AT WOODLAND PARK

Fine Weather and Fast Track.

Track Record Lowered to 2:27 1-4.

WINNERS IN 2.40 AND 3.35 CLASSES.

The Eastern Connecticut Trotting circuit opened the season auspiciously at Woodland Park, Wednesday. The Park association had its usual good luck with the weather. After a fortnight of cool and rainy weather, Wednesday was bright and warm. The sky was overcast with fog in the morning, but the sun soon cleared that away and the day turned out a perfect September day.

The fakirs gathered in force in the forenoon and when the crowd gathered after dinner they were greeted with a babel of cries. It sounded something like this: Right this way to see the six-legged steer; step right—Edison, the wizzard Edison, the man who has done so much for humanity. This little machine talks and laughs and cries like a child and—Try your luck right here gentlemen! One in, two in, everybody wins! Who else—How much am I offered for choice in the '35 class? Five dollars on Olive! How much for the—Knock out de coon right here! Three balls for five cents! Hittim once you get a cigar! Hittim twice—Score cards only five cents! You can't enjoy the races without 'em! Score cards only—Right this way for your ice cream! Nice and cool—One more whip at 35 cents! Who takes the last one? Half whalebone and—Pop corn! Pop corn! Only five cents a pack—Knock the babies down! Knock 'em down! Try your skill in—Step up and get a nice cane gentlemen! Twelve shots for—A complete race every turn of the wheel and the wheel gets 50 cents! Only

THE 2.35 RACE.

Five of the eight horses entered in '35 class came out in response to the bell pull. They were Geo. B., Rev. John, David S., Connemaug Wilkes and Ida Jefferson. Geo. B. went ahead at the start, and Rev. John and David S. were having a double team race from the wire to the quarter. At this point Rev. John broke. David S. went to first and Rev. John fell to sixth. Ida Jefferson was away in the rear when they reached a quarter, but kept gaining. At the home stretch Geo. B. made a break. David S. came in first, Geo. B. second and Ida third. Geo. B. was set back to third for running, and Daley was given second place. The time was 2.35 1/4.

After several times at scoring the horses got off. It was the opinion of the drivers that Rev. John had been shut out in the previous heat, but as the judges could not see it in that light, he was allowed to start. This heat was for blood, as Daley and Blumenthal were in it for all it was worth. David S. surprised everybody who has seen him at the track before. He went to the lead, closely followed by Connemaug. Daley and Blumenthal struck sulkies at the first turn, and on the second turn around Rev. John and Ida came together, with no serious results in either case. David S. was an easy winner. Time, 2.34 1/4.

When the horses came out for this heat J. P. Sanborn was behind Rev. John and Matt. Darcey was sitting behind Ida. Had David S. won this heat it would have decided the race. From the manner in which the horses started it was quite evident that David S. would not win if the others could prevent it. David however took first place and held it until the quarter. Geo. B., Ida and Connemaug were neck and neck, but at the quarter pole David S. dropped to second place and Geo. B. went to first. These positions were unchanged until the stretch was reached. Here David S. made another break and fell back, this time to third and Ida took advantage of the break and went up to second. George came in in 2.38 1/4, Ida second and David third.

It took long and tedious scoring to start the fourth heat. All the drivers were looking for the best position. Geo. B. was as gamy as ever and he started off ahead. David S. and Ida were working hard for second place. Ida took the place and kept working and when the wire was reached in the first half she was even with Geo. Ida, however, made a bad break before the turn was reached and fell to second and was unable to fill the gap between her and the leader. Connemaug then passed David S. on the quarter turn and got third. Geo. B. finished about two feet ahead of Ida Jefferson. The time was 2.32 1/4.

There was a long wait between the fourth and fifth heats of this race. The '40 class had been finished and the 20 minutes between the heats were enjoyed by the spectators in witnessing exhibitions of speedy driving and a half mile bout given by old man Daley—in slow time. When the horses came, however, it looked as if it would be an all-day job to get them in line. Mr. Hayden finally told Dick Blumenthal that if he did not score as he should he would fine him. At the next time down Dick was up in line and they got away. George B. went ahead again, but at the quarter Ida Jefferson was hugging him close. Uncle William Daley stood in front of the grand stand. He was all smiles, and when he saw the mare nagging George he said aloud, "What's the matter with that Jefferson mare?" But lo! he had no sooner said the words when Ida made a bad break and fell back. Dick worked George B. hard, and he won the heat, Ida second and Connemaug third, Rev. John fourth and David S. fifth. Time, 2.34 1/4.

NOTES.

It was a disappointment to many that the running class did not fill. An effort is being made to fill the class for this afternoon.

The judges were George A. Hayden, Hartford, starters; A. T. Walker, Willimantic and F. R. Tucker, Rockville.

The man who runs the phonograph is the most honest fakir on the ground. There is no gambling in his shows. You pay five cents and hear the wonderful phonograph talk and sing.

C. W. Cowles is at his old place by the gate. He shows his devotion to the association by taking that post, for, thorough horseman that he is, he must take to miss the races.

John Daly, father of the Daly boys, was a conspicuous figure at the track.

Exhibition Classes.

The plan originated by this association of employing an expert judge to judge the colts, brood mare and stallion classes proved to be a move in the right direction. Breeders strongly expressed their satisfaction with the plan. Mr. A. T. Walker, of Willimantic, himself a breeder and thoroughly posted in breeding, was the person selected by the association to act as judge in these classes. Every exhibit was examined thoroughly from hoof to the tip of the ears. Defects as well as fine points were taken into consideration in his decisions. In class A, stallions for general use, there were six entries: J. O. Champlin, of Tolland, 4-year-old stallion; C. H. Pease, South Windsor, 5-year-old stallion; F. R. Tucker, Rockville; 3-year-old stallion; Ralph Pinney, Glastonbury, 4-year-old stallion; C. D. Tucker, Manchester, 3-year-old stallion. Premiums awarded in this class were to W. C. Daley, 1st; F. R. Tucker, 2d; Ralph Pinney, 3d.

In Class B, for brood mares and colts, there was only one entry, by George H. Allen, Manchester. After scoring up the points, the judge awarded him third premium. It was a surprise and a disappointment to the officers that there was not a larger number of entries in this class.

Class C, for yearling colts, brought out seven as fine animals as any breeder would ask to see. Entries in this class were made by N. T. Puffer, Manchester; J. H. Otis, Hartford; J. B. Flint, Collinsville; R. Pinney, Glastonbury; W. C. Daley, Hartford; F. S. Weed, Manchester; George H. Allen, Manchester. The judge awarded the following premiums: To J. B. Flint, 1st; W. C. Daley, 2d; J. H. Otis, 3d. It is safe to say that next year the three purposes offered in this class will not go out of town.

In Class D, for 2-year-old colts in harness, there were three entries and the premium awards were as follows: W. W. Bowles, Manchester, 1st; C. H. Pease, South Windsor, 2d; George Cass, South Windsor, 3d.

This ended the duties of Judge Walker, and he stated that our exhibit was a collection of the finest colts he had ever seen together.

The Herald's Extra.

In view of the important news of the last two days and in order to acquaint the many strangers in town of the doings at Woodland Park yesterday, the Herald issues this extra. The regular edition will be issued Saturday morning as usual and will contain a description of today's proceedings at the fair grounds and all the late local news.

In the Justice Court.

Justice Brown was busy Monday and Tuesday. Monday noon Barney McDuff, of Buckland, was arraigned for assault on Mary McCann. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and costs, which he paid. He said that he was intoxicated and that he bought his liquor of Dennis O'Connors Sunday. O'Connors was thereupon arrested, charged with illegal sale. He secured Judge Olin R. Wood as counsel and pleaded not guilty. At the request of Judge Wood his case was adjourned until next Monday at 1 o'clock. A bond of $150 was furnished by George A. Bidwell.

The case of the Italian rag-picker, described in another column, was tried Tuesday. Samuel Kearns, 16 years old, of Buckland, was also arrested for assault on Bartholomew Vail. Kearns was one of a party of roughs who attacked Vail Saturday evening on the street. He was fined $1 and costs.

Almost Another Tragedy.

Mrs. John Moore, of Vernon, took poison Wednesday evening and lies in a precarious condition. She took insect powder, thinking it was powdered ginger.

The band will be on hand this afternoon.

Riley Smith, a machine tender from East Lee, Mass., has moved into the Robertson house this week. He will work for Keeney Brothers.

Miss E. L. Wing who for a number of years has taught the Cheney school has resigned her position and will reside with her mother at Quincy, Mass.

H. O. Bowers has returned from Brattleboro, Vt., where he has spent the summer working on The Windham County Reformer and playing ball about four times a week with a nine made up chiefly of college players. The nine easily won the state championship. Of the nineteen games which Bowers pitched, sixteen were won by the Brattleboro. Bowers will get out a directory of Wallingford before going back to Yale for his senior year. He is thinking of taking a post-graduate course of one year.

QUINN HAS ESCAPED!

The Talcottville Rape Fiend at Large.

John Quinn, who was confined in the Tolland jail awaiting trial for rape escaped Wednesday afternoon. Quinn was the young man who criminally assaulted two Talcottville girls in July and was captured in Manchester after an exciting chase.

Sheriff Kibbe was away Wednesday and Quinn escaped during his absence. The turnkey went into the jail to get a basket of potatoes the prisoners had prepared. As he went into the jail he left the door open and Quinn dodged out. Before the turnkey could secure the jail and make after him he was out of reach. Deputy Sheriff Simmons with a posse immediately started after him. Sheriff Kibbe on his return telephoned to Manchester officers to be on the lookout for him and then started on the search himself.

Quinn was tried in the superior court at Tolland Tuesday. He was found guilty and was sentenced to state prison for five years. Doubtless that accounts for his eagerness to escape.

SEEN WITH ANOTHER'S EYES. Characteristics of Manchester Which Other Towns Envy.

Wallace H. Miller of The Southington Phoenix was in Manchester for a visit with friends last week and saw several things which impressed him. The result of his reflections appears in last week's edition of The Phoenix, and makes interesting reading for the loyal citizens of Manchester. He says: A few years ago Southington, Bristol, Torrington, Winsted, Manchester and Rockville were in the same class of Connecticut thoroughbreds. With one exception they are hustling along at a rapid pace. Rockville has paced under the city wire and has developed splendidly. Manchester is a leader now and is gaining strength. The others also are advancing steadily. Southington is out of the race, but not permanently.

The writer has taken the trouble to personally look over the field and finds that there is no cause for native to regard Southington as shut out and crippled. These other towns have some advantages that we cannot have. They also enjoy some on which they have no monopoly. As a matter of fact Southington does not belong in this class at all. The towns mentioned have a large surrounding territory to draw from while Southington has nothing of the sort as an aid. This is a vital difference. Rockville has immense natural attractions, including Snipic Lake, which also furnishes valuable water power. Winsted, too, is similarly favored. But undoubtedly Manchester can better teach us the lessons we need than others. Connecticut should be proud of Manchester town. It would require many miles of travel to find a village that approached the model more nearly than South Manchester. It is a lovely spot. It has become deservedly famous. But its attractiveness and charm is not inherent to the locality. It is directly due to the intelligence, progressive and liberal spirit, refinement and example of the gentlemen composing the firm of Cheney Brothers. Their immense silk mills and everything else under their enlightened control are made as attractive and modern as possible. Of course the town has the great strength of active resident capital. But the point we wish to emphasize is this: Very much of the growth and beauty of Manchester is due to the influence and example of a few men. Southington is capable of being placed in the very forefront of pleasant towns. The borough is helping us more than many realize and we are leaving most of our "rivals" in the lurch so far as concerns sidewalks and roads. Personal effort and pride in appearance will greatly facilitate this growth. We repeat that Southington has no more valid excuse for lethargy than our vigorous neighbors. We must simply trot on a different course. It is not an agreeable thing for a trotter to balk because not permitted to win by running.

Of course Mr. Miller did not leave Manchester without calling on The Herald and kindly refers to his visit as follows:

A friendly call was made upon Editor E. S. Ela, the genial proprietor of The Saturday Herald, and president of the Weekly Press Association. Like The Phoenix The Herald has suffered from fire, but is now a first class and well equipped establishment very pleasantly situated. The Herald is a worthy representative of a progressive town and deserves the liberal support it receives.

A SAD SUICIDE.

A Well Known Woman, While Derranged, Cuts Her Throat With a Razor.

The village of South Manchester was shocked last Tuesday evening by the report that Mrs. Calvin Tiffany, wife of the well known jeweler, had died suddenly. The sad surprise was intensified and made wide-spread when it was made known Wednesday morning that Mrs. Tiffany had committed suicide by cutting her throat with a razor.

The circumstances make the case unusually painful and call for on every hand the warmest expressions of sympathy for the family. Mrs. Tiffany has been suffering from melancholia at intervals for some time. This fact was not generally known, for in her intercourse with her neighbors and friends, Mrs. Tiffany impressed them as being a woman of unusual cheerfulness and vivacity. Last July she went west, accompanied by her husband, on the Christian Endeavor excursion. They extended the trip in order to visit relatives in the far west. Since her return from the trip the spells of melancholia have been more frequent and of longer duration.

Sunday night she was not feeling well, and Monday was acting strangely all day. She did not get up Tuesday morning, but lay in bed in a weak condition, speaking only when come one asked her a question. Mr. Tiffany's son, who is a physician, was visiting the family. He warned them that Mrs. Tiffany exhibited symptoms of insanity, and might, if left alone, attempt to take her life. For that reason a close watch was kept over her.

About half past seven Tuesday evening Mr. Tiffany had gone to his store, and Dr. Tiffany and his sister, Miss Della Tiffany, were sitting by Mrs. Tiffany's bedside. At that moment, with an insane cunning, she planned her death. She asked the doctor to bring her some fresh water from the well. She then remarked to Miss Tiffany on the closeness of the room, and asked her to open the outside door for a few minutes, and added: "You need a breath of fresh air, too. You had better step outside for a minute."

Miss Tiffany unsuspectingly followed her suggestion. The instant she was left alone an insane strength came to her limbs. She sprang from her bed and ran up stairs to the room occupied by Mr. Tiffany's assistant, who boards with them. There she seized an open-edged razor and lying down on the she drew it across her throat with savage fierceness. She made four gashes, the last penetrating clear to the vertebrae.

Miss Tiffany was gone but a minute, but when she returned to the room, she was astounded to find the bed empty. She called to her brother, and as soon as he learned the situation he feared the worst. With all possible haste a light was procured and the house was searched. They found her in the upper room, lying in a pool of blood, dead. The terrible work of the razor had been a most instantly fatal.

Mrs. Tiffany killed herself on the tenth anniversary of her marriage. She was Mr. Tiffany's second wife, and married him just before they came to South Manchester. Their life had been one of exceptional harmony and no serious trouble of any kind had during the ten years disturbed the serenity of her life. She had, however, a year previous to her marriage, been seriously ill, and her physical weakness affected her brain, so that at one time she was carefully watched, for fear that she might do violence to herself. This illness finally yielded to treatment, and left her in excellent health. The only approach to it, except this last attack, has been when she has been slightly ill or indisposed, when she would suffer from melancholia.

When Dr. Tiffany arrived Monday night he found Mrs. Tiffany in a stupor, and upon examination thought she must be under the influence of a strong opiate. No one in the family, however, knew of her having had access to anything of the kind. Since her death, however, a bottle of morphine pellets has been misused from the family medicine chest. It is not improbable that she had taken them in her insane desire to end her life.

Mrs. Tiffany was born in the south, but came north with her family after the war. Her father is John Hale, of Hartford, and she leaves a brother, Leonard Hale, in Hartford, and another brother in San Francisco. Her sister, who lived with her in South Manchester for a time, and was known as Miss Lucy Hale, has since married and lives in Wisconsin, where Mr. and Mrs. Tiffany recently visited her.

Mrs. Tiffany's death will be a serious loss to the Center Congregational church, of which she was an active member. She was also a member of the Christian Endeavor society. She was active in the benevolent work of the church, and was also liberal with private aid to the poor.

The funeral will be held at the residence of Mr. Tiffany on Main street, Friday, at 12.30. Rev. C. H. Barber will conduct the service. The burial will be at Spring Grove cemetery, Hartford.

Thos. Wendhiser, a painter, of Rockville, met with what proved to be a fatal accident last Wednesday. He broke his leg while fooling with a friend. Dr. Leonard set the bone and at first Wendhiser seemed to be getting along nicely, but a complication of diseases set in and he died early Monday morning.

BACK TO THEIR BOOKS.

Schools Begin Tuesday -- Busy Days ahead for the South School—Complete List of Teachers.

Fifteen hundred children in Manchester will wash their faces and start for school next Tuesday morning. They have had a long vacation, and they will not get another rest until Christmas time. They will have a recess of only two days at Thanksgiving. Manchester's schools grow better every year. A large majority of the teachers employed are normal school graduates and are therefore thoroughly educated in the art of teaching.

AT THE SOUTH SCHOOL.

The change of methods adopted at the South school has amounted to a revolution. The plan, which was experimental last year, has worked so well that it will be amplified this year. It embodies the careful grading of the school and the employment of normal teachers alone in the primary and intermediate departments. The conductors of the New Britain normal school will, as last year, have the sole direction of all the rooms beneath the grammar grade. The teachers in these lower grades will all be furnished by the normal school and, with two exceptions, without expense to the school district. The head primary teacher and the head kindergarten, though employed by the normal school, will be paid by the district. The other teachers will be the advanced pupils from the normal school who take these schools, under the direction of experienced teachers, for the practical experience, which they consider the most valuable feature of their course at the normal school.

The South school profits greatly from the aid it receives from the normal school. The most modern methods of instruction are taught in the state normal school, and as the teachers here are still pupils there, it will be seen that they are continually in touch with their masters who in turn are continually on the lookout for the newest educational ideas. The plan moreover secures for the South school not only better teachers than it might otherwise have, but also more of them. There are always young teachers at New Britain waiting for a chance to come to South Manchester and the South school, with a waiting supply of teachers can therefore subdivide its rooms so that no teacher will be overburdened. Furthermore, if one

The South school will register about 700 pupils the coming term. They will be taught by a force of 28 instructors—six more than last year. Principal Collins will retain his old position. His assistant of last year, Miss Hazeltine, will be succeeded by Miss Harris, an experienced teacher from Maine. These two will have charge of the high school department which for the next year, will consist of two classes. As each year will add a class to this department and as no class will be graduated until after a four-years course, this department will steadily increase in numbers and by another year will require an additional teacher.

Principal Collins will also have the direction of the grammar department, consisting of three rooms. Miss Starkweather, Miss Gray and Miss Joyce will teach in this department; the first two had the same rooms last year; Miss Joyce was in the primary department. All the intermediate and primary rooms will be under the direction of Miss McConkey, who comes from Pennsylvania to succeed Miss McMichael. Miss Weed will teach the highest class in the intermediate department. There will be ten other teachers in the intermediate department and six in the primary department—all furnished by the normal school. These will be changed three or four times during the year.

The Kindergarten will be under the direction of Miss Minor, a normal school graduate, who will have two or three assistants, these also changing at intervals.

THE NORTH SCHOOL.

Principal Lyman will return to the North school. There will be but three new faces among the teachers there. Mrs. Morgan, from Abington takes Miss Sweet's place and Miss Parker comes up from the South school to take the new overflow room in the studio building. The corps of teachers will be as follows: Room 6, Mr. Lyman and Miss Golway; room 5, Miss Wheeler; room 4, Mrs. Morgan; room 3, Miss Tuohy; room 2, Miss Latham; room 1, Miss Jacob; studio room, Miss Parker. The grade of Miss Parker's room will be between rooms 3 and 2. All the pupils will meet in the main building Tuesday morning and those who are to be taught in the annex will then be designated.

OTHER DISTRICTS.

Mrs. Wolcott will return to the upper department of the Buckland district; Miss Clark, of Vernon, will take the primary department.

Miss Ida Griswold, last year at the Manchester Green school, will teach in the west district.

Miss Alexander, of the fourth district school last year, was engaged for the Keeney street school but, owing to a freak of the committee man, Mrs. Ethan O. Strong will teach the school.

The South Main street school will be taught by Miss Blanche Taylor and Miss Chaffee, the latter from the Northfield seminary.

Miss Macdonald, from Colchester, will teach the Porter district school.

The two teachers at Manchester Green will be Miss Newell and Miss Edith Arnold, both of whom are normal school graduates.

Miss Jones, an experienced teacher from Westchester will teach the Oakland school.

Testing the Water Pressure.

A communication has been sent to the Manchester Water company, signed by the members of the Eighth district school committee asking permission to attach a water pressure gauge to their pipes at Patten & Brown's drug store. Mr. Childs, the secretary of the company, has informed the committee that he can give them no answer until a full meeting of the directors has been held, and as Mr. Foulds, president of the company, is in the Adirondacks, the meeting must be postponed until he returns.

It will be remembered that a few of the district tax payers, who were anxious to learn whether the Water company was living up to its contract with the district by furnishing the required pressure, raised money to buy a water gauge. When it arrived, Mr. Childs was out of town on a western trip and Mr. Aitkin, the corporation plumber, declined to permit the purchasers to apply the gauge to a hydrant.

When a Herald man interviewed Mr. Childs a day or two ago he said that he was willing to give the district a fair test at any time. He was not willing, however, on his own responsibility, to allow outsiders to make the test under conditions of their own choosing.

Mr. Childs said that the Water company had attached a water gauge to the hydrants on Depot Square recently and the test had shown that the pressure was several pounds heavier than the company agreed to furnish. In other words, the contract with the district called for a pressure of 63 pounds and the test showed an actual average pressure of 69 pounds.
