ABOUT TOWN.

Home grown strawberries have appeared in the market.

Twenty persons united with the South Methodist church Sunday.

Mrs. Isaac Berry, of Holyoke, is the guest of Mrs. C. H. McKee.

Who will be the first Manchester wheelwoman to wear bloomers?

James Quinn has sold his mare "Daisy," formerly owned by Dr. Parker, to George F. Day.

Hartford banks now close at noon Saturdays in accordance with the new law providing for a half holiday.

The first quarterly conference of the North Methodist church will be held this evening at 7.30. Rev. G. H. Bates, the presiding elder, will be present.

The Tramway company have completed a 250-foot siding at the top of McKee hill east of Adams street. It will come in handy when cars resume the half-hour schedule.

About 350 cords of wood a short distance south of Laurel Park was burned Sunday afternoon. Much of the wood was white pine and it burned with a dense smoke that was visible for many miles.

John F. Sheridan has leased of George H. Allen the coal and wood yard formerly occupied by Henry L. Vibberts, and will continue the business, carrying practically the same lines Mr. Vibberts handled.

Henry Schiller while intoxicated made a disturbance at his home, corner Spruce and Maple streets. He was arrested on complaint of his neighbors and fined $2 and costs by Justice Benton Monday morning.

The Center church will hold a strawberry festival on the lawn between the church and the town hall about the middle of the month. A meeting was held last evening to fix the date and other particulars.

The residents about Depot square would like to know why the driver of the 7.58 p. m. train from Hartford brings his engine into Manchester station every night with both pops lifted and blowing off.

Joseph Martin has resumed work as driver for F. C. Smith, of the Manchester Green stage line, after a three months absence. His brother George who has been driving for him has been employed.

Shaw Jr., aged 32, was arrested by Officer Brink Saturday night, for making a disturbance on the street while drunk, and taken to the lock-up.

Monday morning he was fined $7 and costs by Justice Benton, total $26.88. He was unable to pay and went to jail.

The business address of The Herald is Manchester, not South Manchester. Those sending communications to this office will do well to bear this in mind.

Matter addressed to South Manchester always reaches us but is sometimes delayed until too late for publication in the next edition.

The order of service at St. Bridget's church next Sunday will be: 1st mass at 8.30 a. m.; Sunday school at nine a. m.; high mass at 11 a. m.; vespers at 4.15 p. m. A clergyman from Hartford will officiate at the 11 o'clock service.

Fr. Gragan will conduct mass at Vernon at ten o'clock. Wednesday, Friday and Saturday are fasting days.

Herbert Waldo is taking a course of treatment at the gold cure. "Herb" has been employed by Cheney Brothers as machinist for many years. He is a good workman and a well-meaning fellow, but rum has for a long time been his enemy. His many friends sincerely hope that his treatment will prove effective.

At the meeting of the newly organized chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution held at Cheney hall Saturday afternoon, it was voted to call the organization Orford Parish chapter.

An interesting paper on Revolutionary times was read by Miss Alice B. Cheney. Light refreshments were served. No more meetings will be held until cooler weather.

The new temporary bridge over the Connecticut river will, it is expected, be completed within the next four days.

Trolley cars will cross the bridge early next week. The Manchester cars will then make half-hourly trips and a new timetable will be issued. With the new open cars running, each of which will carry nearly twice as many passengers as the closed cars, the service to Hartford will be all that could be desired.

A night like Saturday night gives one a better idea of the population of our pretty town than might be obtained in ordinary weather. It was so warm that everyone who could get out of doors did so. The streets both north and south were lined with people. Dispensers of soda and ice cream were kept busy, particularly the former. The rush was so great that several druggists ran out of the beverage entirely. We guess it is no exaggeration to say hundreds of gallons were consumed.

Rev. Julian S. Wadsworth has placed a settee at the South Manchester terminus of the electric road.

Rev. D. A. Haggerty began the taking of the annual collection and census in his parish Monday evening.

Patrick Gorman is digging the cellar for George McCormick's new house on Center street. J. E. Hawley has the contract.

There was a fight at the north end Friday night in which one man received severe injuries. It is rumored arrests will follow.

Frank Rood, who has been feeling poorly for the past month has gone to bed sick. Charles Benton is in charge of the express business.

J. E. Hawley is building an addition on the east side of Orion Treat's needle shop. When it is completed the engine will be moved from the main shop and set up there.

The Buckingham strawberry festival will be given Wednesday evening of next week. This is an event of as much interest to Manchester people as to those in Buckingham.

The terms of service of Musician James O'Brien, Sergt. Ralph Russell and Private Gustave Birath have expired and they have been honorably discharged from Company G.

Cheney Bros. have sold a building lot on Center street to William Russell. James H. Albiston has sold 47 1-2 acres of wood land in the south part of the town to Frank Cheney Jr.

Gov. Coffin has approved the act incorporating the Manchester Trust and Safe Deposit Co. It is now almost certain that Manchester will have a bank within a year or two.

The meeting of Sunset Rebekah Lodge Monday evening was of a social character. Songs were given by W. S. Hutchison and William Carr. a violin duet by Miss Alice Emmons and Miss Edna Hollister, and a farce in which several members participated.

Mrs. Sophronia Brown, aged 88, mother of Mrs. William C. Graham, of this place, died at her home in Bolton Sunday. The funeral was yesterday forenoon at 10.30. The body was brought to Manchester and shipped to Forestville for burial.

The horses sent from the South Manchester Hackney Stand to the Philadelphia show last week arrived here Sunday morning. The mare S. and Ivy took first and second prizes respectively in the only class they were entered in, that for brood mares over 15 hands.

The Terpsichorean club will give its first dance in the hall in the Orford Hall hotel this evening. This is the first of a series of dances which will be given bi-weekly throughout the summer. The club's officers are: President, O. J. Atwood; secretary, C. O. Lord; treasurer, Frank Belcher.

Samuel Van Blarcom, who married Miss Jennie Fallow, daughter of James S. Fallow, of 63 Main street, last New Year's day died at his home in Paterson, N. J., last Wednesday after an illness of twelve weeks. He was 22 years old. His funeral was held at his home Sunday afternoon.

No circus that ever visited Hartford had as many Manchester people among its patrons as did Buffalo Bill's Wild West show Monday afternoon and evening. The attendance from the south end was especially large. At the north end the superior attractions of the school meeting kept at home those who would otherwise have attended.

The managers of the Lozier Manufacturing company are expected in town this week and have promised to meet the committee of the Board of Trade on their arrival. The Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance company have offered them the lease of the Union mill on the same easy terms they gave Harmel Brothers, and there is more than an even chance that they will take it.

The extremely hot weather had an effect on the audience at the South Methodist church Sunday evening. Rev. Mr. Wadsworth's lecture on Palestine was much enjoyed. Nearly all the audience remained after its close to hear selections from the oratorio The Messiah played by Miss Mabel Frost on the pipe organ. The beauties of the instrumentation of this great work were well brought out and music-lovers in the audience had a rare treat. It is to be hoped Miss Frost will continue to give organ recitals.

Over half of the charter members of the ladies' auxiliary to Manchester division, No. 1, A. O. E., were present at the meeting Sunday afternoon, and letters were received from many of the others explaining their absence. Those present were initiated by County Organizer Kelleher. The following officers were elected: President, Miss Eva Brassill; vice president, Miss Maria Magneil; financial secretary, Mrs. Zoe Mahoney; treasurer, Mrs. Ellen McCann.

There isn't as much said about the lobby influence in the last legislature as there was three months ago. Early in the present session there was serious talk of investigating the lobby of 1893, but that talk has died out forever. Compared with the lobby of 1893 that of the preceding legislature fades into insignificance. As the session approaches its close the measures of real importance draw near their fate. Now the mighty influence of the lobby is apparent and some astute lawmakers are not able to hold the same opinion over night. The people of Connecticut wanted and expected to get several important pieces of legislation. But they are bound to be disappointed because the lobbyists decrease otherwise. We recall no other session of the General Assembly so dragged about by the nose by the lobby as this one of '95 which opened the session with such an assumption of honest independence.

Latest Phases of the Bridge Question.

Our readers may expect within a few days a radical change in the bridge legislation already enacted. It is generally admitted that the law passed last week was not intended to be final but was passed precipitately to get the bridge off the state's hands and to prevent the commissioners from incurring any more obligations in the name of the state. There is a strong sentiment in the legislature in favor of releasing Manchester, Glastonbury and South Windsor from the burden of building and maintaining the bridge.

It is more than possible that Senator Crosby's bill placing the expense on Hartford and East Hartford in proportion to their grand lists will become a law. East Hartford would rather submit to this division than that apportioning the expense on the five towns, for the assessment on that town would be decreased. Hartford would, of course, have to pay by far the greater part of the bridge bill, but this would be no more than fair, and Hartford will not be likely to offer any serious objection in case the city has the privilege of saying who shall build the bridge, where it shall be located and what the plan of construction shall be.

Undoubtedly the Berlin Bridge company could, if it chose, enforce its contract with the state. But if Hartford wants to build another and a better bridge probably that company would waive its claim upon the state for the sake of building a bridge for Hartford. The state has already made provision for reimbursing the Berlin Bridge company for work done up to this time on the state contract. Nevertheless, whether the bridge company cares to contest the case or not, the five towns, or any of them, can force the matter into the courts, with a good chance of winning, if they are aggrieved by their treatment at the hands of the legislature. In that event no bridge would be built this year. The temporary bridge would not stand the stress of winter weather and traffic across the river would of necessity be suspended a good part of the winter. Hartford tradesmen could better afford to submit to taxation in order that the city might build the bridge than to suffer the loss of east side trade for any considerable period.

Mr. Bulkeley and the Bridge Middle. (Cor. Springfield Republican.) No one doubts that Mr. Bulkeley is able to design a suitable way out of the difficulty. The trouble is that his interest has from the beginning been opposed to that of most of the people of Hartford, and is still just what it has been. He is therefore an eminently dangerous guide in this matter. But it is likely to be the same old story; opposition that does not take the trouble to make a rational practical plan, but clamors and then sulks while the man who has used his brains to get what he wants obtains it and unbrained spectators have to admit that he won it by his bow and spear.

Sons of Temperance.

There will be a meeting of the third district division Sons of Temperance, in Hartford Thursday, June 13. This district includes the divisions in South Manchester, Manchester, Hartford and Rockville.

South Manchester division will have an entertainment in Cheney hall Friday evening, June 21, if the hall can be secured. A literary program will be given and refreshments of ice cream and cake will be served.

E. L. G. Hohenthal will attend the national convention in Cleveland July 10.

Miss Mary Dwyer, daughter of Patrick Dwyer, of 97 Spruce street, and Stephen Tobin, of Rockville, will be married at St. James church this morning at nine o'clock.

Charles Ratenburg has torn away the shed on the south side of his Main street blacksmith shop and is grading the ground where it stood. His next move will be the building of a new shop in the rear of his present one.

EIGHTH DISTRICT'S ANNUAL.

Old Ticket Re-elected With Two Changes.

It was nearly eight o'clock and about 150 persons, of whom nearly a dozen were women, were present when W. B. Covill, chairman of the district committee, called the meeting of the eighth school district to order Monday night. Dr. Whiton was elected chairman.

The reports of the committee and treasurer were read and accepted. The treasurer's report showed that the expenses for the year ending with the present term were, up to date, $13,872.64 with $668 still to be paid for teachers' salaries not yet due. The principal items outside of the regular expenses of the school were, new building, $4,186; grading grounds, $411.50; hose cart and appliances, $371; water, $1,300. The district has borrowed $5,500 during the year, and has $52.44 in the treasury. It is in debt $8,547.37.

The election of officers was next taken up. It was known that there were two tickets in the field and that both sides had been doing some lively electioneering. The old committee was W. B. Covill, A. L. Brown and T. P. Aitkin. Mr. Aitkin had refused to accept a re-nomination. C. W. Cowles nominated the following ticket: W. B. Covill, A. L. Brown, Henry H. White for committee; Whitmore Emmons, clerk and treasurer; Edward E. Segar, collector, in place of Sylvester Skinner.

Mr. Cowles spoke in complimentary terms of the work of the old committee. The nomination was seconded by R. P. Bissell, who referred to the criticism of extravagance. Mr. Bissell said that if there was to be any economizing done it ought to be done in the ninth district not in the eighth. The best teachers of the eighth district were being continually hired by other schools at increased pay. He cited Miss Starkweather and Miss Strong as examples. No other nominations were made. The chair appointed Dr. F. A. Sweet and G. H. Hall tellers, and the meeting proceeded to an informal ballot, the ladies voting first. The count showed 138 ballots. Of these W. B. Covill had 109, A. L. Brown 111, H. H. White 111, Whitmore Emmons 138, Edward E. Segar 138. J. T. Robertson had 80 for chairman of district committee, Sylvester Skinner 27 for second place and John Curran 28 for third place. On motion of J. T. Robertson the ballot was made formal and unanimous.

A resolution was introduced that the district's expenses for water, hydrants and hose be made a separate account and authorizing the purchase of books for the same. This was indefinitely postponed.

The usual salaries were voted to the different officials. It was voted to teach music in the school as last year, the matter to be left in the hands of the committee.

C. W. Cowles said he had been asked by several of the residents of North street to have a section placed in the warning asking that the Water company extend their main up North street 500 feet and that a hydrant be placed at the corner of North and Golway streets. Mr. Cowles said he had forgotten it and he now asked the district to do it, trusting that at some future meeting they would reimburse the company. There was a long discussion over this. It was the opinion of many that no such action could be taken, as it was manifestly illegal. All expressed themselves as in favor of the residents of the street having water. The resolution was finally withdrawn and the meeting adjourned at 9.30 sine die.

Early Train to Be Restored.

The managers of the New England road have yielded to the general demand for the restoration of the seven o'clock a. m. train from Hartford and announce that it will be re-established next Monday morning.

Valuable Horses Burned.

Trainer E. F. Bass's stables at the Williamatic fair grounds were burned Sunday. Fourteen trotters were in the barn at the time. A yearling colt by Kremlin, valued at $1,000 and owned by E. H. Moulton, of Windham, and a colt, two years old, by Alcyo, valued at $500, and owned by W. S. Crane, of Williamatic, were burned to death. The loss is $4,000, partly covered by insurance.

May Be Drawn as Jurors.

Selectmen Watkins and Williams, Justices S. M. Benton and J. M. Burke and Constable Hohenthal were the only town officers to meet at the town hall Monday afternoon to elect jurors for the ensuing year. The following jurymen were chosen: George W. Ferris, Warren Taylor, R. M. Rood, H. R. Fitch, R. W. Pitkin, A. Willard Case, George Davidson, A. E. Skinner, Henry Slater, Joseph Albiston, F. W. Mills, F. D. Hale, C. I. Balch, W. E. Hibbard, B. A. Cadman, Norman Loomis, F. E. Watkins, Joseph C. Carter, William Monroe, John M. Carney, W. S. Hutchinson, E. N. Stanley, Roderick House, George E. Slater, Aaron Johnson, Frank Cheney Jr.

JUNE WEDDINGS.

Loomis-Smith.

Miss Isabella Smith, daughter of Mrs. Jane Smith, of 15 School street, and Keeney B. Loomis, eldest son of John Loomis, of Keeney street, were married at the home of the bride last evening by Rev. Julian S. Wadsworth. The ceremony was performed under a beautiful arch of roses in the front parlor, which was handsomely decorated with flowers and potted plants. Fifty invited guests witnessed the ceremony.

The bride was robed in an elegant costume of white silk adorned with pearl trimming and wore a white rose in her hair. The bridesmaid, Miss Clara E. Loomis, sister of the groom, was also attired in white. Mr. Norman Camp, of Newington, was best man.

As the bridal party entered the room, a wedding march was played by Miss Grace Davis, pianist of the ninth district school, who also rendered some fine selections during the evening.

After the ceremony had been performed the guests adjourned to the dining room where a wedding supper was laid, after which games, music and general merrymaking were indulged in until a late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Loomis will begin housekeeping at once in their own home on Keeney street. They were the recipients of many costly and useful presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin S. Brainard have issued invitations for the wedding reception of their daughter Emily Louise, who is to be married to Frank Cobb, of Boston, Monday evening, June 17th. The reception will take place at the residence of the bride's parents 157 Main street from eight to nine in the evening.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Carrier for the marriage of their daughter, Jennie Agnes, to Mr. William McNicol, of New York, Tuesday evening, June 18th at seven o'clock.

A Wealthy Fakir.

A traveling seller of shoeblacking, assisted by a companion who twanged the banjo and sang comic songs of greater or less antiquity, entertained a large crowd on Depot square Saturday night. He began by referring to the treatment the gold watch fakirs recently received at the south end. He commended the action of the crowd. "That's right," he said; "that's the way to use 'em if they don't act on the square." He followed these moral reflections by a statement of his wealth, which was somewhere in the millions, the high wages paid in his factory and many other self laudatory remarks calculated to gull the innocent and trusting among his auditors. He did not do a large business and it seemed a pity that a man of his attainments and wealth should be so slightly appreciated.

A Boulevard of Main Street.

The road commissioners are trying to devise some plan for the treatment of Main street from the Center south to Park street. When the trees were cut down and the street was graded on the east side to make room for the tramway on the west side, it was found there was far more space within the limits of the highway than is needed for the purpose of travel. We have heard the wish expressed by several persons that the unused part of the highway might be turned into a grass plot.

If this were done, there would be a lawn at least thirty feet wide and nearly quarter of a mile long extending through our principal street. It would be a fine ornament to the locality and would add to the attractiveness of the place to those coming into town on the tramway. Selectman Watkins says it is possible this plan may be carried out this fall. The chief difficulty will be to obtain soil enough to cover the gravel which was carted in when the street was graded. There is plenty of rich earth beneath the gravel, but unfortunately it cannot be reached as easily now as before the fill was made.

Henry Kohn & Sons.

The announcement of Henry Kohn & Sons, which appears in our columns today, is that of Hartford's leading jewelry house, who occupy two floors of a spacious store on Main street and carry a full stock of everything in their line from the richest and most costly to a multitude of charming creations, quite within the reach of those of very modest purses. The choicest and most acceptable of wedding gifts, diamonds, watches of every desirable style, thousands of articles of bric-a-brac, all beautiful and artistic, are always on exhibition making the store a favorite resort for a multitude of visitors, who find the hour spent a most enjoyable one, whether they purchase or not, for the Kohns seem to take a real pleasure in extending a hearty welcome and the utmost courtesy to every new comer. The buyer can always depend upon securing just what he bargains for, and the prices, like the goods, are honest ones, representing only a fair, living profit.

The Woodland gun club, which recently organized with Clinton Pitkin as president and E. A. Cushman as secretary, held a clay pigeon shoot on the club grounds on the Middle Turnpike near McLean hill Saturday afternoon. The club will meet every two weeks throughout the season.

Maltase

A NON-INTOXICATING, DIGESTIVE, NOURISHING, SPARKLING, DELICIOUS, REFRESHING DRINK. MALTASE is superior to all other drinks, and regarded by prominent physicians as the healthiest tonic for the public in general, because its sparkling taste is delicious, and it is of the most digestive and nourishing character. It is a refreshing drink at all times, and non-intoxicating; children can drink it as well as people troubled with nervousness and disorder of the stomach. It is of great benefit to the system to drink Maltase instead of other beverages and intoxicating drinks. JACOB KIRCHNER, Rockville, Conn. Agent for Tolland and Hartford Counties. LATEST FASHIONS.

DECORATIVE FANCIES IN GOWNS AND IN CAPES.

Huge Sleeves and Widely Flaring Skirts. Ribbons and Lace Play an Important Part in Dress Garniture—Recent Novelty in Materials—This Season's Capes.

Huge sleeves and widely flaring skirts are familiar manifestations of the mode, so this panorama of fashion must be distinguished chiefly for its infinite variety in detail rather than novelty in general outline. Decorative fancies are running with a loose rein through all the preparations for summer gayeries. Quantities of lace, spangles and ribbon are used, with fancy silks, velvets and openwork embroidery without end, to help on fashion.

STYLISH GOWNS OF CREPON.

Ribbons of all widths, colors and designs play an important part in dress decorations, and especially new are the wide satin ribbons plaited on one edge in the weaving, so that as the plaits open another shade or a flowered stripe is seen. Reversible colored ribbons have black edges, shot ribbons are striped with black, and there are ribbons, with velvet edges, with valenciennes lace on the edge, and with gauffered stripes like the silks and crepons.

Chiffons are still well to the front in all matters of dress, but the latest novelties are figured in dainty flower patterns or striped with silk on the edges, making it very pretty and useful for frills and ruffles. Grass lawn, either embroidered in an openwork pattern or applique with handsome lace, is a distinctive feature of dress trimmings, and, like lace, it is used on the plain dark woolen gowns as well as on light silks and the thinner summer dresses.

The fashion for real lace is a happy one for the woman who is on the down side of life, providing she is favored with a good supply, for plenty of soft, creamy lace or fine black lace smooths out the lines in a most magical sort of way. Among the new laces is the broderie anglaise, which is very popular. It comes in pale cream and butter tints as well as a decided shade of leather color. Laces with both edges alike are very fashionable for skirt trimmings, put on in bands from the hem to the waist. Nearly all the new laces have a new ground, with either guipure borders or spotted in patterns, like brussels or horton. Another novelty is muslin embroidery applied to the net.

Lisse, interwoven with satin ribbon, is another novelty which is employed for accordion plaiting, and rows of tiny spangles are sometimes sewed on the edge of the plaits with charming effect. Transparent materials of all kinds and descriptions are a necessary part of the present theory of dress, and chiffons and gauzy crapelite stuffs are to be had in great variety. The latest black grenadines have flowery stripes of color and are also interwoven with colors. In silks there is a new weave which has the effect of a cord, and yet it is plain to the touch. It comes figured, plain and striped, and is very pretty in light colors for evening dresses.

There seems to be no limit to the variety of crepons, and amid all the waved and crinkled surfaces which have become so familiar is a new arrival of black transparent crepon with stripes of colored fluted ribbon running through it. Others have a serpentine pattern of black on colored grounds. Alpaca, with its smooth, glossy surface, is a relief to the eye, and very stunning gowns are made of it. Large plaits generously mixed with contrasting colors are much used for waists, and very chic these are.

An example of ribbon as dress trimming is charmingly illustrated in a dress of cream and brown striped gauze crepon. Straps and rosettes of brown satin ribbon form a panel on one side of the skirt and appear again in the sleeves, and the bodice has narrow plaits of ribbon down either side. The yoke is of cream satin embroidered with brown beads, which also forms the lower sleeve.

A stylish dress of brown crepon has a bodice of pale ecrus lace over brown satin, crepon sleeves and a wide collar of ecrus linen batiste, trimmed with a single row of openwork insertion. Bands of black satin ribbon down the front are caught in at the belt with a jet butterfly, and the standing collar of ribbon has a large, wide bow at the back.

Changeable taffetas are being made up into summer gowns, without any stiff interlining to ruin the graceful swing of the full skirt, which is made like the muslins, with a separate silk or lawn underpetticoat attached at the belt and entirely separate at the bottom. A new and pretty lawn, which is used for blouses, fronts and dainty collars for these summery dresses, has a braid lace applique on it.

But gowns, even with all their variety in trimming, are not the only important article of dress, for the capes are out in a bewildering variety of styles. The jaunty little collet is perhaps the most chic garment. A double cape of velvet, which may be of any dark color, is trimmed on the edge with guipure lace, and the upper collar is of satin, entirely covered with the lace. Novel ends of velvet, edged with lace, imitate a cravat. A pretty cape of black velvet is trimmed with points of cream lace in front and back from the neck down, and deep frills of black accordion plaited chiffon over the shoulders, finished with bows of black satin ribbon. The ruche of chiffon at the neck has curls and rosettes of ribbon in front. According to the New York Sun, authority for the foregoing, one bow of two loops, two ends and a knot made of four inch ribbon has quite superseded the frills and rosettes of narrower ribbon worn at the back of the collars so much during the winter. This wide bow appears in all the latest ruches of black chiffon and net for the neck.

HOMEMADE AWNINGS.

These Afford Protection From the Direct Rays of the Sun at Small Expense.

When the direct rays of the sun strike a window, it is always well to have some kind of a protection, particularly for south and west windows. Vines make a good awning, but if trained close to the window, as usually done, they keep out the air as well as the sun. The old New England Homestead gives an illustration of how this may be prevented by a light frame or hood attached to the upper part of the window, reaching at least one-third of the way down, and extending out about 18 to 20 inches from the window casing. The vines should then be trained over this frame, and will thus allow a free circulation of air and exclude the sun at the same time.

Cheap awnings may be made at home that will protect the windows almost as well as those costing several dollars a window. Buy wide striped bed ticking, 1 1/2 yards for each window. Scallop and bind one end. Make a frame by nailing to each side of the window a strip about two inches wide and 20 inches long. To the ends of these nail a strip the same width and of length to reach across. Then tack the upper end of the awning cloth to the top of the window. Stretch tightly and tack securely to the projecting frame below, which should be about midway between the top and bottom of the window. Allow about a quarter of a yard of the scalloped end to hang over the frame.

Cleaning Kid Gloves.

Stretch the glove on your hand. Have abundance of clean flannel or cotton near. With a little benzine on a small piece of flannel go over the entire glove, finger by finger. As soon as the flannel becomes soiled exchange it for a clean piece. Do not use enough benzine to saturate the leather, but simply enough to clean off the soiled spots. Rub the glove from the finger tips generally downward and upward and not in a circular way or across the leather. After using the gasoline on a spot rub it dry with clean flannel until it seems perfectly dry.

Only the very highest quality of benzine, or better still, of gasoline, can be used. When the gloves are thoroughly cleaned, rub them with a clean flannel and abundance of talcum powder. This powder can be bought of any first class drug store, and 10 cents' worth is ordinarily enough for a year's supply. Rub the leather thoroughly in every part with this talcum powder. This, says the New York Tribune, makes the glove not only pliable and pleasant to wear, like a new glove, but it puts a soft bloom on the leather, which takes away all suggestion of the cleaning process. It cannot, however, restore the gloss on the dressed kid gloves.

Excellent Coconut Fudding.

One quart of stale bread should be broken up fine and soaked for two hours in 3 quarts of cold milk. At the end of that time beat 4 eggs with one-half cupful of sugar and 2 teaspoonfuls of salt and stir into the bread and milk. Then add a cupful of prepared coconut and one-half cupful of finely cut onion. This may be baked in a pudding dish for three-quarters of an hour or may be cooked in the steamer one hour. Serve with creamy or hard sauce.

Household Wrinkles.

Long handled spoons are useful for stirring food without toasting the face. Try a long wire pie fork for taking pies from the oven.

A holder may be so arranged that it may be fastened at the side of the dress from a long piece of tape, in the same way that a dressmaker ties on her scissors.

A wide shelf should be built behind the range on which to set salt and pepper for seasoning, the flour box and for dredging and various other things needed about the stove in cooking.

A remedy for a burn that every one should know is equal parts of lime-water and sweet oil mixed together and applied as often as necessary to keep the burn moist and covered with it.

A little lemon juice or catchup adds a good flavor to stewed meats.

ART OF THE NEEDLE.

STITCHERY HAS BECOME A PROFESSION, NOT A PASTIME.

Artistic Embroidery and Attractive Fancy Work Wrought by Skilled Fingers For a Livelihood—Practical Hints to Amateurs.

Sewing, it would appear, came as naturally to the feminine sex as the care of babies. For generations stitching was so inextricably identified with woman that "work" on feminine lips came to mean nothing but the use of the needle. Until a comparatively recent date it was, in fact, about the only form of work in which convention permitted her to indulge without a loss of dignity. Nothing that men did was meet for her to do. It was not quite "ladylike" that girls should play their brothers' games or that women should relax mind and body after the manner of men; hence women clung with exemplary inaction to their stitching. But all that is changed. There are still some women who impart a placid atmosphere of embroidery, but they are, as a rule, past the period of active youth and have their habitation beyond the city din. But this is not saying that the art of needlework has perished. Indeed there never was a time perhaps when such a quantity of needlework was produced as at present, but much of it comes from the skilled fingers of professional workers who stitch for money, not for love. It has become an art, and the various phases of needlework that fill the homes of the rich are largely the handiwork of those who stitch to live.

In the shops of every city and town is plentiful evidence that needlework has passed from the hands of amateurs to skilled workers, who have assumed it as a serious vocation. But the more perfect the execution the more costly the embroideries, and many women having a desire for the same must ply their own needles. For the benefit of this class a few of the designs to be seen this spring, and of a sufficiently simple and practicable nature to be copied, are here described.

A toilet bag which leaves nothing to be desired was not of the conventional kind, but actually a bag. It was made in this case of fine silk canvas, biscuit colored, while solitary rose blossoms in pairs were embroidered on it in dull red shades. The lining was of dull red brocade. Another delightful bag was made of turquoise blue silk, overlaid with a handsome piece of Danish embroidery on white linen. A sachet remarked was of pale blue satin, worked with yellow daisies, made of bebe ribbon, in the Marie Antoinette style. The true love knot, inseparable from the old yet ever new design, was embroidered in tones of heliotrope. These can of course be made in any color. Another was composed of dull blue bengaline, decorated in a Japanese line design, intercepted with single violets.

The present fashion of hangings of all kinds affords a wide field for the embroiderer. Plush, velvet, satin, silk sheeting and steaten are popular fabrics for this purpose. Used as backgrounds, broider-ies in gold and silver card, couching, chenille, outline silk, rope silk, silk floss, etc., are applied to them. For rooms that receive hard usage the hangings are often of serge, unbleached linen, marine cloths, denims and burlaps. The so called Russian embroidery is akin to the old time cross stitch, easy, effective and not at all trying to the eyesight. Hangings of brown linen, bordered with geometrical designs in red and blue, result in bedroom hangings which are both serviceable and pleasing to the eye.

Of tea-cloths and table doilies there is a vast collection, all sufficiently beautiful to add to the attractions of the 5 o'clock ceremony. Cut from fine linen and hemstitched and wrought in linen or silk, doilies are an exhibit of the minutest skill and care. In these smaller articles the old solid satin stitch is much employed. The edge may be fringed and hemstitched, or a linen fringe may be purchased and applied to the edge. The latter may be purchased at a comparatively small cost in various colors and designs.

One finds in the shops, for the benefit of amateur broiderers, tea and table cloths with artistic patterns stamped thereon ready to be worked. Some show elaborate centerpieces with running borders, while on others needlework appears on the borders only. These stamped patterns are usually worked with linen floss or rope linen. Care should be taken to have the broidered border of a width proportionate to the size of the cover. If the cloth is a yard square, for instance, let the border design be about 3 1/2 inches in width, and for a larger or smaller one vary the width accordingly.

BASE BALL.

South Manchesters at Broad Brook—Laher Made Three Two-Baggers but Could Not Save the Game.

The South Manchesters were defeated at Broad Brook Saturday 24 to 15. The last time the two teams played together, in South Manchester, the home team defeated the Broad Brooks easily. This game might have resulted the same way had the two nines remained the same. The South Manchester team was substantially the same, the only change being that Crooks, of Talcottville, substituted in the absence of Griswold. The Broad Brooks, on the other hand, had six new players, some of them professionals. They were Pinney, of Rockville, who caught, Welch, of last year's Williamantics, Gmshannon, of last year's Hartfords, and Moran—all three late of the Troy, N. Y., state league team, Kelley, of Thompsonville, and Strain, a player of renown.

The South Manchesters put up a fine game in the field with the exception of Crooks at third and Newman at second, whose playing was poor. The Broad Brooks gained a big lead at the start. The features of the game were the fine fielding of Slattery and the battery work of Spillane and Holland. Laher, Sullivan, Slattery and Kelley led at the bat. Laher made three two-base hits. Spillane struck out ten men and Frickman four. Following is the score by innings:

Table with 2 columns: Team, Innings 1-9. South Manchesters: 3 6 2 3 0 1 5 4 0-24. Broad Brooks: 1 0 1 3 2 5 0 2 1-15.

High School Wins. Anyone in South Manchester Saturday night did not need to be told how the game at Mt. Nebo between the Williamantics and South Manchester high school teams resulted. The booming of cannon, the tooting of horns and cheering that were heard at intervals through the evening proved that the South Manchester boys were well pleased at the outcome of the game.

The Williamantics arrived on the 12.20 train, lunched at Covill's and rode to South Manchester on an electric car. Their batting order was as follows: M. Shea 1b, Hickey 3b, Lincoln 2b, Kinney 1 f., Dwyer, c. f., J. Shea, c. f., Jennings P., Bingham s. s., Smith r. f.

The South Manchester team was: Madden l. i., Raby 3b, Davidson s. s., W. Dougan r. f., Keating c. f., Peterson 2b, Arnot p. and 1b, Hills c., R. Dougan 1b and p. In the third inning Raby retired from third base and Peterson took his place. W. Dougan went to second and Bilson took Dougan's place in right field.

The game was one-sided from the start the home team excelling both in the field and at the bat. In the seventh inning the South Manchesters made sixteen runs. The score at the end of the game was 38 to 5.

PERSONAL MENTION.

John Holden, of Enokland, sailed for Europe on the Campana Saturday.

S. M. Sillman and family, of Hartford, were guests of G. H. Howe, Sunday.

C. Tiffany returned Monday night from a visit to his son in Mechanicville.

F. L. Burr, of the Hartford Times, and wife were guests of James R. Pitkin Sunday.

Miss Edith Hazelwood, of 278 Main street, is confined to her bed by a severe attack of rheumatic fever.

W. S. Hutchinson, of King David Lodge I. O. O. F., will attend a meeting of Deputy Grand Masters at New Haven today.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Crowell, of Roxbury, Mass., are the guests of Mrs. Crowell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Willard Case.

Walter Bidwell, who has been so badly off with inflammatory rheumatism and who was thought to be improving, is said to be no better.

Mrs. C. M. House, who has been staying with her sister, Mrs. Edwin Brainard, has gone to Glastonbury for a short visit before returning to her home in the Catskills.

TALCOTTVILLE.

The Juniors expect to go to East Glastonbury next Saturday to play the ball nine of that place.

Mrs. Walter Burdette and family, of Springfield, are visiting her parents in this place.

The quarterly union meeting of the Manchester Christian Endeavor union will be held at the Talcottville Congregational church tomorrow evening. Rev. Mr. Pope, formerly of Manchester, will give the address. The annual election of officers will take place.

In response to a letter from Talcott Brothers, F. E. Dewey, superintendent of the New York and New England railroad writes that the seven a. m. train from Hartford to Boston will be restored, commencing next Monday. This train will stop at Talcottville on flag. This accommodation and courtesy is much appreciated by Talcottville people.

WAPPING.

The Memorial day exercises in this town were of more than usual interest. The South Windsor band came out in the morning and led the veterans in the march to the cemetery, discoursing excellent music, dirge-like, as they entered the cemetery. At South Windsor after the graves had been decorated the church was well filled to listen to an able address by Judge J. A. Stoughton and to songs appropriate for the day. All the exercises partook more of the nature of memorial services than is wont for this day but which is in accord with the spirit of the day and especially with the feelings of surviving citizens.

At the Chautauqua banquet held Thursday evening a full attendance was had and at the table several sentiments were responded to by members. After the supper interesting exercises were engaged in, among which was the presentation of a fine picture to Mrs. W. D. Adams, at whose home, "Sunnyside Parsonage," the circle has held its meetings. There has been a great interest in Chautauqua work among the members this year and it is expected that a still larger number will become members at the commencement of next year. Several members are intending to go to Laurel Park, Northampton, to the Chautauqua meeting the last of July.

The graduation exercises of the high school were well attended. A very pleasant reception was given to the teacher, Miss Lindsay, and the two graduates before the exercises. The two graduates, Mabel Johnson and Mabel Johnson, read essays. Miss Daisy Cowles, of Manchester, gave two very fine piano solos, the school chorus sang and Mrs. Walter Green recited "The Masquerade" in an effective manner. Rev. Mr. Redgrave gave a talk and Rev. Mr. Adams presented the diplomas to the graduates. The high school, under the influence of its former teacher, Miss Merriman, followed by the effective work of Miss S. M. Lindsay, who is well equipped for her duties, is doing a good work for the community.

Rev. Mr. Adams exchanged with Rev. Mr. Betts, of East Glastonbury, Sunday. Rev. Oscar Ostrum preached in the Congregational church an interesting and practical sermon. The public schools closed for the summer vacation last week. Mrs. E. A. Sadd and son, of Worcester, are visiting relatives in this place. Patrons received .033 per space for April cream.

QUARRYVILLE.

Mrs. S. Brown, widow of the late S. A. Brown, died last Saturday evening at the advanced age of 86.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bartlett and Mrs. Atwood of South Manchester were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Maine last Sunday.

E. A. Brownell and J. Seery are to start a feed and livery stable at the Notch. They also contemplate starting a grain store there.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilbur of Hartford spent the sabbath with Mr. and Mrs. George Gardner.

Wm. Brookman and daughter Bertha were in New Britain over Sunday.

Mrs. M. A. Brownell and Miss Eliza Risley are visiting friends in Springfield.

There will be a strawberry festival at the Methodist church Wednesday evening, June 5.

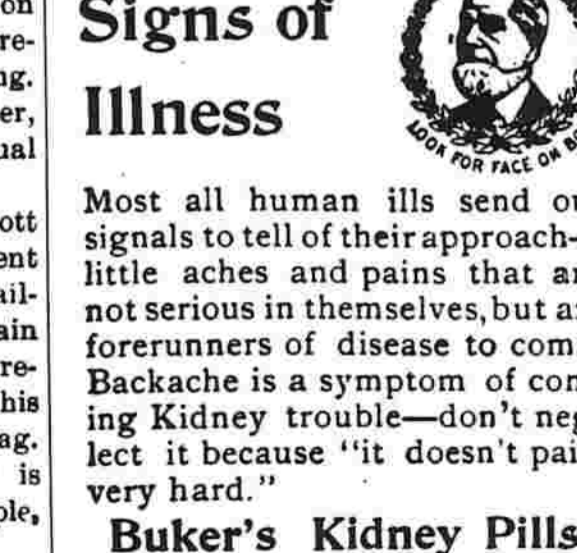

BUCKLEN'S ARNICA SALVE. The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns, and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by C. H. Rose, Manchester and at Cheney's drug store, South Manchester.

Mrs. Harriet Egan, Hinsdale, Ill., writes: Let me say One Minute Cough Cure is a sovereign remedy for croup. My children (I have three) are subject to this dread disease. It comes very suddenly, but One Minute Cough Cure has never failed to relieve at once. I should not feel safe to be without it.

What a Minister says: Rev. R. N. Payne, New Haven, Mo., writes—"Please add my name to the long list of friends to your excellent De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve, its use in my family for several cases of skin eruptions, and sores proved it a perfect healer." Never fails to cure piles.

Recipe For Baked Onions. Select even sized onions. Cover with hot salted water and simmer 30 minutes without removing the outside skin. When ready to bake, carefully remove this thin membranous skin, place the onions in a baking dish and bake until tender, basting often with melted butter. The onions must be thoroughly done, but should not lose their shape.

Blouse For Boy. A blouse for a boy, depicted by The French Dressmaker, is designed to be made in light cloth, with three-hollow plaits in front and two behind. The turn-down collar is trimmed with a Russian stitching, as are also the ends of the necktie. The sleeves, which are quite wide, are gathered below into the cuff, on which is a facing with the same stitching. With this blouse is worn a leather belt with a buckle in front, placed low, and upheld by two brackets under the arms above the level of the hips.

SWEEEPING AND DUSTING.

Helpful Suggestions From Good House-keeping on These Important Duties.

It would be a bold writer indeed who dares to say in this day of universal education that few women have learned to properly sweep and dust a room. Yet there is decided room for improvement. Either the work is done in a listless, half-hearted way, as though it were a mere form which must be gone through daily, and the results of which were of very little importance indeed, or it receives such a superabundance of energy that carpets and sweeping utensils have short life indeed, while every portion of the apartment is filled with the cloud of dust which is raised. The latter settles everywhere in generous measure, and then begins the war with the dusting brush. A few quick passes here and there, whirling the dust afresh into the air, to once more distribute itself over floor, furniture and draperies, then the task is supposed to have been completed for the day. All of this is wrong. The object of both operations is to get the dust out of the room, and to do it as quietly as possible, not to send it floating through the air to seek new resting places, some of which are pretty certain to be in human lungs.

The most dusty room may be swept without rendering it disagreeable by strewn bits of wet paper over the floor, whether covered by a carpet or otherwise. The best way to do this is to immerse ordinary newspaper, or similar paper, in water, squeeze out the surplus, then tear it into bits and scatter about the room. These will attract the greater portion of the dust, leaving very little to float about the apartment. Of course the broom should be used judiciously, so as not to provoke the evil which it is sought to avoid. Tea leaves and other damp substances may be employed where paper is not readily available.

When the sweeping has been completed, and the dust—what little has been raised—has had time to settle, comes the office of the dust cloth, and this is the only article which should be used in a dwelling house for the purpose. A feather duster, as has been vituperously remarked, is efficient for the stage work of the lively songstress who prepares the audience for the entrance of the heroine in a popular play, but in real life its mission is very limited. A soft cloth removes the dust bodily, and it can be washed away not to return. Its way is not to be commended. A great part of the furniture can be easily covered while the sweeping is in progress, and thus, with the use of care, the subsequent operations may be greatly simplified. These are the suggestions which it will repay the average housewife to consider.

Fashions For Boys.

Small boys and girls both dress alike, in white nainsook, until 3 years, when the boy gives the first cold shoulder to frocks by getting into kilts of pique, serge or flannel, with a blouse waist of the same and a reefer jacket for outdoor wear.

The small boy finds a decided innovation in his costume this season in the shape of what are called bloomer knickerbockers. These bag decidedly at the knee, being kept in place by an elastic band. Eton jackets are much in favor, though the sailor suit in all its varieties—with kilts, with knee breeches, with long trousers, with blouses and with reefers—continues popular. Long trousers out in real sailor fashion are immensely becoming to small boys and have brought about the doffing of kilts at a much earlier age than formerly. It is a fashion, however, which, like the late long popular Kate Greenaway frocks for their sisters, is more picturesque for those who look at them than enjoyable for those who wear them. They are not comfortable, as a writer in the New York Times explains, the boy can't run in them well at all. He can't climb a fence without running the risk of being caught by the flare of his trouser legs at the hem, but greater probably than these physical discomforts is the mental one of being derided by "the boys on the block." This is sure to happen if he is the one boy in a neighborhood who appears in these it must be admitted quaint man-o'-war suits.

Select even sized onions. Cover with hot salted water and simmer 30 minutes without removing the outside skin. When ready to bake, carefully remove this thin membranous skin, place the onions in a baking dish and bake until tender, basting often with melted butter. The onions must be thoroughly done, but should not lose their shape.

A blouse for a boy, depicted by The French Dressmaker, is designed to be made in light cloth, with three-hollow plaits in front and two behind. The turn-

With this blouse is worn a leather belt with a buckle in front, placed low, and upheld by two brackets under the arms above the level of the hips.

HINTS TO MUSIC TEACHERS.

Make the Lesson Hour One of Pleasure as Well as Profit to Pupils.

Teachers in small towns and country places have greater difficulties to contend with than the more advanced and higher priced teacher in the city. Although the competition may be just as keen, and probably more so, in the city, I think the pupils who go to the more advanced teacher are, in most cases, more in earnest and go with the intention of making the most of their opportunities. Whereas the town teacher very frequently has pupils come to him who do not care whether they learn or not, and if they do they never get any assistance from home either by word of encouragement or otherwise. In a great many cases the fault lies with the teachers. They do not study the nature and temperament of their pupils and give every pupil the same studies and pieces. In teaching technic they teach the fingers and muscles only, thus making it simply manual labor, and do not appeal to the understanding, which will help to make it a work of pleasure. They forget that the brain controls the fingers.

With a new pupil who is not interested in music and does not like to practice a contributor to The Etude tells that he does not use studies at all for the first few lessons, except perhaps a few finger exercises, which do not impress the pupil as work, but gives something with as pleasing a melody as possible, and then as the pupil begins to think that he is learning something really pretty tries to show how much more artistic he may make it by practicing certain exercises.

In teaching a beginner who is very young and does not like to practice, make it a rule to always have something of interest to tell the pupil, relating, of course, to music. In this way the lesson hour becomes an hour of pleasure as well as profit to the pupil. It may sometimes take a good deal of trouble to do this, but the result will always pay for the extra time spent. The importance of teaching harmony, musical form and history to piano pupils is great.

Shorten the piano lesson and make time for these equally important subjects. Better results will be obtained even in the playing, besides having a broader knowledge of the "art of music."

Whitnot and Wall Pocket. The escutcheon panel is in plain white-wood, covered with pompadour silk and outlined with gold braid, which is also carried on the plush frame in a deeper WHATNOT AND WALL POCKET COMBINED. The fringed shelf is suspended on each side with ribbon, one end of which is knotted in a cluster of loops and the other entwined round each point of the escutcheon, where it forms upright loops. A spray of real or artificial flowers decorate, too, the top. A ribbon torse and bows adorn the fluted pocket in brocade, lined with plain satin.

MERITED REWARD.

SALES OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND.

Unequaled in the History of Medicine. Honesty, Excellence, Faithfulness Fully Rewarded.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

Never in the history of medicine has the demand for one particular remedy for female diseases equalled that attained by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound. It is the demand for it has been so great as it is today.

From Maine to California, from the Gulf to the St. Lawrence, come the glad tidings of woman's suffering relieved by it; and thousands upon thousands of letters are pouring in from grateful women, saying that it will and does positively cure those painful Ailments of Women.

It will cure the worst forms of female complaints, all ovarian troubles, inflammation and ulceration, falling and displacement of the womb, and consequent spinal weakness, and is peculiarly adapted to the change of life.

Backache.

It has cured more cases of leucorrhoea by removing the cause, than any remedy the world has ever known; it is almost infallible in such cases. It dissolves and breaks up the uterus in an expert stage of development, and checks any tendency to cancerous humors. Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills work in unison with the Compound, and are a sure cure for constipation and sick-headache. Mrs. Pinkham's Sanative Wash is frequently found of great value for local application. Correspondence is freely solicited by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., and the strictest confidence assured. All druggists sell the Pinkham's remedies. Meriden's plan for raising money for a new public library is a good one. The citizens are to set aside a certain day for "library day" and their incomes on that day are to be turned into the library fund.

Election returns from a republican quarter at the borough elections in Bristol and Winsted Monday. In Bristol the democrats have only a minority representation and in Winsted the republicans swept everything by a majority of 200.

To Governor Coffin is due the credit of discovering a big fraud in the returns from the Whipple school for the deaf, located at Mystic. Under a private act of the legislature this school has been receiving from the state treasury for several years, an annual appropriation of $175 for each pupil attending the school. The state auditors have not investigated the annual returns from the school and checks have been drawn to correspond with the number of pupils reported, without any question on the part of the state officials, until the governor, smelling a rat, has started an investigation which already presents some startling features. The managers of the school have been systematically bleeding the state for several years by falsifying the returns. Instead of thirty-seven pupils reported in the last bill to the state treasurer, only twenty-six were found. One girl, whose name is on the bill of pupils, has been supporting herself in a mill in Danville for the past six years.

Paskola
A Flesh Forming Food
(Artificially Digested.)
For pale, thin people. The tired and weary feeling which accompanies all wasting diseases will be relieved at once. The wasting will be arrested and new healthy tissue will be formed so that they will become plump and strong. An increase in weight will be noticed at once. It is stimulating although it contains no alcohol. It is assimilated without digestive effort. Paskola supercedes Cod Liver Oil, but has not its repulsive taste. You can buy it at any drug store. Send your name to The Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade St., New York, and get their interesting pamphlet.

NEW ENGLAND ROAD NOTES.
Increased Business—Improvement in Personnel.
The heavy freight business of the New England road shows no abatement, but is rather on the increase. The movement of east bound freight last week was 55 per cent greater than for the corresponding week last year. A few days ago a train of 38 cars loaded with wheat went through here bound for Boston. The train was made up in the East Buffalo yards and came on the road at Fashkill. It ran on a regular schedule and was pulled by two engines as far as Douglas. It is seldom a train loaded exclusively with grain goes through here. This one is said to have been something in the nature of an experiment. It is rumored that the company is endeavoring to secure a share of the through grain traffic and if the handling of this train was satisfactory may do it.
Engine 104, the big 105 ton consolidation compound whose career sheet was blown out about two months ago, was hauled down to the Norwood shops Monday. Rigid investigations have been made by the company's officials and by experts from the Baldwin Locomotive Works, where the engine was built, as to the cause of the explosion, but the results have not been made public. A new firebox has been sent to Norwood by the Baldwin people and will replace the old one. Engineer Noonan who was running the engine at the time of the accident and who had previously been in a number of serious wrecks has given up railroading as being too exciting an occupation and is a candidate for a position on the Hartford police force. As he has a strong pull he will doubtless secure the appointment. The fireman, who was severely injured and whose sight was thought to be permanently impaired, resumed work Wednesday. For years the western division has had a rather shady reputation. The men employed there have not been many of them—of a high class. No one who could possibly hold down a job on the eastern or Springfield divisions would go to the west end. We have known firemen on this division to refuse the position of engineer there, preferring a comparatively quiet life with lower pay on this end to the excitement attending on jumping to avoid collisions there.
But since Supt. Fennell assumed control of that portion of the road there has been a marked improvement. He has sifted out the "Boaters"—men who drifted in from "any old place," to use the vernacular, and after staying long enough to make a "take"—which owing to the heavy business and consequent overtime has not been difficult to accomplish—leaves, making way for his own victim or are discharged for violation of the regulations which they disregarded far too often. Supt. Fennell's class of men would not last long. But this state of affairs no longer exists. Supt. Fennell has now got the men so that they "kinder want to hold their jobs," as one of them expressed it the other day, and he added, "I'd as soon ride over the west end now as any other part of the road."

A NON-INTOXICATING, DIGESTIVE, STIMULATING, SPARKLING, DELICIOUS, REFRESHING DRINK.
MALTASE is superior to all other drinks, and is prepared by prominent physicians as the healthiest tonic for the public in general. It is a refreshing drink at all times, and is especially beneficial to all who are as well as people troubled with nervousness and indigestion of the stomach. It is a benefit to the system to drink Maltase instead of other beverages and soft drinks.
