FEDERATION HAS SMALL USE FOR PACIFISTS; ITS PROGRAM IS INTERESTING WASHINGTON

Government Already Working On Co-operation Plan To Bring Capital and Labor Together—The American Workingmen Want Larger Share in War Activities.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 13.—With President Wilson's stirring plea to labor still ringing in their ears, delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention here today prepared to launch a determined effort to obtain for the American workingman a larger voice in the conduct of the war.

Resolutions were ready for introduction declaring for adequate representation for labor on all government commissions having to do with the numerous industries essential to the production of war materials. The delegates backing the movement made it clear that they were body and soul behind the administration in carrying the war to complete victory, but they take the position that big business has been given more than its share of representation on the National Defense Council, its coordinate branches and the varied governmental agencies regulating and controlling war industry.

Pacifists Not Strong.
Pacifists in the convention seem to be reduced to nil by the President's address yesterday. Some resolutions may be introduced, but they will possibly receive almost no support.

There promises to be a demand upon the part of a considerable number of the delegates for placing the convention on record in favor of a larger conscription of wealth to bear the financial burden of the war. Today's session will be taken up largely by preliminary formalities.

Co-operative Plans Out.
Washington, Nov. 13.—President Wilson's cooperative proposition to organized labor will be fulfilled to the letter. It was learned here today that comprehensive plans have already been perfected for dealing with the American labor situation.

Portents of the new labor campaign already are in evidence. The new series of special agreements between coal miners and coal operators are one factor. Under this plan operators are permitted to charge more than the base prices fixed for coal, and the miners receive higher wages. But, to gain these advantages, miners and operators must agree in writing to keep up production. There must be no strikes.

Another portion of the new labor program is the revised selective draft classification. Under it, labor is to be kept at its work wherever possible.

"WHITE RATS" STILL BELONG.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The white rats are still alive as a unit organized labor. The executive council of the American Federation of Labor today silenced reports of the disintegration of the rats by deciding that the actors' union is a bona fide member of the federation and entitled to delegates' seats in the convention.

All the Germans now have to do on the Russian front is to send a night watchman around once in 24 hours to see if the Russians are still there.—Meriden Journal.

ROYALTY AT FRONT.

Paris, Nov. 13.—There is a great foregathering of royalty on the Italian battle front. King George of England is represented there by the Prince of Wales, and King Victor Emmanuel of Italy is with his troops, too.

On the enemy side Emperor William, Emperor Charles of Austria, and King Ferdinand of Bulgaria are behind the Tootonic lines and have just finished inspecting the former Italian base at Udine, according to word from Milan today.

ITALIANS LOSE MOST OF VENETIAN PLAIN

Battle of Piave River Opens With Allies Assisting.

Those About Longarone and Belluno So Regarded—Defenders' Resistance Stiffens.

PRELIMINARY ACTIONS.

Zurich, Nov. 13.—Three fourths of the Venetian Plain in northern Italy is now dominated by the Austro-German armies, said a press dispatch from Vienna today.

(The Venetian Plain comprises the northeastern corner of Italy, north of Venice and East of Verona.)

Battle of Piave On.
London, Nov. 13.—The battle of the Piave River—an engagement which may prove one of the most fateful in the history of mankind—is today in full blast.

The actions around Longarone and Belluno and in the mountains north of the Piave river and east of the Sugana valley may be regarded as preliminary skirmishes leading up to the grand struggle.

Even if the Italians fall back on the Adige river and abandon their Piave defenses together with Venice and Padua, the fight probably will go down in history as the battle of the Piave, for it was there that the combat really got under way.

Italians' Resistance.
The stiffened resistance of the Italians on their left flank has caused the Austrians to renew with vigor their attacks along the southern tip of Trentino. On the Asiago plateau a fierce struggle developed, and time after time the Austro-Germans were sent forward to the attack, only to be driven back by the defenders.

So far no official announcement has been given out as to the location of the British and French troops on the Italian front, but it is supposed they are being used to strengthen the Italians' left wing. This section of the Italian armies was seriously menaced by the "pincher tactics" of the Austro-German commanders, but was able to extricate itself with the loss of some prisoners.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR BAKERIES ARE OUT

Food Administration Makes Public General Orders—What They Are.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Following the issuance of the general orders licensing all bakeries, the Food Administration today made public the rules and regulations under which bakeries will operate. The most important provide:

Licenses must keep products moving to the consumer without delay and re-sales designed to secure higher prices will be considered unfair. Licenses must not speculate in food products or attempt to create a monopoly in them.

Destruction of bakery products is forbidden.

Ally bread returns are prohibited. Weight restrictions must be rigidly observed.

Sugar, milk and shortening must be used only according to the established regulations of the administration.

Extension of unwrapped plan of furnishing bread without delivery is to be encouraged.

Wherever possible all necessary deliveries shall be reduced to one a day.

Barges are already ordered to carry goods on the Mississippi. When we get back to the flatboat we may develop again an occasional Abraham Lincoln.—Brooklyn Eagle.

TEAMS' NOONDAY REPORT ASSURE CANVASS' SUCCESS

Generous Contributors Give Solicitors Hearty Support—List of Contributions.

Manchester, Nov. 13.—The first day's drive for the Y. M. C. A. fund has been a success. The canvassers reported everybody willing and anxious to give. All were on hand promptly at 12:15 and found a corps of stenographers and accountants ready to rush their lists into shape. As the team captains announced their results they were greeted with hand clapping and cheers. Following is the result by teams:

What Teams Collected.
Following are the amounts collected by the various teams in the campaign:

Team	Captain	Amount
1	Richards	$137.00
2	Bendall	$125.50
3	Burke	99.00
4	Cheney	651.00
5	Holl	475.00

Y. M. C. A. CANVASS STARTS UNDER BRIGHT AUSPICES

Fine Weather Encourages Canvassers—Enthusiasm at Preliminary Meeting Last Night.

Encouraged by perfect weather nearly seventy-five of Manchester's leading business and professional men started out enthusiastically this morning to raise $20,000 for the Y. M. C. A. war fund within three days. This is, next to the Red Cross fund, the most important contribution the people have been asked to make. The need for it is pretty generally understood and the solicitors will not find it necessary to spend much time in explaining it.

Last Night's Meeting.

The solicitors had an enthusiastic meeting at the Recreation building last night. They assembled for supper at the small gymnasium at 6.30. The tables were arranged just as they were for the luncheon of the successful Red Cross campaign last summer, and almost the same men occupied them. There were eleven teams instead of ten, however, the eleventh team consisting of canvassers who are to work in the silk mills. Each team consists of six men, with one of them acting as captain. At each plate last night was found a badge, and literature which embodied all the needed talking points. The simple lunch was

FIGHT ALIEN MENACE IN THE METROPOLIS

Bomb Squad Trebled and Checking Up of 25,000 Germans Began.

New York, Nov. 13.—Authorities today took drastic steps to check the enemy alien menace which is admittedly alarming, especially along the waterfronts.

The bomb squad was trebled and the bureau of combustibles is co-operating by exercising more care in issuing permits to move and handle explosives.

The checking of a list of 25,000 German applicants to enter barred zones also was begun today. It is believed that at least 6,000 of these have committed crimes.

Also shows there are 500 Austrians employed as captains on lighters operating around New York. Some of these are known to have been active in waterfront labor troubles and are also under federal investigation.

Federal authorities frankly confess they are facing a difficult proposition. Their forces are inadequate to enforce the president's barred zone decree, they say. They favor the establishment of military zones, instead of barred zones, along waterfronts where military and food supplies are stored.

BIG SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR Y. M. C. A. PILE IN

Rockefeller Foundation in New York Gives Million and Promises $2,500,000 More.

New York, Nov. 13.—The Rockefeller Foundation has contributed $1,000,000 to the nation-wide campaign to extend Y. M. C. A. work among the soldiers and sailors of the United States and her allies. The foundation announced further that the million would be increased to $3,500,000 if the rest of the total of $35,000,000 is subscribed. J. P. Morgan & Company gave $350,000 and the Standard Oil company of New Jersey $250,000.

A good start has been made, also, in many other parts of the country. The National War Work Council of the Association, which is in charge of the fund's collection, says more than 1,400 leading business men of Chicago have pledged a million and a half, which is half of the Windy City's allotment.

Cleveland has collected in pledges or contributions $719,151. Colonel Lewis, inventor of the Lewis machine gun, contributed $35,000 at a meeting in Montclair, N. J. Delaware as a whole had contributed up to last evening $350,000, of which the du Pont de Nemours Powder company gave $25,000.

It is impossible in many instances to get totals to the date and hour, because they are not computed and added up until the end of the day.

The Bankers' club started the campaign going in earnest here at a luncheon, at which Chairman George W. Perkins of the municipal committee announced the Rockefeller and Morgan gifts.

UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER DEMANDED OF BOLSHEVIKI BY KERENSKY FORCES IN PETROGRAD; DISORDER STILL REIGNS

"ONE MAN" WAR DIRECTION URGED BY BAKER IN WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE WORLD CONFLICT

Russia's political upheaval made possible the Italian defeat. Germany had undermined the morale of the Italian troops.

In the east Germany is continuing her efforts to political propaganda; in the west she is on the defensive; and on the Italian front a politico-military effort is combined. Further disintegration of the Russian forces will enable the Germans to stiffen their western resistance and greatly reinforce the forces operating in Italy.

The importance of the British and French gains on the western line is very great; the French especially having penetrated the strongly fortified Siegfried line.

An American artillery unit has been in contact with the enemy and has acquitted itself creditably.

The Italian retreat has become more orderly and the morale of their armies is rapidly being restored.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Tribute to the efficiency of the German government's war methods, with an implied suggestion that the entente and the United States also must have a "one man" direction, is contained in Secretary of War Newton D. Baker's weekly review of the war, made public today.

The secretary at the very outset declares that "the close interpolation of events on all fronts cannot too frequently be emphasized." He makes it plain that the German army in the east is continuing political propaganda in an effort to secure a separate peace with Russia; that the Italian retreat is orderly and that the morale of the armies is being restored, and points out that on the western front the Anglo-French forces continue their effective work.

Only brief reference is made to the work of the American forces. The trench raid, in which America suffered the first troop casualties "was to be expected," and the secretary declares that the American artillery unit which has been in touch with the enemy "acquitted itself very creditably."

Americans Showing Up Well Under Fire On French Front

Washington, Nov. 13.—Tribute to the efficiency of the German government's war methods, with an implied suggestion that the entente and the United States also must have a "one man" direction, is contained in Secretary of War Newton D. Baker's weekly review of the war, made public today.

Nearing Total of 46,850—Waterbury Has Half of 15,000 Total In.

Approximately 3,000 more food pledge cards arrived at the campaign headquarters in this city today to be added to the Monday night count of 163,720. Middlesex county, which on Monday made 96.2 per cent. of its quota of 7,275 sent in today several hundred more cards, and Hartford county which has on file 96.8 per cent. of its quota of 46,850, added over 1,000 cards of which about 500 were from the city of Hartford and 400 from New Britain, bringing the town up to the excellent mark of 8,068 on a quota of 9,000.

Suffield which has a quota of 650, had 394 cards credited this noon and Miss Mary Bulkley, chairman for Hartford county said she was making efforts to get Suffield in line with the other town which have brought Hartford county almost to the perfection mark.

Windham county with a quota of 8,240, reached the 5,534 mark today having sent in 213 cards over night, but remains the low county of the state on a percentage basis.

Hon. Nathaniel Bronson, a former representative from Waterbury, visited the state headquarters today and after being told that Waterbury had only about half of its quota of 15,000 cards said he believed the situation that had arisen in Waterbury needed a campaign of personal edu-

NEW ENGLAND N. G. ENTIRELY REORGANIZED

Ohio and Penn. Troops Also Go To Four Different Divisions.

MAKE UP OF 26TH.

Complete Shakeup—All Guard Officers Rendered Unnecessary To Be Placed.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Details of reorganization of certain of the National Guard units were made public by the War department today. In connection therewith it was announced that all guard officers who are rendered surplus by the reorganization will be taken care of. Today's announcement included New England, Ohio, Pennsylvania and other troops making up the 26th, 28th, 30th, 36th and 37th divisions.

The 26th, or New England division, is reorganized as follows:

Headquarters, Troop B, Massachusetts Squadron Cavalry, 101st Machine Gun Battalion, Connecticut Squadron and 196 enlisted men from First Vermont Infantry; 51st Infantry Brigade, headquarters from 101st and 102nd regiments Infantry; 102nd Machine Gun Battalion, Massachusetts Squadron Cavalry, (less troop B), three officers and 213 enlisted men from First Vermont Infantry; 101st Infantry, Ninth Massachusetts Infantry, 175 enlisted men from Sixth Massachusetts Infantry, 1400 from Fifth Massachusetts Infantry; 102nd Infantry, Second Connecticut Infantry, 1,500 from First Vermont Infantry, 100 from Sixth Massachusetts Infantry, 102nd Infantry brigade headquarters from

Premier Kerensky of Provisional Government Declares He Will Continue as Commander-in-Chief Until His Associates Decide on Army Leadership—Many Workmen's Factions Active.

London, Nov. 13.—Victory is crowning the arms of the loyal Russian forces under Premier Kerensky.

A cablegram from the Finnish frontier received today by way of Stockholm says that the Bolshevik revolt has already been put down.

The provisional government forces that entered Petrograd on Monday, after a fierce struggle south of the city, are now masters of a big portion of the capital. There was a sharp action in the Nevsky Prospect, the principal street of Petrograd, before it was cleared of the Bolshevik hordes.

Many persons have been killed and wounded in the fighting around Petrograd, according to advices from that city, and the loyal troops are making arrests of Bolshevik leaders and anarchistic agitators.

Copenhagen, Nov. 13.—"Victory for the loyal Russian forces led by Premier Kerensky in the fighting against the Bolsheviks around Petrograd," said a cablegram from the capital.

Washington Optimistic.
Washington, Nov. 13.—Although no direct word has reached Washington early today from Petrograd regarding the fighting in the Russian capital roundabout reports to the State Department confirmed the fact that the Kerensky troops are overcoming the resistance of the Bolsheviks. All of the information received here indicates that the great mass of the army is loyal to Kerensky, and officialdom believes that soon he will regain control of the situation.

The Russian embassy was still without information from its government. Officials, however, insisted today that the radicals will not only be driven from power, but that within a very short time Russia again will present a united front against Germany. It was intimated that Kerensky has learned his lesson and that hereafter the radical agitators will be forced to be loyal to the government or will be executed.

Copenhagen, Nov. 13.—Leaders of the Bolshevik forces in Petrograd have offered to lay down their arms and give themselves up to the loyal legion under Premier Kerensky, but the offer was rejected unless there was an unconditional surrender, said a dispatch to this city today.

Advices from the Russo-Swedish frontier today gave details of the fierce street fighting which raged in the Russian capital throughout Sunday.

The fighting centered along the Nevsky Prospect, the chief street in Petrograd and one of the most beautiful thoroughfares in Europe. Military cadets, loyal to the provisional government, rode up and down the streets in motor cars in an effort to keep down the anarchist forces.

Civilians Flee.

The most of the civilian population took flight, but a few of the bolder souls sought points of vantage in buildings flanking the streets, and not a few of them were shot down. There was a burst of sharp fighting in front of the Palace, (the former residence of the ex-czar) and Maximalist soldiers took shelter in the garden and fired out upon the street through the palings of the iron fence that encloses the palace.

WHAT'S WHAT AND WHO'S WHO IN MANCHESTER MOVIE HOUSES

AT THE PARK.

For a "No Advance in Price Show" tonight's offering at the Popular Playhouse is surely an extraordinary one. Heading the bill is a Triangle five reeler called "The Grafters", a common enough title but an unusual play. It is a distinctly new type of crook play built around the Mann White Slave Act. The leading part is taken by Anna Lehr who made so great a hit here in "Civilization's Child". In "The Grafters" she plays the part of a metropolitan crook, a sort of "lure" to blackmail sons of wealthy parents. While leading the millionaire's son on to destruction, the "lure" falls in love with him but the power of the gang is too great and she goes on with the blackmail plot. The young man finally learns of the plot and eventually turns the tables on the blackmailers and wins the girl for his wife. The play is replete with big sets and exciting situations.

Besides this play there will be shown a Triangle comedy and a Scenic.

For tomorrow and Thursday the only Charlie Chaplin will be shown in "The Adventurer". A special showing of the comedy will be held Wednesday and Thursday afternoons at four o'clock to give the school-children of Manchester a chance to see him. Besides Chaplin there will be a comedy and a five reeler called "The Serpent's Tooth".

In "The Adventurer", Chaplin's last picture under the Mutual contract, the famous comedian is seen at his best. He plays the part of an escaped convict and mixes things up so much that the audiences in Hartford last week called back the film for three days more. It is the funniest Chaplin picture ever released.

On Friday Mr. Sullivan will give away food baskets. This is part of the Park policy to share profits each week with its patrons. Food in baskets to the value of $25 will be distributed.

AT THE CIRCLE.

Among the most amusing series of stories in The Saturday Evening Post were the "Sub-Deb" stories, by Mary Roberts Rinehart. The first of them to reach the screen is "Bab's Diary", produced by the Famous Players company with bewitching Marguerite Clark in the stellar role. This production will be shown at the Circle theater this evening and also tomorrow afternoon and evening.

"Bab's Diary" has become as popular as a motion picture as the tales were in printer's ink. It furnishes Miss Clark with the best role she has had since the laughing hit, "Miss George Washington, Jr." In fact, the parts are quite similar, affording the star every opportunity to make use of her assortment of theatrical tricks and giving her charming personality full sway. Miss Clark will captivate her admirers in this picture play and will gain many new friends. She never fails to register in that mischievous way that is so telling in putting over humorous situations. To say that she has done few pictures that are better than this one is praise indeed. Many of the original lines from the stories have been used as sub titles. All are good for a smile, and many will draw a hearty chuckle.

Other reels will be shown in conjunction on the same program, the Clark picture being screened at eight o'clock sharp. It is worth while to mention that "Polly of the Circus", the seven reel Goldwyn production which played to capacity at the Strand, Hartford, a few weeks ago, comes to the Circle on Thursday and Friday.

Saturday was the Florence, (Kan.) Bulletin editor's unlucky day. He bought a quarter's worth of beans uptown and lost three of them on the way home.—Exchange.

Camp Devens spent the week-end with his wife and parents. Upon request of Rev. F. P. Bacheher he spoke at the Sunday evening meeting. The assembly rooms were filled. He gave an interesting talk on camp life in his own company and also spoke of the Y. M. C. A. and its work. A collection was taken up for his company fund, which amounted to $35.

The Intermediate Christian Endeavor society and the Drum Corps are going to send a Christmas box to Raymond Smith who is now in France. A committee from the Intermediate society will meet in the church parlors Monday evening and prepare several things that are to go in the box. The society also voted Sunday evening to continue with the same officers in office until next May or June.

HONOR THE SERVICE FLAG.

Hartford, November 13.—Under the caption, "Honor the Service Flag," the following statement has been issued by the Connecticut State Council of Defense in the form of a bulletin to be posted on the Council's official bulletin boards throughout the state:

Whenever you see the Service Flag, with its blue star or stars in a white field surrounded by a red border, our national colors formed into a new design, it should convey to you the message that this flag represents service and sacrifice for the cause of America and world freedom.

Only those homes from which men have gone into the service of their country may fly the Service Flag. Already hundreds of these flags are flying in this state, as in other states throughout the nation. Each star represents an individual in the country's service. With one, two, or several stars, they are hanging in front of homes. With dozens of stars, they are to be seen in front of big factories and offices.

Honor the Service Flag whenever you see it. If some one from your home is serving the nation, fly the Service Flag. The federal government has approved this emblem of service and sacrifice. Every family which has a member in the service should be proud to fly this flag. And every person who sees this emblem should honor it and all that it means.

COOK A CHICKEN.

CHICKEN PIE.—Dress, clean and cut up two young chickens. Put in a stewpan with one-half an onion, a sprig of parsley and a bit of bay leaf. Cover with boiling water and cook slowly till tender. When chickens are half cooked add one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Remove chickens, strain stock, skim off fat and then cook until reduced to four cupfuls. Thicken stock with one-third cupful of flour diluted with enough cold water to pour easily. Place a small cup in center of baking dish, arrange around it pieces of chicken, removing some of the larger bones; pour over gravy and cool. Cover with pie crust in which several incisions have been made that there may be an outlet for escape of steam and gases. Wet edge of crust and put around a rim, having rim close to edge. Bake in a moderate oven until crust is well risen and browned.

Chicken and Mushroom Patties.—Saute two cupfuls of mushrooms in two tablespoonfuls of butter five minutes; season well with salt and pepper. Remove from the fire, take out a scant cupful and chop the remainder fine with two and a half cupfuls of cold cooked chicken. Beat two eggs; add salt, pepper and the juice of half a lemon. Add a tablespoonful of chopped parsley and a pint of boiling milk, stirring until it thickens. Now add the mushroom and chicken mixture and when very hot fill patty shells and garnish the tops with whole mushrooms.

Escaloped Chicken.—Clean and joint a young chicken. If not quite sure of its youth it is wise to parboil it for an hour in just enough water to cover it. Then season and roll each piece of flour until thickly coated. Fry in plenty of fat from the pan and stir in two tablespoonfuls of lard. When smooth add a pint of milk, boil for five minutes, season highly and strain.

Maryland Fried Chicken.—Clean and joint a young chicken. If not quite sure of its youth it is wise to parboil it for an hour in just enough water to cover it. Then season and roll each piece of flour until thickly coated. Fry in plenty of fat from the pan and stir in two tablespoonfuls of lard. When smooth add a pint of milk, boil for five minutes, season highly and strain.

Talcottville

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith of Torrington spent the week-end with Miss Eliza Duart.
Miss Edith Lyman of Columbia and Miss Ruth Lyman of Hartford spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Smith.
Speaking of the present coal shortage, few people in Rockville realized that the coal that the schools had early in the fall came from Talcott Brothers. A carload that they were to have for themselves was sent through to Rockville.

A special collection was taken up in the church Sunday morning for the relief of the starving Armenians. As Sunday was the beginning of the Y. M. C. A. campaign week numerous large posters were placed in the church. C. Denison Talcott has been appointed chairman of the campaign committee consisting of the superintendent of the Sunday school and the presidents of the Intermediate C. E., the Ladies' Home Missionary society, the Ladies' Auxiliary, and the Bible class. The collection Sunday morning amounted to $150.

GERMAN PRISONERS OF WAR BUILD CAMPS FOR THE AMERICAN SOLDIERS IN FRANCE

The captive Germans in France have the extreme pleasure of helping the American forces find comfort in the hand of their new endeavors. The captured Teutons are put to work building the barracks and putting the site into shape for the American troopers.

A HODGE-PODGE PARTY.

Games That Will Make a Winter's Evening Party a Success.

At the first table have the old-fashioned game of jack straws, which requires a skilled touch. The second table may have an alphabet game. Cut inch squares of cardboard and paint a letter of the alphabet on each. There should be three sets of letters all mixed up in a heap, the letter side down. Then have a list such as the following: 1—Vegetables. 2—Fish. 3—Kitchen utensils. 4—Popular songs. 5—Books. 6—Names of towns. 7—Wearing apparel. 8—Animals.

Each player in turn draws a letter and turns it right side up. The first one who calls out the name of a vegetable beginning with that letter scores one, and the couple scoring the highest number, when individual scores are added in couples, wins. The next hand round the subject changes to fish, and so on until the list is exhausted or the time is up. I remember one when the letter "O" came up for "Kitchen utensils," one of the boys shouted "onion seeder," and tried hard to convince the rest that he was right.

At the third table have a game of tiddledy winks, and at the fourth table have two sets of picture puzzles, the partners first completing the picture being the winners.

The fifth table should provide the most fun. Have a lot of old hats and millinery trimmings, and plenty of big pins. Here the boys are to trim the hats, with suggestions only from the girls. Then the girls are to don the hats, and parade around the room to get votes as to which hat is the most stunning creation. Tab is kept on the votes by having a list of names of those present entered on two sheets of paper, and making each one put a cross opposite his or her name on either one of the lists.

For refreshments have a "hodge-head salad" made of spaghetti, canned tuna fish, pimento, celery and ripe olives, all chopped together and mixed with mayonnaise, just a dash of onion may be added, if wished. Place a neat mound of this mixture on lettuce leaves, with a slice of red tomato or pimento on top and on top of that a bit of mayonnaise with a ripe olive to give it an appetizing finish. Serve with cheese crackers or saltines nicely crisped in the oven and hot chocolate with marshmallow in each cup.—From The People's Home Journal.

HIS CARDS WIN.

A Man Who Gets Himself Talked About.

There is an article in the American Magazine about Jim Irwin of Cleveland, Ohio, a man who has advertised himself through use of unique cards. The writer of the article says: "He has developed a system of using little white cards which is both business-bringing and fun-provoking. For ordinary purposes he can stow away twenty-two sets in his pockets so that he is able quickly to get the card he wants. He uses cards so extensively that he has them printed by wholesale, his orders running from ten thousand to thirty thousand at a time. His custom is to carry two sets in each pocket in his coat, vest, trousers. They are placed in his pockets back to back, and each card always has the same place in a particular pocket. That is the method he uses to advertise his restaurant in Cleveland, Ohio.

"At first thought one would think that the promiscuous use of such cards would give offense, but it seems that Irwin has a way of handling them that causes people to visit his restaurant, stop him on the street, write him letters or follow him around to get as many varieties as he will give out.

"One of his little ways is to give out a card early in the day bearing the words, 'Good Morning, or 'How are you?' Many a glum-looking man, eating a solitary breakfast, has been made to look up and smile with a new light shining in his eyes as Irwin passes along and hands out his morning greetings. In the evening his cards bear the words: 'Good night!'

"If a kicker makes a complaint to the cashier, Irwin hands him this card: 'Our aim is to please appetites, not dispositions.' The way it is done always brings a smile."

FARMING IN 1840.

Amazing Change in Living Conditions Is Shown.

In view of the modern-day high cost of living and of the many wonderful advances made in the last century—the railroad, the telegraph, the ocean cable, the telephone, the automobile and farm and labor-saving machinery of all kinds and the amazing changes these inventions have necessarily wrought in all directions in almost every walk of life—it may be of interest to recall living on a farm in the year 1840.

The farm I have in mind, writes Warner Miller in the New York Times, consisted of 200 acres. The stock was 15 cows, a yoke of oxen, 20 sheep, an old white horse, a dozen pigs, 50 hens, 10 geese, a few ducks and a flock of turkeys.

The farm produced practically everything the family consumed, both clothing and food. The sheep furnished the wool, which was carried at a "fulling" mill and made into rolls for spinning.

At home it was spun into yarn and woven on a hand loom. There was no ready-made clothes; all clothes were made in the home. Several cows were killed each year. There was a tannery near by, where the skins were tanned. A shoemaker made our boots. They were usually too small and gave much trouble and pain.

The flax, cut and laid down until the fiber loosened from the woody part, was put through a heckle worked by hand and then spun and woven. This strong linen cloth was used for summer clothing, towels, etc.

The seed was saved to make flaxseed tea (a medicine) or poultice for bruises.

For food we had everything needed—fresh meats, potatoes, beets, cabbages, parsnips, pumpkins, for pies, apples, which lasted from fall to spring, cider, which gave us vinegar or produced cider-champagne.

Half a dozen pigs killed in the fall gave us plenty of ham and bacon, lard, sausages and salt pork.

There were plenty of chickens for roasting and potpies, and eggs, turkeys, for Thanksgiving and Christmas, occasionally a roast goose with apple sauce.

From the cows' milk we made both butter and cheese. What butter and cheese the family did not consume were sold in a near-by village. Butter usually brought 12 1/2 cents a pound. Cheese was also made at home, as there were neither creameries nor cheese factories. Cheese was sold at 5 to 6 cents a pound. All eggs not used went to the village store and brought 10 cents to 12 cents a dozen.

Every farmer made his own soap. It was called "soft soap." It was soft, your hands and face very thoroughly, some skin, also, unless you were careful in your ablutions.

Little was heard of the world at large. Twenty miles from the railroad the great four-horse stage-coach came every day, bringing the mails. There were few newspapers or magazines. The telegraph was unknown. The Atlantic cable did not succeed until 1866. There were only 23 miles of railroad in 1830.

"NEIGHBORING."

One of the Kindest Words in English Language.

"Neighboring"! Is there a kinder word in our language? Those of us who are living, or have ever lived, in the country will answer: "No!" For we understand, as no native of the crowded cities possibly can, what real neighboring is, and what it can mean to a lonely woman isolated on a farm or living in a strange town. The pat of gift-butter handed over the gate, the loaned magazine or dress pattern, the hearty and unexpected invitation, the chat in the road over a friend's buggy-wheels—these have turned the tide of many a woman's life, and possibly, of your or mine.

Is there one among us all who cannot remember days,—hard, disheartening days—when a neighbor's loving act or our hearts or moving us to tears as he who had "fallen among thieves" must have been moved when the Good Samaritan bent over him? Our "cheives," perhaps, were not of the kind that ran away on two feet, but were rather of the deadlier sort; discouragement, mayhap, or loneliness, or failure, or sorrow, or disgrace, or want. Yet our help came to us as it came to him of old, through a great-hearted "neighbor": a neighbor who chanced to be driving by, and who did not "pass by on the other side."

We have all known such hours—all had such neighborly love showered upon us! And we, in our turn, have tried to pass this love on to other lonely individuals.

"And yet, grateful as we are today for every such personal kindness shown to us, and for every chance we have had to show it to someone else, most of us perceive that with the years who have grown somewhat out of this personal sense of "neighboring" in to a bigger, broader, nobler concept, which not only includes the woman next door, not only those nearest and dearest to us, but takes in every one—the whole town or community.—The Christian Herald.

THE PRESIDENT TO LABOR.

It was a simple, straightforward speech that the President delivered yesterday at Buffalo before the American Federation of Labor. Its tone was that of a determination, calm for the most part, to prosecute the war to a successful ending in peace.

Because it was an impromptu address, Mr. Wilson's remarks should be interpreted with due allowance. There were a few things which might better have been left unsaid. For instance, he is quoted as saying: "You (labor) are reasonable in a larger number of cases than capitalists. I haven't yet said these things to them personally because I haven't yet had a chance."

There is an old and true saying that "comparisons are odious." This is no time to stir up class hatreds; it is necessary for capital and labor to pull together in order to win the war. Capital has never been more unselfish than now, more patriotic. We are speaking generally. It has been not merely reasonable, in the sense of moderate, but it has asked very little for itself, in its efforts to help win the war.

We are glad to say that the American Federation of Labor—which represents a considerable fraction of "labor"—has shown itself equally patriotic. One hesitates to say "equally," for the fashion nowadays seems to be to claim all you can, in order to allow for a partial rejection of your claims. It would be interesting to inquire what proportion of the federation's members are stockholders of the Steel corporation, the railways, etc., and hence actually a part of capital. Whether the President meant his next two sentences to qualify what has been quoted we don't know. He said: "Everybody can get to transact business. I would like to see all of the critics export."

Something else in the speech should be quoted. It is this: "The thing to do is not to think about me personally, but the power and dignity of the things I represent." Too many citizens forget that the President of the United States is more than the head of one party, and that, particularly during war times, he typifies the national sentiment.

The speech is couched in too general terms to discuss with great particularity, but it seems to us that much of the criticism of the administration—we don't say the President—would cease, if a clear cut line, as clear as possible, could be drawn between conditions that are purely domestic and remediable, and conditions that are due to the war and unavoidable.

The American people will go far in their sacrifices to win the war, but millions of them are not convinced that the present prices of food and even fuel are necessary, despite the demands of our allies for both sorts of commodities. They are equally convinced of the good intentions of the administration in these directions, but they are wondering why results do not come from all these commissions.

As for the pacifists—if there is any state in the Union which has less use for them than Connecticut, we have yet to hear of it.

"A SINGLE FRONT."

"A single front, a single army, a single nation—that is the program requisite for future victory"—Premier Painleve at a luncheon in honor of Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain in Paris.

It is unnecessary to say that what applies to France, applies to America and every other ally in the war against war and Prussianism. Loyalty to the objects of the war, loyalty to our allies, loyalty to the President in his determination to help win the war should be the guiding principle and spirit of each nation and of all the nations opposed to the Central powers and their coalition.

It is a seeming contradiction, but for the time being each individual person, each individual political party or faction, each economic division must sacrifice itself in order to ensure for the future the liberty and freedom of each individual nation, great or small, and the right to its identity. In the same way, each of the allies must act each for all and the common object of all.

The world may never reach that precise point at which each and every power will cooperate in just the right measure with every other power and yet preserve its identity, despite change, but that is the goal. The standardization which Germany would effect, if she could, would be fought with equal determination by the rest of the world, regardless of which power attempted it. Great Britain is great because she is a democracy and has preserved the multiple identities of her subject peoples, all of whom increasingly have a voice in their own government and many of whom are completely self-governing.

Standardization of the national sentiment, which is what we mean by patriotism, and standardization of sentiment among the Allies and their allies, which is what we mean by loyalty to the war, are desirable now above all else and as never before, with the present situation in Italy and Russia.

The war must be fought through and won for democracy.

"Raising the Red Triangle fund is more important than floating Liberty bonds, indispensable as they are. It is more important than shipbuilding. It is the most important single item in the war." So says John R. Mott, a member of the mission headed by Elihu Root to Russia and possibly the leading Y. M. C. A. worker in America.

Certainly the way in which the men in the national training camps or abroad spend their leisure is important. Its importance is not to be judged only by the number of hours of leisure, either. The Y. M. C. A. is keeping many a man away from drink, it is making many a man more gentlemanly, more self-respecting and more unselfish in the sense of more courteous. Its work is broad and of permanent good, if it lasts a reasonable length of time. The physical as well as moral effects are great. The fund of $35,000,000 will help to make the influence last.

Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme Court is said to seek diversion from his ponderous duties by reading detective stories. Similarly, you will notice, Charlie Chaplin is Mr. Charles Chaplin—sad-eyed, Poe-like not to say poetic—in "real life," which means off the stage. It's a funny world—and also "life is real, life is earnest."

The weather man is certainly turning out a finished product these days. He is a good model for all of us. If we could ship some of Manchester's sunshiners and air to the French-Flanders front, we have no doubt Petain's and Halg's gains would be doubled in a jiffy.

POOL TOURNAMENT ON.

During the first round of the pool tournament, which has been in progress at the Recreation Center the past week, Tom Conran beat Ralph Lamenza, J. H. Mueller beat Walter Crockett, Fred Schuetz beat Leslie Rood, William Dalton beat Charles Ryan, Jacob Greenburg beat Ralph Russell, Albert Both beat Arnold Lang and Rudolph Anderson beat Arthur Sullivan.

A few of the second round matches have been played, Dalton beating Schuetz and Mueller beating Conran. Both and Anderson will be matched in the second round. Dalton and Mueller are to play in the semi-finals. Sam Massey and James McGonigal started their first round match last night but didn't finish.

MORE SEALS NEEDED.

Miss Elizabeth M. Bennett, who has charge of the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals in Manchester, today ordered 20,000 more of the seals. Nearly 60,000 had been distributed among the school children of the different districts and in about all the stores in town and the extra 20,000 have been ordered as a surplus. Probably after Thanksgiving, a second drive on the sale will be started. Eighty-five to ninety per cent of the money realized on the sale of the seals will go to the open air school.

ENLISTED IN NAVY.

Henry Thornton of Spring street, who enlisted as a yeoman in the navy at New York last week, will leave to enter the service Monday, November 26. Mr. Thornton has two brothers, Samuel and William Thornton, who are with the 101st Machine Gun Battalion at a rest camp in England; that is the last letter received from them came from England. George Glenney of Bigelow street is in the same battalion with the Thornton boys. Henry Thornton received a letter from Glenney a few days ago. Glenney said after arriving in England he met Otto Sonnikson and Arthur Wilkie, two other Manchester boys, who went over with the quartermaster's corps of the same "battalion."

"Chasing submarines on paper will not do," says a writer in the New York Tribune. No, indeed, paper is too expensive for that sort of thing.—Houston Post.

THE VIGILANTES

The following articles are written by the Vigilantes. Who are the Vigilantes? The Vigilantes is an organization of America's brainiest men and women, who receive fabulous prices for their contributions to magazines. When war was declared with Germany they banded together and decided to use their pens, absolutely free to the publishers, "to help make the world safe for democracy."

DO WE WAR WITH THE GERMAN PEOPLE?

By Robert Adger Bowen of The Vigilantes.

It has been with a shock that has threatened faith in humanity itself that the realization of the German character has been forced upon the rest of the world. Even with the repeated evidences of its brutality the brain of mankind reels under the strain upon its incredulity. In sad amazement the world asks how can this thing have come to pass? So long had we been told of the German honesty and sincerity and tender love of home—so long had we heard of German kindness of heart, German love of the beautiful in nature and in art—that we could not believe in the German lust to despoil and defoul and destroy. We could not credit its arrogant pride in the accomplishment of its self-justification through the vicious slogans of Deutschland uber Alles and Weltmacht oder Niedergang.

We know it now. Murders on sea and land; deliberate slaughter of women and children, the wounded and those that minister to the wounded; dishonor, in diplomacy as in war; cunning, low trickery, and self-abasement! The heart sickens at all the vile, degrading story: the mind staggers at the knowledge that behind their conscienceless rulers and the instigators of those loathsome crimes stands proudly united people following the Kaiser's "unward with God!"

Do we war with the German people? Yes! And with all men and women, whether they be German or American, who defend, uphold or attempt to justify them. In this war there can be no let-up, no concession, for it is a moral war, holier than any crusade that was ever waged, justified as no other war has ever been more justified. Any wavering, be it of the slightest, is to admit that wrong is right, that dishonor is honor, that bestiality is manhood.

Not only is this war to be fought out on the battle front. It is to be fought wherever those forces which made it possible are to be encountered. It is because of these forces that we are sending the flower of our manhood to fight an enemy that acknowledges no law of God or man beyond its own lust to win; whose first move against our soldiers will be not an encounter of man to man but the stab of the assassin in the dark.

Too long, far too long, has this country given leeway to enemy propaganda, and held its hand; too long have individual Americans given ear to enemy sentiment, and held their tongues through a courtesy and consideration utterly thrown away. Friendly feelings toward a German or a pro-German must hinge upon his admission of the guilt of Germany, a confession of his own sense of humiliation and vast regret. Thousands of Americans of German blood have bravely made this hard confession. There can be no fellow-feeling between the rest of the world and the man who will not.

Germany has seen to that. Wherever he be, the man who defends Germany admits by implication that he would willingly share in the enormity of her manifold offenses. He who condones rapine and murder, in effect commits them. The American of German parentage who would prefer imprisonment to fighting against Germany is not only a traitor but tacitly all that the German has proved himself capable of being—and that is what those, the least of his admirers, shrink from writing him down to be.

Never more than in this war has it been true that one cannot serve both God and Mammon—never has the distinction between God and Mammon been more appallingly clear! Not here are among us on every side those who seek to justify Germany more or less openly. Loyal Americans can no longer afford to tolerate them.

Every instinct of sincerity, every demand of loyalty and gratitude to those who are going forth, it may be to lay down their lives that decency and liberty may continue to exist, call upon us who remain behind for no uncertain display of our own convictions.

One course and one alone can redeem today the man of German blood. Of the fact that he is a German he must be held blameless. Blameless he cannot be if he upholds and sanctions Germany in her mad orgy of ruthless crime against the rights and liberties of the world. The parting of the ways between him and other men must increasingly widen unless he be willing to denounce and renounce the creed that the rest of the world abhors and loathes.

prepared by a caterer and was served expeditiously by volunteer ladies. The lunches will be paid for by the canvassers.

Each team sat at a round table by itself and the executive committee occupied a long table at the end of the hall. As soon as the supper was over the waitresses deftly removed the dishes and Chairman Frank H. Anderson then called upon Rev. Dr. C. E. Hesselgrave to outline the war work of the Y. M. C. A. The speaker was at his best and his earnest words carried conviction to all his hearers. He was heartily applauded.

McCormick Speaks.

At the conclusion of Dr. Hesselgrave's address a warm welcome was extended to Herbert McCormick, who had just arrived in town from France where he has been driving an ambulance. He wore the uniform of an ambulance driver and looked, as he said he was, tired from his experience. Chairman Anderson said he had asked McCormick to come to the meeting to say a few words about the work of the Y. M. C. A. over there. Three rousing cheers were given for "Blondie" as he rose to his feet, and for a time he was unable to speak because of the applause. He told of the physical and moral dangers which confront the American soldiers on the other side and said that the Y. M. C. A. was the greatest influence in keeping the men clean and in good spirits. The association's "huts" were established everywhere where there was a large body of soldiers and were the resorts to which the men were instinctively turning for recreation and sociability. "You cannot over-value this movement," said the speaker, "nor give too much to support it."

REDISTRICTING OF MINOR LEAGUE TERRITORY LOOKS NEARER, AS BASEBALL MAGNATES MEET

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 13.—Although dissenting American Association magnates are putting up a bold front and asserting that the plan to re-district the minor league territory will fail, the belief is general among baseball men here today that the plan eventually will be carried out. It is practically certain that a resolution embodying the plan will be introduced when the National Association of Baseball Clubs meets in executive session today.

Ed Barrow and several other international League luminaries are on hand today for the meeting. They favor some plan that will rehabilitate the minors. International League magnates who are left out in the cold by the proposed re-districting plan, it is believed, will not oppose the merger, and smaller leagues, from Class A down, are said to favor it. Garry Hermann, Colonel Jacob Ruppert and other major league magnates here to attend the meeting favor war measures.

American Association Fight Off. The fight in the American Association temporarily has been postponed, awaiting action by the National Association on the plan to re-district the leagues. President Mike Sexton of the National Association favors a plan to re-district the leagues below Class B for the 1918 season.

This means that leagues in this class and below may suspend operations. Sexton, in fact, will recommend that they suspend during the war. Leagues of higher classification are expected to take measures according to their prospects.

Past rumors notwithstanding, Jack Hendricks may manage the St. Louis Cardinals next year. A contract signed by Branch Rickey and himself is in effect now, and Hendricks, who is a lawyer, considers the contract sufficient warrant to permit him taking charge of the Cardinals' affairs. Hendricks may a hard shower. As a matter of fact the mumps played more hob with my battalion than the German shells.

"Twelve men had to go to the hospital with the mumps, but there was not a casualty from German shells."

The captain of the company attacked by the Germans in their trench recently made similar statements, as well as the young lieutenant who sustained a minor case of shell shock during the raid after making three brave attempts to penetrate the German barrage to bring up reinforcements.

This lieutenant, who is now fully recovered, said that despite the violent cannonading of the German artillery on the night of the raid not one of his men was hit.

Lieutenant Talks.

"It is wonderful how many shells can break all around without hitting one," said he. "On the night of the raid it seemed as though the Germans were turning every hand in the artillery line against our sector. I stepped from the dugout and ran down the trenches under their barrage, but I had no sooner started than I was knocked down by the explosion of a projectile on the parapet just behind me. The sensation was just as though I had received a powerful blow in the back between my shoulders. I picked myself up, and started on another route, but a shell caved in part of the trench and I had to go back. This time another shell struck the parapet just in front of me. It seemed as though I was surrounded by a huge ball of fire. I thought that sparks were spouting out of my shoulders and the tips of my fingers.

Running Away From Fire.

"I got up and started running and bumped into a private whom I knew. We stood still a second and then I turned to make off in another direction. I had taken only one step when a shell burst right behind me knocking me senseless. I couldn't have been out very long. I picked myself up and found my helmet missing. Then I started down the trench looking for it and stumbled over the body of the private I had been talking to only a few minutes before. He had been killed by a German raider, while I was laying unconscious a few feet away from him."

The commander of the company attacked by the German raiders said that the attack had put a fine fighting spirit into the men. In his words it was "the best thing in the world for them."

The following night the same company that had suffered the loss begged to go out on patrol duty. The men said they wanted one more chance to get back at the Germans.

On Monday morning the Germans fired between 50 and 60 gas shells at the American trenches, compelling the men to don their masks. Otherwise the sector remains normal.

COURSE OF BIBLE STUDY IN THE CENTER CHURCH.

This evening at 7.30, Dr. Hesselgrave will begin a course of Bible study lectures at the Center church. These studies will be continued every two weeks during the winter months. The bible will be considered in relation to its historic background, the discoveries of science, and its literary and religious values. The many discoveries that have been made in the last half century will be utilized to make clear the biblical teaching.

The lecture this evening will be on "The Revelations of Ancient Ruins and the Hebrew Stories of Human Beginnings." The service will be informal and an opportunity for questions and discussion will be given. All are invited.

WATCH OUT FOR FAKERS.

Hartford, Nov. 13.—The attention of the Connecticut State Council of Defense has been called to what is presumed to be pro-German propaganda conducted by men who are trying to hamper the work of the United States Food Administration in this state. They have sent letters bearing forged signatures of Herbert Hoover to a number of housewives telling them that one-third of their accumulated supplies of preserved fruit, vegetables, etc., is liable to confiscation. The Council has issued a warning to all housewives not to give up any of their provisions if they are asked to do so but to let the nearest police authorities know the full detail of any facts they may learn. If agents approach a house and seek to confiscate any goods the persons approached are urged to hold the agents and turn them over to the police authorities. No such action as is threatened in the letters has been authorized or even considered by the Federal Food Administration or by the Food Committee of the State Council.

Two women in New Haven have received letters of this sort, mailed from Hartford and dated November 2. A woman living in Allingtown is reported to have been visited by a fake agent who took away part of her store of preserved foods.

RURAL CARRIER EXAMINATION.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination for the County of Hartford, Conn., to be held at Manchester, Hartford and New Britain on Dec. 8, 1917, to fill the position of rural carrier at South Manchester, Conn., and vacancies that may later occur on rural routes from other post offices in the above-mentioned county. The examination will be open only to male citizens who are actually domiciled in the territory of a post office in the county and who meet the other requirements set forth in Form No. 1977. This form and application blanks may be obtained from the offices mentioned above or from the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C. Applications should be forwarded to the Commission at Washington at the earliest practicable date.

HOW TO END WAR.

Washington, Nov. 13.—The war will soon be over. An Ohio man will end it. He has suggested to U. S. Marine Corps officials here that they direct their aviators to drop potato bugs over Germany. He declares there are no potato bugs to the Kaiser's realm, and since the "spud" is absolutely essential to Germany's economic welfare, the dropping of "Murphy destroyers" over the Rhine country would quickly terminate hostilities. Simple, isn't it? Marine Corps officials think so.

SURRENDER AT ONCE LOYALISTS DEMAND

Moderates among the Socialists in Petrograd and Moscow have been attempting to restore order and put down the chaos into which Russian affairs have been thrown by Nicholas Lenin and Leon Trotsky, but the belated advices reaching here failed to say if any decisive result had been achieved.

Conflicting Reports. London, Nov. 13.—Premier Kerensky has announced that he will continue as commander-in-chief until the Provisional government decides upon the matter.

The Bolsheviks, it is announced, are included in the new Socialist government effected at Moscow. There were 700 killed in the recent street skirmishes of the city.

The Petrograd Railway Union is not in complete sympathy with the Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates and the Safety of the Country committee. It has sent an ultimatum addressed to both, demanding that a reconciliation among all factions be effected by organizing all of the democratic forces available.

The Bolsheviks, it is said, now consider themselves as organizers of defense revolutions against the forces of Kerensky, Korniloff and Gladines of Moscow.

According to reports that have come from Finland, anarchy is increasing in Russia.

Petrograd, Nov. 13. (delayed).—The military cadets made a fruitless attempt to regain control of the city on Sunday, encouraged by the approach of Kerensky and his troops.

Many of the Bolsheviks were compelled to surrender. The Workmen's and Soldiers' congress has appointed a new central committee, consisting of 62 Bolsheviks, 29 Socialist Revolutionists, six Social Democratic Internationalists, three Ukrainian Socialists and one Social Revolutionist Maximalist.

HARTFORD THEOLOGICAL IN WAR SERVICE

Hartford, November 13.—Although all theological students are exempt from military service under the provisions of the selective draft act, 40 per cent. of the physically fit male students of the Hartford Theological seminary, who were enrolled when this country entered the war, offered their services to the nation for direct or indirect war service, according to statistics supplied by the seminary to the Publicity Committee of the Connecticut State Council of Defense. Of the remainder nine are Quakers and six others are married men.

There were 58 male students enrolled in all departments of the seminary last April. Of these it was estimated that 37 were physically fit for military service, the large proportion of men unfit being due to the graduate students are men of middle age or beyond. Of this 37 seven enlisted for service in the Army or Navy, two volunteered but were rejected and six engaged in war work that is not of a military nature. Five of the students of the seminary are natives of China, Japan and India.

These statistics were supplied in answer to a series of questions sent out by the council's committee to all the colleges, agricultural schools and theological seminaries in New England.

Prizes for Hard Working Teams. The corporations in town are canvassed by the executive committee, and are naturally among the larger givers. The money they pledge is placed in a pool and is distributed to the credit of the different teams. Some of the teams which happen to have a list of people of limited means get small pledges and have to do a lot of work which all does not make any large showing in the totals. Other teams, more fortunate, may have the names of wealthy givers, and with very little work turn in a large sum. To encourage the hard working teams and to help along their totals the executive committee is assigning to their credit blocks of the pledges made by the corporations. Today $500 was assigned to the team soliciting the largest number of persons. It went to Team No. 2 and raised its total from $759.50 to $1,259.50. Tomorrow $800 of the corporation contributions will be assigned in three awards, $600 to the team receiving the greatest number of contributions from $1 up; $200 to the next, and $100 to the third. These amounts will, of course, go back into the treasury as additions to their respective lists.

MARKET CONTINUES ON UPWARD REBOUND

New York, Nov. 13.—The marine stocks attracted attention at the opening of the stock market today, when Marine Preferred declined 2 1/2 points to 94 and the common yielded two points to 24.

Steel Common, after opening 1/2 higher at 93 1/2, yielded one point to 92 1/2, and Bethlehem Steel B sold down 1 1/2 to 77 1/2. Fractional losses were sustained in the other steel issues.

Canadian Pacific was unusually weak, falling more than two points to 131 1/2, while St. Paul declined about one point to 36 1/2. Anaconda sold down to 55 1/2.

Trading during the first 15 minutes was light, and only standard stocks were dealt in.

New York, Nov. 13.—Business was comparatively small at the opening of the cotton market today, prices being three points higher to one point lower.

Marine Preferred rallied from 93 to 94 1/2 and Atlantic Gulf and W. I. rose three points to 97. Many of the other issues also developed pronounced strength, Canadian Pacific moving up two points to 132 1/2, while Reading showed an advance of 1 1/2 to 69 1/2. Steel Common, after declining 1 1/2 to 92 1/2, rallied 1/2.

The trading in Liberty bonds was a gain on a large scale, the 4's selling down from 99.94 to 99.82, a new low record, and the 3 1/2's to 99.26.

Clearing house statement: Exchanges, $672,801,950; balances, $59,416,979.

Money loaning at four per cent. Minimum Prices, Pittsburgh. Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 13.—Minimum prices on several of the leading securities quoted on the Pittsburgh stock exchange were given new low levels today by the board of directors. Pressure to sell with no bidders at the first established prices, it is believed, resulted in the action.

3,000 FOOD CARDS REACH HEADQUARTERS

Mr. Lloyd George said that the Allies had made mistakes in handling the war, but that it was better to acknowledge them and attempt a new plan than to try to hide them from the people.

While Harry Jul of the Green was about to turn into Eldridge street from Main this afternoon, while driving J. A. Alvord's auto truck, he slowed down to allow a man to pass in front of his machine. Behind him came John Montasano of Glastonbury, driving a Ford truck. He smashed full tilt into the Alvord truck and smashed in the radiator and the headlights of his own machine. The Alvord truck was not damaged.

Dainty Kimono That Is Really Comfortable

NATIONAL GUARD IS REORGANIZED

Kimono means comfort, but not all of these luxurious robes and coats, made in these days of extreme style, are carrying out the meaning of the word. Some of the garments are built so that they make for discomfort, tugging, tight and ill-fitting. A kimono should be loose fitting, and the charming affair pictured here is representative of what a kimono should be. It is made in a very delicate shade of pale crepe, bound at the neck and bottom with a metal cord of red gold and silver. At intervals translucent white beads are placed in the edging.

PANTS FOR WOMEN.

New York, Nov. 13.—Pants for women! They have arrived in New York and are soon to appear in a feminine parade up Fifth Avenue. Miss Wilma Sanda, war refugee and opera singer is wearing 'em today. She says the parade will be given just as soon as she can recruit "sufficient women to make a decent showing."

"BRUTAL FRANKNESS."

London, Nov. 13.—"Brutal frankness" is to be the new policy of the British government, if Premier Lloyd George's Paris speech is to be accepted as an indication. Newspapers, especially the Northcliffe press, hailed the Premier's speech with words of praise, saying that frankness is the best policy.

SEVERAL GOOD GRIDIRON TEAMS ARE FIGHTING IT OUT THIS YEAR—HOW SEVERAL COMPARE

With the "Big Ten" playing a conference schedule as usual and nearly every other college and university west of the Alleghenies represented by a varsity eleven playing intercollegiate football, the great West dominates the gridiron map this year.

Michigan's return to the conference, despite the fact that Coach Yost's Wolverines will not match their strength with the stronger "Big Ten" teams, has acted as a stimulus and throughout the West the determination to keep football going has been generally stronger than in the East.

"Ohio State" 's Team.
On early season showing the 1916 champion Ohio State aggregation appears to be the strongest cog in the conference. Coach John Wilce built his 1916 champions around Chick Harley, and with Harley's return this fall he has been enabled to stick to his offensive tactics of last year. Captain Courtney, left tackle; H. G. Courtney, right tackle; Peabody, right end; Yerges, quarter, and Harley are the 1916 regulars who returned. In addition Wilce had many squad men and 1916 freshmen who were easily developed for his 1917 machine. Ohio football fans, at least, predict Ohio State will sweep gloriously onward to another championship.

The "Illini".
Coach Bob Zuppke's Illini aggregation is a fairly strong one this year, and his complicated plays are being counted upon largely by the followers of the blue and gold. Sid Nichols, 1916 freshman quarterback, was Zuppke's main reliance for that position when the season opened. He had Charpter, Halas, Larimer, Bregan, Rafferty, Nichols, Wolehen, Swift, Grey and Lovejoy for backfield candidates at the blowoff. Captain Kraft is the fixture at left end and a model for all other wing candidates to mimic. Rundquist, like Kraft, is the model lineman, and Illini was fortunate in having an abundance of candidates for line positions. In the early games Zuppke's team proved its power.

Coach Jumbo Stiehm of Indiana who was elected president of the conference athletic directors last winter, is slowly but surely building up the Crimson team, and this despite wartime conditions that have affected the Bloomington aggregation as well as all others. From Stiehm have shown determination to put Indiana on the map. Hathaway and Ingles were the only letter men to return, but Beck, Buschman, Conkle, Gray, Hess, Pope, Stutzman, McCoy, Wiley, Bach, Adams, McNeill, Springer, Hanny, Dalrymple and Welland have been giving a good account of themselves.

At Wisconsin Jack Richards, an old Badger star, has been in charge of the team this year, succeeding Dr. Paul Withington, who is in France with one of the medical units. The Badgers met a new foe early in the season in Notre Dame, and played the Catholics to a scoreless tie, which indicates that they are dangerous, for Coach Harper seldom fails to turn out an aggregation at Notre Dame that can make a creditable showing against the Army and other big teams. Notre Dame is always strong, as is Nebraska, both of which being outside the conference, play few games with the big universities of the Middle West.

Badger Players Gone.
Thirteen Badger players were lost, either through graduations or enlistments. Of those reporting back this year are Captain Hancock, Eber Simpson, Kieckhefer, Kravocce and Carpenter, who are "W" men. Subs of 1916 now on the first squad are Hipke, a linesman; Gallun, a lineman; Keyes, end; Mueller, Stark and Slyver, backfield men, and Gardner, a quarterback. Coach Richards also pressed a big squad of 1916 freshmen into service.

Doc Williams's Minnesota aggregation presents a strange array of names for the most part. The entire Minnesota squad of regulars of 1916 went into some branch of the service when the United States went to war, and although a few have not been called out yet, a majority are wearing khaki. Schroeder and Flynn have been playing the ends this year, and the veteran Baston. All-American end, is missing. T. Johnson and Captain Hauser, the latter a veteran, are the tackles; Ecklund and D. Johnson have been playing guards, and Williams center. Arntzon is said to be the leading candidate for the regular quarterback position, while Sullivan, Lampi and Aldenderfer comprise the backfield.

ball followers outside of Chicago. He is playing end. McDonald has held down the opposite wing in the most of the Maroons' games. Jackson and Cochran are the likeliest tackle candidates; Moulton and Bendvinski, the guards and Gorgas center. Staggs has several quarterbacks, but Block appears to have the call. Rouse, Elton and Higgins are the pick of the backfield men.

As to Michigan.
Foxy Old Coach Yost, who has a habit of making a football team that can win games of a squad which looks discouraging in the early fall, may have something to show by the time his team meets Penn in the only big inter-sectional game of the season. Cartwright and Goetz have been playing the ends for Yost on the varsity eleven; Boyd and Weske, tackles; St. Clair and Goodsell, guards, and Beath, center. Genebach is the leading candidate for quarter in all big games, and Cohen, Rye and Weimann have the call on the other backfield positions.

Other Teams.
Coach Murphy's Northwestern aggregation, with a scattering of the veterans returned, got off on the wrong foot, and looks comparatively weak. Iowa and Purdue are also admittedly out of the running as far as the winning of a championship is concerned. Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, the ranking teams in the Missouri Valley, are not quite as strong as usual, but have been playing good football, especially the Cornhuskers. Other teams, to the South Northwest and the far West may be sized up in much the same manner.

ST. MARY'S LEAGUE.

Three Records Smashed—Tom Rogers Makes Score of 133.
Three league records went to smash last night, when No. 6 team, leaders in St. Mary's Bowling League, took three straight from No. 2 team. Tom Rogers, anchor man for No. 6, was the star of the evening, raising W. Perrine's high single of 113 to 133 and boosting I. Wickham's high three string of 298 to 331. No. 6's record of high team three string was raised from 820 to 853.

In the other match, No. 1 team took two out of three from No. 5. W. Clegg of No. 6 rolled as "sub" in J. Thompson's place and made much better scores than in the other match. R. McCann also rolled as "sub" on No. 5, taking George Torrance's place.

The summary:

STAGER-LAFKO.
Corporal Louis Stager of this town and Miss Theresa Lafko of Hartford were married at the Immaculate Conception church in Hartford at 7:30 yesterday morning by Rev. Dr. M. A. Sullivan. Michael Steiner of this town was the best man and Theresa Manner of Hartford was maid of honor. A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bridegroom. Only a few intimate friends of the couple were present.

Corporal Stager will return to duty at New Haven where he is stationed. This wedding was a great surprise to his friends.

FORD STOPS BUILDING PLEASURE CARS

Including Runabouts and Light Delivery Cars is the News that Flashed Over the Wire From Washington

And if this plan is carried out it means that several thousand citizens of the United States will be disappointed in not being able to purchase a Ford Car for the duration of the war.

It means that those who find it necessary to own an automobile will be compelled to pay hundreds of dollars more for a car that will not give any better, if as good service. This will be a great disappointment to thousands of farmers and men of moderate means who cannot afford a higher priced car. It will be a hard blow to us from a business standpoint, as we have just put into operation eleven retail stores in Northern Connecticut, BUT WE STAND READY TO DO "OUR BIT," just the same as our friend and benefactor, HENRY FORD.

FORD STOPS BUILDING PLEASURE CARS

Will Use Plant to Build Aeroplanes and Other Necessities—Means Big Saving of Chrome Vanadium Steel.

(Special Dispatch to The Republican) Washington, D. C., Thursday, Nov. 8.—Henry Ford will build no more pleasure automobiles until the war is over. He will devote his entire plant to the production of war necessities, such as tractors, ambulances, aircraft engines and shells. Through his personal representative, C. H. Wills, he recently offered to discontinue absolutely the production of pleasure cars, and under the head of "pleasure cars" fall the ordinary runabouts, touring cars and small commercial trucks which his plant has turned out by the millions. Mr. Ford's patriotic offer was accepted by the government with the greatest gratitude. The shortage of chrome vanadium steel, which is needed vitally for shells and aeroplane engines, has caused the greatest uneasiness among the men responsible for putting through on time our program of industrial war preparations. Mr. Ford's plant uses in peace time approximately 200,000 tons of chrome vanadium steel a year. All this steel will now go into war work. Henry Ford has offered voluntarily to do the thing which the automobile manufacturers of nearly every nation at war have been compelled to do. In Germany, soon after the outbreak of war, the use of a specified list of raw materials for anything but war work was forbidden. This list included steel, copper, leather, and all other commodities useful in war. Manufacturers not merely of automobiles, but such things as pianos, had to turn their plants at once to the production of shells and other munitions. An industrial metamorphosis was produced in a surprisingly short time. Today the German official figures indicate that more than 90 per cent of the industries of the nation are engaged in war work. If the United States is to carry the industrial burden of the war successfully, there must be a similar though less radical turning of industry from non-essentials to war work. Henry Ford has shown

Making a Soldier of the Seas

A Marine Corps Cantonment, Nov. 13.—A search is on for "the meanest man in ten counties." The Marine Corps knows who he is, and it wants to find him right away. He left the camp the other day with $137 in $1 bills. The money belonged to a machine gun company in training here. It was collected as a general fund with which to buy tobacco. "The meanest man in ten counties" conducted a shop down on the main street of the town. He seemed like a perfectly reliable citizen and so, when the money had been collected one pay-day the boys turned it over to him together with a list of their tobacco wants, from cut plug to pipe cleaners. The tobaccoist departed the next morning for the city to put in the order. When night came and he did not return the marines though nothing of it. It took nearly a week to arouse their suspicions. Today they are looking for him hard. They want that $137 back so they can put in subscriptions for Liberty Bonds. Tobacco funds being raised in various cities are to be used solely for the men in the trenches in front. Men at the training camps are not complaining of discrimination, however. They believe this tobacco should go to the men not in a position to get their favorite brands. Some of the men have a distinct feeling that their "smoking should not be furnished by charity." The wages of a Marine Corps enlisted man, officers point out, are larger than those of a first lieutenant of the French army. And if the French lieutenant can buy his own tobacco out of his salary, the marines feel that they can buy theirs too. The only justification for the raising of tobacco funds, in their opinion, is the fact that the fighting men through them are assured that they won't have to smoke foreign tobacco.

Mrs. Maurice J. Keefe and son Arthur of Andover are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Streeter of Buckland.

To carry a touch of home to the soldiers in camp and in trenches is the war work of the Y. M. C. A. The least that we who have comfortable homes can do is to contribute to this work. It will not only make the men better soldiers but will make them better when they get home.

Halifax papers of recent date carry a picture of E. L. G. Hohenthal of this place and sketch of his life. He comes into prominence in that city as the head of the Sons of Temperance of North America and the occasion of his presence in Halifax was the annual session of the Grand Division of Nova Scotia.

Mr. and Mrs. Cain Mahoney, of Walnut street, received a letter yesterday from "over there" from their son Walter. He said that he had not been on French soil but a few minutes when he came face to face with Van Verplanck, who has been in France since last summer. "This world is not so very big after all," wrote Walter.

William Mason of Spruce street, formerly employed as a bartender at Betts' cafe, has been engaged as an assistant to Head Janitor William Gleason in the school buildings about Educational Square. Mr. Gleason now has four assistants working with him.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Viola Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Hackmatack street and Raymond Montie, also of the south end. They were married at St. John's church in Hartford last Wednesday.

August Lindell of Myrtle street received word from his son Harry from France. Harry is with the quartermaster's department with the 102nd Regiment and went over with the Company G boys. He says he had a pleasant trip and that the French people are treating the Americans splendidly.

Thomas Hickey, who is a member of the 102nd Regiment now in France, writes to his Manchester friends that he had a glorious trip across the Atlantic. He saw no sign of a submarine anywhere. He is very much encouraged by his first appointment as a sergeant and says that he is working hard to go higher. In his letter to a Herald man he says that the most pleasant pastime he could indulge in would be to peruse a "Herald." It goes without saying that he will have the opportunity to do so if Uncle Sam will carry it to him.

John Steiner was arrested by Officer Morris last night and was in court this morning charged with intoxication. He could not speak English in court although the officer said that he could talk all right last night. He looked badly used up. His head was bandaged and his face scratched. It is believed that he was hit by an automobile. His case was continued until tomorrow morning so that the services of an interpreter could be secured.

MCCORMICK BACK HOME.

Herbert McCormick, who has been "over there" for the past six months, arrived in Manchester late yesterday afternoon. He wore the uniform of a French ambulance driver and attracted considerable attention in the cars and on the streets.

McCormick had a busy day of it when he arrived here. His friends rushed to meet him and he was asked to speak before the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. workers in the Recreation building. After the meeting he went home and until a late hour he was kept busy answering questions put to him by his friends who flocked to his home when they heard that he had arrived.

The Manchester youth has, as yet, made no plans for the future. He is in a nervous condition from his experiences and will take a rest of several weeks.

Christmas gifts for the soldiers in France must be mailed by Tuesday night. See our windows for useful gift suggestions. Balch & Brown Pharmacy. 3712

MAN TELLS QUEER STORY OF FINDING SUIT CASE

Tobacco Worker Says He Found Clothes in Woods—Later Sold Sold Some of Contents.

A decidedly interesting theft case occupied the attention of Judge Arrott and the court officials this morning for upwards of an hour. Robert Dickenson was the accused man. He has been working for Louis Radding on the tobacco farm on Lydall street and boarded with Mrs. Byron Davis of Lydallville. The property stolen belonged to George Strausser and included a suit case full of men's furnishings, two pair of shoes, a suit of clothes, a watch and chain, shirts, underwear and about everything that a man would need who was boarding away from home. Strausser, too, worked for Mr. Radding and boarded with people further up the road. He complained of losing the suit case with all his belongings and became so disgusted and discouraged that he went back to New York.

Found in Room.
Sunday night the suit case was found in Dickenson's room and Mrs. Davis, his boarding mistress went to Radding's to see Mr. Strausser but he had left town. She then decided to inform Chief Gordon and he sent Officer Morris to the house to investigate the case. The officer lost no time in placing Dickenson under arrest and took the suit case and its contents to the lockup for safe keeping.

Said He Found It.
Dickenson told the judge that he found the suit case in the woods Sunday morning and that he hid it in the woods and later took it to the boarding place. He sold the shoes to two other boarders. In the suit case were letters addressed to George Strausser and also several pictures of the man to whom the goods belonged. Notwithstanding all this and knowing to whom the property belonged he admitted that he was taking them for his own use. When confronted by his boarding mistress about the find he told some very funny stories. He said that he bought the watch and chain at a hardware store at the south end Saturday night but could not tell the name of the store. He also said that he bought the shoes at a second hand store Saturday night but admitted later that he was telling a lie. He stuck to his story of finding the suit case in the woods and said that a young fellow by the name of Robert McGuinness was with him at the time and if he were in court he would tell the same story.

Cornered by Prosecutor.
The prosecutor made Dickenson admit that he had told a number of false stories about the affair. The judge decided that he would like to have McGuinness testify in the case so he continued the case until tomorrow morning at nine o'clock and Chief Gordon will see that he is summoned for that time. Dickenson could not secure a bondsman so he was taken back to the cell. He has been in Manchester but a short time. He came here from New York where he worked for the Iron Steamboat company all summer.

LOCAL WOMAN'S BROTHER HURT IN BRITISH DRIVE

Word Received That Lieutenant William Perkins Has Been Seriously Injured in Battle.

Mrs. Ellis Callis of 162 Center street received word yesterday that her youngest brother, Lieutenant William Perkins of the Leicestershire Regiment of the British Army had been seriously wounded in battle in France and that little hope was entertained for his recovery. His wound, which consisted of a bad fracture at the base of the skull, was received October 25 and the letter Mrs. Callis received was written the following day. She fears that the next letter will tell of his death.

Mrs. Callis is the oldest of a family of ten children and Lieutenant Perkins is the youngest. He is 25 years old. Mrs. Callis has two other brothers in the British army and they and the lieutenant have been in service since the war broke out. The lieutenant was the first of the three to be wounded. One of the other brothers, Sergeant Edgar Perkins, is a gas specialist in the trenches in France and the other, Private Bertram Perkins, is in the postal service of the British army in Palestine. At the beginning of the war, he was with the army at the Dardanelles, where he had some exciting experiences, barely escaping with his life on a number of occasions. After leaving the Dardanelles, Private Perkins went to Egypt and later was transferred to Palestine.

GEORGE ROGERS A LIEUTENANT

Word was received today by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rogers of 15 Lilley street, from their son George. He was a student at Georgetown University and also a clerk in the office of Secretary Lane in Washington, D. C. He has joined the Aviation Corps and has been promoted to first lieutenant. He took the examinations at Fort Meyers, in Virginia and will go on duty December 1. Herald readers will remember the young man as he sent one of the first capsules used in the draft to The Herald office.
