Why did we commence selling Revere Coffee?

and why do we still keep on? Because it is the most delicious Coffee in the world while its purity and strength are unsurpassed, and with Coffee drinkers when once used it becomes a favorite.

No wonder the sale increases because when the public get a good thing they know it. Very well does the proprietor know that to hold and increase its sale he must forever keep up the high standard of quality as it is sold purely upon its own merits.

SOME MEN

The Christian church read Shakespeare's "Henry V." at its meeting Monday night. Watch night services were held last night at the Division Army barracks and the South Church.

MOST MEN

have heard our line of hardware praised by people who know while there are some who buy their goods without first getting our prices, and the year the ones that stand in their own light.

ALL MEN

who have investigated our stock know the popularity we have gained in the past was earned by merit. We have made a study of the requirements of our trade, and propose during the coming year to keep a still larger stock, a better stock, and a more complete stock in every way.

We look back over our first year with much satisfaction, it has exceeded our fondest expectations, and we feel our efforts have not been in vain. We thank you for your patronage and trust to find their merit your favorable consideration during 1896.

New Year's Gifts.

A few more days left for you to secure some of the special bargains in Holiday Goods at our cut prices. We have several lines that we do not propose to carry over and have marked the same much below cost. Come to our store and see the special bargain tables. Lots of pretty things on them to be sold cheap.

No household complete without either Daboll's or the old Farmers' Almanac. We have them, price 8 cts. each.

Pocket Diaries for 1896. Toys of all kinds.

Good Health

is a priceless boon. It cannot be had with damp feet. Therefore we respectfully call your attention to our shoe with a Metalline Waterproof Sole made from the best of leather. We are confident that we are presenting you something that the public will appreciate, for there has been a long felt need of a flexible shoe with a sole impervious to water. This we warrant in the Metalline Sole.

A common sole on shoes will soon wear through, sending chills to the sole of your feet; but with the Metalline Sole you may walk on cold, wet ground without rubbing - not will not penetrate the sole. Hence you save the cost of rubbers except for deep mud and snow.

Metalline Soles.

are better and less expensive than cork soles. They will not become hard and stiff as do others by being repeatedly wet and dried. You can wear a lighter sole, which gives more elasticity to the shoe, and there are no kind of shoes made to which the cannot be applied. Are not these sufficient reasons why the Metalline Soles are superior in value to all other soles now on the market? None genuine unless stamped with the Metalline Company trade mark.

A WOMAN'S INVENTION.

Mr. John H. Miller, of Syracuse, has invented a wonderful fireman's cap. Mr. Miller put on the cap and entered a combustion chamber filled with smoke that it was impossible to go near the door without protection, and there remained for thirty-five minutes, with the possible chance of getting air from the outside. A fireman connected with the company entered the combustion chamber without the contrivance, and remained there eight seconds before coming into the fresh air, half suffocated and gasping for breath. It was then that Mr. Miller tried the invention and it worked like a charm.

The cap is made of thin strips of asbestos conforming to the shape of the head. It is held fast to the face by a rubber band, making it air tight. Its weight is only 16 ounces, and it is so constructed as to enable a person to carry it on the arm without any inconvenience. There is a strip of mica between the eyes, so no inconvenience is suffered in this respect. A silk sponge through which no smoke can enter, but which permits the ingress of fresh air, is placed at an aperture for the mouth, and when properly adjusted the cap is so simple that its efficacy is apparent at a glance.

When it is understood that firemen are unable to breathe in a smoking building longer than three or four minutes at a time, an invention of this character, which enables a man to breathe in a stifling atmosphere for an hour, certainly reduces the chances of death through suffocation to a minimum.—Syracuse Standard.

"Energy," said the professor, "is never wasted." "I guess," said the young Fresh, "that the old man never went out and has been home for a long time." "I don't see you out fishing Sunday," said Jones to Manabon Howe.

"No," replied the latter, "it's all the fault of the fishes." "Why, that don't prohibit fishing, does it?"

"No, but it closes the saloons so we can't get any bait."—Buffalo Times.

Butley—I told Miss Pucker when she put her lips in position and whistled and caused the old man to make a wild leap to get out of the room. The younger man drew up alongside again and repeated:

"You ride extremely well, sir." "I am a man who turns his head a bit, looked searching through his gold-rimmed spectacles with thick lenses." "I am attending to my own affairs, sir."

The work is trying and the hours long, and if a girl is not hopeful at home she is not likely to be suddenly changed into a capable nurse, merely by donning a becoming uniform.

But with a girl who is fitted for the work, patient and intelligent, the hospital patient is a good chance of getting on in the world.

BI-CYCLE ETIQUETTE.

Will Wheeler Be Reapert? A Question Which Has Been Asked by Many Bicyclists.

The New York Herald long ago published a table giving the "average" cost of the various parts of a bicycle. From which it appears that the actual expense of a hundred dollar wheel is but a few cents over that of the dollar.

On the same line, but in a queer way, the New York Sun has this editorial on the expense of bicycles.

Bicycles are cheaper this year than ever before, but still the bottom figure cannot be reached as yet.

Those who bought a low priced wheel for economy often had to trouble themselves as the result of a breakdown, or spend nearly the machine's price in having it repaired.

Whelan says that their experience with cheap wheels this year had been different. They believe that the very fact of old bicycle makers having made so great a reduction in the price of their wheels, together with the increased facilities for manufacturing, is proof that there is a chance for a still greater drop in price.

A few years ago one invested in a bicycle as he would in a horse or a tractor. He had no intention of selling or trading it at the end of six months. A bicycle was something that was bought once and was used for a long time.

But attracted further attention to him was the fact that when he crossed Fulton street at Bedford avenue—always a dangerous crossing—the rods with his left foot on the coasting guard and only his right foot on the pedals.

"Pretty old man to be showing off like that," said one of the younger men. "Magicians were coming behind the elderly man."

"You see him dodge that wagon. Won't he if the left side of his wheel is disabled?"

"They watched 'Com Paul' as they called him, get into some difficulties as he went northward. He soon dodged in between the tongues of an ice wagon and the wheel of a brewery wagon with the skill of a small boy. The space through which he passed could not have been more than a yard and a half wide. Still he kept his left leg on the coasting guard. Fear of the most skilled riders would have dared to take such chances that he did."

"Pretty one of the younger men could stand it no longer. He rode nearer to the old man and noticed that his left leg was useless, and that the only way 'Com Paul' could ride was by pedaling solely by his right foot. His skill was of such a high order, that the younger man drew up alongside of him and said:

"You ride extremely well, sir." "I am a man who turns his head a bit, looked searching through his gold-rimmed spectacles with thick lenses."

"I am attending to my own affairs, sir."
