U. S. ARTILLERYMEN SHELL VILLAGE BACK OF GERMAN LINES

Sammies Getting Excellent Experience in Trench Fighting in France.

CORPS OF ACCOUNTANTS JOIN THEIR COMRADES

Treasury Officials in Charge—52 Men in Body—Life at Front.

With the American Army in France, Nov. 23.—American artillerymen today hurled five shells into a town behind the German lines which had hitherto been unshelled, by an official "gentleman's agreement."

This was not intended as "frightfulness" by the Americans, but was merely in retaliation for the action of the Germans in shelling a similar village behind our lines, during which a shell struck a regimental headquarters, endangering numerous peasants who continue to reside in the village.

The peasants were under the impression they were immune from German fire. German artillery has been abnormally lively. Our patrols continue their nightly excursions to the enemy positions, without encountering any more Germans. Officers commanding the units already returned to their billets from the front held a meeting with the commander of the first contingent to go forward and all agreed that the experience in the trenches has been of the utmost benefit in acquainting the men with actual war conditions.

Accountants Reach France.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The safe arrival in France of a special corps of accountants to audit the expenditures of the United States Expeditionary Force for the period of the war, was announced by the Treasury department today.

The corps is made up of 52 members of the office forces of the corporation.

PASSENGER STEAMER SPOKANE IS AGROUND

Stranded Off Idiot Point, B. C.—Several Vessels Have Gone to Help.

North Head, Wash., Nov. 23.—The big passenger steamship Spokane, of the Pacific Steamship Company, is aground off Idiot Point, B. C., according to radio messages received here early today.

The steamers Princess May and Victoria are reported by wireless to be hastening to the aid of the stranded vessel. The steamers Boston and Grace Dollar and the Canadian Government steamer Newington also are reported going to the Spokane's aid.

A radio message said the passengers had been taken off.

The Spokane is a steel screw steamer with a gross tonnage of 2,036 and was built in San Francisco in 1902.

AGAINST USE OF EARNINGS FOR R. R. IMPROVEMENTS.

Washington, Nov. 23.—The railroads should not be permitted to make improvements out of earnings at a period when one half of the nation's earnings should be devoted to the prosecution of the war.

This was the burden of a brief filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission today by Clifford Thorne, attorney for the shippers, opposing the granting of general freight increases asked by the railroads.

Witnesses for the railroads who estimated increased expenses of the railroads were referred to by Thorne as "expert guessers" who have no scientific information.

ADMIRAL CAPPS WANTS TO BE RELIEVED.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Rear Admiral W. L. Capps, general manager of the emergency fleet corporation, today asked Secretary of the Navy Daniels to be relieved from all duty on the grounds of ill-health.

Admiral Capps' physicians have advised him that unless he ceases all work immediately and takes a rest for three months he will suffer a fatal illness.

FIRST DEAD SAMMY GIVES STREET HIS NAME.

Washington, Nov. 23.—That the name of Merle David Hay, the Iowa boy who was one of the first engagement of Pershing's forces with the Germans might live, Des Moines, Iowa's capital city, has named a thoroughfare after the dead hero.

The War Department was advised today that 58th street had been officially changed to "Merle Hay Road," in honor of Iowa's first war victim.

MRS. DE SAULLES DIDN'T PREMEDITATE THE ACT

Didn't Expect to Find Husband Home When She Called For Jack Jr.

SMILES ON THE STAND.

Various Other Important Witnesses Testify—Motive For Carrying Pistol Shown.

Mineola, L. I., Nov. 23.—The prosecution in the trial of Mrs. Bianca de Saullés, charged with the murder of her former husband, "Jack" L. de Saullés, launched its most forceful drive today.

Lined up in battle array against the frail and tiny defendant, who is pleading temporary insanity, were the eye witnesses of the tragedy including three members of the de Saullés family.

The witnesses are: Major Arthur Brice de Saullés, father of the victim of the shooting; Mrs. Louise V. Hecksher and Mrs. Caroline Degenere, sisters of Jack de Saullés, and Marshall Ward, Jack's most intimate friend.

Each is prepared to give testimony, which, in the opinion of the prosecution, will only add weight to the charge of premeditated murder.

The First Witness.

Marshall Ward was the first witness called today. It is recalled that the witness in testifying before the coroner shortly after the fatal shooting, declared he was in the room throughout the entire time of the tragedy.

In this connection it is also recalled, Julius Hadamek, valet to Charles de Saullés, brother of the slain man, testified yesterday afternoon in a manner contradictory to Ward's early statements.

Hadamek declared that when he ran into the room, after hearing "five shots which the defendant fired at her divorced husband and lifted the bed from the floor to a casket."

Through this statement, the defense expects to prove that Mrs. de Saullés did not expect to meet her former husband that evening. They will show that the valet told Mrs. de Saullés that Mr. de Saullés had gone to the Meadowbrook Club and "would not be back for an hour."

Murder Not Intended.

This lie, as admitted by Hadamek, while under cross examination, convinces the counsel for the defense that they will be easily able to show that Mrs. de Saullés did not go to "The Box," the country home of Jack de Saullés, with murder in her heart; that she did not expect to see de Saullés and that she carried the pistol merely because she was forced to travel a lonely road.

Following the testimony to be given by the two sisters, there will be but four remaining witnesses to be introduced by the prosecution. These will be Sheriff Phineas Seaman, who placed Mrs. de Saullés under arrest on the night of the shooting; Constable Leonard Thorne, who accompanied the sheriff; Walter R. Jones, the justice of the peace who issued the warrant for her arrest after Jack de Saullés died, and Philip M. Lydig, a cousin of Jack de Saullés.

Mrs. de Saullés Calm.

Throughout it all, Mrs. de Saullés is bearing up wonderfully, surpassing the fondest hopes of her counsel, relatives and most intimate friends.

If she is rapidly approaching a complete collapse, which has been prophesied persistently throughout the trial, there is no outward evidence of it.

She is scheduled to take the witness stand as soon as the prosecution completes its list of witnesses, have been spending sometime in Canada.

More Threatening Letters.

For the first time since the beginning of the trial, the European war became "identified" with the case.

Among the many additional threatening letters received today by Justice Manning, who is sitting in the case, was one which read, in part, as follows:

"Mrs. de Saullés should be convicted. She is a foreigner and came to this country and killed a man right when the country needs all of

BRITISH LOSSES ARE ONLY 8,000 IN KILLED, WOUNDED AND MISSING

Bitter Artillery Fire Now Directed on Cambrai by Gen. Byng—Germans Offering Desperate Resistance—250 Tanks in Britons' "Land Fleet"—Gains Are Consolidated.

London, Nov. 23.—Pausing in their drive against Cambrai the British attacked the German positions on the West Flanders front, southeast of Ypres.

A slight advance was made, the war office announced at noon.

The attack, which was preceded by a vigorous cannonade, was made in the sector of the now famous Ypres-Menin road.

The situation in front of Cambrai, where the British won their big victory on Tuesday and Wednesday, remains unchanged, the official statement added.

The war office report indicated that the Germans are making counter-assaults against the new British front near Arras in the double effort to check the advance and win back some of the lost ground.

England now has upwards of 250 tanks in her "land fleet" it was stated today on good authority. A few were put out of action by German artillery in the drive on Cambrai on Tuesday and Wednesday and some were overturned by falling into German trenches, but the loss was negligible. England maintains a big fleet on the West Flanders front and some were sent to Russia before the revolution.

Reinforced with fresh troops hastily rushed to the front the Germans are reported to have been driven back.

Which the Germans had used as a base of operations. Kluck's hordes over-ran northeastern France in the autumn of 1914, is crumbling under the fire of British guns and is in flames.

The British troops which had entered Brittain Notre Dame, two and three-quarters of a mile west of Cambrai, have taken up a position slightly to the west across the Ba-paume-Cambrai road.

Consolidation of the newly won British positions has now been accomplished, the new British line being linked up with the old.

German artillery was very active throughout the night, said advisers from the front today. Both sides of the deep salient driven into the German front by the British victory of Tuesday and Wednesday were deluged with shells of all calibers.

Dozen Villages Wrecked.

Within this salient lie the wrecks of a dozen villages from which the Germans were driven and the elaborate works making up the northern end of the famous Hindenburg Line through which the Third British army smashed its way.

North of the salient, from the line of Moeuvres-Bourbourg to the Scarpe river strong British pressure against the German front continues.

In this section is the so-called Drocourt-Queant switch, one of the chief supporting lines of defenses to the northern end of the Hindenburg Line.

Only 8,000 British Fall.

A remarkable feature of the victory was the smallness of the British casualty list. It is reported that the number of British killed and wounded was only about 8,000. No prisoners were lost and German prisoners who are still trickling back to the rear today told interesting stories of the fighting. It was just at dawn on Tuesday that the British soldiers along the first line began to let out bursts of smoke from queer looking machines that had been moved up to the front during the night. This fall spread out into "No Man's Land" mingling with the early morning mist. As it settled down into a fog-like vapor a long line of tanks began to rumble forward, the huge, creaking monsters moving over the ground like grim, steel animals.

The Tanks' Attack.

The guns rumbled at intervals during the night, but there was nothing in the artillery fire to indicate an impending attack. The German lookouts were terrified to see a great mass of strange looking monsters creeping upon their lines. They fired their rifles as they saw the German soldiers could be gathered for any effective resistance the tanks had cut their way through the German barbed wire and the machine guns in them were sweeping the German trenches. Once past the first line of trenches the tanks kept on, leaving the work of killing or capturing the Germans in their dugouts to the "moppers up."

German prisoners said the surprise at seeing the cavalry in action was only slightly less than that occasioned by the sudden and furious attack of the tanks. It was the first cavalry action some of them had seen in over a year.

ENGLISHMEN IN U. S. SOON TO BE DRAFTED.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 23.—Conscription of Englishmen in the United States soon was forecast in a speech at Pittsburgh, Pa., by Brigadier General W. A. White, head of the British recruiting mission in this country.

He said:

"There have been many claims of exemptions from the draft by British subjects here on the grounds that they are aliens. This is no fair. In a short time they will have no choice. Negotiations are going forward and we will be in a position to come and fetch them to the colors."

"British subjects in the United States should accept the responsibilities with the advantages of this country and fight under either the Stars and Stripes or the Union Jack."

General White said that in the four months he has been in this country 13,000 British and Canadian subjects have volunteered.

RAID GERMAN PAPER.

Peoria, Nov. 23.—On search warrants issued under the espionage act, government agents raided the offices of the Peoria Sonne, a German newspaper and the home of its proprietor.

It is alleged the paper was active in a movement to collect money from German sympathizers. The paper is edited by P. H. Wolf.

MISS KARLSON NOT GUILTY.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 23.—Miss Alice Karlson, on trial here for the murder of her father, today was found not guilty by a jury in the superior court. Miss Karlson admitted shooting her father, but declared she was driven to it by years of mistreatment and cruelty to her mother and herself.

GERMAN PAPERS SILENT ON NEW VICTORY

The Hague, Nov. 23.—The British victory on the Arras front and the French victory on the Alsace river front, were passed over almost in silence by German newspapers, according to a dispatch from the frontier today.

It stated that, apart from publishing the official report of the German war office, which minimized the Allied gains, the newspapers refrained from comment.

This was evidently due to censorship, as the papers failed also to publish Premier Lloyd George's recent declaration that five German submarines were sunk in a single day.

PEACE OFFER MADE BY RUSSIA TO GERMANY

Stockholm Paper, The Tidente, Publishes Sensational Report.

BOLSHEVIKI WEAKER.

Several Ministries of Kerensky Government Still in Office, Washington Embassy Says.

Copenhagen, Nov. 23.—A representative of the Russian government has left Petrograd, bearing a peace offer to Germany and Austria, according to a dispatch from Stockholm today, quoting the newspaper Tidente as its authority.

The Russian, who was said to be a diplomat, was reported to have left Petrograd on a special train. The terms were not made known.

The Tidente today printed a Haparanda dispatch, saying that an envoy of the Kerensky government had left for Stockholm, bearing a peace offer to Germany and Austria.

Kerensky Ministers Still? Washington, Nov. 23.—The Russian war ministry and the ministry of marine, organized by Kerensky, are still operating independently of the Bolshevik government, the Russian embassy claimed today.

The only branch of the government dominated by the Bolsheviks is the ministry of foreign affairs, of which Leon Trotsky is the new head, it was declared. The business of the ministry of foreign affairs is "purely political," it was explained, and for that reason had to be taken over by a political revolt.

The food ministry also is continuing its operations without interference. Dispatches from this branch have been received by the Russian ambassador, and cables from the old war ministry and the ministry of marine have been received by the Russian military and naval attaches in Washington.

The Bolsheviks, who now control what government Russia has, have appointed commissioners who are leaving Petrograd for the front to attempt to bring about an armistice, said advisers from Haparanda today.

Dr. David Soskice, who is Kerensky's private secretary, and who has left London, said before his departure:

"When I left Petrograd affairs were going from bad to worse and civil war on a big scale seemed inevitable. The Bolsheviks are supported by the illiterate masses, and I believe that when the people are educated to the real needs of the nation things will take a turn for the better and general reconstruction will begin. The Bolsheviks have promised the Russian people an immediate peace."

HE REFUSES TO MARRY SHE SHOOT HIM DEAD

New York, Nov. 23.—Dry eyed and regretful, Jennie Mattano, 22, sits in her cell today in Brooklyn, she shot and killed John Perrella, her sweetheart when he refused to keep his promise to marry her.

The shooting occurred soon after Perrella left his work in a Williamsburg factory. The girl worked in the same factory building. After walking a block with Perrella and pleading with him to keep his promise to marry her, Jennie deliberately drew a revolver and fired four bullets into his body.

ONE KILLED, FOUR HURT. IN AUTO SMASHUP.

Boston, Nov. 23.—One man was killed and four others injured early today when the automobile in which they were speeding from Chelsea to Boston plunged through the fence at the approach of the Chelsea drawbridge after hitting a lamp post, and dropped into the Mystic river, 30 feet below. John Kelley, 40, of Chelsea, was killed. Julius Levine, a sailor attached to the navy yard, was driving the machine. A charge of reckless driving was made against him.

ITALY'S ARMY IS HOLDING ON TILL REINFORCEMENTS COME

Present Odds in Favor of Foes Will Be Evened Up Before Great Battle Impending Is Fought, Says General Corsi, Military Expert at Rome—Main Positions Unchanged.

Rome, Nov. 23.—Since the German defeat by the British in France the invading Teutons in northern Italy have redoubled their efforts to break through the Italian lines between the Piave and Brenta valleys and terrific fighting was reported from that sector today.

The Germans are using "shock troops" for assaults in intervals of heavy bombardments which continue night and day.

At some points on the Asiago plateau the Italian line has been dented, but the main positions, as well as those on the Piave valley, are holding firm.

The German and Austro-Hungarian reinforcements sent to the upper Piave have given the invaders a big superiority over the Italians, but the latter have the advantage of position, holding a chain of fortified mountain summits in the path of the Teutons.

Generals Praise Men.

General Aosta, commander of the Italians on the Piave, has issued a proclamation praising his men for their bravery.

"In defense of the Piave, the Italian left wing has been faced by all of the available forces of the Central empires," says General Corsi, military expert of the Tribune, in an article today. He continued:

"The left wing have been over-coming and are yet overcoming enormous difficulties, checking the enemy's advance, wearing him out and preparing for the decisive battle which will be fought by all the soldiers of the Allies against all the soldiers of the Central empires can bring into action."

OPERATION OF POWER PLANTS IS THREATENED BY LACK OF COAL

National Coal Association Points Out Urgent Necessity of Relieving the Railroad Congestion in New England at Once—Trolleys, Factories, Etc., Affected, Organization Says.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Special attention was given today by the fuel administration to the needs of New England, where the shortage is acute. Consideration was given to the issuance of orders to provide for the freer movement of coal to Hampton Roads to be shipped by water to New England.

Administrator Garfield declared that the traffic conditions at Hampton Roads had been greatly improved. Traffic officials were cooperating, he stated, to secure the prompt return of government cars from seaboard points to the mines.

Must Relieve Congestion.

All electric street railways, electric light and gas plants and factories in New England will be compelled to shut down unless some method can be found to relieve congestion on the railroads entering New England, the National Coal Association declared today.

John Callahan, traffic manager of the association, and its transportation committee held a conference today with the railroad war board to formulate some plan to relieve the acute situation now confronting New England.

When Callahan's statement was called to the attention of Secretary of War Baker he admitted that the situation was serious but that the War Department, Department of Commerce and the fuel administration have been hard at work on the problem, and a solution was expected shortly. The secretary admitted the very great importance of keeping an ample supply of coal flowing into New England as otherwise the many war plants there would be seriously handicapped.

COUNSEL OF I. W. W. INTERFERED AT CHICAGO.

Chicago, Nov. 23.—I. W. W. leaders here today charged that government officials have interfered with the I. W. W. general council for that organization.

Moore left Los Angeles nearly a month ago, it is declared, to come to Chicago, to aid in the defense of I. W. W. members under arrest here, but has not arrived. Frantic efforts by I. W. W. officials to locate him have proved unavailing.

U. S. MISSION MERE FRENCH OFFICIALS.

Paris, Nov. 23.—Colonel E. M. House, and other members of the American mission, who have arrived from London to take part in the Inter-Allied War Conference, held conference with members of the French government today.

The members of the mission are highly pleased with the result of their visit to London and feel that much good has been accomplished.

ARREST "REGULAR" IN NEW YORK.

New York, Nov. 23.—A regular army soldier whose name, regiment and company are withheld by the federal authorities, is under arrest here today on suspicion of being a German spy. He was found in a room in Hoboken with Herman Glaubs and Edward Pranz, enemy aliens. All information regarding the soldier's arrest is withheld.

DELMONICO'S TO CLOSE

New York, Nov. 23.—Old Delmonico's Restaurant in Beaver street, famous as an eating place for more than 80 years, will close its doors tomorrow. The building has been sold to the American Merchant Marine company.

R. R. STRIKE LESS MENACING.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Failure of the railway brotherhood chiefs to agree to absolute arbitration of all differences with the roads for the period of the war will compel Congress to act to prevent any possibility of a general strike. Administration officials said today that while yesterday's conference was satisfactory as far as it went, it had not removed what might well become a dangerous menace at any time.

WHAT'S WHAT AND WHO'S WHO IN MANCHESTER MOVIE HOUSES

AT THE PARK.

Tonight's show at the Popular Playhouse needs no introduction as the high school pupils have been advertising it for nearly a month. It will be a benefit for the Athletic Association and the house has been sold out for this evening's performance. The first part of the program will consist of singing and dancing, vaudeville skits, instrumental solos and monologues. The last part of the program will be given over to movies among the features being a five reeler starring Crane Wilbur, the Adonis of the screen in "The Single Code."

For tomorrow the big double feature bill will be the magnet that draws a capacity house every Saturday night in the year. It just cannot be beaten because a Brady-Made picture system of the highest quality substitutes the best stage drama and comedy and the names of the features do not even count because local movie fans know what trade marks mean nowadays. The Keystone will be "Your Uncle Dudley" and the Brady-Made will be "Lost Paradise."

In "Lost Paradise" imagine this situation: A blind man marries. He thinks his wife is the girl of his dreams. His sight is restored and he finds his wife not the person he thought he married. This will give you a hint of the dramatic possibilities of this film. Starting Monday there will be shown at the Park, Helen Holmes in her new railroad serial, "The Lost Express." Everybody here knows Helen, the "Darling of the Rails," so no introduction is necessary. The new serial is of the most sensational sort, as might have been expected. House electrician Phaneuff has made his booth a model of efficiency. When the door opens, the electric lights are lit. The reels are re-wound by an electric motor. Glass windows in the reel cases obviate the opening of the cases so there is absolutely no danger of a fire. Then with the $700 transverter keeping the picture flickerless it is now possible to see the picture well from the very first row, a condition not possible in any movie house in Connecticut.

The fourth edition of the plucky little sheet has not yet appeared on the news stands—reason: Those strict English censors have held the whole edition up on a technicality. (It was prepared at the first place the Eighteenth camped after arriving on the "other side" in England.)

Some Romance.

Romance? Oo la la! Listen to this: Scene: The Eighteenth's first camp in France. Private Murray, of C Company, turns in at his bunk just as taps sounds, and in the darkness describes to his corporal his first French romance thusly: "Her eyes, her hair was raven black. Such beauty!"

"We embraced over the fence when the guard's back was turned. She knew only these two words of English: 'Love you! Love you! And I knew only these two French words to answer: 'Poncho! Poncho!'"

The most striking point about the American troops, from the viewpoint of those with whom they have come in contact in Europe—aside from their spectacular money spending proclivities, made possible by the comparatively princely salary Uncle

AT THE CIRCLE.

Paramount's screen version of Dolf Wyllarde's story and play, "Exile", which was shown at the Circle theater last evening, presents the incomparable Petrova at her best. It presents the story interestingly and in a clearly told manner. The production is one that will command respect at any theater and a disposition is shown by Director Maurice Tourneur who directs all the Pickford pictures, to relieve the play of the sordid atmosphere that surrounds it in the printed book and on the spoken stage. From the moment the introductory title is flashed on the screen until the final fadeout, one realizes that this is photography elevated to a high grade development in the silent art.

The new Mack Sennett comedy which was shown on the same program is far ahead of the former Sennett standard and it shows what the master director can do with Paramount prestige and resources behind him. It is by far one of the best comedy attractions that has been seen in the town for some time. It is a clean, snappy offering with the action of a rapid fire gun. The Hearst-Pathé with its timely subjects of world wide interest is also deserving of special mention. This same program will be presented at the Circle this evening.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening, the management has arranged another one of those exceptional Saturday programs for its patrons. The program consists of a Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, "Her Right to Live" with Peggy Hyland and Antonio Moreno in the stellar roles. The Hearst-Pathé, a Big V comedy and an episode of the melodramatic marvel, "The Fighting Trail." The Circle has already established an enviable reputation throughout the state for its exceptional programs. "Jack and the Beanstalk," which has its premier at the Strand, Hartford, next week, will be shown at the Circle Thanksgiving afternoon and

IRON CROSSES NOT GIVEN ON MERIT
London, Nov. 23.—Charges of partiality in bestowing the iron cross were found today in the diary of a German prisoner captured in front of Cambrai. He was a member of the fourth guard division and was apparently burning with wrath over the matter.
"The sergeant-majors give out the crosses without the slightest regard for merit," writes this soldier. "I know of one instance where a battalion gardener was given the iron cross because he grew such excellent lettuce."

COMES FROM FRANCE

Plenty of "Color" of La Belle France in U. S. Forces' Publication—Contents.

With the United States Forces in France, Nov. 23.—A beaming little copy of the first American newspaper published by our armies on the other side has, after the most gallant of struggles and vicissitudes galore, come to us. Brave, chesty and beaming with the personality of the "dough-boy," it has journeyed to us bringing its atmosphere of la belle France.

It is on cheap, thin paper, has been set up by French compositors (and very creditably) and retails at half a franc. It is a little of the perfume of the homey French hamlets, their quaint roly poly inhabitants; it is a wisp of the rolling smoke of the night fires and the khaki figures who gather in the gloaming to talk and think of "the States" and mother—who has sent the smiling picture and cheery letter he carries in his pack. It is the personality, in short, of the men of the Eighteenth Railway Engineers, United States Army, somewhere in France. It is "The Spiker."

Kompany B's Kultur Kolumn regales the boys with the latest financial news somewhat in this fashion: "Cigarettes declining rapidly. Heavy bull movement account delayed pay day. Shortage centimes acute. Bed-bugs plentiful and strong. Pickering and Riley reported with heavy stock. Beef stew continues unchanged. Sox continue strong. Chicken reported plentiful."

Watch How The Income Tax Affects You, Mister

The $60-a-week man or woman has an income of $3,120 and, if unmarried, must pay the government a 2 per cent. tax on $2,120 or $42.40. He or she is exempt up to $1,000. The married man or woman, with an exemption of $2,000, must pay a 2 per cent. tax on $1,120, or—$22.40.

If a man makes $40 a week and his wife $20, each may put in a $1,000 exemption claim, but the tax will be the same as if the husband were earning the entire $60.

If you fall in the $60 class, sometime between now and March 1 next, you must pay a visit to the Collector of Internal Revenue. There you will be given a blank on which to file your return and also your exemptions.

In addition to the exemptions cited, you may exempt any interest paid during the year 1917 on personal indebtedness. This means that if a man owns property on which he carries a mortgage, he may deduct the amount paid in interest, for taxes and for water rent. Also, that if he has borrowed from a bank, he may claim exemption for interest paid on the loan.

If he owns rented property, he may figure in repairs, and if he has contributed to certain charities, he may exempt such an amount up to 15 per cent. of his income.

Further, the married man is allowed $200 exemptions for each child. If he has six, there will be no Federal income tax for him. The government cannot be said to encourage race suicide.

Be sure to state your gross income correctly. You may have a $50 salary and a $10 side-line. Federal agents are paid to know these things, and you may be fairly certain that any misstatement will be speedily discovered when the collector checks up your return.

OPEN FORUM MEETING.

First Session to Be Held in Center Parish House Week From Sunday.

The Open Forum meetings to be held during the winter in Manchester under the auspices of the Manchester Single Tax Club will start Sunday after next at three o'clock at the Parish hall of the Center church. Thereafter each Sunday a speaker will be procured to address the Open Forum. There will be no admission charged. The movement is purely educational and as the name implies any subject may be discussed on the platform. Later on debates will be held and from time to time musical selections by local talent will be introduced.

West Side Firemen Looking for Record Crowd at Their Thanksgiving Eve Social.

Hose & Ladder Company No. 1 of the South Manchester fire department is looking forward for a large attendance at its annual Thanksgiving eve social and dance in Cheney hall. As previously reported, the west side firemen have voted to give $200 of the receipts from this dance to the Red Cross and for that reason they are hoping for a record breaking crowd, for they were put to heavy expense installing new engines in their trucks during the past year and also need money for current expenses.

As in past years, the social will be featured by the distribution of a number of prizes, suitable for gracing the Thanksgiving table.

The Tuxedo orchestra has been engaged for the social and besides providing music for an 18 dance number program will give a concert

HOBOKEN STILL

LOSING GERMAN ALIENS
New York, Nov. 23.—Following raids by the government last night and early today, Hoboken is still further denuded of its Teutonic population. Forty additional German subjects were arrested and interned at Ellis Island.

The belief prevails in Hoboken that as soon as the registration of enemy aliens is completed the half-mile zone will be declared. This will clear every German out of Hoboken, as the Government plants are so situated that a half mile from each one of them leaves not a single foot of the city untouched.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

The men of the Manchester chamber of commerce showed the right spirit when they voted to omit their banquet this year; also did well not to compromise. They might have done that. They would then have known that they were sacrificing something of the luxury and abundance of the usual banquet; they would have known it, but to all others it would have appeared that the Manchester chamber of commerce held its banquet as usual. The effect of example is gained only by the sacrifice of the banquet altogether.

The example is good. No greater mistake can be made than to suppose that this war is all to be fought on the war fields and in the distant trenches. Over and over again we must be told that it is a war of all the world, and that all men of all the allies must unite to win it. That meant the men of Manchester, and they have recognized it. It means also all the men of all communities.

This war need not make a period of gloom. That is not the point. But it will utterly fail of the end which alone can compensate for its cost unless it teaches all men the eternal duty and privilege of giving up something for the other fellow. It must teach the world its great unlearned lesson—that of putting others first, of making "each esteem others better than himself." Because that lesson, neglected through two thousand years of opportunity, was not fully learned the war came. It will stay until the lesson is learned.—Hartford Times.

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS.

Camp Devens, which yesterday was reported to have enough conscientious objectors and the like to form two companies of the National army, can console itself at least with the reflection that the condition at Ayer is not very exceptional. The conscientious objector, so-called, is only one of several different types of anti-draft men in the New England camp.

Mr. Roosevelt's vitriolic declaration that the conscientious objector ought to be put aboard a minesweeper, where he would be in little danger of harming any of the enemy and might himself be put out of existence, is a harsh way of expressing it, but it is to the point. The vast majority of people in this country want the war fought through to a successful issue, or at least see that there is now no turning back. These objectors are the most selfish sort of individuals, for they assert and act upon their own private viewpoint, regardless of the general necessity, if not the general good. The Socialist, who permits his internationalism to drown out his patriotism—and many of these men are doubtless Socialists—is like the man who burns with civic sentiment, but neglects his family. The analogy is close.

So far as these men actually are aliens, they ought to be taught forcibly that there can be no fence-straddling now. They are either citizens in the making and workers for the common cause, or they are foreigners and foes.

It is enough to make the average American blush to hear of sedition in such a place as a training camp. There is plenty of work in the camps for such men, and if they can't be trusted to take their places in the line and learn the manual of arms they can be used for other purposes.

HOARD SUGAR SUBSTITUTES.

There are enough different substitutes for sugar, and in sufficient abundance, to lighten the fear of an absolute sugar famine, and that applies not only to Manchester, but to every town in Connecticut. The thing to do now is to stop hoarding.

If a case which the writer heard of recently is at all general, the hoarding of substitutes has also begun. One of the most prosperous grocers in town reported the sale of we forget how many cans of condensed milk to one person. This sort of thing is lamentable; and the grocers themselves ought to protect the trade as well as the public by refusing to sell more than a small quantity at a time of any of the principal substitutes—condensed milk, honey, various brands of molasses and syrups and even candy.

It is the old story of the panic in the theater. The audience stampedes until the danger from the fear, which spreads like contagion, is many times as great as the original cause, which may have been rather trivial.

One druggist in town has taken the bull squarely by the horns and refused to sell more than a certain small quantity of candy at a time, and for the simple reason that he is afraid he can't get enough to supply his customers, if hoarding begins.

We suppose hoarding is more or less of a primeval instinct, natural in its way. But when the food administration at Washington is giving the publicity it is against hoarding, the time has come to stop. A million little corners may be as disastrous for the general welfare as one big one, whether undertaken for selfish profit or not.

TEMPERANCE VS. PROHIBITION.

The plea of the brewers for "temperance" and moderation in the use of alcoholic beverages is one of the most insidious that could be made to the public. The liquor manufacturers are not so cocksure as they once were, and their latest stand is sure to make an appeal to many an American, who doesn't keep his tolerance in an air-tight compartment, generally speaking. If the object is to save grain, beer-drinking is a worse evil than whiskey-drinking.

One would suppose the use of alcoholic beverages was a perfectly natural thing, whereas the taste is acquired or, in some cases, inherited from just the preceding generation.

For anybody who isn't on the edge of delirium tremens, for all so-called moderate drinkers, the best thing is to take no halfway measures.

Incidentally, with a very few exceptions, the American public doesn't know what pure beer is. The stuff that has been sold for beer, and is sold today, is about as fit to drink as so much soapuds.

To say that there isn't a fraction of the harm in beer that there is in whiskey, gin, rum and the rest of their ilk, is unnecessary. But it is well to remember that the odds are largely evened up by the larger quantity of beer consumed.

One trouble with all this hulla-balloo over what is and what isn't "the real Lincoln" is that there was no such person. The real Lincoln, from the photographers' standpoint, would be a composite of many different Lincolns, and the number is limited. "Honest Abe's" hirsute appendages, also, had a way of coming and going, according to their owner's fancy. He was undoubtedly fatter at some times than others. And the crease in his trousers was fresher at times than at others. We haven't seen Mr. Barnard's statue, which was the original occasion of the present precipitation of expert opinion, but some of his critics might be reminded that creation and criticism are in two quite different categories.

The east side of the North river has been in the military zone frequently, so Riverside Drive won't experience a very new sensation.

The German admiralty announces the erection of new bars in the Mediterranean, extending east from Italy. Greece is to be included in the "barred zone area" of the submarines.

ZOO ANIMALS OBSERVE

HOOVER FOOD RULES

The eagle may think he is the most patriotic form of animal life, but he has nothing on the bears and birds and things at Lincoln Park, Chicago.

The bears at Lincoln Park observe meatless day, in fact, eatless day every Sunday and their Monday morning grrouch is most pronounced. Every day is a wheatless day with the bruins. They get nothing but rye loaves which have been damaged in the making.

"And the government's making rules about the feeding of seeds to birds," said Cy DeVry, keeper of the animals. "There isn't a bit of waste in our feeding system nowadays and if we cut down the rations any more the animals are going to begin to get thin and temperamental as Russian dancers."

"When do the bears hibernate?" DeVry was asked. DeVry replied, sadly and patiently, as though the question and answer were old stuff to him: "Bears in captivity never hibernate." Despite the curtailment of their rations and the fact that all good bears should be tucked away in a hollow tree sucking their paws at this season of the year, the Lincoln Park bruins gallop around their cages like colts in springtime, and when the bread cart comes along and gives them four loaves of rye bread each they hold a bear jubilee.

STRANGER PAYS STIFF FINE FOR FUN WITH CONDUCTOR

Costs Him $17.52 for Refusing to Pay Fare and Breaking Bell Rope on Car.

Late trolley cars from Hartford must be made safe for passengers and men or boys who insist in causing trouble for the conductors will pay dearly for their fun. This was the sentiment expressed by both the judge and prosecutor in the local court this morning.

On the last car from Hartford last night two men boarded it at Hartford and gave the conductor no end of trouble all the way out. Neither of the men were intoxicated. They had been to the show and were evidently out for a night's fun. They began the trouble at Woodland by refusing to pay their fare. Conductor Frank Gardner and Motorman John McGlynn were in charge of the car. In court this morning both testified that the men used vile and profane language to them and threatened "to get" the conductor.

When the car reached a point on Center street near the railroad bridge, the men thought they would be funny and began pulling the bell for a stop. They ripped the rope from its fastenings and when the car stopped, ran away. The conductor and motorman ran after them and caught one of the trouble makers. He was placed under arrest and in court this morning he gave his name as William Trudell. He is employed by the Lynch Construction company and care here from Meriden. He told his side of the story about the trouble over the paying of fares. The man who was with him he did not know. And when the other fellow left the car he followed him.

Judge Carney said that it was plain that the men thought that they could pull off "this small town stuff" in Manchester and he was going to make them pay for it. He fined Trudell $10 and costs which amounted in all to $17.52.

ARMENIANS INVITED.

There Are About 60 in Manchester—Sunday's Church Service.

In connection with the general observance of next Sunday as Armenian and Syrian Relief Day, a committee of the South Methodist church has been taking a census of the Armenian people in Manchester and extending a special invitation to them to attend Sunday morning's service at 10:45 o'clock. By means of this census, it has been found that there are about 60 Armenians, men, women and children, in town. The committee plans to meet these people at the church and give them a reception before the service.

L. S. Burr is chairman of the committee. The other members include: Ray C. Pillsbury, superintendent of the Sunday school; Clarence L. Taylor, president of the Methodist Young Men's club; Mrs. W. H. Bath, president of the Woman's Home Missionary society; Mrs. J. Howard Keith,

LET US BE-THANKFUL

HAVE THE DINING ROOM PLEASANT

The dining room is one of the most important rooms in the house. That is where half your home enjoyment is taken, and next to the food that is served nothing lends more to the enjoyment than fine dining room furniture. The frequent plan of furnishing a home by hit-and-miss selection of furniture from various stores, various styles, various qualities, and various artistic ideals, is never so ideal as the ideal plan of having everything to harmonize throughout.

There are complete suites made in the latest up-to-date styles and finished to your taste at very reasonable figures, even in these days of war prices.

You'll especially appreciate a Queen Anne Suite in dull Jacobean oak, consisting of Buffet, Table, China Cabinet, Serving Table and Six Chairs upholstered in genuine brown Spanish leather. The Ten Pieces complete cost $155.30, or without the China Cabinet and Serving Table, $91.80.

Other Suites in Black Walnut, Fumed Oak or Antique Mahogany, up to $400.00.

If you can make your selection promptly, we can deliver the suite for Thanksgiving.

RACE RIOT THREATENED.

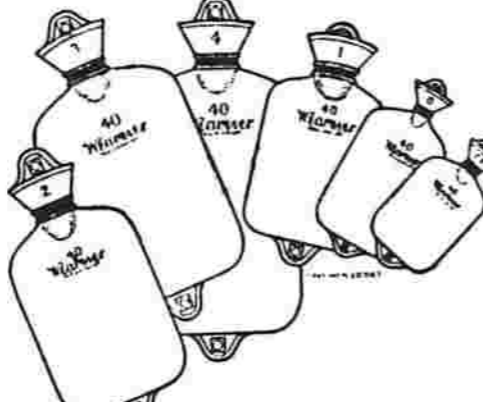

Haaldy Boro, Ill., Nov. 23.—Armed posses headed by deputy sheriffs today surround the home of Jim Lewis, a negro, who shot and seriously wounded two police officers at Duquoin, Ill., and another with negroes is feared.

A posse of citizens of Duquoin and a force of men including members of the Illinois National Guard, is on its way here.

Lewis shot W. B. Campbell and Earl Kirkpatrick, policemen who had been summoned by a railway conductor to eject him from a train.

Don't Let Your Feet Get Cold!

Lots of brave people have cold feet. It isn't a mental condition, and they can't help it. They get cold feet because their blood circulation isn't strong enough. Your blood keeps your body warm, you know. When the blood doesn't flow to the extreme ends of your body fast enough, those extremities get cold. The end of your nose on a cold day, the ends of your ears and your fingers and toes first feel the biting cold, because they get less blood. When you stand up straight, gravity helps carry the blood into your feet. But when you lie down in bed the blood doesn't reach your feet rapidly enough to keep them warm. So you have cold feet. Elderly people suffer most, but anyone is liable to this annoyance.

But don't let your feet get cold. SLIP A NICE WARM HOT-WATER BOTTLE into your bed before you turn in, and you'll never know what it is to have cold feet. Heat draws blood. When you put a Hot Water Bottle at your feet, you heat your feet and draw the blood to them, thus keeping them warm. And you do something else, also—something that promotes more restful sleep. When you draw blood to your feet, you draw it away from your head, away from your brain. By resting your brain you secure more restful, refreshing sleep. Everyone should use a Hot Water Bottle at their feet during cold nights. A good one doesn't cost much, considering the great comfort it gives. We have many styles and sizes of the famous "Weaver" Hot Water Bottles that give such long, satisfactory service. Come in and see them.

MARTIN O'MEARA SCORES SUCCESS IN FORD SALES

Genial Manager of Local Branch Increases Sales from 52 to 153 Cars Here.

The Elmer Automobile Company which has been located with their Ford salesroom at 111 West Center street for the past two years is now occupying the new store at No. 91 West Center street, which place they took possession of a few days ago. The new building which was erected by E. J. Holl is a big improvement on the old store, having two large plate glass windows in front, making a fine display window, building being sufficiently large to exhibit five cars and a well equipped stock room.

There is also the garage in the rear which puts the force in charge in a position to give far better service than ever, as the new quarters allows the Company to double their stock parts.

It is known of course, that the Elmer Automobile Company has the only exclusive automobile salesroom in Manchester, and it has been difficult to secure the proper store for exhibition purposes, but the building recently erected by Mr. Holl meets its requirements in every way.

The genial Martin O'Meara who has been in charge of the local branch for the past season will manage the new store.

The success of Mr. O'Meara the past season had brought forward a better offer from the Elmer Automobile Company, as it desired to put him in a larger city, which he is fully capable of handling, but Mr. O'Meara preferred to stay in Manchester as he has become acquainted with the town's people, and feels that he would be better satisfied to remain in this town.

Mr. O'Meara has had an unequalled record this year with the Elmer Automobile Company, increasing the sales of Manchester this year from 52 cars in 1916 to 153 cars this season which is 150 per cent. increase, a most remarkable record.

STATE PROVIDES 1,000 RECRUITS OVER QUOTA

Many Vacancies Still However, in Various Branches of Army Service, It's Announced.

Major W. A. Mercer, recruiting officer, announces that Connecticut has furnished more than one thousand men more than the quota assigned to her on April 1 for the regular army. Recruiting still continues brisk, as many young men are realizing the splendid chances offered to them by the many branches of the army now open to them.

There are still ten vacancies in the field artillery for men from this state, and there are vacancies in the coast artillery for men at Forts Terry, Wright and Michie and the coast defenses of Narragansett bay.

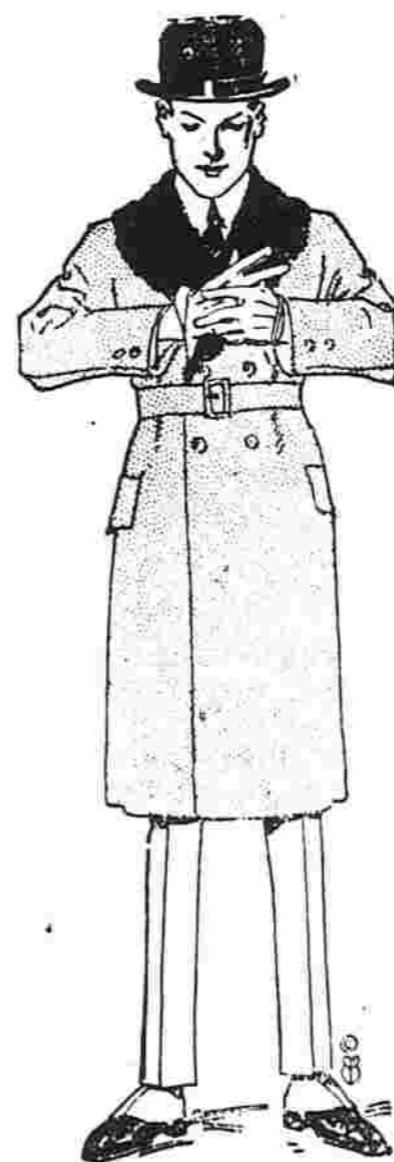

One of the many interesting organizations of the engineers for which applicants are being accepted is the surveying and printing company, for which the following trades are wanted: Computers, draftsmen, photographers, surveyors, topographers, chauffeurs, clerks, horseshoers, saddlers, wagoners, cooks, buglers, compositors, press feeders, linotype operators, lithographic transferers, machinists, pressmen, process printers, rotary men. Skilled workmen are also wanted for the aviation section, signal corps, quartermaster corps, engineers, and signal corps.

The following men have been sent away lately to recruit depots: Aviation section: Timothy P. Sweeney, Waterbury; Frank Grady, Torrington; John E. McCauley, Grant; E. Huskell, Andrew G. Morden, Hartford; Carl H. Borg, New Britain; Lester G. Thomas and Harry E. Griffith, Bridgeport. Medical department: Alfred E. Matruzo, New Haven; Eberhardt F. Luscheke, Hartford. Engineers: Robert S. DuBoise and Walter H. Starkweather, New Haven. Field artillery: Frederick M. Hoyt, Westport.

There are openings for colored men in the stovetop regiments at Newport News, Va., and men who have been accustomed to handling colored men will be enlisted as non-commissioned officers in the service battalions at Galveston, Tex.

MEDALS OF HONOR FOR U. S. FORCES

Bill For Purpose Being Framed—Medal of Honor For Pluckiest

Washington, Nov. 23.—Congress at the coming session probably will be asked by the War department, if not by the President himself, to make some provision for the award of medals to American soldiers and sailors for gallantry and distinguished conduct.

There already is the Congressional Medal—the medal of honor so greatly prized by those who wear it. In order that one of these medals may be awarded it is necessary for Congress to go through the formality of passing a bill through both houses.

The mere fact of this, of course, enhances the value of the medal, but in time of war—such a war as the world war—it is believed some simpler method should be devised. It also is believed by officials that America should grade her medals as is the practice in European nations. There an act of bravery wins the recognition of a medal, but all acts of bravery by the British soldiers, for instance, do not bring them the Victoria Cross. It is only the surpassing feat of gallantry that has that reward. For lesser feats there is the Distinguished Conduct Medal and other decorations.

Framing Bill For Purpose. It is understood that a bill is in process of preparation to bring this situation to the attention of Congress shortly after it reconvenes in December. The bill will carry an appropriation for the striking off of medals and their dispatch to France, where they may be awarded by the commanding general without the unnecessary red tape back home.

It has often proved the case that a soldier is dead before he receives the reward for his gallantry in an earlier action, and those interested in the matter here desire that so far as possible the American fighting man shall see the reward of his bravery on his own breast rather than have it go to his family, there to be treasured with the memory of the one who has gone.

Great care will be taken to prevent abuses which is feared might arise out of a "loosening up" of the system. America will see no such display as Germany has been treated to of tons of metal being welded into iron crosses for distribution like calling cards.

In a great wooden encampment like that at Ayer perhaps it is not strange that fires are frequent. And very likely our old acquaintance the cigarette may be fully as much to blame as the German sympathizers upon whom we so readily pronounce anathema.—Norwich Record.

The predicted drop in the price of potatoes is evidently at hand. They have been selling at $2 a bushel but the price asked today is $1.75. Farmers have been storing the potatoes for a big price and some of them are beginning to realize that they will find a lot of them on hand. It is predicted that potatoes will sell for $1.25 a bushel before the first of March.

RECREATION NEWS.

Center to Be Open All Day Thanksgiving—Notes.

The Recreation Center will be open all day Thanksgiving, from nine o'clock in the morning until 10.30 in the evening. Nothing special has been planned, but the building will be open for the members to engage in whatever activities they choose.

About 25 enrollments have been received for the Saturday night basketball league. The league, however, will not get under way until December 1. Practice will be held tomorrow night.

Recreation Director J. H. Mueller and Manager Robert McKay of the high school basketball team will go to Naugatuck to attend the annual session of the Interscholastic Council.

In the inter-class basketball game in the Recreation Center gymnasium yesterday afternoon the high school juniors defeated the seniors by the score of 18 to 4.

TO HAVE GIVING CHRISTMAS.

At a meeting last night of the committee appointed by the South Methodist Sunday school to arrange for the annual Christmas entertainment, it was decided to have a giving rather than a receiving Christmas this year, as has been done in other years recently. The nature of the gifts and to whom they will be sent will be decided at another meeting of the committee at the close of the Sunday school session Sunday. The committee is composed of George W. Ferris, Mrs. Minnie Goslee, Miss Grace Adams, Mrs. J. Howard Keith and W. L. Rogers. Rev. W. H. Bath is a member ex-officio.

HOLD WHIST SOCIAL.

The ladies of St. Joseph's society of St. Bridget's church held the second of their series of whist socials at the home of Mrs. John Healey of Buckland yesterday afternoon. There were seven tables filled with players and a most enjoyable afternoon was spent. Mrs. Edward Zimmerman won the first prize, Mrs. Joseph Chartier, the second, and Mrs. Bingham, the consolation. The ladies assisted Hoover in his conservation of food by not having refreshments.

SCANDIA LODGE HOLDS SOCIAL.

Scandia Lodge, No. 23, Order of Vasa, held its seventeenth annual social and dance in Tinker hall last evening. Owing to numerous counter attractions, the attendance was not as large as was looked for, but those present had a most enjoyable time. There was a large advance sale of tickets, so the event was a financial as well as social success.

FOOD FOR FRANCE FUND.

To save the labor of the collectors those who have not already paid their monthly pledges to the Food For France Fund are requested to send this month's contributions by mail to Mrs. Horace B. Cheney or place them on Monday in a box, which will be provided in the lobby of the local bank. It had been decided to collect the monthly subscriptions, but this has been found to be too big a task and, hereafter, all contributions should be sent by mail to Mrs. Cheney or placed in the box at the bank.

122 CARS OF FOOD

ROTTLING AT CLEVELAND. Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 23.—While half the world pleads for more food, 122 cars of perishable foodstuffs are rotting on the railroad sidings here today. Federal officials are besieging the Department of Justice in Washington for authority to take action. The railroads blame the commission men for failure to unload the cars.

OFFICIALS THINK TOWN

WANTS TOO MUCH COAL

But Local Committee Will Prove That Manchester's Population Warrants It.

The local fuel committee is gathering data today to present to the state fuel administrator who will send it on to Washington, relative to the increase in population in Manchester since last year. This is being done because the officials at Washington seem to think that Manchester is asking for more coal than is necessary.

It is true, the local committee discovered, that the local dealers have almost supplied as much coal as last year and that there is still calls for coal, but the population of Manchester has increased at least 1,000 if not more. With the new houses just completed by Cheney Brothers which will be filled as soon as finished, the new men's hotel which will accommodate 75 men and about 30 other new houses in town the local committee is not far out of the way in its statement.

There is little coal on hand now but more is expected. The local dealers are sending it out in half ton and one ton lots to accommodate as many families as possible. When the local committee's data reaches Washington it is hoped that more coal will be shipped here.

FOOD FAIR PREPARATIONS

GO FORWARD QUICKLY.

Preparations for the Patriotic fair to be held in Cheney hall, Dec. 4 to 6 are in full swing. In spite of the storm yesterday afternoon, the chairman of the various committees met at the home of Mrs. William C. Cheney, and reported on their plans. More than one hundred and fifty women have already become interested in this grand war food exhibition, and have promised assistance. Enthusiasm prevails in every quarter. If Mr. Hoover receives the same sort of support in other places as he is to get in Manchester the food situation will be well taken care of.

The various tables have been allotted, speakers have been secured, war dishes of all sorts have been provided for and the committees are anxious for the cooperation of all "live wires" in spreading information about Manchester's greatest undertaking in the food conservation line. No admissions, and no sales! Everything properly displayed and given away! All welcome with pencil and paper to learn how to live well in ways that will not shorten the lives of the boys at the front. Let everyone lend a hand in their great effort to achieve victory for America!

F. B. L. WHIST SOCIAL.

Twelve tables were filled with players at the whist social given by South Manchester Council, F. B. L., in Foresters' hall last evening. The prizes were awarded as follows: Mrs. Emma Dowd, lady's first, white ivory manicure set; Mrs. James McGonigal, second, tea set; Miss Anna Griffin, consolation prize, fancy pin tray; Daniel Griffin, gentleman's first, pocket flashlight; John Houston, second, cigar ash tray; Charles Parks, consolation prize, armband and garter set.

Following the games, music and dancing were enjoyed and coffee and cake were served.

With the First Regiment, which left for North Carolina yesterday, were Sergeants Brown and Sheekey of this town. The First Regiment is made up of the surplus men from the 102nd Regiment.

CHRYSANTHEMUM SHOW.
Of course we have all heard of the big chrysanthemum shows in the big cities and many of us have seen them. Last year the Bon Ton Flower Shop gave Manchester its first Chrysanthemum Show. It was a great success and the management has decided to stage another this year on Friday and Saturday of this week. It has secured a very large collection of the best grown by A. N. Pierson Inc., of Cromwell, Conn., and invite every citizen of Manchester to drop in and look them over. We feel sure that they will receive a large number of callers as Thanksgiving is approaching and we shall all want to help make our homes bright on that day.
