AFFAIRS ABOUT TOWN.

P. P. Little is taking a vacation for the benefit of his health.

The South Manchester office of The Herald is open every Monday evening.

McPherson has been in New York city the greater part of this week.

Several members from Wadsworth council, Order United American Mechanics attended the parade of that order at Bridgeport, Monday.

Willie Golden, one of Cheney Brothers' machinists, leaves next Wednesday for Pittsburgh, Pa., where he goes on a visit to his mother at that place.

Mr. J. K. Barney, of Providence, R. I., spoke at the Center church last Sunday morning and at the South Methodist church in the evening.

While Peter Craig and James Duffy were wrestling in front of the post office Saturday afternoon Craig fell in such a way as to fracture his shoulder blade.

Coming to a misunderstanding, the article regarding Photographer Johnson's vacation was wrongly inserted in last Saturday's Herald. Mr. Johnson will close his gallery from Oct. 1st to Oct. 6th—six days only.

Charles C. Anthony has resigned his position as lamp inspector for the Perkins company to engage in his closest profession of teaching music in public schools. He has been engaged as instructor in the schools of Rockville and Vernon and also in the eighth district of Manchester.

Co. G, 25th C. V., the company to which G. G. Hollister belongs, had their annual reunion at Capt. C. H. Talbot's in Glastonbury, Wednesday. About 30 of the veterans were present, with their families. One death was reported to have occurred in the company since the last meeting. They were photographed in a body.

The Rockville Driving club at a meeting held at Rockville last Saturday voted to hold a trot at Hyde Park the 14th and 15th of October. There will be six classes, the 1st being for 2 year olds. Liberal purses will be offered and there will, no doubt, be a number of good horses entered as the race is held on the Eastern Connecticut Trotting Circuit.

The Sterling Silver company, whose taxes the town of Manchester abated last spring for a term of five years, have taken possession of the Childs mill but have not yet begun the manufacture of their goods. Some of the machinery is in and for the last two months two tool-makers have been employed there making implement to use in the process of manufacturing silver tableware. It will be a month and perhaps longer before the concern will begin manufacturing operations.

Fr Campbell's dog, "Shep," has been missed from about the depot evenings this week. He usually went to the depot every night to meet the 5.30 train which brought the evening papers and was a well-noticed figure. He also had the habit of following Steven Dunn down the South Manchester railroad track when he went home for supper. It is thought that this is what he was doing last Friday night. The help train on the South Manchester road was coming on the track. The dog always hesitated to cross the cattle guard over Norman Leonard's cow path and while he was picking his way over it the train hit him and killed him instantly. The dog was highly prized by its owner.

Dennis Twomey, a laborer in the employ of Cheney Brothers, and a boarder at the west boarding house, had about $25 taken from a pocket in his pantaloons which were hanging in a closet last Friday night or Saturday morning. He suspected his room mate, Dave Sweeney, of the crime and went to Grand Juror Hathaway and had a warrant made out for Sweeney's arrest. He was taken by constable Brink and tried before Justice Johnson Saturday afternoon at three o'clock on a charge of theft. The evidence introduced was not sufficient to convict and he was acquitted.

The repairs at the town hall are rapid. By nearing completion. The new hall on the second floor will be ready for occupancy before the annual town meeting takes place. Although the change on the first floor will not be finished then, the voting booths and polling boxes will be in position ready for use. The upper hall, which is hereafter to be used exclusively for town meetings, will be a great improvement over the old one. It is high enough to ensure abundant light and air. The floor is of southern pine and the wall are wainscoted with the same. The plastering has been finished and the ceiling painted. Comfortable settees will take the place of the old stiff-backed church pews. Access to the hall will be by two broad staircases each divided by a landing half way up.

Men drink good, had and indifferent liquor, and never grumble about the price of it, but they growl when their wives don't economize by using Brussels soap.

Mr. N. T. Pulsifer has been absent in Chicago on a business trip all the week.

George Hall, Jr., son of Selectman Hall, entered the Storrs Agricultural school at Mansfield last Monday. He begins with the second year of the course.

Lamb & Hibbard have the contract to put in a steam heater at Morton's building. They will also put in two heaters for Patten & Brown's building, and one at W. C. Brown's residence.

The coming state campaign will not be a campaign of boodle. Both the candidates for governor are rich men but they are not "practical politicians" and will not encourage vote buying.

E. T. Ferris brought home a lion's paw from Bolton the other day that measured five feet and three inches from tip to tip. It was shot by Harvey Hastings and will be mounted by Oscar Hagenow.

Ex-Senator John S. Cheney presided at the congressional convention which renominated Hon. W. E. Simonds by a unanimous vote at Hartford last Tuesday. The delegates from this place were J. S. Cheney, Charles R. Keeney, R. N. Strong and John Loomis.

H. E. Rogers is planning to detach from his block the tenement houses now attached to the west end. He finds the grouping together of so many tenements—in all—undesirable in many ways. He will probably move the buildings to a lot in the vicinity of West street. The removal of these tenements will greatly improve the surroundings of the commodious block in which A. H. Skinner's store is located.

Hudson Bidwell, who was born in Manchester and spent the early part of his life here, is now alderman of the third ward in Utica. He has been a subscriber to The Herald for years and in sending his last renewal writes: "As Manchester is my birth place, and where I spent the early portion of my life, until after arriving at manhood, I am naturally interested in the prosperity of the town and read your paper with much interest in all matters appertaining thereto."

All the county fairs in this vicinity have had such bad luck with the weather this season that the agricultural managers are counting on a pleasant week and a big attendance next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The fair ground is but a short walk from the center of the borough and is admirably fitted up. There will be fast trotting for liberal purses, bicycle and running races and other exciting specialties. The list of attractions is printed in detail in an advertisement.

W. B. Cheney's Sons are about to make a radical change in the arrangement of the interior of their store. All the post office boxes are to be carried to the north side and placed in a line. The crockery counter and sabb case are to be moved to make more room in front of the boxes. The space south of the post office is to be occupied by the boot and shoe department, which will be moved from the rear of the store. The department for ladies' shoes will come next to the show window and men's shoes will take the place now occupied by men's furnishings, which will be pushed toward the rear of the store.

Although Manchester could not receive any credit for its cattle exhibit at the State fair it did have the honor of the largest man on the grounds one of the days of the session. This was E. H. Lathrop, the Buckland milk peddler. He weighs 320 pounds. When the man in the inside show was doing the heavy lifting with his teeth a search was made of the grounds for the three heaviest men that could be found as he wanted to put them on a barrel of water. The three men were found and Lathrop was the heaviest. He was the second man put on to the barrel and took up all the room so that the third man could not get a place on it. The barrel of water and the two men together weighed 1,200 pounds. The verdict was unanimous by those present that Lathrop was the biggest man present on that day.

A. L. Taylor & Sons will be the title of the new firm that will reopen the Taylor market on Charter Oak street this evening. The market has been operated by members of the Taylor family for more than twenty years. Upon the withdrawal of Albert Taylor from the firm of Taylor Brothers some three years ago, Henry O. Taylor assumed the business and continued it until his death when he was succeeded by Charles L. Taylor who in turn gave up the business a short time ago and for a few weeks the market has been closed. Albert Taylor now resumes the meat business at the old stand and, aided by his two sons, will run two carts and conduct a first-class market. For further particulars consult his advertisement.

You can cure yourself of malaria, chills and sciatic rheumatism, boils and all biliousness. Ask your druggist for Grove's Herb Extract and become well at once.

Miss Mary Cahman is spending a week at New Haven.

W. W. Labrop, of Stafford Springs, has been in town this week.

The prohibition caucus will be held at the residence of W. H. Franklin next Monday night.

Joseph Martinsen, the Swede who cut his throat last week, is slowly improving at the Hartford hospital.

R. P. Bissell has made an attractive residence of the Kellogg place at Oakland, which he recently bought from Cheney Brothers. He has christened the place "Oakwood."

John W. Elliot, a Herald compositor, leaves soon for Iowa where he has secured a lucrative position in the office of the West Union Gazette. He has the best wishes of The Herald force.

Extra meetings have been held at the North Methodist church this week resulting in several conversions and a renewed interest in religious matters. The meetings will be continued every night next week except Saturday.

Miss Eva Thompson is in Baltimore visiting the family of her grandfather. Her father, Mr. Wallace Thompson, accompanied her to Baltimore and returned last Saturday night. Miss Thompson will remain until some time in November.

A local tent of the Order of the Helping Hand will be organized in South Manchester next week. Mr. William Ferguson and Mrs. F. J. Wilkes have the matter in charge and will receive the names of applicants who may wish to become charter members.

The Morgan street crossing matter has been postponed until December. At the hearing Thursday neither side was prepared to produce estimates of the cost of removing the grade crossing and the railroad asked for longer time to prepare plans.

A special meeting of the Manchester Business Men's association is called at the rooms of the Young Men's League next Friday at three p. m. The final report of the committee on sewers will be presented and will give a practical solution of our sewer problem. A large attendance and a free discussion is desired. The matter of the formation of a Building and Loan association will also come up.

Sunday, Sept. 29th, the anniversary of the birth of Miss Frances E. Willard, is to be observed by the W.C.T.U. everywhere as "Children's Temperance day." The sabbath schools will have appropriate exercises, and the pastors of churches have been requested to preach to the children at the regular church service. It is hoped the children will be present at both services in large numbers.

The Seymour-Stratton company played a very successful engagement at Apoll's opera house the first three nights of this week. The audience was larger each night than the preceding night. The company was large and well balanced. Mr. Stratton, the leading male star, is a finished actor and Miss Stratton was good, especially in emotional characters. A good orchestra which accompanies the troupe added much to the enjoyment of the audience.

The long promised removal of the freight cars from the Miner street siding having failed to materialize, Selectman Hall wrote to General Manager Howard recently asking how the matter stood. Mr. Howard's reply stated that he did have some recollection of the matter and he believed that Superintendent Phelps had investigated it before his removal. Mr. Howard promised to "reinvestigate." What with the tedious investigations and reinvestigations the residents of Miner street are growing weary.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dynes died at the house of her daughter, Mrs. Mary Belknap, on North street, last Monday after a week's illness at the age of 72. Mrs. Dynes had been a resident of Manchester for the past 25 years. She drew a pension as widow of George Dynes, who enlisted from this town in the 25th Massachusetts regiment and was killed in the war. Her daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Gallinat, died about six weeks ago, up to which time Mrs. Dynes had always enjoyed the best of health. The loss of her daughter, with her advanced age, probably hastened her death. She had taken the children of Mrs. Gallinat with her to live and the family feel deeply her removal at this time. She was the mother of nine children of which but one, Mrs. Mary Belknap, survives her. She also left nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren and they all were present at her funeral. The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. E. H. Coley. The body was interred at the Center cemetery.

The press is the watchdog that guards the hen house of our liberty and protects the clothes-line of our rights—and it also advises you to use the economical Brussels soap.

Country Board.

"I never realized before," remarked a gentleman just returned from a vacation, "how the city people are pulled by their brethren in the country, especially on a holiday occasion. You can say all you please about the credulous farmer, but it was my experience that those of our rural friends who are in the summer resort business are many times more clever in the financial way than are their brethren in the city."

"How is that?" "Oh, I don't care to go into details. I took a little run last week down to a country resort. The place was miles from civilization, and I had been led to think that accommodations would be fairly cheap. They were. There is no doubt of it. My Country livery and spavined horse at $2.50 a half day..."

The girl with the Sailor Hat. Are women growing mannish? That they are advancing there is no longer any question, but in the minds of those who have to deal with them there is a feeling that the finer edge, the subtle femininity, has become blunted and is rapidly disappearing altogether.

A Hot Weather Joke. One week when the thermometer was running wild one of our Main street merchants perpetrated a joke which pleased, if it did not alarm, those who consulted his glass to learn how hot they were. He took the tube from a large "manometer" and fixed it to the board of a smaller, sized one of the same make...

Water-borne Waste. Albeit to the unpractical eye of the stranger a melon patch seems literally overflowing with produce, when it comes to be gathered experience demonstrates that the merchantable portion declines into comparatively insignificant quantities...

Plenitude Humor. "I heard a queer story about that mountain boy yonder from our native driver today." "What was that?" "A young lady and gentleman went out for a walk on that hill. They went up higher and higher and never came back again."

A Female Nihilist. There is a real live nihilist in New York. It is Miss Hatter, and she has just been released from a Siberian prison three months ago. Her husband is there with her, and she is a member of the government confiscated his property, and when he reconstituted shipped him to Siberia.

How Maine Men Keep Young. We recently noticed several leading citizens of this town flying kites on the common, among them being a prominent physician and a justice of the supreme bench. It has often been before remarked that Maine men seldom grow old, and this was quite an unfortunate omission.

TWO KINGS ARE THEY.

THIS A CENTURY SINCE INDUSTRIAL AMERICA CROWNED THEM. One is King Anthonie, discovered a Hundred Years Ago in Pennsylvania. The other, King Cotton, raised to the Throne by Mechanical Inventions.

Coal and cotton—two mighty empires in industry do these two words suggest, and who could believe on the first suggestion that the American continental of the inauguration of these industries were still slower, and the first really successful American crop was grown in South Carolina in 1790.

The discovery of anthracite. The Slater first started his machines at Pawtucket, R. I., and soon after the manufacturing of cotton was an assured success.

We may now say that the United States produces in round numbers 7,000,000 bales of cotton yearly, of which one-third is manufactured in the country, and that the total output of coal this year will be very near 100,000,000 tons.

PLACES IN THE ALHAMBRA. The Great Palace of the Moors and its surroundings are now open to the public. It would be impossible to give in less than the limits of a good sized volume an adequate description of the Alhambra.

AN OLD TIME OPEN QUARRY. In 1810 anthracite was found near Potsville, and the blue and black there succeeded in making it burn, and in 1817 some was sent to Philadelphia.

CHARLES V TO SUE HIS ALIBRA. On the 8th of the towers were blown up by the French during the wars of the revolution. This was not the first time that the Alhambra remained the most splendid existing monument of Moorish architecture and ornamentation.

A Harvest Home Monument. One of the attractions at a harvest home festival of Germans in New York city the other day was a tall column covered with fruit and vegetables.

WHITNEY'S COTTON GIN. Lehigh company shipped 41,000 tons, 225,000 in 1840 and 222,000 in 1850. In 1887 Pennsylvania produced 34,641,000 tons of anthracite and about 30,000,000 tons of bituminous. This came the great strike, and immediately after it natural gas, and for figures on the subject of gas, we must await this year's census.

THE SWISS ANTIQUARIES deny that they have ordered the William Tell episode to be expanded from the school books. They believe that their national hero really existed, and that the assertion that he is a myth is not well founded.

THE LAST VIVANDIERE.

Madame Vidal, a heroine of the Crimean and many other Campaigns. The vivandiere is no more. Her standing in the French army has changed rapidly of late years, the old word has in fact become obsolete; the cantiniers only being recognized, and a recent decree by the French minister of war has put an end to all her powers, privileges and duties. In the United States army neither vivandiers nor cantiniers have ever been formally recognized.

With the Cantiniere Française goes a vast mass of poetry and romance. How many plays she figured, how charmingly the daughter of the regiment appears on the stage in Zouave jacket and short skirts, with the little keg at her side! And there was more truth in the picture than is usual on the stage, for the cantinieres have done many noble acts in the French wars. In Egypt they saved hundreds of lives; in Spain they alone could soften the hatred of the common people, and in the retreat from Moscow they labored and endured beyond what one could believe of women. Several eminent officers owed their lives to these women.

WIPING-OUT THE DEBT.

A Successful Administration of the Town's Affairs.

The reports of the selectmen, town treasurer and board of school visitors are in the hands of the printers and will be published early next week. The selectmen's report shows a careful administration of the town's finances. The entire expenses of caring for the town poor, the highways, the schools and the cemeteries amounts this year to $82,198.71 against $87,858.97 last year. A comparison of the several items for 1889 and 1890 is given herewith:

Table with 3 columns: Item, 1889, 1890. Rows include Almshouses, Out Door Alms, Lock Up, Miscellaneous, Highways, Schools, Cemeteries.

That the selectmen have been able to keep the expenditures of the town below those of last year, in face of the fact that the population is steadily increasing, indicates wise and economical management.

The road commission also deserves a good word. While the care of the highways has been no less thorough than in former years the expense of the repairs has been materially lessened.

The treasurer's report shows the receipts for the last year to have been $47,769.87 and the expenditures $40,028.74. The receipts include only $1,000 of borrowed money and the expenditures include $7,200 paid on the town's indebtedness. The debt has therefore been reduced nearly $5,000 during the past year. There remains in the treasury $10,530.77.

The report of the school visitors is, as usual, a model report. It comprises a list of the additions to the school libraries, a list of the teachers with their respective terms of service, the school census, financial report and the report of the acting school visitors. There are also five tables stored full of valuable information.

Vol. II. Manchester Directory. The second volume of the Manchester directory has been delivered this week. It is published by W. F. Hanks who issued the first volume two years ago. The work of compiling and editing this directory has been done by H. O. Bowers, whose lifelong residence here and newspaper training fitted him to do the work well. His industry and accuracy are well proven by the published work. Many errors in the first volume are corrected in the second. The work will be of great value to business and professional men.

It is interesting to note the variety of names in this place of many nationalities. The Smiths lead off with 39 names but are hard followed by the Johnsons of whom there are 38. There are 33 of the Cheney and 30 of the Kennys in the directory. There are 27 Bidwells; of the Wilsons and Hayeses there are 23 each. The name Taylor appears 23 times and McCann the same number. The Andersons number 21 and those who bear the name of Connor, 20. There are only 18 Browns and they are matched by the 18 Halls. The Houses and Murphys number 17 and the Hises, Curran and Trotters 15 each.

Lasts twice as long as cheap soap for laundry use—Brassola.

A Masquerade Ball will be given at the Hills grove pavilion, Wapping, Friday evening, October 3d. This will be the last dance of the season. If stormy, the next fair Friday evening. Don't miss it.

APPAIRS ABOUT TOWN.

Capt. Brigham, of Bowville, is again on duty at the post office taking the place of Mr. Little, who is away on his vacation.

Thos. F. McCann, a well known South Manchester young man, is going to Denver, Col., Wednesday, October 1st.

Samuel A. Risley, son of Wells N. Risley and Lucy Risley, died at his home on Lydall street last Sunday after an illness of two weeks.

There will be a business making of the Hurbit Chautauque circle at the residence of Dr. B. S. Barrows, Monday night. All in any way interested are requested to be present.

The Catholic fair closed at the Armory last evening with the drawing of articles. Tonight there will be a grand social fall given in honor of the canvassers and all those who attend may be sure of appending a very enjoyable evening.

A. T. Weldon & Co. talk of extending their store front to the line of the sidewalk and doing away with their piazza. The store "stoop" has seen its day in this town. It is merely a lounging place for loafers and obstructs the light from the most stores.

About twenty of the friends of Miss Christina Hutchinson gave her a pleasant surprise at her home on High street last Wednesday evening. Vocal and instrumental music and games were indulged in until a late hour and all present passed or a pleasant evening.

A heavy frost came along, three or four weeks ahead of time last Wednesday night. It killed all the unprotected shrubbery that was not of the hardy kind. One wanted to be near a fire all day Thursday in order to be comfortable in doors.

A meeting of the different societies of Manchester Christian Endeavor union was held at Bolton, Wednesday evening. The Manchester society enjoyed a "bus time" was transacted and all report a very pleasant time.

Owing to unforeseen delays in the work of remodeling the town hall, both sessions for the nomination of town officers will be held at the lower hall in the Masonic building. The democrats will hold their caucus next Monday evening and the republicans will hold theirs Wednesday evening. The official calls are printed elsewhere.

The South Manchester Choral society will meet for reorganization at Cheney hall next Monday evening at 7.30. Officers for the ensuing year will be chosen and plans for the season's work considered. The excellent work done by the chorus last season left a good impression and has inspired in many a desire to unite with the organization. There is every indication that the chorus will be larger and better this year than ever. Regular rehearsals will probably be resumed early in October.

O. G. Hollister is just completing the addition of an ell, 20x20 to the house of Mrs. James Taubey, on Union street. The place has also been improved by the addition of verandas.

Michael Foley is building a new house west of Walnut street. James Downing has nearly finished a house just above the site of the Ingalls mill.

Fred Hagewood is to build on a lot near A. L. Bidwell's new house on Chestnut street.

Louis Brush at Buffalo. The Detroit Free Press, in its report of the great fair in progress there says: Louis Brush, of Buffalo, N. Y., who for twenty years was a newspaper man, was made the superintendent of the cattle department, and there was no more pleasant reception accorded the reporter in any department than in his office. The cattle exhibitors recognized Mr. Brush as a competent man for his place by presenting him with a check for $120.

The Old Pump on the Green. A new and beautiful song and chorus, now having a great sale being sung by all the minstrel troupes. Price 40 cents. "Dancing Strangers" a new Schottische Minstrel, lively and inspiring, one of the prettiest instrumental pieces published in years, price 50 cents. Both of these publications have illustrated titles and are published by C. M. Loomis's Sons, Temple of Music, New Haven, Conn.

Advertised Letters. MANCHESTER, Sept. 25, 1890: Alfred Fuller, L. W. Fisher, Harry B. Jenkins, Michael Kashman, Mrs. L. A. Richards, B. E. Wood, Geo. B. Williams, Miss Annie Wilson. LEVI DRAKE, P. M.

One horse truck wagon for sale. Hale, Day & Co.

A Lindell keeps the Santa Claus soap 5 cents a bar.

Alfred Johnson is building a double house on Church street, opposite the Swedish church. Palmer & Bloom are the contractors.

Hawley & Barber are building Purnell's new block of small stores.

THE AFRICAN.

The original African has managed to attain distinction in one way and another. For one thing, he invented the broom. The Zulus, a race of Africans, were using brooms—made of animal skins—two hundred years ago. But the African has repeated.

Today they are using the Gold Medal Carpet Sweeper in Africa—and in twenty other foreign countries more or less civilized. Yet there are people in our own country who do not use them. And why? Perhaps they have never tried them. Perhaps they have tried old styles and abandoned them. Yes, why not try a new style when they are guaranteed? You would not break dirt, work and drowsy and wear the surface and beauty of your carpets for the petty cost of a carpet sweeper, would you? You would be delighted with the modern Gold Medal Carpet Sweeper, if you had one, they are so small and handy, so durable and so effective. The Gold Medal Carpet Sweeper is used in twelve thousand houses. No dust with it, no noise, no wear on carpets, no carpet that it will not sweep and sweep it clean. Take one on trial.
