

Saturday Herald.

ELWOOD S. ELA EDITOR WM. S. GOSLEE, LOCAL EDITOR AND BUSINESS AGENT FOR GLASTONBURY.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT MANCHESTER AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

Published every Saturday morning. Office: B. ROSE'S BUILDING, Manchester. BRANCH OFFICE, PARK BUILDING, South Manchester.

For year $1.50; single copies, five cents. Advertising rates made known on application.

Notice to Advertisers—Standing advertisements will not be changed later than Thursday noon. New advertisements received until nine o'clock Friday morning.

The Herald is sold on the streets by the carriers and newsboys. It is also on sale at Herald Branch Park Building No. 1, Manchester. Magnell's News Stand, Bally, Brink's Post Office, and at Hotel News Stand, Manchester.

The Herald will be delivered by carrier at any house in the villages of Manchester and South Manchester at 15 cents a month.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 1, 1891.

Why doesn't somebody build a school house south of the track and rent it to the eighth district? The building might be constructed that it would be easy to transform it into a dwelling, should the district cease to occupy it.

A South Manchester gentleman recently traveling in France was informed by the commissioner of agriculture that that country will need 110,000,000 bushels of wheat from America, between Aug. 1, 1891 and Aug. 1, 1892, owing to short crops in Europe. That ought to make the western farmers happy.

Fresh Promises from the Royal Ark. L. C. Powers, supreme secretary of the Royal Ark, has been sending encouraging letters to the different lodges this week. A member of the Royal Ark who lives in Manchester received one of these letters in which it was stated that, owing to newspaper talk and the bill before the last legislature, their growth had been terribly interfered with.

Your correspondent was misinformed as to the number of looms stopped at E. C. Hilliard's mill at Vernon. The number only eight instead of twenty as was stated in last week's Herald. About 20 invited friends of Miss Mary J. Templeton met with her last Tuesday evening and passed a few hours very pleasantly in dancing and social games. A good time is reported by all those present.

Talcottville vs the Athletics of Hartford, this afternoon at 8.30. The Athletics have a good team and have played some good games this season. The Talcottvilles will be strengthened for this game and a good one may be expected. Ten cents admission will be charged to help defray the expense. Come and see the game.

Thomas J. Ferguson is the authorized agent for Talcottville and vicinity to receive news and subscriptions for The Herald.

A sad accident occurred here last Sunday morning to two young ladies from Willimantic, who had come to spend the day with Miss Nellie Grady at Vernon. While they were driving up through this place at a lively pace the horse made a sharp turn just north of the bridge turning the carriage over and throwing out its occupants. One of the ladies had her arm broken at the wrist and the other her side injured. Nellie Grady escaped unhurt. They were taken to South Manchester where they were attended to by Doctor Weldon.

The Connecticut Indemnity association, of Waterbury, is one of the insurance companies which has been refused a certificate of admission to the state of Ohio for the transaction of business, because of their refusal to comply with the laws of the state.

George Thorpe, for several years a prominent tenor singer in the Hartford church choir, is going to Italy shortly, to spend three years in voice culture. He will be accompanied by his wife.

There was light frost in Winsted Monday night and a heavier one is reported from Barkhamstead.

Willimantic will have a free delivery system in October. There will be three deliveries a day in the business part of the town and two in the outlying parts of the borough.

The long delayed appointment of a deputy sheriff has been made and the people of Stafford are pleased at the appointment. Every one expected that Officer Mullins would be appointed, but his friends could see no good reason why his appointment was delayed. Mr. Mullins received a notice that he could obtain a bondsman and his commission would be forthcoming.

There are 669 deposits aggregating $15,176.14 in the Society Savings bank, Hartford, which has not been touched in 20 years. The largest is $1,543.66 and the smallest $1.23.

Justice Townsend, of Thompsonville, gave his decision in the Browning fraud case against Julia Donnelly Monday morning. The decision was against the girl. An appeal was taken to the superior court. The suit is under the law allowing a creditor, who alleges deliberate intent to defraud in contracting a debt, to enter process against the body. The property in question is a watch.

MILES'S NERVE AND LIVER PILLS. An important discovery. They act on the liver, stomach and bowels through the nerves. A new principle. They modify bile, biliousness, bad taste, torpidity, flatulency and constipation. Splendid for women and children. Small pills, 30 doses for 25 cents. Sold by all druggists. Beware of cheap imitations. Get only the original. Sold by Dr. J. C. Chase, 100 N. Main St., Boston.

TALCOTTVILLE.

Mr. Norman Lyman, of Willimantic, a former resident of this place, was in town over Sunday.

Mr. Edward Risley and his daughter Lottie spent the week at Block Island. They returned yesterday.

Miss Edna Worden and Master Ruffie and Harry Worden have gone to the Berkshire Hills, Mass., on a vacation. They will be gone about a month.

Mr. H. G. Talcott and John G. Talcott have gone to the White Mountains, where they will spend a week or more.

Miss Flora Julia spent Sunday with friends at Rockville.

Mrs. C. D. Talcott is spending the week at Northfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alvord left for Block Island today where they will spend a fortnight.

L. P. Talcott was on a short business trip to Fitchburg, Mass., Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brennan, of Hartford, paid a short visit to Mr. William Brennan last Sunday.

Doctor William Talcott, of New York City, is visiting with his brother Mr. S. A. Talcott.

Eight persons from this place took advantage of the excursion to Fisher's Island Wednesday to see the white squadron.

Tom Shaw has purchased a new Hickory safety bicycle through the agency of Lamb & Hibbard.

Miss Mary Holstein, of Manchester, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Kuhney, this week.

Mr. Robert Hart spent Sunday with relatives at Sanford.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barrows and their daughter Hattie, and Misses Ora and Nettie House are at Quonodagua, Rhode Island, for a vacation.

The house occupied by H. T. Dexter, which was struck by lightning some time ago, has been thoroughly repaired and will be ready for occupancy next week.

The huckleberry season is here again and there seems to be an unusually large supply. The berries are large and of good quality. Some of the pickers boast of having picked ten quarts in one day.

Your correspondent was misinformed as to the number of looms stopped at E. C. Hilliard's mill at Vernon. The number only eight instead of twenty as was stated in last week's Herald.

About 20 invited friends of Miss Mary J. Templeton met with her last Tuesday evening and passed a few hours very pleasantly in dancing and social games. A good time is reported by all those present.

Talcottville vs the Athletics of Hartford, this afternoon at 8.30. The Athletics have a good team and have played some good games this season. The Talcottvilles will be strengthened for this game and a good one may be expected. Ten cents admission will be charged to help defray the expense. Come and see the game.

Thomas J. Ferguson is the authorized agent for Talcottville and vicinity to receive news and subscriptions for The Herald.

A sad accident occurred here last Sunday morning to two young ladies from Willimantic, who had come to spend the day with Miss Nellie Grady at Vernon. While they were driving up through this place at a lively pace the horse made a sharp turn just north of the bridge turning the carriage over and throwing out its occupants. One of the ladies had her arm broken at the wrist and the other her side injured. Nellie Grady escaped unhurt. They were taken to South Manchester where they were attended to by Doctor Weldon.

The Connecticut Indemnity association, of Waterbury, is one of the insurance companies which has been refused a certificate of admission to the state of Ohio for the transaction of business, because of their refusal to comply with the laws of the state.

George Thorpe, for several years a prominent tenor singer in the Hartford church choir, is going to Italy shortly, to spend three years in voice culture. He will be accompanied by his wife.

There was light frost in Winsted Monday night and a heavier one is reported from Barkhamstead.

Willimantic will have a free delivery system in October. There will be three deliveries a day in the business part of the town and two in the outlying parts of the borough.

The long delayed appointment of a deputy sheriff has been made and the people of Stafford are pleased at the appointment. Every one expected that Officer Mullins would be appointed, but his friends could see no good reason why his appointment was delayed. Mr. Mullins received a notice that he could obtain a bondsman and his commission would be forthcoming.

There are 669 deposits aggregating $15,176.14 in the Society Savings bank, Hartford, which has not been touched in 20 years. The largest is $1,543.66 and the smallest $1.23.

Justice Townsend, of Thompsonville, gave his decision in the Browning fraud case against Julia Donnelly Monday morning. The decision was against the girl. An appeal was taken to the superior court. The suit is under the law allowing a creditor, who alleges deliberate intent to defraud in contracting a debt, to enter process against the body. The property in question is a watch.

Ammonia as a Motive Power.

A most successful test has been made of the use of ammonia as a motive power to displace steam. The test was the first that has ever been made on a marine engine, and the trial was most satisfactory. An ammonia engine plant has been fitted out on the tug E. W. Hartley, which made a trip up and down the river, subjecting the new scheme to a practical test. Its workings are novel and interesting, not only to the mechanical and scientific circles, but also to the laymen of the industrial world.

An ordinary engine can be converted into an ammonia engine simply by the addition of a "generator," which is much like a boiler. Steam is used simply for the purposes of heating the water ammonia in the generator. The heated ammonia expels a gas, leaving a weak solution of ammonia in the bottom of this boilerlike affair. When, by raising the temperature of the ammonia, sufficient power is generated, the throttle valve is opened and the gas passes into the cylinder of the engine and propels the piston rod in every way the same as steam. It is here exhausted the same as steam, but at this point the gas is cooled and conducted back to the generator. Before it reaches the latter vessel it is carried by a "spray coil" to a point where the gas comes in contact with the ammonia solution which has been rejected from the generator, and here the solution is recharged by absorption and by the natural affinity existing between water and ammonia.

By this means the same body of ammonia is used constantly, exhausting itself only to be recharged with new life and to be returned to the generator. The same is true of the water used. The steam in the generator imparts its heat to the ammonia and is thereby condensed and carried back to the boiler to be used again. In the ammonia engine there is absolutely no waste.—Philadelphia Record.

A Narrow Escape.

One morning as the accommodation rushed into Macopin station, Macopin county, on the Chicago and Alton, the engineer saw at a distance what he supposed was a white dog on the track, but when nearly on it what was his horror to discover that it was a little child about four years old playing in the center of the track. Reversing his engine and putting on the airbrakes, he endeavored to stop in time to save the little one. In the meantime the child, who was apparently down on its hands and knees, looked up and saw the huge monster almost upon it. Terrified, the little one did the best it could. Instead of attempting to rise and run it crouched down flat and hid its head close to the ground. The engine and one car passed over it before the train was stopped, and on taking the child out it was found that with the exception of three fingers of one hand being cut off at the ends it was otherwise unharmed. The engineer, Barker, was so unstruck by the accident that he retired to a car while his fireman was running the train as it passed through Brighton.—Hillsboro (Ill.) Journal.

Hall Knocks a Mule's Eye Out.

It is a very ordinary thing to hear of halibones breaking window glass and stripping trees and plants, but it isn't every halibone that can knock out a mule's eye. A colored man named Ed Johnson, who farms about five miles north of the city, was in town with a lot of produce. His wagon was drawn by a mule, and one of the mule's eyes was knocked out. A stream of water constantly trickling from the socket indicated that the injury was of recent occurrence. Johnson said that one day the eye was knocked out by a halibone. He was plowing in a field when a sudden storm came up. He unhitched the mule so as to hurry to shelter and gave the mule a sharp jerk. The mule threw up its head, and as it did so a big halibone plunked it in the eye and destroyed the eyeball.—Charlotte (N. C.) News.

A Strong Electric Shock.

A startling electrical display occurred in front of a store on Pearl street, Albany, one evening. A boy caught hold of the iron hoisting bar of the awning and tried to raise himself up in order to look into the window. There is an electric light in front, and the iron frame of the awning became connected with it. In an instant flashes of electricity flew out of the boy's feet with detonations like a pack of crackers. He was completely charged with the fluid and could not let go his hold. A bystander caught hold of him and pulled him away, but in doing so received a shock himself and was knocked into the street. The boy was dazed and stunned, but was soon restored, and walked to his home apparently unharmed. The voltage which passed through him was about 2,500.—Chicago Herald.

The Tallest Man in Illinois Dead.

John Lohman, the tallest man in the state, died in Tazewell county recently after a brief sickness, aged seventy-five years. Mr. Lohman was raised in North Carolina, and "had to stand on his toes to see the sun shine over the great hills there in the morning." This is what he used to tell inquisitive people who asked what made him so tall, he being 6 ft. 9 in. in his stockings.—Carthage (Ills.) Record.

A Close Call.

Thirty-six freight cars passed over five-year-old Eddie Quinther at East Buffalo, but, strange to say, his only injury is a slight cut on the head. He was standing on the track and was struck by the train, which was drawn by a switch engine. It having no cowcatcher, he was pushed beneath the standing board and lay in the center of the track while the entire train passed over him.—Buffalo Times.

A Dear Bite.

An attempt was recently made at San Francisco to smuggle $50,000 worth of opium through the custom house, concealed inside of bananas. A custom house officer saw a particularly fine looking bunch and thought he would try one, when he discovered, at the first bite, that it put $35,000 into his pocket.—San Francisco.

A New Shaft for the Willimantic Linen Company.

The main shaft for the new engine to supply the power for the Willimantic Linen company's No. 4 mill has arrived. The shaft is 23 feet long and 18 inches in diameter. It weighs 27 tons. The fly wheel for this shaft is 28 feet in diameter and has a eight foot face. It will carry three belts, the center one 40 inches wide and two outside ones 24 inches wide. The engine will have a capacity of 1,500 horse power and is said to be the largest horizontal engine in the United States.

The Economy of the Egyptian.

A curious illustration of the domestic economy of the Egyptians has been met with in the unwinding of the bandages of the mummies. Although whole webs of fine cloth have been most frequently used, in other cases the bandages are fragmentary, and have seams, darns and patches. Old napkins are used, old shirts, pieces of something that may have been a shirt; and once a piece of cloth was found with an armhole in it, with seam and gusset and band finely stitched by fingers themselves long since crumbled, and their dust blown to the four winds.

"HUB" CLOTHING HOUSE.

Right to the Trade Name Affirmed by Judge Hall.

In the case of E. S. Kendall & Co. vs. Nathan Cobe, lately tried before Judge J. M. Hall in the superior court, Hartford county, the following memorandum of his decision has been filed. The decision will be interesting to the business public, as tending to show to what extent trade-names may be exclusively used and protected. C. J. Cole and C. H. Clarke, attorneys for the plaintiffs; C. E. Perkins and Arthur Perkins, attorneys, for the defendant:—

MEMORANDUM.

The evidence shows that the plaintiffs had established a clothing store in Hartford, and widely advertised their place of business as the "Hub" Clothing House, by which name it has been widely known for more than ten years before the commencement of this action; and by the exclusive use of which name they had constituted for themselves a trade-name, business-sign and designation of great value. About June 8, 1890, as appears from the evidence, the defendant began to use the trade-name and sign. The defendant claims that he acted innocently in his first use of the trade-name and sign, and that he was not aware of the existence of the plaintiffs' place of business by that name in Hartford. He received notice, however, on or about the said date, of the existence of the plaintiffs' place of business by that name in Hartford. He received notice, however, on or about the said date, of the existence of the plaintiffs' place of business by that name in Hartford. He received notice, however, on or about the said date, of the existence of the plaintiffs' place of business by that name in Hartford.

It is shown quite clearly, that the trade of the plaintiffs is established, and that their trade-name and advertisement, was very large, both in Rockville and Manchester. The sign, trade-name and advertisement, was calculated to deceive the public, and lead them to believe that the defendant's establishments, both at Rockville and Manchester, were branches of the plaintiffs' house at Hartford. Upon such a state of facts, the plaintiffs are entitled to the protection of a court of equity, on principles analogous to those applicable in cases of the invasion of trade mark. Glen Hall Manufacturing Co. vs. Hall & W. Y. 27, and cases there cited. The ground on which courts of equity afford relief in this class of cases, is the injury to the party aggrieved, and the imposition upon the public by causing them to believe that the goods of one man or firm are the production of another. The question of damages, therefore, does not necessarily depend upon the question whether fraud or an evil intent does or does not exist. The quo animo, therefore, would seem to be an immaterial inquiry. Holmes, Booth & Hayden vs. Holmes, Booth & Hayden Manufacturing Co., 37 Conn., 265. The only question of difficulty in such cases, is to fix the limits to which courts shall extend protection. I cannot believe that equity confers such protection to over limits, or to city limits, as is claimed by the defendant.

The principle upon which equity affords relief in this class of cases seems to require that protection should be extended to such limits as to afford a reasonable safeguard against invasion of others seeking to pirate the trade name. It is in proof in this case that the plaintiffs were well and favorably known in and were a place but twenty miles from Hartford, and from Manchester, ten miles nearer, and being connected therewith by railroad, and that the plaintiffs had extensively advertised their business and trade-name in both said places. Can it be said to be unreasonable to protect an established trade-name within a circuit of twenty miles from the place where the business is conducted, always assuming that it is easily accessible to the public by reasonable public conveyances? I think not, and shall therefore enjoin the defendant from using the plaintiffs' trade-name, sign and mark, either at Rockville or Manchester, as premises for the conduct of business, or to the plaintiffs claim $3,000 damages in their complaint. Every trespass on property gives a right to nominal damages, and the plaintiff seeks more than this, he must offer evidence to show in what way damage has resulted to him from the unlawful acts of the defendant. A mere general claim, based upon mere conjecture, independent of other evidence, is insufficient. The fact that a possible injury has resulted affords no ground for damages. The court cannot assume to what extent the plaintiffs in this case have been injured by loss of custom by reason of the defendant's carrying on business in Rockville and Manchester in the absence of any proof whatever on the subject. For this reason I shall in this case give nominal damages only; which fix at the sum of $25.

Let a decree be entered, perpetually enjoining the defendant, his agents or servants, from using said trade-name, sign and mark, and shall therefore enjoin the defendant from using the plaintiffs' trade-name, sign and mark, either at Rockville or Manchester, as premises for the conduct of business, or to the plaintiffs claim $3,000 damages in their complaint. Every trespass on property gives a right to nominal damages, and the plaintiff seeks more than this, he must offer evidence to show in what way damage has resulted to him from the unlawful acts of the defendant. A mere general claim, based upon mere conjecture, independent of other evidence, is insufficient. The fact that a possible injury has resulted affords no ground for damages. The court cannot assume to what extent the plaintiffs in this case have been injured by loss of custom by reason of the defendant's carrying on business in Rockville and Manchester in the absence of any proof whatever on the subject. For this reason I shall in this case give nominal damages only; which fix at the sum of $25.

United States Bank, No. 311 Main St., corner Asylum.

HARTFORD, CONN. Capital, $100,000. Surplus, $95,000. President, T. O. ENDERS.

Cashier, H. L. BUNCE. DIRECTORS: M. G. BULKLEIGH, JOHN B. WINDSOR, EDWARD S. WELLES, CHAR. J. COLE, W. H. H. KELLEY, GEORGE COLLINGS, JOHN R. HILL, J. W. WELCH, T. O. ENDERS.

The Thirty Years War between the refrigerators since the advent of the Leonard "Cleanable" is closing in favor of the "Cleanable." It has been a battle of merit—to be won by the most meritorious—the "Cleanable" is that. The "Cleanable" is clean, saving of ice, has air tight locks and free drainage,—is everything that a refrigerator should be, nothing that it should not. Call and see it at our store.

T. P. AITKIN, DEPOT SQUARE.

A. L. BROWN & COMPANY,

BARGAIN SALE OF UNDERWEAR.

Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Vests, former price 25 cts., now 20 cts. Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Vests, former price 37 1/2, now 30 cts. Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Vests, former price 60 cts., now 50 cts. Ladies' Merino Vests, former price 50 cents now 38 cents.

Full Lines of Men's Underwear.

Ladies' Warranted Fast Black Hosiery, Children's Warranted Fast Black Hosiery. Ladies' White Aprons, 20 cts. to $1.50. Men's Outing Shirts at greatly reduced prices. All kinds of Men's and Ladies' Furnishings, Boots and Shoes, Hats and Caps.

A. L. BROWN & COMPANY.

It is not best so say things behind Peoples' backs excepting when it is for their good as in this case. There is no need of this old gentleman being troubled with flies when C. H. Rose, our Manchester pharmacist, has all of the requisites; such as pure insect powder, Tanglefoot fly paper, Powdered white Hellebore. All fresh and at low prices. READER.

To Rent, For Sale, Wanted, etc.

FOR SALE—One of the most desirable building lots in South Manchester on Charter Oak street, next east of the residence of Sanford Kenney. For particulars apply to Mrs. SANFORD KENNEY, albw.

FOR SALE—At a bargain, one new spindle buggy. R. P. BISSELL.

LOST—Wednesday evening between Barber shop and Lathrop barn on Oakland street a pocketbook containing a sum of money. Finder rewarded on returning same to A. LEROY MARTIN, at Joseph Pohlman's.

TO RENT—Upper tenement of four rooms on Mt. Nebo avenue; enquire of F. H. LEVINE.

BOARD, Rooms and board, furnished rooms to rent with or without board. Also table board by day or week. Ladies or gentlemen apply to Mrs. Swallow or Mrs. Dawson, Cottage street, second house from corner of Oak street, east side of street.

TO RENT—The Robertson place, Depot Square, Enquire of G. H. HALL, Manchester, Conn. jul18

FOR SALE—Property of the late Maurice Tooby, house and barn on Williams street. One or two minutes walk from depot. Apply to JOHN M. TOOBY at address Tooby & TREVETHICK, New Britain, Conn. ml17

FOR SALE. One single Phaeton, one single carriage, one two-seated canopy top, one hay cutter nearly new, three sets single harness, stable utensils, one sideboard, one writing desk, three stoves. Must be sold at once. Enquire at residence of the late F. W. CLARK, 50 Manchester.

TO THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

TO THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS of Hartford County, I apply for a license to sell spirituous intoxicating liquors, ale, lager beer, wine and cider at South Manchester School street, town of Manchester. My place of business is now located within 200 feet in a direct line of edifice or public school house.

Dated at Manchester this 27th day of July 1891. PATRICK O'NEIL, applicant.

We, the undersigned, electors and taxpayers as defined by law of the town of Manchester hereby endorse the application of the above-named Patrick O'Neil for such license and we hereby certify that we have not endorsed the application of any other person. Dated at Manchester this 27th day of July, A. D. 1891. DANIEL WADSWORTH, Town Clerk.

NOTICE.

I have an unlimited supply of good wall stone and have obtained the services of a skilled stone mason and am now ready to furnish stone by the perch laid or unland or build cellars by contract. Estimates cheerfully given on application. Address, Wesley Hollister, South Manchester.

GLASTONBURY GLEANINGS.

Miss Helen Covell has returned home to her father's from Chicago where she has been since the removal of the family to their residence in this town.

Quite a runaway took place on our Main street on Thursday of last week. The driver's inability to control his ferocious steed caused a general distribution of wheels and carriage body, along the lower part of the street near Mr. Hardin's. The horse was soon secured with no damage to life or limb.

Alph B. Carter has been at his father's during the past week.

Mr. Abner W. Dickinson having returned from the city of New Britain to his farm in Wasuc has more or less trouble with his neighbors resulting in an interchange of compliments and a great deal of annoyance to the major.

Constable Tallcott arrested two misguided youths, respectively named George Hodge and Edward Brown, a young man of color, on Thursday and on Saturday the hearing was had before Justice Thomas H. L. Tallcott. The justice imposed a fine and costs on the boys from which they appealed to the superior court, Thomas J. Hodge becoming their security in $200.

Thomas Barry was before Justice Tallcott Monday charged with non-support of his family, consisting of his wife and young child. Barry seems to be one of the kind whose appetite for drink sets aside his respect for his family obligations. The case looked hard for Thomas, and the magistrate in default of his compliance with the statutory law in such cases, sentenced him to jail sixty days.

Mrs. Samuel C. Hardin and her son returned from their trip to South Dakota on Saturday evening.

The center piece and chandelier in C. Buckland's sitting room fell with a destructive crash on Tuesday morning. No injury was done except to inanimate objects though a baby daughter was alarmingly near the place where it fell.

Mr. Austin Converse with his son and daughters was the guest of his son-in-law, David Bidwell, over Sunday.

Many friends of Miss Clara of Springfield, Mass., will be surprised to learn she is here on a visit to her cousin, Mrs. Benj. F.

Miss Wilcox, of Hebron, is at the home of P. Spafard's visiting her mother, Mrs. Lottie Spafard.

Mr. Douglas is at his mother's on his brief vacation. Mr. Douglas is just from the northern part of Maine where he has been employed in electrical work in that locality. He is expected, about the first of August, to enter the employ of the Thomson-Houston electric light company, of Boston, Mass. Although quite a young man he has, by careful study and practice, made himself very proficient in his profession.

Messrs. James Torbert and Frayr Hale, of Wallingford, made a brief visit to their mother, at the old homestead one day this week.

Mrs. Henry J. Curtis, of Hartford, with her daughters is at Mrs. Frederick Welles's.

Mr. Sewell met with a serious accident in the elevator at the factory of the J. B. Williams company on Tuesday. His foot in some way caught between the side of the machine and the wall and before he could be relieved his heel was much bruised, though as it seems no bones were broken. He was attended to by Dr. Sweet, of Hartford.

Her many friends will be glad to welcome Miss Emily S. Welles back to the ancient mansion at "Elmwood" or Welles corner, she having returned from a visit to her sister, Mrs. William H. Hoyt, of Boston.

Mr. Charles A. Rhodes by the breaking of his hay wagon fell from his load of hay on Monday and was quite severely injured, but is now better.

Frank Hartinger has had quite a number of visitors for convivial purposes recently. Mrs. Hartinger, who is treasurer of the concern, had taken from her custody and possession on Tuesday evening a wallet containing $48 in cash. Suspicion points to certain temporary occupants of the house, but, for sundry reasons, it is not probably that there will be a public prosecution. Indulgence in the "flowing bowl" is not likely to produce clear heads or bring profitable company.

Erna N. Seelye, Esq., the local agent for several mining companies at the west, expects a visit from Col. Charles E. Taylor, of Denver, Col., of a day or two next week. Col. Taylor is an authority on mining matters, and our capitalists will probably do well to see him on the occasion of his visit to Mr.

Our selectmen and town clerk are neglecting the registry of dogs with vigor and haste. Neglect of a word to the wise may involve trouble to those who ignorantly and in some case willfully defy the law on that subject.

We rejoice to see that some of our young men believe that Glastonbury is good enough town in which to live and remain, and that they show their faith by their works, in building tasteful, even expensive, residences. Among others the recently built dwelling house of Mr. D. Willard Williams shows that its proprietor had a proper pride in his native place, and is desirous to contribute to its attractions as a place of residence by the erection of a dwelling that will be one of the most beautiful in the country. Some of the most beautiful

WONDERS OF YELLOWSTONE.

Adventurers of Manchester Party--Entertained by Old Acquaintances at Livingston--The Geysers of Yellowstone Park. [Special Correspondence.]

It is rather late to tell your readers much about the Connecticut trip to Minneapolis but some items in regard to the Christian Endeavor trip from Minneapolis into this National Wonderland may be of interest. Our Connecticut party numbering three hundred and thirty and filling nine Wagner coaches arrived safely at Minneapolis fifteen minutes ahead of time after a delightful trip having throughout what is becoming proverbially known in Endeavor circles as "Connecticut Luck." At Minneapolis our original plan of going direct to Denver was changed for a trip to Denver via the Yellowstone Park, Helena and Salt Lake City. A Christian Endeavor party of seventeen was organized including five from New York city, two from Massachusetts, two from Minneapolis, two from Rhinebeck, N. Y. and six from Connecticut. The number was just right for comfort throughout the trip and being about half ladies and half gentlemen was an exceptionally congenial one. The Connecticut party were Miss Jennie Buckland of Waterbury, Mr. and Mrs. Eli C. Smith of Bridgeport, Mr. Saxton B. Little of Meriden, Mrs. Childs and myself. Mr. Little is a man seventy-eight years of age who has not seen a sick day for forty years and one of the liveliest and brightest of the party.

We left Minneapolis Monday evening July 13th and by courtesy of B. F. Austin, assistant general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific railroad had an elegant Pullman sleeper all to ourselves clear through to Livingston, which is the junction point where the Park train leaves for Cinnabar and the Park. Space will not permit of more than a simple mention of the journey to the Park. The immense prairies the wheat and corn fields, the enterprising but crude agricultural and mining "cities," the singular and interesting Bad Lands where our train being delayed we had opportunities of gathering specimens of the fossilized and crystallized tree stumps, stones, buffalo bones, etc., the dugouts, log cabins, prairie dogs, prairie "schooners," cowboys, snow fences, sheep and cattle ranches, etc., etc. Wednesday morning we caught our first glimpse of the snow-capped mountains and for miles the train ran through beds of sunflowers.

A few miles east of Livingston as we stopped at a small station the car door opened and in walked our friend Mr. Edward H. Tallcott, now the mayor of Livingston, and to whom from that hour our party were indebted for many delightful courtesies. At Livingston station we met Messrs. Daniel and Wm. McCaw who are among the successful business men of that enterprising and live city. Mr. Tallcott escorted us as far Cinnabar fifty miles south of Livingston and the point from which six horse coaches take tourists into the Park. After a two hours coach ride we landed at the mammoth Hot Springs hotel, the first of the Park association hotels, all of which are excellently managed.

From Wednesday noon until the next Monday our eyes and minds were absorbed with sights and wonders of which no pen could give an adequate description. Wednesday evening we took a guide and walked two and a half miles amidst the boiling hot mineral springs and the beautiful formations and pools of all the colors of the rainbow. As we returned to the hotel we said that we were already repaid for our trip and wondered if the best things did not come first.

But no, there were even more wonderful sights ahead. Thursday morning we started in two four-horse coaches and one two-horse surrey for the grand tour. Climbing steadily up and up 1,000 feet or more we pass through the Golden Gate over a road built into the side of a canon at an expense of $14,000, and in full view of a beautiful cascade. The sides of the canon are in many places of a bright yellow color and hence the name Golden Gate. After riding twelve miles we reached the obsidian cliffs where the rocks and road are of black glass. We soon struck the Norris geyser basin and caught our first glimpse of columns of steam and boiling springs on every side. In the afternoon we rode from Norris to the Grand Canon hotel, which we reached at four p. m. and where we spent the night. In less than fifteen minutes our party had engaged a surrey and twelve bronchos and were headed for the Lower Falls and the Grand Canon.

To attempt to convey any reality of the grandeur and sublimity of the views from Red Rock, Point Lookout and Inspiration Point has confounded the pens of the brightest minds of this generation. Talmage and Wayland Hoyt have tried it but even their genius conveys only a faint pen picture of the actual wonders and beauties of these scenes. The lower falls of the Yellowstone are 360 feet high and here the deep and swift running river narrows to 100 feet in width and drops without a break to the bottom of the gorge. The walls of the canon rise two thousand feet on either side and the rocks as the sunlight strikes them glisten in all the variations of brown and yellow and pink. Circles of steam rising from hot springs in the sides of the cliffs, eagles on jutting pinnacles, the roar of the falls, and the blue sky, so blue seen through this clear atmosphere, make a scene never to be effaced from our minds. A gay sharp cataract on our broncho and a view of the falls by moonlight from a platform directly over them finish a wonderful day.

Early Friday morning we are again en route and after a short stop at the Upper Falls and rapids start rapidly away for the upper geyser basin, a distance of 41 miles. Alongside the Yellowstone river, past Sulphur mountains, and springs, Elk springing into view now and then, we reach "Larry's" camp for lunch. Larry is a witty Irishman and hangs out a sign of "Hotel de Elk." While we enjoy a very satisfactory lunch he fires off his witticisms and jokes and the hour passes merrily.

After lunch we climbed Mary's mountain, 10,000 feet above the sea level, and pass Marylake, the highest water in the Park. We have already ridden close to precipices of untold height on roads only wide enough for the coaches but the descent of Mary's mountain called the Devil's staircase induces many of the party to get out and walk while the rest of us cling on to the back of the seats and cast up mental calculations of the amount of our accident insurance.

Stopping but a few moments at the Lower Geyser hotel, the largest in the Park, we push on towards the Upper Geyser hotel, reaching there at about five p. m.

The upper geyser basin contains the most wonderful geysers and pools in the Park and our stay there was full of delights. There are several hundred boiling springs and not less than 18 geysers known to spout more or less regularly. Hardly waiting for supper we secured a guide who was a decided character in his way and who faithfully and accurately showed us the geysers and explained in the words of some noted scientist the supposed causes of the geyser action. "Old Faithful" and "Castle" accommodated us with exhibitions, throwing powerful streams of hot water from 50 to 150 feet in the air, lasting several minutes each time. The numerous pools showed incrustations and formations of the most delicate and lovely colors. Some of our party pushed on farther and building a camp fire witnessed the "Riverside" and "Mortar" spout by moonlight.

Many of us were out at sunrise and until nine a. m., with only time for breakfast, were fastening in our minds the impressions of these wonderful and beautiful sights. At nine we were again in our coaches bound for Norris basin, a ride of 30 miles. Points of interest en route were the Morning Glory pool, Excelsior and Fountain geysers, Prismatic lake and the peculiar Paint Pots where the bubbling pool looks exactly like a mammoth paint pot thrown into constant upheaval by some hidden agency. Passing through "Hell's half acre" there is only the appearance of his Satanic Majesty himself needed to convince us that Sheol has an actual existence. Already we have seen the Devil's kitchen, parlor, staircase, thumb and lake and willingly grant them all appropriately named. Leaving the devil to himself we passed through the beautiful scenery of the Gibbon river and by the Gibbon falls to Norris basin. We had telegraphed for a relay of horses and finding them here waiting for us pushed on at once for the Mammoth Hot Springs hotel 22 miles ahead. A ride of 52 miles that day brought us to our starting point at eight p. m. Saturday night and avoided the possibility of Sunday traveling. Sunday is an unknown quantity in the Park, traveling and sightseeing continuing without interruption. Our party, however, secured the Sabbath rest and under a tree within full view of the pulpit terrace held our service of song and prayer, "an ideal service in an ideal place." Monday morning eight of us took a broncho ride of 17 miles along the precipitous edge of Mount Everett to East Gardiner falls, returning barely in time to get lunch and catch the stage for Cinnabar. We left the Park after 150 miles of stage riding but little weary and determined to urge all our friends to visit at their earliest opportunity the "world's wonderland."

Reaching Livingston at six p. m. Mr. Tallcott met us again and after our party was located at the Hotel Albemarle took Mrs. Childs and myself to his delightful and hospitable home for the night. Here we met Mrs. Tallcott's children and others of Mr. Tallcott's family. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McCaw took supper with us and telegrams and letters from home with a glimpse of the Saturday Herald completed our happiness. The appearance of luscious strawberries on the table brought out the statement that Livingston produced them from May 1 to August 1.

After supper the Livingston Y. P. S. C. E. invited our whole party to a reception at their church and overwhelmed us with their cordiality and kindness. An address of welcome by Rev. Mr. Fowler, their pastor, singing, serving of ice cream and cake and the liveliest of conversation made the evening pass all too quickly. Each member of the party was presented with a specimen of polished agate and of a slate rock with perfect impressions of fossilized ferns as souvenirs of our Livingston reception. We shall always prize them for their beauty but shall not need any reminder of the true western hospitality of our hosts.

One of our heartiest welcomes was from Dr. and Mrs. Green, the latter formerly Miss Staats of Glastonbury.

Livingston is situated on a perfectly level plain three-fourths of a mile in width and five and a half miles in length surrounded by lofty mountains and with a view of the snow capped mountains in the distance. It contains a population of about 3,000 and is constantly growing. It is the junction where all the Park tourists change cars and with the erection of a proposed $125,000 hotel cannot help becoming a favorite stopping place for them. It is the trading and banking center for a large outlying mining, cattle and sheep country and seems to have more than the usual amount of western hustle. It has many substantial brick blocks and its general appearance is the most attractive of any town or city we have seen west of Minneapolis. The difficulty of growing shade trees is the only visible drawback and this by persistent effort is being generally overcome. Mr. McCaw tells fish stories of trout weighing from five and a half to seven and a half pounds and is willing to vouch for the truth of these figures. I hope that this will not lead to an immediate emigration of our Manchester fishermen, though I have no doubt they would receive a royal welcome from their Livingston friends if not from the trout.

The city has an excellent water system, pumping the water from the Yellowstone river to one of the neighboring hills, delivering it into the city with a fall of between 400 and 500 feet and a pressure of over 200 pounds. The water company, a private corporation, receives $100 each for 30 hydrants. An electric light company furnishes a much better light than is often seen in the east. In New England we are apt to imagine these western cities buried in winter under 10 or 20 feet of snow, traveling around on snow shoes and communicating from house to house by telegraph or telephone. In Livingston none of this for the "chinooks" or Japan trade winds so temper the climate that the thermometer does not fall below zero more than a dozen times during a winter and only once in eight years has there been any sleighing. Montana is noted for the development of what is known in Minneapolis as the "Montana liar" but the above facts come from the lips of Mr. Tallcott himself and unless the climate has wrought a great change in him they are true.

Mr. William McCaw has a fine position in the leading general supply store and Mr. Daniel McCaw is in the National Park bank of which Mr. Tallcott is president. They are all doing finely, and are enthusiastic in their statement that Montana is the place to live in. Mr. Tallcott went there when the town was being started eight years ago and is now the owner of much well located city property and has a ranch in the outskirts. At last city election he was on the republican and citizens' tickets and with a total vote of something over 700 was elected mayor by a majority of 177. In the words of one gentleman we met, "Mr. Tallcott is the most capable and most respected man in our city."

At ten p. m. six of our party took the train for Minneapolis and the next (Tuesday) morning the remaining 11 bade our Livingston friends good-bye and started westward to Helena thence southward to Salt Lake City from which point our faces will be turned homeward via Marshall pass, Manitou and Denver.

BUCKINGHAM.
A lady who has traveled quite extensively through this, and other countries across the water, visiting us not long since, took a drive with me through a portion of Manchester (mostly North and South.) She says that of all the places she has visited there are not any that compare with Cheneyville for so many nice residences with fine locations and beautiful surroundings. O. W.

A Card of Thanks.
The "Herald of Life" of July 29th in an editorial speaks of my wife and self being Adventists from the beginning of the message, and alludes feelingly to my long illness and much suffering. This from Advent friends is comforting and consoling and gives us much joy to know we are thus remembered and we extend to all Advent friends our sincere thanks for their kind words. But we wish also to proffer our grateful thanks to all our neighbors and friends who by their many kindnesses have done all in their power to help and sustain us in our afflictions and render our lot more easy. "For our lot in this respect has fallen in pleasant places."
And we also desire to mention one long tried friend and adviser who by his faithful services, has helped us over many rough places. Our neighbor, Justice Ellsworth, our long time legal adviser and conveyancer by whose untiring and persevering examination of our title to lands in Texas we were enabled to perfect the same and to whom I am now especially indebted for his kindness in being with me during the night to minister to my wants.
Friends we came to live, to die and be buried among you and our hearts swell with grateful emotions as we remember the many favors rendered us; accept our heartfelt thanks for this all, and we ask God's blessing on you all, trusting and believing that on the other side it will be well with us, realizing "that it is not all of life to live," or all of death to die.

SAML F. BRADLEY.
JANE I. BRADLEY.
Manchester, July 30th, 1891.

Outing shirts—the best assortment in town—at Lull & Brown's.

SOLID. SOLID.

HERE is no word in the English language that so well expresses the qualities of the Waverly School Shoes as that of SOLID. A Shoe that is adapted to the hard, rough usage of children, must be SOLID as the ground upon which they tread. Children cannot be kept quiet they will play and run about in all kinds of weather and shoes must be made that will stand their hard wear and be SOLID in every part; this is just what the Waverly School Shoes are.

SOLID sole leather outsoles. SOLID sole leather undersoles. SOLID sole leather innersoles. SOLID sole leather counter. SOLID oil grain uppers and all put together in a SOLID, firm, compact manner.

We have taken the agency for the above goods and can furnish them to our customers in all styles.

The Boston Shoe Store,

The Leaders in Low Prices.

PARK BUILDING, SOUTH MANCHESTER.

COAL ! WOOD ! COAL !
LIME, HAIR, CEMENT, ADAMANT PLASTER.

I have a fine stock of above articles on hand and am selling at the Lowest Possible Prices consistent with Good Quality and a Fair Profit.

I am doing business for a living and not for fun and only ask such prices as I think will give me a fair chance.

HENRY L. VIBBERTS.

BLINN STREET, MANCHESTER.
Branch Office F. W. Mills's Store, Park Building, South Manchester, Telephone Connections.

Glastonbury Advertisement.

Hayes, Undertaker,
I feel certain I have the best watch repairer in the city, and all watches left at my store will receive his personal attention and good time will be guaranteed.
will continue in Covell's building over the post office, Glastonbury, in the business of UNDERTAKING IN ALL ITS DEPARTMENTS.
Also at his branch office in Garvan's block East Hartford. A full line of Caskets, Coffins and Shrouds always on hand. Preparing, laying out and taking charge of funerals without extra charge.
Ready for calls at all hours of day and night.

GOODRICH BROS. BANKING COMPY,

Fairbury, Nebraska.
E. E. GOODRICH, Pres.
P. H. GOODRICH V. P.
L. W. GOODRICH, Cashier.
DIRECTORS:
E. E. GOODRICH and WILLIS BRATNARD, Fairbury, Nebraska; P. H. GOODRICH, FREDERICK WELLES, ISAAC BROADHEAD and HORACE F. KINGSBURY, Glastonbury, Conn.
We make a specialty of First Mortgage Farm and City Loans. Also County, City and School Bonds. We can refer to our Connecticut investors, who have never lost a dollar, or held any delinquent paper negotiated by this Company. Correspond with us or call on this Company.
P. HENRY GOODRICH,
A. P. and Eastern Manager, Glastonbury, Ct.

DEMING'S

ALLYN HOUSE JEWELRY STORE,
150 Asylum Street, Hartford, Conn.
Formerly of Deming & Gundlach.
Wm. S. Goslee,
LAW OFFICE
TOWN RECORD BUILDING,
GLASTONBURY.

A MAN WHO CAN MAKE RAIN.

He Is Either a Good Guessor or Has Mastered Nature's Secret.

Frank Melbourne, of Canton, O., has certainly succeeded in producing rain at will, or else his guesses at the hour rains were to come have been singularly verified.

Newspaper men from all the neighboring cities have invaded the place and "pumped" hard, but the method remains a mystery.

A reporter from Cincinnati watched several hours recently in the grass near the laboratory and had some queer experiences.

FRANK MELBOURNE.

In all directions. The pure air of the morning (the vigil began long before daylight) suddenly became sultry, and was so loaded with vapor that the watcher sank into a sort of stupor.

The experimenter announces that he will bring rain every Sunday for a few weeks just to show that he can.

MRS. THOMPSON'S SAD FATE.

After Long Years Spent in Doing Good She Becomes Insane.

Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, long noted as a philanthropist and the founder of Longmont, Colo., has been declared insane by the probate court of Kansas City.

She was by nature so tender hearted and sympathetic that she could not at first resist an affecting entreaty, and her impulse to help all who needed it often led to strange results.

She was born Elizabeth Rowell in Rutland, Vt., Feb. 21, 1821, and her parents were so poor that at the age of nine she worked as a domestic for twenty-five cents a week.

Lady Catherine is the reputed successor of Mrs. Blavatsky as the high priestess of the English theosophists.

COLUMBUS PORTRAITS.

W. E. CURTIS' SEARCH FOR AN AUTHENTIC ONE.

Walter Wellman Here Presents Ten Examples of the Different Conceptions of America's Discoverer, Together with the Facts Regarding Them.

(Special Correspondence.)

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Mr. William Ellery Curtis, in charge of the bureau of American republics, has for months been ransacking the museums and libraries of the world for a portrait of Christopher Columbus that would have some claim to genuineness.

Instead of one portrait, something like forty will be exhibited, each enlarged to 24 by 28 inches in size.

In searching for portraits of Columbus Mr. Curtis has had extensive correspondence with historians and collectors, with the portrait man of the British museum, with a Mr. Stevens, of London, who is one of the most accomplished and persistent Columbus collectors in the world; with Mr. Harrisse, the great critical authority on Columbian history; with the Duke de Veragua, a descendant of the discoverer, and many others.

The search has brought forth many interesting stories and an endless variety of alleged portraits, but no genuine likeness. Mr. Curtis has, therefore, reluctantly reached the conclusion that there is no authentic portrait of Columbus in existence.

We have descriptions of the person of Columbus from two who knew him—Orviedo and his own son Ferdinand. We have other accounts from two who certainly knew his contemporaries—Gomara and Benzoni—and in addition we possess the description given by Herrera, who had the best sources of information.

These are the tests with which to challenge the very numerous so called likenesses of Columbus, and it must be confessed not a single one, when you take into consideration the accessories and the costume, warrants us in believing beyond dispute that we can bring before us the figure of the discoverer as he lived.

A vignette on the map of La Cosa, dated 1500, represents St. Christopher bearing on his shoulders the infant Christ across a stream. This has been considered symbolical of the purpose of Columbus in his discoveries—to spread Christianity to the other side of the "dark water."

Discarding the La Cosa vignette, the earliest claimant now known is an engraving published by Paulo Giovinio in 1577. Giovinio had in his villa at Lake Como a gallery of notable people, and among them, it is known, was a portrait of Columbus.

As a gallery of notable people, and among them, it is known, was a portrait of Columbus. The engraving of 1575, a woodcut, is supposed to have been taken from this picture.

Within a short time a discovery of some interest has been made at Lake Como, where, in the house of Dr. Orchi, was found an ancient portrait of Columbus closely resembling the Jefferson picture.

and Magellan, besides that of "Columbo Genevese." This indicates a single picture, but it is held by some that Giovinio must have possessed two pictures, since this woodcut gives Columbus the garb of a Franciscan, while the painting in the gallery at Florence, supposed also to follow a picture belonging to Giovinio, gives him a mantle.

A claim has been made that the original Giovinio portrait is still in existence in wint is known as the Ynez picture, now in the National library at Madrid, which was purchased of Ynez in 1788.

It had originally a close fitting mantle and tunic, and the mantle was after ward painted over so as to show a robe and fur collar. The likeness bears a certain resemblance to the woodcut and to the Florence THE JOMARD COLUMBUS likeness. The Ynez canvas is certainly the oldest in Spain, and the present Duke de Veragua, a descendant of Columbus, considers it the most authentic of all.

It is thought Antonio del Rincon, well known in Columbus' day, may have painted this Ynez canvas on the discoverer's return from his second voyage.

This woodcut of 1568 was undoubtedly the prototype of an engraving by Capriolo, published at Rome in 1596, and these cuts, one or the other, and a mingling of the two, have given rise to many imitations.

After the woodcut of 1575, the next oldest engraved likeness of Columbus is the one usually called the De Bry portrait. It shows a head with a three cornered cap, and possesses a Dutch physiognomy—its short, broad face not corresponding with the description which we find in Orviedo and the others who knew Columbus.

De Bry says that the original painting was stolen from a saloon in the Council for the Indies in Spain, and being taken to the Netherlands fell into his hands. He claims that it was painted from life by order of King Ferdinand, but critics have not been able to clear their mind of the suspicion that it was painted from the imagination by some Dutch painter.

About a half century ago Jomard found at Vicenza a Titianesque canvas marked "Christophorus Columbus," and he claimed that the features corresponded to the written descriptions of the discoverer given by his contemporaries.

A similar cut of date ruff and mustache adorn the likeness at Madrid associated with the Duke of Berwick-Alba, in which the finery of the throne makes part of the picture. The owner had a private plate engraved from it, and a copy of this engraving was presented to Obadiah Rich, the famous collector, who appeared to have confidence in it, and who gave his copy to the Lenox library in New York, where it now is.

where it now is. A picture belonging to the Duke of Veragua is open to similar objections on account of its beard, armor and ruff, although Munoz adopted it for his official history. A picture of a bearded cavalier, ascribed to Parmigiano (who was three years old when Columbus died), is preserved at Naples, and is, unfortunately, the common notion of Columbus in this country, from its having been used by Prescott in his Ferdinand and Isabella—for some unaccountable reason it is retained in the latest issue of that work—and from its having been copied for the American Antiquarian society. It was long ago rejected by competent critics.

Within a short time a discovery of some interest has been made at Lake Como, where, in the house of Dr. Orchi, was found an ancient portrait of Columbus closely resembling the Jefferson picture.

Within a short time a discovery of some interest has been made at Lake Como, where, in the house of Dr. Orchi, was found an ancient portrait of Columbus closely resembling the Jefferson picture.

given by those who had known him. It is, therefore, probably the best of the Giovinio portraits, and something like—in chin, hair, nose, brow, etc.—the real Columbus, but the expression, the individuality, has been lost forever to posterity.

Since Mr. Curtis began his search portraits of Columbus have been turning up from all parts of the world. Danbury, Conn., is the last place in the world one would visit for a picture of the discoverer, yet Mr. Curtis received from that town a few days ago a portrait which, in all probability, was painted 850 years ago from one of the Giovinio engravings or portraits.

It is thought Antonio del Rincon, well known in Columbus' day, may have painted this Ynez canvas on the discoverer's return from his second voyage.

This woodcut of 1568 was undoubtedly the prototype of an engraving by Capriolo, published at Rome in 1596, and these cuts, one or the other, and a mingling of the two, have given rise to many imitations.

After the woodcut of 1575, the next oldest engraved likeness of Columbus is the one usually called the De Bry portrait.

De Bry says that the original painting was stolen from a saloon in the Council for the Indies in Spain, and being taken to the Netherlands fell into his hands.

About a half century ago Jomard found at Vicenza a Titianesque canvas marked "Christophorus Columbus," and he claimed that the features corresponded to the written descriptions of the discoverer given by his contemporaries.

A similar cut of date ruff and mustache adorn the likeness at Madrid associated with the Duke of Berwick-Alba, in which the finery of the throne makes part of the picture.

where it now is. A picture belonging to the Duke of Veragua is open to similar objections on account of its beard, armor and ruff, although Munoz adopted it for his official history.

Within a short time a discovery of some interest has been made at Lake Como, where, in the house of Dr. Orchi, was found an ancient portrait of Columbus closely resembling the Jefferson picture.

Within a short time a discovery of some interest has been made at Lake Como, where, in the house of Dr. Orchi, was found an ancient portrait of Columbus closely resembling the Jefferson picture.

Within a short time a discovery of some interest has been made at Lake Como, where, in the house of Dr. Orchi, was found an ancient portrait of Columbus closely resembling the Jefferson picture.

Within a short time a discovery of some interest has been made at Lake Como, where, in the house of Dr. Orchi, was found an ancient portrait of Columbus closely resembling the Jefferson picture.

Now is Your Time to Buy!

Goods for less than one-half former prices. The workmen are gradually forcing us out and soon will be in possession of our store. Then it will be "TOO LATE" to get bargains like these:

- Men's Ten-Dollar Strictly All Wool Suits, Boys' Six-Dollar LONG PANT Suits, Boys' Three-Dollar KNEE PANT Suits, Boys' Fifty-Cent KNEE PANTS, Boys' Fifty-Cent Shirt Waists, MEN'S FURNISHINGS.

- Seventy-Five-cent Outing Shirts, Fifty-Cent White Unlaundered Shirts, Fifty-Cent Summer Underwear, Seventy-Five-Cent White Laundered Shirts, One Dollar Night Shirts, Fifty-Cent Suspenders, Twenty-Five-Cent Fast Black Hose, 3 for One Dollar Bathing Suits, Thirty-Five-Cent Bathing Trunks, Three-Dollar Thin Summer Coats, Six-Dollar Flannel Coats and Vests, Three-Dollar White and Fancy Vests, HATS AND CAPS.

- Men's 75-Cent Straw Hats, Boys' 50-Cent Straw Hats, Men's, Boys' and Ladies' 75 ct. Yachting caps, all colors

TRUNKS AND BAGS.

- Four-Dollar Steamer Trunks, Six-Dollar Saratoga Trunks, Dollar and a Half Club Bags, Big Bargain, Two Dollar and a Quarter Gladstone Bag.

Shop Aprons Given Away to Customers.

MULCAHY, The Outfitter

Strictly One Price Clothier and Hatter.

Look for the Stars and Stripes on the Blue Building, 33-41 Asylum Street, Hartford, Conn. Open Evenings till 9. Saturday till 12 o'clock.

AT FERRIS BROTHERS,

Main St., Cor. Oak, So. Manchester

is the place to buy goods. Others may complain of dull times, but we can manage to keep busy about all of the time. Why? Because is our motto. We try to have what our customers want in our line and try to deal with them so they come again.

Once a Customer always a Customer!

We have always tried to procure for our trade the Best and not the cheapest, at all times believing that good honest goods and square dealing are the best recommendations a firm can have. We believed the to be the best in the market when we commenced business in South Manchester and the great number of these stoves sold by us have assured us that our judgment was correct. They give universal satisfaction.

Richmond Stoves and Furnaces

Now is the time to have your furnaces put up and get them in shape before the fall hurry comes on. We know that we can please you as we can sell you either a moderate priced or the best furnace made.

We have doubled our orders on bicycles repeatedly and have in consequence a few Victors on hand and can furnish our customers at once, thus avoiding the annoyance of waiting. If you want the best bicycle, examine the Victor at

FERRIS BROTHERS.

Lamb & Hibbard

Agents for the town of Manchester for COLUMBIA and HARTFORD BICYCLES OF THE VARIOUS STYLES.

Columbia Safety, for Lady or Gent, with cushion or solid tire, $105. Hartford Safety, for Lady or Gent, $100. Junior, for Boys or Girls, $55.

Something new in a Cushion Tire Bicycle for Lady or Gent $80. The cheapest cushion tire on the market. Art and Crown Bay State Ranges.

REFRIGERATORS and a Great Variety of New and Second-hand Goods and Canges at extremely low prices.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, IMPORTERS, Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Groceries, China, Glassware, Lamps, Chandeliers, etc.

We make a specialty of Decorated Glassware, Bric-a-brac and Rich Cut Glassware suitable for wedding and complimentary gifts.

Decorated Dinner Sets.

TOILET WARE, REFRIGERATORS, WATER COOLERS.

COOKING RANGES, KITCHEN FURNISHINGS, etc.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

Ward, Mellen & Hewes, 255 Main St., Waverly Building, Hartford, Conn.

You Can Have PRINTED

AT THE HERALD OFFICE.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

Business Cards, Posters, (all sizes), Shipping Tags, Labels, Circulars, Admission Tickets, Raffle Tickets, Postal Cards, Envelopes, Bill Heads, Statements, Menu Cards, Note Heads, Letter Heads, (Ruled), Letter Heads, (type writer), Dodgers, Prescription Blanks, Receipts, Programs, Placards, Order Books, Price Lists, Coupon Seat Tickets, Political Ballots, Invitations, Lodge By-Laws, Pamphlets, And all kinds of Church Printing, Society Printing, Lodge Printing.

CRUSHED BY INVENTION

WRECKS SCATTERED ALONG THE MODERN PATHWAY OF PROGRESS.

In All Branches of Advancement the New Succeeds the Old at an Enormous Cost in the Sacrifice of Material—Remarkable Examples.

Every month and almost every day brings from some part of the world the announcement that a new enterprise is projected, coupled often with the statement that there is a serious conflict because some old industry is threat-

SIR JOHN FOWLER. ened or some old investment is put in danger of being rendered valueless. It is the penalty—and a very serious penalty—that the civilized world must pay for its present extraordinarily rapid advance.

And every year it grows worse. So serious are the industrial disturbances of late that political economists of some standing maintain that we are really in a state of equilibrium, that the industrial gain of the last twenty years is only apparent, that the loss by the ruin of old industries and the retirement of old machinery actually balances the gain secured by the new invention—if indeed it does not just now exceed it. That the loss in machinery alone would not outweigh the gain we may well believe, but there is an enormous loss in what is of far more value than machines—in men. No sooner is an invention apparently perfected, a "plant" established and a class trained to work that particular "plant," than a new invention renders the former obsolete and the work must all be done anew.

A few recent instances are almost alarming. Sir John Fowler, the celebrated engineer and railway bridge builder, bluntly informed the great Brighton Railway company that every important bridge on its line is unsafe and must be replaced by stronger ones. This aroused immediate inquiry as to other roads, and the verdict is the same—nearly all the important railway bridges in the United Kingdom must be replaced. They were largely built of cast iron and adapted to the light rolling stock of a few years ago. With that stock they would have outlasted this generation, but for the present rolling stock they must all be replaced with wrought iron and steel. The Brighton company has already contracted for the reconstruction of eighty bridges. The effect upon the railroad, the iron and the labor interests of Great Britain may be imagined.

Almost at the same time the experts in the United States announce that running cars by electricity is at last a perfect success. On the street car lines the great difficulty has been to apply the electric force profitably on a small scale, so to speak, and also to make it perfectly safe. For this latter purpose the trolley or overhead wire was used, as it was unsafe to the horses as well as to human beings to carry the electricity in the rails. The storage battery was an apparent success, but there were two dif-

SELLING OFF OLD IMPLEMENTS. culties—the negative plates wore out much more rapidly than the positive (wearing out most rapidly when left idle one day in the week), and similarly the application on a small scale was attended with difficulties.

All these are easily avoided on the ordinary railway, and the longer the line the more economically can the electric force be used. Nor is there any serious objection to the transmission of force by the rails, as in the city. Hence engineers and experts of ability declare that the cost can be reduced to one-half or two-thirds of that of running the present locomotives, and confidently predict that in a few years all the long lines will operate their cars by electric motors. The industrial revolution will be great. All the magnificent locomotives for the "long hauls," on which so much talent and capital have been expended, will be rendered useless, and all the es-

TRYING THE NAVAL SEARCH LIGHT.

In the Recent Experiments on the Hudson it Proved a Great Success.

One of the most novel sights ever witnessed in American waters was the recent drill on the Hudson in front of New York city by the squadron of evolution, commonly called the white

THE LIGHTS IN OPERATION. squadron. The object was to teach the Naval Reserve artillery of New York state the rudiments of marine warfare and especially the method of using the search light.

Thomas Jefferson drafted a bill for the creation of a naval reserve, and the project has often been brought forward but it was not till three years ago that a bill, that drafted by Congressman Whitthorne, of Tennessee, passed congress, authorizing the maritime states to form naval battalions. Massachusetts soon had her battalions organized, and New York speedily followed. The men, of course, live on land and pursue their ordinary avocations, except when called for drill or active service, and the white squadron is to move from point to point, as the secretary of the navy may order and instruct them.

The 250 men and officers comprising New York's battalion were taken on board the six vessels—the new steel cruisers Chicago, Newark, Boston and Atlanta, and the gunboats Yorktown and Concord—and instructed in loading and firing the big guns, rowing ship boats and other naval work, and the great display was reserved for the last evening. At least 200,000 spectators lined the shores of the Hudson, and at 9 p. m. the big electric lights were ready, two to each ship and one extra, of 28,700 candle power, and each in the focus of an enormous reflector.

At the signal from the flagship Chicago thirteen streams of pure white light shot into the clouds from the fleet with startling effect. Then they were turned this way and that, and wherever a column struck there was a brilliant oval of illumination. A mile and a quarter away fine print could easily be read, and at two miles every outline of an approaching boat could be seen. Far up the Hudson the gleam fell on a rocky headland, and every crevice in it was distinct. Far down the river the masts and deck tackle of a vessel could be discerned more easily than by the light of moon. At a mile distance the features of a man and the expression thereon could be made out through the ships' glasses.

LEMERY'S LAND SHIP. C. M. Lemery, a young machinist of East Oakland, Cal., has completed working drawings of a land ship, which, he contends, will climb mountains, jolt over logs, travel through forests and over plains, and, when necessity arises, skim the surfaces of rivers and lakes. The body of the proposed land ship is 50 feet long, 18 feet wide and 7 feet high. It is to be built mainly of aluminum and have motive power enough to carry it over all obstacles. It would accommodate twenty men.

Mr. Lemery's object in designing the "ship" is to explore "darkest Africa," with a view to profit from its undiscovered gold regions and fame in clearing up its innumerable mysteries. If he can secure financial backing to the extent of $150,000, he will at once proceed with the construction of his ships. Lemery is neither an adventurer nor an enthusiast, but a quiet mannered young fellow of thirty-one, who believes his undertaking perfectly feasible. Attached to his land ship, he would have another car containing provisions and ammunition to last three years. This car would be proof against the arrows of hostile natives, and serve as a fort from which to repel attacks. He would take with him several mining experts, a doctor, a literary man, a photographer and one or two scientists. He thinks there is money enough in a proposed book descriptive of the trip to pay expenses.

LEMERY AND HIS LAND SHIP.

To Depopulate Iceland. Dr. Ludwig von Dolcke, of Detroit, is the originator of a scheme for transporting the entire population of Iceland to Alaska. He is a native of Iceland. The population is about 48,000, and the people are supposed to be under the dominion of Denmark, though they are permitted to govern themselves about as they please. He says that the removal will cost a million dollars, and the people are ready to go at any time.

It is announced that beet sugar is rapidly outstripping cane sugar in the markets of the world. The estimated crop for this year of each is: Cane, 2,840,000 tons; beet, 8,600,000 tons.

FASHIONS FOR WOMEN.

SOME OF THE EARLY FALL GOWNS ARE VERY BEAUTIFUL.

There Will Be More and Richer Embroidery Than Ever Before, Says Olive Harper—Two Specimen Gowns Pictured Herewith That Will Please the Ladies.

[Special Correspondence.] NEW YORK, July 29.—Some of the new gowns for early fall are very beautiful, and the new importations show that there will be more and richer metallic embroidery than before on those intended for carriage or visiting, as well as for the street. In one importing house that caters to the best trade only, I saw some most elegantly embroidered dress patterns. One of dark Lincoln green ladies' cloth had a closely embroidered pattern in arabesques, which nearly covered the front breadth, and there were other patterns intended for the sleeves and corsage to match. The gold thread is woven in chain stitch, and usually bordered with black silk done in the same stitch or with cut jet beads about half as big as peas, following the designs.

EMBROIDERED GOWN. made with other styles of corsage. The illustration shows one of the new ones in princess form, with the front draped across. This is of beige ladies' cloth embroidered with gold threads and black beads. The body and back are of the same material two shades darker, and there is a panel of black velvet down the right side.

The same idea is carried out in the soft silks, in velvets, and in other woollen goods in all the newest colors and black, but I must say that I think the effect less pleasing in black than in colors, for the gold trimming looks garish on black. Undoubtedly black is going to be "the" style for fall and winter—black in everything. Moire will be used to make elegant reception gowns, and these will have scant trimming and that nearly always of lace or jet. I saw an imported gown which is probably now delighting its owner at Saratoga.

It is a regal princess of rich black moire, with a square cut neck filled in with black net. Around the neck is a narrow line of garnets, and at the waist a loose Cleopatra girdle and pendants almost two inches wide set closely with garnets. Buttons of the same are set on the sleeves, and a fall of black thread lace extended around the neck and made epaulets on the shoulders. There was a long train and around it a ruffle of black lace, very full, headed by a line of garnets.

Among the caprices of fashion is that of wearing black crape dresses for street, for visiting and at home. Last season the fashion began with black Japanese crape and crepe de chine, and then the Italian crape was used generally over iridescent silks, and now it is the heavy English crape, such as has been heretofore only used on mourning robes. Whole dresses are made of it over slips of black glaze silk, and it is trimmed with handsome bright galloon, velvet or gold or silver embroidery around the bottom of the skirt and on corsage and sleeves.

Of course on such a flexible material it would be impractical to put heavy masses of embroidery, so it is generally done in fine figures or outlines, and a very little of it goes a great way on crape. The real beauty of English crape is the excuse for its use other than for deep mourning, and it certainly makes up superbly. A bonnet with colors, a bit of bright trimming or a bunch of flowers takes away the appearance of mourning. It makes a costly dress, but that is another plea in its favor for most women.

For mourning also there is an unusual amount of Courtaud or English crape used, and I have seen one or two very pretty camail capes made of crape, with lusterless silk, edged by lusterless beads. They do not look so heavy as the most of mourning wraps.

For fall, nearly all gloves will be with tuxentils, and nearly all hats will be of soft felt, with no end of ostrich tips and long plumes, mingled with gold braid.

The large hats, which look like halos around a pretty face, will be in high favor. Some of the new CRAPE VISITING DRESS. hats are made of undressed kid, in soft colors—brown, beige, gray and pearl, drawn tightly over frames, and edged with gilt or silver braid. Indeed, so much of the silver and gilt braid is seen in the warehouses that it is no longer a matter of surprise to me that money is scarce.

OLIVE HARPER.

May Get Rev. Mr. Parker Yet.

The vote on the question of whether to hire Rev. Francis Parker for pastor of the Center church was not satisfactory to many members of the church. That vote stood 87 to 80 in favor of engaging Mr. Parker, but the majority was so small that the meeting decided to continue candidating. The more the friends of Mr. Parker canvassed the subject, the more they became convinced that the general sentiment of the church was in favor of his engagement. They found that his opponents were nearly all present while many of those who favored him had not taken pains to be present. They are therefore circulating a petition for another meeting for the purpose of rescinding the former vote and engaging Mr. Parker for one year. This petition has already received the signatures of about 115 including more than a majority of the church members. It therefore seems reasonably certain that the church meeting soon to be held will vote to hire Mr. Parker.

A Nihilist's Story.

[J. H. Roxy in Harper's Magazine.]
Of another lodging in a new house in the Avenue du Maine, I have retained a shivering souvenir. This was formerly the dwelling of one of the chiefs of the celebrated central committee which caused so much talk in Russia in 1879 and 1882, Tikhomiroff, who has since been converted to less revolutionary doctrines, and so been enabled to return to Russia. It was he who wrote the famous manifesto to Alexander III, after the assassination of Alexander II. Tikhomiroff's eye is prominent and restless. In the street he is constantly turning round. He is perpetually in a half-trembling state. For that matter, the man is sympathetic, excessively intelligent, and impartial by temperament. He is married, father of a family, and much preoccupied with the future of his children. As for his fear of being followed and watched, it is justified; no man ever had more spies after him. Before his pardon, he could never take a single step without being followed. His lodging was the object of a perpetual surveillance. He had horrible souvenirs, of which the following is a specimen:—

After the assassination of Alexander II, at the time of the terrible trial, those who were condemned to death were Tikhomiroff's friends and his colleagues of the terrorist committee. He himself was under the perpetual menace at St. Petersburg. If he were captured, his fate was certain and inevitable; he would be hanged. He did not dare to fly from Russia, or even to leave his house. He told me that if it had not been for his family and for his duty as a father, he would perhaps have given himself up, so dreadful was the feeling of insecurity. He could not sleep; he had not a minute's respite; always the grim expectation of the police officer, of imprisonment, judgment, the scaffold, and of his family without support.

Well, to these terrors yet another was added, and to these horrors a fresh horror—the carts with those condemned to death had to pass along the street under Tikhomiroff's window. His servant knew by sight several of the victims, because she had seen them at her master's house. Then took place this thrilling scene: Tikhomiroff, his wife, and the servant stood at the window, waiting like the other inhabitants of the house, for the passage of the sinister cortege. This was inevitable; for if the terrorist had not appeared at the window, he would certainly have been suspected by his neighbors and denounced. We can imagine the unhappy man's state of mind, the agony of his whole being. And in the midst of all that, one incessant question, returning like the fixed idea of a madman: "Will the servant recognize the victims? . . . will she recognize them?"

Oxford Versus Harvard.
[Harper's Weekly.]

If Oxford university boat club has issued a challenge to Harvard, as reported by the cable, for an eight-oared race in the coming fall from Putney to Mortlake, it should not be hastily acted upon. If there is to be an international varsity race, it behoves us to send over a crew which, above all things, is to be depended upon for steady work, and has at least a fighting chance for victory. We have made such great strides in boating since a crew has represented us—at least in sentiment if not in fact—in English water that the excuse of the novice is no longer tenable. We should be expected to row in the best of form and fast, and we must be certain of being able to live up to what is expected of us before a challenge is accepted. There is no discredit in being a good second after a close and valiant fight for first honors, but we could never afford to be a bad second in a slow race. Were we having a race with Oxford or Cambridge every year, the importance of sending a good crew, while of course always great, would not be so vital, simply for the reason that what one year might lose to us another would gain. Where a race comes, however, once in 10 or 20 years, and as this in particular case 22 years, nothing should be left undone that would be likely to lessen our chance of success.

FOR ONE DOLLAR

You can cure yourself of malaria, chills and sciatic rheumatism, boils and all biliousness. Ask your druggist for Grove's Herb Extract and become well at once.

Horsemen see J. P. Jones's advt. in this paper. It will interest you.

Does Not Return to Dust.

Many strange things have been told concerning the secrets of the grave. Within the past few months discoveries have been made in Missouri and Iowa that people have been buried alive, but the strangest discovery was made in Colchester a few days ago, viz., that, after having been buried twenty-one years, the body of Miss Flora Hume is in as perfect a condition as the day she died.

Twenty-one years ago the lady died in St. Paul of pneumonia and the body was brought to Colchester and buried in the Argyle cemetery. That cemetery has long since fallen into disuse, and recently it was laid out in nicely improved grounds. The few graves in it were removed, and among the dead was the body of Miss Flora Hume. It was inclosed in a metallic case. This was covered with a heavy coat of rust. When the cover was removed there lay the body perfectly intact. The features were readily recognized by relatives, and the clothing looked perfectly fresh. Even a ribbon of delicate tint about the neck was as bright and fresh as when it had been first put on.

The face was not in the least discolored, and the body was full and round. In fact, the corpse looked as though it might have been buried only a few hours.—Quincy (Ill.) Herald.

In a Miser's Hut.

A dispatch from Columbia, S. C., says: "Uncle Billy Bost, an eccentric character of Cabarrus county, N. C., is dead. He was a bachelor, about eighty years old. His only companions were two dogs and an old negro. His real estate consisted of 1,800 acres of land, which he left to his nephews. He had a safe which was thought to hold thousands of dollars, but when it was opened the only money found was a nickel. However, in bureau drawers, in old cupboards, in pitchers and jars, in old clothes closets, in old stockings and in cracks in his miserable house was found $10,000 in gold, besides a large quantity of gold dust and bullion and a few hundred dollars in greenbacks.

"In the search a package from a Charlotte bank was found containing $700 that had never been opened. This was received by him in 1880. He had corn and bacon on hand four years old, and some hay that had been stacked for twenty-five years. He made his will only three weeks ago, and there is much talk of contesting it, for some of his kin have been left without anything."

Choked by a Cow's Tail.

A peculiar and fatal accident occurred recently to the seven-year-old son of Mr. Trammel Carter, who lives four miles north of town. The little fellow was in the habit of driving the cows to pasture every morning, and one morning after he had eaten his breakfast he started off with his cows as usual. About an hour later a member of the family went in search of him, and was horrified to see a cow dragging the almost lifeless body over the field. The boy had tied the cow's tail around his neck, and the cow, a gentle one, had become frightened and ran off, dragging the little fellow with her. The little fellow was released only by cutting the cow's tail, and was barely alive.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Tough Mule.

The vitality of the mule is little short of amazing. In Memphis one fell twenty-five feet down an opening in the street. It landed on its head and, the hole being narrow, it was unable to change its position. It was supposed that the beast had broken its neck, as a sharp clicking noise was heard when it struck bottom. After half an hour the mule was hoisted out by the heels and laid on the ground. It showed no signs of life, but, notwithstanding, it was given brandy liberally, and in a little while, to the surprise of the thousand spectators who had collected, the mule rose to its feet and walked off as though nothing unusual had happened.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Summer Beverage.

Tradesman (to old gentleman who has purchased a lawn mower)—Yes, sir, I'll oil it and send it over imm—
Customer (imperatively)—No, no, no!—it mustn't be oiled! I won't have it oiled! Mind that! I want noise! And, look here—pick me out a nice rusty one. My neighbor's children hoot and yell till 10 o'clock every night, so (viciously) I mean to cut my grass from 4 till 6 every morning!—Exchange.

City Lighting from Small Stations.

The city of Glasgow is considering the establishment of an electric lighting system, by which private buildings and the public streets shall be lighted. In this connection the gas companies in the city have made a unique suggestion in proposing that small electric substations operated by gas motors shall be placed at numerous points.—New York Telegram.

Not in the Wood.

Summer Boarder—I think, considering the price I pay, and the poor accommodations you have, you might at least treat me with respect.
Mrs. Hayfork—Well, mum, to tell the truth, I can't feel much respect for people what pays the big prices I charge for the sort of accommodations I give.—New York Weekly.

An old Irish woman, Mrs. Hurley, has recently died in California, at the age of one hundred and eight, who always prided herself upon the fact that as a child she had been kissed by the patriot Robert Emmet. She could distinctly remember the Irish rising, under the French general, Hoche, in 1798.

Seven of the nine justices of the supreme court now occupy their own houses in Washington, and the other two, the new Justices Brown and Brewer, will soon be similarly situated.

When in the country you may imagine that you help the haymakers by jabbing the horses with the pitchfork and getting tangled up in the reins, but you do not, and they will probably tell you so.

BUY THE

Waverly School Shoe

We have taken the agency for these goods because we thought there was none on the market which excelled them. The uppers are made of Oak Tanned Oil Grain Stock. All seams subject to wear are stitched with silk. Only the best material used. They are warranted in every respect.—Quality guaranteed. We will place them against any offered for the money. If you want a shoe for service we are confident if you them once you will use no other.

FITCH & DRAKE.

ARE YOU SICK?

A word about prescriptions:—Every one knows there are several grades of drugs and that cheap drugs are adulterated making them almost worthless. Again medicines made from cheap drugs are very inactive and the patient using them wonders why he doesn't get well. Prescriptions should be compounded from nothing but the purest drugs obtainable and from medicines that are up to the standard in strength. We make it a point to buy our drugs from reliable houses thus giving our customers the assurance that they can depend on medicines bought at

CHENEY'S DRUG STORE.

Midsummer Sale!

To reduce stock we make these prices to cash buyers.

Fruit of Loom Cotton

8 1/2 cents per yard; by the Cut 8 1/4 cts.

Seersuckers 4 1-2 cts. a yard.

300 Yds. Dress Gingham, at 6 1-4 cts. per yard.

MASON'S FRUIT JARS
at wholesale prices.

Infants' Lace Caps and Bonnets at Cost

STRAW HATS

at your own price.

The Latest in Ladies' Straw Sailors

25 cents each.

29 pair Ladies' Oxford Ties reduced to $1.15 per pair.

37 pairs Ladies' Oxford Ties reduced to 90 cts. a pair.

37 pairs Ladies' and Misses' Russet Ox-fords 87 cts. a pair reduced from $1.25

J. M. BURKE.

GEORGE F. RICH,

General Insurance Agent,
MANCHESTER.

Business solicited for first-class companies
TELEPHONE CONNECTION.

VACATION GOODS.

Men's and Boys' Outing Shirts, Flannel, Cheviot, Silk Mixtures and Sateens.

Boys' Flannel Blouses and Cambric Waists.

STRAW HATS AND LIGHT CAPS FOR MEN AND BOYS.

LIGHT HOSIERY AND UNDERWEAR.

WINDSOR SCARFS AND LIGHT FOUR-IN-HANDS.

BELTS AND SASHES.

And Everything in the line of Men's Furnishings.

CHAS. E. HOUSE,

Merchant Tailor and Men's Outfitter.

I Don't "Feel" but KNOW for a certainty that my ability and facilities in Watch Repairing cannot be equalled by anybody in Hartford. I will forfeit $500.00 if proof to the contrary can be brought.

CHAS. TESKE,

Maker and Repairer of and Dealer in Watches, etc., 214 Asylum St. Also clocks and jewelry repaired. Cost of repairing given beforehand. Hampton watches with my patent regulator.

A COURT OF PROBATE HOLDEN

At Columbia within and for the district of Andover, on the 27th day of July, A. D. 1891.
Present Wm. H. YEOMANS, Judge.
Upon application of the administrator on the estate of Wm. O. Chandler late of Bolton deceased for an order to sell the real estate as per application on file.
ORDERED—That said application be heard and determined at the Probate Office in said district on the 3d day of Aug., A. D., 1891, at one o'clock in the afternoon of said day, and the court directs said administrator to give public notice of the pendency of said application and the time and place of hearing thereon by publishing a notice thereof in some newspaper having a circulation in said district.
Wm. H. YEOMANS, Judge.

H. F. GILNACK HOUSE PAINTER.

House Painting in all its branches. Estimates cheerfully furnished. Contracts carefully executed. Special attention to Jobbing. Will call on receipt of postal H. F. GILNACK South Manchester

---BUY:---

Childs's Welcome Flour.

A. Moreau's Harness Shop

is not jumping but SOLID AS A ROCK on the corner of Eldridge and Main streets where my old customers and also new ones can find a nobby, all hand-stitched oak leather, genuine full rubber trimmed Harness for $18. Also double team Harness all complete collars, etc., for $28. Custom made Harness, made to order, and constantly kept in stock. No. 1 Oak leather used only.

Repairing in all its Branches.

Have you seen those elegant Eel skin lined whips, the most perfect whip in the market, warranted. Horse boots of any kind, scrapers, sweat collars for 46 cents each. Horse collars of any kind, shape or form, in fact anything that you may desire in horse goods. All welcome, gentlemen come in.

A COURT OF PROBATE HELD AT

Manchester, within and for the district of Manchester on the 27th day of July, A. D. 1891.
Present OLIN R. WOOD, Esq. Judge.
Estate of Nancy S. Barnes, late of Manchester in said District, deceased.
On motion of John B. Spencer, executor.
ORDERED—That six months from the 27th day of July, A. D. 1891, be and the same are limited and allowed for the creditors within which to bring in their claims against said estate, and the said executor is directed to give public notice to the creditors to bring in their claims within said time allowed, by posting a copy of this order on the public signpost nearest to the place where the deceased last dwelt within the said town, and by publishing the same in some newspaper having a circulation in said Probate District within ten days from the date of this order, and return make to this court of the notice given.
OLIN R. WOOD, Judge.

MANCHESTER DYE WORKS

EAST OF B. O. APRIL'S.

Ladies' and Gentlemen's garments dyed or cleaned and rag carpets woven. Werge furnished. JOHN TRAYNOR, Manchester.

Big Summer Drive at Cheney's Store.

White embroidered Skirt Flouncings from 45 cts. to 87 cts. a yard.—All reduced.

New stock Ladies' Calico Wrappers. Can't get enough of them.

2,000 yard New Shirt Prints at 5 cts. a yards. Best Outing Flannels and Gingham, all reduced.

10 dozen ladies' Ribbed Vests at 25 cts. each. Formerly 33 and 37 cts.

Balance of stock of Printed Dress Sateen at 5 cents a yard. Former price, 10 and 12 1-2 cents a yard.

All Hammocks to be closed out at cost. Baby Carriages at and below cost to close.

Some of those straw hats left at cost. Just think, a good straw hat for 19 cts.

Many other drives that you can find at our counters.

CHENEY'S STORE

SOMETHING NEW IN SPRING

WOVEN WIRE AND SPIRAL SPRING

Heavy Chenille Portieres with 22 in. drape
8 in. Fringe for $4.75 per pair.

WATKINS BROS.

Great reductions in Japanese
Rose Jars, Vases, etc. To close them

TEAPOTS Reduced from	$1.25
" " " "	1.00
" " " "	.75
ROSE JARS Reduced from	.40
" " " "	.60
" " " "	.75
" " " "	.95
" " " "	1.25
" " " "	2.00

Large Imari Vases 75 cents, former price
These are all fine goods and are much less than city prices.

F. W. MILLS

PARK BUILDING, MAIN STREET,