

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

ST. MARY'S PARISH, REV. MESSRS. W. W. HARD, PASTOR, AND MRS. W. D. HARD, CHURCH WARDEN.

There has been a succession of beautiful sunsets this week.

The W. C. T. U. met with Mrs. W. D. Hard, Tuesday, at 3 o'clock.

The Knights of Honor entertained thirteen of their Hartford brethren, Tuesday evening.

The trotting park scheme is being revived. A base ball ground on the same site is projected.

There was entire harmony in both caucuses last week. The business of each was finished before nine o'clock.

Presiding Elder Robinson will preach at the Methodist church to-morrow evening, at seven o'clock.

Prof. Diavelo at Roberts opera house this afternoon. The 1.35 train arrives in Hartford in time for the matinee.

To-morrow evening, Rev. Mr. Warner will preach at the Episcopal church, on "Martin Luther and the Reformation."

Last year Frank Cheney received 647 votes for representative, and E. C. Hilliard 610, Wells Wetherell received 427 and O. H. Merrill 430.

John Wetherell, whose sudden death was noticed last week, was the first to die of a family of ten brothers and sisters all of whom have reached an advanced age.

Co. G's annual muster for inspection will occur Wednesday evening, Nov. 21st. The company will be on parade to appear in full dress uniform and white gloves, without knapsacks.

Twelve votes for Scott and Clark were thrown out because they had by mistake been deposited in the clerk's box. Had they been counted they would have made no difference in the result.

Company G. shot for company next Saturday. They will have a grand ball and distribute prizes at Cheney's lower hall, next Tuesday evening. Cheney's band will entertain the occasion.

One of our residents, who bought a dollar worth of coffee at the new white tea store in Hartford, found the "coffee" to consist of chicory and beans. He advises his neighbors to stick to home dealers if they want reliable goods.

The choir at St. James Church under the direction of Organist Keating has developed into the finest musical organization in town. Their five o'clock vesper service, which is sung and chanted entire, is seldom equaled outside of the cities.

The storage case of the heirs of Sidney Olcott against the Hartford Manila Company, which has been hanging fire for nearly two years, has been on trial at Hartford this week and there is a prospect of its early decision.

The 400th Luther anniversary will be celebrated at the Center church Hartford, this afternoon at 3 o'clock. There will be a great deal of nice music by a chorus of 175 voices. Mr. N. H. Allen will preside at the new organ.

Arthur Hesse has been having some more good luck on hunting. Last Saturday night at East Hampton he captured five weighing 67 pounds, and Thursday night of this week he got three, at Bolton Notch, weighing together 47 pounds.

Work at H. E. Roger's mills has been driving of late and the east mill has been running sixteen hours a day to keep up with orders. The capacity of the mill is about to be increased by the addition of a large steam engine, and a new dryer of improved design.

The Hartford Times finds this crumb of comfort dropped by the republicans in their victory of Tuesday.

Manchester elects Clinton W. Cowles, dem., for its first representative, by upwards of 30 majority, and would have elected F. W. Clark, the other democratic nominee, if he had worked for it. Mr. Cowles is one of the best informed and capable business members of the House.

Tramps are becoming numerous in the state owing to the failure to enforce the existing excellent tramp law. In Manchester, tramps are seen almost daily. It is the duty of every citizen to see the law enforced and if a tramp is discovered complaint should be made at once to an officer and the man arrested. If the law is enforced in this town, tramps will soon learn of it and give Manchester a wide berth.

Dr. William Wood's famous South Windsor choir are coming to South Manchester and will give one of their inimitable old folks' concerts in Cheney's hall, next Thursday evening, Nov. 16th. This choir contains an unusual amount of musical talent, superbly costumed and thoroughly drilled. Their entertainment at North Manchester last season, was entirely satisfactory. They bring with them an orchestra especially adapted for old time music.

Arrangements were made Tuesday evening to receive the returns from the Connecticut and Massachusetts elections from the telegraph office at the depot by telephone at Watkins Bros. office. Fifteen or twenty persons contributed to pay the expense of receiving the news and sat up patiently waiting for returns, until ten o'clock came with a word from the electors. Then came a message from Manager Lounsbury of the Western Union office, Hartford, saying that no returns could be sent to Manchester that night. The message gave no reason for the disappointment. A report that Butler was elected by 20,000 majority came by telephone and with this cheering information the crowd dispersed. It was afterwards revealed that the telephone message about Butler was from an unreliable source.

OFF FOR FLORIDA. Some of the attractions of that State: A. W. Chapman and family and James Albiston and wife, sailed for Florida yesterday. Mr. Albiston was one of a number of Manchester people who took the Southern fever seven or eight years ago, and went to Florida. The State government then as now, offered a track of 160 acres of land to any man who would settle on it, put up a house and begin improvements on the property. Mr. Albiston chose a tract near South Lake Weir, a beautiful sheet of water in the center of the state. On this land he put up a log cabin, set out an orange grove and began his five years' residence. There was a need of self-denial to live out this period. Neighbors were few and far removed. The nearest steamboat landing where a boat touched once a fortnight, was more than ten miles away. There were no railroads in that part of the country. The summers were long and hot, but in the face of these discouragements, he braved out the five years and has now found his recompense. The spot he chose was a favorable one. Today, within two miles of his place, there is a rapidly growing village of 1500 inhabitants, with churches, schools, an opera house, hotels and two railroads. The land that cost nothing seven years ago, is today worth at a low estimate, $50 an acre, and it is rapidly increasing in value. The orange grove is just beginning to produce and will yield its owner a handsome revenue every year.

Mr. Albiston's case is but one of hundreds of similar experiences. W. E. Hudson, formerly of Manchester, is pleasantly located near Orlando, a thriving village about sixty miles southeast of South Lake Weir. The soil is well adapted for certain vegetables, which can be sent in the northern markets early enough in the season to command a large price. An orange grove on Mr. Hudson's place is already yielding some fine fruit. Leonard B. Knox, also from Manchester, is doing well at his place at Halifax, on one of the inlets on the eastern coast of the state. Edward Ellsworth, another Manchester man, is located at Ormond, also in the eastern part of the state.

The uniform success of those who have given Florida life a fair trial, has largely increased the number of yearly emigrants to that state. This season our town, beside losing Mr. Chapman, who intends to make his home near Mr. Albiston, will have about to say good-bye to Henry Thompson, one of our well known residents. Mr. Thompson is soon to start for Florida, and will make his headquarters during the winter at South Lake Weir. If the locality and climate suit him, he will take up 160 acres of state land and improve it. The fact that he served in the late war limits the term of residence required from five to two years, and with plenty of building in the neighborhood to keep him busy, Mr. Thompson will find this term will pass quickly.

As a health resort, Florida is a favorite state for Manchester invalids, and these with pleasure-seekers and prospectors, swell the number who annually visit Florida from this town to about fifty. The favorite route is by the Mallory steamer from New York direct to Fernandina, Fla., from which point railroads connect with all parts of the state. Steamers on this line sail on Fridays of each week and ordinarily consume three days in the passage. Starting in midwinter, the passenger the first day out, dresses in woollens; the second day he finds a light overcoat comfortable on deck, and the third day he can dispense with all but light summer clothing.

THE ELECTIONS.

NEW YORK.

The Democratic State Ticket Elected. The Democratic ticket, headed by Governor Tilden, was elected by a majority of 10,000.

The Republican ticket, headed by Governor Throop, was defeated by a majority of 10,000.

The Democratic majority on the other side candidates was about 42,000.

The following are the state officers elected: Secretary of state, J. B. Carr, rep.; comptroller, Alfred C. Chapin, dem.; treasurer, Robert A. Maxwell, dem.; attorney general, Dennis O'Brien, dem.; state judge, Benjamin Sweet, dem.

The republicans have carried both branches of the legislature. In the senate there will be twenty republicans and twelve democrats, and in the house seventy-four republicans and fifty-four democrats, being a majority of twenty-eight on a joint ballot.

The senate was composed of eighteen democrats and fourteen republicans, and the house contained eighty-five democrats and forty-three republicans, being a majority of forty-two on a joint ballot.

The republicans elect eight judges of the supreme court and the democrats four. In New York city the Tammany Hall candidate for register is elected. The board of aldermen will consist of eight republicans, eight Tammany Hall democrats, seven county democrats and one Jeffersonian democrat.

In Brooklyn Mayor Low is re-elected by a majority of 1,840. The amendment abolishing prison labor is probably carried.

MASACHUSETTS.

Robinson Elected by About Ten Thousand Majority. Boston, Mass., Nov. 7.—The defeat of Butler is decisive. It is not possible as yet to give exact figures, but Robinson's majority obtained all the way from 6,000 to 15,000.

Old line democrats are delighted with the result. The vote for Grimes, the conservative candidate for lieutenant governor, shows that the fight was against Butler direct, and that the democratic party as a whole stood by the ticket. The legislature will stand 77 democrats last year. The senate will consist of ten republicans and seven democrats. There are seventeen districts to be held for the next year, and the result in a few instances may be changed. The legislature will stand 74 districts minus, and to say that everybody is surprised hardly expresses the situation. The democrats are not disturbed, because Butler began to look too much like a presidential candidate. At the municipal election which occurs here next month there will likewise be a change. Party upon a republican victory as a forgone conclusion. Furthermore, the victory this year is looked upon as prefiguring a majority for the republicans in 1884, with Arthur as a candidate.

CONNECTICUT.

Heavy Republican Gains—A Legislative Majority of Sixty. Hartford, Nov. 7.—The republicans have made large gains in the legislature, while the democrats gain but little. The republicans have a majority of six in the senate, and a majority of five in the house, the parties electing sixteen republicans and eight democrats. The republicans further gain about 200 votes in the senate, and to say that everybody is surprised hardly expresses the situation. The democrats are not disturbed, because Butler began to look too much like a presidential candidate. At the municipal election which occurs here next month there will likewise be a change. Party upon a republican victory as a forgone conclusion. Furthermore, the victory this year is looked upon as prefiguring a majority for the republicans in 1884, with Arthur as a candidate.

VIRGINIA.

Manassas Crushing Defeat—New the Legislature Stands. Washington, Nov. 7.—The dispatches to the republican and democratic organs that Malbone has received a great defeat in the legislature, which he has lost to the democrats by a small majority. There seems to be a possibility that they may have two-thirds in both branches. The popular majority, the republicans will exceed 15,000. The legislature will doubtless reappoint the state for congressional districts, and the new senators will vote in the election for United States senator in 1883.

Democratic Chairman Barbour's last dispatch to the republicans has carried both branches of the legislature with a majority of twenty-two and thirty on a joint ballot, and a majority of 20,000 on the popular vote of the state. Victory overhanging.

PENNSYLVANIA.

The Entire Republican Ticket Elected by 14,000 Majority. Philadelphia, Nov. 7.—The democrats are routed and confess defeat to the tune of 15,000 majority for the republicans. The figures show the democratic state committee and exceed the most sanguine republican expectations. Jeffries is elected to the controllership by 12,000 to 15,000 majority. Niles and Lively, republicans, carry western Pennsylvania by 12,000 to 15,000 majority. Niles' position is secured, and the republicans will have a majority of 10,000. In this city the result of the contest for the controllership has surprised every one. The national committee pushed Page, dem., very hard, but conceded the election to Jeffries.

NEW JERSEY.

Abbett's Majority 5,000 in 7,000—The Legislature Democratic. Jersey City, Nov. 7.—Returned by the democratic state central committee confirm the election of Abbett governor by from 4,500 to 5,500 majority. Further returns from South Jersey will probably swell his majority over Dixon, the republican candidate, to 7,000. The legislature will stand nearly the same as last year. The democrats have secured a majority of twelve in the lower house, and the republicans will have a majority of five, if not three, in the senate. Seven republicans and seven democrats hold over, which will make the senate eleven republicans and ten democrats, or if Gardner is elected, twelve republicans and nine democrats. Democratic majority on joint ballot, five.

MARYLAND.

McLean Elected Governor by a Good Majority. Baltimore, Nov. 7.—Robert M. McLean, the democratic candidate for governor, is elected by a majority which will fall below 8,000. The entire democratic state ticket is also elected. The republicans have gained several members of the legislature, and are claiming a majority in the next session. The returns thus far received, however, point to a democratic majority of two or three. The returns are coming in but slowly, and on account of the length of the ticket it is difficult to estimate whether the democrats have lost or gained on last year's total vote.

NEBRASKA.

The Entire Republican Ticket Elected by Handicapped Majorities. Omaha, Nov. 6.—All the republican candidates have been elected by a majority. The principal contest was for justice of the supreme court. M. B. Ross, the republican candidate, wins by a handsome majority. The indications are that the state is carried by the republicans by from 10,000 to 15,000 majority. Omaha and Douglas counties elect the entire republican ticket.

For underwear, Woolen Blankets, Cashmere jackets, Comfortable and general dry goods, go to the one-price store—R. P. Bissell.

GLASTONBURY.

Our useful friend Strong, who Reliable, in consequence of a great increase of public travel as found it necessary to employ an extra hand, and has been so fortunate as to secure the services of Mr. Moore Jones. Mr. Jones is reliable, worthy of full confidence of the patrons of the line.

The "Fair Play" Club played with the "Nanbu" base ball club last Saturday, one of the last games of the season. Victory perched upon the banner of the "Fair Plays," after a closely contested struggle, by a score of 38 runs to the "Nanbu's" 22.

The wedding of the Misses Pines took place on Thursday afternoon of last week. The marriages were at the Congregational church. The pulpit was very tastefully trimmed with a bank of elegant flowers and plants, and the ushers Messrs. S. C. Hardin, Sturges P. Turner, A. J. Bogue and James P. Cornish performed their several duties with great acceptance. Mrs. Lillian Miles furnished the appropriate music. The ceremonies were performed by the Rev. Mr. McVay, the Methodist clergyman at South Glastonbury. Mr. Wm. M. Plasted and Miss Carrie Pines were first married, and then Mr. John S. Holt and Miss Florence Pinney took their places, and were also joined in the "holy bonds." In consequence of the serious indisposition of Mr. Carlos Pinney, the father of the brides, the wedding reception was somewhat limited as to numbers, but this lack made up in the heartiness of congratulations on the part of those present. The wedding gifts to each were so far as possible similar, and not only tasteful and valuable, but useful. The young ladies are very highly and deservedly esteemed here, and we are all sorry to lose them, but have the gratification of knowing that our loss is somebody else's gain. Both of the gentlemen are in business and reside at Worcester, Mass.

Mrs. Syra P. Bennet of New Haven with her daughter, came to her mother's, Mrs. Narcissa Brainard's, at East Glastonbury, for a brief visit on Saturday evening.

E. W. Brainard has sold his farm at the "North Street" to Arthur T. House, at present a resident of New Britain. Mr. House proposes to remove here in a few days, and Mr. Brainard will probably occupy a part of the homestead now occupied by his mother and brother, A. M. Brainard.

The list of voters was increased six additions of those whose qualifications matured before election day at the meeting of the Board last Monday, making the completed list foot up 864 electors. This is the largest list we have ever had in this town.

GOLDEN WEDDING OF DR. SAM STOCKING.—When the centurion's servant was at the point of death, it was whispered to Jesus, that the healing of him would be a laudable act, because the owner of this servant was a very worthy man. So we can truly say concerning Dr. Stocking to celebrate his golden wedding is a worthy thing to do. No fitter subject can be found than this twin. He is worthy, because of the profession he has followed and the life he has lived. We cannot over estimate the worth of a Christian physician, one who, while he employs his skill to heal the body, is also disposed and graciously moved to recommend the great remedy for the soul. This event occurred at the residence of Dr. Stocking in East Glastonbury (Wasco) Oct. 31st, afternoon and evening. A goodly number were present, several belonging to his generation, the personal friends and associates of his early manhood. There were twelve seated at one table the youngest of whom was sixty-seven, several over eighty and one over ninety. This shows that in spite of the malaria which has been extending eastward from the Connecticut river for a decade or two of years, the inhabitants here attain to a somewhat remarkable longevity. The occasion was pleasurable and I hope satisfactory to all concerned. I am informed that there is to be a supplementary gathering the present week to finish and round out the anniversary exercises. We congratulate the doctor in his host of friends, while we regret exceedingly his shattered eyesight. As his natural vision grows dimmer, may it be fully compensated in the increased brightness of his spiritual apprehension.

Mrs. C. F. Gaines and Mrs. W. S. Goslee took advantage of the Consolidated railroad excursion on Saturday, to visit their excellent friends Mrs. J. A. Grant and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Preston at Weston, near Boston. We should judge from their description that they found them all well and happy, and had a very enjoyable time as they both deserve.

THE ELECTION. The election here passed off with a severe struggle (pleasantly conducted) of the two political parties and called out an extremely large vote for an "off year." The independent American citizen exercised his "unalienable right" of scratching, but the result was finally declared as follows: FOR SHERIFF, Alva W. Spaulding, 346; Ambrose Beatty, 316; Chauncey B. Knox, pro., 7; Asa C. Streeter, pro., 2. FOR REPRESENTATIVES, P. Henry Goodrich, r., 368; Eugene S. Strickland, r., 349; Edward D. Mi. er, d., 339; Jacob Bantle, d., 349. Messrs. Goodrich and Strickland were declared elected. In the evening the successful candidates were kept pretty busy responding to the congratulations of their personal and political friends, and music of various kinds and an occasional bouffe kept the time from passing heavily away. Butler's defeat, and the generally conclusive news from the county and state, acted as a potent soporific to both parties, though all of us were somewhat taken aback at the surprising intelligence from Manchester and Goodwin's defeat in East Hartford. It was however good to hear that our noble friend Patrick Garvan had received the appropriate approval of his fellow townsmen, as only honorable to himself, but creditable to the town.

F. C. Coyell has just returned from the metropolis with a full line of goods of all kinds, and everything is moving lively as usual under his active supervision.

P. H. Goodrich has made many improvements in his store, greatly adding to its convenience, for the use of S. P. Turn, its present occupant, who is doing an excellent business.

Charles Taylor has just put in an extensive stock of desirable goods.

C. F. Gaines is reliable and careful, has first class goods, and a line of customers that believe in him, as they have reason to do.

Hector Chapman has made many improvements in his place of business, and is busy as he always is in the line of stoves and hardware.

H. L. Torbert has quite a large assortment of stoves and hardware, ready to accommodate the public.

As a general thing, our friends here can do as well to patronize our home merchants. Returns being reasonable, they can afford to do as well by their patrons, as those who occupy more pretentious establishments in larger places.

Mr. George Cowles, received Wednesday morning from his brother in Chicago, a fine deerhound. The dog is born in Germany, and is four months old. It is a remarkably beautiful specimen, with eyes full of intelligence, and limbs as strong as any of the season it "ran in" twenty-two deer. Mr. J. T. Cowles of Chicago, the owner of the dog, is the inventor of the stand-pipe and fire-escape recently adopted in Washington, to be put on all public buildings. The dog will stay in Glastonbury until next fall.

Rev. W. W. Souder, D. D., will preach at the Congregational church next Sunday morning, a memorial sermon on the life, character, and work of Martin Luther.

Wyllis S. Bailey is teaching in Marlborough the present fall term with good success.

EAST HARTFORD.

Two steeple lamps, in front of Mr. R. A. Olmsted's house, belonging to the Village Improvement Society were broken one night last week. The selectmen have offered a reward of $25 for the arrest and conviction of the offenders.

Arrangements have been completed for the laying out of a street to connect Central avenue with Barnside avenue, via Elm street.

Our football eleven, went to the Hartford Park, last Saturday afternoon to play an eleven, composed of the new members of the third and fourth classes of the High School. Their opponents were unable to get an eleven worthy to meet them and so the East Hartford eleven consented to play a picked team, five of whom were players on the High School eleven. Although the East Hartford players had played but one match game before and although the odds were heavily against them, the score was only one goal to nothing in favor of the H. P. H. S. or by the new method of counting 6 points to 0. The eleven representing East Hartford was composed of the following: Beaumont, Carroll, Davis, A. Forbes, Lesser, Rood, Smith as rishers, L. Forbes quarterback, Branch, H. Bidwell half-backs, D. Bidwell goal.

"Barnside" "Why do they call this place Barnside?" asked one lady of another on the New England railroad the other day. With an air of conscious superiority the other replied, "Gen. Burnside and his army passed through here a few years ago and camped near the place; ever since then the place has been called Barnside."

HER "HELLO" SUSPENDED.

Miss Beatie Jostin, a Telephone Operator for Lewis Hay Valley, has been suspended from her position for a time because of her conduct.

The subscribers of sections A and B of the telephone circuit will for a time be served by a new operator. Miss Beatie Jostin, who has charge of these sections, is at present unable to attend to her duties because of the loss of her voice. On Tuesday afternoon her voice suddenly left her, but she continued to answer to the numerous calls in what the young lady herself terms "a manufactured voice"; a sort of indistinct squeal.

Miss Jostin is well known in South Manchester, having lived here until two years ago.

The Shoninger organs are now universally acknowledged to be the leading organs. Several have recently been sent to South Manchester, and they are giving the best of satisfaction. They need only be heard and seen to be appreciated. Gallip & Metzger of 169 Asylum street, Hartford, are the sole agents for these, and also for the celebrated Smith American organs. Their Marshall & Wendell pianos are the best medium priced pianos ever offered in this locality. Be sure and call upon them, before you buy a piano, organ or sheet music, as they will treat you courteously.

LONDON ALARMED

LONDON, Oct. 31.—About 9 o'clock a terrible explosion occurred near the Strand street underground station on the Metropolitan railway. On the first alarm a strong cord of police was summoned to preserve order, to keep the way clear and to convey wounded people to the hospital.

Passengers who were on the train at the scene of the explosion say that it was the result of a small explosion, which was caused by a small quantity of dynamite which had exploded in the tunnel.

The first impression was that an explosion of gas had caused the disaster, but later inquiries tend to show another theory was that the explosion was caused by dynamite which had exploded in the tunnel.

When the train reached the next station, Edgware Road, the first effort was made to rescue the wounded. Some were brought to the surface and others were conveyed to the hospital.

The first impression was that an explosion of gas had caused the disaster, but later inquiries tend to show another theory was that the explosion was caused by dynamite which had exploded in the tunnel.

When the train reached the next station, Edgware Road, the first effort was made to rescue the wounded. Some were brought to the surface and others were conveyed to the hospital.

NOTICE

TO ALL PERSONS WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—Inasmuch as the town of Manchester has for three successive years adopted the policy of "No License," and has particularly by its expression this year pronounced against licensed druggists selling or delivering intoxicating liquor, without the prescription of a practicing physician, and also against the illegal delivery of Lager Beer or other intoxicating liquor within the limits of said town—The attention of the inhabitants of the town is respectfully called to the following points, to wit:

I. "Licensed Druggists" in a no license town are only entitled to sell and deliver spirituous and intoxicating liquor upon the prescription of a practicing physician. Sec. 5, p. 215, Public Acts Conn., 1883.

II. That all spirituous and intoxicating liquors under the statute includes all spirituous and intoxicating liquors, all mixed liquors of which a part is spirituous and intoxicating, all distilled spirits, all wines, ale and porter, all beer manufactured from hops and malt, or from hops and barley, and all beer on the receipt containing which the laws of the United States require a revenue stamp to be affixed, and all cider sold to be drunk on the premises. Sec. 1, p. 177, Public Act, 1882.

III. That all persons assisting in the violation of said statutes by purchasing or receiving intoxicating liquors from a licensed druggist without a prescription, or by receiving liquor from a licensed druggist, or by receiving Lager Beer or other intoxicating liquors delivered at their dwelling house, on their premises or elsewhere within the town of Manchester although such liquor may be for a legitimate use, are competent witnesses to prove the fact of such sale or delivery.

IV. All such persons purchasing or receiving intoxicating liquors from such licensed druggist without such prescription, or receiving Lager Beer and other intoxicating liquors as aforesaid are hereby warned that they will be held liable to the full extent of the law for the same, and that they are competent witnesses to prove the fact of such sale or delivery.
