FEDERATION IS SURE TO PASS RESOLUTION FOR VICTORIOUS PEACE

Chief Issues Before Labor Convention Include U. S. Conduct of War.

LABOR'S PLACE IN WAR INDUSTRY AND WOMAN

These Are Other Principal Questions. Feared Women May Support Men Workers.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14.—With several hundred resolutions relating to every question affecting the interests of labor before them, the delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention got down to real business today. The three most important issues before the convention were:

- 1—Endorsement of the administration's conduct of the war.
 - 2—Demand for a larger voice for labor in the control of industries essential to the winning of the war.
 - 3—The tendency of employers to use the war as an excuse for the unnecessary employment of women to take the places of men.
- It has become a foregone conclusion that a resolution pledging the united support of labor to peace only with victory will be adopted by an overwhelming majority. There has been a scramble of the pacifists and other insurgents to get on the band wagon since the President's appeal to the convention Monday. Practically all anti-war sentiment has disappeared among the delegates.
- The demand for a larger labor representation of the various government commissions having to do with the conduct of munitions making industries has reached such a stage among the delegates that the adoption of a resolution along that line is regarded as certain. The dele-

NEW LOAN POLICY IS DECIDED UPON

Payment in Lump Sum Instead of Monthly to Our Allies.

Washington, Nov. 14.—An important change in the American government's policy in connection with the making of loans to the Allies has been ordered.

The Allies have been taken off a monthly remittance basis, and a policy has been adopted providing for the financing of these nations for longer periods it was stated today. $310,000,000 for France. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, with the new plan in view, has closed transaction whereby France is to receive $210,000,000 immediately. The sum is calculated to take care of national financial needs for October and December. Recent $435,000,000 was advanced to Great Britain, which is expected to take care of England's requirements up to January 1, 1918. A loan of $230,000,000 was made to Italy at the time the Germans started their drive southward.

Former Policy. When the United States entered the war the American government adopted the plan of financing the Allies on a basis described by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Crosby, then in charge of the international finances, as: "Give us this month our monthly loans." All through the summer this plan was followed. It now has been found that the advancing of small amounts, relatively, is not satisfactory.

Loans to the Allies are mounting rapidly. The total advanced to France now amounts to $1,130,000,000, and the total to Great Britain to $1,860,000,000. The total of loans to all the allies now amounts to $3,876,400,000.

There will be no considerable additional loans between now and the new year.

New York's recently elected officials are planning the removal of all appointive officeholders. That is the quickest way of getting back to Tammany control.

Campaign to Close Tomorrow Night With Supper at 9 o'clock—Today's Contributors.

Today's total $ 5,010.20
Yesterday's total... 9,200.75

Total this noon... $15,110.95
Three-quarters of Manchester's quota of $20,000 has already been raised and the canvassing teams are still going strong.—Tomorrow they will have a full day to work in and they expect to round up an amount which will carry Manchester well over the top. But most of the large subscriptions are now in and the quest for the balance will have to be made in the highways and byways where the canvass takes more time and yields smaller results. In order to utilize all the time which is available before the campaign closes the canvassers voted this noon to postpone the supper which had been set for 6.30 tomorrow night until nine o'clock. All agreed not to eat any supper at home.

The largest contribution today was that of Miss Anne W. Cheney of $1,000. The awards of credits from the executive committee's pool, to the teams turning in the greatest number of contributions over one dollar each, were as follows:

- First prize to Team No. 6, Herbert B. House captain, $500 contributed by the E. E. Hillard Company, for 105 subscribers.
- Second prize to Team No. 4, F. D. Cheney captain, $200 contributed by the Manchester Trust Company, for 98 subscribers.
- Third prize to Team No. 2, F. J. Bendall, captain, $100 from the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, for 96 subscribers.
- These awards were added to the amounts credited to the winning teams today.

Team No. 11, which is canvassing in the silk mills, reported $704.35 collected from 777 persons. This amount, together with those from sundry organizations, was credited to the five teams which had the least productive lists, and increased the credit of each by $160.47.

Team Scores.

Team	Captain	Amount
No. 1	Richards	$492.97
No. 2	Bendall	$544.32
No. 3	Burke	$577.50
No. 4	Cheney	$617.22
No. 5	Holl	$268.00
No. 6	House	$872.25
No. 7	O'Leary	$356.50
No. 8	Rogers	$513.47
No. 9	Ferguson	$475.97
No. 10	Bowers	$192.00

Total $5,110.20
The list of contributors today was so long and was completed so late that the Herald was unable to get it all in type for today's edition. The balance of today's list will be printed in tomorrow's paper. Up to noon today 1377 contributors had been reported.

It has been learned that Wapping is not attached to any other district and a corps of Manchester canvassers will invade that section tomorrow.

Chairman Anderson announced today that the executive committee had no other large contributions in sight and urged the canvassers to increase their efforts in order that Manchester's quota might be safely oversubscribed.

Help Keep a Home For Our Boys "Over There"

Part Of Austro-German Army Crosses Piave-More Savagery

London, Nov. 14.—The first phase of the battle of the Piave in Italy has apparently swung in favor of the Germans, although dispatches from Rome today stated that the Teuton advance southward from the Trentino frontier had been checked at some points.

The Italian success in northernmost Italy was more than offset, however, by the achievement of the Austro-German army northeast of Venice, where a crossing of the Piave river was forced.

This Austro-German feat is attributed to the preponderance of their artillery. Numerous big guns have now been moved to the front and are shelling the Italian positions night and day.

Fresh detachments of allied troops are reported to have reached northern Italy, together with guns and supplies of ammunition.

Now that nearly all of the fighting in the Italian theater of war is taking place on level ground it is believed that some British tanks will be sent to that zone of operations to help the Italians.

On the lower Piave the Italians resisted the advance of the Teutons with great stubbornness, and heavy fighting has taken place around Zenso where the Italian troops have been attacking the German bridgehead in an effort to hurl the Teuton soldiers back to the eastern bank of the river.

Barbarities Charged. Rome, Nov. 14.—Barbarities rivalling those of Belgium were committed by the German troops that invaded Italy, according to refugees who arrived from the north today. Women were attacked and children killed before the eyes of their terror-stricken mothers, it was said. Houses were looted, and many villages were set on fire.

It was a favorite boast of German officers that they would teach the Italians a lesson for turning on their former allies.

There is increasing fighting activity south of the Trentino frontier. The Italians have repulsed the Austro-Germans at some points and have retaken Gallio from the Teutons.

170,000 RAILROAD MEN WANT HIGHER WAGES

Brotherhood Heads to Meet President at White House on November 27.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The demand of 170,000 conductors and brakemen on all American railroads for wage increases amounting to more than $100,000,000 annually will be laid directly before President Wilson by the heads of the railway brotherhoods.

Judge William L. Chambers, head of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, today made an appointment for the four railway brotherhood chiefs to meet the President at the White House on November 27, when the proposal to present the demand for increased pay will have been voted on by conductors and brakemen everywhere. There is no doubt in the minds of federal or union officials that the union members will approve the demand for more pay.

Threaten General Strike. Representatives of the railroad men have let it be known that should the demand for wage increases be denied a general strike will then follow.

Officials emphasize the seriousness of the situation by declaring that the proposed increase amounts in effect to 42 per cent. in addition to the $60,000,000 of added payments exacted under the Adamson law.

Leaders of the 61,000 firemen are now in conference in Cleveland to decide whether they will join in the demands. Immediate action by the engineers is not anticipated because of the attitude of their leaders who declared they do not believe a strike should be proposed during war times. It is expected the vote now under way will be completed and canvassed by November 25 and submitted by December 1.

BIGGEST GUNS OF WAR ARE USED BY FRENCH

Release of Government Motion Picture in Paris Reveals Fact for First Time.

Paris, Oct. 29.—(By mail, Nov. 14).—First official confirmation of the fact that the French artillery is equipped with the largest calibre guns in the world has come through the release in Paris motion picture theaters of the government's film entitled "The Military Power of France in the War."

The action shown in the film—wherein for the first time also is officially revealed the fact that French storming troops carry steel shield—is more stirring than that in any other "war picture" presented.

One of the most stirring scenes is General Petain's removal of troops from General Gillaumat's army, which recently drove back the Crown Prince's forces to practically the identical line which they started in the terrible drive which began February 21, 1916. Thousands of short, sturdy poilus filed past the cameras.

Heretofore the "quatre cent" howitzer—as the 400 millimetre gun is called—has been regarded as the most powerful weapon in use by the Allies.

PROBE HODZIMA CASE.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—A complete investigation of the case of Baby Paul Hodzima who is being given medicine that will cause its death by advice of Dr. Harry J. Halseiden, was begun today by Dr. John Dill Robertson, Chicago city health commissioner. Dr. Robertson announced he had ordered an inspector to go to the Hodzima home and make a thorough investigation.

Dr. Halseiden prepared today to call into consultation a half dozen reputable physicians. He declared his belief that these physicians, after learning the facts in the case, will endorse his treatment.

JAPAN CAN'T SEND ARMY TO EUROPE

Tokio, Nov. 14.—"The sending of Japanese troops to Europe is an absolute impossibility."

The statement was made today by General Oshima, Japanese minister of war.

The interview, which was printed in the newspaper Jiji Osaka Asahi, was given by the war minister while he was en route to the Omi prefecture to inspect the grand army.

General Oshima was further quoted as saying: "The Allies, for the past three years, have earnestly desired participation by the Japanese army in Europe. Japan, in view of her relations, recognizes the necessity for doing everything within her power to assist, but if the attending problems are considered, it becomes clear at once that the understanding is impossible, no matter how much we might desire to carry out such an undertaking."

"Granting that Japan should have consented to send troops to Europe it would be necessary to send a minimum of 20 divisions (400,000 men) in order to make any impression. How could we defray the tremendous expense? How could we obtain 2,000,000 tons of shipping necessary for the transportation of the men?"

The foregoing is the first official utterance on the question.

BRITISH HOLD FAST TO PASSCHENDEAE TO SHAKE THEM OFF.

German Counter Assaults Fail To Shake Them Off.

HINDENBURG FAILS.

Germans Find Order to Retake Ridge Out of the Question.

London, Nov. 14.—German troops on the West Flanders front made a desperate effort last night to break the British hold upon the northern end of the famous Passchendaele ridge, but their attacks were shattered by the British fire.

The war office announced at noon that strong German attacks were launched north of the town of Passchendaele, but that all were completely repulsed.

The British positions were heavily shelled before the assaults were begun, but Field Marshal Haig maintained his position.

The German counter-thrust, the first the Germans have been able to make on a big scale since Passchendaele was captured by the Canadians, was evidently undertaken with the aim of fighting their way back into the town.

Blow Expected. For some time the blow was expected as orders had been found upon German officers from von Hindenburg, ordering the recapture of Passchendaele at all costs. "Spare nothing but retake Passchendaele," was the order that went out from the German chief of staff.

The town of Passchendaele, which rests upon the famous ridge, lies just south of the Staden railway and is a position of great military value. A number of important roads converge there and the high ground dominates much of the surrounding country.

DIVISION COMMANDERS COURT OF LAST RESORT. Washington, Nov. 14.—In confirming severe sentences by court martial against men in the selective army who have offended against discipline the war department today let it be known that the division commanders will be the court of last resort. On their judgment and recommendation all penalties will be approved. Iron discipline is to be the rule, the department says.

MUNITIONS FACTORIES, ETC. TO HAVE COAL FIRST. Washington, Nov. 14.—Shipbuilding plants, munition factories, steel concerns, and other plants at work on war contracts, are to be supplied with rush orders of coal, to bring them up to highest efficiency. To meet the needs of such plants, priority orders will be suspended.

KERENSKY-KORNILOFF FORCES AND BOLSHEVIKI BOTH CLAIM VICTORY—RUSSIA IN TURMOIL

Anarchy Spreading Rapidly—Triumphant Entry of Army of Provisional Government Into Petrograd Is Announced—Trotzky Issues Statement That Latter Have Been Beaten and That Bolsheviki Have Taken the Offensive—The Cossacks Appear To Be With Kerensky.

London, Nov. 14.—The Kerensky forces and the Bolsheviki both claim decisive victories, according to conflicting dispatches that have been received here. General Mouravieff has issued an announcement that the combined forces of Kerensky and Korniloff have been defeated and orders the capture of Kerensky.

Trotsky, also, has issued a statement, in which, as head of the Petrograd Council of Soldiers and Workmen, he says the forces of the latter, Bolsheviki, etc., have assumed the offensive against the Kerensky-Korniloff troops.

OTHER REPORTS. Another report is to the effect that Korniloff has entered Petrograd, and that all the garrisons there except the sailors have joined him. The Cossacks, who appear to be in control in Moscow and Southern Russia, are standing out for Kerensky, it is announced.

A news agency dispatch from the Russian frontier said that Kerensky had made a triumphant entry into Petrograd and that his troops had been victorious over the Bolsheviki hordes. Up to the time this message was received, however, no news had come direct from Petrograd, either by wireless or cable, although as far as is known both are in working order.

CONTRADICTION DISPATCHES. During the past three fateful days, London, Stockholm and Copenhagen have been deluged with contradictory reports and rumors, but the last direct word from Kerensky was received on Sunday, when the Premier was reported to be leading a huge army against the Bolsheviki forces holding Petrograd. Hope ran high in London today that the Bolsheviki uprising has been decisively put down, and it was strengthened by advices from Swedish sources which were of the most optimistic character.

In official circles the opinion was heard that the lack of discipline among the untrained hordes under Lenine and Trotzky would be helpless before the trained Cossack warriors loyal to the Provisional government.

A German report that the Bolsheviki are still in control of Petrograd was taken with the utmost reserve.

FAKE DISEASES WON'T GO IN SECOND DRAFT

U. S. Public Hygiene Service Has Studied Means of Simulating Illness.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Feigned disease will excuse no men from the second draft. Steps are being taken to check the simulation of diseases, which is known to have been practiced to a considerable extent during the first draft.

The United States Public Hygiene Service has made an exhaustive study of simulated diseases. A. G. Dumez has written a treatise of several thousand words on the subject, and this today was ordered distributed to all examining medical officers.

Cases are reported by Mr. Dumez where men have gone so far as to risk their lives by simulating disease and thus escape military service. It now has been proven that some men ate lye, potash and sulphuric acid in order to give symptoms of ulcers of the stomach. Some others who apparently feared high explosives on the battle front, had no fear of taking their explosives internally. Nitro-glycerine and cordite were eaten, and produced all of the symptoms of "rapid heart."

Camouflage also was resorted to by some drafted men. They painted their faces with a tincture of walnut juice and thereby effected the most evident symptoms of jaundice. Some men affected physical exhaustion by taking vinegar. It produced all the appearances of physical exhaustion, which medical officers term "toxic symptoms."

Abscesses likewise were easily provoked. Reports have been received of a number of cases where abscesses were found to have been "manufactured."

U. S. U-BOAT CURES SUBMITTED TO ALLIES.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Details of all American devices for combating the U-boat have been laid before the British Admiralty and representatives of the French Admiralty in London by Admiral Benson. This is in return for the action of British and French naval officers in disclosing to the American naval authorities all their secret methods of fighting the underwater craft, Secretary Daniels said today.

MAXIMUM OPERATION OF COAL MINES NOW

Unwarranted Interruption of Work Not to Be Tolerated, Says Administrator Garfield.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Coal mines of the country are to be kept in operation at their maximum during the period of the war. Fuel Administrator Garfield today outlined his program for stimulating production in all fields.

"Unwarranted interruption of work in the mines will not be tolerated," Administrator Garfield declared. "The national crisis demands that the mines go ahead at full speed, and every governmental agency will be employed to see that they operate at capacity. When honest differences arise, they must be thrashed out by representatives of owners and men without disturbing the operation of the mines. All the machinery provided for in agreements must be used and every effort exhausted to reach a settlement. This applies to the non-union men as well as union men. In case of disagreements the facts must be laid before me, and prompt decision will be given, with all effort to be just to the aggrieved side."

Wage Agreements. Administrator Garfield stated that practically all of the important hard coal miners had submitted wage agreements with penalty clauses. The penalties will be strictly enforced as a guarantee against lockouts or strikes.

Mr. Garfield said that he will endeavor to see that this clause is not made the occasion for oppression either on the side of the operators or the men. Reports of the fuel administration show that the majority of the united mine workers have endorsed the automatic penalty clause, as a condition for any advance in the price of coal.

The eyes of the world are on Kerensky to see if he can come back. Connecticut has reason to be proud of the fact that it was the only New England state to exceed its Liberty Loan maximum.

It is declared that the president has an office waiting for John Purroy Mitchell. Possibly the Kaiser will have a new service to which Morris Hillquit will be called.

AMUSEMENTS

WHAT'S WHAT AND WHO'S WHO IN MANCHESTER MOVIE HOUSES

AT THE PARK.

This afternoon found the Popular Playhouse filled to capacity with school children as a special showing of Charlie Chaplin had been arranged for four o'clock for their benefit. If ever a play appealed to a youngster it is "The Adventurer", Chaplin's very latest comedy. It comes here directly from Hartford where it played to capacity houses twice, once at the Palace and once at Poli's. Chaplin will be shown to-night, tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock and again tomorrow night.

In "The Adventurer" the famous comedian does more ridiculous stunts than were ever staged in one picture. He is an escaped convict and guards are searching all over for him. How he escapes the guard kept the audience this afternoon in uproars of laughter for a half hour. There is little use in trying to describe this hodgepodge of comedy. It is indescribable.

Besides Chaplin there will be other comedies and a big five reel feature called "The Serpent's Tooth". Tonight's bill, therefore, is in reality a double feature bill with the price of admission still below what it costs in Hartford as one must pay the war tax there.

Chaplin will be shown again tomorrow with another showing of "The Serpent's Tooth" and an episode of "The Perils of a Girl Reporter".

On Friday besides an unusual bill, John F. Sullivan will distribute baskets piled high with food. Each basket will be worth more than $1.50 and there will be many of them. This takes the place of the usual gold distribution, or prosperity-sharing bonus, as Mr. Sullivan terms it.

Berne experts analyzed loaf of bread from Germany and found it contained 12 per cent corn, 22 per cent barley and 66 per cent sawdust. But that should be nothing to a people who can stomach the Potsdam gang.—Wall Street Journal.

AT THE CIRCLE.

What is probably the most unique and entertaining photoplay that has been presented at a movie house in this town for some time, is "Bab's Diary," Paramount's excellent screen adaptation of the first of Mary Roberts Rinehart's famous "Sub-Deb" stories, which created such wide and favorable comment when published in the Saturday Evening Post. Marguerite Clark has never been seen to better advantage than in this production. Her excellent work, together with capable direction, is no doubt mainly responsible for the picture's success.

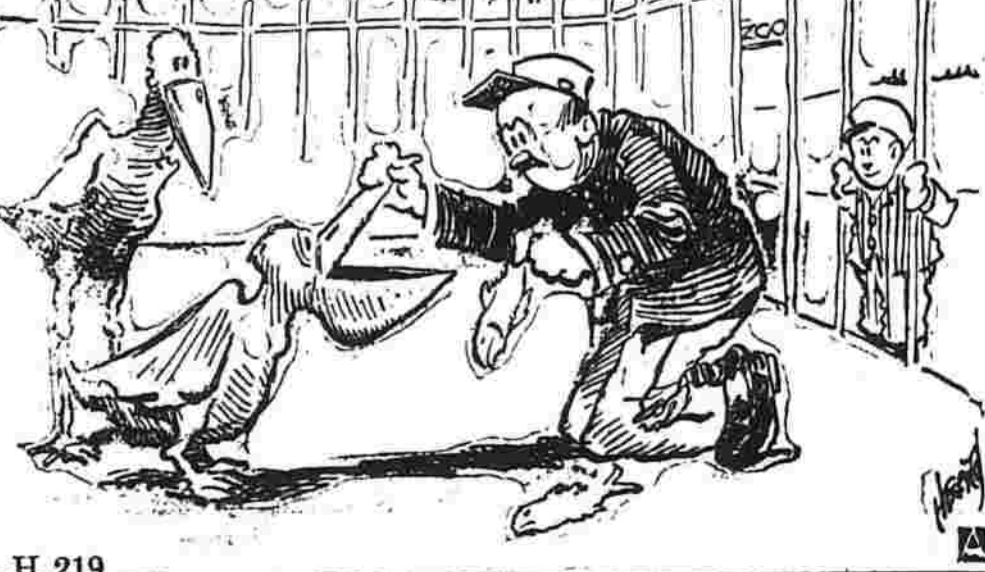

The situations in the picture are extremely funny, and the photographed extracts from "Bab's" diary always brought forth applause whenever they were flashed on the screen. Taken as a whole the picture is perfect. It pleased a capacity house at the Circle last night, and it probably has done the same wherever shown. Public approval and comment will no doubt draw many to the Circle to-night to see its final presentation, and the management may look forward to a capacity house.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening Mae Marsh comes to the Circle in the first of the Goldwyn productions, "Polly of the Circus," a spectacular adaptation of Margaret Mayo's world famed story of the same name. Mae Marsh returns to the screen after an absence of many months in a role particularly fitted to her personality and ability. As the circus girl of Margaret Mayo's story, she plays the role in such a way as to make the characterization the best of any that she has ever attempted, and we have in mind her work in "The Birth of a Nation." The production is in seven reels and is spectacular from the introductory title to the final fadeout. An entire circus was used for the filming of the story. It is a picture that is absolutely clean, both in plot and presentation, and its genuine heart interest will appeal to both old and young. "Polly of the Circus" will be presented at the Circle for two days.

3RD BATTALION OF U. S. FORCES ON FIRING LINE IN FRANCE; 19 OF SECOND BATTALION MISSING

With the American Army in France, Nov. 14.—With 19 of its members missing, the second contingent of American troops has retreated from the first line trenches, giving way to a third battalion which is now on the firing line.

The second battalion suffered less from bad weather than the first and consequently the men are in excellent physical shape. Only a few cases of sickness were reported, and the men underwent careful inspection and disinfection.

The day following their return from the trenches the men spent cleaning and drying out their clothing and equipment and swapping stories of their experiences.

Talking Over Fight.

The headquarters of a certain American company that was attacked by German raiders—a smoky little room, which used to be the parlor of a village shopkeeper—swarmed with officers from neighboring towns, who were eager to get complete reports of the fight. The company lieutenant explained the de-

"HE COULDN'T KNOCK ME OUT ANYWAY"

So Says "Jack" Dillon After Beating by "Billy" Miske—The Fight.

New York, Nov. 14.—The Hoosier bear cat is no more!

Instead there remains only the shell and heart of the man who was once the best middleweight since the days of Stanley Ketchel.

It was his heart which saved Jack Dillon from the first knockout in his career in his 10 round go with Billy Miske at the Broadway Sporting Club in Brooklyn last night.

For two rounds, the ninth and tenth, Jack was out. Staggering blindly about the ring, clinching whenever possible, the defeated man took the worst beating of his career.

Victory Fruitless One.

Miske's victory was a hollow one. He can hit, but he could not hit hard enough to drop Jack for the count. He can box, but there was no one for him to box. He merely mauled a man aged in the fighting game, one who has bucked nature and paid the price.

In the first three rounds, there was a flash of the old-time man-killer. Once, in the second round, Jack caught Miske with a right hook to the jaw which sent the St. Paul lad spinning in a neutral corner. Only the ropes saved him from dropping.

From the 4th Round On.

From the opening of the fourth to the final gong, the going was merely a question of whether Jack's heart and wonderful physique would fail him. Why he weathered the rain of hooks, upper cuts, jabs and full-arm swings in the seventh, eighth and ninth, no one could understand—not even Miske, who was asking that the bout be stopped.

Dillon held onto the ropes as he staggered to his corner in the ninth. As he returned for more punishment in the final round, he ran into a vicious swing to the jaw, which sent him to the floor.

Jack was up before the referee could begin to count. The final bell sounded, while Dillon stood helplessly against the ropes receiving a rain of blows under which no other man in the world could have stood up. His face was a mass of bumps and gates supporting the movement believe that the President will not hesitate to grant the demand by enlarging the commissions to an extent sufficient to give labor an adequate representation.

Problem of Woman.

The female labor problem is causing considerable worry. The convention is not hostile to the employment of women wherever it believes they are necessary. Fear is felt, however, that many employers are taking advantage of the present shortage of labor to permanently supplant male labor with women workers. Such a condition, the delegates point out, cannot fail to reduce the standard of wages, and while it might not be felt seriously at this time, it would create an extremely unsatisfactory condition after the war.

TOO MUCH WILSON—PLEASE READ THIS.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—P. W. Wilson, a tailor, rubbed elbows with six other tailors and dally smothered his annoyance at the tunes his co-laborers persisted in singing and remarks they made concerning Uncle Sam's country.

Finally, Wilson decided he had stood enough. He took a course in gymnastics that enhanced his muscular power and returned to the tailor shop.

The first thing one of the other tailors knew something dropped on him as he started to whistle a tune which did not sound patriotic. Before Wilson got through he had made hors de combat Emil Johnson, Swan Nelson, A. Hansen and Andrew Carlson, A. Gerber and William Gault.

A Spanish Mecca.

In the historic city of Seville, near the famous cathedral and occupying a frontage of about two hundred feet, stands a building that is of paramount interest to the people of practically all the American republics. Because of the contents of this building, Seville is becoming the Mecca of American historians. The structure is a veritable treasure house of authentic facts concerning the colonial period of all the new world, as well as a mine of information relative to early history of a large part of the United States. The house is known as the Casa Lonja and the treasure it contains consist of the general archives of the Indies, that wonderful collection of unpublished, unedited, and, for the most part even unindexed, original documents, reports, letters, etc., which practically embrace the administration of the colonies under the domination of Spain in all the Americas.

High School Notes

High school pupils will again take a turn on the stage in one of their far famed "movie benefits." On the night of November 23 the Athletic association of the local school will present vaudeville and operatic numbers. The school has many prominent entertainers. The Keating Falsetto Four will be engaged for the night and no doubt they will take the audience by storm. That is, if the audience doesn't take them by storm first. A chorus of dancing maidens, of the kind that dominate the school corridors, glancing out of the doorways as one passes by, and making the school more like a Sultan's palace than a high school, has been chosen. They will be able to sing by the time November 23 comes around for the singing instructor, Miss Marion Washburn has charge of the chorus. Robert McKay and Earl Trotter have charge of the benefit which is for the benefit of the basketball players. They need new suits. They protest that they cannot play basketball in citizen's clothes so that it was thought best to run a benefit and buy them real uniforms. Because of the increase in cost of materials and producing such extravagant shows as the high school pupils usually produce there will be a slight increase in the admission price for that night. This is done merely to keep pace with the times for the Athletic association doesn't need the money. Oh, no.

About forty enthusiasts met in the high school and signified their intentions of joining a debating club if such an organization were formed. The meeting was in charge of Earl Trotter. It was thought best to name a committee to draw up recommendations for officers and another one to draw up a constitution. The appointing of such committees was left in the hands of the chairman. He named John Lamenzo, Alva Russell and Mildred Truax as a nominating committee and Walter Hibbard, Francis Strickland, Josephine Keith and Earl Trotter as the constitutional committee. These committees will report at the next meeting of the club which will be held Friday afternoon at one o'clock. The prospect for debates this year is good. It is planned to hold inter-class debates first and if these are a success an attempt will be made to schedule debates with outside schools. Miss Elizabeth Craig of the faculty is behind the movement and the work will be made as interesting as possible.

THE PEACE WE FIGHT FOR.

If the war were to end soon, Uncle Sam would be the greatest potentate on the globe. It is true, there ought to be no question of domination by any one power of any other or others, but it is also true that the influence of the United States would be the most benevolent and healthful that could be exerted in the world.

The boasted claim of America as the melting-pot of the nations of the earth has been pricked to some extent by war conditions. We have seen to what little extent a score or more of peoples have actually been amalgamated into the American spirit and inheritance.

Yet America's loss in national unity has been its gain in kinship with the rest of the world. America is the natural arbitrator of peace.

Great Britain is only second to America as a crucible of races among the great powers. Like France, also, it is a democracy, with all that the term implies.

If it were merely a question of the material prosperity of this country, the future of which is being built for to a considerable extent by the resurrection of our merchant marine, a desire for peace now would be traitorous to our allies and unworthy the name either of decent patriotism or international loyalty.

America would like to see the end of all kings and kingdoms the world over. But it is very improbable that such a condition could be brought about within the period of the present war without revolutions, and a revolution in Austria-Hungary—though probably not in Germany—would mean a reign of terror compared with which that in Russia now would pale in significance.

ly only a third or less and Great Britain not over a quarter. These fighting men will return home and vote, even those disabled and those returned from captivity. Their votes, even in Germany, will count, and their influence over the rising general even more.

America is in the war to stick, but it is high time for her to determine the kind of peace she is fighting for and how soon she wants it.

There are corners and corners. Witness the unearthing by the government secret service of $35,000,000 worth of food, not to mention munitions, in New York city. And New York isn't the only sinner.

The Interstate commerce commission would do well to remember this in its decision on the pending freight rate case.

The taking of Menin and Roulers will mean the evacuation of five-sixths of the remaining territory now occupied by the Germans in France. The sooner that evacuation can be brought about, the sooner the discussion of peace can begin.

The recovery of the lost art of bread-making will do much to make many a household independent. But of course flour must continue to come down. But flour has behaved itself well compared with some other commodities.

ITALY LOOKS TO U. S.

Paris, Nov. 14.—Italy is looking to the United States in her hour of deepest distress as her saviour. Representative F. H. La Guardia of New York, who has just returned from Rome, said today that Signor Nitti, Italian minister of finance, sends this message to America: "The present German offensive has caused everyone in Italy to re-double his courage, and we will fight to the end, but we are looking to the United States for moral and material help."

UNCLE SAM COMMENCES INVENTORY, MAN POWER; DRAFT CLASSIFICATION

Five Different Classes Determined and Members of Each Will Be Called to Colors in Specified Fixed Order—Occupation Chief Basis of Distinction—9,000,000 Affected.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Uncle Sam today began the most gigantic inventory of man power ever attempted.

Preparations for the second draft were started today when copies of the questionnaire for every one of the nine million men registered for military service were sent to the Local Exemption Boards.

This questionnaire must be filled out by every registered man between the ages of 21 and 31. It will place in the hands of the government the life history of every registered man and will give a complete census of the men of military age in eighty-seven trades, industries and professions. The questionnaire will classify all registered men for service.

Classification of registered men in the order of their liability for military service will be the first accomplishment of the questionnaire. Men will be classified in five divisions, the first division to be called the first and the fifth division last. Each registrant will be allowed to fix his own class and must support his classification by affidavits.

These voluntary classifications will then be submitted for the approval and allowance of the Local Exemption boards and the District boards. The classes and the order in which they will be called are as follows:

- CLASS 1. Single man without dependent relatives. Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children, who has habitually failed to support his family. Married man dependent on wife for support. Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children; man not usefully engaged, amply supported by income independent of his labor. Unskilled farm laborer. Unskilled industrial laborer. Registrant by or in respect of whom no deferred classification is claimed or made. Registrant who fails to submit questionnaire and in respect of whom no deferred classification is claimed or made.

All registrants not included in any other division in this schedule.

- CLASS 2. Married man with children or father of motherless children where such wife or children or such motherless children are not mainly dependent upon his labor for support for the reason that there are other reasonably certain sources of adequate support (excluding earnings or possible earnings from the labor of the wife) available, and that the removal of the registrant will not deprive such dependents of support. Married man, without children, whose wife, although the registrant is engaged in a useful occupation, is not mainly dependent upon his labor for support, for the reason that the wife is skilled in some special class of work which she is physically able to perform and in which she is employed, or in which there is an immediate opening for her under conditions that will enable her to support herself decently and without suffering or hardship.

- Necessary skilled farm labor in necessary agricultural enterprise. Necessary skilled industrial laborer in necessary industrial enterprise.

- CLASS 3. Man with dependent children (not his own), but toward whom he stands in relation of parent. Man with dependent aged or infirm parents. Man with dependent helpless brother or sisters. County or municipal officer. Highly trained fireman or policeman, at least three years in service of municipality. Necessary custom-house clerk. Necessary employee of United States in transmission of the mails. Necessary trifle or workman in United States army or arsenal. Necessary employee in service of United States.

- Necessary assistant, associate or hired manager of necessary agricultural enterprise. Necessary highly specialized technical or mechanical expert of necessary industrial enterprise.

Necessary assistant or associate manager of necessary industrial enterprise.

- CLASS 4. Man whose wife or children are mainly dependent on his labor for support. Mariner actually employed in sea service of citizen or merchant in the United States. Necessary sole managing, controlling or directing head of necessary agricultural enterprise. Necessary sole managing, controlling or directing head of necessary industrial enterprise.

CLASS 5. Officers—legislative, executive or judicial—of the United States or of State, Territory or District of Columbia. Regular or duly ordained minister of religion. Student who on May 18, 1917, was preparing for ministry in recognized school.

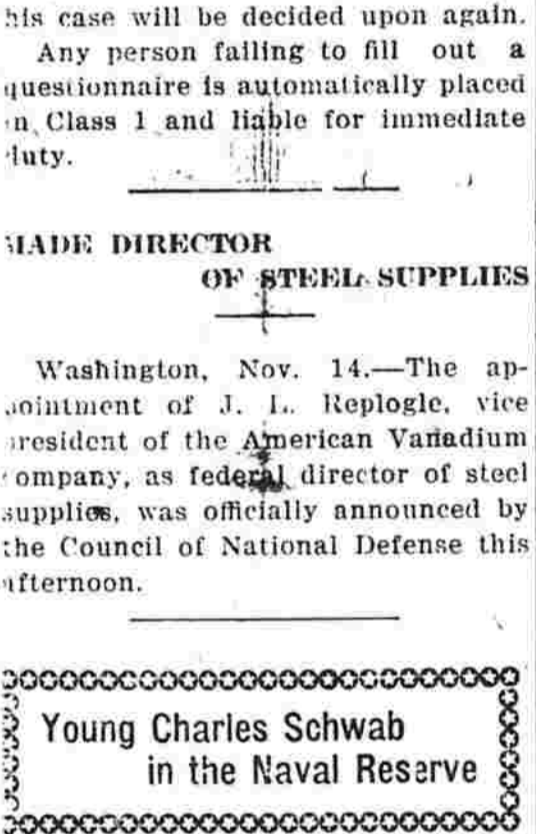

Persons in military or naval service of United States. Alien enemy. Resident alien (not an enemy) who claims exemption. Person totally and permanently physically or mentally unfit for military service. Person morally unfit to be a soldier of the United States. Licensed pilot actually employed in the pursuit of his vocation. Member of well-organized religious, sect or organization, organized and existing on May 18, 1917, whose then existing creed or principles forbid its members to participate in war in any form, and whose religious convictions are against war or participation therein.

To aid the registrants in filling out these questionnaires and determining their classification legal advisory boards have been provided for each local exemption district. Disinterested lawyers have been taken into service to aid in the general administration of the law.

All exemptions made prior to this time are revoked. Every man not in the military service must fill out a questionnaire, and the merits of his case will be decided upon again. Any person failing to fill out a questionnaire is automatically placed in Class 1 and liable for immediate duty.

A Glenwood or Crawford Heating Stove Is a Safe Investment Why Take A Chance?

When you start out to look for a stove you'll find that every dealer will claim their particular kind is The Best.

This you know cannot be true. You've got to depend upon the reliability of the firm selling the stove and to a great extent upon the salesman showing you.

Extravagant claims and loud noise don't heat your house or save you fuel, though they do sell stoves oftentimes.

With the Glenwood or Crawford stove you can rely upon its doing the work the salesman demonstrating it to you claims for it, or your money back.

We could very easily buy a cheaper make of stove, but like furniture, rugs and other lines of merchandise we handle, we find in order to hold our customer's goodwill we are obliged to give them that which will give entire satisfaction.

DICKENSON CONFESSES THAT HE STOLE SUITCASE

Broke Into House and Took Clothes—He and Companion Held For Superior Court.

Robert Dickenson made a confession of his guilt in court this morning in stealing a suitcase and a lot of goods belonging to George Strauser of Lydall street. In court yesterday morning he denied the theft but today he made a clean breast of the robbery to Chief Gordon and went on the stand and repeated the story to the judge. In doing so he implicated John McGuinness, a young man of 20 years, who boarded at the same house as he did.

Charge Is Changed.

This morning the charge was changed from theft to statutory burglary and both men listened to the reading of this serious charge with solemn faces. Dickenson pleaded guilty and McGuinness pleaded not guilty. The judge bound both men over to the next term of the superior court. Dickenson's bond was placed at $1,000 and that of McGuinness at $500. The former could not furnish a bond and was taken to jail to await his trial. The bond for McGuinness was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Byron Davis, with whom the young man lived.

How Goods Were Stolen.

On the stand Dickenson told the story of the daylight robbery. He and his chum had been to a football game on the afternoon in question and stopped at a north end fruit store where they bought some sweet cider. When they reached the house in which Strauser lived they broke in through a rear window. They plundered the house and carried the goods away in the suitcase. For fear of discovery the goods were left in a safe place in the woods. Later the suitcase and its contents were carried to the Davis home and it was then that the theft was found out.

Young McGuinness denied that he was with Dickenson at the time the goods were stolen. He admitted, however, that he was in his company practically all day. He knew, too, that the goods were stolen property when Dickenson tried to sell him a pair of shoes. The judge found probable cause and bound both men over as stated above.

WHAT HINDENBURG IS GOING TO DO.

With the American Army in France, Nov. 14.—German newspapers reaching American headquarters, which are apparently uninformed of the arrival of British and French reinforcements on the Italian front, make extraordinary boasts of what Hindenburg will accomplish on the western front as soon as "Italy is out of business."

It is a feat which the Germans seem to believe is comparatively easy.

The Italian campaign, the policy of Count von Hertling, (the new German chancellor) and the Austro-German reapproachment are all closely linked together, and are now taking up all the available space in the German newspapers.

The German papers express the belief that the German drive in Italy has killed the cry for peace in Austria, the Austrian government having long coveted the rich plain of northern Italy.

The Busy Birds.

One form of natural waste which is far more serious than the American people realize is a result of the deplorable neglect to conserve bird life in this heedless and ungrateful country. Ornithologists and other intelligent observers of nature who have made a study of the subject say with the sanction of crop experts that insects destroy one-tenth of the products of agriculture in the United States. Nearly all birds destroy insect life. The federal department of agriculture has found that among the birds which most effectively aid the farmers are plovers, kingbirds, catbirds, swallows, brown thrushes, rose breasted grosbeaks, house wrens, vireos, native sparrows, cuckoos, orioles, warblers, shore larks, loghead shrikes and meadow larks. Even the crow and the crow blackbird, which have rested under suspicion so long, do more good than harm to the farmers.—Chicago News.

Ample Reasons For Giving.

(Springfield Republican.)
The men who lunched with Dr. John R. Mott at the Colony club in this city yesterday, and heard him talk, were brought into vital contact with one of the world's leaders in this of upheaval among the nations. This dynamic and profoundly earnest man is looking after the millions of prisoners the war has made and is making, and he is also leading war-work activities of the Young Men's Christian association as they have grown and are growing beyond all expectation. Constantly the field widens, and so the appeal that must be responded to increases.

Those who of old looked upon the Young Men's Christian association as a religious organization in the narrow sense must awaken to the fact that it has become in this development an amazingly helpful agency for preserving the morale of the allied armies. What it did for the troops of the United States on the Mexican border it must now do on a greater scale for our enlarged army as it is to be found in the cantonments of this country, and has passed and will proceed across the water—only the service rendered must be much more abundant. The work that is done has been adapted in the most practical way to the world needs. It is full-hearted, non-sectarian, ever growing in range and effectiveness.

The military authorities fully understand and appreciate the want that this work fills, and which is to be met in no other way. Everywhere there is not only welcome for the Red Triangle, but the utmost urgency in calling it not only to our armies, but to the fighting men of France, Italy and Russia. It is agreed by Elihu Root and those who understand Russia best, that the greatest immediate contribution that this country can make to the awakening and bewildered nation is to put the Red Triangle with her armies. No better steadying force could be provided. The things which it stands for of helpfulness, entertainment and cooperation with the soldiers, are those most needed.

So of France and Italy, because the highest military authorities in both countries say so, and put their convictions into urgent appeals to this country to send them Red Triangle workers. Armies must fight, and so much of home life as it is possible to send must be kept with them, to uphold standards, to give men sorely needed comforts and some easement of mind. Dr. Mott made this wonderfully clear, and the conviction of the imperativeness of the Red Triangle appeal deepened under the glow of his understanding and the revelation of the unstinted purpose of service.

In the light of what the picked men of the Red Triangle are doing, money giving shrinks to the lesser part, yet without the most ample financial support the work must be weakened. The people of Springfield were asked to dip into their principal if need be, and Dr. Mott pointed out with powerful effect that the men who are to fight for us are putting all their principal into the balance—their prospect, and lives—and doing it gladly for the world's protection and peace. We must not fail them as they venture all.

WOMEN SEEKING POSITIONS WITH NEW HAVEN ROAD.

War was declared by the United States on April 6, 1917. During the past seven months women all over the country have taken some of the places of the men who have gone into the various branches of the country's service.

The labor supply, especially on railroads, is a matter to which managers have been giving serious consideration for over a year. The situation is growing quite acute with the result that women have been employed in various departments of railroad work where heretofore men were exclusively employed.

893 men have left the employ of the New Haven to voluntarily enter the service of the country. This number does not include the men enrolled in the National Army.

The New Haven recently distributed a bulletin announcing that its age limit for the employment of men has been raised. The age limit for its operating department had been 21 to 35 years, but now under the new plan, for firemen it is 18 to 45 years; for trainmen 18 to 50 years; and for other employees 18 to 60 years.

The railroads have lost many men through the operation of the draft law, but more through voluntary enlistments, particularly in the Engineers Railway Regiments. From the New Haven alone, two companies were formed, E and F, of the 14th Regiment, about 350 men, who are now in France. Women have for many years been employed in clerical work in railroad offices but their sphere has now widened from that of stenography, typewriting and filing letters to include many of the lighter forms of actual railroad work, both inside and out.

Labor must be conserved and to this end the railroads, through readjustments and reassignments, are placing, so far as they can, each labor unit where its energies will be directed to greatest advantage.

On the New Haven road were some of the first, if, indeed, not the first, female crossing tenders. Mrs. Harriet L. Hartley and Mrs. Alice A. Hardy took up their work as crossing tenders in June at Mansfield, Massachusetts. Others have since been employed at other points.

Women have taken the places of station agents, telegraph operators, ticket agents, etc., and in this way men have been relieved for other duties. In the New Haven's shops women recently have been employed in the stores department where they are sorting, storing and assembling materials and supplies. Another illustration of the duties heretofore performed by men now being performed by women is in the South Station, Boston, and other railroad office buildings where women elevator operators are employed.

The New Haven, moreover, has now taken a further step in its effort along these lines and has opened a school in the South Station where telegraphy, ticket and freight accounting are being taught free. Applications for this course of instruction have been many and the school has an enrollment to the capacity of its facilities and a list is already available for those awaiting entrance. The pupils, as they become proficient, are assured positions with the railroad company. The school is proving its worth. The experiment appears to the railroad officers to be an excellent one.

Friends of Robert Martin Present Him With Gift Before He Starts.

Robert Martin of Center street, who is to leave Friday for a training camp in Canada, was given a wrist watch by his fellow employees in Cheney Brothers' machine shop before quitting work yesterday afternoon. Thomas Weir, employed in the machine shop office, made the presentation speech, wishing him luck and God speed and Mr. Martin responded with a few words of appreciation of this expression of friendship.

Is Married Man.

Mr. Martin is a married man but has no children. He is 43 years old but he said he could hardly sleep the night after the British army captain spoke at the silk mills about two weeks ago and the next day he went to Hartford and enlisted. He is a native of Belfast, Ireland, and came here about seven years ago, having previously lived in Canada. He says he is the only Belfast man in Manchester and he did not intend to stay here when he is needed in the war. He is a British subject.

Other Britishers in Town.

Mr. Martin says there are many British subjects in town, who are several years younger than he, but are holding back from enlisting. But, he added, the recruiting officers in Hartford told him a law would be passed whereby such men could be taken if they didn't enlist.

Mr. Martin's wife is employed in the throwing department of the silk mills and with the money she will receive from the Canadian government for his services in the war will be able to get along comfortably, he believes. He has a sister, Mrs. John Hewett, who lives on Wells street.

A farewell party will be given Mr. Martin at his home this evening.

Suit of Distinction, but Lavishly Trimmed

Though good taste is not often found with lavishness of trimming, it is possible to have them together. That is amply proved in this suit that is one of the most tasteful creations of the season and at the same time one of the most lavishly trimmed. The unique design of the embossed trimming adds a note of distinction to this model that makes it one of the season's favorite fashions. It is of green broadcloth and is embroidered in gray wool. The ample collar, the cuffs and the wide band around the bottom of the coat are of chinchilla squirrel fur.

MARKET ZIGZAGGING UP AND DOWN AGAIN

Liberty Bonds of Both Issues Sag. Usual Stocks Active—Quotations.

New York, Nov. 14.—Discouraging advices received from abroad caused a weak tone at the opening of the stock market today, and losses during the initial trading ranged from fractions to nearly two points. Steel Common declined 1 1/2 to 90 3/4 and Bethlehem Steel B fell one point to 76. Crucible yielded one point to 52 and Baldwin Locomotive was off 1 1/2 to 52 3/4. Marine Preferred was off two points to 89 1/2, while Atlantic Gulf and W. L., after yielding 3/4 to 94 1/2, advanced one point.

General Motors, after yielding one point to 81 1/2, rose to 82 1/2, while Studebaker advanced to above 38, after opening 1 1/2 lower to 37 1/2.

The railroad stocks were lower. Canadian Pacific falling one point to 130 3/4, while St. Paul declined 1/2 to 36 1/2.

Liberty Loan Bonds were actively traded in, and sold into new low grounds. The 3 1/2's declined to 99.24 while the 4's sold off to 99.78.

The absence of buying power was the most important feature of the trading during the forenoon. There was said to have been important selling of nearly all the leading stocks which was not induced by overnight news.

The selling was most pronounced in Marine Preferred, which yielded over two points to 89 1/2. Steel Common was also pressed for sale, dropped two points to 90 3/4, and the other steel industrials suffered the same amount of loss.

Money loaning at 5 per cent. Clearing house statement: Exchanges, $562,313,933; balances, $46,078,576.

COTTON
New York, Nov. 14.—In face of consumption figures that were decidedly bullish, the cotton market today opened generally lower, with prices three points higher to seven points lower.

SUCCESS OF A COBBLER WHO DEFIED AN ADAGE

Pete Ragoli's Work in Pictures Proves That It Isn't Always Wise to Stick to Your Last.

FEATURE OF "THE SHINE GIRL"

You know the old saying—"Some are born great, others achieve greatness and still others have it thrust upon them." Pete Ragoli comes under the last head.

Pete is a 74-year-old Italian cobbler with a little shop in the basement of a Mulberry street tenement in New York. Until a few weeks ago fame had never blinked an eyelash at him and it looked like "tap, tap, tap," with his hammer until the end of his days. But Dame Fortune is an erratic lady. She saw that Pete was a good cobbler, that he worked hard and was honest, so she crooked her finger to William Parke, the Thanhouser director, who was casting "The Shine Girl," the Pathe Gold Rooster Play. Mr. Parke didn't see the lady but something led him to the Ragoli shoe repairing emporium. He was looking for an Italian cobbler "type" and in Pete he found it. Not only did he persuade Pete to leave his shop for a while to work in pictures but Mrs. Ragoli as well.

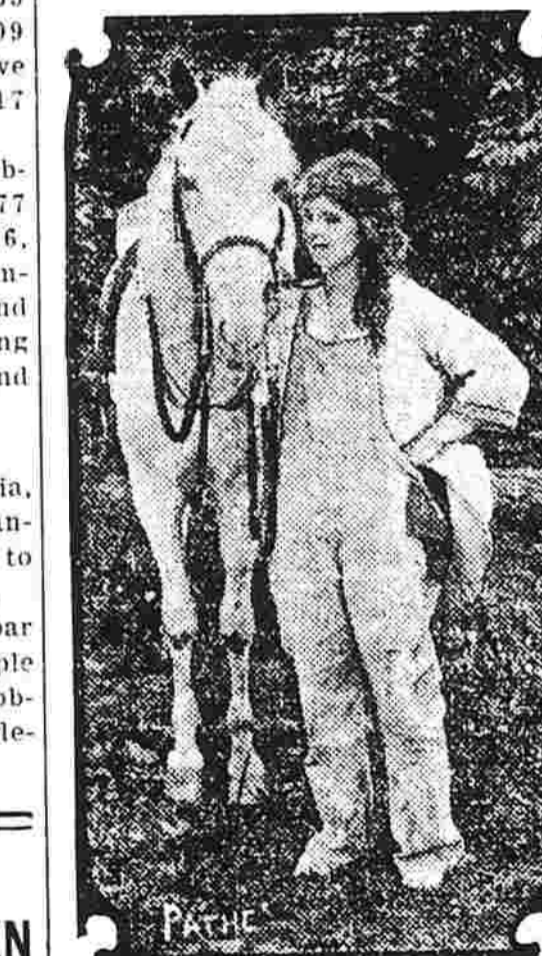

Pete liked working in pictures. No young tyro ever worked more enthusiastically than he. His ardor was infectious. No scene that he appeared in required a retake. Pete proved to be a true actor despite the fact that for fifty years he had been serving humanity along humble lines.

When you see Pete's honest old wrinkled face in "The Shine Girl" you'll like him, for he plays his part as to the manner born (as indeed he was) and he very evidently is enjoying himself.

ROLIN COMPANY MADE UP OF YOUNGSTERS; PATHE PRODUCERS HOLD THE PALM FOR YOUTH.

It is probable that the producers of Pathe's "Luke" comedies have a personnel that is about the youngest in the business. Manager Dwight Whiting is only twenty-four. Director Hal Roach is the same age. Bebe Daniels and Gertrude Short are just under sixteen and Fat Lampton, who tips the scales at four hundred pounds, is only seventeen. Harold Lloyd, the famous "Luke," is only twenty-one, and "Snub" Pollard but twenty-two. It is interesting to note that since most of the players are under age, their parents have to sign their contracts.

GLADYS HULETTE

Precautions to check the infantile paralysis epidemic in New York are reaching even further than the authorities intended. Ethel Mary Oakland and Tula Belle, two of Thanhouser's child actresses, have to carry health certificates every time they leave the studio to go out on a location. That was expected.

But now Gladys Hulette, one of the Thanhouser stars, who appears in "The Shine Girl," released through Pathe, has been forced to get a certificate. Miss Hulette is making a picture in which she plays the part of a girl of twelve. Many of the scenes are being taken over in New Jersey. For several days Miss Hulette, who motored to the location fully made up, was stopped every time she entered a ferry house and forced to explain that she really was more than twelve years old. One day she was delayed until William Parke, her director, arrived and got her out of the difficulty. He suggested that she get a health certificate in order to prevent further delays, and she did.

Now she presents her documents and passes the guards unhindered.

COIN KEEPING COMPANY WITH 'LONESOME LUKE'

Jingling Society of This Sort Shunned Hal Roach and Dan Linticum Until Pathe Produced Their Diverting Picture Farce.

SUCCESS ACHIEVED IN THE HOUR OF FAILURE

Many a time has young America received renewed ambition by hearing of famous and successful men who were down to their last nickel before fortune favored them. The motion picture business has many such men in it, but not often do the stories of their early trials and failures find their way into print. The heroes of those stories are usually too busy to tell the tale of their failures. They have learned success and have lost interest in the past, save as it has taught them how to utilize the present and the future.

Hal Roach, general director of the Rolin Film Co., has, during the past year, made a name for himself as a comedy director. He is who is responsible for the "Lonesome Luke" comedies on the Pathe program, a trade name that means something to all picture fans who love a laugh. The success of these comedies has been marvelous—they "caught on" at the very start, and yet only about twelve months ago Roach, who now chases around in a huge motor car and has money to burn, was broke. Such a story is typically American, and here is how it happened:

Mr. Roach is a young man, under thirty in fact, and started his business career as a mail carrier, not one of the kind most of us are familiar with, clad in gray uniforms, whistling the tidings of their approach and pounding the city streets, but in Uncle Sam's service in Alaska, riding horseback for long distances through the wilderness summer and winter alike. Nearly losing one of his feet from frost bite, he decided upon a less strenuous job and got one with a firm of contractors. While spending a vacation in Los Angeles he happened to meet some persons connected with a big motion picture producing company. Being an excellent rider, he sought and secured a job in the pictures. As an "extra" he was placed in a gambling den scene with a number of others, playing roulette. The director didn't know the game, nor did the other "extras," but Roach did—he had seen it often enough in Alaska. He straightened out some details and was rewarded with a regular job.

He finally became assistant director and ambition grabbed him. With Dan Linticum, who supplied the money, he formed a comedy company. Taking the first letters of their names they compounded the word "Rolin" as the name of their company. Their pictures were sold to two different companies, both of which went broke, one after the other, owing them money.

The infant company thus went pretty close to the rocks. With capital down to the zero point, Roach decided to risk all on one last attempt. He put his company "over the jumps" by putting them through every funny scene he could think of. There was no story and no rhyme or reason to it. He called it "Just Nuts" and sent it to Pathe. Pathe bought it and asked for more. In the meanwhile before the good news came Roach had got starved out and had secured a job as director with Essanay.

When the good news came Roach quit his new job, took off his coat and started to tear into things. He interested Dwight Whiting, who was selling motor cars, and together they started to work twenty-four hours a day. Their first company contained several players Pathe said were good. Harold Lloyd, Harry Pollard, Bebe Daniels, and others. The public said so, too, so around this nucleus they built up a strong company. Pathe took everything they turned out, and so did the exhibitors, ever on the lookout for real comedies.

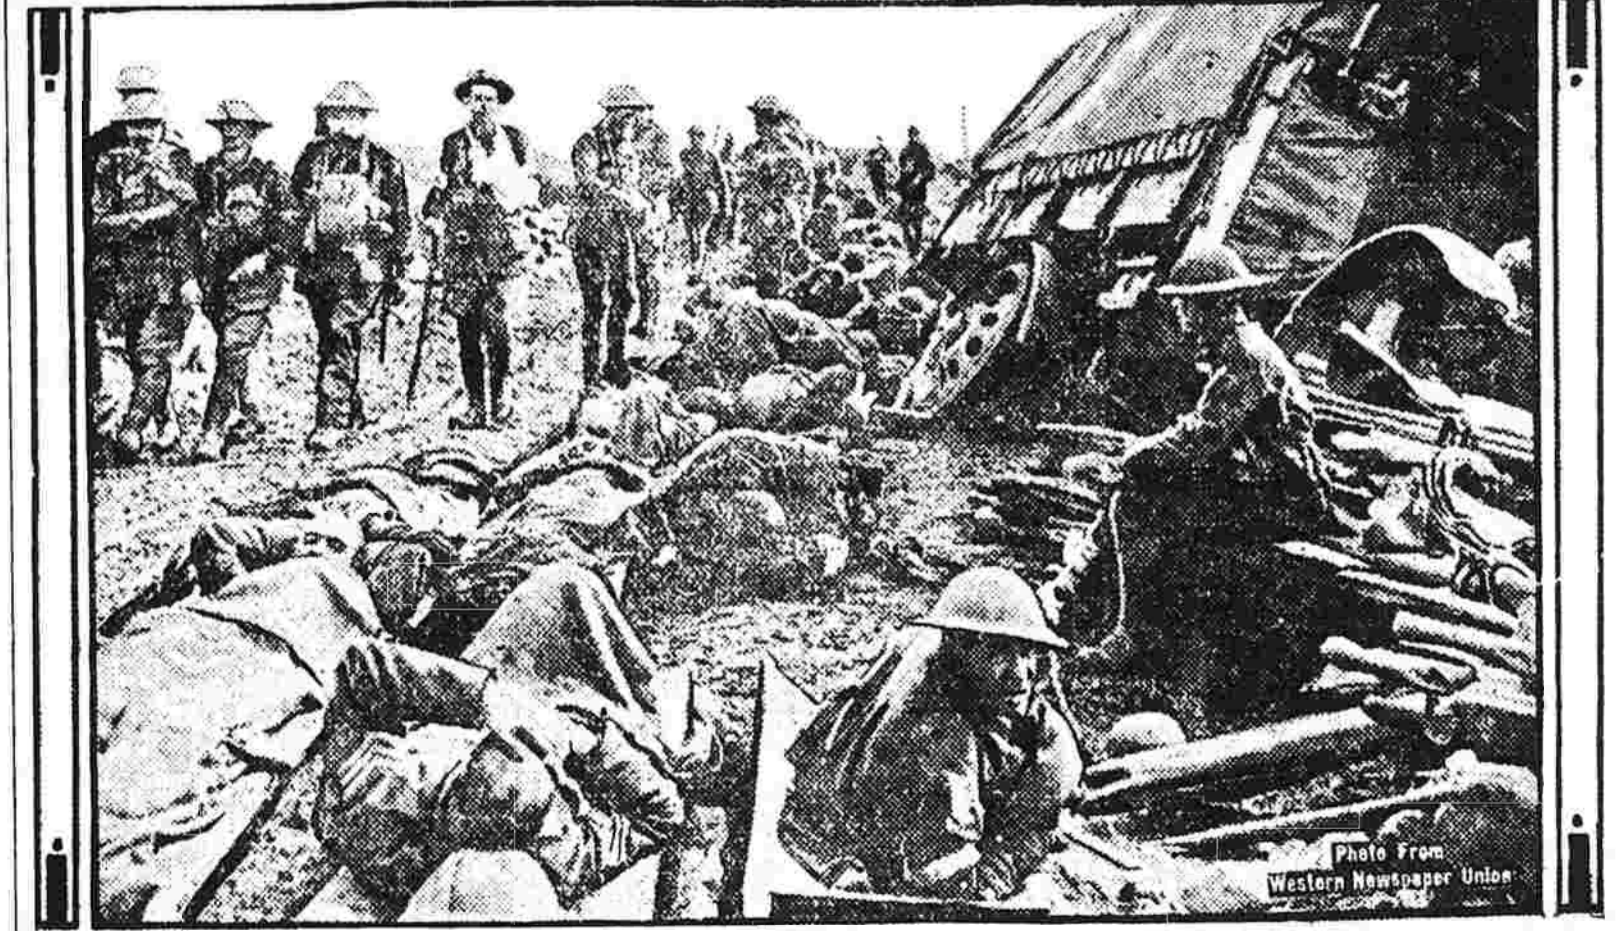

Today Rolin has its own studio, several new directors and all the money it wants. Mr. Roach has abandoned the twenty-four hour a day grind. He doesn't have to work that way now, for he supervises instead of doing property work, carpenter work, camera work and every other kind of picture work.

Mr. Roach neither writes nor buys scenarios. He thinks out comedy situations, outlines his ideas to his company, and puts them at it. This method has proven extraordinarily successful.

PEARL WHITE TO STAR IN ANOTHER SERIAL

So many letters have been received inquiring whether Pearl White, heroine of "The Iron Claw," is to appear in another motion picture serial that we are glad to announce that Pathe is to put out one in the Fall or early Winter in which the blonde-topped lady is to star. Edward Jose, her director in "The Iron Claw," will be her director in the forthcoming production.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

CANNING TOMATOES.

THIS is a new method of canning tomatoes: Select and peel the tomatoes as usual. Have the cans sterilized, place the raw tomatoes in them whole, pour in boiling water to fill the cans, remove a knife point to all the cans, run in the covers, are filled, then put on the covers. Place the cans in a boiler or large vessel, pour in boiling water until it reaches the neck of the can, put the lid on the boiler, wrap it with a blanket or rug and leave until the water is cold, which will be next morning. The cans are then ready to put away. When the cans are opened you will find the tomatoes whole and firm enough to slice easily.

Canned Tomato Soup.

Boil thoroughly tomatoes and onions proportioned to taste. Strain, season with salt, black and red pepper and celery seed. Boil again and can. This may be used in a variety of ways—as a plain soup, as a beef sauce thickened and spiced, with macaroni, adding cheese and milk, or combined with left over meat or chicken and gravy, rice, barley, vermicelli, etc.

Tomato Ketchup.

Take the desired amount of tomatoes and seed them to free them from the skins. Place them in a kettle with 1/2 lb of onion and a bag of mixed spices. Cayenne should not be added until the mixture is run through a sieve to remove all seeds. Add vinegar, black pepper and enough cayenne to make the ketchup sharp. Boil, and when medium thick put into bottles. Use new corks and press them far down into the necks of bottles, then dip the top of the necks into sealing wax. Excess portions cannot be accurately given, for tastes differ, and the reliable way is to test the made ketchup and add any ingredient which has a tendency to make it better. Some use a little sugar in ketchup, whereas others prefer it tart.

Green Tomato Pickle.

Slice green tomatoes thin. Put plenty of salt on them and let stand over night. In the morning drain well and add onions which have been sliced thin. Put vinegar in a large kettle. Add a little sugar, cinnamon and cloves. The spices may be put in a sack if desired. Put tomatoes and onions in vinegar and let come to a boil.

Tomato Marmalade.

Pare and slice three quarts of the tomatoes and add three pounds of granulated sugar. Slice four large lemons, put the tomatoes, sugar and sliced lemons into a kettle and cook until quite thick. Then put in air tight glass jars.

This model exemplifies the fact that a suit can be both handsome and useful. It is a serviceable all-around suit of taupe velour, with a touch of mole trimming.

The man on the corner says: It begins to look as if prices rather than pledges were going to bring about the much desired meatless days.

ALLIED ENTENTE CONFERENCE IN PARIS BEGINS TOMORROW—MISSION PERSONNEL AND OBJECTS

Paris, Nov. 14.—The delegates of the United States Republic will tomorrow begin their deliberations with the representatives of the Allied Entente nations at the great conference in Paris.

For this mission the President has selected men thoroughly informed on each problem vital to the winning of the war. The Army, the Navy, Finance, War Trade, Shipping, Food—each has its representative on the mission.

In addition to Colonel House, who has been making a special study of the problems of nationality and conflicting interests that will have to be settled in the final peace conference the American members of this war mission are:

Members of Mission.

Admiral W. S. Benson, Chief of Naval Operations.

General Tasker H. Bliss, Chief of Staff, U. S. A.

Oscar T. Crosby, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury.

Vance C. McCormick, Chairman of the War Trade Board.

Bainbridge Colby, of the Shipping Board.

Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor, of the Food Administration.

Thomas N. Perkins, of the Priority Board.

Gordon Auchincloss, son-in-law of Colonel House, secretary.

The Chief Question.

Foremost among the questions to be under consideration, immediately the envoys are met in the first session, will be the military and economic conditions in Russia and Italy.

The Balkan situation, too, presents some delicate points. Roumania, penniless and in serious straits, is under strong enemy pressure to give up the struggle, but she is needed for the contemplated spring campaign in conjunction with the Jugoslav legions on the northeastern Allied front.

Hence plans for the rehabilitation of the Roumanian armies will be laid at the conference.

The question of Japanese and Chinese participation in the war on a larger scale will be included in the mapping out of a general war plan.

Before any such activity of Mongolian troops on the eastern front, however, the Trans-Siberian railroad must be rebuilt—another proposition which, it is believed, will be relegated to United States engineers.

The United States delegates will insist that a permanent organization shall be created to unify and direct the efforts of the Allies.

It is not to be expected that any definite form of organization, nor insist upon any definite person to head it.

But the opinion here is that some permanent joint commission will be named, and because of the part this country is playing as the central banker for the anti-Hun syndicate it is not impossible that some American should be named to head a joint commission.

Commission All-Powerful.

It is expected that this commission will control the war in every phase, that it will give unity to military and naval policies, that it will determine where supplies are needed and direct them into their proper channels, and that it will have authority sufficient to end the present waste in shipping.

The Administration is beginning to feel that its money is not being used for any single correlative purpose which represents the best judgment of the Allies, but for as many purposes as there are borrowers.

It believes that some of these purposes and irreconcilable with others.

The recent events in Italy and Russia are current examples. There was no one to stop Italy from indulging in a reckless offensive, one that would never have been undertaken except for the utter chaos that prevails over supplies.

That offensive has cost the United States Treasury a loan of $230,000,000, and, through the draw on England and France for many men and guns, has probably checked plans that were developing in regard to the western front; it has given prestige to Germany through the Imperial armies' very successful offensive against the Italians.

All this has come from our lack of co-ordination in tactics and organization.

London Wants Dictator.

While opinion in Washington seems to turn to the commission form of war government for the Allies and the United States, London is harping to quite a different tune—and that tune is the demand for a dictator, a figure, a personality, to dominate all the forces and form a single front of all the Allied and United States battle lines.

There is one man more than any other in sight in London who would fill the bill—General Jan Christian Smuts, unquestionably the most popular statesman in England today, with the widest following abroad among the soldiers whom he has fought with and against. He is the only man in sight today who would have the confidence and support of a majority of the Entente statesmen and soldiers. To the Allies he would be, without a doubt, acceptable. Whether the United States would accept the nominee offered by the Allies is another question.

General Smuts in Rome.

The presence of General Smuts in Rome with Lloyd George possibly possesses some significance in this direction.

The one big lesson already drawn from the Italian debacle is that some sort of cohesion among the Allies and the United States is an object of the first magnitude.

The British press unanimously agrees on this. Liberal papers, such as the Manchester Guardian, The Nation and others, which first advocated such a policy, are being joined by the Conservative organs, notably the Northcliffe press.

The Times and The Mail and The Express are daily delivering broadsides to the effect that an Allied joint control and supreme control must go into effect at once, if victory is to be won or, indeed, if defeat is to be averted.

Tomorrow, therefore, will witness the most important conference between nations ever held in this world.

The results, whether benign or malevolent, will cast their effects to the ends of civilization, and the future of the nations will be molded to a great extent by the co-operative councils and conferences of the Allied Entente and the United States envoys.

WILL HONOR MEMORY OF "LIBERATOR" GOMEZ

Bronze Equestrian Statue of Cuban General for Havana Is Planned.

Sculptors throughout the world are preparing to submit designs for the bronze equestrian statue to be built at Havana in memory of Major General Maximo Gomez, "the Cuban Liberator." Requests for particulars of the competition, which carries with it prizes totaling $17,000, have been received from the foremost artists of the United States and Europe, and the design, which will cost in the neighborhood of $200,000, will be of great artistic as well as historical value.

Authorization of the memorial and announcement by President Menocal and a special commission of the conditions governing the competition have served to renew public interest in the remarkable exploits of one of Cuba's foremost revolutionary heroes. A veritable treasure of relics, autograph letters, personal heirlooms and other incunabula of General Gomez have been assembled for the guidance of the rival sculptors, and a portion of them, displayed in the National Museum, have quickened the liveliest public attention.

Cuban consuls throughout the world have been supplied with conditions of the competition, and their reports to the state department and to Colonel Jose Villalon, minister of public works and chairman of the commission, indicate that the successful design will be the peer of at least a score. The winner's prize will be $10,000, and the competition will not close until next April.

The firm of Title & Rich has been in existence for 14 years, occupying a building which stands on the site of the birth place of the late J. Pierpont Morgan, and it has won an important place in Hartford and surrounding towns.

The removal, it is explained by Mr. Joseph W. Rich of the firm, is due to an impossible cost of doing business at the present stand. The owner of the property they occupied has notified Title & Rich that their rent will be more than doubled and as the firm does business on a small margin of profit, depending on low

The Retreat of Title & Rich From 149 Asylum Street After Fourteen Years

We Don't Know Where We're Going But We're On Our Way!

If ever we pulled a "bone" in our business career we did this season, when we went to work and not only overbought but stocked up with the greatest line of merchandise we have ever had in our career. We bought early and double the quantity to avoid the scarcity and high prices that prevail everywhere just now.

And we said: "Mr. Landlord, you have spoken and our answer is, 'Get another tenant.'" So out we go, but we can't take that stock with us. We have been closed for three days, marking it down, and the landlord is going to do you a favor, folks, for he is compelling us to give you goods at one-quarter their real value.

Title & Rich Just For a While Longer at 149 Asylum Street

cost of operation and volume of trade for its income, the increase means either an abandonment of the firms low price policy, the carrying of inferior stocks or getting out of business. The firm has decided in favor of the latter and will, in a day or two, announce a closing out sale of its large stock of merchandise.

There is something of the irony of fate in this matter. For years Title & Rich have called attention in their newspaper advertising to their low prices as induced by the fact that they were out of the high rent district. Now a trick of fate puts them unwittingly into the high rent district and they find themselves in the same plight in which they have often described their competitors as being, namely compelled by high overhead costs to charge more for the same merchandise than Title & Rich charge.

Members of the firm, Mr. Rich and H. L. Title, however, take the situation philosophically. "It's the fortunes of war," said Mr. Rich. "We have no quarrel with the landlord for raising the rent. However, we don't propose to pay the increase and charge the difference to our customers in advanced prices. We would rather get out of business on our honors, so to speak than to accept from the policy which has won the approval of the buying public." Mr. Rich pointed out, however, that neither himself nor his partner desired to get out, this being indicated by the fact that they offer $500 to anyone who will show them where they can get a satisfactory store in as good a location as their present establishment at the same rental. "We'd like to continue to do business in Hartford if we could," said Mr. Rich, "but after looking over the available locations we've concluded that we cannot."

Some people believe if the Germans had anything as deadly as the American grade crossing they'd have won the war and forgotten about it by this time.—Paterson Call.

FIVE LOCAL MEN NEED NOT SERVE IN NATIONAL ARMY

District Board Hands Down Decision in Manchester. Appeals—Others on Waiting List.

Five local men were discharged today by the district board on appeals and on industrial grounds. They had been examined for the National Army and their cases had been referred by the local exemption board to the district board for decisions. These men did not know whether they had to serve or not for the past two months so they were relieved from their nervous strain today when they were notified that a decision had been reached. There are still others in the same predicament in this town. The local board says it cannot hasten decisions and the district board says it is working as fast as possible.

These three men were discharged on appeals from the local board's decision:

Earl E. Daly, 289 Spruce street. William F. Smyth, 18 Newman street.

Ernest A. Callis, 136 Pearl street. These two men were discharged on industrial grounds:

William Warnock, 634 Center street. Stephen Starchewski, 74 Wells street.

When the 15 per cent that remains of this district's quota is to be sent to Ayers, is not known by the local board members. They said today they are awaiting word from the district board.

MORE SCHOOLS NEEDED IN THE NINTH DISTRICT

Recreation Building Being Used As Class Room—Lincoln School Overcrowded—No Outsiders Admitted.

It now seems certain that more school buildings will have to be erected in the Ninth district before another year has rolled by. With all the new schools that have been built in the district during the past few years, all the rooms are full, some being overcrowded and it has been found necessary to put one class, Miss Butler's special class, in the men's club rooms in the Recreation building. At the Lincoln school, there are three rooms with about 60 pupils each while 42 is supposed to be the maximum for a teacher to handle. Anticipating this condition, Superintendent F. A. Verplanck engaged an extra teacher last June and this teacher takes a few pupils from each of these rooms and teaches them in one of the small rooms of the building.

Gain Every Year.

During the past three years, there has been an average gain of 100 pupils in the Ninth district. The enumeration, recently completed by George H. Howe, showed there were 2,365 children between the ages of four and sixteen in the district, against 2,259 a year ago, representing a gain of 106. It can thus be seen that nearly three new rooms are needed each year to take care of the increase. For some time past, it has been necessary to refuse to accept pupils from outside districts below the seventh grades.

Another School Needed.

At the last meeting of the district committee, the situation was discussed. It is recognized that another school is needed on the east side, but just where it would be located has not been decided. To accommodate the children of the families who will occupy the new houses being built by Cheney Brothers on the west side, another school or an addition to the Washington school will be necessary. This school was built on the unit plan and can be doubled in size, the original plans being made with that idea in view.

NEW FIRE WHISTLE.

The officials of the Eighth School and Utilities district have been given permission by the Orford Soap Company to install a big fire whistle at the company's factory. The matter has been placed in the hands of the president, Dr. F. A. Sweet, to carry out, and he will go at it immediately. Heretofore the alarm of fire has been given by the whistle at the A. Willard Case mill on Oakland street, and as the mill is often shut down over Sunday it was impossible to give the alarm on Sundays and holidays. At the Orford soap factory the steam is always up. The district intends to install a whistle that can be heard for five miles.

COAL FAMINE CONTINUES BUT PROSPECTS BRIGHTEN

Local Fuel Committee Loses No Time in Placing Manchester's Need Before National Administrator.

The government's coal committee in this town, consisting of A. E. Bowers, Elwood S. Ela and John Cairns, has not been idle since its appointment a week ago. The committee has assembled from local coal dealers complete figures as to their receipts of anthracite as compared with their receipts of other years and also the demand for coal as compared with other years. These figures show that the receipts have been far below those of the preceding year while the demand, owing to the growth of the town has materially increased. The dealers estimate that they are over 3,000 tons behind the needs of their customers.

Only one car of anthracite coal has come to town in the past week. That melted away like a flake of snow in a summer sun. The situation here has been forcibly impressed upon the Connecticut fuel administrator in a personal call by the local committee at his office in the capitol at Hartford. He in turn has been in Boston representing the case to Mr. Storow the New England commissioner, and Mr. Storow went to Washington Monday night to consult the national administrator with Manchester's case fresh in his mind.

The Connecticut commissioner holds out hope that the result of these efforts, backed by documentary evidence which the local committee has supplied, will be to start a trainload of coal in this direction in a short time. There is more reason to hope for this in the fact that an embargo on coal to New England, which has been in force for ten days or more, was raised this week. Fortunately for those families which are still without their winter supply of fuel the weather this month has been unusually mild.

OUR BOYS WILL NOT FIGHT UNTIL EARLY NEXT SPRING

That Is the Opinion of Lieutenant Newman in a Letter Just Received Here.

Mrs. William Newman of Flower street received a letter yesterday from her husband, Second Lieutenant William Newman of Company A, 102nd Regiment, who is now "Some where in France." One of the first places he visited was the Y. M. C. A. hut, where he met Chaplain Benedict of the last General Assembly, who is at the head of the Y. M. C. A. "there." Mr. Benedict spoke of Representative W. B. Rogers and several other Manchester men he knew. Lieutenant Newman also told of meeting Lieutenants Byrd and Russell Moore of Company D, 102nd Regiment.

Soon after their arrival, Lieutenant Newman said, a French woman invited him and a few other officers to a rabbit supper. He said the children over there are wearing wooden shoes, which they take off when they go in the houses.

From the way things looked when Lieutenant Newman wrote, he said he did not believe the Connecticut troops would see actual fighting before six months.

ENJOYED COON SUPPER.

Walter Wathem and party went to Columbia Saturday evening and bagged a 22 pound coon, and last night he gave a coon supper at his home on North Elm street to about 25 of his neighbors and friends. Out of town guests included Mrs. Wathem's mother, Mrs. Martin Durr, of Norwich.

Mr. Wathem's coon dog "Freckles" who was mostly responsible for the gathering was ushered by James Tolland before the guests while the meal was being served. "Freckles" who is lately from Kentucky has taken part in the capture of more than 300 coons and the one last night being the eighth coon Mr. Wathem bagged this year.

We wish to extend sincere thanks to friends and acquaintances and to the Orford Soap Company, for the kindness and sympathy shown to us during our recent bereavement and for the beautiful floral offerings.
