SOUTH MANCHESTER.

There will be no cooking school this afternoon.

W. H. Cheney is expected home from California next Monday.

B. F. T. Jenney is expected to occupy his house at the Green next week.

Mr. Allen's appointment as organist at the Center Church, Hartford, will stop the Sunday afternoon recitals. Mr. Allen expects to remove with his family to Hartford.

George W. Pomroy, of Hartford, will sell at auction the well known Avery place in the south park of the village. For further particulars, see advertisement.

On Saturday, March 31st, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, also at 7 o'clock in the evening, the committee will meet at the M. E. church to sell the pews for the ensuing year.

The closing sociable of the series of six will be held in Cheney's hall this evening from 8 to 10.30 o'clock. Yesterday was Good Friday and for that reason the dance was postponed until this evening.

Don't forget the band concert next Thursday night. The proceeds are for a worthy object and the music will be worth listening to. The sale of tickets already indicates a large attendance.

The Rt. Rev. John Williams, D. D., L. L. D., Bishop of Connecticut, will visit St. Mary's Parish on Thursday evening, March 29th, at the hour of half past seven o'clock, when he will preach and administer the apostolic rite of Confirmation to the largest class ever presented in this parish.

Many Manchester people have been to Rocky Point on excursions. They will be sorry to learn that on Friday of last week a destructive fire consumed the hotel, dining hall and boat and bathing houses. The buildings will be immediately replaced by structures more ornamental and modern in design.

The South Manchester fire and drum corps have been practicing faithfully for two years and wish to appear on public occasions this summer. For this reason the members are circulating a subscription paper with a view of getting pecuniary assistance in buying new uniforms. They should be encouraged.

A subscriber wants us to say that Mr. Frank Cheney sold his potatoes last fall for one dollar a bushel. Learning afterwards that the market price of the potatoes at the time he sold them was only 85 cents per bushel he has just caused the balance to be returned to his customers. The above mentioned subscriber was one of the customers.

To-morrow, Easter day, the congregation of St. Mary's parish will occupy, for the first time, the new church edifice. The hours of morning and evening service remain unchanged, at 10.45 a. m. and 5 p. m. There will be a special baptismal service at 4 p. m. Holy Communion will be celebrated immediately after morning service, and the Sunday school will follow.

The Swedish-German sociable at Cheney's hall Wednesday evening, was attended by about forty couples. The program was peculiar because twelve of the sixteen numbers were round dances. Each dance was generally participated in and the evening was heartily enjoyed. The floor managers to whom much of the credit for the success of the ball is due were Herman Freitag, Wm. Soderland, Axel Pihlgren, Michael Schande and Rudolph Wirtalle.

Mr. N. H. Allen has been engaged as organist at the Center Church, Hartford, and will assume his duties April 1st. The appointment is especially important as this church is about to purchase an organ which will be the most valuable in the state. Mr. Allen has had a large experience in preparing specifications for organ builders, and this fact coupled with his thorough musical education will make him an invaluable man for the place.

The following music will be rendered by a large choir at St. James's Catholic church to-morrow. W. M. Keating is the organist.

Katie Mallen, the youngest daughter of Michael Mallen, who is employed in the new mill met with a very serious accident last Saturday afternoon. The middle finger of one of her hands was caught between two cog wheels and torn from the hand, the chord being ripped out with it as far up as the wrist. The end of the thumb was also so badly mangled that it had to be amputated and the other fingers of the hand were badly bruised. Dr. Parker dressed the wounds with his usual skill, and the patient will probably recover although the shock was a terrible one.

The Methodist church was filled last Sunday evening at the monthly meeting of the South Manchester Temperance Union. The singing, participated in by the large congregation and led by the large organ and two cornets, was very powerful. The speaker of the evening was Rev. Geo. Lansing Taylor, D. D. The speaker in personal appearance bore a striking resemblance to one of our South Manchester justices. His address was on the subject "Moral Sanction for the promotion of temperance and Legal Force for the suppression of intemperance." The speaker said that moral sanction was not nothing unless it was a means of inciting action and stated many reasons for the employment of legal force—not form—in the suppression of intemperance. The address was closely listened to and is to be printed.

Our local consignees of freight share with others all over the state in the injustice of discrimination in freight rates between competing points and local stations. A local dealer has found, on attempting to order a certain class of goods from Worcester, that freight rates from that city to Manchester are 18 cents a hundred while the rate to Hartford on the same parcels is only ten cents a hundred. As the rate from Hartford to Manchester is only four cents a hundred by having his freight carried by the Manchester station to Hartford and then returned over the same route. The company probably deduct the four cents a hundred for the extra 20 miles cartage. A bill is before the legislature prohibiting this unjust discrimination, and the matter is being carefully investigated by the railroad committee.

At the last town meeting the amount of $1000 was appropriated for a new post house and a committee consisting of Dr. Jacques and Dr. Parker and the selectmen was appointed to choose a site and attend to the erection of the building. Last Saturday the committee met at the town house and chose for the site of the building the side-hill east of the barn on the town farm. Plans were submitted for the new building but upon deliberation it was decided not to proceed with its erection at present. The sum of $1000 seems to the committee, inadequate for the building of a suitable hospital. As patients of different sexes are likely to be confined there together, necessitating both male and female nurses, a commodious building, will be required, and such a building, made substantial and comfortable would cost more than the sum appropriated.

THE NEW DYE HOUSE.—The bakery building partially burned a few weeks ago has been rebuilt. The first, or basement story, of brick, was not injured by the fire and the walls extended to the sidewalk have been surmounted by a high iron roof which is supported with iron trusses. The building is now light and airy and fire proof. The machinery for dyeing will soon be in place and in a week will be in operation. The building will no longer be denominated the "bakery" but will be known as the "dry dye house." Mr. Rau, who has introduced the process of dyeing silk plush and satin with cotton back by benzine dyes, has succeeded perfectly. By this process a piece of velvet can be dyed and dried in five minutes.

Mr. Rau has purchased the patent for the use of this process in the United States. Mr. Rau will get the new dye house in operation and will then return to Germany to introduce his process there. He intends, however, to return to Manchester in a few months. During his absence the work here will be in charge of his brother.

DEATH OF FRANK W. CLARK.—Frank W. Clark, son of Wm. Clark, died at his father's house last Tuesday evening at the age of 29. He has been confined to the house for a number of months with a lung trouble, which was at first thought to be rheumatism and was so treated. When his true disease became known, all efforts to stay its progress seemed fruitless, and he declined rapidly. Mr. Clark was a young man with a pleasing address, and made friends wherever he went. Here in South Manchester where his home has always been, he had a very wide circle of friends and his face was familiar to almost every resident of the village. He met his death calmly, and before his departure, made an affectionate farewell to his most intimate friends.

His funeral was largely attended Friday afternoon, from his father's residence. The remains were enclosed in an elegant casket, covered with royal purple velvet. The pallbearers were Messrs. Charles S. Cheney, Lucius Pinney, Julius Kreuzer and A. J. Spencer. Among many elegant floral offerings, were a surveyor's transit skillfully wrought from flowers, and a floral wreath. Rev. Mr. Warner conducted the services, using the beautiful Episcopal ritual.

TARIFFVILLE.
Alice Maud, youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Martin, died last Friday, 16th; cause dysentery. Age, one year and five months. She will be buried in South Manchester.

The scholars of the high school gave their principal, Mrs. S. J. Clarke, a surprise visit one evening last week.

Ariel Mitchellson, Jr., has been home on a short visit from Eastman's Business College.

Mrs. Dr. Ensign has returned home. The BAND FAIR.—The committee has nearly perfected the arrangements for the final success of the fair for next week. Besides the several parties "raining" for the chair, dress pattern, etc., there will be put up for raffie numerous articles, of which the following are a few: Glove case, toilet set, overcoat, ottoman dress pattern, air gun, ton of coal and about forty more articles fully as valuable. Monday night the Simsbury brass band will unite with the home band and give an open air concert. The Hartford Silk Co. will during the fair place on exhibition samples of their manufactures. Dancing only from 8 to 12 and no later.

We would respectfully call attention to a complaint made us, to this effect. Near the close of service in one of our churches last Sunday, the pastor gave out invitation to all people who were Christians to arise during the singing of the final hymn. The complainant claims, although he (?) is not a Christian in his own eyes, he sincerely desires and strives to be one, and wonders if it wouldn't have been better had the invitation been given as follows: All those that are, and desire to be Christians will please arise, thus relieving people from judging themselves.

There being no doctors in Simsbury it frequently occurs that this place is left without a doctor several hours every day.

Mr. M. H. Sanford is confined to his bed with rheumatism.

Mr. Jarvis L. Bacon was made the happy father of a nine and a half pound boy, Monday.

Horsfall's blacksmith shop was broken into Tuesday night. The party is known.

Mr. J. W. Tucker has sold his west hill (Barkhamsted) farm to Mr. T. S. Mather of Hartford.

School was out Thursday, and the pupils gave an exhibition at the school house Thursday evening.

A new boy who runs on the H. & C. W. R. R., had the toes on one foot cut off by being run over by a car wheel at Bloomfield, Wednesday afternoon.

The personal effects of the late Andrew Quinn, of East Granby, will be sold at auction next Monday.

A person will be at the hall all day Monday to "take the cake" for the fair.

GILKAD.—Mrs. Martha P. Goodell, a former resident of this place, died of pneumonia at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Noah C. Davis in West Stafford, March 15th, aged 78 years. Her remains were brought here for interment. Funeral services were held at the church, Saturday, at 11 a. m.—A number of the young people met Sunday evening with Dan Hodge at his home for a sing. Miss Nellie Lee of Hebron presided at the organ and produced some very fine music from the new Willcox & White organ.—Miss Ruth Hutchinson has recently purchased a Beatty organ.

GLASTONBURY.
WM. S. GOSELE, Local Editor and Business Agent.
We have this week made arrangements with Wm. S. Goslee to act as local editor and business agent for the MANCHESTER SATURDAY HERALD. It is our intention to furnish Glastonbury with a first-class local paper and we can succeed with the co-operation of our readers in that town. Mr. Goslee will receive items of news, communications, subscriptions and advertisements. Ed. HERALD.

You correspondent here owes an apology to your paper and its reader for his apparent neglect of last week. Not many events in this immediate neighborhood seemed to require notice, though from all accounts the party of young folks and those older who made a casual call upon our friends Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Dean must have had a glorious good time.

Mr. Sturges P. Turner has rented the store and the business of F. W. Goodrich Esq. It is an excellent stand and has been in the hands of Mr. Goodrich a profitable one. Mr. Turner is a very agreeable young man, and has the general good wishes of our community for his prosperity and success in his new venture.

The terrible result of the fire at the Jesse Judson place in East Hartford in the burning of the two buildings which occupied the house seems to have led those who have investigated the matter to suspicions of foul play. Not quite as much has been done as ought to have been in the arrest and detention of the person or persons suspected. In fact, the town of East Hartford has not, of late years, been noted for its success in criminal prosecutions. We are glad to know that the person suspected has just been arrested.

Barney W. Holden, a worthy veteran of the war, died at South Glastonbury the 12th inst. He was greatly esteemed as an honest, honorable man and will be much missed in the community. We are glad to learn from S. F. Bronson, General Agent of the Hartford Life and Annuity Insurance Company, that a policy of $1000 is due on the life of Mr. Holden, and will be promptly paid in full.

The barn of W. H. H. Miller, with the horse therein was burned Sunday evening. It was probably an incendiary, though Mr. Miller hardly a man who can be supposed to have enemies of any kind.

John D. Rankin left for the Tuesday morning, probably for Nebraska. We all wish him well, and that he may do credit to the efforts and wishes of his friends in his behalf.

F. C. Covell is driving business as usual. B. F. Sage has taken hold of the out-door work of delivering goods, and with Messrs. Covell and Curtis in the store the public will be well attended to.

There is some religious interest in the congregation of the First Church. Meetings are to be held three evenings of the present week. Dr. Scudder has been assisted by the Rev. Mr. Winch of Enfield, and he and the Rev. Mr. Flanders of Wapping will preach here during the present week.

Our community is greatly saddened by the death of N. Dwight French. Mr. French was one of our best and most promising young men competent for any position, honest, just and faithful. His father and mother have our warmest sympathies in this their great loss of one who had been their pride and hope. His wife Mrs. Ada G. French, the second time a widow, beloved by all who know her, has lost her heart's condolence in the loss of one so worthy to be mourned. They have one child, a daughter, too young to know how great a loss she has sustained.

South Glastonbury is considerably disturbed by the carryings-on of sundry persons in Cotton Hollow who seem to fear God nor regard man. A slight increase of punishment has been meted out to the ringleader of a certain disturbance last Sunday to be increased if necessary.

About 100 of our citizens assembled at Mr. John A. Martin's residence last Wednesday evening to extend their congratulations to him and Mrs. Martin on the occasion of their silver wedding. An elegant pyramid bride's loaf was appropriately surmounted and surrounded by each terrace by the "current coin of the realm" in the shape of silver dollars. Other gifts of silver coffee, fruit knives, card-receiver, a fine nickel plated student lamp, and an easy-chair for the lady of the house were brought forth. Mr. and Mrs. Martin stood the ordeal well and after sundry speeches by Rev. Messrs. Rankin, Scudder and Flanders, the repeat usual on such occasions was enjoyed.

Don't forget the special bargains in dress goods this week at W. H. CHENEY & Co's.

Boots and shoes large stock, low prices. Spring styles just arriving at W. H. CHENEY & Co's.

From public documents just issued at Washington it is found that $115,000 has been paid in fees since January 1, 1882, to the six lawyers who are engaged in prosecuting that peculiar set of plunderers known to the public as the "star routers." Over $60,000 of this sum was paid to Lawyer George Bliss, and he probably attended to the case—having five good men to assist him—without such detriment to his regular practice. In view of these figures there would seem to be every inducement for the thieves to leave off their wholesale robbery of the government and take up the practice of law.

FARM
At Auction
A Rare Chance to get a GOOD HOME!
At your own price; to be sold at auction, Wednesday, April 4, 1883, at 11 o'clock.
Terms very easy. Mortgagee's sale, down at time of sale, $1000 on delivery of deeds, and the balance can remain on mortgage at 6 per cent interest.
The Farm known as the AVERY FARM, and occupied by him for the last fourteen years, is now at auction. The farm consists of about 30 ACRES, suitably divided into mowing, pasturing, plow and wood land. The buildings consist of one and one-half story house, wood-shed, livery barn, hog-house, henney, and barn 30x40, with good stabling and rattle sheds, and are in good repair, and the land in a good state of cultivation. The farm is situated 1 1/2 miles south of Cheney's Store, South Manchester, on the main road to Glastonbury, near school-house.

The village of South Manchester is the best market in the state for all farm products, and higher prices are paid than at Hartford, and a ready sale for everything at cash prices. I will not take more of 150. I take the above method to dispose of it, and consequently it will be sold for what it will bring. The Farm is free a year over rent. For further particulars inquire of HORACE JOHNSON, Auctioneer, or of W. H. POMROY, Owner, mar 24 4w 72 Trumbull St., Hartford.

VERY DANGEROUS.

VISIT TO A NITRO-GLYCERINE FACTORY.—A PLACE WHERE MEN'S LIVES ARE IN CONSTANT DANGER.

Near the village of Tweed, Canada, and at the water's edge of Stove Lake, is a fair-sized, impenetrable, isolated wooden building, the appearance of which would cause a stranger to inquire why a good building was erected in such an isolated locality, and it was so closely guarded, as a solitary watchman, day and night the year round, checks the steps and inquires the business of the curious as they stray near. As the eye passing upwards, reads "Nitro-glycerine factory—very dangerous," in big letters above the door, the use for which the building is intended and the necessity for watchful care is apparent. At the door were seen lying iron casks sheathed inside with lead, and in these casks are imported the pure glycerine and mixed acids used in the factory.

A cask of mixed acid is hoisted by machinery to the upper story and dumped into a mixing tub, in which the mixing blades are turned by a man who is stationed in a tight box and has in front of him a thermometer. As the glycerine runs into the acid, a vapor is engendered in which life is scarcely supportable, hence the man at the crank is stationed in a close box. The acid and glycerine in their admixture rapidly heat, and the compound has to be toned down by cold water or ice; hence the greatest watchfulness is necessary at this point. As the heat is allowed to run up to 80 degrees, and nitro-glycerine explodes at 90 degrees, there remains but 10 degrees of heat between the men and eternity, or, as the manager remarked, if the heat run up to 90 degrees they would not have time to pucker their mouths to say "good-by."

It is needless to say that, while the work is going on, strangers are never allowed to enter the building, as it is necessary that every man should have his individual attention at such times upon his work. "Strict rules govern our men," remarked the manager, "as the least venture at experimenting would leave no one to tell how the accident happened." The nitro-glycerine thus manufactured has an explosive force ten times greater than that of blasting powder, and is used on very heavy work, but we sell very little in that shape, remarked the manager, as it is run down a tunnel to the room below, where it is manufactured into dynamite, dextrin or vigorite, all of which have nitro-glycerine as their basis; but are known by different names to designate the degree of power. As rapidly as possible, the nitro-glycerine is mixed with charcoal, wood pulp, or other mixtures, and reduced into a commodity more readily handled; for although dynamite is understood to be extremely dangerous to handle, it is rammed into the cartridges with a stick with as little apparent fear of the result as would be the case were the substance so much dirt.

The cartridges are made to hold from a pound to two pounds each, and are carefully packed each day and taken to an isolated magazine owned by the company. The output of the factory is about 1000 pounds daily now, but the owners expect to increase the capacity to meet the requirements of a rapidly increasing demand, as this is the only factory of the kind in Ontario, and the development of the mines has rapidly increased the demand, as blasting with powder has been almost entirely superseded by the use of dynamite, which is not only more efficacious but safer to handle. The manager remarked: "I have to pay my men large salaries, although the work is comparatively light, as a very slight accident would put them out of the way; drawing their salaries. I have worked at the business for the past five years, and own a mill in Algoma as well as this one here, but in this business, life is the result of vigilance."

Abominations of Admittances.

The New York correspondent of the Detroit Post and Tribune thus speaks of adulteration: "I am acquainted with a clerk in a downtown furniture store, and he tells me that the upper part of the building is allotted to the business of adulterating tea, coffee and spices. Great loads of sacks filled with peas and beans are carted here, which he assumes becomes prime Java and Mocha; and bags of light fluffy stuff which he supposes become tea to inflame the blood and loosen the tongue of sewing societies. Broken crackers, the sweeping of bakeries in enormous quantities are used to adulterate ginger—crushed and rolled out fine on great tables, and then mixed with pure ginger—one-third of the latter to two-thirds of the former. For a time I was puzzled about the boots and shoes," says my informant. "Three or four times a week a truck-load of big boxes filled with boots and shoes would back up and transfer their loads to the elevator, which would carry them to the fifth floor.

They never came down again. At last, after some months, I found out the shocking fact. Those old boots are actually charred in a very hot oven, and then ground up fine in a machine that we hear rumbling all day long—ground up and mixed with pepper and cinnamon. For cinnamon they also use old tan-bark, which they get for nothing."

Don't Do It.

Don't read papers and books which suggest thought you would not utter. They stain the soul; they burn the heart. Can you thrust your hand into soot and bring it out white and clean? Can you sing your clothes and not have the smell of fire on your garments? Beware of books which are suggestive of evil, though they be clothed in the purple and gold of fine language. Don't watch for dishonesty and evil intention in those around. Hold every man honest until proved otherwise. Thus believing in others you are ordinarily true to those who believe in them. Also keep your heart young and green by faith in your fellow-man.

Don't forsake your church, even though your privileges are poor. Sermons will be helpful influences in your life. You may only carry away a single sentence of a sermon: "May the best of yourself." The sound, too, of music will help drive away the evil spirit of the soul and raise you into a higher atmosphere, nearer to truth and to God.

Don't live your life alone, without forming friendship and love; your nature needs love, you were made for it, and other natures need you. You are robbing yourself, you are robbing others, if you live like a hermit. Therefore, go out into God's world and live your life out for others.

A Double-Tongued Jersey Babe.

There have been hosts of visitors to the humble frame residence of James Thompson, No. 389 South Warren street, in Trenton, N. J., for weeks past. The attraction is a double-tongued baby. It is at once the surprise of medical men and the joy of seekers after wonderful things in nature. The physicians pronounce it in marvelous case, and the old ladies of the neighborhood declare that they "never saw the like in their whole experience." That the baby of the feminine gender is another interesting element in the case. As late lookers into the future propose the problem, "if the infant survive to maturity, what will become of her husband when he comes home from the front line at night—given that two tongues wag twice as much as one?"

Bless his Heart.

In a very elegant palace car entered a weary-faced, poorly dressed woman with three little children, one a babe in her arms. A look of joy crept into her face as she settled down into one of the luxurious chairs, but it was quickly dispelled as she was asked rudely to "start her boots." A smile of amusement was seen on several faces as the frightened group hurried out to enter one of the common cars. Upon one young face, however, there was a look which shamed the countenances of the others. "Auntie," said the boy to the lady beside him, "I am going to carry my basket of fruit and this box of sandwiches to the poor woman in the next car. You are willing of course?" He spoke eagerly, but she answered: "Do not be foolish, dear; you may need them yourself, and perhaps the woman is an impostor." "No, I'll not need them," he answered, decidedly, but in a very low tone. "You know I had a very hearty breakfast, and don't need a lunch. The woman looked hungry, auntie, and so tired, too, with those three little babies clinging to her. I'll be back in a minute, auntie; I know mother wouldn't like it if I didn't speak a kind word to the least of these when I meet them." The worldly aunt brushed a tear from her eye after the boy left her, and said, audibly: "Just like his dear mother."

THE STORY OF THE BAD BOY.

A TRAP THAT WAS LAID FOR THE POSTMAN AND WHAT CAME OF IT. You see, pa likes a joke the best of any man you ever saw, if it is on somebody else, but he kicks like a steer when it is on him. I asked him this morning if it would not be a good joke to put some soft soap on the front step, so the letter carrier would slip up and spill himself, and pa said it would be elegant. Pa is a Democrat, and he thinks that anything that will make it unpleasant for Republican office-holders is legitimate, and he encouraged me to paralyze the letter-carrier. The letter-carrier is as old a man as pa, and I didn't want to humiliate him, but I just wanted pa to give his consent, so he couldn't kick if he got caught in his own trap. You see? Well, this morning the minister and two of the deacons called on pa, to have a talk with him about his actions in church on two or three occasions.

Then I poured the two-quart tin full of soft soap on the front step. It was this white soap, which the color of the step, and when I got it spread, I went down in the basement. The visitors came out and pa was trying to explain to them about Hoyle, when one of the deacons stepped into the soap, and his feet flew up and he struck and slid down the steps. The minister said, "Great heavens, deacon, are you hurt? Let me assist you," and he took two quick steps, and you have seen these fellows in a minstrel show that kick each other head over heels and fall on their ears, and stand on their heads and turn around like a top. The minister's feet slipped, and the next I saw he was standing on his head in his hat, and his legs were sort of wilted and fell limp by his side and he fell over.

The minister didn't look pious a bit when he was trying to catch the railing. He looked as though he wanted to murder every man on earth, but it may be he was tired. Well, pa was paralyzed, and he and the other deacon rushed out to pick up the minister and the first old man, and when they struck the steps they went killing. Pa's feet somehow went backwards, and he turned a somersault and struck full length on his back, and one heel was across the minister's neck, and he slid down the steps, and the other deacon fell all over the other three, and it was the worst looking lot of people I ever saw. I think if the minister had been in the woods somewhere, where nobody could have heard him, they would have used language. The hired girl told me there were three tramps out on the sidewalk fighting pa, and she took the broom and started to help pa, and I tried to stop ma, 'cause her constitution is not very strong and I did not want her to do any flying trapeze business, but I couldn't stop her, and she went out with a broom and a towel tied around her head. Well, I don't know where ma did strike, but when she came in she said she had palpitation of the heart, but that was not the place where she put the arnica. O, but she did go through the air like a bullet through cheese, and when she went down the steps a' bumpy-bump, I felt sorry for ma.

As soon as he see it was ma, the minister said: "Why, sister, the wicked stand in slippery places, don't they?" And then a policeman came along, and first he thought they were all drunk, but he found they were respectable, and he got a chip and scraped the soap off of them, and they went home, and pa and ma they got into the house some way, and just then the letter-carrier came along, but he didn't have any letters for us, and he didn't come up the steps, and then I went up the stairs and I said: "Pa, don't you think it was real mean after you and I fixed the soap on the steps for the letter-carrier, he didn't come on the steps at all?"

Railway Rumbblings.

Coal cars with a capacity of 25 tons and having sides so high that a man standing inside cannot be seen are run on the New York and New England road.

Supt. Holbrook of the New England road while assisting in loading a heavy easting on a locomotive in the Hartford yard on Monday, had one of his fingers badly crushed.

A fast freight train is daily run on the New England road between Newburg and Boston both ways, which the Newburg Journal says makes as good time as the passenger trains.

The freight and passenger business on the Hartford and Connecticut Western road is increasing. The average monthly receipts aggregating from $11,000 to $12,000 in some months were a year ago.

The traffic over the Newburg and New England road for February amounted to 3,112 loaded freight cars eastward and 417 westward. The empty cars numbered 3,012 eastward, and 31 westward. The eastward movement included 1,806 carsloads of coal.

The work of extending the second track of the New England road from Franklin to Blackstone, in Massachusetts, is in an advanced stage. With the completion of two tracks and closing a few short gaps in fills, it will be ready for the iron, and large gangs of men are now at work upon it. Three or four long stretches of track are already laid and being used as turn-outs for freight trains.

From Blackstone to East Thompson there is much heavy work to be done; there are several rock cuts and bridges to be widened. Comparatively nothing has been done toward this except the completion at convenient points of five long turn-outs, each capable of accommodating several freight trains. Laborers are at work extending one at Millville, and grading another one for extensions at Douglas and East Douglas. All of these are connected with the main line by new safety switches with very conspicuous indicators.

Poultry Notes.

The order of Carolina tar, applied on the cracks and joints of hen-houses is beneficial to the health of the occupants. Crude carbolic acid, applied to the under side of the perch is also a good thing. The economy of feeding wheat screenings when whole wheat can be bought at present prices, is doubtful. There is a great deal of foul seed which will be scattered over the farm by the poultry man.

A portable boiler is a handy thing to have about the premises, and a most necessary for a poultry-raiser. Unmarketable vegetables, bones and scraps from the butcher, and such things, can be utilized by boiling them for the poultry. If you want hens to lay, give them a warm breakfast. It may consist of oats and corn, or barley or oats and buckwheat, chopped or ground together and mixed about half-and-half with good wheat middlings or bran. It must be cooked or scalded, well stirred, and fed warm, but not too hot and not too wet. It should be a feed, not a slop. If you are ten or twelve miles from a grist-mill it may be inconvenient to get the chicken-feed ground. But it may be boiled or scalded without grinding, and will make very good food for the breakfast. The normal meal may be wheat, oats, barley, or buckwheat in the sheaf or threshed, and the evening meal should be whole, sound corn, as much as they will eat, with fresh water at least twice a day—not ice-water, but fresh from the pump or spring, and in cold weather some warm water should be added to it. This is a good bill of fare, but the hens may have some milk into which bran is stirred, all the waste bits from the mill, plenty of lime in an available form—the cheapest and best is oyster shells or crushed oyster shells. Some green food, as cabbage, if available, or potatoes or turnips, cooked or raw, are good for the fowls. None of these can be had, then give her corn fodder. It is best scalded or steamed until it is soft, and then the fowls will eat it like grass. In all your feeding don't feed too much at once. Keep the hens just hungry enough to eat up clean what you give them.

Cleaning Carpets.

In all experiments we have found nothing so safe and serviceable as a very slightly moistened, only very slightly, just sufficient to hold the particles together. In this case it is not necessary to stop and clean the room every few minutes. Sweep the carpet after the brush has been sprinkled over it not only cleans the carpets and gathers all the dirt into the brush, but keeps the broom clean at the same time. If too much dampened aside from injuring the carpet, it makes the work harder, because the brush becomes very heavy if very damp. The brush should be lifted evenly over the floor, and then the room swept as usual. The brush soours and cleanses the whole fabric, very little dust is made while sweeping with it, and scarcely any settles on the furniture, pictures, etc., after the work is accomplished, because very little dirt, thread, bits of paper, or lint is gathered up into the mass of bristles that is being moved over the floor, and so thoroughly incorporated with it that it will not be easily separated. Carpets swept in this way retain very little dust as will be plainly demonstrated whenever they are taken up to be shaken.

AGRICULTURAL.

The lengthening days remind us that spring is approaching, and that long we must commence active operations upon our gardens and farms.

Have you got ready as far as possible, or are you putting off the getting ready until it is actually time to begin work in the field?

You might get the harnesses all mended and washed and oiled, so that they will not break down when you are in a hurry about drawing manure or plowing, and have them all mended and oiled so that they will not chafe the horses whose skins have grown a little tender during the winter when their work has been light.

Get the carts also ready, and see that the plows, and put in a supply of good points, so that you may change whenever the wearing or changing may make it desirable to change.

Perhaps you may find the cheapest way will be to purchase a new plow, for many of the later styles will do much more work at a much less expenditure of strength on the part of the plowman and plow team than the older patterns would do, even when in good order.

Then you should look out for such other tools as will be needed for the spring work, and see what will be needed in the way of seeds. Do not try to economize by using poor tools or planting poor seed. An awkward hired man lazy and discontented, and the boys will get off the farm.

Poor seed will give a poor crop, in spite of liberal manuring and careful cultivation. Neither drain your purse in purchasing high-priced and extraneous novelties in seeds or machinery if you know nothing about them, nor try to save money by buying a low-priced article when you have any doubt about its being as good as anything of its kind in the market.

The Family Purse.

The money question between husband and wife is one of the most serious drawbacks to married happiness, and it is time it was adjusted on a more just and equal basis. The life of utter dependence which some women lead is crushing and degrading. Men do not realize the utter helplessness and vagrancy to which the system condemns women. Now, does any one believe that it is necessary to the welfare of a family that she should go to him for twenty-five cents every time she needs it for car fare or a spoon of thread? Is it car fare or a spoon of thread? Is it car fare or just to take her imbecility in money matters for granted before she has been tested? Is it not just such women, who are left by the failure of some speculative craze to their own resources, with the burden of a family upon their inexperienced shoulders, who often display wonderful power of energy and calculation, in addition to thrift and persevering industry, which ought to put all men to shame? Women, as a general rule, can make a dollar go as far as two in the hands of men; and many concealed individuals who now consider that the social system bounded by four walls of their dwelling would cease to revolve if they were taken out of it, would find great happiness and great pecuniary advantage in putting the control of all the interior details of their homes in the hands of their wives, with a division of the income equal to the requirement.
