OUR STORY.

A REAL SWEET STORY.

MARGARET ETTYNGE.

It was by far the worst quarrel they had ever had, and they had many, for he had a temper, and she had a temper, and they were both of them impulsive young people with very little self-control.

who had loved her so dearly long years. And why? Because that silly, giggling Lorian, with her pale blue eyes and straw-colored hair, had been a flirt about him. And she had been a flirt about him. And she had been a flirt about him.

Letty suddenly remembered the day when she had seen him for the first time. It was a bright sunny day, and she was walking alone in the park.

Letty turned again to Rick, with a frown on her face, and asked, as he had asked before, "Do you still persist in accusing me of deceit and falsehood?"

"Two souls with but a single thought, Two hearts that beat as one!" (These lines were quoted with most dramatic inflections.) "And furthermore, I also begin to think that perhaps it would have been better if he had never met, in fact."

"By heaven!" exclaimed Rick, seizing his hat, "this is too much. Letty, good-by forever."

Letty's father, whose heart was at the sight of his daughter's sad face. "A first-love disappointment is always hard to bear for a while. I thought I should have died when Stephen Ford married my daughter; but I didn't; I lived to scold her, and I have a scolding Rick. "The idea, Letty, of your believing that I should have done that!"

Three months went by, and it was Emory's birthday, and that little old lady had decided to give a party among the family, lunching at her own house, and dining with her mother, and supping with a third party.

Letty was already slowly unwinding the paper (it proved to be a box of soap) rather difficult thing to accomplish, as it stuck persistently to the fingers, but accomplished it, when out rolled the little box.

"Brougham," she cried, looking at the beautiful, beseeching eyes, "must see Rick. I must--I must--I will go and bring him to me, Rick!"

"And the good fellow, hesitating no longer, turned from that imploring face, and with a tugging at his heart strings, went off to seek his rival. One was a wealthy young brewer, the other a poor clerk in a counting-house.

declared over and over again that only as Mrs. Brougham Brown, Letty should inherit any of her money. "Left the house in a passion?" Not a bit of it. She laughed and laughed until she could laugh no longer.

"I'm glad you think so," said Mrs. Lounsbury. "It don't strike me that way. What are they going to live on?"

The Oxford graduate was showing his sister over his room in college, when some one knocked at the door. Supposing that it was one of his friends and not wishing to be chafed, he hid her behind the curtains, and admitted an elderly gentleman, who apologized profusely for his intrusion, and excused himself by saying that it was many years since he had been at Oxford, and he could not leave without paying a visit to his dear old college, and the old rooms he had occupied as a student.

"Ah," cried the old gentleman, looking around, "the same old sofa! yes, and the same old carpet--everything the same!"

There is a family living in the neighborhood of Lewistown, this county, of which the following marvelous history has just been related to us by a responsible physician, well acquainted with the facts. Some fifteen or twenty years ago the father and mother had a quarrel, and for a year the former never spoke to the latter.

CONCERNING WOMEN.

King's College, London, has published a scheme for extending its operations to the education of women. Drake University, of Des Moines, Ia., has a woman professorship in the medical department.

The secretary of the Harvard "Annex" learns that at least two persons now preparing their wills have included in them generous bequests to help the cause of the education of women at Cambridge, and that offers of money for immediate use have also been made.

At the close of the convention of the American Woman Suffrage Association, at Louisville, the first society in Kentucky was formed. Although but a few months old, it has already become a power for good, as the property rights bill adopted by the state legislature shows.

The career of Miss Fanny Parnell, brief as was her course, shows how much woman may do in and for a great cause. It is questionable if Ireland would have fallen into the servitude in which she has lain for centuries, or that our race would today be on the ascent to Liberty, but for the influence that has been exerted for good or ill by the farrier sex.--Irish World.

Dr. J. H. Vincent, in his lecture at Lake Bluff, last week, on "That Boy's Sister," referring to the suffrage question, said that the woman who did not control two to five votes would never gain by depositing one, but would be likely to lose influence over the others.

Rev. Mary Thomas Clark, of Richmond, Ind., has been for several years a regularly ordained minister in the Universalist Church recognized in full fellowship as far as duties of the church are concerned. When travelling in church work, she never lets an opportunity pass where she can give a lecture on woman suffrage, separate from her regular sermons, which are in themselves an unanswerable plea for the enlargement of the sphere of woman.

"Is this seat engaged?" he asked of the prettiest girl in the car, and, finding it wasn't he put his sample box in the rack and braced himself for solid enjoyment.

"You look so very tired!" she pleaded. "Wouldn't you like to rest your head on my shoulder? No one will notice. You just lay your head right down, and I'll tell you stories!"

"Your scarf-pin is coming out. Let me fix it. There!" and she arranged it deftly. "At the next station I'll get you a cup of tea, and when you arrive at your destination you'll let me call on you?" and she smiled an anxious prayer right up in to his pallid countenance.

"Innocent purchasers," literally translated, signifies willfully ignorant purchasers. People who purchase from irresponsible parties, or from total strangers, have no right to complain if they are victimized, and as a general thing it is only the class who expect to make two dollars' worth from an investment of fifty cents who are victimized. The man who, in playing a "skin game," comes out "peeled," is not entitled to protection; he accepts his chances and should abide by the result.--Milling World.

NORTH MANCHESTER.

Dr. Whiton conducted a post mortem examination of the body of the late George Barrows, at Bolton, last Sunday.

The Manchester Warp and Yarn Company advertise for sale, in another column, a very desirable farm in North Manchester.

There is a good opening in the town of Manchester for a real estate agent. All the agency business now goes to Hartford or Rockville.

Henry Barrows has corn of remarkable size in spite of the drought. It grows upon meadow land and many stalks are from 12 to 14 feet in height.

Ten carloads of Newport excursionists passed through here yesterday morning. About twenty Manchester people joined the party at this station.

Main's tent show which exhibited in North Manchester, Wednesday afternoon and evening, had small audiences. The performance was not well advertised, but was amply worth the 25 cents charged for admission.

It is announced that Major Moor, of the salvation army, will speak at Bissell's hall to-morrow forenoon at 10:30 o'clock. Both churches will be closed, owing to the absence of pastors and the representative of a strange body of people will no doubt have a large audience.

Miss Belle Robinson, of South Glastonbury, will spend Sunday with Charles Strand and wife. Joe Carter is spending his vacation on the camp ground. Alf Nutting, son of Rev. J. H. Nutting, a former pastor at the Methodist church, is a fast compositor on the Providence Journal.

The Union Mfg. Co's. pond was drained Friday, to allow necessary repairs on the gates. As soon as the area of water began to grow small the pond became alive with fish, some of which weighed over five pounds. Very many of them were caught and carted off. The mill will be closed for a week while the repairs are in progress.

Some of the more progressive riders of the Oakland district wished to enlarge their school house and heat it by steam. A school meeting was warned to discuss the matter. It was the best attended meeting in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The staunch old conservatives defeated the upstart reformers by a large majority. It was finally voted to buy a new stove. Sealed proposals for furnishing the same may be left with the state finance committee.

Last Monday night Constable Loomis, with a party of citizens, searched the bar room at Cowley's hotel. They found a keg and a half of lager, a small quantity of liquor and a few bottles of wine. The next morning, the same officer searched Andrus's saloon but found only a small quantity of beer in a keg. Evidently the proprietor expected a visit about that time. A visit to Andy McClelland's place failed to result in the finding of any liquor.

A boy caught hold of the rear end of a wagon coming down Center street, the other day, with the intention of stealing a ride. In attempting to pull himself up, he grasped the back seat of the carriage on which was seated Miss Minnie Charter. The seat gave way and with its occupant was pulled over on the ground. Miss Carter was made insensible by the fall and was carried home unconscious. She has since recovered, but that boy will keep away from the back end of carriages for a while.

A man who was said to be James Fisk, Sr., father of the notorious Fisk, was in town last Tuesday night. He is in the lightning rod business, and drives two handsome teams. An attachment to the pole and whiffletree detaches the horse from the wagon at the movement of a lever. The hostlers, who started for the traces as soon as the wagon drove into the stable, were surprised to see the horses walk away from the wagon before they had touched the harness.

The Willimantic camp-meeting began last Monday and is being well attended. A large number of Manchester people are on the ground, and more will go down to-day to spend Sunday. The South Manchester house has a number of comfortable rooms furnished with bedding, where lodging can be obtained for 25 cents a night. The boarding house furnishes good table fare at $1.00 a day. The rain of Wednesday night put the ground in excellent condition. Fare for the round trip from the Manchester station is $1.

MANCHESTER CASES IN THE SUPERIOR COURT.—The court was occupied all day Wednesday, with the case of Frank Quinn, attempt to commit rape. Last winter Quinn and other young men enticed a girl of fifteen, Nettie Schwebender, to a secluded place with intent to commit a rape. Two of his comrades, Butler and Duffey, were arrested, tried at the March term of the superior court and sentenced to jail. Duffy has been released, his term having expired. Butler is yet serving his term, and was used as a witness against Quinn. The principal witness against Quinn is Edward Webb, a detective from the Pinkerton's agency in New York. It appears that while Quinn was one of the leaders in the dastardly plot against the girl, his comrades through fear or otherwise, would not give evidence against him. State Attorney Hamersley, satisfied of Quinn's guilt, determined to get at the facts. He secured the services of Webb, who got employment under the name Kennedy at day wages in the mill where Quinn worked. Within a short time he became a boon companion, and in a moment of confidence, Quinn revealed the whole affair and his connection with it. This was on the occasion of a trip to Hartford, where they visited a gambling house, and also a place of alleged doubtful repute at the lower end of Park street. During his testimony, Webb stated that he kept careful memoranda of the occurrences of each day relating in any manner to the case he was working up. He was shrewd enough not to refer to his memoranda books in such a way that the defense could force him to reveal all their contents, and when a demand was made for the books, quietly placed them in his pocket and buttoned up his coat. Counsel for the defense will be permitted to see only memoranda upon particular points under direction from the court. The story revealed by Webb is quite damaging. On Thursday the trial was resumed. The state not calling the girl, she was called by the defense, and admitted that at the time of the assault upon her she did not see Quinn. This is the story she had told from the first, but the assault was at night, in a very dark place, and the state was satisfied from Quinn's admissions and the statements of his comrades, two of whom were convicted of complicity in the affair, that he was present and a participant. The jury, after an absence of an hour, reported that it would be impossible for them to agree. They were thereupon discharged. It is reported that they stood eight for conviction to four for acquittal.

John Fiels was arraigned for an assault on W. H. Cheney last March. After Mr. Cheney had given the facts of the assault, the state attorney said to the jury that Fiels was unquestionably insane. The court charged accordingly, and the jury returned a verdict of "Not guilty, by reason of insanity." Judge Loomis will order that Fiels be confined to the state insane hospital.

Several other Manchester cases are expected to come up before this term of court, among them, that of James Cotter, Jr., for resisting an officer.

MANCHESTER GREENS.

Last Saturday afternoon, Mr. Charles Woods, thinking to investigate into the cause of a terrible odor that proved very annoying everytime he passed a certain place in the road, looked over the stone wall, and discovered the dead body of a man lying under a small tree in the pasture adjoining Mrs. Avery's house. It was in such an advanced stage of decomposition as to be past recognition, but was identified by the clothing, as being that of Mr. Augustus Risley, an oldish man who had worked several months for Mrs. Avery. Although he had formerly been given to intemperance, he had while working for Mrs. A., been temperate, trusty and faithful, until a week or two before his death, when he commenced drinking again. He left her house on Saturday, the 12th, and was not seen after the following day, yet no fears were entertained for his safety, as it was supposed he was with his friends.

By the death of Mrs. E. H. Talcott, which occurred Monday evening, a large circle of friends are called to mourn. Greatly beloved by all who knew her, and surrounded by everything in life to make living desirable, she was called to leave all. The sympathy of all is with her husband and parents.

The sudden death of Daniel Woods, the blacksmith, on Tuesday forenoon, caused much surprise, as it was not known, even by his immediate neighbors, that he was sick. He was ailing two or three days with a bowel trouble, and when Dr. Whiton was called, Tuesday morning, the family were told that death was liable to take place at any time, from a collection of water or fat above the heart. He lived but a short time after. Mr. Woods was well known in this, and the adjoining towns, as a skillful horse shoer, and his services were much sought after by those owning horses that required peculiar treatment of the feet. His funeral was largely attended on Thursday morning; about fifty carriages attended his remains from the house to the church in North Manchester.

Some time ago the marriage was reported of Mrs. Marilda Blaw, to a man in Waterville. It was a mistake, although the report was made.

Wheat Bitters reach every corner of the human body, through the blood. Do not fail to give them a trial.

that she promulgated. This Mrs. Blaw comes to the aid of again. Monday afternoon, company with Geo. Sweetland, wended her way to Bolton, and towards night they came bearing a marriage certificate to the Cong. minister of that place, probably judging from the roads, some dust from a "wedding march."

BUCKLAND.—Maurice Malone of Richard Malone, was hurt by being kicked in the face by a horse which he was leading, when he was attending Dr. Whiton getting along nicely. The horse was led by a good rain on Friday night. The new house of Wells Smith is fast approaching completion, and will soon be occupied by its owner. The freight train at Buckland at 9 A. M. Thursday, did not arrive until 5 P. M. number have gone from here, camp-meeting at Willimantic.

BURNSIDE.

THE INDIAN.—This noble man in many respects, has small remnants in this week there has been a total loss, that being the sum paid. Total paid for the damage by the fire $89,500.

SUNDAY SERVICES.—The preaching at the M. E. Church, tomorrow, and evening were usual. The pastor has a provision although he is absent, at camp meeting.

BUSINESS.—The change store, groceries and provisions, owned by Henry T. Carter, having a good trade and accommodating to all its patrons. Early in the spring Mr. Carter robbed in a most cowardly manner both at his store and at home. He however continues his business despite these heavy losses, a good line of articles is constantly on hand.

LAST SABBATH.—This was a very cool day to begin with, but it was the gem of all the Sabbaths. The people, in general, were in church, and the children at school.

Several other Manchester cases are expected to come up before this term of court, among them, that of James Cotter, Jr., for resisting an officer.

ROCKVILLE. Vernon jurors at September Term, Superior Court, which convenes at Toland, Tuesday, Sept. 10th, are Smith, Talcutt and H. L. James. Judge Loomis will preside.

Dan. Connell was arrested for alleged theft of a watch, some ten days since, from Fred Schubert. At his trial on Friday morning he was discharged from lack of evidence.

A stone pier brace is being built against the dam, on the lower side at New England mill, to strengthen it, and to prevent its further bulging. It is to be built of grouting.

The Steamer boys want a handsome horse carriage, when the new one is ordered, and offer to let any extra cost entailed on account of ornamentation, etc., shall be made up.

The Rock company are setting two force-pumps in their mill, as further protection against fire. They will be arranged with frictional connection, so they can be started at an instant's notice.

Mr. N. A. Crane, who has lately closed out his harness business in Orcutt's building, is a veteran in the business having carried it on some thirty years in the same line in Rockville. Mr. Crane is succeeded by Mr. A. L. Holt who removes his Market street business to the stand lately occupied by the former.

Mr. F. P. Carter of Hartford, D. D. G. D., visited New Era Lodge, Knights of Honor, in his official capacity, at the regular meeting of the lodge, on Tuesday evening last. He reports the condition of the order throughout the state as very prosperous. Two or three new lodges of the Knights of Honor are about being instituted, raising the whole number in this state to fifteen, and 3000 in the United States.

The insurance companies that held policies on White, Corbin & Co's. envelope works, settled for the loss on Saturday last, as follows: Amount paid for damage to building, on which there was $30,000 insurance, $12,000. Paid for damage to machinery, which was insured for $50,000, $7,500. The insurance on stock was $50,000 which was a total loss, that being the sum paid. Total paid for the damage by the fire $89,500.

On Friday afternoon of last week an alarm was sounded calling the department to the premises of John T. Mitchell, High street, where a small woodshed was being consumed. Being a small fire, easily controlled, water from the steamer only was used. The steamer was first placed near New England bridge, but was moved to the mill of White Manfg. Co., Brooklyn street, where the woodshed had been laid directly up the hill and across the railroad footbridge. Notwithstanding this indirect route and resulting loss of time, the steamer had water on the fire in just fourteen minutes from the first striking of the bell. The fire was caused by a little five-year-old boy playing with matches.

Those were small, the contents of the shed being stove pipe, oil stoves, etc. The boy had been playing with matches, but fortunately the wind was blowing in a favorable direction. New England authorities and Hockanum were notified, but from lack of head or some other reason neither were used.

During the past week or more an organization has been in Rockville, for the purpose of establishing a lodge. Such success was with it as to enable the lodge to be instituted on Wednesday evening last, when some twenty-three men were given the degrees, and the officers elected and installed. The work of starting and instituting Rockville Lodge No. 18, was performed by D. G. M. W. Geo. R. Pennington, and A. D. G. M. W. H. Vose, both of Boston. The plan of insurance is identical with that furnished by the Knights of Honor, Royal Arcanum, etc., except that the United Workmen are divided up into sections or Grand Lodges of 2000 members or more which it is claimed reduces the number of assessments. The cost of insurance in these institutions for assessments alone, averages about six to eight dollars per thousand. The total cost the first year of membership is not far from $20. The following named members were installed as officers:—P. M. W. Wm. M. Corbin; M. W. Melon W. West; F. W. E. Paine; O. T. S. Pratt; R. E. L. Heath; Fin. C. P. Thompson; Med. Ex. Dr. E. K. Leonard; R. M. W. Pumber; G. Fred. I. Hartenstein; I. W. C. L. Grant; O. W. T. R. Adams; James E. Leonard; A. E. Harris; J. C. Whittier. The regular meeting of the lodge will be held on the first and third Tuesdays of each month. The lodge is in the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts, which includes the New England states.

New England Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute. The grand opening of the Second Annual Exhibition-Fair of the New England Manufacturers' and Mechanics' Institute is announced to take place in their mammoth Exhibition Building, Huntington Avenue, Boston, on Wednesday, September 6. The exhibition promises to far surpass the brilliant display of last fall. Exhibits from twenty-seven States of the Union, and from three foreign countries, will completely fill the immense building. The genius of the inventor, and the skill of the mechanic will be displayed in a thousand forms. Illuminated water displays, cascades and fountains will add a charm to the busy interior. The great Southern railroad exhibits a reputation of the Atlanta exposition, will undoubtedly prove of much interest to our agricultural readers. The ores, minerals, woods and field products of the South will be fully represented.

Another attractive feature of the Exhibition will be his grand and brilliant light display by Professor Edison and others. One thousand incandescent lights of Professor Edison's system, and 1000 incandescent lights of other companies will illuminate the vast interior at night.

As before stated, the opening ceremonies will be held on Wednesday, September 6, at 11 o'clock a. m. Governor Long presiding, assisted by the Governors of each other States, are represented by extensive exhibits. Mr. Edward Atkinson will deliver an address, and Reeves' American Band, of Providence, will entertain the occasion with choice musical selections. Exhibitors are notified to have their exhibits in complete order on the evening of September 5, as no work on exhibits will be permitted on the day of opening. A grand gala day is expected on the 6th, and a large, enthusiastic attendance is anticipated.

SOUTH MANCHESTER.

Hugh Moriarty drew the Madena, on exhibition at Cheney & Co's. for the last three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Allen expect to begin the Sunday afternoon recitals again a week from to-morrow.

Mr. Wm. S. Ferris was very sick last week with cholera morbus. The attack would probably have proved fatal had not a doctor arrived in the nick of time. He is now nearly recovered.

The Mt. Nebo ball club will play the Nabuc nine on the Mt. Nebo grounds at three o'clock this afternoon. The game will without doubt be an interesting one.

The first entertainment of the season at Cheney's hall will be given by Duprez & Benedict's minstrels, Sept. 21st. The company numbers 30 performers. They will appear under the auspices of the Knights of Honor.

George Robbins is canvassing in East Haddam for that remarkably popular work "Museum of Antiquity." In about one week, he has taken 25 orders. He spent previously two weeks in Glastonbury, taking 26 orders.

Painters are at work renovating Cheney's hall. The ash wood work in the vestibule has been worked over so that it looks like new. All the wood work in the main hall will be oiled and new ash blinds will be added to the windows.

If the numerous "seizures" in town recently do not capture much besides empty bottles and beer kegs, they have a marked effect in forming public opinion. The matter of illegal liquor-selling is constantly kept before the public, and people who are always talking about it make up their minds pretty soon in favor of either one side or another.

Sullivan's saloon was visited again last Wednesday night by Constable Loomis, armed with a search warrant. This time Mr. Loomis was bound not to be repulsed, and took along with him a posse of ten men. Mr. Sullivan was surprised to receive another visit so soon, but made no resistance to the search. Two kegs of lager were discovered and carted off in triumph.

Charles N. Knox and wife started for the West, Wednesday morning. They will make their home beyond the Mississippi, probably they will visit in Minneapolis, Minn., or in Denver, Col. Mr. Knox sold the individual telephone call patent to Frank Cheney, Jr., from whom he bought it several weeks ago.

The introduction of electric appliances, just being fitted in the West, will, he thinks, afford him a good opening in that branch of mechanics.

Oliver Merrill, of South Manchester, recently sent to his sister in this village two fine specimens of pond lilies which he found in Boston— one a pink and the other blue. It was at first suspected that Oliver got them painted to order as a "sell," being somewhat inclined to perpetrate practical jokes, but it turns out that they were just as they appeared to be. They were very beautiful and their fragrance was similar to the white pond lily common to these parts.—Wanted Herald.

There was a large crowd at Cheney & Co's corner last Saturday night to witness the two-hundred-yards foot-race between Med. of Cheney & Co's and W. H. Childs. The course was straightaway up Main street. The runners started at a pistol shot with Med several feet ahead. He maintained his lead to the finish, crossing the line in 22 1/2 seconds with Childs close at his heels. The victor had no trouble in disposing of several cigars after the race. Mr. Childs sent him another challenge Monday, but this was declined. Both men are better runners than are usually found among untrained amateurs.

The Willimantic Linen Company have just fitted up a handsome grove within ten minutes walk of the heart of the village, for the exclusive use of their employees. The grove is supplied with seats, swings and an elegant dancing pavilion and skating rink. Every Saturday evening a full brass band is hired by the company and a band concert followed by a dance, is given free to the operatives. The grove is illuminated with Chinese lanterns. A pleasant evening is passed and the festivities are closed at 10:30. The effect of this enterprise is to keep the operatives from saloons, Saturday nights, and give them a harmless evening enjoyment.

A rumor has prevailed for some time to the effect that the New England road, when it builds a double track, will change its route to avoid cutting out the Bolton notch. The plan would be to leave the present line in Burnside and pass through South Manchester and Bolton south of the notch and meet the old line again between Andover and Hop River. It is said that the cost of the new road would be less than that of double tracking the old line and that about four miles of distance between Willimantic and Hartford would be saved by the change. The report is, however, only a rumor and no one we have been able to see could confirm it.

The case of Cornelius Sullivan, Dennis Sullivan, John Joy and Thomas Burke, charged with resisting Constable Loomis, was not closed until Monday afternoon when Justice Agard bound over all four of the defendants in the sum of $200 each to appear before the superior court. Thomas Gorman furnished the necessary bonds. From Mr. Loomis's evidence it appears that he was caught by the throat by Sullivan, pushed from behind the bar, tumbled against the corner of a billiard table and finally stood up against the wall and pouted. Sullivan does not deny that he made the assault but says he did it not knowing that Loomis was an officer. The case will probably be tried before Judge Culver at the August term of the superior court now in session. The punishment prescribed by law for resisting an officer is a fine of not more than $100, imprisonment for not more than three months, or both.

Annie, wife of Edward H. Talcott, and daughter of Mr. C. D. Parsons, died at the home of her father at Manchester Green last Monday afternoon. She had been suffering with consumption for the last six months, and had been in feeble health for a much longer period. All her life she had lived in Manchester, and through her school days, and the years that followed, won the admiration and love of many associates. She united with the Center Congregational church nearly four years ago, and since that time has been active in church and Sunday school work. Her character, naturally molded by fine instincts, was sweetened by her christian devotion. Last January she was married, but had scarcely begun a life of domestic happiness when disease fastened upon her. Her life, short as it was, was full of good deeds, and will long exert an influence upon the many friends who mourn her loss. Her funeral, at her father's residence, Thursday afternoon, was conducted by Rev. S. W. Robbins, and was very largely attended.

Several fires recently have been caused by sparks from the railroad engine. One yesterday came near burning Marvin W. Howard's barn. No railroad company should be allowed to run an engine without a cinder-burner, or something that will render them harmless, so far as setting fires is concerned, at least. People living near the railroad track are liable to be burned out by these steam incendiaries, and the nuisance should be abated at once.—Mr. and Mrs. Delos Saunders of Cortlandville, New York, are spending a few weeks with their friends in Bolton. Mr. S. says Cortlandville will soon be a city.—The funeral of George Barrows was attended at the Quarryville church last Sunday. He had been subject to epileptic fits for some six years. Post mortem examination showed a normal condition of all the organs except the brain and one lobe of the lungs, which were diseased. He was a good citizen, an honest man and a well-wisher to all.—Calvin Carver, Esq., one of the oldest citizens in Bolton, is quite sick.—The Bolton nine are somewhat cast down but not destroyed, by their late defeat at Talcottville. They do not expect to do better next time.—The Ladies Aid Society of Bolton will hold a fair in the basement of the Congregational Church, Wednesday evening, August 30. A large quantity of useful and fancy articles will be offered for sale, also cake, ice cream, lemonade. Avails for the benefit of the church. If stormy, next fair evening.

GLEAN.—Rev. Mr. Robinson, from Manchester, supplied the pulpit Sunday.—Miss Laura and Eva Hutchinson of South Manchester are spending a few days at Mrs. William Warner's.—Miss Lizzie Watson of Brooklyn, N. Y., is visiting with her grandparents.—Dannie Hodge is away at the seaside for two weeks.—A delegation of twelve of our young people held a picnic at Marlborough pond last Tuesday afternoon. Boat-riding and a drive by moonlight were enjoyed by all.—Picnicking seemed to be the order of the week. Thursday afternoon a party of thirteen started in an excursion that popular resort known as "The Falls," situated on "John Tom Hill." On the way home the party attended the prayer-meeting held at the white school-house. After accepting the kind invitation of Mr. Thomson Strickland to spend a time with them in singing, they started for home. The ride was much enjoyed and the ice cream eagerly partaken of.

GLASTONBURY.

Some of our farmers have commenced cutting their tobacco—fair seconds. The later crops are likely to be very greatly benefited by the rain of Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

The Glastonbury Knitting Company have commenced rebuilding their mill. Messrs. Bloom & Sisson of Manchester are the contractors above the foundation. It is to be of wood, 100 feet long by 50 wide and three stories high, and span the stream. In addition, the site of the brick mill that is not covered by the new mill is to be occupied by a large storehouse. An office 20x30 is to be built by Mr. Albert Barrows. Everything is to be finished ready for the machinery in sixty days from last Monday.

As I have before said, the company are running night and day except Sundays. A. L. Clark of your place is a model president.

It is quite a change from sixty years ago, when the Eagle Manufacturing Company was organized by the General Assembly, May session, 1822, with Samuel Wells, Robert Watkinson, Dan H. Arnold, Fraray Hale, Jr., and Aristarchus Chaupain as first incorporators, with a capital stock not to exceed $100,000. The first certificate, signed by Samuel Wells, President, Robert Watkinson, Secretary, and Fraray Hale, Jr., as Treasurer, setting forth "that the sum of twelve thousand dollars ($12,000) is actually paid in, and constitutes the capital stock" of the company, was dated June 15, 1822. A small wood mill, a part of the mill recently burned, was erected at or about that time, and was somewhat enlarged a few years later. In 1832 the lower brick mill was erected, and the company went through varying stages of prosperity and adversity until in 1848 the company failed. In the subsequent changes the upper and lower mills became and continued separate in ownership until the recent purchase of the lower mill by the Glastonbury Knitting Company of Messrs. Hilliard & Clark. The property is now an exceedingly desirable one, especially with the improvements about to be made. Its situation upon a never-failing stream and convenient of access to the river at Nabuc, requires only that coming railroad to make it one of the best properties of its size in the State.

confidence and received from him a confession that he had been criminally intimate with the girl.

A Norwich man started for Harbor View by steamer the other day with a huckleberry pie under his arm. He was very choice of the pie, as it was intended for the Sunday dinner. He put it carefully down on the seat and never went far away from it. Finally, in a moment of reverie, he sat down in it. It was an easy seat, and he crossed his legs and leaned backward luxuriously and smoked. Suddenly he got up just as the captain of the boat was passing and thoughtfully remarked: "Captain, what's the matter with the boat? This seat's wet." The crowd looked and shouted inhumanely.

TOPPING TOBACCO.

The Best Time a d the Best Way. Topping tobacco is a simple operation if we consider only the act of breaking off the stem or stalk of the plant some six inches or more from the flowers and buds, but more is involved in its performance than many farmers comprehend. In fact, there is not another part of labor to be performed that involves so much as topping the plants. The grower waits until nearly all of the plants are in bud and the field presents an even appearance when he begins the work of topping. He goes through the rows taking two at a time and tops, leaving from 10 to 16 leaves according to his judgment, taking into consideration the size of the plants and the richness of the soil. Another grower waits until the plants are all in blossom when he begins to top his plants. Most growers break the top with the hand, but this is not a good way since in a rainy season the water will wet the pith in the stalks and the leaves drop off and are broken. We have seen some years quite a loss ensue from this mode of topping the plants.

Now let us enquire as to the time of topping. One grower, as we have seen, tops his plants just as soon as they "button" or are in bud, giving as his reason that the leaves grow stouter and are apt to make finer-colored tobacco. The other grower says that when the plants are in blossom and topped they mature rapidly and may be harvested in from 10 to 14 days, while if topped when in bud it will take three weeks to ripen. The first grower says that when the plants are allowed to blossom very much surplus growth is lost, as when the suckers are allowed to grow too long before being broken off. This last statement all can endorse, no doubt, but still the grower has his reasons for his way.

I do not think it best to wait to let the plants come into full bloom before topping. Of course, now and then a plant will be found more forward than the rest and in full blossom, but I would top before the entire field was in full bloom. I think the best results follow this way and the leaf ripens rapidly, takes on that yellowish mottled green hue that gives evidence of maturity.

As regards the proper height of topping, or the number of leaves to be left on the stalk: Some growers say 10 large leaves are all they want and that the top leaves should be as large as any of the others, which opinion I can readily endorse. In the first place in topping the grower must consider the fertility of the soil. If the soil is rich then he can top higher than if only moderately fertile, since on good land the leaves will grow large if topped high while on poor land they will be small.

TO BRATIFY HIS WIFE. An interesting story—a hopeless case, cured by using Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy'.

"For many years I had suffered from a complaint which the physicians called 'Gout.' I had employed some of the most noted doctors without obtaining any permanent relief, and for a long time my case was regarded as hopeless. All who knew the circumstances said 'Must die. Finally, my wife induced me to try a bottle of Dr. Kennedy's 'Favorite Remedy,' which she had somewhere heard of or read advertised. Without the slightest faith in it, but solely to gratify her, I bought a bottle of a druggist in our village. I used that and two or three bottles more, and—so makes a long story short—I am now as healthy a man as there is in the country.
