WILL HOLD SMOKER.

Moose to Give Reception to Dictator Frank Montic.

Manchester Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, will hold a smoker and entertainment in Foresters' hall this evening, as a farewell reception to Dictator Frank Montic before he leaves for the national convention, which is to be held in Pittsburg the week of July 28. Visiting Moose are expected from Hartford. The regular meeting of the lodge will be held first and the routine business will be transacted as quickly as possible, so as to give more time for the social hour to follow. Several candidates were to have been initiated this evening, but it has been decided to postpone the initiation until the last meeting in this month or the first meeting in August.

During the business meeting plans for the annual outing will be discussed and a committee appointed to make the arrangements. Plans for a dance to be given by the lodge also will be discussed at the meeting tonight.

CURTIS PUBLISHING CO. CALLED INTO COURT

Government Alleges Violation of Anti-Trust Order.

Washington, July 11.—The Curtis Publishing Company of Philadelphia, was cited today to appear before the Federal Trade Commission on August 21 to defend charges of violating the Sherman anti-trust act. It publishes the Ladies' Home Journal, the Saturday Evening Post and the Country Gentleman. The Federal Trade Commission charges the Curtis Company with entering into agreements with agents, or forcing agents to enter into agreements with it, not to sell or distribute any competing periodicals or publications, thus giving the company a monopoly.

The Curtis Company is cited to show cause why it should not be required to "cease and desist" from these practices. The case will be heard in Washington.

ATLAS JUNIORS WIN.

The Atlas Juniors defeated the Summit street boys at the golf ground this morning by the score of 17 to 16. Carlson, the winner, star pitcher, made six hits and five runs. The Atlas Juniors would like to arrange games with teams composed of boys averaging ten years of age. Their lineup is as follows: P. Mahoney, catch; H. Carlson, pitcher; F. Hills, first base; W. Rogers, second base; N. House, shortstop; W. Hills, third base; C. Carlson, right field; P. Rogers, center field; R. Hills, left field. Address communications to Herbert Carlson, 54 Hamlin street. Tel. 122-3.

HOME POLITICS DEMAND THE KAISER'S ATTENTION

today predicted that there could be no reform in the German Empire until the Bundesrat is changed.

"The Bundesrat," Mr. Gerard explained, "is made up of representatives of the sovereignities, which make up the empire, and these princes are holding to everything they have. There is no question that electoral reforms are badly needed."

"Suffrage in Prussia is based upon property ownership. This is called circle voting. For example they have in one circle all the men holding property to the value of $1,000,000; in another all the men owning $250,000 of property and so on. Thus the $1,000,000 man's vote is equal to the vote of 1,000 men, each holding property to the value of $1,000.

Kaiser in Midnight Council. Amsterdam, July 11.—A midnight conference between the Kaiser and the Chancellor marked the great Crown Council held in Berlin on Monday, said a Berlin dispatch today.

The council itself lasted far into the night. Afterwards the Kaiser conferred privately with Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg until after midnight. It was at the conference, it was reported that the retirement of certain members of the government was agreed upon.

Stock Market Depressed. The Berlin Bourse was greatly depressed today by the critical political situation.

Chancellor Admits Council, But Reticent.

Zurich, July 11.—That the German Crown Council on Monday arrived at important decisions relative to reforms and kindred problems is indicated by a semi-official statement issued in Berlin, according to advices from that city today.

The Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, appeared before the main committee of the Reichstag and made a short address in which he admitted that a crown council had been held, but he said the time was not yet ripe to discuss the deliberations.

Herr Friederich Ebert, a socialist leader, pressed the Chancellor for information, saying that it might be fruitful for debate, but the Chancellor declined to give details.

A motion to adjourn was then adopted.

Government Policy Attacked. During the session Dr. Gustave Stresemann, another socialist member of the Reichstag, took occasion to deliver a sharp attack against von Bethmann-Hollweg and the German policy.

The naval policy of the German government was again under fire but it was stated on the best of authority that none of the members of the Reichstag Committee demanded a complete cessation of the submarine war.

New Cabinet Members. There is excellent ground for the belief that the retirement of Vice Chancellor Hefferich and Foreign Secretary Zimmermann was either gazed last night or would be today.

The names of Count von Bernstorff, ex-Ambassador to the United States, and Dr. W. S. Solf, colonial secretary, are prominently mentioned as successors to the German cabinet.

AN AMERICAN LINER ESCAPES TORPEDOES

Submarine Missed, and Disappeared When Ship's Gunners Fired.

An American Port, July 11.—An American liner arriving here today with 257 passengers from an English port reported that she was attacked by a submarine at 11:30 p. m., June 30, while bound for England.

A torpedo coming from the starboard side passed a short distance ahead of her bow. Her gunners fired three shots in the direction from which the torpedo came. No further trace of the U-boat could be found and the liner continued on her way unharmed.

Among her passengers were Prince Dmitry Galtzev, Captain J. H. Devidier, of the French Army, Commander H. H. Paynter, of the British Navy, Major Eric F. Wood, of the British Army, and T. Agapeyeff, members of the British, French and Russian War Missions.

MARKET REPORT.

New York, July 11.—Initial prices showed gains in a number of issues at the opening of the stock market today, ranging from fractions to one and a half points, the last in American Sugar Refinery. U. S. Rubber gained one point and smaller improvements occurred in General Motors, Tobacco Products, Republic Iron and Steel, Lackawanna Steel, the copper shares and others.

By the end of the first 15 minutes some recessions from the best figures were in order. U. S. Steel shaded to below yesterday's closing. This was the tone of Industrial Alcohol which started unchanged, rose one-half and then reacted, losing a point net at 156 1/2.

Other recessions in some cases to or under Tuesday's final were in Corn Products, Bethlehem Steel B General Motors, Ohio Cities Gas and others. These reactions extended in Ohio Cities Gas to nearly two points. The market continued unsettled. National Enamel was one of the strong exceptions at the start, gaining 1-2 points. Gains from fractions to 1-4 points took place in Chesapeake and Ohio, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and others of the railroad group.

IMPERIAL PARTY BACKS DOWN IN CHINA

Attempt to Restore Emperor Abandoned—Republican Order Restored.

Pekin, July 11.—The movement to restore Hsuan Tung, the young Emperor, to the throne has ended in absolute failure. General Chang Hsun, commander of the Imperialist troops, has telegraphed to the various provinces explaining that he restored the emperor because "the republican movement had failed, domestic strife had increased and no cabinet could be formed."

Previously, added General Chang Hsun, the military leaders had expressed the need of such a change. But now, concluded the imperialist leader, the project is definitely abandoned, the recent Imperial edict is rescinded and the old republican terms and orders are restored.

The new republic centers at Nanking where Feng Kwo Chang is provisional president.

Cleaning White Kid Gloves.

Put the gloves on your hand and wash with a clean white soap and rinse in gasoline. Remove from hand, turning the gloves right side out and roll in cornstarch. Wrap them in a towel and let them remain in this condition overnight, then shake out the cornstarch and you will find your gloves as soft and white as if you had sent them to the cleaner to be cleaned. Gasoline is inflammable and must not be used where there is a light or a fire.

ALLIES' AIRPLANES BOMBARD WARSHIPS

London, July 11.—The Turco-German fleet lying in the Golden Horn has been bombarded by Allied aeroplanes with good results, the Admiralty announced today. A big explosion was seen to occur on the Goeben, while other warships were damaged. Bombs were dropped on Constantinople, a direct hit being obtained on the Turkish War Office building. All of the allied machines returned safely to their base.

The Goeben was one of two German cruisers that fled through the Mediterranean when war broke out, taking refuge in the Dardanelles.

WOMEN COME BACK WITH A WALLOP

Washington, July 11.—Some of the women have answered Hoover's urgings to a "wheatless day" and a "meatless day" by suggesting a "smokeless day." They have pointed out that vast areas now given over to the production of tobacco could then be planted in grain. And they have gone further. One woman urged Congresswoman Rankin to introduce a resolution which would instruct the collector of Internal Revenue to find some way of re-using tobacco containers and cigar boxes that now are thrown away. She pointed out that when food producers were being denied tin for the manufacture of cans, because of shortage, the tobacco manufacturers never seemed to have any trouble in getting their supply for tobacco cans.

BIG GERMAN STEAMER GOES TO SHIPPING BOARD

Washington, July 11.—By executive order President Wilson today seized the big German cargo steamer Prinz Eitel Friederich, which has been lying, war-bound, at Hoboken, N. J., almost three years, and turned it over to the shipping board as its property. The German raider of the same name, interned at Philadelphia, was seized some time ago.

Some Leaves Live Long.

Evergreen trees do not retain their leaves forever, but are so called because the new leaves appear before the old ones are shed. Miss Winnie A. Pease has been studying the many evergreens of the Pacific Northwest to ascertain how long the several species retain their leaves. She finds a wide variety, the shortest being the California buckthorn, which sheds some of its leaves in autumn and retains the others only until those of the coming season are mature. The longest is the short leaved yew, which retains its leaves for from five to twelve years, some of them persisting for as long as twenty-three years. Saplings lose their leaves more quickly than mature trees and trees in the open more quickly than those in shady places.

JUVENILE STYLES.

How Young Girls Are Being Garbed a la Mode.

Long coats, which reach almost or to the dress hems, are the fashion for little girls. Made of fallie silk in dull light blues, pinks, corn color or royal blue, they are just the right weight to wear over the lingerie dresses of batiste or georgette crape.

The older girl's coat is made more like the adult styles. Trecot serge, wool jersey or bolivia—a new weave that resembles somewhat chinchilla cloth—are used to make long coats that often have a pelerine cape addition that reaches to or below the elbows.

Middy blouse lines are idealized now for the betwixt and between girl. Combined with plaited or gored skirts, they make very trim looking frocks, suited for autumn school wear as well as for summer. Foncec, tussore, linen, la jerez and other fabrics are used for the summer dresses and wool jersey, serge and gabardine for the autumn school frock.

These dresses are sometimes made sleeveless so that a washable gimpie may be easily adjusted and removed. Plaited collar and cuff frills are seen on these gimpies more often than lace, the edges finished with picot or hemstitching. Challie, a material which always seems to stay in style for young girls' frocks, seems to need a touch of black velvet ribbon for a dainty finish.

Ruselan and middie blouses, seen in the shops, are generally accompanied by a plaited or fluted matching skirt. In middie blouse types one of polka dotted raspberry lawn has a full gathered skirt. The blouse is fashioned with a round plaited collar of white organdie, picot edged, with cuffs to match. An organdie belt is the original note of this dress. It shows only at the sides, passing through slashes in the dress in front and back.

This belt fastens at one side with two flat pearl buttons. One Russian blouse dress of pink voile is bordered and belted with matching bands of linen. The skirt is gathered and has a deep hem band of the linen.

Another dull pink Russian dress of pink linen is belted and bordered with a cream rough linen band, the blouse fastens down the front with buttons placed opposite and linked together.

Very pretty bright colored felt hats are also seen in the shops for little and big girls. They match in color the bright tones of their dresses. Small poke bonnet forms, rather jockey shaped, with a single feather or plume ornament in front, are also new. High Russian caps, covered with gathered silk, are finished with silk pompons on top and little clusters of silk roses posed at the sides.

Dresses for young girls remain very short. In extreme fashion they hardly come to the knee, while the more popular styles stop just below. Their simplicity makes them fly out prettily. The revived fashion of petticoats, which show with the swish of skirts, gives them a fluffy look.
