young folks, and the Rev. H. R. Keen provided transportation.

William Porter, Sherwood Farris and Sirreno Scranton, Jr., have been camping at Gardner's Lake this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert J. Wilcox of Seymour have been visitors for the past several days of Mr. Wilcox's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Merton W. Hills in Gilead. Mr. Wilcox is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Wilcox of Hebron. He has been seriously ill but has recovered his health and is now in fine condition.

Alfred W. Hutchinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll W. Hutchinson, who was quite severely ill with throat trouble recently, has recovered sufficiently to be able to return to his work in the office of the Factory Insurance Company, Hartford.

Miss Sadel Barkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Barkin of Amston, has been awarded two additional scholarships at Boston University, where she is a junior. She had previously been given a scholarship, this making three such honors. She has maintained high honors at the university during her course.

Hebron people are saddened at the report of the death of Mrs. George A. Little, the former Miss Ella Jagger, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James H. Jagger of Hebron, who lived where Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Behnke now live. She was born in Hebron August 27, 1869. Her husband, Mr. Little, died several years ago. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. James F. Martin of East Hartford, with whom she had made her home recently; and two sons, Kenneth R., of Storrs, and Dr. Mervyn H. Little of Willimantic. Mrs. Little was one of the oldest members of the Hebron Congregational church, a charter member of Hebron Grange and an honorary member of Echo Grange, Mansfield.

The Little League or Community League ball game played on the Hebron diamond Wednesday evening, between the Hebron Seniors and Andover Eagles, was won by Andover in a closely fought game.

Mr. and Mrs. Madison Dorsey have moved from Andover and are now occupying the house recently purchased by them from the Hickox family. It is a small house on the Hebron-Columbia road, near Frederick Brehant's gas station.

Albert S. Taylor's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Call of Brook Haven, left Thursday, after having been entertained at the Taylors' home for a short time. They were on their wedding trip, having been recently married.

Mrs. John A. Markham, Red Cross chairman for the Hebron branch of Columbia Chapter, is asking for donations to help relieve the suffering caused by the recent devastating floods in the vicinity of Kansas City, which have swept away the homes of about 27,000 families. All buildings will have to be rebuilt, and this will require a good deal of financial aid. Checks may be sent to Mr. Markham to the Columbia Chapter, of which J. Russell Evans is chairman. There will not be a house to house canvass, but it is hoped that people will respond generously. Mrs. Edwin R. Smith is appointed Junior Red Cross chairman for Hebron.

The Hebron Junior Community Team, or Little Leaguers, won their 8th straight game last Friday, over Columbia. It was a no hit, no run game.

David Fracchia was pitcher and did the best kind of a job. The boys will play again this week Friday evening. The seniors will play Wednesday evening.

The Inter-County League ball game of Sunday at 2:30 p. m., Hebron team vs. the Gilead Tigers, was a close, hard won game, resulting in a victory for Hebron by a score of 5-4. The Tigers are a plucky team but had to yield the palm to Hebron.

A pleasing feature of Hebron's Old Home Day was an art exhibit at the Douglas library by Miss Lotti Turshen, daughter of Mrs. Ira C. Turshen of Amston, and of the late Mr. Turshen. Miss Turshen is a graduate of the Parsons School of Design, New York, and is employed in the advertising department of G. Fox's store, Hartford.

The exhibit included water color sketches of Hebron Center, showing the old town hall, library, and several houses at the green, a scene of Raymond's farm in Amston; a portrait of the artist's sister, Marcia, in pastel; a Lebanon scene taken from the Amston road; waterfront in Provincetown, Mass., Race Point Coast Guard station, Cape Cod, and a number of other sketches.

Charles C. Sellers, who made a short visit at his Hebron home, returned to Carlisle, Penn., Saturday morning, taking with him his daughter Susan, who has spent the summer here.

When Hebron's Elementary school opens in September two student teachers from the Willimantic State Teachers' College are expected. They are: Miss Theresa Gambino, a junior at the college, who will be in Mrs. Floyd A. Fogil's room, second grade, for practice teaching. Miss Ruth Brett, also a junior in the college, will be in Miss Marion Randall's room, the kindergarten. The students will be here from Sept. 7 to the 21st. They will return later on for another training period.

Ten countries have more than a million telephones, in this order: The United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, Germany, France, Japan, Sweden, the U.S.S.R., Italy and Australia.

Fire Report Recommends Consolidation of Districts

Consolidation of Manchester's two fire districts and addition of more paid men to the volunteer companies form the substance of three plans proposed by the Fire Protection and Utilities Study committee following a survey made by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Christie F. McCormick, chairman of the committee, in presenting the plans to town officials stressed that the proposals are merely offered as suggestions and "may be subject to considerable variation according to the dictates of the will of the citizens as to what shall be done with the recommendations" made by the underwriters and others.

Plan I concerns the inclusion of the entire town for fire protection, including those outside the present established districts. Plan II proposes two fully paid men per company at all times on a three-shift basis, meaning a force of 39 paid firemen, and gives the estimated cost of such a unit. Plan III gives estimated expense for a force of 63 full paid firemen. The plans are set up to be put into effect as numbered.

Plan I

The first step, Plan I, is as follows:

"The town to assume all the powers and obligations now exercised by the two Districts with no increase in personnel, beyond that now contemplated by the Districts. This plan would also contemplate the inclusion of the entire town for fire protection. In other words those parts of the town which are now outside the fire districts would be included. Although the property-owners of Manchester within the city limits but outside of the present fire Districts might still have to pay a higher fire insurance rate they naturally would rely on the town for fire protection and they should pay their proportionate share for this protection.

"As it is now, so we are advised, both fire departments respond to calls outside their district with little or no remuneration therefore. The taxpayers of the districts have, through the years, accumulated considerable property. To share in the use of this property and equipment those now outside the Districts, but who would be brought in, could pay for this service in several ways.

"First by paying the same mill rate as the taxpayesr within the water lines. Another method would be to pay a fixed charge according to the burnable property which might need protection. Still another method which could be adopted would be a different or lower mill rate to those who lived beyond a specified distance from the water lines.

"The committee favors the first method for the reason stated and for the additional reason that this would increase the revenue for fire protection which should enable us to give better service to all sections of the town. e. g. A two mill levy for the entire town would produce more revenue for fire protection than is now received by a two mill levy in the SMFD and a 2½ mill levy in the 8th School and Utilities District.

"Furthermore all citizens have a vested interest in all public buildings and most everyone is directly concerned with some religious or charitable institution and should pay their share for the protection of said building and institutions. A critical fire loss in the town could affect all taxpayers."

Plan II is proposed by the study committee to be effected after accomplishment of Plan I. The second plan suggests "volunteer companies augmented by two fully paid men per company on duty at all times. On a three platoon or three shift basis this would mean six men per company. This is on the basis of 56 hr. week. For six companies, this would mean a force of 36 firemen plus a chief and two deputy chiefs or a force of 39 paid firemen."

The study committee estimates that the "annual running expense" of such a force would be $205,190 for fire protection, and $12,427 for cost of operation of the Eighth district sewers making a grand total of $217,617.

This estimate sets a $5,000 salary for the chief, $4,000 for the deputy chiefs and $3,600 for the firemen.

Plan III estimates that the cost to the town for a force of 63 fully paid firemen would total $331,-957, including the sum stated above for sewer maintenance.

Tax Writers Study Corporation Levy

has left after deducting his present tax.

The committee voted to make the boost effective November 1 instead of the September 1 date fixed by the House. The Senators also sought to indicate that the new levy is a temporary defense measure by setting an expiration date of December 31, 1953; the House did not have an termination date in its bill.

The Finance committee knocked out of the bill a House provision for a 20 per cent withholding on dividends, interest and royalties. The House had estimated this would pick up $323,000,000 of additional annual revenue—tax money which otherwise would not be collected.

Reject House Boost

Also rejected by the Senators was a House boost to 28.125 per cent in the present effective 25 per cent capital gains tax for individuals and corporations. This had been figured by the House to bring in $87,000,000 more revenue a year.

Yesterday's decisions made it almost certain the Senate version of the tax bill would be well below the House figure, something Finance committee members have been predicting all along.

President Truman asked for a $10,000,000,000 tax increase, to help finance the mobilization effort and fight inflation.

In adopting option one of the income tax plan approved yesterday, the committee said, no one would pay as much under its tax hike proposal as he would under the House bill.

Unofficial computations indicated that taxpayers w uld find it more beneficial to use option two if their incomes were above $40,-000 or $50,000.

Fix Over-All Ceiling

The Senate committee also voted yesterday to fix an over-all income tax ceiling of 88 per cent of taxable income for the highest brackets as compared with 87 per cent now. The House voted for 90 per cent.

In knocking out of the House 20 per cent withholding provisions on dividends, interest and royalties, the committee accepted a House provision which it said might cut down revenue loss from its action.

This provision requires interest to be reported on amounts over $100 and gives the secretary of the Treasury power to require reporting below $100. He already can require reports on dividends.

Senate Restores Funds For 'Voice'

000 for the Commerce department; and $25,936,000 for the federal judiciary.

The Senate total was about the same as that of the House but considerably under the $1,258,-296,000 which the administration requested.

Bill to Conferees

The measure now goes to a Senate-House conference for a compromise of differences.

The money will run the three government agencies and the federal courts during the fiscal year which started last July 1. Until the measure becomes law, stop-gap financing will continue to provide operating funds for the federal agencies.

Senator Douglas (D., Ill) led an economy fight during consideration of the whole bill. He claimed the State department was overstaffed, that it spends too lavishly on buildings abroad and that federal aid to highways was about $25,000,000 too high. He failed in every instance to reduce funds in those categories.

Sparked Debate

But it was the "Voice" that caused most of the floor argument.

McCrran contended there should be "someone with discrimination," to inspect the publications which the State department distributes as part of its over-all "Voice" program.

But Senator Benton (R-Conn), a former assistant Secretary of State, protested that McCarran's proposal would be a "choice between the free American press or setting up a plan of censorship."

Senator McMahon (D-Conn) said the State department's distribution of magazines — whether they carry articles critical of Congres smembers or not—"is the free way—tme American way and not the Soviet way."

Mundt said that while some articles were critical of McCarran, the department also had sent out many others that praised him.

The only other addition which the Senate made to the committee-approved bill was $570,600 for the Justice department. Of that sum, $70,600 was ear-marked for a youth correction board and an additional $500,000 for anti-trust law enforcement.

a charge of illegal possession of narcotics.

A third man, Arthur Riccardi, 29, also is held in $10,000 bond. He was arrested with Rubino Wednesday night as the latter allegedly turned over a packet of heroin to him.

Police say Rubino and Provenzano met while both were serving terms in Rikers Island Penitentiary on narcotics charges.

The "corn-hog ratio" often used in U. S. farm statistics means that it is profitable to grow hogs when 100 pounds of pork will buy 11 or more bushels of corn.

Wapping

Mrs. Louise Levack will be queen representing South Windsor in the Tobacco Festival. She was chosen by the out of town judges, Miss Marion Utley, Miss Mary Sargent and Clifford Sage, at a tea held at the home of Mrs. Jean Shepard, Jr., yesterday evening, and was crowned by Jean Shepard, Jr., during the block party which followed. About 1500 people attended the block party.

Mrs. Levack received a suitcase and a purse of money, and all the contestants received gifts.

The South Windsor Queen's attendants for the Festival will be Miss Rita Heck, Mrs. Lois Peterson, Miss Marie Cavanaugh, Miss Priscilla Collins and Miss Barbara Sullivan.

Miss Patricia Bennett, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Bennett, of Ellington road, was struck by a car Monday as she attempted to re-cross after mailing some letters. She was taken to St. Francis hospital with multiple bruises.

Howard Bennett of Pleasant Valley road has been appointed local Red Cross disaster chairman. He will replace Frank Masinda and his duties will be for one year.

Monday afternoon the swimming classes at Spring Pond Park ended. Children who passed requirements of the Red Cross were presented certificates by Raymond Valade, director of safety service for the Hartford Chapter of the Red Cross.

The following received certificates: Beginners, Joseph and Michael Balch, Roland Boutin, Maxine Boxer, Muriel Magee, Leslie Manning, and Barbara Roberts. Intermediates, Joseph Burns, Stephen Finney, Patricia Kelley, Cynthia Ordway, James Roberts and Kathleen Roberts. Swimmers, Marian Barnard, Helen Krawski and the entire intermediate group.

Because of the continued damp weather of last week and the first part of this week, tobacco growers, both broadleaf and shade grown, are behind in their harvesting of tobacco. The weather is causing further complications in the pole sweat on broadleaf farms. Ralph Lasbury, Jr., director of the Shade Tobacco Growers Agricultural association, said the weather is also causing another form of rot or canker which, with pole sweat, can damage crops already in the sheds.

Fifteen girls have signified intentions of competing for the title of South Windsor queen in the coming tobacco festival. The queen will be chosen by a panel of out of town judges at a tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Jean E. Shepard.

fabric of America is in distress and needs to be reconstructed."

The governors said the Truman Fair Deal program and what they called "distrust and division by epithets and slander" also would be issues next year.

The governors said they believed President Truman is gaining in popularity. But they said they had no assurance he would seek renomination.

Deny Hopes for 1952

All three governors denied any personal national political aspirations.

Schricker ruled himself out as a possible candidate for the U. S. Senate next year.

Asked if he would accept a draft, the 67-year-old governor, who is barred by law from seeking re-election, replied:

"I'm too old for the draft."

Stevenson said he would "put off until December or January" his decision on whether to seek reelection as Governor of Illinois next year.

Williams declined to say whether he would run again in 1952 for Governor of Michigan.

Defends Marshall

Navy Secretary Dan A. Kimball told delegates last night that "irresponsible people in the press who are speaking ill of General (George) Marshall are traitors to our country."

Kimball made the remark in a banquet address discussing the nation's military situation. Earlier, in an interview with the Indianapolis Star, he said the U. S. Navy will have an atomic-powered submarine in two years.

The Secretary said the atomic sub will represent "a terrific advancement in modern warfare." The Navy placed the order for the first such submarine last week.

"I heard a blast like thunder and the south bank of the canyon caved in," reported Gerald (Bud) Worthing of Boulder, a line boss crew for the Public Service Company of Colorado. He was working with a crew on the north edge of the canyon.

"Then, I think, after lightning hit the wiring leading to the dynamite, rock or lightning jumped to the north side of the canyon. It had been drilled and loaded and it went off, too."

Vernon Busch, 21, driver of an earth moving machine, said he saw a rock half the size of a car crush a man.

Rock driller John Zeren, 30, of Boulder, said when he regained consciousness "I was dangling on the end of my leather safety belt. It was tied to a pin driven in the rocks. It saved my life."

determine whether sabotage caused the DC-6-B to plow into the fog-shrouded hill a few moments from the end of its transcontinental flight early yesterday.

The FBI, in announcing the investigation, would not elaborate or comment whether it was routine.

The Civil Aeronautics board's investigation was to cover all phases of the accident. Regional investigator Ralph A. Reed said it would last several days but the CAB probably would know sometime today whether the ship had strayed from its landing course, as several residents of the area suggested.

Find 41 Bodies

United Air Lines said last night searchers quit after bringing down perhaps 41 bodies, most of them on horseback. They were to return today for the other nine—or whatever can be found of them.

The 50 victims included the six-man crew and all 44 passengers—eight children, nine women and 33 men. The ship was flying to Oakland from Boston. It had stopped at Hartford, Conn., Cleveland and Chicago.

Pilot N. W. Hedden, Redwood City, Calif., last radioed that he was coming in for a landing at 5:27 a. m., seven minutes before he was scheduled to arrive at Oakland.

The big ship struck the hillside and flew apart in a burst of flame several minutes later. There were no close witnesses or survivors.

Bodies were being taken a mile and a half to a grammar school. Relatives of some of the victims were arriving to attempt to identify their loved ones.

To aid in identification of the smashed bodies, the FBI ordered a crew of fingerprint experts and technicians flown from Washington.

A bulldozer cleared a path up the brushy, rocky hill and down the tangled ravine where many of the bodies had been hurled.

The big Douglas transport was smashed in thousands of pieces. It had cost United about $1,000,000 and was put in service with six sister ships August 1. Its capacity load was 58 passengers, five crewmen and 6,000 pounds of mail.

Plan Holiday Trips Safely

Labor Day Traffic Expected to Set Mark; Provide for Hazards

Hartford, Aug. 25—There are many important questions Connecticut motorists should ask themselves before starting out on a long holiday trip over the Labor Day holiday, according to Director William M. Greene, Highway Safety Commission, in discussing cooperation by the motoring public with state and municipal traffic officials, not only in Connecticut but in all states through which the motorist plans to travel.

"Two outstanding questions for motorists to consider well in advance of any long trip," states Mr. Greene, "is how much actual driving time, rest periods eliminated, should be allowed; and main conditions to be considered in speed selection. Traffic over Labor Day will be the heaviest Connecticut or New England has ever experienced. Volume has been steadily building up in recent months; all signs indicate heavy holiday flow. Traffic is so heavy that a bad accident has resulted in lines of cars, bumper to bumper, on the Merritt and Hutchinson River Parkway for as long as 25 miles. Routes, therefore, are important."

But of even more importance, continued the director of the Safety Commission is the fact that thousands of highway accidents can be traced directly to improper planning of trips; insufficient time allowance between terminal points; failure to have cars in proper mechanical condition; driving at the worst times of day or night for free, safe movement; overloading vehicles and selecting unsafe routes where hazards are high.

Some drivers, generally young, estimate that from four to four and one-half hours is sufficient to cover 200 miles, which means the high average of 50 miles per hour. Older drivers will generally allow more time. The Safety Commission director urges Connecticut drivers planning to cover 200 miles in one direction to allow about six hours—to be safe, to be comfortable, to enjoy the trip.

Only on super-highways, with limited access, can an average of 50 miles an hour be recorded. It is impossible to do safely on most of the present-day highways in this section of the country, he contends.

"Important, too for holiday motorists to consider, in advance of Labor Day, are varying conditions which work for or against a safe trip to a distant point and a safe return home," state the Commission's director. "Every driver should consider these factors: (1) type of highway over which he will travel and probable conditions, information he can obtain easily; (2) condition of vehicle; (3) probable traffic conditions based on past experience and how to avoid congested areas; (4) probable weather conditions as predicted in advance; (5) time of day he will be on the road, governed by starting time and distance to travel; (6) his own condition and capacity to drive safely the entire trip without relief."

There are, of course, continued the director's statement, other factors the highway driver must keep in mind when actually on the road. He must know safe stopping capacity of his car at various speeds and allow for same in traffic lines. He should know the power and pickup of his car before venturing to pass and only do so when conditions are safe. He should make advance decisions as to what he will do if animals obtrude themselves into the patch of his car; reaction to tire blowouts; reaction, if any car occupant is sick, (including himself) and safe stop is required quickly; ability to apply first-aid treatment; how to handle a fire under the hood; what to do if another vehicle is headed towards him in same lane; proper handling of vehicle in sudden skid. All of these points, claims the Safety Commission director, are essential for consideration now by holiday drivers.

"Here in Connecticut," concludes Mr. Greene, "we suffer in being the main corridor in and out of New England. We get too many 'hurryup drivers', especially servicemen with limited time to spend at home and anxious to make the most of it. We have many drivers who enter Connecticut after many hours at the wheel and in a state of fatigue. They are a problem. If they would only give themselves a 'break' every hundred miles by letting someone else drive or resting for a brief spell—even just getting out and walking around for a few minutes—the long distance motorist could shake off fatigue and be safe."

If Truce Talks Fail

Every time the Kaesong truce negotiations snag, one reads that that the alternative to their success is the resumption of full scale war. Why? And what for?

To be sure, it is in exactly the direction of full scale and bigger war that our thoughts all turn. That seems almost the automatic possibility. And perhaps it is, considering the state of the world, the only real possibility.

But why did both sides come to attempt truce talks in the first place? They came to a consideration of truce because both sides realized that they had come to a military stalemate under the existing rules of the Korean war.

Specifically, the realizations were as follows. The Communists realized that they could not hope to drive the United Nations off the peninsula unless Russia made a substantial entrance into the war, with its air and naval forces. That could, presumably, render Korea untenable for United Nations forces, and bring a Communist victory—in Korea. But it would also mean world war.

We, on the other hand, realized that we had, with our clearing of the aggressors from South Korea, reached both the end of our clearest mandate and the limit of our military achievement under present rules. We could hope for greater military victory only by devoting more force to the campaign and by extending the operations of that force beyond Korea into China and Russia. But that would bring Russia into the war, rendering our chance of a favorable decision in Korea itself doubtful, and bringing on full world war anyway.

These prospects, which both sides avoided when they came to a willingness to talk truce, are the inevitable conditions of any future attempt to create a new kind of military decision in Korea. If, upon the possible breakdown of the truce talks, both sides move toward a resumption of full war, these are the conditions which would obtain.

Is there any more real reason for either side to seek such a course now than there was two months ago? Have the fundamentals changed since the time, two months ago, when both sides decided to avoid such a future course, when they turned their backs on world war? Should they now deliberately choose world war? If they knew, two months ago, that world war was something to avoid, shouldn't they still know it? Does an inability to negotiate to a hard and fast settlement of Korea in particular mean that they must inevitably turn to general world war?

We are asking such questions because we obviously don't think that even the permanent breakdown of the truce talks would confer upon either side any automatic mandate to begin World War III. We think that the real mandate for them, if they cannot agree on formal truce terms, is to perpetuate an informal truce. We don't think they have to do anything, militarily speaking. We think they could hold their present lines, and avoid World War III by the simple and direct process of not beginning it.

The contrasting course is obvious. Any attempt to reach a full decision in Korea, by either side, would abruptly and immediately relegate Korea itself to the background, and transform it into nothing more than the fuse for full world conflict. Any attempt to reach full victory in Korea means, automatically, that that victory would not be sought there, but in Moscow and in Washington.

The Communist world may, for all we know, insist on trying this. But for the United Nations to try it, for the United Nations to go looking for further trouble when it is already sitting on an achievement of its main purpose in Korea, the liberation of South Korea from the aggressor, could never make sense.

"All People Are One People"

The young marine who, several months ago, wanted to know what in the world we were doing in Korea, and who, after his father had forwarded his letter to Secretary of State Acheson, got a painstaking answer from that gentleman, now claims to have found out for himself—in Korea.

A New York Times correspondent got talking with him out there the other day, and the young marine thought he had the answer to his own previous questions.

"In the time he has been here," the correspondent reported, "he has seen what united action can do for the security of all and for the first time in his life the words 'one globe' have a solid meaning for him, the corporal added.

"The 22-year-old soldier said his loose-leaf note book was crammed with the names of new friends, infantrymen and artillerymen and truck drivers from Britain, France, Belgium and a half dozen other countries. He added that when he got out of service and had wound up his college course, his first major project would be to take a trip through Europe and make the calls he had promised to make here in Korea.

"'That's what Mr. Acheson was trying to tell me, I guess, but what I did not really discover until I came out here was that all people are one people and we must join together if we are to have protection.'"

This marine, we would observe, has learned the great lesson of our time, and, incidentally, given it an expression better than Acheson's. He has, perhaps, one more step to go—a step of understandable difficulty under present conditions. But when you really discover that "all people are one people" you cannot, even inferentially, exclude any people, even though, by the mistakes of humanity and leadership, some of these people happen to be on the other side of a shooting war. If you recognize this truth you fight, when others compel it, not for victory, not for conquest, not for punishment, not for vengeance, not even with passion or with hate, but merely to restore the chances of realization that "all people are one people," with none a master, and all free to live their own lives, by their own values, so long as they do not try to force these values upon one another.

Baseball—Or Politics?

We note that the major league club owners have delayed their choice of a new baseball commissioner so long that a variety of campaigning for the post has developed among some of the aspirants for it. There was the rumor, the other day, that one of the candidates had withdrawn, and was throwing his support to another. Then he reaffirmed that he himself was still a candidate. This got him two news stories about himself which, we suppose, is part of campaigning.

Another candidate, who first said "no" has now changed his tune to "no comment," which, considering his political background, is taken to mean that he now wants the job desperately and is campaigning frantically to get it. Incidentally, after it was announced that the choice would certainly be a baseball man, supporters of this particular candidate, Governor Lausche of Ohio, were quick to point out that he had played baseball once, years ago.

Well, if we would require any one qualification of a new commissioner, it would be that he would be some individual who hadn't indulged in any campaigning of any kind for the job. Giving the post to any one who needs it or wants it badly enough to maneuver, intrigue, and propagandize for it would be, we think, a mistake. For any one who would compromise his own independence in order to get the job would compromise and campaign in order to hold it, too. The ideal baseball commissioner, as Judge Landis demonstrated again and again, would be somebody who cares more for baseball itself than for his job.

Connecticut Yankee

By A. H. O.

One most important reason why the state employes are seemingly continually on the make for higher wages and shorter hours is the fact that two organizations are competing for their loyalty.

The campaigns which fill the public press do not arise because individual state employes spend their time worrying about their grievances. They arise because two separate groups of organizational leaders are busy plotting how to increase their own prestige and following by demonstrating that they know how to get the most for the state employes.

Each group, of course, lives in perpetual fear that the other may prove to be the best battler for the state employes. Each group, therefore, is concerned with establishing its own capacity to fight longest and hardest and loudest for whatever the next potential goal for state employes may happen to be. And if there should ever, heaven forbid, be any dearth of new goals, both of them would necessarily invent one. The show must go on. And the circumstance, we suppose, is actually a boon to state employes, dollarwise, even though it tends to give them the reputation of being perpetually discontented and of spending too much time in agitation. Actually, of course, the routine state employe is a quiescent fellow, who merely reads in the papers how much abused he is.

The employes' organization which seems most solid and assured, in its own right, and in the light of its own record, seems to be the Connecticut State Employes Association. It functions independently of any outside ties, and has many members it would have had trouble getting if it had been affiliated with some outside union. Left to itself, it would probably have a most reasonable policy and be content to make the changes at a reasonable pace. To say that may seem like praise but is actually, in the situation as it exists, something the CSEA could not afford to admit.

The employes' organization which is forever in the challenging and the needling role is the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes, of the AFL. To balance its relative weakness in employe membership, it has, of course, the prestige of its great parent. As it seeks to progress to domination of the state picture, it is, of course, interested in showing that the CSEA is an old slowpoke, and in grabbing the lead spot in each new drive if it can. It pretends to regard the CSEA as something of a "company union."

The CSEA has paid off well enough, for its adherents, not to worry about such charges, but it does have to worry about the possibility that it might some day be caught napping. Actually, it is no longer totally free to follow its own policy. It must keep up with, or ahead of, the AFSCME.

There was, not long ago, a demonstration of the way the rivalry works. The CSEA group had been closeted with the Governor, talking over some of the demands now being agitated. Afterwards, the Governor also talked with the rival group. In the course of this discussion, he indicated that the CSEA group had seemed comparatively reasonable on some point under discussion. Then the rival group issued a news story in which the angle was that the CSEA had given up the ship, but the AFL would fight gloriously and heroically on.

After that, we suppose, it became a must goal for the one group to be every bit as unreasonable and uncompromising as the other.

If this rivalry, in short range, looks like a stimulant certain to bring more and more dollars and shorter and shorter hours to state employes, the long range picture is not as reassuring. What has been accomplished for the state employes has not only been accomplished in this atmosphere of rivalry, but also in an atmosphere of general good will toward the state employes—a good will they deserve. But the rivalry is tending to make them seem hungrier and more importunate than they really are, and there is no good will in the world capable of enduring the ceaseless nag. The rivalry narrows the chances that they will exhibit proportion and balance and pace in their quests.

The Finance board will hold a public hearing on the proposed town budget for the fiscal year beginning September 15, 1951 on Wednesday, August 29 at 8 p. m. at the Community hall. Townspeople are reminded that the hearing is held for the purpose of allowing citizens to discuss individual items in the budget and the town's budgetary problems in general. The budget will be presented to the annual town meeting in October for approval of the voters. At that time, action of the town is limited to statute to approval of the budget or reducing it since no increases may be made without prior approval of the Finance Board.

An announcement by George E. Graff, superintendent of schools, states that pupils new to Bolton elementary school who have not yet registered may do so at the school on Tuesday, September 4 between 1 and 4 p. m. The school will open on Wednesday, September 5.

Chief Herman Schendel of Manchester emphasized the necessity of a well-organized Civil Defense group in his talk to the auxiliary town police school Tuesday night. Pointing out that Civil Defense supplements our armed forces, he also stressed the importance of trained personnel as an item in the program that cannot be bought and also for hteir effectiveness in controlling panic which is the asset of the enemy. Chief Schendel explained the 10 divisions of the CD program in Manchester and told of the training program given auxiliary police. In addition to discussing atom bomb attacks, he also discussed the rocket bomb which is capable of a range of 150 miles. About 30 persons attended the meeting.

The Bolton baseball club will play at Hebron tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 p. m. The team defeated the league leaders, Lebanon, last Sunday, 8-2 giving Bolton a total of 8 wins, 5 losses. They will play the last game of the season on September 2nd at Memorial field when Hebron will again be their opponent. The team is hopeful of winning both games to give them a chance at the League cup awarded to the top team. There will be no play-offs this year due to the expense involved.

6,000 to Jump In War Games

taking part in the exercise. Commanders were hoping this safety record would not be broken in the spectacular airborne show.

The Army Air Force high level disagreement over tactical air control was aired again openly yesterday when Gen. Mark Clark, chief of U. S. Ground Forces suggested operational control should be given to Army commanders.

At present, this control is shared by the Air Force and Army at Army level. An Army commander does not have authority to use tactical aircraft without agreement with the Air Force.

Backs Army Control

Clark, who is here for the final phase of the war games, told reporters he is convinced the operational control of tactical aid should lie with the Army commander.

When asked what he meant by operational control, Clark said: "I mean such use of tactical air as the Army commander feels he needs to make of it."

He said he felt the "Air Force should allot an Army commander as muhc close support aircraft as possible and it "should be placed under the operational control of the Army commander."

He added that he believes the issues between the Army and Air Force can be worked out and that one of the main problems is operational control.

"We are going to get the best air support we can get for the infantryman," he said. "I am sure we are going to get it before we are through."

Two days ago, Air Force Maj. Gen. W. R. Wolfinbarger told a news conference the Air Force believes tactical air should be controlled jointly by the Army and Air Force at Army level.

He stressed the importance of centralized control and argued against breaking tactical air into "Penny Packets" to be controlled at levels lower than army headquarters.

Clark remarked he knew of no one who had made such a proposition and "I know of no one who wants it or seeks it."

The paratroopers jump initially was scheduled for 7 a. m. (e.s.t.), but weather reports brought the two hour setback in the timetable.

A fleet of more than 100 troop-carrier planes were assembled at nearby airbases to carry the paratroopers and their equipment — including trucks and howitzers — to the drop zones.

The jump was planned to give the defending U. S. forces strong support for a counter-offensive aimed at defeating the aggressor.

The U. S. forces are composed of the 43rd and 28th Infantry Divisions, both former National Guard outfits.

The paratroopers and troop-carrier pilots have been training for days for this operation. The jumpers will be carried from the big C-119 "boxcars" which are being used so much in the Korean war.

Urges Egypt, West Accord

can remain isolated, but should have potential allies."

A number of Egyptian politicians have been urging a policy of neutrality in the East-West struggle.

Affi Pasha is one of Egypt's outstanding economic leaders. He enjoys the confidence of King Farouk and is believed to have the support of some leaders of the governing party.

The public reaction to his statement — here and in other Arab states — may soon show what chance the West has of obtaining the friendship of the unstable, oil-rich Arab world.

Blasts Red Charges as Falsehoods

I will direct my representatives to meet with yours, with a view to seeking a reasonable armistice agreement."

The Allied delegation, headed by Vice Adm. C. Turner-Joy, stood by at United Nations Advance Headquarters in Munsan, ready to go to Kaesong if the Reds give the word.

Ridgway's reply, in tone and content, came as no surprise to observers here.

See No Apology

They said he could hardly apologize for incidents he had already branded as "manufactured in advance."

Nor, the observers added, can the Reds accept the blast as the "satisfactory" answer they demanded.

It is possible, said the observers, the Reds will agree to continue negotiations, and try to convince the world they are doing so for the sake of peace.

Ridgway pulled no punches. He told the Reds:

"This most recent addition to alleged incidents . . . so utterly false, so preposterous and so obviously manufactured for your own questionable purposes does not, in its own right, merit a reply.

"Nor do the incidents you have cited. When not fabricated by you for your own propaganda needs, these incidents have proven to be the actions of irregulars without the slightest connection .... with any forces or agencies under my control.

Manufactured Incident

"The evidence in this most recent aleged violation was even more palably compounded for your insidious propaganda purposes than your earlier efforts.

"I have caused the results of the investigation into this most recent allegation to be widely publicized, so that the entire world will be fully cognizant of your quite evident attempt to use a 'manufactured' incident in order to evade your responsibility for having suspended the negotiations.

"The allegations made in your several recent communications... are rejected without qualification as malicious falsehoods totally without foundation in fact.

"When you are prepared to terminate the suspension of armistice talks...I will direct my representatives to meet with yours, with a view to seeking a reasonable armistice agreement."

This last paragraph gave the Communists their choice of resuming negotiations or calling them off for good.

The feeling around Ridgway's headquarters was that the Supreme Commander didn't care much one way or the other, but that he was pretty certain the Reds wanted to keep talking.

Telegraph Rates To Be Increased

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—Telegraph rates are going up, and that 10-worder which so often ended with "love" is going out.

In most cases, the exact amount of the rate increases remains to be worked out. But the minimum charge will be for 15 words instead of the present 10.

The Federal Communications commission (FCC) late yesterday disapproved as too high proposed rate schedules filed by the Western Union telegraph company and designed to yield $11,000,000 net revenue.

However, the FCC agreed the company needs up to $9,800,000 more revenue as a result of a July 1 wage increase.

As a result of the FCC action, the company must start all over and draft new schedules. If they meet with FCC approval they will be allowed to go into effect promptly.

While not specifying exact rates in most cases, the FCC did authorize Western Union to:

1. Make 15 words instead of 10 the minimum charge for straight telegrams.

2. Increase the minimum money order premium for money orders from 15 to 25 cents. This charge is in addition to telegram charges.

3. Make 50 words instead of 25 the minimum charge for night letters, with no change in the present 50-word allowance for day letters.

4. Put into effect a new formula increasing charges for press dispatches. Under it, the day press rate will be one-half the telegram rates, and night press one-fourth the telegram rates. Press rates now are one-third and one-sixth, respectively.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association objected to the new formula because it would increase press rates proportionately more than telegram service. The commission said, however, that it did not regard the formula as "unreasonable."

Gerich Starts Term In Jail

and Brodeur were convicted of conspiracy to defraud the customers of the Ger-Ron farms corporation of Somers, which Gerich ran as a sideline to his greeting card manufacturing business.

The State charged that by falsifying the weight of turkeys, they cheated customers out of a total of $100,000.

The three defendants twice carried the case to the State Supreme Court.

They got their second rebuff from that tribunal August 13, and were given until this week to wind up their affairs and start their terms.

Brodeur went to Canada, but police who got in touch with him there yesterday said he had been unaware that he was not supposed to leave the United States and had promised to return immediately.

Many of the 500 employes of the National Printing company, which Gerich heads and of which Brodeur is an executive, have signed a petition asking Governor Lodge to extend executive clemency to the defendants.

The petition says the employes' jobs will be in jeopardy if the firm's executives have to stay in prison.

Connecticut law does not give the governor pardoning power, but he is a member of the State Board of Pardons.

ly shown its aversion towards the Hungarian peoples' Republic and the Hungarian people peacefully building their country."

The note, moderate and even-tempered in tone, also complained of other grievances.

It charged American diplomats "repeatedly supported our grim enemies and fascist remnants of the past attempting to overthrow the Peoples Republic." The Hungarians also accused the U. S. of violating the peace treaty and hindering their entry into the United Nations.

7.5 Billion Aid Bill Approved

000,000 less than the $8,500,000,000 asked by President Truman and but little more than the $7,499,000,000 the House voted.

The major share of help would go to western European nations within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), with Turkey, Greece and other friendly nations assigned unspecified amounts.

Chairman Connally (D., Tex.) of the combined committees said the measure will be brought up in the Senate Tuesday.

Before the committees acted finally, they amended the bill to provide for an indefinite life for the "Point Four", Greek-Turkish and Inter-American affairs programs. The House had voted to end them July 1, 1954.

The Senators also struck out a provision for a House Foreign Affairs "watchdog" subcommittee and deleted a House-approved section under which 20 per cent of economic aid would have had to be in loans.

In addition to the new military aid provided in the bill, the Senate committees voted to permit $150,000,000 in existing American military equipment to be shipped to Allies abroad.

The combined committee wrote into the bill a ceiling of $500,000,000 on military aid that might be given to Spain, Yugoslavia and some other nations outside NATO. There was no similar limitation on economic help for them.

Authority over foreign spending was split three ways: the Pentagon would direct military assistance, the Economic Cooperation administration, most economic aid, and the State department the relatively small "Point Four" program of help for underdeveloped areas of the world. The House voted to put all foreign aid funds under a single Mutual Security administration.

Senate committee members said any aid to Spain must await completion of negotiations with Franco's government, now being conducted by an American team in Madrid.

A subcommittee which visited Europe said that if aid is given to Spain, about $400,000,000 will be required, divided equally between economic and military assistance.

Says Truman Sent Thanks to 'Worker'

that Truman was their second choice after (Henry A.) Wallace."

McCarthy said that "on Aug. 14, on Senate stationery, Truman wrote a letter to the Public Relations director of the Communist Daily Worker, warmly thanking him and complimenting him on his excellent analysis and gave him permission to print the Truman letter, which the Daily Worker printed on Aug. 20, 1944."

McCarthy, who has long belabored the State department for, he contends, harboring Communists and Communist sympathizers, also reviewed his criticism of Philip Jessup, ambassador at large, and John Stewart Service, State department employe.

In an evening address which also was broadcast, McCarthy displayed an enlarged photograph which he said showed Gustavo Duran, former State department employe in the uniform of the "S.I.M." This is the Spanish secret police, McCarthy said, adding that the information about Duran had been giving to the Tydings committee but nothing came of it. Duran now is in the United Nations screening displaced persons and "deciding whether they will make good loyal Americans," he said.

The Wisconsin Senator declared that "if we continue another 15 years at the rate we are going international atheistic Communism will have all of the world caught in its net."

U. S. Planes Bomb Red Border City

turned safely to their bases in Japan and Okinawa.

Almost 50 B-29s hit Rashin in the first attack Aug. 12, 1950. They struck by radar in heavy overcast and dumped some 500 tons of bombs on their targets.

Rashin, one of the best ports on the east coast of Korea, is 110 miles southwest of Vladivostok.

MacArthur testified before Senate committees last May after his removal as Supreme Allied Commander that he repeatedly asked Washington in February or March for permission to continue bombing Rashin but was denied it.

Defense Secretary Marshall told the Senators permission was denied because the port was so close to the Soviet border.

People Ask For Reward On Oil Grab

here made Mossadegh the hero of the hour in a country which blames most of its troubles on the real and fancied intrigue of the British company.

Fails on Pledges

Any parliament deputy voting against oil nationalization would be commiting suicide as surely as voting against the Koran (the Moslem bible).

But so far, the nationalistic Premier has not made good on his promise of a "life of ease and comfort" for Iran's 15,000,000 persons now they control their own oil riches.

Politicians and newspapers who backed Mossadegh's oil takeover are asking for the promised rewards. The newspaper Dad (Justice) expressed the growing opposition sentiment this way after the talks broke down:

"After three months and 20 days, the only results of Mossadegh's policy has been the closing of the Abadan refinery, misunderstanding between Iran and the big powers, and the danger of a full economic crisis and bankruptcy."

Desperate attacks—even leading up to an attempt to defeat Mossadegh's government on a vote of confidence in parliament—may be expected within a month. Under Iranian law, arrangements for the election should be completed by Sept. 23.

But political observers believe the national frontists stand to gain seats in parliament if Mossadegh remains in power.

Andover

At the Grange meeting a revue was given of the home-made dresses by members. There were six dresses presented. By arrangement, these cotton frocks were judged with the hope that a winner's dress would by selection compete in a higher contest. Honorable mention was given to Mrs. Brian Minalga, Mrs. Anne Shepherd and Clarence Goss.

Prizes were awarded as follows— First, Miss Marion Stanley; Second, Mrs. Charles Van Deusen; and Third, Mrs. Louis Brown, Jr.

An unusual feature of this contest, which was sponsored by the Home Economics committee of the Grange was the presentation of a dress by a male member, Brother Clarence Goss, who had a very pretty well-made dress with exceptionally, fine lines. Miss Stanley's dress will be placed in the Pomana Grange Contest, Miss Cora Webb of the State Extension Service was judge.

The program for the winning Song by all "Be Faithful, O Patron," brief report of lecturer's Conference by Worthy Lecturer Gladys Jillson as relayed to her by patron, who had attended; Geography Quiz of States, which was won by Brother Harmon Cockrane; Article entitled "Asthma" read by Worthy Lecturer; Game of "Skill" in which captains were Brothers Clarence Goss and Harmon Cochrane; "Apron Tying" stunt which proved to be very amusing; "The spelling clock" for wit sharpening; Frank Atwood's account of the National Grange Master, Herschel Newson was read by the Worthy Lecturer.

The closing song was "Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes."

The custom of the Home Economics committee to furnish a cake for all present having birthdays in the current month, resulted in the discovery that no one was present having a birthday in August. Therefore, the committee chairlady, Miss Marion Stanley, asked for wedding anniversaries this month. This uery developed that Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Goss and Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Cochrane had been married in August. These four agreed to cut the cake and serve all present. Their decision was delightfully enjoyed with thanks to the H. E. Committee.

Food Quality Counts Most

Quality always counts and nowhere does it count any more than in food. There is no economy in buying poor food, it is wasteful and you lose more than the few pennies you save in buying at lower prices. That is one reason so many Manchester people make the L. T. Wood Locker Plant and Meat House at 51 Bissell street their headquarters for food.

Homer F. Larrabee is the manager of the Wood Locker and Meat Plant and his years of experience in the meat and frozen food business means customer satisfaction when you make your purchases here. Mr. Larrabee feels that the most economical buy is quality, for by bying good food at a price that is in line, you are actually saving money. Too many times a bargain turns out to be anything but a bargain, for you really get what you pay for. When you buy cheaply you will often find that the quality is poor and you have a lot of waste, but when you make L. T. Wood Locker Plant and Meat House your headquarters for buying you will be satisfied with the quality, the little waste and the wonderful flavor of the food.

A full line of frozen foods is always stocked at the Wood Locker Plant and Meat House and many people take advantage of the discount offered by the purchase of 12 or more packages of frozen food. You can save 10% on purchases of 12 or more packages of frozen food and you not only save money but have the convenience of plenty of frozen food on hand.

Many people enjoy using the locker plant for storing meats, fruits, vegetables, knowing they are absolutely safe, kept at temperatures designed to protect them, but if you have your own freezer have you taken advantage of their other service? You may purchase meat here or elsewhere and have it cut up and wrapped for you, quick frozen and held for twenty-four hours for you to call for and store at home. This is a real convenience and the cost is very small for such service.

For full shopping satisfaction, for mealtime enjoyment for the whole family, make Wood's Locker and Meat Plant your headquarters for shopping.

Woodling's Homer Puts Yanks Back in Race

Indians Lead Shaved to Two Games; White Sox Beat Red Sox; Giants And Brooklyn Win

By Ralph Roden
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gene Woodling, 29-year-old outfielder of the New York Yankee, is waging a one man drive to prevent the Cleveland Indians from winning the 1951 American League pennant.

Woodling, a native Ohioan and one time member of the Tribe, put the Yankees back into the thick of the fight last night as he poled a two-run two-out homer in the seventh inning off Early Wynn to lead the Bombers to a 2-0 triumph. The conquest moved the Yanks to within two games of the Indians.

Woodling's dramatic homer was his fifth decisive four-bagger against the Indians. It also was his third off Wynn, each blow coming exactly one month apart.

The little outfielder started his one man crusade June 23 when he homered off Bob Lemon with one on in a 7-6 Yankee victory. On June 24th he beat Wynn, 5-3, with a two-run homer in the eighth. July 12th he homered off Bob Feller to account for the only run in Allie Reynolds' no-hitter. Woodling ruined Wynn again July 24 when he cracked a two-run homer in a 3-2 Yankee victory.

Woodling's homer off Wynn last night was his 13th of the season. He also collected a single and two walks to give him a total of 15 hits in his last 20 times at bat, a blazing .750 average.

The payoff homer, struck before 71,768 fans, largest night game crowd of the season, overshadowed some brilliant pitching by Stubby Overmire and Joe Ostrowski, obscure lefthanders of the Yanks.

Overmire drew the starting assignment because Reynolds and Bob Kuzava were out with injuries. The little southpaw, entrusted with only three previous starting jobs, lasted until the fifth when he complained of a pain in his pitching arm. Ostrowski took over with runners on first and third and one out and got out of the jam.

Ostrowski singled to start the seventh inning. He moved up on a sacrifice and jogged home ahead of Woodling's smash over the right field fence. Ostrowski received credit for the victory, his sixth against three losses.

Other American League games saw the Chicago White Sox edge the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, the St. Louis Browns defeat the Philadelphia Athletics, 5-3 and the Washington Senators clubbed the Detroit Tigers, 10-7.

Ed Robinson singled home Ray Coleman with Chicago's winning run against the Red Sox. Lou Kretlow limited Boston to five hits.

Ned Garver hung up his 15th victory for the tail-end Browns with the aid of batterymate Sherm Lollar. Lollar pounded out a homer, double and single, drove in two runs and scored three. About 1,000 grandstand managers directed the Browns in another of owner Bill Veeck's promotions. Gus Zernial accounted for all of Philadelphia's runs with his 28th homer.

Mike McCormick clouted a grand slam homer and Sam Mele and Joe Haynes homered with the bases empty to lead Washington to victory over Detroit.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers nipped the Chicago Cubs, 1-0, the New York Giants beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5, the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated Philadelphia, 5-1, and the Boston Braves took a twi-night double header from Cincinnati, 5-1 and 2-1.

Ralph Branca blanked the Cubs on three hits and fanned ten as Brooklyn retained its 7½-game lead over the Giants. Jackie Robinson drove in Pee Wee Reese with the lone run in the first inning.

The Giants beat the Cards with two runs in the ninth, scoring on three singles and Dave Williams' ground ball. Al Dark and Whitey Lockman homered for the Giants and Billy Johnson and Del Rice for the Cards.

Murry Dickson posted his 17th victory for the last place Pirates in beating the Phils. Dickson allowed only two hits, including a pinch-hit homer by Del Ennis in the ninth. Gus Bell smashed a grand slam homer for the Pirates.

Warren Spahn turned in his 16th victory for Boston in the opener against Cincinnati. Sibby Sisti tripled home pitcher Chet Nichols with the payoff in the ninth of the nightcap.

Friday's Stars

Batting, Gene Woodling, Yankees — Socked two-run homer to spark New York to a 2-0 victory over Cleveland.

Pitching, Murry Dickson, Pirates—Turned in his 17th victory in pitching last place Pittsburgh to a 5-1 triumph over Philadelphia.

A Roving Fielder

Chicago—(AP) — Ray Coleman, White Sox outfielder recently obtained from the Browns, knows what it means to cover the outfield. In his second game in a White Sox uniform he started against the Athletics in center field. In the eighth inning Manager Paul Richards switched Ray to left field. When the game entered the tenth inning, Coleman was patrolling right field.

Harridge to Air Protest Monday

Chicago, Aug. 25—(AP)—Will Harridge, president of the American League, has cancelled a hearing scheduled for Monday in Chicago on a Chicago White Sox protest of a game at New York July 27.

The contest was called because of rain in the first half of the ninth inning after the Sox had scored three runs to go ahead, 4 to 3. The score reverted to the end of the eighth and the White Sox lost, 3 to 1.

Manager Paul Richards of Chicago protested the umpires should not have permitted "stalling" by the Yankees.

Harridge cancelled the hearing yesterday because Richards, who was to attend the meeting with New York's Manager Casey Stengel and the umpires involved, was called home to Waxahachie, Tex., by the death of his mother.

A spokesman for the league said Harridge would give a decision on the protest next week after studying reports of the game from the teams and umpires involved. The officials were Hank Soar, Bill McGowan, Bill McKinley and Jim Honochick. Roger (Doc) Cramer will be in charge of the Sox until Richards returns Tuesday.

Boxing Expert Selects Next Three Fight Champs

By Murray Rose

New York, Aug. 25—(AP)—I'm giving you three winners right now—before it's too late. That is, before this corner gets around to the training camps. Boy, what that "inside stuff" can do to mess you up!

Here goes: Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan to outpoint Billy Graham next Wednesday; Sugar Ray Robinson to get even on Sept. 12 and take back his middleweight crown from Randy Turpin, and weatherweight king Sandy Saddler to whip wily Willie Pep on Sept. 26 and put an end to their long series.

Sure, Gavilan, Robinson and Saddler are all favored. But you know what's happened to the choices in boxing this year. It's been a black '51 for champs and favorites. And for the alleged experts, including yours truly.

Some nerve, eh? The guy picks Bobby Murphy to knock off Joey Maxim and now he has the gall to try to slip the public three stiffs. Still with me? Okay I've got an alibi, no kidding. Plenty of company in the 98 per cent wrong prediction department, too.

When Maxim was first signed to meet the socking sailor, I said Joey couldn't miss. Why Murphy wouldn't lay a glove on him.

Then I made the horrible mistake. I visited the training camps and watched the gladiators in action. Maybe I should have left my spectacles home. I guess I would have been better off in a myopic daze. Com. carpers say it's the same with me anyway, glasses on or off.

Anyway, I saw Maxim train. He looked slow, worn and worried. His four southpaw sparmates belted him plenty. The old zip was gone from the champ's legs.

"You going to win, champ," I asked.

"Gee, I don't know," replied Maxim. "I gotta win. I'll try, but I don't know."

With a little prodding, Joe said "OK, I'll win."

He said it without conviction.

Then a trip to Murphy's camp. Even in training the smiling Irishman takes a licking. But oh how he can dish it out. He just appeared to be too strong for a Maxim who had been beaten to a frazzle by Ezzard Charles.

Yes, it had to be Murphy. But then again maybe Maxim still had enough left for one more good fight.

Then I ran into a Cleveland writer, who shall be nameless, but who has blond hair, parted in the middle, and always has a big smile on his kisser.

"Murphy's a cinch in ten" he confided. This guy, remember, is a pal of Joey's. "Joey just hasn't got it anymore. Too bad, nice guy."

Several more writers joined the party. The information was exchanged. Yup, it was agreed, pal Joey was going to get licked.

Well...

Joey was nice about it all afterwards. I explained the prediction. He smiled.

"I don't blame you a bit," he said with a grin. "Boy did I stink up that camp. Everyone belted me good. Those sparring partners hit me like I was a pitcher for the Browns. They all hit .400."

Now don't forget our parlay... Gavilan, Robinson, and Saddler.

You see, I'm going to visit the training camps any day now.

Dodgers Beat Red Sox, Move into League Lead

Quent Hagedorn Blanks Sox on Four Bingles, 5-0; Winners Oppose Cards Tonight at 5:30

Like their namesakes in the National League, the rampaging Little League Dodgers wrapped up their fourth straight success last night and in doing so climaxed a drive that found the team coming from last to first place.

The Dodgers, behind the splendid hurling of Quent Hagedorn, polished off the Red Sox, first round winners, by a 5 to 0 count. Hagedorn was superb in the clutches.

Tonight at 5:30 the Cardinals will face the Dodgers. A triumph for the Cards would create a four-way tie for first place in the standings. The game is scheduled to start at 5:30.

Denny Guay got the Dodgers off on the right foot in the first inning when he beat out an infield roller, went to second as Ed Adams strolled. Both runners advanced on a sacrifice and Guay scored on a wild pitch by Jimmy Maneggia.

Three More Tallies

Three more tallies for the Dodgers crossed the platter in the third. Bunny Tarca walked, was sacrificed to second and scored on Steve Cooper's error. Hagedorn's single, a fielder's choice, another hit by Guay, a passed ball and an error accounted for three runs. A walk to Muisener, an error, a stolen base and a passed ball completed the night's scoring.

The Red Sox rooters have their moments but Hagedorn was the master in critical situations. In the first frame the Sox loaded the bases with two out but failed to score when Roger Benson was retired, pitcher to first. In the fourth, with the bases jammed with Red Sockers, Hagedorn whiffed Nick Twerdy and Cooper. Again in the fifth, with runners on second and third, Hagedorn rose to the occasion to get Danny Renn on a pop-up, Dave Golas on another infield fly and Maneggia on a hopper back to the box.

Solomonson to Coach Silk City This Fall

Elof "Swede" Solomonson has been named head coach of the Silk City football team for the 1951 season. The announcement was made last night by Bill Shaw. Solomonson succeeds Joe "Sugar" Hugret who declined the job because of business reasons.

Solomonson, a former halfback with several local teams, coached the Aces during the 1949 season. A four man committee, consisting of Shaw, Jeff Koelsch, Mike Genolfi and Huck Ellis, selected the mentor.

Gordon Shows Way

Sacramento, Calif.—(AP)— Joe Gordon, former big league star with the Yankees and Indians, is still socking the ball as playing manager for the Sacramento Solons. Recently he was sidelined with a bad back but made a dramatic return to action in the role of pinch-hitter in a recent game with Seattle. Joe smacked a grand slam homer to win the game, 4-3. The four base hit was Gordon's 34th of the season.

Andy Pafko had the distinction of getting the Brooklyn Dodgers' 1,000th hit for the season.

Bill Heiss, new football coach at Colorado College, is 28 years old and a graduate of Illinois where he played on the 1946-47 Rose Bowl team.

Ardent Fans Guide Browns To Triumph Over Athletics

St. Louis, Aug. 25—(AP)—Baseball fans—1,115 of them—had their say last night and were proved right in their strategy as St. Louis Browns' owner Bill Veeck staged his controversial Grandstand Managers night.

With three good decisions and a revised lineup that provided needed power, the fans guided their Browns to a 5-3 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

It was a successful climax to a "How-I'd-Run-A-Ball-Club" contest arranged by Veeck that had set off some rather sharp critical comment from some baseball quarters.

Though some quarters have described Veeck as a farce of the National sport, the colorful promoter has declared that people should have fun at the ball park. He found that a good share of the fans agreed with him as some 1,300 letters poured in to launch what Veeck called "our great experiment."

"People like to do things like this," Veeck explained.

And apparently he's right, according to the comment of some of the managers.

Miss Helen Boyd, a high school student who helped give the women fans a majority in the managers' group, said "It was pretty nice I thought. It was fun. I participated in all the decisions."

But perhaps her final remark most pleased Veeck:

"I was a Cardinal fan until Veeck came to town," she admitted.

F. J. Ott, 54, had the same idea. "I think it's a good idea to bring the crowd out and let them have some fun. I've always wanted to call the plays and tonight I had the chance."

An Indianapolis student, home for summer leave, also joined in. He was Z. John Kowalskey, Jr.

"It's a good deal," he said, "and something that was needed to attract the crowd. We had a lot of fun. Real good game too."

To make it a good game for the Browns, the managers made three quick decisions in the first inning. The strategy paved the way to the triumph.

First they voted to leave pitcher Ned Garver in the game after the Athletics greeted him with three quick runs. Then the fans moved the Brown infield back to work a double play that ended the inning.

In the home half of the frame the managers voted "no" to answer a query whether base runner Sherm Lollar, a slow man, should steal second. A 3-2 count faced Cliff Mapes at the plate at the time.

Mapes fanned and Lollar probably would have been an easy out. Instead he later scored one of three St. Louis runs that tied the contest.

The fans made their decisions by raising "yet" or "no" signs in answer to queries offered by two coaches. The coaches won their positions by writing the most interesting letters in the contest. They were Charles E. Hughes, 24, and Clark Mitze, 38, both of St. Louis. Neither has ever played baseball.

They were to have performed on the field but were denied that experience when the American League refused to approve their contracts.

Instead they had a box seat vantage point next to the Brown dugout.

Veeck presented each with a trophy bearing the inscription "One of the best coaches ever banned from the coaching line."

While the fans controlled the game, Brown Manager Zack Taylor sat quietly in a rocking chair, clad in slippers and smoking a pipe.

Auxiliary Police Play Springfield

Manchester's Auxiliary Police department inaugurate its short softball schedule tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the Charter Oak Field when they play host to the Springfield, Mass., auxiliary policemen.

Chief Herman O. Schendel has put his charges through "spring training" the past three weeks and has come up with a starting lineup that resembles a collection of major league stars. Lloyd Jarvis, one of the top softball pitchers in town this year, will toe the slab for the CD Auxiliary. Behind the plate will be Leo "Birdy" Fracchia. Lanky Bob Kiernan is slated to start at first base with Ed Nolan at second, Joe Hilinski at third, and Milt "Marty Marion" Stratton on short. A strong outfield, composed of Pete Staum, Ed Smith and Charlie Banks, will give the locals a fine outer garden patrol.

Sammy "The Fly" Maltempo will coach the squad and has Jim Edwards, Snuffy Frost and Lenny Torstenson as reserves.

The visiting policemen from Springfield are not taking this game lightly. They are said to be coming here with a strong team. A good crowd is expected to follow them here since they have publicized the game widely through the press and radio. A return engagement is planned for a later date.

Walker Features As Lions Triumph

Dallas, Aug. 25 — (AP) — Doak Walker's home folks always expect the sensational when he plays football—and the Doaker isn't a fellow to disappoint them.

Las night the former Southern Methodist All-America, now a professional, did everything possible with a pigskin in carrying the Detroit Lions to a 31-21 victory over the New York Giants in a National Foodball League exhibition game.

The little man, who has brought more fans into the Cotton Bowl than any other person, was responsible for a new Southwestern attendance record for professional football. Fifty-six thousand were in the big bowl to see the Doaker score 18 points and roll up 169 yards rushing, pass-receiving and running back kick-offs. His gem of the night was a 95-yard touchdown dash with a kick-off.

There were other stars in the dashing, slashing game, such as Charley Conerly, the ex-Mississippi great, who passed for two touchdowns and set up the other for New York, completing 10 throws for an amazing 207 yards.

Then there was Bobby Layne, quarterback for Detroit, who connected on 11 passes for 92 yards, setting up one touchdown and piloting the Lions flawlessly. There also was Bob Hoernschemeyer of Detroit who gained 53 yards running with the ball as leading ball-carrier of the game.

And there were Emlen Tunnell and DeWitt Coulter of the Giants, who stood out brilliantly on defense. Tunnell intercepted one pass and was batting down throws all night, several times preventing touchdowns. Coulter, out of football a year, returned to the game without even a day's work-out and played all the way on defense.

But the crowd that eclipsed by three thousand the largest ever before to see a pro game in the Southwest talked only of Walker. The Doaker scored two touchdowns, one on a three-yard line plunge; kicked a 28-yard field goal, barely missed another from an angle at 18 yards, and boosted three extra points. He carried the ball for 47 yards, caught two passes for 11 yards, returned two kick-offs for 111 and punted twice for a 31-yard average.

The game was supposed to be a duel between Walker and his former Southern Methodist teammate, Kyle Rote, who played his first pro game last night—with the Giants. But Rote, outside of a 35-yard run with a Conerly pass that set up a touchdown, did little. He gained only 15 yards rushing, caught a pass for 33 yards, run one kick-off back 23 yards—and fumbled twice. One of his fumbles gave Detroit a touchdown as Jack Christiansen plucked the ball out of the air and ran 73 yards.

Detroit moved on to Shreveport today. The Lions play the Philadelphia Eagles there Monday night. The Giants went to Jonesboro, Ark., to train for an exhibition with the Chicago Bears at Memphis Sept. 2.

Local Sport Chatter

Tip to Twi League President Nick Angelo: Start all remaining Twi League playoff baseball games at 5:30 p. m. to avoid any further unpleasant situations as occurred last night in the seventh inning. An earlier starting time would, in all probability, insure a regulation seven inning game.

Joe Tripp, flashy Pratt and Whitney second baseman, will not be with the Twi League All Stars Tuesday night against Moodus at the Oval. Tripp is vacationing. He sent along his sincere thanks to league officials for naming him to play in the contest.

Best bunter in the Twi League this season is Jerry Dunnack of the Ridges. A speedster, Jerry has accounted for nearly one-third of his hits this season on infield taps.

Pete Hansen has won the attendance prize on three occasions in recent ypSoibETAOHRDLRDL in recent weeks at Twi League offerings at the Oval. Billy Frey pocketed the two dollars last night.

Sambo Prentice's righthand neighbor last night on the press bench was another Sam—Sam Jewell.

There's a possibility of a four-way tie for first place in the Little League after tonight's game. The Dodgers hold a half-game margin over the second place Yankees and Red Sox and a full game advantage over the fourth place Cards. The Dodgers meet the Cards at 5:30 at Memorial Field. To create a four-way tie, all the Cards have to do is to win.

The surge of the Dodgers in Little League play has been amazing. Last in the first round and losers of their first three second round starts, Coach Jack Fraher's team suddenly caught fire and advanced from the cellar to the top spot in the standings. Instead of being criticized for his handling of the team, Fraher is now the toast of the Dodger supporters. What a difference a few victories will make.

Silk City football team will practice Sunday morning at 10:30 at the Charter Oak Lots. Alex Ferguson will be in charge of the conditioning drills.

Monmouth Racing Sets Records

Oceanport, N. J.—(AP) — Monmouth Park race track recently concluded its most successful season. This year 724,181 people paid to see the horses run during the 46-day session. This bettered last year's mark of 679,640. Total mutuels for the season set a new high of $56,707,853, averaging $1,232,779 daily. This compared with a previous high average of $1,204,751 set in 1947 during a 36-day period.

Nearly Total Darkness Halts Playoff Game

Score Knotted at 3-3 When Activities Stop; Swan Checks Threat By Whiffing D. Foley

Darkness was the winner again last night at the West Side Oval when the British Americans and Hamilton Props attempted to start their playoff series in an effort to settle third and fourth positions in the final Twilight League standings. Action was finally halted after six and one-half innings of play by Umpire-in-Chief Jim O'Leary with the score knotted at 3-all.

The teams should never have been allowed to start the seventh inning because of darkness. It took a "painful" finger injury to Art Pongratz of the Hamiltons on the first pitch in the bottom half of the seventh frame before hostilities ceased. At this time, the nearby street lights were shining brightly, although they didn't provide enough light for the batter to see the ball.

Common Sense Strategy

After the BA's "struggled" through the top of the seventh, with a minimum of stalling, the side was finally retired. The Hamilton camp very wisely mapped out a plan of strategy before taking the field for the last half of the frame for Swan's first pitch, wide of the plate, found Pongratz shaking off his glove as if it was a hot potato and grabbing his finger. A majority of the Hamilton players surrounded the catcher as some of the fans lit matches in the stands to make sure their wives were still sitting next to them before play was finally halted.

Fortunately, no one got hurt and no one was reported lost to local police.

President Nick Angelo immediately ordered the game replayed from scratch Monday night. A suggestion would be to start the game at 5:30 in order to avoid any further farces such as last night's seventh inning.

Each team employed two pitchers. Al Surowiec started for the BA's and went the first four frames. Scully took over and hurled the last three stanzas; two officially as the records only go into the book up to the sixth inning. Jimmy Blanchard pitched five and two-thirds frames for the Props. He gave up a single to Jimmy Griffen in the first and then proceeded to hold the Maple Streeters hitless until the same Griffen belted a double over Red Jacko's head in left field in the fifth. With the sacks jammed in the sixth and Dick Foley, the league's leading batter at the plate, Coach Johnny Falkowski waved his southpaw ace, George Swan in from the bullpen. Swan caught Foley looking on a beautiful curve and that ended the threat.

Scoring

Griffen's single, an error and Cliff Keeney's infield out gave the BA's a marker in the first. The Props knotted the count in the third when Showboat Porter and Pongratz singled in succession. Porter rode home on a double to right by Hal Lewis. The propeller makers went ahead in the fourth on a walk and successive singles by Porter, Pongratz and Blanchard which netted two markers.

With two down in the fifth, the BA's exploded for two runs. Griffen doubled to left and scored when Dick Foley lashed out a two-bagger to right. Brother Bill Foley followed with a single to left and the count was squared at 3-all.

Porter, Pongratz and Blanchard accounted for six of the eight Hamilton hits, each getting a pair, while Griffen poled out two safeties for the BA's.

Sense and Nonsense

A man was sitting on a wharf in New Orleans when a woman came down the gangplank from a boat. In her arms she carried a small shivering, hairless Mexican dog. The man gaped in wonder, for he had never seen a dog like this. Turning to the woman, he said:

Man—Pardon me, ma'am, but is that thing you're carrying a dog?

Woman—It most certainly is!

Man—Is it the only one you've got?

Woman—Yes.

The man shook his head in amazement.

Man—Ma'am, I beg your pardon, but ain't you pretty near out of dog?

The Little Bride's First Cake (Coronet Magazine)

It was the little bride's first cake. She cut her husband a slice and let her heart stand on tiptoe while he sampled it. The cake was exceedingly yellow and, yielding to temptation, he lovingly inquired, "Darling, how did you happen to use so many eggs?"

"Because," she replied tremulously, "they weren't very good eggs."

The reason that some bachelors know exactly where their clothes are is that they have no wives to pick them up.

The minister arose to address his congregation. "There is a certain man among us today who is flirting with another man's wife. Unless he puts five dollars in the collection box, his name will be read from the pulpit."

When the collection plate came in, there were nineteen five dollar bills and a two dollar and a fifty note attached: "Other three pay day."

Heard Along Main Street

And on Some of Manchester's Side Streets, Too

Fall and winter programs will soon be starting in Manchester again, after the Labor Day holiday, and this is as good a time as any to explain to readers who act as club or group correspondents the proper way to turn in copy to The Herald.

1. Write on only one side of the paper.

2. Never carry a paragraph over to another paper.

3. Start stories several inches from the top of paper to allow editor space to mark in heading.

4. Always sign items. List telephone as additional information may be needed.

5. Don't write heads, let the editor do that after he receives the copy.

6. If typing copy, always double space, leaving room for corrections.

7. If written in long hand, print names. Also, use full names, i.e. John Smith, not J. Smith; leave space between lines.

8. Get items into The Herald as early as possible. Sports items must be received no later than 9:30 a. m. Monday through Friday, and 8:30 a. m. on Saturday to insure publication. General news items should be turned into The Herald as early as possible. Deadline is 2 p. m.

Correspondents who follow the above rules will get along fine with ye editor.

Two Manchester garagemen were down to the town dump the other night when one fellow remarked to the other, "Jeepers, listen to dat smell."

Along these lines, a correspondent sent in a long article recently which told of a dance at which there were "many on looking listeners."

Our mailbag tells us that the following is a view supported by the local Chamber of Commerce.

"Senator Aiken, of Vermont, has been championing the proposed St. Lawrence waterway-hydroelectric project ever since Hector was a pup on the grounds that the power plant would bring oodles of weal to the people of his native New England. In one flight of fancy he visualized 10 million migrant Britishers settling in his State and nearby Canada.

"He continues to ballyhoo the benefits of this power notwithstanding that the Federal Power Commission has said publicly that the amount of power which New England would receive from the St. Lawrence plant, even if it received a generous allocation, would have only a negligible effect upon the area's power needs and its power costs.

"The commission first made this statement in a letter to Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts; subsequently made the statement public."

Now we aren't here to discuss the merits, or lack of them, of the St. Lawrence project. We're just interested because the Manchester (Conn.) Chamber of Commerce is listed as a member of the organization that authored the above bulletin, the National St. Lawrence Project Conference, a national organization in opposition.

We were talking to Mrs. Martha Stevenson, secretary of the local organization, and she stated that the group had joined the conference long before she became a member of it.

The Conference is apparently a worthwhile organization since the bulletin lists about 231 member groups, most of them chambers of commerce, from throughout the country.

We were just wondering how many members of the local Chamber of Commerce agree with the stated view or whether they even know enough about the project to either agree or disagree.

Along with our standard copy rules we would like to inform our readers of the picture situation. Many people do not know the method of printing a picture in a newspaper, and it often causes disappointment or misunderstanding.

When a picture is brought to a newspaper it must go through a process of photo-engraving. The Herald, not having a photo-engraving plant of its own, sends the pictures to Hartford to have a metal plate made from them, known in the printing parlance as a cut. Making the photo-engraving does not damage the picture, and the person who brought it to us can call at the office and get it back.

Here's where the misunderstanding comes in. Often a person who has had a picture appear in the paper before does not realize that it can be used over and over again. Because of that he will send in a second picture to be engraved. If it is not checked in our files, and that sometimes happens, we send it to be engraved and end up with a useless duplicate cut. We also, chances, are, end up with one more picture in our already crowded file of pictures which have never been called for by their owners.

More and more frequently people come into the office with tinted or color pictures. We can not use this type of photograph. The engraving more often than not comes out so dark as to be unrecognizable.

Snapshots to be useful must be very clear and sharp. It must be realized that the picture cannot be improved in the engraving, and almost always it loses a certain amount of its clarity.

The fact that we must send our pictures to Hartford makes it imperative that any picture which is to be used on a certain date be sent in ahead of time so that we can have it for the required issue of the paper. Spot news photos we can get through special service, but too many special service photos will jam the engraver so that the service is no longer special.

We are often asked why we refuse to print bridal pictures after the wedding is over. The reason for this rule at the office is that once the wedding is over, that is after it has been over for several days, the news value has deteriorated. The news value is the only value to a wedding cut, for the paper cannot use a wedding cut again. We will accept a wedding picture which comes in promptly with the wedding story before the time of the wedding. Pictures taken the day of the wedding are not developed and given to us in time to be used. They must be taken ahead of time.

A glossy portrait picture makes the best cut. You can obtain one from your photographer, and he will either give it to you or send it in to us.

We hope that this explanation will clear up many of the misunderstandings which have occurred in the past.

Once again our inquisitiveness in this column has born fruit to use the phrase loosely. Last Saturday we mentioned in our "Whatever-became-of" paragraph a note to the effect that Golden Sweet apples seemed to have disappeared.

John Hill down on Spencer street came to our rescue and sent us a bag of Golden Sweets this morning. He has three Golden Sweet apple trees among others in his orchard.

This must be the season for Golden Sweets. We have heard nothing about the famous Russet apples.

Christie F. McCormick and his Fire Protection and Utilities Study committee deserve the thanks of Manchester citizens for their excellent report which was presented to the Board of Directors and other officials this week.

The committee was appointed in December of last year and told to investigate the water and fire protection systems here. This the committee did, and the group has collected several pages of interesting, valuable facts, with the aid of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the local League of Women Voters, and various town and district officials.

Many probably will not agree with all the conclusions reached and recommendations made by the committee. But the group did their job and did it well with a commendable sense of civic responsibility.

To Chairman McCormick, Anthony D'Avanzo, Laurence Eddy, Albert Foy, Mrs. Louis Heard and George Williams—thank you.

Sign on the back of a big truck cruising through town: "These brakes are like women; you can't trust them."

And then there's the effective legend on the rear of these dump trucks. On the left is a sign saying "Pass Side" and on the right another declaring "Suicide."

We can just hear the anguished screams that would be resounding around the nation if the present on-again off-again Kaesong truce talks were being handled by General MacArthur instead of General Ridgway.

And from our Mail Bag:
Heard Along Main Street
Manchester Herald
Manchester, Conn.
Gentlemen:

Having read about towing rackets in New York and other parts of the State of Connecticut, I have wondered how certain tow men in Manchester get to wrecks so fast, sometimes even before the police.

I now know and thought other people might want to know. I was near a gas station at Manchester Green when I heard a radio announce locations of police cars and I even heard Chief Schendel talking. I inquired and found this gas station also has one for State Police calls to their men in the field.

A. Reader.

Then there was the victory gardener who, as his wife kept ordering more and more vegetables for her canning, finally turned and defiantly announced that next year there would be no garden. "I'm not going to have you standing over me with a hot stove all summer long," he said.

—A. Non.

Municipal Offices Reopen Saturdays

Today marks the last of the Saturday morning closings this summer for the Municipal building, and all offices will return to the regular schedule next Saturday, Sept. 1.

Acting on a petition presented by Municipal Building employes last May, the Board of Directors agreed to permit Saturday closings during June, July and August providing that the offices remain open until 7 p. m. Thursdays for the convenience of the public. An ordinance revision later permitted the town clerk's office to assume the same schedule.

The Municipal building, under its regular schedule, will remain open until noon Saturdays.

Reds Reject Allied Reply On Violations at Kaesong

Also Leave Door Open For Parley

Tokyo, Tuesday, Aug. 28—(AP)—The Communist high command today bitterly rejected the Allied reply on an alleged Kaesong neutrality violation but, at the same time, left the door open to a possible resumption of the Korean armistice talks.

The Reds broke off the stalemate talks Aug. 23, alleging that an Allied plane had attempted to "murder" the Communist delegation at the Kaesong conference site.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme United Nations commander, told them Saturday their charges were "malicious lies" but that he was willing to resume the armistice effort.

Reply Unsatisfactory

In a reply broadcast early today by the Peiping Radio, North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Chinese Red Gen. Peng Teh-huai said Ridgway's statement was "entirely unsatisfactory."

They accused him of manufacturing incidents to break up the truce talks and of "slandering" the Communists.

Following a wordy complaint that reiterated all the old Red charges, they then stated:

"We hereby once more propose to you that this grave action of provocation should be dealt with by four side with an attitude of serious responsibility. Then the continuation of the negotiations for a just and reasonable armistice agreement can be guaranteed.

Flaming Napalm on the Way

Two U. S. Air Force F-51 fighter planes press a low-level bombing attack on an industrial target in North Korea. Plane in foreground has just released two napalm bombs—which the fliers call "Jellied Hell" because of their intense fire-spreading qualities. One of the bombs—actually a tank of the jellied gasoline—is headed straight down, while the other is just being released from beneath the Mustang. (U. S. Air Force photo from NEA-Acme).

Claim British Armed Forces Move to Iraq

Abadan, Iran, Aug. 27—(AP)—Iranian sources said today three British tank-landing craft, loaded with tanks and troops, entered the mouth of Shatt-el-Arab river and headed toward Basra, Iraq, early today.

These sources said an Iranian gunboat, the Simorgh, was at the river mouth about 60 miles from Abadan and alerted Abadan's civil and military authorities to the presence of the British vessels, which were said to have passed by Abadan at about 2 a. m.

Hours after Hussein Makki, firebrand nationalist who was in charge of carrying out the law nationalizing the Anglo-Iranian Oil company holdings around Abadan, said in a speech that "If British troops land in Iran, even though we are short of weapons, we will defend ourselves with our bare hands." He was addressing 20,000 persons at memorial services commemorating the deaths of Iranians during the Allied occupation of Iran in 1941.

Maps show distances from Red supply base at Rashin, North Korea, to nearest Russian territory and Vladivostok. Rashin was plastered Saturday with more than 300 tons of bombs by 35 U. S. B-29s from bases in Japan and Okinawa. Rashin, one of the best ports on Korea's east coast, was bombed once before—Aug. 12, 1950—by B-29s which dropped 500 tons of bombs.

Copper Men Strike, Unions Bid Truman Take Over Industry

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

America's strategic copper industry ground to a halt today. Union leaders asked President Truman to take it over when last-minute negotiations failed to avert a strike.

As a 7 a. m. (local time) deadline moved across the nation, members of the Independent International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers went off the job.

The union, principal one in the wage dispute with the copper industry, has been an independent since it was thrown out of the CIO last year along with others accused of following the Communist line. It once was the mainstay of the old Industrial Workers of the World (IWW).

Hit first were the smelters on the East Coast, then those in the Midwest. Picket lines were set up. No violence was reported. Union members at the big Barber, N. J., American Smelting and Refining plant said local negotiations also were off, at least for the time being.

Truman Silent

Officers of the independent union telegraphed their seizure request to President Truman early today.

There was no immediate indication of Mr. Truman's attitude toward the request.

"I don't have anything on that at this moment," Joseph Short, White House press secretary, said when asked about it in mid-morning.

"Do you forsee anything during the day?" he was asked.

"I think you'll have to take things as they come," Short said.

Strike Shuts Three Plants

American Brass Men Walk in Torrington, Ansonia and Buffalo

Waterbury, Aug. 27—(AP)—Three plants of the American Brass company were closed today by strikes which had not spread to several others.

Pickets paraded before the Torrington and Ansonia plants in Connecticut and the Buffalo, N. Y. plant.

Unaffected by the strike were company plants at Detroit, Kenosha, Wisc., and Waterbury.

J. Harold Madden, public relations director for the huge company, said the company is preparing to meet with Federal Conciliator George Roewer today. Madden, however, expressed little hope for an agreement because, he said, the positions of both sides remain unchanged.

The union is demanding a 32 cents-an-hour package wage settlement which is geared to the copper industry workers. The company has rejected this demand and has refused to make a counter proposal.

About 2,500 workers are affected by the Ansonia strike and 1,300 are affected at Torrington.

1,900 QUIT IN N. J.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Aug. 27—(AP)—The large plant of the American Smelting and Refinery here was closed today by a strike of 1,900 workers in connection with a nationwide copper industry strike.

Washington, Aug. 27—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Republican supporters evidently are content to let his prospective Presidential candidacy rock along a while without nudging.

Senator Duff (R., Pa.), regarded as one of the leaders of the Eisenhower boom, has told Senate friends he is content not to beat up the political bushes until after Congress quits, probably in October.

Duff apparently is well pleased with the way things are going in the absence of any definite assurance from Eisenhower that he will be available for the Republican nomination.

Sees Accord on Cut In Corp. Tax Boost

Washington, Aug. 27—(AP)—Chairman George (D., Ga.) said today the Senate Finance committee is nearing a decision on corporation and excess profits levies in the tax increase bill.

George said he believed firm agreements would be reached at an afternoon session.

The group is expected to make cuts in the $2,855,000,000 of additional corporate taxes voted by the House as a part of its $7,200,000,000 tax hike measure.

The Senate committee alrady tentatively has lopped $438,000,000 off the personal income tax increase voted by the House.

George said the committee also would go into cases where the excess profits tax pinches hard.

Earlier, the chairman told newsmen he believes a majority of the committee "wants to do something" about tax-exempt earnings of certain cooperative and mutual banking, savings and loan and insurance groups.

Personally, George said, he believes "There is no excuse for not taxing these sources to some extent."

Emphasizing he was making no predictions to to final decisions, he said there has been talk in the committee of tapping undistributed earnings of such cooperatives and mutuals for some $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 of taxes.

Not all such cooperatives and mutuals are tax exempt.

George said that was just one of a variety of things the committee has in mind to compensate at least partially for sharp cuts it has made in the yields proposed by the tax bill the House has passed.

The Senate committee already has lopped an estimated $856,000,000 from the total $7,200,000,000 bost the House had voted. All the cuts so far were made in the taxes

N. E. Outfit, 28th, 6,000 Paratroopers Defeat Foe at Southern Pines

Fort Bragg, N. C., Aug. 27—(AP)—The Carolina war games ended today in complete victory by U. S. forces.

Umpires said that the 43rd and 28th Infantry Divisions, aided by 6,000 paratroopers of the 82nd Airborne Division who jumped over the week-end, "knocked out" the enemy aggressor.

The infantrymen and the paratroopers linked up for the final push that overwhelmed the enemy as the two-week exercise Southern Pine closed. The maneuver, biggest field training exercise since World War II, involved 110,000 soldiers and airmen.

Theoretically, the enemy came up from the Caribbean area,

U. S. May Alter Policy On India, Jap Pact Foe

Washington, Aug. 27—(AP)—A new and less benevolent American policy toward India appeared certain today to result of Prime Minister Nehru's refusal to sign a United States-backed peace treaty with Japan.

American officials made no secret of their bitter disappointment at India's public denunciation of the proposed treaty draft, coming as it did only nine days before the start of a formal 50-nation peace conference in San Francisco Sept. 4.

India's arguments for boycotting the signing, officials here said, seemed to echo Russia's long standing objections, and give powerful, timely ammunition to a new Moscow propaganda drive to wreck the Japanese treaty.

Will Sign Own Treaty

In New Delhi, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told parliament today that India will sign a separate treaty with Japan as soon as Japan has achieved independent status.

Nehru, whose treaty statement brought cheers from parliament, did not say what he meant by "independent status." However, it was explained later that he was referring to Japan's position after the signing and ratification of the San Francisco treaty.

A separate pact between the U. S. and Japan is expected to be signed after the main peace treaty is disposed. That pact would provide a new legal basis for keeping U. S. troops in Japan for its defense.

The State department yesterday made public India's decision not to sign the U. S. backed treaty along with an accompanying American rejection of India's arguments.

The body was recovered from the lake and returned to New York last week.

Anti-Soviet Bloc Seen In Southeast Europe

Bled, Yugoslavia, Aug. 27—(AP)—Formation of a strong defensive block against Russian imperialism in southeastern Europe is believed here to have been the aim of W. Averell Harriman's week-end visit to Marshal Tito.

Harriman, President Truman's top-ranking diplomatic trouble shooter, paused in Yugoslavia Saturday and Sunday en route from Tehran, Iran, to London.

It is an open secret that the U. S., Britain and various other Atlantic Pact countries would like countries in this area—Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and perhaps Italy—to draw together in a military alliance.

Could Challenge Reds

Collectively they could mount enough strength in fighting men and material to challenge, with American help, Soviet hopes of obtaining a controlling position in the Mediterranean.

Yugoslavia has an army second in size only to Russia on the European continent; the Greek army has been toughened by its experiences in the recently-ended civil war and is equipped by the U. S. The Turks always have proved formidable foes.

The U. S. State department and Joint Chiefs of Staff dreamed of such an alliance as long ago as 1946. At that time, Tito still was allied with the Kremlin.

Support for the alliance was demonstrated by Congressional passage of the Greek-Turkey aid

Senate May Slash Aid Bill Billion or More This Week

Washington, Aug. 27—(AP)—The big foreign aid bill reaches the Senate floor this week amid signs it will sustain or possibly even increase a billion-dollar cut over President Truman's protests. Debate is scheduled to start tomorrow.

The Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committee have recommended a $7,535,000,000 authorization, as compared to the $8,500,000,000 Mr. Truman asked for military and economic assistance abroad.

Expect Big Cut

Although the President reportedly has protested vigorously in conference with legislators, administration leaders appear resigned to a sizeable cut.

Some Democrats have said they would support moves to increase the authorization but none seemed ready to lead any serious fight.

Senators Kefauver (D., Tenn) and Fulbright (D., Ark) said Saturday they believe the amount approved by the Senate committees is too small but neither had any plan to propose an increase.

Senator Connally (D., Tex), on the other hand, called for deeper cuts in foreign economic aid. "We can't go on forever supporting the whole world," he said.

The committees voted to cut out about $675,000,000 in economic aid and $290,000,000 in military help.

Connally said he would prefer to see the military reduction restored. But if it's not restored, he said he would still favor making the economic cut an even $1,000,000,000 instead of $675,000,000.

Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.),

Bernarr Proves Something With Air Leap--But What?

New York, Aug. 27—(AP)—Physical culturist Bernarr MacFadden, who celebrated his 83rd birthday with a 2,000-foot parachute jump into the Hudson river, yesterday, says he is "good for things like this for 10 more years."

When MacFadden was fished out of the Hudson after his jump yesterday, he said:

"I feel like a million. I feel 25. Next year, I'm going to jump over Niagara Falls."

MacFadden's parachute leap yesterday was for the dual purpose, he said, of demonstrating that "old age is just a habit" and that U. S. paratroopers need have no fear of landing in water.

But the publisher of health pamphlets and romance magazines almost failed to accomplish the second purpose. A wind caught MacFadden and almost dashed him into the Rocky Palisades.

Then he narrowly missed a clump of trees on the cliff, and finally landed in the river only 20 feet off the New Jersey Shore,
