ELECTION OF McCALL IN BAY STATE LOOKED FOR; LICENSE IS UP IN OHIO

President Wilson Goes To Princeton To Vote—Exchanges Closed To Enable Electors to Cast Ballots—Suffrage a Question in Ohio and New York.

Boston, Nov. 6.—The voters of Massachusetts paused for a moment today in the business of repelling the ruthless Hun and marched to the polls to settle their own differences in a "peaceful and orderly manner."

The vote secured by Matthew Hale, Democratic, Progressive and Prohibition candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

The vote for the Socialist candidates all down the line.

The vote for Samuel W. McCall, Republican candidate for re-election for governor against Frederick W. Mansfield, Democrat.

The Congressional fight between W. W. Lufkin and ex-Senator George A. Schofield in the Sixth Congressional District, made vacant when the statesman-soldiers, Captain Gardner, went away to the war.

Early indications today were a little less than normal vote. Ideal weather conditions prevailed and the anti-aid fight was looked for to produce a large vote for an "off-year."

Last year Governor McCall declared in Ohio.

Columbus, O., Nov. 6.—Ohio went to the polls today to decide two questions:

Shall the state go dry or continue wet?

Shall the Reynolds law giving women the right to vote for President take effect or be rejected?

The weather was ideal—a typical Indian summer day. It presaged a heavy vote.

Today's effort to make Ohio a Sahara is the third in four years. A gain of 30,000 votes today means prohibition. The drys made that gain the last time John Barleycorn was voted on. They were after a big farmer vote today in the hopes of turning the tide and with warmly contested municipal elections the cities of the state were expected to roll up a heavy total.

Washington, Nov. 6.—President Wilson left Washington today for Princeton, N. J., where, this afternoon, he casts his vote in the state election.

In the President's party were Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumulty, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, office assistants and secret service operatives. The trip to Princeton is being made in the President's private car, "Ideal." Breakfast and luncheon will be taken en route. The schedule provides for the return to Washington of the party before the dinner hour.

The President will remain in Princeton only long enough to walk from the station to the voting place and return to his private car.

During the ride from the capital to Princeton, the President will keep constantly at work. A messenger in the party carried to the Union station a huge bundle of papers which will demand the President's attention en route.

FRENCH ARMY OFFICER AT AYER.

Camp Devens, Ayer, Mass., Nov. 6.—The body of Private Arthur E. Wiggins of Ogdensburg, N. Y., who died at the base hospital of pneumonia, was shipped to his home today. He was attached to the auxiliary remount depot quartermaster corps. Officers and non-coms were instructed today by a French army officer today in the use of automatic firearms.

Field stoves have been set up in all units and companies enjoyed meals in the open, many of them right next to barracks.

CHARGES WAR MINISTER SEEKS SEPARATE PEACE

Bourtzeff Stirs Petrograd—His Paper Suppressed By Government.

VERKHOVSKY DENIES IT.

Revolutionary Leader, the Accuser, Exposed Russian Secret Police, Supports Allies.

Petrograd, Nov. 6.—General Verkhovskiy, war minister, has proposed at a secret session of the Council of the Republic, to conclude a separate peace with Germany, according to a charge printed in "The Common Cause," a newspaper published by Vladimir Bourtzeff, historian and revolutionary leader.

The article has created a great sensation and has deeply stirred political circles.

Former Minister Skobelieff, chairman of the foreign relations committee, of the Council of the Republic, and Znamenskiy, chairman of the National Defense committee, both vigorously denied the charge. They declared that no such proposal was made by the war minister.

Bourtzeff's paper has been suppressed as a result of printing the charge. (Bourtzeff is a widely known revolutionary leader in Russia. His police made him famous. He is known as a staunch supporter of the Allies.)

London, Nov. 6.—General Verkhovskiy has been relieved of his post as minister of war in Russia, according to word from Petrograd today. No reason was assigned for his removal.

BRITISH DRIVE FORWARD NEAR PASSECHENDAELE

Nearer Roulers, One of the Chief Railway Centers In Flanders.

HOLD MOST OF RIDGE.

Next Step May Bring Attackers Nearer Belgian Submarine Bases of Germans.

London, Nov. 6.—British troops drove forward in another attack early today in the neighborhood of Passchendaele, the war office announced today. The statement adds that "satisfactory progress is being made."

General Haig's latest drive is believed to be a continuation of his plan to smash through to Roulers, one of the Germans' chief railway centers in Flanders. If the British succeed in battering their way into that stronghold they will be in position to attempt a drive to force the Germans to evacuate Ostend and Zeebrugge, their chief submarine bases. The British are known to have been planning for months a drive on these bases from land.

British troops have been at the edge of Passchendaele for a week. General Haig has been making brief "local attacks" in this sector for some time and has been steadily pressing forward. Only a little of the important Passchendaele Ridge still remains in German hands.

HERMAN BEATS BURNS.

New Orleans, Nov. 6.—Frankie Burns, New Jersey bantam, is recalled today to the knowledge that he probably will never be bantam champion of the world. Burns had his third chance to win the title in his bout with champion Pete Herman last night and failed. Herman winning easily in 20 rounds.

TERRITORIAL INTEGRITY OF CHINA GUARANTEED

Secretary of State Lansing Makes Statement Today On New Treaty.

JAPAN STATES TERMS.

Stands for "Open Door" Policy, But Recognizes Rights of All—Its Special Rights.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Both Japan and the United States have reaffirmed their determination to preserve the "open door" in China. Japan is prepared to do everything in her power to promote the "suppression of Prussian militarism," and both nations have checked a "feeling of suspicion," according to practically identical notes exchanged between Viscount Ishii and Secretary of State Robert Lansing, supplemented by a statement by the latter, all of which was made public here today.

The clear and definite understanding between the United States and Japan that both shall oppose "acquisition by any government of any special rights or privileges that would affect the independence or territorial integrity of China, or that would deny to the subjects or citizens of any country the full enjoyment of equal opportunity in the commerce and industry of China," grows out of the visit of the special diplomatic mission, of which Viscount Ishii was the head, to Washington. This understanding is affirmed in notes exchanged between the two statesmen and bearing the date of November 2.

Japan Would Co-operate. Japan's earnest desire "to co-operate in every practical way in the war against Germany," was stated by Secretary Lansing, who states that "complete and satisfactory understandings upon the matter of naval cooperation in the Pacific for the purpose of attaining the common object against Germany and her allies have been reached between the representative of the imperial Japanese navy, who is attached to the special mission of Japan, and the representative of the United States navy." Details of the scheme of cooperation, Mr. Lansing says, it would be inexpedient to disclose.

The secretary of state says that both nations recognize that "territorial propinquity creates special relations," and that the United States recognizes Japan's special interests in China and particularly in those sections contiguous to Japan; but that the United States "has every confidence in the repeated, assurances of the Imperial Japanese government that, while geographical position gives Japan such special interests, they have no desire to discriminate against the trade of other nations or to disregard the commercial rights heretofore granted by China in treaties with other powers."

Respect Territorial Integrity.

Mr. Lansing asserts that both nations deny all intention to "infringe in any way upon the independence of the territorial integrity of China" and their firm adherence to "the principle of the so-called 'open-door' or equal opportunity for commerce and industry in China."

Viscount Ishii, acknowledging Secretary Lansing's note, affirms the position of his government in language identical with that employed by the Secretary of State, stating that he does so, "under authorization of my government."

Mr. Lansing in his supplementary statement says there has been growing up between the Japanese and American people "a feeling of suspicion," which "if unchecked promised to develop a serious situation."

KEEPING WATCH ON COAST ALIENS.

Washington, Nov. 6.—The possibility of a wholesale clearing of Germans from territory near the Atlantic coast was seen in Attorney General Gregory's comment today on published stories that an order declaring all territory with 100 miles of the coast is about to be declared a barred zone to enemy aliens.

"No such orders have been issued," said the Attorney General. "The situation is under careful observation but there is nothing to report for publication at this time."

THE K. OF C. WAR FUND ON ITS FINAL QUARTER

Contributors Push the Total Past the $1,500 Mark This Noon.

A MEETING FOR TONIGHT

Joint Committee to Hold Session and Arrange For Wind-Up of K. of C. Campaign.

The Knights of Columbus war fund which is being raised with Y. M. C. A. workers co-operating has entered its last quarter. This afternoon it was safely past the $1,500 mark and all that is desired by the committee in charge is that those who have decided to contribute will get their contributions into the mails today addressed to Treasurer P. J. O'Leary. As the close of the campaign is at hand, the committee today laid emphasis on the need of an opening gun of the campaign.

All contributions received to date have been recorded for publication in the Evening Herald, and any contributor whose name has not appeared in the published list should notify Treasurer O'Leary and due correction will be promptly made.

Committee Meets Tonight. A meeting of the joint committee will be held this evening and matters pertaining to the wind-up of the K. of C. campaign will be considered. It is of course desired that the $2,000 maximum be reached at the time originally planned, the middle of the week.

MAYORALTY ELECTION BITTEREST OF YEARS

Vote of 700,000 Expected, Largest In History of New York City.

New York, Nov. 6.—Under a clear sky New York voters today went to the polls to decide the most bitterly contested mayoralty election in the city's history.

One thing was certain early in the day. That was that the vote will be a record. Political leaders estimated that it will be close to 700,000.

The betting continued to favor Judge John F. Hylan, Democratic candidate. One offer of $50,000 at 4 to 1, was made on Hylan in Wall street and found no takers.

Mitchel Second. Mayor John P. Mitchel was second choice in the betting, with the Socialist candidate, Morris Hillquit, third. Bets of 20 to 1 were offered that William M. Bennett, regular Republican candidate, would not be elected.

Every candidate has thousands of watchers stationed at the polls throughout the city. Charges of plots to steal the election have been made by both supporters of Mayor Mitchel and Hylan. Unusual police protection has been arranged. The entire police force of the city is on duty and hundreds of special officers have been sworn in just for today. It is said that the result of the election may not be known for a month or more if the final count is close. Thousands from New York City who are now in France have cast their ballots, but if will be at least a month before they are counted.

BIG MEETING THURSDAY FIRST GUN OF CAMPAIGN

Man Who Was "Over There" To Speak at Y. M. C. A. Rally.

AT THE HIGH SCHOOL HALL

Manchester Should Raise at Least $20,000—Drive Proper Starts Next Tuesday Morning.

The most important topic now being discussed by the promoters of the Y. M. C. A. War Fund campaign soon to be conducted in Manchester to raise, at least, $20,000, is the mass meeting which will be held Thursday at the high school hall.

Thursday's Mass Meeting. As announced in the Herald yesterday, there will be a parade of the Home Guard and the Boy Scouts, headed by the Salvation Army band, preceding the mass meeting. The marchers will gather at the Center and march down Main street to the high school hall. At the hall, Frank H. Anderson, chairman of the canvassers' committee, will explain the objects of the campaign and what is expected of Manchester within the next week. He will speak on the subject from the local angle. Next will appear Everett Lake and Robert P. Butler, of Hartford who will explain what the Y. M. C. A. has done and what it plans to do for our boys in service. The last speaker will be Otis O. Stanchfield, a Y. M. C. A. man who has been "over there". He will bring a message, fresh from the trenches. He will paint word pictures of conditions as they actually exist and his speech, the words of an eyewitness, will surely impress his hearers. The Salvation Army will play and the Liberty chorus will also sing at this mass meeting.

Names of Workers. Chairman Anderson is today compiling a list of the captains, lieutenants and workers who will canvass the town next week. The list will be published in these columns tomorrow. From Thursday on, the publicity campaign will be in full blast but the drive for funds will begin Tuesday morning of next week and will end on Thursday evening. The town has been divided into districts and the same plan followed in the Red Cross campaign will be used. At present the plans call for a meeting of all the captains and workers on Monday evening when the details of the campaign will be explained.

Object of the War Fund. The Y. M. C. A. wishes to raise $35,000,000 between November 11 and November 19 throughout the United States. Every town, city and hamlet in the country will be asked to raise some portion of this amount. Manchester's portion is at least $20,000 and from past performances, the reputation gained in previous campaigns, there will be raised much more than this amount in this town. K. of C. men are on the committee in charge of the Y. M. C. A. work so that the utmost harmony prevails.

What Does the Y. M. C. A. Do? Provides for our soldiers "A Home Away From Home".

At Ayer alone: The Y. M. C. A. has spent $100,000 at Camp Devens. Nine Y. M. C. A. secretaries are

UNITED STATES RUSHING SUPPLIES TO ITALY'S AID; LATTER AT GRIPS WITH FOES

Von Mackensen Forces Meet Third Italian Army—Von Below Forces Coming on From the North—Still Uncertain Where General Cadorna Will Make Final Stand—Believe It Will Be at Piane River.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Thousands of tons of coal, wheat, steel and other supplies are being rushed today to the relief of Italy in some of the ships which were commandeered by this government and placed in the service of the Italian government. Five of these large cargo ships are now on their way. Twenty more ships, which are to be chartered to the Italians under arrangements completed by the shipping board, are being made ready to leave.

All of the ships so designated will be in service by the last of November, shipping board officials announced today. Italy's needs at this moment are recognized by officials as so pressing that consideration is being given to the question of diverting a still larger amount of tonnage to the use of the Italians.

TWOFOLD ODDS AGAINST ITALY.

Rome, Nov. 6.—The Italian forces are battling against twofold odds today in their determination to prevent a further invasion by the enemy. The Mackensen forces, having effected a crossing of the Tagliamento river above Pinzano, which is but 40 miles from the Adriatic, are today in battle with the Third Italian Army, the last to cross the river in the retreat from Udine.

The Von Below forces, having won the passes in the Carnic Alps, are coming down from the north. Advices from the front are to the effect that they are meeting with stubborn resistance.

The positions of the two divisions of General Cadorna's army lead military authorities here to believe that the Italian commander-in-chief has not reached the point where he plans to make the determined stand against the enemy.

It is pointed out that the Third Italian Army has been used primarily to check the advancing Mackensen forces.

General Cadorna, apparently, planning for time during the last two weeks, has hurriedly been ordered to strong positions.

FOUR DEAD, ONE DYING IN BERLIN AUTO WRECK

Party En Route to Hartford In Fearful Accident Last Night.

ONE KILLED OUTRIGHT.

Four Others Fatally Hurt Including Mrs. William Nann of Hartford—Victims.

New Britain, Nov. 6.—Four persons lost their lives and a fifth is dying in the wreck of a Pierce Arrow car which left the road, ripped up half a dozen heavy posts, overturned and caught fire about 11 o'clock last night on the Berlin turnpike, north of Berlin and near the Beckley crossing, while the party were apparently speeding toward Hartford between 50 and 60 miles an hour. The dead are:

William Nann, 22, waiter, of 41 Holmes Avenue, West Haven.
Eugene J. Sullivan, 22, chauffeur of the car, and driver for F. S. Palmer, taxicab dealer, of 34 Temple street, New Haven.

Mildred Dunham, 24, employed in a New Haven box factory.
James J. Campana, proprietor of the Pleasant View Hotel, Savin Rock, West Haven.

Fatally hurt: Mrs. Mary Nann, wife of William Nann, better known as Mary Wilson, mezzo soprano singer at Bond's restaurant, Hartford.

En Route to Hartford. It is believed the party were hurrying to reach Hartford in order that Mrs. Nann, who had spent Sunday in New Haven, might fulfill her engagement at the Hartford restaurant. The party left New Haven in the afternoon, but where they had been in the meantime does not appear.

The accident was discovered by J. H. Houghton, a farm hand, who secured aid, and Sullivan and Campana were removed alive from underneath the burning car and brought to the hospital here, where Sullivan and

EXPECT 150,000 CARDS FOR STATE BY NIGHT

Food Administrator Scoville

Wires Hoover So In Washington.

124,263 AT NOON.

Record of Yesterday, 14,050—Hartford and New Haven Sign 17,000 Each.

With the ambitious goal of 200,000 cards just coming in sight, an urgent eleventh hour appeal was today sent out through Connecticut by the leaders of the food pledge card campaign. A hurried count this forenoon of the contents of several mail sacks delivered at headquarters showed 14,059 as the result of yesterday's canvass. With these cards added to the Monday night total of 110,204 it would seem that there were 124,263 cards counted and in the files at headquarters. Of these, Hartford and New Haven have each furnished about 17,000.

Scoville Wires Hoover. Robert Scoville, Connecticut's Federal Food Administrator, when he heard this noon's total, promptly wired Herbert Hoover at Washington thus:

"At noon today Connecticut had 124,263 cards in hand with more coming and likely to pass 150,000 by tonight."

George M. Landers, chairman of the Connecticut committee of food supply, held a conference today with campaign director Francis R. Cooley, Mrs. Joseph W. Alsop, head of the women workers, and with Mr. Scoville, and offered his entire state organization and facilities for whatever use it might be in the closing hours of the food card campaign.

Talcottville

Misses Isabel and Christine Bachelier left Saturday morning for Tarpon Springs, Florida. They will spend the winter there as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Innes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smith spent Sunday in Boston.

Last Saturday, when the pier car of the Putnam local, going east, was opened at this station, the car was found flooded with oil. A large oil barrel had burst and the car floor was covered to the depth of several inches with the thick oil. A great many commodities of different classes was saturated with it. The freight had to be transferred and the oil swept out. It is not known as to the amount of damage done to some of the freight but the loss of the barrel of oil is placed at $5.00. There was only one hoop on the end that broke and there should have been four.

Miss Ruth Talcott has returned from Troy, N. Y., where she has been spending a few days.

James McNally, William Smith, William Prentice, Clayton Rider and Wallace Thrall were unable to go to Ayer, Mass., Sunday because of the breakdown of Mr. Thrall's machine at the last minute. The boxes of food that the members of the Intermediate C. E. society had packed for the four men from here that are at Camp Devens, were sent by Adams Express from Rockville after much trouble and delay. It was thought that they could be sent Sunday evening from Rockville with seven young men that were going in a limousine, but there was no room in the car.

Herbert Kunkhe of Camp Devens spent Sunday with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dawkins' son, Thomas Hope, was baptized last Sunday.

Horace Rivenburg of Bridgeport, Howard Smith and Clarence Smith spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith. In two days' hunting the young men bagged 18 squirrels, two rabbits and a male pheasant which measured thirty-six inches across from one tip of his wing to the other. The pheasant is to be mounted.

A large number signed and returned the food pledge cards for the first week ending November 3. Some records were made for the first week.

J. E. Bradley spent the week end in Boston.

John McKenna of Manchester spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Alec McKenna.

The Gulf Refining Co.'s large seven ton truck became stalled in front of the home of William Smith Sunday afternoon. The driver attempted to turn around and in doing so got into the ditch and became stalled. With the aid of a pair of horses, and after breaking several long chains and ropes the truck was finally hauled back into the road.

There was a large attendance at the Sunday evening service to hear Rev. F. P. Bachelier's stirring address concerning the present outlook of the war.

The meeting of the Intermediate C. E. society will be held at 6:30 next Sunday evening instead of the usual time.

Bolton

An entertainment for the benefit of the Bolton Library is to be given in Bolton Hall Saturday evening, November 10. The entertainers will be Clarence T. Hubbard, magician, and humorist, and George B. Thayer, speaker. His subject will be, "In Hell and Out", a war experience. Following the entertainment the Tuxedo orchestra will play for dancing.

The dance given in the Bolton hall Saturday evening was well patronized.

Mrs. E. Jane Finley has returned from Willimantic where she visited her daughter, Mrs. Henry Fryer of Bellevue street.

William B. Trowbridge of Hartford spent Sunday in town.

Rev. Raymond A. Fowles was out of town over Sunday.

Rev. Mr. Winters of the Hartford Theological Seminary occupied the pulpit of the local church Sunday.

Miss Annie M. Alvord entertained the Ladies' Aid society at her home last Thursday afternoon, when the annual meeting was held. The officers were elected for the coming year as follows: President, Miss Annie M. Alvord; secretary and treasurer, Miss Adella N. Loomis; board of directors, Mrs. Frank H. Strong, Mrs. Charles N. Loomis and Mrs. J. Wesson Phelps. During the past year the society has raised $250 and spent $135. It was voted to do Red Cross work at the meetings, a vote that must meet with the hearty approval of all.

Miss Josephine Matheln was home from Preston for the week end. Miss Kate C. Pomeroy of Hartford spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. C. E. Pomeroy.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Hutchinson and daughter of Hartford spent the week end with Mrs. Hutchinson's sister, Mrs. Jennie L. Bolton.

OUR BOYS SOON TO HAVE AN ARMY SERVICE CLUB

Will Cost, When Finished, $40,000, and Will Be 200 Yards from Railroad Station.

(Special to the Evening Herald.)
Ayer, Mass., Nov. 5.—Before the snow flies the soldiers at Camp Devens will have an Army Service Club in this town within 200 yards of the railroad station and in the heart of town. It will be the soldier's "own" club, directed by them, policed by them with the entertainment of their making. It will cost when finished upward of $40,000 and will be paid for out of the War Camp Community Fund which begins its drive Monday, Nov. 5 for $700,000 in New England.

Ground has been broken for another soldiers' club within the limits of the town just outside of the camp. This will call for an expenditure of $50,000 and is also to be paid for by the War Camp Community Fund. In anticipation of the gifts that are to come Joseph Lee, member of the national council, induced the Ayer Army Service Committee to have these projects underwritten and later have the underwriters reimbursed from the funds.

Its Location.
The new club which will be completed by the end of this month is located at West and Cambridge street. It will be strictly an out and out men's club; secondly a comfortable and chaperoned center where the proverbial sweetheart wife or mother, on arrival by train or automobile, may await her soldier and find a secluded parlor where she may enjoy tea or tears in privacy.

The recreation building, which is approximately 115x75 feet, will have in the basement bowling alleys, pool tables and special bathing facilities for the men. There is also a heating plant, ice cream chamber and storage space where the folding chairs of the theater may alternate with the little round tables of the restaurant as the hall above may require.

Main Auditorium.
The main auditorium is one story high at the sides but reaches up in the center clear to the timbered ceiling 30 feet high. There are windows in the upper half like the clerestory of a Gothic church, which give light to the hall or allow those on the roof garden outside to look in.

On either side of the lobby are two large counters, one with complete soda and ice cream fitting and the other for candy, tobacco. Dumb waiters connect these two counters with ice cream room in the basement.

The floor space in the main auditorium has ample space for 75 tables to seat four or five guests. Such an array will only be necessary on Saturday and Sunday. At the further end of the auditorium is a large raised stage with footlights and dressing rooms. There is also a ladies' waiting room to the left and a service pantry to the right.

Committee in Charge.
The Ayer committee will have final control over the affairs of the club house, but they will delegate a large part of the active work to a soldiers' committee. Although any man in uniform will be admitted free of charge to the club and may bring guests subject only to proper behavior, it is proposed to have an enlisted men's organization with a representative from each regiment at Camp Devens, and this body shall draw up the regulations for the conduct of the men, assist in the "policing" and will consider and transmit any complaint or suggestions which may be made.

ENORMOUS HAT ORDER PUZZLES ARMY CHIEFS.

"One army campaign hat, size 10 1/2," was the requisition of the commander of Company II of the 164th Depot Brigade at Camp Funston, Kan., sent to the brigade supply officer. The supply officer, thinking it was a mistake, sent the order back to the company commander. The latter stated that he really wanted a hat that size.

Investigation developed that the hat is desired by one John Helst, a giant Norwegian from North Dakota. He was homesteading in that state when called for the draft. He has always had his hats made to order, and much trouble has resulted from this.

Helst is all fitted out except the hat, and he is anxiously waiting for his head gear. That is on the way.

THE RAILWAY STOCKS.

Yesterday's collapse of the railway shares on the exchanges was due to many different causes and conditions, and not to any one. The threatened strike of the 210,000 trainmen and conductors, who want an average of 16 per cent. higher wages, and the possibility of the engineers and firemen making similar demands and threats, is only the last straw upon the camel's back.

The condition of railway properties, the cost of maintaining them and of performing proper service at existing rates are bound up with the roads' financial situation. Neither set of factors can be isolated as a cause from the other as an effect. Each is probably both a cause and an effect.

The material factor was expatiated upon yesterday by the counsel for the eastern carriers, George Stuart Patterson before the Interstate commerce commission, and includes cost of coal and other supplies, equipment and labor.

The financial factor is also potent. Undoubtedly many heavy investors have dumped their shares upon the market largely because of the fact that the Liberty bonds saved them a heavy burden of taxation. This may not have been their chief or only reason, but it was an important one. A statistician has figured that persons with incomes of $60,000 or more would do better to retain their Liberty 3 1/2's instead of converting them into the 4's, which shows the even greater advantage, for persons of large means, of the first bonds in escaping taxation.

The Liberty bonds also have affected the railway bond market in a disastrous way, for the same taxation factor crops out again.

The certificate issues of the government also probably had an effect. These are only some of the recent causes of the situation. The selling of thousands of shares of good railway stocks previously held abroad depressed the shares earlier in the year. Then the Adamson law and the refusal of the Interstate commerce commission to grant a flat increase of 15 per cent. in freight rates followed. And the full crew law, requiring the railways to use road men that they didn't need, while it entered into the situation long ago is now showing its full cumulative effects.

The "sins of the fathers" seems in this connection to be "visited upon the children" in the shape of an effort on the part of the government by omission if not commission, to exterminate the latter.

TAGLIAMENTO AND AFTER.

The crossing of the Tagliamento by a force of Germans and Austro-Hungarians, which cable dispatches from abroad reported yesterday, will if true make the Italian retreat before the superior forces of von Mackensen a more serious matter than was supposed in prospect. It is difficult to believe that the Teutons could have thrown a considerable detachment across the river in secrecy, and if it was accomplished in the open, it is equally difficult to imagine a successful continuance in the newly-won positions without a great deal of hard fighting.

The Tagliamento offered by far the best natural facilities for defense that General Cadorna had, and if a further retreat to the Brenta river is necessary, a far weaker line will have to be defended and most of the province of Venetia will be lost to the Italians.

This is not all. It is not impossible for the Teutons to make a new thrust from the Trentino on the north, turn the Italian line behind the Tagliamento or the Brenta, and force an Italian retirement behind the Po and the Mincio.

A serious feature of the new campaign for the Allies is that the forces the Central Powers are using appear to have been drawn from the most part from the Russian-Austro-Hungarian front.

The aid which the Allies and the United States can soon enough give Italy in the crisis is practically negligible.

Italy's assertion that a declaration of war by the United States against Austria-Hungary would be the best aid this country could give at the moment seems far-fetched. That a declaration would help is of course unquestionable.

ADVERTISING MANCHESTER.

Manchester bids fair at last to get a place on the map. It has long been a source of regret to public spirited citizens that this place has received so little credit for the industries it has built up. Its products are sold all over the world but are advertised from their New York selling agencies. Cheney Brothers, whose silks are extensively advertised, are now putting out a new line of publicity which gives South Manchester as the place where their goods are produced and portrays the clean, pleasant and healthful conditions under which the silks are manufactured and the attractive features of the community. Such advertising as this will soon give the place a wide reputation. The only drawback to it is that it advertises the town as South Manchester, while in fact South Manchester is only a post office in the town of Manchester.

CONNECTICUT'S AUTO VICTIMS.

The past summer and this fall have seen a record of killing and maiming in automobile accidents that must startle every owner of a machine. Hardly a week has gone by that has not witnessed a serious smashup, and some of the deaths ensuing have been horrible.

A man and woman were burned to death in the accident on the Berlin turnpike last night, and three other occupants of the car were so badly injured that one or more will die.

The lamentable thing about these accidents is that 90 per cent of them are preventable. Speeding is the primary cause of them, and that includes various other things like "careless driving," "reckless driving" and so forth, not to mention other acts that would be harmless in many instances if the car were going at a moderate rate.

The full appalling character of the casualties from auto accidents can only be appreciated by the public by publishing state-wide a circumstantial list and enumeration of the victims.

The motives of most of the state and national propaganda for philanthropic, benevolent, educational or reform objects, are beyond reproach, of course. But one wonders what effect all this mass of "literature" that streams out of various publicity offices amounts to, after all. Many an organization contents itself with passing resolutions—the nearest it comes to practical work—talking, printing the findings of surveys, and so on, yet actually does nothing. It is "tough-minded" to ask how the material welfare of anybody is improved by some of these so-called "campaigns," but after all, that is the common touch-stone of results.

If the number of stockholders of the railways, which has more than doubled in a few years, in some cases, is increased by the present indiscriminate depression of railway shares, the depression may not be in vain. One road boasts 100,000 stockholders, and the controlling element of other roads is such only by reason of the vote of small shareholders, given because of efficiency of administration. It is interesting to observe that while New Haven is down to 24, it has withstood the latest decline better than most of its fellows.

War crises are occurring or taking place weekly nowadays. That "Italy's existence is in the balance" in the action about the Tagliamento river, as a distinguished commentator says, remains to be seen. The authority of the gentleman in question is naturally more reliable in a monthly review than in a daily editorial article.

PLUMBERS STILL OUT.

The local plumbers and master mechanics are still at a deadlock. The plumbers went out on strike last week, when their demands for an increase of $3 a week were refused and they are still out. The master mechanics still refuse to grant the demands of the men because they say the men did not give a long enough notice to allow cleaning up contracts figured on the old basis. They claim the men have broken rules by striking on so short a notice, and, if the men do not return to their work soon, they intend to advertise for other men to take the strikers' places.

TEETH TREATED FREE BY LOCAL DENTISTS

Drafted Recruits In Future May Go To Camp With Perfect Mouths.

TOOTHACHE A COMMON ENEMY IN CAMP LIFE

Dental League Formed to Put an End to Mouth Troubles of the Enlisted Men—Dr. Cramer Heads Local Branch.

Through the generosity of local dentists, the men who have been certified by the draft boards and are now awaiting the call for service, as well as those who will hereafter be drafted, may have their mouths placed in first class condition without charge. This is part of a nation wide movement organized by the Dental Preparedness League, under the direction of the surgeon general of the United States. Experience has shown that one of the first obstacles to military efficiency in the training camps arises from defective teeth. The transformation from indoor life to outdoor life has a tendency to produce colds which settle in the teeth. Many a man, otherwise physically perfect, is disabled in camp by a painful tooth, and is kept in his bunk when he should be drilling with his company on the drill field.

The dentists say that if a man's teeth are properly attended to before he leaves home he will not be troubled by them after he gets in camp. Therefore they have volunteered to do their bit by donating their services and materials to place in perfect condition the mouths of such recruits as will come to them.

The whole country has been organized by the Dental Preparedness League. Each state has a chairman who appoints county chairmen and these in turn appoint district chairmen. The state chairman for Connecticut is Dr. Crosby of New Haven, the county chairman for Hartford county is Dr. Murless of Hartford and the district chairman for the Fourth district is Dr. W. L. Cramer of this place.

There are 59 men in this district who have been certified by the examining board and are awaiting the call to service. Most of them are in Manchester, though some of them are in the other towns of the district, East Hartford, South Windsor, Glastonbury and Marlborough. But all the dentists in the district, with a single exception, are located in Manchester so that the recruits from all over the district will be treated here except the few who will be treated by a dentist in East Hartford.

All the local recruits have been notified to appear for examination at Dr. Cramer's office tomorrow night. There they will be examined by Dr. Cramer and Dr. Green and will be allotted to the different dentists in town who belong to the League and will treat them free of charge.

Of course there is nothing in this plan to prevent a recruit from going to his own dentist in the regular way and paying for his work. The idea is to make sure that no recruit will have to suffer the tortures of toothache or to undergo treatment with the crude apparatus of a field dentist's outfit.

Some of the local dentists have volunteered to give one or two hours a day to this work; others have agreed to give up a certain day of the week to it. They will contribute their labor and the materials needed without charge, as a contribution to the welfare of the men who have been called into active service.

K. OF C.'S "STARS."

The six stars in the service flag of Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, are for the following members of the council who are in different branches of Uncle Sam's service: Dr. J. A. Higgins, who is with the Medical Reserves at a base hospital in England; Lieutenant Thomas Ward of Company L, 26th U. S. Infantry, who is with Pershing's men "somewhere in France"; Private Edward V. Harrington, who is with the 101st Machine Gun Battalion "somewhere in France"; Max Bengs, taking the officers' training course at Plattsburg; Joe Madden, who is with Company G, Medical Reserve Corps, at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Ga., and Charles Trebbe, who is training in an aviation corps at Fort Omaha at Omaha, Neb.

$500 IS STILL NEEDED TO PAY FOR XMAS KITS

Local Red Cross Chapter Must Get That Amount Before the End of the Week.

There is need for a speeding up of the contributions for Manchester's quota of Christmas kits for our boys in service. So far $715 has been contributed, a little more than half. About $500 is still needed to pay for the kits.

Manchester's quota was set at 850 kits. These kits cost $1.50 each so that this town has to contribute $1,275 for Christmas presents. The local chapter of the Red Cross, because the kits had to be sent off quickly to reach the boys overseas in time for Christmas, bought these kits outright. The individual packages have been packed and there still remains the various items to be placed in one bundle before they are shipped to headquarters in New York. The situation today is that the local Red Cross will be out $500 unless Manchester residents contribute that amount before the end of the week. These kits will be exhibited within the next few days at Watkins store.

Yesterday's contributions amounted to $46 with these as the contributors: Louis Carter, Lawrence Case, Lucius Pinney, Mrs. Warren Taylor, the Misses Bartlett, Arthur Straw and the Manchester 500 Club.

Since all of the workers in this fund offer their services gratis, the local chapter uses The Evening Herald as a means of acknowledging contributions to save stamps as in this work there will not be one cent spent that is not absolutely necessary. All of the money contributed goes to the soldiers and sailors.

Late this afternoon Mr. Watkins, for the Red Cross society, reported that he had received $75 from H. B. Cheney, Mrs. Catherine Farley and Frank D. Cheney. At the same time, Mrs. D. C. Y. Moore announced that she had received $17.35 from the Ladies' Aid society of the Center Congregational church and a group of Campfire girls.

RED CROSS SEALS ON HAND OUR TOWN'S SHARE 50,000

Money Received From Sale of Seals Will Go Into Fight Against Tuberculosis.

The sale of the 1917 Red Cross Christmas seals was launched in Manchester yesterday. Miss Elizabeth M. Bennett, supervisor of the Barnard school, has general charge of the sale and she was assisted by the other school teachers in distributing the seals among the school children and the local stores. By night, 50,000 of the seals were in the hand of teachers, school children and store keepers. The children of all the schools in town are engaged in the sale of the seals and practically every store has them.

As is generally understood, the Red Cross Christmas seals are sold each year to help in the fight against tuberculosis. Because of war conditions, tuberculosis has been spreading among the European nations and now that the United States is in the war it is more urgent than ever that the Red Cross be helped in raising funds with which to combat this dread disease.

At least 85 per cent. of the money realized on the sales in Manchester will go to the open air school and the remaining 15 per cent will go to the American Red Cross. Last year, there was such a large sale of the seals in Manchester that 90 per cent. went to the open air school. Tubercular children do not attend the open air school, but those who are in a weakened condition and therefore apt to become victims of the disease attend. It is therefore considered a preventative measure and for that reason the money from the sale of the Red Cross seals is given to the school.

LETTER FROM DR. HIGGINS.

In a recent letter from Dr. J. A. Higgins to Manchester friends he states that he is in a hospital in Devonport, England, where he is engaged in the surgical department. In this hospital alone there are 1400 beds and they are all occupied. Most of the men are under 35 years of age and a large majority are maimed for life. He says that the patients are very cheerful and that they occupy their time by knitting and making fancy work of various sorts. The doctor is in the best of health although he admits that he has been a bit homesick.

SUGGESTS U. S. IMPORT RABBITS FOR FOOD.

The importation of Australian rabbits for use as food in the United States is suggested by H. C. Hoyle, Special Commissioner for New South Wales, in a communication to the Idaho State Game Warden. Hoyle says the Australian rabbit is yielding his country $15,000,000 annually as a food animal, whereas like the Jackrabbit of the Texas panhandle, it formerly was regarded as a pest.

YOUNG OFFICER'S VALOR

Rises Three Times After Being Thrown to Ground—German Losses Unknown.

With the American Forces in France, Nov. 6.—A young American lieutenant is the hero of the first real clash between German and American troops, which resulted in the capture of 12 Americans, the killing of three Americans and two Frenchmen and the wounding of four Americans.

This young officer bravely tried to rush through the barrage fire that the Germans were dropping back of the Americans' position, to get reinforcements for the attack he knew was coming. He had gone but a short distance when a shell exploded near him and hurled him to earth. He got up and continued going, even though shells were dropping all around him. A second shell exploded almost against him knocked him down a second time. He got up for the third time and tried to pierce through the rain of steel. He stumbled along in a semi-conscious condition until he was sent down for the third time, unconscious. He is suffering from shell shock, but is expected to recover soon.

The German Attack.

The German attack occurred on a sector of the front where the two first line trenches are about 800 yards apart. It is believed that the Germans had planned the attack for several days and that they knew that Americans occupied the trenches against which their movement was directed. The enemy took advantage of a heavy mist and rainfall in the early hours of Saturday morning to make the attack.

The relief had just gone in when the Germans opened a heavy bombardment. They sent shell after shell into the first line trenches and began dropping at the same time a heavy barrage fire in a horseshoe curve in back and around the side of the section of the trench they planned to attack. The barrage fire made it impossible for reinforcements to be brought up. At the same time the Germans began shelling the barbed wire in front of the American trenches with demolition shells. Wide paths were blown through the wire entanglements by the German shells, making way for the advancing German troops.

Sammies Like Vets.

Despite the fact that it was their first time under heavy shell fire, the Americans held to their posts like veterans, according to the report of the French divisional commander. Even though realizing they would probably be greatly outnumbered, owing to the fact that no reinforcements could be brought up, the Americans kept peering over the top of the trench, while shells dropped around, watching for the Germans they were sure would come.

The artillery fire on the first line trenches suddenly lifted, and through the holes in the barbed wire entanglements poured German soldiers. Their party far outnumbered the handful of Americans holding the trench. It was said later there were 201 in the force. American rifles cracked and the American machine guns sputtered forth streams of lead, but the Germans, by sheer weight of numbers, pressed forward and literally smothered the American attack. The Germans jumped down into the trench, where real hand-to-hand fighting took place. The Americans fought bravely with knives, revolvers and bayonets, but numbers told, and the Germans, who used hand grenades, overcame them. The German casualties are unknown.

TRYING TO STOP KANSAS COAL STRIKES.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Fuel Administrator Garfield announced today that pending word from President Frank J. Hayes, of the International Miners' union, he would withhold announcement as to the action the government will take to force resumption of work in the Kansas coal fields.

Mr. Hayes, at the request of the fuel administrator, has intervened and has advised Garfield he will use his influence to induce the men to return to work. Reports today show that every mine in Kansas is shut down.

"The Kansas situation appears serious, but I am hopeful that the questions in dispute can be soon adjusted," Garfield said.

Making a Soldier of the Seas

A Marine Corps Cantonment, Nov. 6.—The only enlisted man in the service of the United States with two medals of honor is one Daniel Dailey, top sergeant of a machine gun company of the Marine Corps in training here.

He got his second medal only the other day. It is strung on a blue ribbon spangled with white stars, and it is to be worn around the neck, but Top Sergeant Dailey carries it in his back pocket with his pipe. Not that he doesn't appreciate it—that he does—but in the back pocket with his pipe is a place of honor, and besides it wouldn't look well as a necktie. If he wore one medal around his neck he'd have to wear the other there, too, so as to show no discrimination, Dailey feels the only thing to do is to keep them in his back pocket.

Dailey is the real fighting man. He is the oldest man in his company—older than the major himself—and he enlisted long ago. It was during the boxer rebellion in China that he earned his first medal of honor. Dailey wasn't the first man over the wall, but he was the first man over that particular section at which he was stationed. He held back an entire army corps, more or less of Boxers until the rest of the boys got up and over, and a medal of honor was his reward.

The second medal came after he pitched into a gang of bandits down in Santo Domingo and routed them single handed. Dailey never displays his medals except to the friends of the major, on the major's orders. Then he does it reluctantly. He has something of the attitude of a miser toward them.

Although he must be full of them, Dailey never tells a story. When the boys gather in the bunkhouse at night Dailey will go out into the camp and hunt up some old cirony of former campaigns who is a story teller and bring him back to entertain the newly enlisted men. Then he will go back to bed, for Dailey is the hero of many a story that is told by the older men of the Marine Corps.

"What do you think of the new Springfield?" asked the major of his top sergeant when they were fighting the little brown men in the Philippines.

"Not much," said the "Old Top." "I hit a feller in the neck with one the other day and it didn't break it."

"What, the rifle?" "No, his neck."

Dailey is just as anxious to get started on the "big trip" as any one in camp. The difference is that others expect to come back. Dailey doesn't.

"If the Dutch don't get me," he says, "the weather will." Dailey is an old man. His hair is snow white, and if he wore a beard he would seem a patriarch. But, unlike most old men who know what war is, he is glad America got into the big fight. The day war was declared was the happiest of his life. The only time he ever was tempted to desert was when he thought he wouldn't. He wanted a crack at the Boche.

A Marine Corps Cantonment, Nov. 5.—Although the Lewis machine gun with which the Marine Corps machine gun companies in training here are equipped weighs only twenty-seven pounds and can be handled by one man in a charge, each gun has a carriage on which it is carried on a long march.

The carriage also carries many boxes filled with the round magazines in which ammunition is stored and a tripod on which the gun may be set up in fairly permanent positions. It is a two-wheeled, rubber-tired contrivance, that can be pulled at great speed over the roughest ground. One Marine Corps man has invented a motor for propelling machine-gun carriages, but the gun itself is so light that the motor has not been generally adopted.

Once set up the machine gun can hold back an entire company of infantry so long as it has ammunition. In the trenches machine gun emplacements are fixed at regular intervals along the line and arranged in such a way that their fire crisscrosses. Under such fire nothing can live. Machine gun officers say one machine gun will do the work of fifty infantrymen with rifles.

Both sides in the European war have learned the lesson the machine gun holds and charges seldom are made in the face of machine gun fire. Usually an effort is made to destroy the machine gun with a well-placed shell before attempting to take a position it defends.

The Lewis gun may be played like a garden hose. It may be used either in ground fighting, on aeroplanes or as an anti-aircraft gun. Each of its magazines holds forty-nine cartridges and so long as the operator keeps his finger on the trigger the gun will continue firing a steady stream of lead. When a charge is undertaken, barbed wire entanglements in front of the trenches usually are cut down with machine gun fire. A tree may be cut down in an instant by turning the fire of a machine gun across it. All marine corps battalions now being organized, are equipped with a certain number of machine guns, in addition to the regular machine gun company that goes with each unit. The marines are staking their faith in the machine gun "to beat the Dutch."

paigh have heard on all sides expressions of satisfaction over the success of the plan of raising this fund for the Knights of Columbus, and the workers of the last named organization express their appreciation in the highest terms for the assistance, counsel and co-operation given by the Y. M. C. A. workers. "For All the Soldiers All the Time" has been the slogan from the beginning, and both workers and contributors have had but one object in mind—that of providing for the social side, the home side, of the life of the soldier, bringing the best possible influence into the strange environment into which the war crisis has plunged our young men.

FIGHT OVER RIGHT TO SELL LIQUOR.

New Milford, Nov. 6.—A legal fight has developed here over the action of the County commissioners in refusing to permit five saloon keepers here the privilege of selling liquor during this month. The saloon keepers, whose licenses expired November 1, made their applications for renewal in due form and the County commissioners, acting under legal advice, refused them. An amendment to the liquor laws passed by the last general assembly granted the additional month, but another amendment passed later apparently nullified it. The saloon keepers have appealed to the superior court and a decision is expected to settle the matter. In the meantime the saloons will continue open.

TO ARRAIGN ALIENS AT BOSTON.

New Haven, Nov. 6.—Five of the seven escaped German sailors from the steamships Vaterland, Kaiser Wilhelm II, and other interned German vessels who were captured by the local police in a North Haven brick yard, where they were employed last Saturday, will be taken to Boston for arraignment before a United States Commission. An immigration inspector from that city came here today for the men. Two of them will remain in this city for further investigation of the cases.

BRIDGEPORT ELECTIONS.

Bridgeport, Nov. 6.—The election of a mayor and a city ticket in this city and the choosing of a congressman in the Fourth District including all the towns of Fairfield County, to succeed the late Ebenezer J. Hill, were the only elections held in this state today. In the city Mayor Clifford B. Wilson, Republican, is seeking re-election for a third term and is opposed by William P. Kirk, Democrat. In the Congressional contest Schuyler Merritt, of Stamford, Republican nominee, is opposed by Lynn W. Wilson, Democrat, of this city. A good sized vote in the city and a light vote in the country towns was forecast early today.

FOR PEACE CONFERENCE.

London, Nov. 6.—Preparation of a proposal for a preliminary peace conference at Berne in December by the Central Powers were hinted at in dispatches today from Amsterdam. Two representatives for each belligerent is the German plan, according to the dispatch. The rumor has it that formal announcement of the move will be made in the Reichstag some time this month by Chancellor Hertling.

UNIVERSITY UNION HOTEL CROWDED.

New Haven, Nov. 6.—A cable received by Anson Phelps Stokes, chairman of the board of trustees of the American University Union in Europe, stated that the Royal Palace Hotel in Paris, which was opened two weeks ago as headquarters for the union, is already overflowing and that additional hotel accommodations are being secured. The union has been established to meet the needs of American University men and their friends who are in Europe for military or other service.

OIL EXPLOSION HURTS SEVERAL.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Several workmen were injured, none fatally, today, when the big gasoline plant of the Hope Oil and Gasoline Company at Hastings, W. Va., was partly destroyed by fire, following an explosion. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

YEGGMEN GET $300.

Jewett City, Nov. 6.—Yeggmens blew the safe in the office of the Aspinook bleachers here last night and escaped with $300 in cash and Liberty bonds valued at $300. No one heard the explosion which demolished the safe.

BUCK HOUSE BURNS.

Willimantic, Nov. 6.—An old farm house owned by G. Buck in Westford was burned to the ground early today. Two families who lived in the house and were employed by Buck lost all their belongings. The loss is estimated at $2,500.

BARON VON STEUBEN IS CLAIM.

FRENCHMAN, IS CLAIM. That Baron "von" Steuben, of Revolutionary War fame, was properly named Baron "de" Steuben and was a Frenchman and not a Prussian, is the claim of A. B. Gardiner, secretary-general of the Society of Cincinnati, in a statement made public at Indianapolis.

Baron "de" Steuben was of German birth, but renounced Prussia and owed allegiance to France when he came to America to help the Revolutionary cause, according to Gardiner. He asserts that Steuben expatriated himself after making a glorious record in the Seven Years War, but says the full reason for his expatriating himself probably will never be known.

AERIAL ROADS.

Passenger Transportation by Air Sure After War, Says Aero-plane Inventor.

Plans for aeroplane jitneys, as safe as a flivver, and aerial highways criss-crossing the American continent with seven-mile stops, are occupying the time, genius and energy of Orville Wright, Dayton inventor, who, with his brother, made the aeroplane practical. Wright is not much interested in battle cruisers of the air, although he admits they are important to win the war. Wright views the aeroplane as a messenger of peace and not a tool of Mars. Hence his activity in behalf of the aero-jitneys.

A dozen years ago the first successful flight of a heavier-than-air machine was made by the Wright brothers here. Orville Wright now believes the next ten years will mark even greater use of the air machines.

Aerial Highways. "As soon as the war is over I expect to see the whole country mapped out with aerial highways," says Wright. "Along these routes, say every seven miles, there will be alighting places and hangars. Thus, with a person flying from a half-mile to a mile above ground, it will be possible to glide to the next landing place, should engine trouble develop between stations.

"After the war flying will become safe, popular and comparatively cheap."

Wright said that the need was for a low-priced machine, with about 100 horsepower and efficient wings and high stability, so that little landing space is needed.

The Aero Club of America is campaigning for air travel routes, so that manufacturers of aeroplanes can deliver their product to army training stations by air. The first air line will be between New York and San Francisco and will be known as the "Woodrow Wilson Aerial Highway," in commemoration of the $640,000,000 war-aeroplane budget.

STUDENT SAILORS LEARN HAMMOCK ACROBATICS.

Ten thousand bluejackets of the Great Lakes naval training station are learning a new acrobatic feat since the completion of winter barracks and the removal of the sailors in training from the tents to the barracks.

The new stunt is to climb into a hammock suspended seven feet above the "deck". It is a difficult stunt.

Reveille is blown at 5 a. m. and the embryo seamen have discovered that, although the hammock is a much warmer place to sleep than were the cots in the tent, despite the difficulty of getting into it, there isn't a chance to steal a cat nap after reveille is blown. The "jimmy-legs" who toots reveille is equipped with a long pole, with which he turns the sleepy sailor onto the cold deck if Mr. Jackie does not hit the deck of his own volition within five minutes after reveille is sounded.

The new barracks are arranged with assembly rooms and a library. All the barracks are electric lighted. Competent instructors supervise all cooking.

In addition to the main mess hall, where the larger number of men are fed, there are at the Great Lakes more than a score of smaller galleys. There is the best known of all—the detention galley, presided over by Paeky Swartz, friend of the recruit.

Each individual galley is manned with cooks, but the baking for all is done at the main galley by bakers in training.

Some idea of the demand made on the bakers is gained when it is known that approximately 4,000 pies are required to serve one meal. The cakes are not elaborate affairs, but they frequently have two layers.

ed. It was pointed out that their votes might decide the result. An unusually heavy vote was cast during the opening hours, especially in Brooklyn, the lower east side and Brownsville.

The greatest army of watchers ever seen in a New York city election was on hand early. The army included anti-suffrage workers.

Judge Hylan was the first of the mayoralty candidates to vote. He admitted he voted the Democratic ticket "straight" and also had voted for the suffrage amendment.

In many instances the early vote was at the rate of one a minute. These votes were cast by those who have to be at their work early.

WILDWOOD, N. J., HOTEL BURNS

Wildwood, N. J., Nov. 6.—The Hotel Greylock was destroyed by fire here early today. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

The origin of the fire is unknown.

FOUR DEAD, ONE DYING

IN BERLIN AUTO WRECK

Campane later died. Nann was found under the car dead, and when the fire had apparently burned itself out the body of Miss Dunham was found under the rear end. She was also horribly burned. Mrs. Wilson-Nann's body was found in a lot 30 feet from the scene of the accident.

INDIAN WOMAN CAPTURES PRIZE FOR FOOD ECONOMY

Mrs. Harriet Bone Necklace (Yep, That's the Name) Knows How to Can.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Here you are American women. How is this for a record? Mrs. Harriet Bone Necklace, of the Wakpami district of the Pine Ridge Indian Agency in South Dakota, was today awarded a prize of $5 and a national certificate of merit by the National Emergency Food Garden commission for the best canned vegetables grown in a war garden. This contest, for which the commission appropriated $5,000, is being carried on in every Indian school in the country, as well as at hundreds of state and county fairs and scores of war garden exhibits.

A committee composed of Mrs. W. K. Blish, Mrs. E. E. Dunbar and Mrs. B. E. Brigance, in conjunction with C. L. Ellis, the special Indian agent in charge, passed upon the exhibits of the many contestants at Pine Ridge. Here is the exhibit made by Mrs. Necklace:

One quart wild plums. One quart green corn. One quart string beans. One quart rhubarb. Two quarts garden peas. One quart garden beans. One glass plum butter. One glass strawberry preserve. One glass buffalo berry jelly.

The commission sent 50,000 food conservation manuals on canning and drying into the Indian schools of the country with the co-operation of Cato Sells, the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. Mr. Ellis informed the commission today that Mrs. Necklace grew her own produce and did all the "putting up" herself.

HIGHER FREIGHT RATES FOR ROADS PROBABLE

Statement in Favor of Comptroller of Currency Thought Inspired By Administration.

Washington, Nov. 6.—Presidents of the eastern railroads, who appeared before the Interstate commerce commission asking for a general increase in freight rates, returned to their home offices today confident that the administration at Washington is on their side. Such influence as the leading officials of the federal government, including, it has been broadly hinted, even President Wilson himself, can bring to bear on the commission will be thrown to the railroad side of the issue, it is generally agreed.

The statement issued by Comptroller of the Currency Williams, urging that the rate increase be granted was everywhere heralded today as a mark of the Administration's O. K. on the railroad's appeal for more revenues.

If the desires of the railroads are met by the commission approximately a half billion dollars will be added to the annual American freight bill. The railroads declare that their requests for higher rates are extremely conservative and that justice to the carriers would mean the granting of several times what is asked.

NEW YORK SUFFRAGISTS "MANNING" STATE POLLS

Headquarters in Every City, Town and Hamlet of Neighboring State—Confident.

New York, Nov. 6.—Thousands of women are "manning" the polls throughout the state today in their determination to be admitted to the franchise.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, head of the National Suffrage party, and Mrs. Norman De R. Whitehouse, head of the state organization, were astir early in the day, both fully confident of victory.

Headquarters have been established in practically every city, town and hamlet in the state. Either by telephone or telegraph, each officer remained in constant touch throughout the day with the local state headquarters, where a close count on the vote was kept.

The women are so confident of victory that they have planned a mammoth state celebration, which, according to present plans, will be held some time in November.

Locally, the women have prepared for election day in a most systematic manner. They have stationed "watchers" at every voting precinct in the city, and in addition have hundreds of women who worked throughout the day as general inspectors.

The inspectors were well supplied with suffrage literature, ham sandwiches and thermos bottles filled with hot coffee.

WOMAN ASPHYXIATED.

Branford, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Nancy Spencer, widow of Captain John Spencer, for years a resident here, was found dead in her room late last night by relatives. She was 89 years of age and lived alone. Death was caused by gas asphyxiation. She was taken home by relatives Sunday night after attending church and it is believed, accidentally turned on the gas stove after extinguishing it before going to bed.

PRIVATE DOYLE BURIED.

Waterbury, Nov. 6.—Wrapped in the Stars and Stripes, the body of Private Richard L. Doyle, of Company H, 304th Infantry, National Army, who died at Camp Devens on Sunday night, was escorted to the station here today by a squad of eight men from Company H.

The body was brought to this city last night and was taken to Williamstown, Pa., for burial.

FIVE BIG ELEVENS

AT GRILLING PRACTICE

Dartmouth Meets Penn at Boston Saturday—Other Games—"Dope" of Experts.

New York, Nov. 6.—Five big eastern football elevens are being whipped into shape this week for important games scheduled Saturday.

At Ithaca Coach Sharpe has made several changes in the Cornell lineup, adding beef to the team, which will meet the strong Michigan machine at Ann Arbor on Saturday in one of the three big inter-sectional contests of the year.

Michigan's powerful eleven is expected to defeat the Ithacans, but Cornell should give Yost's men a hard battle.

Dartmouth and Pennsylvania are working for their battle at Boston. Pennsylvania will play a real game at Philadelphia, meeting the Pennsylvania military college at Franklin Field this afternoon. Dartmouth's undefeated team appears to have an edge on Pennsylvania, though Coach Polwell's team has shown constant improvement since the season opened.

Week's Best Game. The most important game in the east this week will be played at Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, between Pitt and Washington and Jefferson.

Neither of these teams has tasted defeat, and it appears that Washington and Jefferson is the only team Pitt must fear from now until the close of the season. Sol Metzger's eleven has won five games, its most important victory being scored over Penn State. Pittsburgh has won six games and West Virginia and Pennsylvania have been the only team able to score against the Panthers, who crushed Syracuse, Bethany, Lehigh and Westminster without permitting them to score.

High School Notes

The basketball team in the local high school will play a practice game with a picked team Saturday afternoon in the Recreation building. This will be the quintet's first real work. The players have been well trained this year by Coach Mueller and should make an excellent showing. Strenuous practice and clever coaching may develop a team such as has never played in the high school of late.

Many debating enthusiasts are proposing a debating club in school. Debating is an interesting and one of the most instructive parts of high school social life. Last year there was no debating club but the year previous the club was active.

About seventy of the high school students witnessed the showing of "A Tale of Two Cities" at the Circle theater yesterday afternoon. The picture was shown last night to a capacity house made up mostly of high school students. All who saw the picture were pleased with it. Although the story of the book was not followed closely the plot was there and the mystery was carried out exactly as Dickens planned it.

ST. MARY'S LEAGUE.

No Records Broken But Individuals Make Big Scores.

While no records were broken at the semi-weekly session of St. Mary's Bowling League at the Center alleys last night, six scores, ranging from 100 to 110 were made during the evening. Joe Moore, captain and anchor man of Team No. 4, was the high roller, with a single of 110 and a three string of 290. His team took three straight from No. 7. In the other match, No. 6, the league leaders, took two out of three from No. 8. JIM DOUGHERTY IN HOSPITAL.
James Dougherty, who has written many poems, some of which have been published in The Herald, was taken to the Hartford hospital yesterday, troubled with his eyesight.

The sight of one eye is completely gone and he is just able to distinguish light with the other. An operation is to be performed and every hope is held out for the complete recovery of his sight.

Mr. Dougherty is well known around town. He is a weaver in the Cheney mills and is popular among mill workers. He has been troubled with his eyes for a long time and Sunday at 9 o'clock the trouble suddenly became more serious. Medical assistance was given him and it was decided to take him into the hospital in order to save his sight.

The Soldier's Burden.
The load which an infantryman has to carry on his back weighs from 39 to 60 pounds, according to the length of the march he is about to make. Any one who has tried to march with a load of such size on his back will readily understand why ten or fifteen miles is considered a good day's march. The soldier's burden includes his field ration, his mess kit, canteen, first-aid packet, blankets, and usually a gas mask.

These boxes are needed immediately to complete the Christmas packets for the soldiers. Boxes for packing may be obtained at the Red Cross room in the Recreation building.

NEW FIRE ALARM SYSTEM.

At a meeting of the directors of the Eighth School and Utilities District held last night the directors voted to perfect a plan of a fire alarm system now in use in the district rather than go to the expense of installing a system that would cost the district between five and six thousand dollars. It was the general opinion that before such an expensive system is installed it would be advisable to get better fire fighting apparatus.

Heretofore the fire alarm has been given from the A. Willard Case paper mill. One drawback to this arrangement has been that very often this mill is closed down over Sunday so that there is no steam up with which to give the alarm. The directors are making an effort to arrange with the Orford Soap company to give the alarm. At the Bon Ami factory the steam is always up and the alarm can be given any day or night.

FOOD FOR FRANCE PLEDGES.

The pledges for the Food for France Fund are being generously signed by the people of Manchester and the committee having charge of this work is well pleased with the returns thus far. The pledge cards, that have been distributed, may be returned by mail to Mrs. H. B. Cheney and if more convenient for those making the pledges the monthly amount may be inclosed. Announcement will soon be made through the press as to the permanent method for collecting this fund.

CAN'T BREAK OLD HABIT.

A group standing on the curb before one of Manchester's closed saloons were amused by an incident last night. Two men approached apparently much interested in conversation. They were hurrying along talking and waving their hands. When they approached the entrance to the saloon they turned in, mechanically. They did not notice that the place was not lighted until they tried the door. They tried to get away unseen but it failed. No doubt this was repeated several times last night.

NEW TROLLEY RULE.

Cars Now Stop on Near Side of All Cross Streets.

The town law forcing trolley cars to stop on the near side of the cross streets when making a stop, is causing some confusion. Many people do not know about the law and they still stand at the old stations. The poles along the car lines have been recently painted.

Under the new law no car can cross a street which joins the Main street when about to make a stop. Formerly cars were accustomed to go by some streets and stop just the other side. Now they must come up to the street and stop.

The motormen on the lines are having a hard job trying to train the people where to get on. They drive their cars to the right stopping place and then motion to the people who wish to board the car to come to the car. It will not take long before the public is educated to the new rule.

TREE TO BE CUT DOWN.

At a hearing held yesterday afternoon Tree Warden Bowers gave his consent to the cutting down of the tree on the corner of Spruce and School streets. This tree will be cut down today by the town gang. No decision was made on the other tree which stands on Spruce street in front of the Edgar property.

Mrs. Edgar appeared and said that she had been assured when she decided the property to the town that the tree would remain. Mr. Bowers would not allow the town gang to cut the tree down. It will probably be decided at today's selectmen's meeting whether to carry the matter further or not.
