UNIVERSAL MARKET.

Editor of The Herald—
Dear Sir:— You will please allow me some space in your valuable paper in regard to store closing. There has been considerable agitation the last few months just because there has been one more market added to Main street. This, of course, was sure to come as it was much needed and I think is much appreciated. Now there is where the trouble is. If this market was situated on some side street there would not be one word said as there have been both markets and stores opened as long as I can remember and also along side some of our prominent merchants and there was nothing said. Just because it did not interfere with Main street. There have been some people interesting themselves in my business of late who I wish would attend to their own affairs. Some of these persons who are looking for public recognition were not in this town a few years ago. At the same time there are stores opened on Main street right along—and some of them on Sunday—and there is nothing said. When I opened my market on Main street it was my intention to have one place where the people could get their money's worth and ever since I have tried to give them the best that money could buy. Even then some of my neighbors were not pleased. Before I had opened one week they were after me to close two nights a week and they said I would have to close anyhow. Some felt bad for their clerks and some felt bad because the summer was coming on and that they would have to open and couldn't have a good time. As far as the clerks are considered I would be the last man in Manchester who would cause them to work one minute over their actual time. The parties who called on me I told I would close when I got ready and so I intend to. The last man to approach me on this question was Mr. Aaron Johnson, a gentleman I have great respect for. It is only too bad that this town wasn't blest with a few more merchants like him or at least the country. If he gets on Main street I want to pity some of the merchants on there now. We talked the matter over and I told Mr. Johnson that I would have closed long ago if they had made the rest of the merchants close. But I would accommodate any of my trade who came after meat and I will. It is too bad this town was not built for two or three as they would like very much to run it. Eighteen or twenty years ago there was no such fuss made. There was not so much tricking in business and so many inducements to lure your money away from you, as there is now.

Be careful! Go and buy your goods where you can get the best. It will pay you in the end.
This store will close hereafter on Monday and Thursday evenings until further notice. But not while there is customers to be waited on. So if you want anything to eat before I close come to where we sell the best in America, the Universal Market on Main street.

VETERANS ENTERTAINED.

Members of Drake Post Enjoyed Last Evening as Guests of Epworth League.

The Epworth League of the South Methodist church gave a largely attended reception to Drake Post, G. A. R., in the vestry of the church last evening. An entertainment of about an hour was followed by a supper after which speeches and songs enlivened a social hour. The wall in the rear of the platform was artistically decorated with silk flags, crossed swords and pictures of Lincoln and Garfield. A large floral panel bore the dates 1861-1865. Lucius Foster was master of ceremonies and after short devotional exercises and an address of welcome by Rev. W. F. Davis introduced a male chorus. This comprised 12 voices under the direction of O. Elmore Watkins. In the chorus were the best male singers in town. It made a hit at once. Its opening number, "Come O'er the Sea," by Bullard, was given with good harmony and shading and abundant volume. The material was fully as good as that of the average glee club and if the men can be kept together for rehearsal under the direction of Mr. Watkins they can very soon gain more than local renown. They were persistently recalled and were obliged to repeat their selection.

Mr. Watkins himself contributed much to the pleasure of the evening by his recitations. All of his selections were humorous. His opening number was a German parody on Barbara Freitche and in response to an encore he gave an Irish dialect poem entitled "O'Grady's Goat." Later he gave the old farmer's account of Daniel Webster's speech and when recalled gave a Swedish dialect story. Other numbers on the program were a piano duet by Miss Davis and Mr. Packard, the Battle Hymn of the Republic, sung by all with the male chorus, a mixed chorus and a patriotic selection "To Thee, Oh, Country," by the male chorus. The veterans and their wives were then invited into the church parlor to partake of a banquet. The mess call was sounded on a bugle in the supper room as the invitation was given.

On the return to the main vestry George W. Ferris took charge of the exercises and called for addresses from the Post commander and other veterans. About 30 veterans were present and some of them were accompanied by their wives.

SAVED BY FENDER.

Intoxicated Man in East Hartford Picked up by Manchester Car.

Motorman William Boswell of the Trampus saved a man's life by his prompt action while he was making the 9.45 run from South Manchester to Hartford last Saturday night. On Main street East Hartford, between Burnside avenue and Church corner, he suddenly discovered a man crawling on the track in front of the car. He clapped on the brake and dropped the fender and the man rolled into it. He was carried along until the car stopped when he rolled off. To those who went to his assistance he declared he was unharmed. He was however suffering from the effects of a jag. A little later an East Hartford policeman locked him up for safe keeping. The man's name was George Milburn. He is a Gastonbury teamster.

POLICEMAN APPOINTED.

Plum Falls to Rollin M. Rood, a Dark Horse—Will Take Office June 1.

The selectmen have appointed as patrolman to succeed Officer Hayes who recently resigned, Rollin M. Rood. Mr. Rood has accepted the appointment and will go on duty about the first of the month. The appointment of Mr. Rood will be a surprise to many as he had not publicly announced himself as a candidate. The selectmen, however, knew that he was available and taking all things into consideration concluded that he was the best man for the place.

Mr. Rood has been a resident of Manchester for more than 20 years. For several years before the introduction of a police force he was its most active constable and demonstrated by his tact, his courage and his physical strength his fitness for the position of a peace officer. He has since served the town as assessor.

HAYSEED DANCE.

The Novelty Stimulated Interest at the End of a Long Dancing Season.

That the barn dance given by the Hayseed club was an enjoyable and successful affair any one who was present will tell you and there were over 500 persons there. The Army presented a truly rural appearance with its decorations of farming tools, haycocks, squashes and ears of corn, while settees in the wings were covered with hay. On the stage an old rail fence could be seen. Some of the "trubs" for whose refreshment old fashioned pumpkin pie, ice cream and soda water were offered for sale. The Hayseed club is composed of 11 young fellows with James Gorman as chairman whose avowed purpose in giving this dance was not to make money but just for a good time.

Death of Dr. Moore's Mother.

Dr. D. C. Y. Moore received word last night of the death of his mother at New Hartford. She was stricken with a shock about four o'clock yesterday afternoon and as soon as Dr. Moore heard this he started for her home. As there was no train out he was making arrangements for an automobile to take him from Hartford when about eight o'clock he received word of his mother's death. He went to New Hartford today and will return tomorrow.

John Brongh will leave Manchester the first of July. He will go to California with the purpose of locating there in business. It will pay all who are looking for bargains to call at his store at once. He has a fine assortment of staple dry goods, ribbons, laces, edgings, hosiery, toilet articles etc. Prices are right and the stock will soon be closed out.

MANCHESTER HERALD.

HALF-WEEKLY. Published Tuesday and Friday Evenings.

Elwood S. Ela, Editor. OFFICES: Herald Building, Main and Hilliard streets, Manchester, and Post Office Building, South Manchester.

Candidates for appointive officers in Manchester may well pray to be delivered from their newspaper friends. The appointing authorities do not care to be dictated to and any attempt by the newspapers to foist a nominee upon them naturally creates a spirit of resentment which is prejudicial to the candidate's interests.

Farmhands Needed.

With immigration larger than ever before, the great need of our Eastern farms is still unmet. The cry from rural New York is that farm labor is scarce and dear; deficient in both quantity and quality, for much of it is ill-trained and unreliable.

The New York State Department of Agriculture is now planning to attract desirable immigrants to our farming districts. Commissioner Wieting, empowered by recent legislation, is preparing lists of questions concerning the dairying, fruit, pasture, hay and other agricultural interests of every part of the State.

A turning point has been reached and Eastern farmers have every reason to expect that the rewards of their occupation will again be more commensurate with their natural advantages. The supply of Uncle Sam's free homesteads in the West is practically exhausted. Free pasture in the West is also greatly declining.

These conditions have to do with the fact that our New York farmers are making more money today than was possible a few years ago. What is needed now is to attract plenty of good labor to the farms as long as the supply is not equal to the growing demand, and the least that can be done in this direction is to enlighten the world as to the greatness of the agricultural resources and opportunities of the Empire State.

Mr. Chapman's Illness. M. S. Chapman, who has been confined to the home most of the time the past month by a slow fever, supposed at first to be an accompaniment of the grip, underwent an examination by a council of physicians Saturday afternoon with a view to determining the exact seat of his trouble. For several days he had been unable to walk, owing to a severe pain in his leg. The examination, which was conducted by Doctors Taft, Bunce and Moore, revealed the presence of a somewhat unusual disease of the circulation known as phlebitis, which had settled in his left leg.

BASE BALL NOTES.

The Volunteers, of Rockville, beat a Vernon team 15 to 13 on the Talcottville grounds Saturday. The Talcottvilles won from the Bucklands at Buckland Saturday 15 to 13. Devin and Webb were the battery for the Bucklands and Rivenburg, Lee and Cheatham for the Talcottvilles.

PIANO PUPILS' RECITAL.

Large Audience Well Entertained at Cheney Hall.

Cheney hall was crowded at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the opening of the piano recital of the pupils of Miss Flynn. The young ladies of the class were grouped at one side of the stage while the boys sat on the other side in the shade of the large grand piano. Those who took part were Marguerite Bengt, Elsie Bengt, Julia Beese, Alice Gorman, Nellie Newman, Florence Johnson, Hilda Johnson, Phebe Rogers, Annie Rosenburg, Vera Gorman, Gerda Johnson, Marjorie Dunn, Lena Wind, Helen Gould, Rose Gorman, Thomas Chambers, Llewellyn Bissell, Thomas Ward, Max Bengt, William McGuire.

The young people were assisted by Mr. Alfred A. Flynn, baritone, whose several solos were well received and enthusiastically encored.

COMPANY G'S FIELD DAY.

The Air Was Cold and Blustering and Beefsteak and Potatoes Were Good.

Company G observed its semi-annual field day at the Keeney street range Saturday. The company left the armory at quarter past seven. Upon arrival at the range after an hour's marching the men were set to work on guard duty which lasted until eleven o'clock. Target practice followed until 12 when an hour's rest was given for dinner which consisted of beefsteak and potatoes and delighted the stomachs of all present.

Practice at the targets was continued from 1 to 3 o'clock, each man having a string of five shots at the 200 yard and 300 yard targets which were used as qualifying ranges. Those who qualified shot in competition at the 500 yard target. The best score at this target was made by Lieutenant Thomas Keating who secured 18 out of a possible 25. The strong wind which blew across the range prevented making any fancy scores. After the shooting was finished the company were drilled in skirmish and picket duty, formations which require more space than can be secured in the armory and so are unfamiliar to many of the men.

MAY FROST.

Early Vegetables Damaged in Low Places.

The light frost of Saturday night did a lot of damage to small garden stuff, especially in low places. In some instances potatoes which were just showing above the ground were killed. In the high places the frost was not perceptible. The Bowers and Hall peach orchard was not hurt at all. Many farmers have set out acres of tobacco and they were anxious about it Saturday night but as far as can be learned no damage was done. The weather continued cool Sunday and again Sunday night it was feared that the thermometer would reach the freezing point. The wind however, diminished in force Sunday evening and it warmed up a trifle.

Letter to J. M. Whitney, South Manchester.

Dear Sir: Here's something every painter and builder ought to know. Mr. J. J. Hall, Sheffield, Pa., painted two houses, 5 years ago, lead-and-oil; took 40 gallons. Last year, he painted Devco; bought 40 gallons; had 10 left. He is one of thousands. The knowledge is getting about pretty generally, that Devco goes further than anything else.

HOT WEATHER PILES.

Persons afflicted with piles should be careful at this season of the year. Hot weather and bad drinking water contribute to the conditions which make piles more painful and dangerous. MARRIAGE IN MIDDLETOWN.

Manchester Man the Bridegroom at Large Church Wedding.

Miss Ella A. Fairchild and Mr. Louis St. Clair Burr, bookkeeper for the Rogers Paper Manufacturing Company, were married, last Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock at the First Methodist church, Middletown. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis T. Brown of New Haven, assisted by Rev. Dr. Henry Baker, pastor of the church. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion by the teachers of the primary department of the Sunday School, with which the bride has been connected. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. Eugene H. Burr. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Harold E. Wilson, and her little niece, Amy Stone. Mr. R. Myron Burr, brother of the groom, acted as best man. The ushers were: Rev. Harold E. Wilson of East Berlin, Mr. Wilbur H. Kelsey of Bristol, Mr. Alfred E. Roberts of New York City and Mr. Wardell D. Burr of Middletown. Miss Emma J. Pratt of Hartford, played a short program before the ceremony.

A reception to the immediate relatives was held at six o'clock at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Burr left for a short wedding trip to Old Point Comfort. After July 1st they will be at home to their friends at 3 Foster street.

LAUREL PARK OPENING.

To Take Place Next Saturday—Band Concerts Sunday and Memorial Day.

Although the weather conditions so far have not indicated the near approach of summer one sure sign will be revealed next Saturday when Laurel Park will be opened for the season. The arrangements at the park will be similar this year to those of preceding years and the resort bids fair to continue to be the most popular park in the vicinity of Hartford. Hatch's band and the Beeman & Hatch orchestra will supply the music as heretofore. The orchestra will play for dancing Saturday and the full band will give Sunday afternoon concerts beginning next Sunday. Memorial Day both the band and orchestra will play. For several weeks men have been at work clearing up the park, repairing the damage done by frosts and washouts, putting hoists in good condition and placing everything in apple pie order.

The two big open circles, which are now both in commission will assist materially in the prompt handling of the Laurel Park grounds. R. M. Rood will resume his old position as superintendent of the park this season and Charles O. Treat will continue to have the refreshment privilege.

High School Meet.

The annual outdoor meet of the South Manchester High school will be held at Woodland Park next Saturday afternoon commencing at 2 30. The officials of the meet will be: Referee and starter, M. E. Coughlin; judges, H. C. Folsom, E. Olsson, J. Hickey; measurers, J. Wright and O. Davis; timers, E. P. Howard, R. Cadman and C. Davis. There will be twelve events as follows: One hundred yard dash, running high jump, 220 yard hurdle, pole vault, 220 yard dash, running broad jump, 120 yard hurdle, 440 yard dash, 12 pound shot, half mile run, one mile run and a relay race. An admission fee of ten cents will be charged.

MODERN FOOTBALL.

It Comes From the Florentines, Who Got It From Greece.

Did modern football, the Rugby game, travel to England from the Italy of the renaissance and does its history reach back to ancient Greece? A recent writer says: "Probably not more than a few votaries of Rugby football are aware that we have to thank Florentine athletes for the invention of the game and for its introduction into Great Britain. Rugby school was founded somewhere about 1567. It was one of the direct results of what has been called the Florentine or Tuscan fever in England, which set in late in the Italian renaissance. Not only did men of letters come over and settle in England's centers of learning and create others, but many Florentines versed in the theory and practice of polite culture came as well. The game of il calcio came to Florence by way of Greece. Something of the sort had figured among the less important games at Olympia. The principal Florentine ground was the Piazza di Santa Croce, where upon the wall of the Palazzo Giulio Parrigi is still to be seen the disk from which the line stringing the ground was drawn across the open square. The ball was of leather, containing an inflated bladder, and apparently was the exact size, weight and shape of the Rugby ball of today.

The calcio consisted of a friendly contest between two equal sides of players called schiera azzura and schiera rossa—blues and reds. The number of players varied according to the size of ground or the importance of the encounter. In the Piazza di Santa Croce the sides were twenty to twenty-seven strong, while on the public open sports ground at Peretola they totaled as many as sixty each. Originally the players were required to be of noble or gentle blood or such as had gained distinction and rank in the profession of arms. Each man had to be of unblemished reputation and of graceful figure and possessed of accomplished manners.

In addition to the actual players were presidents, standard bearers, judges, an umpire, pages and other officials, all 'without reproach, worthy of the city and courteous in manner.' The costumes of the players were tight fitting drawers and tunics of silk, with feathered caps, all richly embroidered in gold and silver. Leather shoes were worn. The teams were divided into four classes: Forwards, whose places were near the dividing line and whose work was to keep the ball in play; halfbacks, stationed behind the forwards, in order to return the ball to play; three-quarter backs, who were strong kickers and played straight on the ball, and goal keepers, placed at the flags, or boundary, to stop the ball passing.

Malagasy Etiquette.

A French conjurer many years ago during a performance at the court of Madagascar asked the queen through an interpreter if she would taste a glass of wine. On her refusal the conjurer, with simulated anger, emptied the glass over her, and the contents 'dropped in the shape of flowers into her majesty's lap. The court functionaries were so indignant at this proceeding that they jumped up from their seats, insisted upon the queen leaving the apartment and charged the performer with high treason. The unfortunate man had to be protected by the native troops from the fury of the populace and was compelled to leave the capital before daybreak.

Fooled.

A regiment of soldiers was drawn up for church parade in the barrack square, but the church was being repaired and could only hold half of them. "Sergeant-major," shouted the colonel, "tell all the men who don't want to go to church to fall out on the reverse flank."

Of course a large number quickly and gladly availed themselves of the privilege. "Now, sergeant-major," said the colonel, "dismiss all the men who did not fall out and march the others to church; they need it most."—London Standard.

Lucretia Borgia.

Lucretia Borgia was a singularly beautiful woman, with gray eyes and yellow hair. It was said of her that her upper eyelids drooped over more than half the iris, so as to give the eye a languid expression. She had a peculiar trick of looking steadily, sideways at those with whom she conversed, and this peculiarity invariably excited distrust in those who observed it. She was singularly gifted in conversation and repartee and could hold her own in any company.

The Average Storm Wave.

The average storm wave is thirty feet in height. The highest storm waves ever measured were between forty-four and forty-eight feet high. The gigantic force of storm waves is shown by the fact that at Skerryvore lighthouse, off the west coast of Scotland, a mass of rock weighing five and a half tons was once hurled to a height of seventy-two feet above the sea level, while a mass weighing thirteen and a half tons was torn from a cliff seventy-four feet high.

The Great Man.

It is easy in the world to live after the world's opinion; it is easy in solitude to live after your own, but the great man is he who in the midst of the crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude.—Emerson.

I know of no manner of speaking so offensive as that of giving praise and closing it with an exception.—Steele.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY THE VERY BEST.

"I have been using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and want to say it is the best cough medicine I have ever taken," says George L. Chubb, a merchant of Harlan, Mich. There is no question about its being the best, as it will cure a cough or cold in less time than any other treatment. It should always be kept in the house ready for instant use, for a cold can be cured in much less time when promptly treated. For sale at Cheney's drug store and Balch & Brown's.

Breach of Discipline. In February, 1748, Lord Robert Bertie, third son of Robert, first duke of Lancaster, afterward general in the army and colonel of the Second regiment of foot guards, received a reprimand, such reprimand being conveyed to him by the Duke of Cumberland's aide-de-camp. His military offense was that he had blown his nose, as he believed guard, beneath his grace's window in St. James palace; this, and this only, was all he had done.—Chambers' Journal.

No Fire Within. Times have changed. Our fathers for some strange reason preferred a cold meeting house to one which was warmed by artificial heat. When a stove was put into the Old South church, Boston, in 1783, says J. H. Crandon, a newspaper of contemporary date contained this significant lament: 'Extinct the sacred fire of love, Our zeal grown cold and dead, In the house of God we fixed a stove To warm us in their stead.'

Folly of Longevity. The centenarian is a man who has mistaken quantity for quality. The centenarian's life is not always life at all. It is sometimes no more than a had hab't. They live longest who live least.—London Tatler.

Guessed It the First Time. "Pa," said little Willie, who had been reading a treatise on phrenology, "what is a bump of destructiveness?" "Why—er—a railroad collision, I suppose?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Don't You Know

That Gold Medal Creamery Butter in air-tight, odor-proof packages—with all its enchanting flavor, costs no more than ordinary tub butter?

Think of what that means.

It means that at no additional expense your butter, packed at the creamery, is never touched, nor exposed to the air until it is put on your table.

It may be kept in the ice box with onions, cucumbers or anything else and is never tainted or affected in the least.

It never tastes woody as tub butter so often does.

Much of the ordinary print butter comes first in tubs and consequently lacks the very qualities that make print butter preferable.

Gold Medal Creamery Butter is made of pure pasteurized cream from cows pastured in grassy meadows.

Fresh, pure, wholesome butter, possessing a sweet, rich, delicate flavor which is entirely preserved by packing in air-tight, odor-proof packages, lined inside and sealed outside.

Gold Medal Creamery Butter received the highest award at the St. Louis Exposition.

It costs no more than ordinary butter and is therefore cheaper in the end, because it always keeps sweet, fresh, and untainted, until every morsel is eaten.

Gold Medal Creamery Butter never varies in Quality and can always be depended upon.

ORIGIN OF PIKE'S PEAK.

Indian Legend of the Formation of This Famous Mountain.
 The quaint Indian legend of the formation of Pike's peak is as follows:

"At the beginning of all things the lesser spirits possessed the earth and dwelt near the banks of the great river. They had created a race of men to be their servants, but these men were far superior to the present inhabitants of the earth and made endless trouble for their creators. Therefore the lesser spirits resolved to destroy mankind and the earth itself, so they caused the great river to rise until it burst its banks and overwhelmed everything. They themselves took each a large portion of the best of the earth that they might create a new world and a quantity of maize, which had been their particular food, and returned to heaven. Arriving at the gate of heaven, which is at the end of the plains, where the sky and mountains meet, they were told that they could not bring such burdens of earth into heaven. Accordingly they dropped them all then and there. These falling masses made a great heap on the top of the world which extended far above the waters, and this is the origin of Pike's peak, which is thus shown to be directly under the gate of heaven. (It was formerly twice as high as now, but lost its summit, as is told in another legend.)

"The rock masses upon it and all about show that they have been dropped from the sky. The variety and extent of the mineral wealth in the region prove that the earth's choicest materials are deposited there. And still as the constellations move across the heavens and vanish above the mountain summits we may see the spirits rise from the great river and pass to the gate of heaven. The falling stars are their falling burdens of the dropping grains of maize."

True Economy.
 "So you have bought your wife another expensive ring. Isn't that a waste of money?"
 "On the contrary, it is true economy, for she won't require half so many pairs of gloves as formerly."

There cannot be a greater rudeness than to interrupt another in the current of his discourse.—Locke.

Early Training.
 "We think baby will make a great polliwog."
 "Why?"
 "Well, he crawls out of everything so easily."—Puck.

Industrious wisdom often prevents what lazy folly thinks inevitable.—Stevens.
 Rats and conquerors must expect no mercy in misfortune.—Cotton.
DO NOT BE IMPOSED UPON.
 Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Foley and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered for the genuine. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitutes offered as no other preparation will give the same satisfaction. It is mildly laxative. It contains no opiates and is safest for children and delicate persons. Balch & Brown and Wilkinson Drug Co.

Burma and the "Arabian Nights."

Sir Richard Burton made $50,000 out of his translation of the "Arabian Nights." When after about fifteen years' labor he completed this valuable book he submitted it to a number of publishers, and no one would offer him more than $2,500 for it. He was about to accept these terms when his wife said: "Let me publish this work for you, Richard. To print and bind and put on the market a set of books surely cannot be a superhuman undertaking. Let me try it. The publishers don't offer you a fair price. Let us, then, talk them, and if any profit is to be made from all your labor let us and not the publishers enjoy it!" Sir Richard consented. His wife set to work. She got estimates from paper dealers, from printers, from binders, from all your labor let us and not the publishers enjoy it!" Sir Richard consented. His wife set to work. She got estimates from paper dealers, from printers, from binders, from all your labor let us and not the publishers enjoy it!"

The Fish Trout.
 The gamest of salt water fish after the striped bass is the weakfish, or sea trout. The sport of angling for them is generally enhanced because, feeding, as they generally do, near the surface, it is possible to fish for them with light tackle. While they have been caught weighing upward of twenty pounds, a six or ten pounder is a good size, and the average will only run from one to two and a half. There is never any doubt when a weakfish bites. He does not nibble around the hook, but takes the bait at one fair swoop and then starts off with it like a limited express with time to make up. He is a shy fish, and the man who uses a small line, light leaders and shells to his hook and keeps quiet while fishing is the one who is apt to have the best luck.

Speed of Lightning.
 Modern ingenuity has done a great deal in photography and by the aid of wonderfully rapid shutters has given from time to time very good photographs of a lightning flash. But the man is not yet born who can make a shutter fast enough to catch the real, full thing. Seen at night, a flash of lightning appears little more powerful as an illuminant than moonlight. As a matter of fact the duration of one of these flashes is so brief that a million of them in succession could be crowded into the space of a single second. If one flash could last but a tenth of a second it would give near objects an illumination 100,000 times more brilliant than that of moonlight. The most rapidly rotating bodies known to science appear absolutely stationary when lit up by it.

HOW TO WARD OFF OLD AGE.
 The most successful way of warding off the approach of old age is to maintain a vigorous digestion. This can be done by eating only food suited to your age and occupation, and when any disorder of the stomach appears take a dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets to correct it. If you have a weak stomach or are troubled with indigestion, you will find these tablets to be just what you need. For sale at Cheney's drug store and Balch & Brown's.

Burma's Monster Cigars.

One of the curiosities of Burma is a cigar of monstrous and alarming appearance, which every one smokes from an early age. "The Indigenes article is a monster eight inches long," writes V. C. Scott O'Connor in his book, "The Silken East." "It consists of chopped wood, tobacco, molasses and various herbs wrapped in the silver white skin of a bamboo. So wide in diameter is it that it completely fills up the mouth of any young dandy who tries to smoke it. For presentation purposes this long cheroot is often wrapped at one end in a coat of purple or gold paper. It accumulates a formidable mass of fire at the lighted end and requires some skill in the smoking. But the Burman infant acquires this skill before he can walk and while he is still at the breast. No one thinks of smoking such a cigar through. Two or three long puffs, the lips of the smoker thrust out to meet the circle of the cigar, and it is put down or passed on to some good fellow sitting by."

The Man Who Loves Words.
 "Other folks, of course, have their poor pleasures," writes Richard Le Gallienne in Harper's Magazine, "but for a man who loves words no joy the world can give equals for him, the happiness of having achieved a fine passage or a perfect line. When Thackeray struck his fist on the table, as the story goes, when he had finished the scene of Colonel Newcome's death and exclaimed, 'By God, this is genius!' there was no empire he would have accepted in exchange for that moment. We often hear that your true artist is never satisfied with his work, his ideal lifeless, etc., compared with the dream. Whoever started that story knew very little about the literary temperament or he would have known that the words are the dream. The dream does not exist even as a dream or only very imperfectly till it is set down in words. Yes, the words are the dream."

The Curious Limpets.
 The limpets are a curious kind of shellfish. They resemble the abalones in their habits. The interior is made of the most brilliant colors, bronze and iridescent hues predominating. They are found on the west coast of Mexico and are so large that the people use them for wash basins. They are ferocious animals and prey with great voracity on clams. The process seems slow, but the limpet always gets there. He gets his cover over the unsuspecting clam and puts his big foot on his shell, generally on a weak spot. Then he whips out a long, wiry tongue and proceeds to bore a hole in his captive. When this is done the shell flies open, and the limpet is free to feast on the poor clam's carcass. He eats but a part and leaves the rest for the fishes of the sea.

Tit For Tat.
 She—The Swellingtons called on us last week, you know. He—Yes. She—Don't you think it is about time we should retaliate?—New York Press.

A Courageous Soldier.

Admiral Wilson of the British navy won his Victoria cross at the battle of El Teb in 1884. There was a gap in the square, and five or six of the enemy made a vicious rush forward, attempting to get inside. Captain Wilson, who was present with the naval brigade, advanced to meet them alone, but his sword broke in the endeavor to cut one of the intruders down. Hereupon the officer, instead of beating a hasty retreat, stood his ground and began bowling over the enemy with his fists. Either from the nature of the ground or, as the record puts it, "the surprising nature of his attack," Captain Wilson escaped with a few wounds and was rescued by the square closing up round him. Sir Redvers Buller described the act as the most courageous he ever witnessed.

The Human Neptune.
 It is doubtful if there ever was a sturdier human Neptunian than Captain Webb, whose memorable exploit in crossing the English channel will always be remembered. It was mere ill luck—a fatal chance—which tossed him against a rock in the whirlpool rapids of the Niagara river and ended his life. Lord Byron was a marvel in the water. He equaled the feat of Leander in propelling himself across the Hellespont without aid or relief from any quarter, and before him beamed no beckoning signals, glances and smiles from an incomparably beautiful Hero. But even Byron never swam across the English channel. As the champion of the silver streak of sea Webb was the wonder of the ages.

Man's greatest enemy is himself. If every man in the world should be as careful of deserving an honest opinion of himself as he is of getting the good opinion of others there would be a vast difference in the standing of the majority of mankind.—Lynn News.

HE DUTY.
 "Hello!" cried the policeman. "Reading a paper, eh? I thought you were a blind man."
 "So I am during business hours," the blind man replied, "but I'm off duty now."—Philadelphia Press.

In Full Dress.

"Gosh all hemlock!" snorted Uncle Silas, backing away from the door. "What is the trouble, si?" queried the footman.
 "I thought I was sittin' in th' ballroom, an' I come within one buttin' right in thar to th' ladies' dressin' room."
 "That is not the ladies' dressing room," reassured the footman. "It is the ballroom."—Houston Post.

Candid.
 Mr. Populjay—How did you like my acting at our dramatic entertainment? Lady Critical—Well, I don't think you made the most of your opportunities. Mr. Populjay—You don't think so, eh? Lady Critical—No. You had several opportunities to get off the stage much sooner than you did!—London Opinion.

The Wrong Answer.
 A writer in the Strand Magazine on "Clerical Humor" tells of the unusual behavior of a young candidate who, dismissed on the Episcopal doorstep with a solemn "God bless you," hastily answered, "Don't mention it, my lord!"

Reflected Brightness.
 "Why does that congressman say so many more clever things than the rest of us?"
 "He is shrewd enough to pick out the brightest reporters to interview him."—Washington Star.

Weak Hearts
 Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.
 Mr. D. Kambel, of Nevada, O., says: "I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me."
Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure.

Captain Sherwood Cheney of this place has been again promoted, this time to be chief engineer of the Northern Division of the army. Captain Cheney graduated from West Point only eight years ago and his rapid promotion is a recognition of his character and ability.

Two prosecutions for non-payment of poll tax have taken place in the police court the past week. Both offenders were fined a dollar and costs. It is believed that these prosecutions will lead others who have neglected or avoided paying the tax to square accounts with the collector without delay.

The summer timetable on the Trambway will go in effect tomorrow. The principal change will be the introduction of half-hourly service on the Rockville line. The 10.30 p. m. car from Rockville will connect with it at Love Lane.

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the North Methodist church will be held at the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. Supper will be served from five o'clock to seven for the small sum of 15 cents. Miss Emma Colver, Mrs. James Crooks and Mrs. Calvin Weidner will have charge of the supper.

Leroy Hayes, of Wapping, had a runaway Saturday. He left his two horses attached to a hay wagon unattended and the animals became frightened and dashed across Depot square. They ran up the track in front of an approaching train but when near the next box took to the road again. The train was stopped in time to save a collision and so were the horses before any serious damage was done.

James J. Hasset pleaded guilty to the charge of neglecting to pay his poll tax in the police court yesterday morning. It cost him $9.40.

Michael Zwick, a Poleander, employed at Cheney's dye house, was in the police court Saturday morning for refusing to pay his poll tax of one dollar. Collector Richard W. Pitkin had him arrested. His one and costs amounted to $7.45 which he refused to pay and of course was taken to the Searcy street. Later some of his friends went to Hartford and paid the fine and the man was released. There are a number of other delinquent tax payers who will find themselves in court if the small tax is not paid promptly.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

Mr. O. E. Wainwright, of Lemon City, Florida, has written the manufacturers that much better results are obtained from the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in cases of pain in the stomach, colic and cholera morbus by taking it in water as hot as can be drunk. That when taken in this way the effect is double in rapidity. "It seems to get at the right spot instantly," he says. For sale at Cheney's drug store and Balch & Brown's.

A Biographical Dictionary.

One of the most helpful books to keep upon your table, ready to be consulted as you read other books, is a biographical dictionary. Then, when you come to some historical character about whom your knowledge is a little faded, it will require but a moment to refresh your memory and make your reading more intelligent. You have a right to the acquaintance of these distinguished men and women and should keep up at least friendly relations with them, if for no other reason than to gratify the wish that they have done to make your life pleasant.—St. Nicholas.

Content.

The fountain of content must spring up in the mind, and he who has so little knowledge of human nature as to seek happiness by changing anything but his own disposition will waste his life in fruitless efforts and multiply the griefs which he purposes to remove.—Johnson.

Practice Makes Perfect.

"I suppose your friend Tittlebat stutters as badly as ever?"
"Oh, no; he's quite an adept at it now."—Philadelphia Press.

Distinction is the consequence, never the object, of a great mind.—Aliston.

THE HEATHEN ESKIMO.

He Is Good Humored With His Queer Customs and Beliefs.

Professor Mylius Eriksen, writing of the heathen Eskimo in northern Greenland, says: "He lacks imagination, but his powers of observation are very acute. In spite of the fact that his life is an uninterupted struggle for existence the Greenlanders is always in a good humor, and his boisterous laugh can be heard sounding far over ice and snow fields. His way of telling stories is short and abrupt, but comical features are strongly emphasized. His stories consist generally of his own adventures, old legends about fights with neighbors and wild animals, about severe winters and great famines, about the creation of the world and about supernatural beings. It is considered highly creditable to be able to tell stories so long that the audience is lulled to sleep. An orator who achieves this feat is solemnly welcomed on the next morning, and every one thanks him profusely for the pleasure which he accorded the night before.

"Ideas of beauty are peculiarly developed in the heathen Eskimo. He regards beauty solely from the standpoint of utility. For instance, a rock projecting out of water only appears beautiful to him when it is visited in summer by water birds which breed there. A foaming torrent is only beautiful if it contains many salmon. Clothes are not put together with any idea of regularity of color, only their practical utility being considered. Huts are made of snow and stones, with domed tops, but without any architectural design.

"Only the spirit conjurers (angakoks) occupy an exalted position, being regarded as priests and doctors. Their task is to establish a connection between the visible world and the hidden spirits, and in this way they obtain a certain influence over their neighbors. The angakok asks his spirit for advice and then informs the invalid that his illness has been sent by the spirits as punishment for certain deeds."

A TALE OF TWO SCOUTS.

Narrow Escape From a Rattler and a Band of Indians.

In Cyrus Townsend Brady's "Indian Fights and Fighters" is a tale of two scouts, Trudeau and Stillwell, who carried to General Carpenter through an Indian infested country the news that Major Forsyth was being besieged in the sands of Beecher's island by a thousand warriors. Here is one incident of their journey:

"During this day a large party of scouting Indians halted within 100 feet of the wallow where the scouts were hiding. Simultaneously with their arrival a wandering rattlesnake made its appearance in front of the two scouts, who were hugging the earth and expecting every minute to be discovered.

"In his way the rattlesnake was as deadly as the Indian. The scouts could have killed him easily had it not been for the proximity of the Cheyennes. To make the slightest movement would call attention to their hiding place. Indeed, the sinister rattle of the venomous snake before he struck would probably attract the notice of the alert Indians. Between the snake and the Indians the scouts were in a rightful predicament, which young Stillwell, a lad of amazing resources, instantly and effectually solved.

"He was chewing tobacco at the time, and as the snake drew near him and made ready to strike Stillwell completely routed him by spitting tobacco juice in his mouth and eyes and all over his face. The rattlesnake fled. He could not stand such a dose. The Indians presently moved on, having noticed nothing, and so ended perhaps the most terrible half hour the two men had ever experienced."

To Scare Away Crows.

I can give a sure preventive against crows pulling by the black rogers. I had tried all sorts of devices and was righting a scarecrow when a gawky came along and said, "The crows of corn to the tops of poles around your field, and the crows won't stay night it."

I said, "They will eat the corn, and you and they will both laugh at me."

I tried the plan, however, and sure enough they looked at those poles and went away and stayed away. I suppose it was on the same principle as that of the Trojan warrior who died, "I must fear the Greeks when they bring gifts."—E. P. Powell in Suburban Life.
