STRAWBERRY SHORT CAKE

Baked in the "Caloric"

We unhesitatingly state that for pastry baking, no stove equals the "Caloric". If you ever eat Strawberry Short Cake baked in the "Caloric" you will never again care for it baked any other way.

This is only one illustration of the superior efficiency of the "Caloric" Fireless Cookstove. Meat, fish, game, poultry, practically all foods are rendered far more wholesome and delicious when baked or roasted in the "Caloric". All the fine flavor is retained; none is lost by evaporation as when the ordinary oven is employed.

The "Caloric" steams, stews and boils just as efficiently as it bakes and roasts. It is guaranteed to do just as we claim for it or your money refunded. Satisfaction -better cooked meals, and a less expenditure for fuelless time in the kitchen over a hot stove-more time for shopping, reading, sewing, etc. What better arguments can we offer you?

Come into our store and let us tell you more about this wonderful kitchen marvel. You will be amazed at the seemingly wonderful things it accomplishes.

NO BALM FOR TALCOTTVILLE

The Woolen Weavers Secured Only Another Trimming From St. Marys on Their Visit Here.

St. Mary's baseball team took the second game of the season from the Talcottvilles, their old rivals, on the Hollister lot Memorial day forenoon, defeating them by the score of 7 to 2. Last Saturday they won 5 to 1. The locals played a great fielding game Tuesday, the work of Finnegan, "Jack" May and W. Rogers being of the sensational order. Finnegan Charges Carnegie With Amassing made a one hand catch of a liner at third, May cleverly fielded a sizzling grounder from in back of short and Rogers got under a fly in deep center which looked good for two or three bases. THE WEAKNESS OF DIVISION.

Some persons think it is good policy to be very secretive about their business. Though they may be well-to-do they carefully conceal that fact and by maintaining an appearance of poverty escape the demands which would be made upon them if their real resources were known. Some manufacturers on the same principle are always talking dull times even though their mills may be making good money. Just how far it is wise to carry this policy in the case of an individual or a corporation is a question for each to determine. To us it seems better for a man to pretend to have less than he has than more than he has.

In the case of a municipality, however, full credit should be claimed for all resources and advantages, and in this respect Manchester is at fault, It errs not through modesty, through niggardliness but through unwisdom. By splitting the town up into five postoffice districts we get the discredit in many instances of being five different municipalities. Not infrequently directories attempt to give the population of the different postoffice districts, in which case "Manchester" is shown to have a popula-Even tion of four or five thousand. so good an authority as the census bureau has evidently been deceived into thinking that Manchester is circumscribed by the boundaries of the district served by the Manchester post office. It has sent out a bulletin of the manufactures of the "Town of Manchester, Conn.," which is ridiculous and put this town in a false light. It gives the number of wage earners employed during the year 1909 as 366 whereas Cheney Brothers alone employed in the neighborhood of ten times that number. The figures relating to salaries, products and capital invested are equally belittling and misleading. Perhaps the census bureau may later issue bulletins for the "towns" of South Manchester, Buckland, Manchester Green and Highland Park, but the statement has gone forth that Manchester, which embraces all these post offices, employes only 366 wage earne s in its mais and ractories.

We are not advocating as some communities do a "greater" Manchester, to include all our adjoining towns but we do favor a compact Manchester, which shall receive credit for its enterprise and growth. The fact that we are out of the city class works against us in securing recognition outside this immediate vicinity. To subject ourselves to still further belittlement by continuing the village post office system, is short-sighted policy. In union there is strength, and the sooner we can weld the different sections of the town to one center the stronger will be our influence and the more rapid will be our develop-

SCHEDULE.

Morning Express Trains to and From New York to Run via Waterbury -Running Time Increased Twenty Minutes.

An important change in the timetable of the New Haven road which goes into effect next Monday is the rerouting of the morning expresses to and from New York. These trains have long been favorites with Manchester passengers. They have parlor car equipment and the west bound train has carried a diner from New Haven to New York. One could take the train at quarter before eleven at the Manchester station, get a good dinner on the train and be in New York at 1.45 in ample time for a matinee or an afternoon's business. The new schedule requires more time and the train, leaving here as before, is not due in New York until 2.05. The morning express leaving New York for Boston at 8 a. m. will be due in Manchester at 11.21 in place of 11.03 as formerly.

In future these trains will run from Hartford via the western division to Waterbury and thence down the Naugatuck to the junction with the main line this side of Bridgeport. Stops will be made at New Britain, Bristol and Waterbury. The diner will be attached at Waterbury. This section of the western division has been rebuilt during the past three years. Grades have been lowered, curves have been straightened, concrete viaducts have been built and the roadbed has been greatly improved.

The scenic attractions of the new route are far superior to those of the Hartford-New Haven line, but the distance is greater and probably the roadbed will not, for a time at least, be as smooth. While the change will not be on the whole of advantage to Manchester patrons it will be welcomed by New Britain and Bristol, as it will give them for the first time through express service between their stations and New York and Boston.

The afternoon expresses through Manchester, going in either direction about five o'clock, will continue to run via New Haven. p. m., is three minutes later. From the east the noon accommodation, formerly due here at 12.17, is scheduled for 12.19. The evening train from the east, formerly due at 7.42, Prosecution Fails to Secure Conviction Against Mrs. O'Brien on Charge of Allowing Minor to Loiter.

The continued case of Mrs. Margaret O'Brien, proprietress of the Waranoke Inn, charged with allowing Paul Cleary, a minor, to loiter in the barroom on the morning of May 28, was tried in the police court Wednesday morning and proved another long drawn out affair similar to the case Saturday morning when Mrs. O'Brien liquor, through her servant, to the same young man. The evidence introduced was practically a rehearsal of that given in the previous case and after Prosecuting Attorney Burke and Attorney C. R. Hathaway, counsel for the accused, were through arguing, Judge Arnott again found Mrs. O'Brien not guilty, basing his opinion on the question of what constituted loitering.

Cleary said he was in the barroom about fifteen minutes, that he bought two glasses of ale and that he was talking with both Johnston and Melvin. Johnson and Melvin both said that Cleary was in the barroom when they went in. Johnson said he went in and got a drink and went out again and wasn't there more than a minute. He admitted speaking with Cleary, however. Melvin said he was in-the barroom about four minutes and that Cleary went out before he did. Bartender Smith was the only witness for the defense. At first he said he did not see Cleary in the barroom. Then he explained that he did not know Cleary until he saw him in was the party who came into the barfellows were waiting for him, and lee. then went out again. He again denied selling any liquor to Cleary, but admitted that he heard Cleary talking to Johnson.

Attorney Hathaway, through sharp cross examination, got Melvin and Cleary to make statements which conflicted somewhat and in presenting his arguments severely ridiculed these young men. He said their testimony was absolutely worthless and asked Some of the accommodation trains that the accused be discharged. Proserunning in both directions are a trifle cuting Attorney Burke accused Mr. later under the new schedule. The Hathaway of abusing the state's witthrough Poughkeepsie train, which nesses. ### MALLON DECLARED SANE.

Hartford Road Disturber is Placed on Probation After Being Examined by Physician.

The continued case of Michael Mallon of Hartford Road came up for trial in the police court yesterday morning Mallon was arrested by Officer David Crockett about ten o'clock Tuesday night and was in court Wednesday morning charged with intoxication and breach of the peace. Proscuting Attorney Burke was in court charged with selling stated that there was a queston as to Mallon's mental condition and asked for an adjournment until yesterday morning, that an examination might be made. Dr. Burr examined Mallon during the day and found him sane. According to the testimony of his sister, with whom he lives, Mallon is all right except when he gets drunk and then he imagines all sorts of things. His own testimony yesterday morning bore out her statement. He said he went up street to see the parade Tuesday afternoon and afterwards stopped in one or two saloons and drank some beer. He also bought a half dozen bottles to take home with him. When he got home he heard strange noises in the house. He began to knock hard on the door, thinking it would have some effect on the persons who were making the disturbance. In reality he kicked the door in, as testified by another witness.

Mallon said this was the first time he had drunk any liquor in a week and promised to cut out booze if given chance. Judge Arnott sentenced him to 15 days in jail on each count, then suspended execution of the judgment court Saturday morning, but that he for six months and placed him on probation. #### John Woods Gets Probation.

John Woods celebrated Memorial day by getting drunk, had several fistic encounters along Main street during the evening and was at last arrested by Officer Glenney and brought into court Wednesday morning on the charges of intoxication and breach of the peace. According to the testimony of a witness Woods gave a young man by the name of Johnson a pretty hard beating, but Johnson did not appear against the accused. Officer Glenney said he was told there was a fight in progress near Peterson's drug store and he hustled to the scene. Woods had disappeared but was located in the park across the street. This was about 11.15 and the officer said he had ordered Woods away from the Orford hotel about ten o'clock in the evening. Judge Arnott fined Woods $10 and costs, but execution of the judgment was suspended and he was placed on probation for six months. He was ordered to pay the costs to Probation Officer Goslee.

On Way to Court Chauffeur Tells Detectives of Queer Philosophy and Declares He Could Not Destroy Life According to Its Teachings.

New York, June 2 .- Harry A. Scheib, the chauffeur whose wife's body was found in the bathtub of their three room flat at 511 East Seventy-eighth street last Monday afternoon, is in the Tombs at the order of Magistrate Corrigan on a charge of murder in the first degree preferred by District Attorney Whitman and based on the affidavits of Police Inspector Russell and Coroner's Physician Lehane.

The commitment came at the close of many police court adventures for Scheib, in the course of which he was discharged from custody and set free three separate times only to be rearrested on each occasion. The final score was four arrests with three discharges and one commitment.

The investigation into the case revealed that Scheib had bought a copper boiler, the biggest he could get, about the middle of January and had returned it two weeks later because it wasn't big enough for his purposes. Connor O'Grady, the father of Mrs. Scheib, also has entered into the case with an identification of Scheib as the man who had married his daughter, Elizabeth O'Grady, under the name of Hugh Allerton Sherman.

The arraignments on the charge of homicide were made before Magistrate Corrigan. Inspector Russell testified that he had directed the arrest of the prisoner on May 30 on a charge of homicide, and the district attorney then secured an adjournment until tomorrow afternoon.

On the elevated train on the way to the criminal courts building Scheib talked to reporters and detectives until shut up by his lawyer. He wanted to know whether Detective Closter considered himself a destructive or a constructive force. He considered himself a constructive force, he said, and therefore could not destroy. He also remarked that he was studying concentration of the mind, energy and

ASCENDED UP ON HIGH WHERE HEWAS BEFORE

Led a Multitude of Captives.

What the Ascension of Jesus Implied For Himself and For the World.

Baltimore, Md., May 21. - Pastor Russell of the Brooklyn Tabernacle preached here twice today to large and attentive audiences. We report one of his discourses from the text, "When He ascended up on high He led a multitude of captives" (Ephesians iv. 8-10).

In this week occurs the anniversary of Jesus' ascension. In one sense of the word our Lord ascended (that is, from human nature and the tomb, to the divine nature and immortality) at the time of His resurrection from the dead. He tarried, however, for forty days, with the Apostles for their establishment and instruction-He on the spirit plane, invisible to them, except when he manifested Himself by appearing miraculously in various forms to convince them that He was no longer deceased, and also that He was no longer confined to human conditions-that His resurrection had made Him again a spirit being on the higher plane, where He was before He took human nature for the suffering of death, for the redemption of humanity.

Not alone by His words, but also by His conduct, our Lord taught His followers. They had not as yet been begotten of the Holy Spirit, and hence could not understand or appreciate spiritual things. They could therefore receive instruction only along natural lines. Jesus was raised from the dead a spirit being, far above angels, principalities and powers. Had He then gone directly to the Father without manifesting Himself to His disciples, they would never have been able to understand the truth of the matter.

Hence their lessons were given them largely in pantomime, corroborated by the Master's words, explaining that it was necessary that Messiah should die in order that He might redeem the world, and that it was also necessary that He ascend up on high and reenter upon the spiritual plane of existence, which He had before He came into the world-in order that from that higher plane of being He might be the more capable of filling the great Office of Prophet, Priest, Mediator and King of the world.

Not only, therefore, did Jesus mani-The resolution offered by Senator fest Himself during the forty days, some seven times, for a few moments each time, in various forms, but finalgoal, but after that the Englishmen substitute for the La Foliette resolu- ly, at the conclusion of the forty days, scored four in succession, the score at tion of inquiry. The Martin resolution He ascended in full view of His disthe beginning of the sixth period being provides for an investigation by the ciples. This was one way of telling them of His ascension, that He had gone to the Father, that they need not expect to see Him again as formerly.

We are not, however, to suppose for or human being; we remember, on the contrary, that "flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God," and that "He was put to death in the flesh but quickened in the spirit," and that thenceforth, as the Apostle declares, "The Lord is that Spirit" (II Corinthians iii, 17).

Seen by Saul of Tarsus.

The Apostles were to bear witness to the resurrection of Jesus; but Judas This change in the methods in the A. Smith & Co., is dead at his home having lost his place, and it having been given to St. Paul, it was proper various manifestations, St. Paul says, "Last of all He was seen of me also, as one born before the time."

Jesus appeared to St. Paul in the glorious brightness of His Spirit Being, "shining above the brightness of the sun at noonday." The sight caused injury to the eyes of the beholder. Such a manifestation would have been inappropriate and unsatisfactory had the Redeemer so appeared to the eleven during the forty days. How could they have identified the glorious Personage, who shone above the brightness of the sun at noonday, as the Lord Jesus, whom they had known for years. How could they have been enabled to fully identify Him, in His many different appearances, with His former self-their Friend, their Teacher? But to Saul of Tarsus, the revealing in flery light, above the noonday glare, was very appropriate. It convinced him, in a manner that no human appearance in the flesh could have equalled, that Jesus was no longer a man and that He was no impostor. St. Paul's conversion was instantaneous. murdered, and others of whom you have been hailing to prison.

It should not cause us to marvel that glory and honor which He had before a glorious Spirit, Partaker of the di-

He came into the world-with added glory. It should not surprise us therefore, that the Apostle declares that He ascended, in dignity and station, far above angels, principalities and powers, and every name that is named! (Ephesians i, 21.) On the contrary, it would be both equitable and God-like that the great Jehovah should highly honor His faithful, Only Begotten Son, the First and the Last, the Beginning and the Ending of the creation of God (Revelation xxii, 13). Could we for one moment suppose that our great Creator would allow His faithful Son, or any servant, to lay down life in Divine service, and to suffer loss as a consequence of His obedience? Is it not much more rational to believe, as the Scriptures declare, "Him hath God highly exalted" (Philippians ii, 9).

The Ascended One Descended. Pastor Russell called attention to the Apostle's phraseology in the contextthat the Ascended One had previously descended, and that the ascending and descending were related as cause and effect. The One who ascended up on high completely filled the highest position in the great, Divine Government of the Universe-as Head of principalities and powers, angels and men-next to the Father. Yet, the Apostle warns us that we must not identify the glorified One with the One Who, in obedience to the Father's will, humbled Himself to come down from the heavenly nature and glory to the earthly station where He, as a man, humbled Himself unto death, even unto the ignominious death of the cross.

The Apostle calls our attention to these two extremes-the extreme of humiliation and the extreme of exaltation, both accomplished in the Son of God, the Logos, The Christ.

If some of us at one time misunderstood the Scriptures and supposed that our Lord Jesus ascended to heaven in a physical condition, as a man, we entirely misunderstood the Scriptures-He Who was rich, as the Logos in glory, preserved His identity when He was made poor for our sins, made flesh, that He might be our Redeemer. Similarly, that Redeemer preserves His identity now that He has been made rich again-now that He has been received up to the Spirit Plane of glory, honor and immortality, the divine na-en a man is to mistake the significance He maintains, as identifying Him with His great redemptive work-as one of His many titles. To suppose that Jesus is a human being in heaven would be to suppose that He is still as when in the flesh, "a little lower than the angels," whereas the Scriptures declare that He has ascended far higher, so that all the angels of God, as well as men, are commanded to worship Him. To suppose Jesus in heaven a human being would be to suppose Him out of all barmony with heavenly, spiritual conditions and surroundings. Moreover, are we not told that the Church of Christ will be changed from the human to the spirit condition in the resurrection, and that this change will make the "elect of God" like their Redeemer, so that they may see Him as He is, not as He was-that they may see Him in glory, honor and immortality, exaltation, and not as the humiliated One, Who was made flesh that He might sacrifice His flesh on man's behalf? When we so thought we forgot the Scriptural declaration that flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God," hence that all those called to be partakers of the divine nature and heavenly Kingdom with their Redeemer and Lord must be made ike Him by the power of the First Resurrection.

Difficulties of Unbelievers.

The Pastor declared that he had found worldly-wise people very skeptical respecting the descent of the Logos, the Son of God, to earthly conditions; but that Christians seem to have more difficulty than the world in comprehending the return, the ascension of Jesus to the spirit plane and its excellent glory. Both points, however, are important, necessary, as the Apostle declares in the context. Whoever is unable to see that the Logos, the glorious Son of the Highest, humbled Himself, divested Himself of the Spirit Nature and took instead human nature, cannot see that Jesus was sinless. And those who cannot recognize that He was holy, harmless, undefiled and separate from the sinner race (Hebrews vii, 26), cannot believe in the sacrifice of Jesus as being a Ransomprice for Adam, to effect his release and that of his race from condemna-

Pastor Russell went into considerable detail respecting the manner by which the Logos was transferred from heavenly conditions to earthly conditions, and how His purity, His perfection of Organism, His freedom from sin was preserved, notwithstanding the fact that he was born of an earthly mother who was not free from the blemishes of Adam's race. He proffered his hearers, free upon application, a treatise entitled "The Undefiled One," which he believed showed scientifically the process used of God by which the Logos was changed from the higher to the human nature, yet preverved immaculate.

The error of supposing that Jesus is still a man signifies the denial of His "Who art thou Lord?" he asked. "I word, that He would ascend up where am Jesus Whom thou persecutest"- He was before, and the denial of the still represented in My followers, of Apostle's teaching that He has been whom St. Stephen was one, whom you highly exalted to glory and distinction, the divine nature, as instead of human nature. This error, the Pastor declared, had led to other errors, one Jesus ascended as He declared, "up of which he cited, namely, the error where He was before" (John vi, 62). It | made by many Christian people of exshould not surprise us that the Heav- pecting the second coming of Jesus in enly Father gave Him back all the the flesh-as a glorious man and not as vine nature, and entirely disassoc ated from human nature.

Thinking of the Lord at His second advent as a glorified man, they associate Him with a material throne and an earthly court. This, in turn, leads other Christian people in an opposite direction. Realizing that such an earthly kingdom would be a step backward rather than a step forward, they deny the second coming of Messiah to establish the Kingdom so long

The proper thought is that Jesus, in the flesh, accomplished the work which the Father had given Him to do, when He sacrificed His earthly life. The Father gioriously rewarded Him on the spirit plane. Now He is waiting for the gathering of His Church, His Bride, His Elect, These are to share in His resurrection to the divine nature and to sit with Him in His throne. Then the Kingdom of Messiah, so long promised, will begin to bless the world, using as its earthly representatives, visible to men, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob and all the Ancient Worthies, mentioned in Hebrews xi, 38-40; through whom the blessing will extend to Natural Israel and to all the families of the earth (Acts iii, 19-21).

A Multitude of Captives.

Our text, in a figurative way, represents the ascension of Jesus from the earthly plane to the heavenly as the triumph of a great Conqueror. Sin had gained ascendency over Adam and his race, and had brought mankind low to the dust, mentally, morally and physically. Moreover, this victory over man had been gained in a legal manner-through one man's disobedience (Romans v. 12). The Logos divested Himself of His glory on the spirit plane, was made flesh, fulfilled the demands of the Law, proved Himself competent to pay the sinner's Ransomprice, and gave Himself a Ransom for all, "to be testified in due time" (I Timothy ii. 6). Having finished His sacrificial work He was received again to the spirit nature with exceeding glory and to the right hand of the Majesty on high.

Thus the great Conqueror is seen returning to the heavenly state, acclaimed by the Heavenly Host; and following Him far down the centuries, the prophetic view saw, first the Church, the "Royal Priesthood," "His brethren." "His Bride." delivered from the To suppose that Jesus went to heavpower of sin and death, through the of His title. The Son of Man, which | merit of His blood. And these were but the first corps of a following host; they were "a kind of first-fruits to God of His creatures," rescued from sin and from death (James i, 18; Revelation xiv. 4). Later on, stretching down for a thousand years beyond the Church's deliverance, the prophetic pen foretells countless hosts of every nation, people, kindred and tongue, to be delivered from the power of sin and death through the merit of Him Who died. "the Just for the unjust." Now the Savior of the Church, His Bride, He will shortly be the Savior of the world, its Great King, Great Teacher, Great Priest, Great Mediator. Then will come the glorious consummation, when all who will have refused Divine grace shall have been destroyed in the Second Death-then shall be heard every creature in heaven and on earth and under the earth saying, "Glory to God in the Highest." Thenceforth there shall be no more crying nor dying, for all the former things of sin and death shall have passed away.

'Times of Restitution, Which God Hath Spoken."

At our Lord's First Advent the "acceptable time" began-the time when God, having accepted the sacrifice of Christ Jesus, became willing through Him to accept the sacrifices of all who desire to become His disciples-to take up their cross and follow Him through evil report and good report even unto death. The entire Gospel Age antitypes Israel's Day of Atonement, and the sacrifices of our Lord and the Church, His Body, are the "better sacrifices," foreshadowed by the bullock and the goat offered typically by the Jews (Hebrews ix, 19-23).

This is the acceptable year of the Lord which Jesus declared (Isaiah lxi. 2; Luke iv. 19). God's faithful people of this acceptable day are glad to be invited to "present their bodies living sacrifices, holy and acceptable unto God" (Romans xii, 1). In the end of this acceptable day will come the end of all opportunity to thus sacrifice the human nature and become joint-heirs with Christ and partakers of the heav-

Then will be introduced a new period styled, in the Scriptures, "Times (or years) of Restitution." The acceptable day for the Church's sacrifice has lasted for nearly nineteen centuries. And we know how long the "Times of Restitution" will last-nearly a thousand

St. Peter tells us just when these "Restitution Times" will begin. They did not begin in his day. They have not begun yet. They will begin as a result of the Second Advent of Jesus, the Messiah, and the establishment of His Kingdom and righteousness, "Times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord and He shall send Jesus Christ, as before was preached unto you, whom the heavens must retain until the Times of Restitution of all things which God hath poken by the mouth of all the holy prophets since the world began.

"For Moses verily said unto the fathers, A Prophet like unto me (of whom I am but a type or figure) shall the Lord your God raise up unto you from amongst your brethren. Him shall ye hear in all things whatsoever He shall speak unto you. And it shall come to pass that the soul that will not obey that Prophet shall be destroyed from amongst the people" (Acts iii, 19-23)—in the Second Death.

CHAPTER XI.

HE forces allied with Rollins themselves attempted publicity. But against their publicity Breed had put an enormous practical benefit; against their appeals he had put an enormous practical benefit; against their attacks he had put an enormous practical benefit, and the tide of public favor, springing not from the printed pages of the morning and afternoon papers, but from lip to lip, set in so strongly in his direction that it reached every investor. Bread at 4 cents-later at cost!

To the victor belongs the spoils, and the spoils of this war were the proxies. Breed succeeded through Kelvin in that apparently impossible dream of every railroad man since Stephenson invented the steam engine-the concentration of every railroad in the United States under one management. Then he sent for Rollins. "Well, I kept my word," said Breed. of every mile of railroad in the United States, and now I have it. I have sent for you to take over their management."

Rollins was pale, and there were dark rings under his eyes. "I don't know if I want it. There is only one condition under which I could accept, and it would be folly in me to expect you to grant, me that."

"You might mention it," observed Breed dryly.

"The condition is that I may do as public utility upon the plane of its proper relation to the public."

"That is my own dream," Breed de-

"I find belief difficult," replied Rollins. "Moreover, I had imagined that Mr. Kelvin here was to have some say in the matter of management."

Breed smiled and looked at Phillip "I have larger work for him," he said. "Larger!" exclaimed Rollins. "Can there be anything bigger than to combine a quarter of a million miles of railroad, every foot of transportation highway in the United States, under one economic head, eliminating graft and waste and putting them all upon a working basis of legitimate profit and public safety?"

Breed waved his hand. "Much larger," said he. "This is only an incident. I wish you would tell me just what reforms you propose instituting. Mr. Rollins."

"First of all," said Rollins earnestly. reassured. "I would secure for every through line 120 pound open hearth steel rails, made in new mills from larger ingots, with the cones of impurity cast entirely aside and the compact residue kneaded into a proper consistency by an entirely new system of rolls. There are other things that need to be done-the establishment of perfect block systems, of automatic brakes and other accident preventing devices and the abolition of grade crossings-but the main matter of public safety rests in perfect rails. Ten years ago I tried to fight this proposition, and I nearly succeeded. The Tallahassee Iron and Coal company offered to make open hearth rails to my specifications. The Unified Steel corporation found that to control the stock of the Tallahassee Iron and Coal company was much cheaper and more profitable than to spend the needed millions in re-equipping their

"Your first step, then, I suppose, would be to begin a fight on the Unified Steel corporation," observed Breed. "That, in a nutshell, is our problem," declared Rollins.

"Your problem is already solved, Mr. Rollins," said Kelvin, with a smile. "Mr. Breed's control of the railroads has left the Unified Steel corporation high and dry. Moreover, we have secured entire control of the Iroquois Iron range, and, no matter what the Unified Steel corporation does, we shall set up our own rolling mills and make rails by our own process from our own ore."

"But the program will be left entirely to your own discretion." interrupted Breed. "You shall have a contract for one year, renewable for ten years if your preliminary steps meet with my approval."

Rollins looked over the list and smiled. "There isn't a man here whom I would lift a finger to save. That gentleman took the paper, read it over and caught his breath. "It is a generous salary," he admitted, "more generous than I should have dared to ask for."

"Huh! I am saving money on it." declared Breed. "It's only a portion of a thousand fancy salaries that I expect you to stop at once."

Rollins nodded his head in comprehension. "I will take great pleasure

Instantly the door of the adjoining room opened, and a sober faced and noncommittal looking young man, ruddy cheeked and clean eyed and towheaded, walked in, notebook in hand. "Hello!" said Rollins. "Who are you?" "I am your secretary, sir. I came last night. My name is Jens Nelson."

"Swedish, eh?" guessed Rollins, "Yes, sir." said Mr. Nelson. "I am a graduate of the Minnesota Technical college, founded by Mr. Breed, and am one of his scholarship men."

Rollins smiled over the naivete o this admission.

"All right, Mr. Nelson," said he "You have a telegraph operator bere. I believe, Mr. Kelvin?"

"Wireless," amended Phillip. Rollins glanced at his row of buttons and nodded his head. "Mr. Nelson. you may take these marconigrams. and without any hesitation he began dictating peremptory discharges to a long list of railroad officials.

Thus set in the new empire-the empire of the fron highway, an empire which held under its absolute control the commercial destinies of the nation, an empire more powerful than any ever conceived by man. It was a reign that began peacefully and quietly as the stern Rollins, with a smile, dispossessed half a thousand men from their fat sinecures. But as he worked Henry Breed, attended by Dr. Zelphan and carrying a bundle of golf sticks, stopped in the door a moment. "By the way, Rollins," said he. "there is only one personal provision I wish to make, and that must be seen to from the first. I want my dividends all in cash-nothing else, understand -just cash!"

"Discussion positively closed." Blagg read the answers with a grim smile. "Allow me to congratulate you," said he. "You may not know it, but you are doing splendid preliminary work for the social equity cause." "The preliminary work?" repeated Rollins. "How do you think it will

Rollins leafed through the indexed flaps, beneath which, very carefully arranged, were displayed the mileage distances by various routes between all important points in the United States, with the percentage of grade resistance figured in units, these, compounded with the mileage, showing the ultimate hauling resistance. It had been a tremendous task. It was neatly and perfectly accomplished, yet Nelson showed neither elation nor diffidence.

"So," said Dr. Zelphan aloud, and immediately he squeezed back into the narrow space and descended the two flights of narrow stairs to the big vault, the existence of which he had never even suspected. In the center of the vault, with the light from a cluster of electric bulbs gleaming down upon his bald head, with one of the many iron drawers upon his knees and with an old, well thumbed Bible on the bench at his side, sat Henry Breed. In his hands was a package of the paper money with which the drawer was filled, and he was gazing, rapt, at the opposite side of the vault. He turned without surprise toward the familiar fury. "Leave Forest Lakes as soon figure of Dr. Zelphan and chuckled as as you like; go now!" he patted the drawer.

Dr. Zelphan was looking about him in amazement. "There must be millions here!" he gasped.

"Millions," cackled Breed, his wrinkled old face breaking into a leathery smile; "there's over a billion and a half! How did you come here?' he cried. "You were told that that little room upstairs was my strictly private study-that I wished no one to come into it."

His book caught on the oar lock, and he leaned forward to disengage it. Lillian, sitting just in front of him, deliberately leaned back, though with a pretense of helping him, until her rounded shoulder touched his cheek. "Don't go," she said, sinking her voice ever so little below its ordinary conversational tone. Phillip suddenly drew his cheek away from that insidious touch, angry with himself that, until reason "But now that I have found the way came to his aid, his blood had leaped

"You will pardon me if I burry on?"

"Oh, we are all going," returned Lill'an. "it's foo late for the fish to bite any more anyhow.

Keivin was already passing her. The bank was very steep at this point. Near the top she slipped, and he was compelled to throw his arm hastily about her. She let her shoulders rest limply back in his embrace and allowed him to drag her dead weight up over the little rise, and Kelvin almost cursed himself aloud, for again he had found that contact more than pleasurable. "After all"- Phillip brought himself back to the future with a jerk. "No entanglements with women." That had been the one warning motto he had set for himself, and he must observe it if he would accomplish his boundless ambitions.

Mrs. Rensselaer, puffing from the exertion of being dragged up the bank by Herbert, turned to that young man with severity. "Herbert," she admonished him, "really I think you are neglecting your opportunities most shamefully. It is within your reach to make | nues. the name of Rensselaer precisely what it used to be."

"With Miss Breed's money," commented Herbert with ill concealed disdain. "If I loved her or if she herself were capable of love it would be dif-

After she is married her little eccentricities, impossible in a girl, will only enhance her charm. Let me be perfectly frank with you. This girl, while she thinks she has her mind set upon Phillip Kelvin, really wants a husband. I scarcely dare usher her into society unmarried-she would disgrace us all. But any strong man, such as you, could marry her, master her and make her content, and she would be most presentable."

"But I want to work, to carve out my own fortune as Kelvin has done. I am not so clever as he. At Conference Lasting Until Nearly Morning Democratic Leaders Arrive at Agreement on Main Terms of Underwood Measure.

Washington, June 2.-Leading advocates of free wool at a conference in Speaker Clark's office agreed on a resolution which the Democratic caucus of the house adopted, conceding the necessity for a duty on raw wool because of the need of government reve-

Opening with a statement from Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee that a 20 per cent duty on raw wool is necessary to insure sufficient revenues for the government, the fight over the revised wool tariff lasted until nearly midnight this morning.

Advocates of free raw wool, backed by the open support of William Jennings Bryan, offered amendments putting wool immediately upon the free list or proposing a gradual reduction that would abolish the entire duty within five years.

According to Chairman Underwood, the bill would cause a reduction in government revenues of only $1,350,-

Imports of wool the last year amounted to $70,744.650, and the Democratic leaders estimate that the reduction in tariff will so stimulate importation that the first year under the proposed duties $130.822,000 worth of wool would be imported. Duties collected in the last year on woolen imports amounted to $41,904,-549, while the first year of the new duties it is figured the revenue would be $40,556,200. All specific duties whereby a stated sum is collected on certain grades of is figured as 90.10 per cent. Duty on raw wool under the proposed law is 20 per cent, while under the existing law it is 44.31 per cent.
