The talk about a new road from Parkhurst's corner to the railroad track has subsided, but the need of the road is more urgent than ever. The object of this new road would be to do away with the switching of freight cars over the much traveled Center street crossing, and remove the noise and smoke of locomotives from the vicinity of nearly a quarter of a mile of a frequented highway. The freight house and platform are now directly opposite the passenger station. This fact makes switching a dangerous work. The grade from the station east is ascending, and low freight trains coming from the west push up the grade, stop just before reaching the crossing near Apple's store. The train is then broken up, and detached portions glide noisily down the grade toward the station, with only a brakeman's voice to alarm any who may be on the track. Sometimes freight cars come down on two or three tracks at once, and the man who has safely dodged one car may look up to find himself in front of another which is humming down another track. That there has not been a serious accident resulting from this mode of switching, is due only to good luck, and it is allowed to continue, a disaster cannot fail to result sooner or later. By the removal of the freight depot and platform to a point two hundred yards west this danger would be entirely done away with. Horses are frightened every day by freight trains on the stretch of railroad parallel to the highway; this danger would also be greatly lessened by the removal of the freight tracks to the west of the station. Another objection to the present arrangement is that two of the pleasantest streets in the village are disfigured by freight and coal cars standing on the track, with from one to half a dozen teams at work loading and unloading them. This state of affairs is wholly the fault of the town. The railroad has offered to remove all their business, freight houses, platforms and all the rest of the station, provided the village open a suitable approach to the station.

A petition of twenty-five persons, including the members of the town meeting, and a vote passed there to build the road would have most beneficial results. If, on the other hand, this need is ignored, the danger will keep on increasing as the traffic of the New England road enlarges; then some day a fatal accident will make popular sentiment in favor of the change in a hurry.

The governor of Ireland has published an appeal for aid, and reports a terrible famine among the people of that interesting island, a country which has flourished remarkably since it received its liberal constitution eight years ago. In 1875 there was a volcanic eruption which lasted three months and ruined large tracts of pasture land, but since then important roads have been built, native business houses established, natural resources utilized at remarkable profits, public schools formed and property largely increased in value. Prosperity continued unbroken until the winter of 1880-81, when the severe cold was followed by a chilling summer that raised the harvest. Livestock had to be sold or killed, and last winter, nearly as damaging as the previous cold season, largely increased the misery. The people in many districts are now actually suffering for food, and the whole north of Ireland is fast without the smallest prospect of a harvest. Food for the people and fodder for the stock must be obtained before winter sets in, by a terrible chapter of starvation and death will be written—Springfield Republican.

The Republican State Convention is called to meet at New Haven, Peck's Opera House, Wednesday, September 20, at 10 o'clock. Causes of delegates will be held the previous evening, and county and district caucuses, for the nomination of members of State Central Committee, will be held at 10:30 Wednesday.

The arrival of immigrants in this country in July this year numbered 66,010; in July last year, 56,007. The number of Germans in July was 16,781; in July last year, 20,874. The number from Ireland was, in July this year, 5,688; last year, 5,387.

The late T. M. Allen of Hartford died his estate to his wife, children and nephews.

NORTH MANCHESTER.
The annual town meeting is only four weeks off.
Uncle Tom's Cabin will be played at Cheney's hall Sept. 7th.
Five French families who have worked for the Union Mfg. Co. left town Wednesday.
The Misses Emma and Louise Trebbe leave next Tuesday, to spend a week in New York.
There will be an extra train to North Manchester after the entertainment at Cheney's Hall, Thursday evening.
Fitch & Drake will have a telephone put into their store next week. They will be connected with the Hartford circuit.
Chas. Trebbe shot a blue heron near Hilliard's pond the other day, that measured 5 feet 7 inches from tip to tip, and 4 feet 7 inches from toe to bill.
Olin Wood, Esq., did some good driving Wednesday noon, when he steered his runaway horse between two trees in front of the Spencer Block, and then turned a sharp corner towards the depot with no more disastrous results than spilling a load of corn stalks he had on a business wagon.
A large number of horsemen and others went to see Clingstone and Thorne trot at Charter Oak park last Wednesday. Notwithstanding the betting was heavy in favor of Clingstone, the Manchester delegation were almost unanimous in the belief that Thorne would win, and their good judgment was proved by the result of the race.
The "salvation army" meetings last Sunday were well attended, and were of considerable interest to those of worldly minds. They have been continued during the week. A handful of worshippers headed by "Major" Moore meet in the depot square at night-fall, sing, pray and exhort, and then lead the way to Bissell's hall, where another prayer and exhortation meeting is held. The audience lingers until the remarks begin to grow personal and then stampede without waiting for a benediction. We have not yet heard of any conversions.

BUCKLAND.—Death has come among us during this week, and taken one of our oldest and most respected neighbors. Mrs. George Cotton was buried on Tuesday.
The dwelling-houses belonging to the Waverly mills are receiving a new coat of paint, which greatly improves their appearance.
D. Adams and family who have been in the city for some time, have returned to their home in Buckland.

WAPPING.—We took a ride through this village last Thursday, and deliver to our humble opinion that Messrs. T. A. Carter, L. J. Grant and John Weller have the best tobacco in the neighborhood. The three fields, of about two acres each, form a part of a large meadow, and the moist land has caused a vigorous growth in spite of the dry season.—Mr. Walter A. Sudd took a trip to the "Tower" last Thursday.—The Wapping base ball nine are to play a return game with the Vernon boys at Vernon Center this afternoon. The game is sure to prove an interesting one.
Our regular Wapping correspondent sends us a batch of news just too late for publication this week. It will appear next Saturday.

THE STAINED GLASS MANUFACTURERS and designers triumphantly point to the fashionable arrangement of curtains, and ask whether it would not be more sensible to exclude the sunlight by a colored medium, rather than to fill the spaces with clear glass shrouded by muslin shades fastened back by a ribbon, a holland shade and two sets of curtains.

BUENOS AIRES.—Nearly all of those who have been passing the "heated term" in cool sea-side or mountain resorts, have returned home. The street, business, and social life, begin to put on the old and cheery look and every body seems happy.
LAST SUNDAY.—E. B. Dillingham, of Hartford, occupied the pulpit of the M. E. church, last Sunday. He made a good impression by his earnest, and warm hearted sermon.
THE SCHOOLS.—On Monday, Sept. 4th, the public schools open for the fall term. The former teachers are welcomed back, and there is good promise of a very harmonious and profitable relation between instructors and pupils.
TOBACCO.—The work of harvesting has begun. Some reap a fair crop, many will fall considerably from this, and some experience almost total loss.
MEDICAL.—Dr. C. E. Markham, physician and surgeon, has taken residence in town. He is at present with Mrs. Ransom Riley. It is very gratifying to have a physician located here, and doubtless, time and acquaintance will give him a place in the confidence and patronage of the community.
PLEASANT EXCURSION.—St. Mary's Society of East Hartford, had a very delightful excursion to Saybrook, on Tuesday. Quite a large number went from here, being conveyed to Hartford by O. W. Elmer's bus line. Though the entire number was not so large as at some former time, yet a more delightful day is seldom passed than last Tuesday. Everybody was satisfied.
SUNDAY SERVICES.—There will be preaching in the M. E. Church tomorrow at 11 o'clock a. m., followed by the Communion of the Lord's Supper. In the evening a service of song and prayer. The young people's meeting, which was discontinued in July, will be held as formerly on Friday evenings, and the Pansy Society on Sunday evenings.

SUDDEN ILLNESS.—Mrs. George Forbes was taken suddenly and seriously ill on Tuesday. She had been usually well and had just returned home from Hartford, when the attack came. There is a considerable number of sick ones now in town.
WANTED IMMEDIATELY. A competent nurse girl to take charge of a child three years old. Apply to N. H. ALLEN, Elm St. South Manchester.
SOUTH WINDSOR.—If you tobacco crop is a failure this year, our ball game will be a success. The boys have indeed secured a record on the diamond.

BOLTON.
The festival and church fair took place at Bolton Centre, Wednesday evening, and was a brilliant affair. The weather was all that could be desired, and the ice cream was first rate, as long as it lasted. The display of fancy articles would do credit to a county fair and everything sold well, so that Bolton was made glad, the proceeds amounting to about fifty dollars. Delegations of beauty and fashion were present from South Manchester, Andover, Gilead, Rockville, and other places. In a word, it was the grand event of the season.
This is the driest season since 1824, with no prospect of rain at present. And nobody prays for rain as far as heard from; "but after this the deluge."
The summer residents from cities, begin to talk of leaving us. It will be remembered that the hottest day last season was the 7th of September, the day after the "Yellow day" and we shall have another hot wave yet.
The Childs brothers of East Hartford, Frank, Henry and Samuel, have been camping out on the banks of the middle reservoir during the past six weeks. A visit to their camp found them hale and hearty, and brown as gypsies. They reported good fishing, seemed to greatly enjoy their novel life, and propose to continue it two weeks longer.

BUCKLAND.—The four regiments of the Connecticut national guard will go into camp at Niantic next Monday. During the past few weeks the camp has been put in readiness, wells have been driven, tents floored, stables and mess buildings put up, etc. The governor's staff goes to the camp Wednesday, and Friday will be the governor's day.
The Hartford and New York transportation company has raised its capital 50 per cent, making it $112,000.

GLASTONBURY.
Our boys, the Nauboc club, came home from playing with the Mt. Nebo club, at South Manchester, Saturday last with flying colors. They beaten the Mount Nebo 11 to 1. This puts the defeat, the club inflicted upon the Nauboc earlier in the season. Each club should feel that in each other, they have "foemen worth of their steel." Great interest will follow the contest between these two organizations.
Considerable interest was excited in a hearing before Messrs. John Moseley, Eugene S. Strickland and George S. Andrews, as arbitrators held at the town records building last Saturday. It was a matter relating to a boundary line between the lands of Mr. Jane A. Hills, James O. Griswold. The arbitrators first carefully examined the premises in question, in the morning, and the rest of the day to a careful patient hearing of the parties, witnesses and counsel, and will give their decision sometime in September. In this way a matter which arranged by amicable submission, small expenses, that would have cost a source of very great trouble, and costs to each of the parties, is now being entered by either party.
Two of our school districts, and fifth, have just laid taxes to immediately collected for school purposes. It seems hardly fair that school districts in this section should be obliged to lay taxes to an amount averaging some $200 per year, to support their public schools, at the same time educating a large number of their children at the Academy, while paying nearly half of the tax for school and other purposes to the town, so that the remaining district are at no expense by way of district taxes. The time will probably come when this burden will be equalized in some way.

GLASTONBURY.
We were in error last week, stating that the new mill at Eastville is being built by Messrs. Bliss and Sisson. Mr. Sisson wishes to say that Mr. Bloom has the contract, and that he has nothing whatever to do with it.
Charles Taylor, Esq., left Thursday morning for a trip on the water, of some extent. Our friends Taylor always enjoys his vacations, and we all hope the one he is now entering upon will be no exception to so good a general rule, and that he will have an immense good time, as well as a welcome respite from his business cares.
George F. Cobit will take the place in the store during Mr. Taylor's absence.

The presence of mind of a woman probably saved property worth $2000 from being lost. A few days ago she was at work removing the penicillin from a barrel. She was sitting on a stool, and had a silver hanging from a floor hook. Examining the tin, she saw that it was breaking, and getting a timber he proceeded to take up, and none too soon, for the work was completed, the tin of the carding-room appeared, and that the speckers had stopped. She was unable to start them. An accident showed that the floor had been so much that the speckers were by this company sixteen consecutive days.
