DE SAULLES LETTERS TELL TALE OF NEGLECT AND LONG LONELINESS

Too Proud to Admit She Was Unhappy, Says Beautiful Chilean.

DANCED WITH FEET, BUT HEART WAS BREAKING

Glad to Go Home and Get Away From Marital Trouble, She Tells Court.

Mineola, L. I., Nov. 27.—"Will the fragile bit of colorless femininity be able to stand the ordeal of cross-examination today?"

This was the sole question on the lips of the hundreds who crowded the corridors of the little Mineola court house during the early hours, hoping to edge their way into the limited audience which is being permitted to hear the answers of Bianca de Saullés, the girl-wife charged with the murder of her former husband, Jack de Saullés.

The largest part of the crowd was doomed to disappointment. Profiting by the experience of yesterday's stampede, the court officers were prepared to handle the crowd. The doors leading from the large corridor just outside the courtroom to the long hall leading to the main doors of the court house were kept closed.

Her Counsel Confident.
An audience of only 250 was permitted to enter court.

Among the first to reach the court house today was Henry Uterhart, leading counsel for the defense. He was jubilant and predicted a speedy acquittal by the jury.

Though in tears himself during the dramatic recital of the shooting of the petite defendant, the attorney also was aware of the effect her story was having on others.

The 12 jurors were sitting with bowed heads and five of them in tears. They saw Justice Manning industriously applying his handkerchief to his eyes. And he heard sobs from all over the court room.

Though, as claimed, her brain is dulled, and though she might have been under the influence of powerful drugs, the breathless audience was willing to agree the recital could not have been more dramatic.

The story of her love for her husband, as told in her letters to him, and the story of his alleged neglect and abuse of his wife, left its impressions. The man who best knows these facts is District Attorney Weeks, who began the cross examination when court convened this morning.

Defendant's Mother Next.
Following this ordeal Senora Vergara Errazuriz, the mother of the defendant, will testify. Then comes Amilio, her sister, and William, her brother.

In all, the defence will introduce approximately 12 witnesses.

Both sides have obtained the services of some of the best known alienists in New York, each hoping to offset the other's testimony regarding the alleged ailment of the defendant—temporary irresponsibility.

Today's Proceedings.
As she again took her seat on the witness stand today Mrs. de Saullés looked paler than usual in a white crepe de chine blouse. She wore the blue satin skirt.

District Attorney Weeks lost no time in attacking the defense plea—"lapse of memory and temporary irresponsibility."

EARLY MORNING FIRE CAUSES $30,000 LOSS

Chemical Laboratory at State Agricultural College Destroyed Today.

MAIN BUILDING IS SAVED

Cause of Fire Unknown to College
Authorities—Local Students
Help to Fight Blaze.

(Special to The Evening Herald.)
Storrs, Conn., Nov. 27.—The chemistry laboratory connected with Storrs College was completely destroyed early today by fire. The loss is estimated between $25,000 and $30,000. Many valuable chemicals and all the apparatus connected with chemistry work in the college were lost.

The building which is situated close to the main college building was of wood and was a 30x50 two story structure. The main building was threatened and at one time it was thought that there was no chance for saving it. Mere good fortune finally saved the main building which was badly scorched.

Cause Unknown.
The cause of the fire is not known. It is likely that the fire was started by an explosion of chemicals. There was plenty of hose on the college grounds but the water pressure was poor and the many students who hurried to the scene could give no aid.

Although all the materials with which chemistry classes are conducted at the college were destroyed, an attempt will be made to continue the instruction in another part of the college.

The larger part of the Storrs College buildings are of food. The newer buildings, the two new dormitories and the gymnasium, are of brick.

There are four Manchester boys, students, at Storrs. They are Lincoln Crosby, Thomas Weldon, Harold Olds and Harold Belcher. These young men took an active part in fighting the fire.

JAP MISSION, HOME, LAUDS U. S. ATTITUDE

Viscount Ishii Says Lansing Note on China Is "Graven Deep" in Nippon History.

Tokio, Nov. 27.—Enthusiastic praise for the reception given them in America was voiced today by members of the Japanese mission, headed by Viscount Ishii, which has just arrived home.

"Secretary Lansing's note will be graven deep in the history of Japan," said Viscount Ishii.

An interesting outcome of the mission's visit was the presence in Honolulu harbor of the Japanese cruiser Tokiwa, when the mission arrived there from San Francisco. It had been sent from Yokohama at the request of the American government to replace and release an American cruiser for service in the war zone.

The incident is regarded here as tangible evidence of this country and America, and as a tribute to the whole-hearted way the United States is going into the war.

(The statement to which Viscount Ishii referred was one relating to the future attitude of Japan and the United States towards China.)

UNIFORMED MEN FREE.

Hose and Ladder Company No. 1 announces today that uniformed men will be admitted free to the dance tomorrow evening. Two hundred dollars of the receipts will go to the local chapter of the Red Cross. The company has already contributed $25 to the Red Cross, supplied seven of its soldier members with Christmas kits and subscribed generously to the Liberty Loan.

READY FOR SIX-DAY BIKE RACE IN BIG CITY.

New York, Nov. 27.—Final plans for New York's annual six day bike race were completed today with the naming of Tex Rickard as referee. The race opens next Saturday night. Oscar Egg, winner of the 1916 race and Paul Suter, have arrived from France to compete.

ROCKVILLE BAKER AND HIS WIFE STRUCK BY ENGINE; BOTH MAY DIE

Ford Delivery Truck and Willimantic Train Meet at Parker Village Crossing—Couple Hurled 75 Feet—Woman Has Fracture at Base of Skull and Is In Critical Condition.

There is little hope held out for either Mr. or Mrs. Samuel Hoffman, of 3 Windsor Avenue, Rockville, who are dying at the Hartford hospital as the result of an accident which occurred early today at the Parkerville crossing of the New Haven railroad. Mrs. Hoffman's condition is the more critical. Both have fractured skulls and are otherwise badly injured.

The Accident.
Hoffman is a baker and with his wife he is in the habit of coming to Manchester several times a week to sell his wares. His wife invariably accompanied him.

This morning shortly before eight o'clock the couple in a Ford delivery truck were nearing the Parker village crossing of the New Haven road. The train from Willimantic was coming around the curve at that spot. There are no gates at the crossing but an automatic bell was ringing its warning. Because of the cold weather both the man and the woman had their ears muffled so they did not hear the bell. The curve hid the train from their sight.

Hurled 75 Feet.
The baker's truck and the train reached the crossing at the same time. The train struck the truck full on and the man and woman were thrown seventy five feet. The auto was smashed to kindlings and bread, cake and pies littered the tracks for many feet.

The engineer of the train clapped on the brakes and came to a standstill. Then he backed up and the couple were taken on the baggage car as far as the Manchester station. By that time calls had been sent in for physicians and Drs. Whitton and Rice were at the station when the train pulled in. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman were unconscious and the doctors agreed that they should be rushed to a hospital. Dr. Rice accompanied them to Hartford where an ambulance was awaiting and they were whisked to the Hartford hospital.

At the Hospital.
At the hospital the doctors found that although both the man and the woman were fearfully injured about the arms, legs and bodies, the most serious injuries were to their heads. Both sustained fractured skulls. Mrs. Hoffman's most serious injury was a fracture at the base of the skull, which invariably is fatal. Mr. Hoffman sustained what is known as a depressed fracture but it was nearer the top of his skull. He has a bare fighting chance for recovery.

Well Known Here.
Both Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman were well known in Manchester. He was 62 years of age and his wife seven years his senior. They came from Rockville to Manchester several times a week and within the last few years had built up a large trade in this town, especially in the north end.

Little Left of Auto.
A visit to the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred was made by a Herald man. The auto had been reduced to kindlings. One wheel was found fully 400 feet from the crossing with not a single spoke attached to it.

CLINE'S STOCK RISES.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—Irish Patsy Cline, of New York, who meets lightweight champion Benny Leonard here on December 12, loomed as a more formidable opponent today, following his knockout of Eddie McAndrews in the third round here last night.

ZERO NEAR WINSTED.

Winsted, Nov. 27.—Zero weather was reported at Norfolk and Burrville, two towns near here this morning. This temperature is the lowest so far reported this season. In this city the temperature ranged from four to 10 degrees above zero. Small ponds were frozen over.

ATLANTIC HARBORS UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Washington, Nov. 27.—All harbors on the Atlantic coast capable of docking a 500-ton ship soon will be under martial law. The department of justice is receiving detailed information regarding docks and piers from all Atlantic seaport towns. Drafting of regulations will be undertaken to give and regular troops soon will be on hand to challenge all those seeking to approach waterfronts where docks or piers are located.

After Atlantic waterfronts have been put under martial law the plan will be extended to Gulf ports and then to the Pacific coast and the Great Lakes.

LEONARD MEETS KIRKE THURSDAY.

New York, Nov. 27.—Lightweight Champion Benny Leonard is today on his way to Denver where on Thursday night he meets Sailor Kirke in a 10-round bout.

6 SUBMARINES SUNK IN LAST FOUR DAYS—FRENCH AMBASSADOR SAYS

American Flotilla Doing Wonderful Work Across the Atlantic—Has Added Parts Of Allies' Coasts to Zone Protected—Germans Speed Up Building Operations— Praise from British.

New York, Nov. 27.—Six German submarines have been sunk in the past four days, Ambassador Jusserand of France told a party of French and American naval officers attending a bazaar here.

"You'll be glad to hear the good news from the sea," was the way he made the announcement.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The work of the American naval flotilla in European waters again has been warmly commended by Vice Admiral Bayly, the British officer in charge of the general submarine operations of the British fleet. Information reaching here today states that the British vice admiral has sent to Admiral Benson, now in Paris, attending the Inter-Allied Conference there, a long communication reciting notable work by various units of the American squadron and praising Vice Admiral Sims and a number of his subordinates.

Work of Americans.
The American destroyers, in addition to their general work of escorting transports and merchant vessels through the submarine zone, now are taking over certain sections of the French and British coast as their own and are operating there with seaplanes and new types of submarine catchers.

The American-British-French anti-submarine squadrons now are carrying the war directly to the submarine. They have adopted new plans, which officials here said today are most effective.

As a result the German U-boats no longer find an open lane to the Atlantic, and several of them have recently been driven into shallow waters and destroyed.

The German yards are reported to be again working night and day turning out submarines of the biggest type, presumably for a general raid in mid-ocean and possibly on the Atlantic coast of the United States in the spring.

MEANS WILL CHANGE STORY OF KING DEATH

To Say Wealthy Woman Shot Herself, Instead of Claiming Accidental Shooting—Will Declare "Southern Chivalry" Made Him Keep Back Truth Before—The Witnesses.

Court House, Concord, N. C., Nov. 27.—Southern chivalry will be the defense of Gaston B. Means. This came today from a well-informed source as Means' trial on the charge of murdering Mrs. Maude A. King, wealthy Chicago and New York woman, entered its second day.

It is generally understood now that Means has completely changed the evidence he gave at the coroner's hearing after the mysterious death of Mrs. King. At that time he claimed accidental shooting. Means, it is understood, will tell the court Mrs. King died from a self-inflicted wound. To cover the discrepancies in the two stories Means will put forward his plea of southern chivalry. He will maintain he did not tell at the coroner's hearing that Mrs. King had committed suicide because he did not want to smirch the name of the woman who had been his benefactress. He will maintain the instincts of a southern gentleman kept him from telling the true circumstances of Mrs. King's death until now, when it becomes a matter of life and death with him.

COLD HITS 3,000 SAILORS.

New York, Nov. 27.—Three thousand sailors suffered acutely from the cold early today when they were driven from their quarters at Bensonhurst, Brooklyn, by a fire which originated on the first floor of the building. Today's fire was the third to occur in the barracks in the last three months and Lieutenant Commander Bardsley ordered a thorough investigation.

BOMB ON RAILROAD TRACK.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 27.—John Boyle, foreman for the Consumers Gravel Company, found a bomb, fitted at one end with a percussion cap that would have detonated the explosives on contact, on the Grand Trunk railroad track here early today. Police, after examining the bomb, declared it to be highly explosive and threw it into the Detroit river.

FIRE IN HILLSTOWN.

A big barn and its contents owned by Horace Wickham, in Hillstown, just over the town line, were destroyed by fire early today. The barn was 36 by 44 feet and contained a half acre of tobacco, 15 tons of hay, a gas engine, eight tons of bedding, six horses, eight cows, three pigs and a number of chickens.

RIDGEFIELD MAN STABBED.

Ridgefield, Nov. 27.—Harvey Keeler, a well known local young man and member of the home guard was found stabbed in the left shoulder on a road several miles from town yesterday afternoon and brought to his home here. Michael Rudenko, a Russian farm hand, with whom it is said Keeler had a dispute, has been arrested, charged with doing the stabbing.

ZERO WEATHER IN STATE.

New Haven, Nov. 27.—The coldest November weather in many years was reported throughout the state last night. At the local weather bureau the mercury dropped to 15 degrees above zero, but in northern Connecticut the temperature hovered about the zero mark.

ITALIANS, REINFORCED, HIT FOES HARD AGAIN; BRITISH IN NEW FLANKING MOVEMENT

Trying to Encircle Germans Near Arras—Slowly But Steadily Advancing—Hinden- burg Issues Order to Hold Cambrai At All Costs —Fighting Throughout the Winter Expected.

London, Nov. 27.—A double encircling movement is being carried out by the British on the Arras front. The objectives are Cambrai and Queant. Despite powerful resistance, the British are creeping forward steadily, a number of German trenches being captured near Bullecourt, west of Queant, on Monday. With those two great German key positions isolated, the Teutons would be compelled to give up additional ground in order to straighten and strengthen their new front.

Field Marshal von Hindenburg, the driving force of the great German war machine, has ordered that "Cambrai be held to the last man," according to statements made by prisoners captured in the fierce struggle raging around Bournon Wood.

As the German line in the west stands today, the fall of this stronghold would be a strategic calamity to the Germans, and the divisions battered into wrecks by the British drive against the Cambrai defenses are being reformed and sent back into the fray as fast as the officers can perform the task.

German artillery, held in reserve at the base, Lille, has been rushed to the front, and is now posted behind Cambrai, Queant and Bullecourt, shelling the British lines.

That Field Marshal Haig has the Germans guessing is shown by their nervousness.

Germans Fear New Thrust.
Dispatches from the front today said that German batteries all along the front from Lens to St. Quentin keep a steady shower of star shells lighting up the field from sunset to dawn, not knowing where the next thrust would be made. The Germans apparently fear the British tanks more than they do the infantry for the tank attack delivered on the first day of the attack did more than anything else to smash the Hindenburg Line and they have put a wholesome fear into the hearts of the Teutons.

In front of Cambrai the British have continued to launch their chief pressure northwest of Cambrai, attempting to drive between the German base and Queant and thus get in the rear of the German defenses along the Drocourt-Queant switch, a series of positions supporting the northern end of the Hindenburg Line.

The big objective of the British, which lies behind all of the offensive operations in northern France since the opening of the attacks in the spring is to break through to the French coal fields and industrial district which lies behind the Hindenburg Line.

Military experts express the opinion that the fighting will continue through the winter in spite of inclement weather and muddy terrain.

Give More Than They Receive In Violent Struggle Between Piave and Brenta Rivers— Veterans of British and French Forces Arrive and Join in Counter Attacks on Invaders.

Washington, Nov. 27.—From the Asiago to the Piave the Austro-Germans have suffered appalling losses without gaining any advantage, according to an official cablegram from Rome today. Between the Piave and the Brenta the enemy consisted of six badly worn out divisions.

Italians Use Bayonet.
In order to avenge the wounding of one of their officers, the Italians launched a bayonet attack with such violence that all the Austro-Germans who reached the Italian line were completely wiped out. The enemy renewed his efforts and delivered attack after attack with unabated fury.

During the confusion of the struggle some enemy outposts fought among themselves, the 31st land storm during an action near Monte Friore, fighting an entire night against other Austro-German troops, which were totally decimated.

Allied Veterans Arrive.
Rome, Nov. 27.—Seasoned French and British veterans, who have faced German drum fire, poisoned gas and liquid fire on the western front, now joining the Italians in counter attacks against the Austro-German invaders on the Asiago plateau. Advances from the front today told of the arrival of fresh reinforcements.

General Diaz's troops are striking back all along the line and are delivering strokes just as violent as those of the Austro-Germans.

There is heavy fighting around Monte Tomba, which is regarded as a critical point. Germans, early in their drive, made a slight gain, but since then they have been held on the slopes by the Italians.

If the Germans and Austro-Hungarians can break through at Monte Tomba and overrun the plain it would seriously threaten the Italians' line on the Piave by cutting the Italian lines of communication.

Bulgarian troops are reported to have reinforced the Austro-German armies on the upper Piave and in the Monte Partica sector.

MAJOR GENERALS BACK.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Six major generals, in command of national guard divisions, reported to acting Chief of Staff Biddle at the War department today on the things they saw in a six weeks' tour of the French and British fighting fronts in France and Belgium.

The officers arrived at an Atlantic port yesterday. After a few days spent at the army war college in Washington they will return to their commands.

The officers are Major General John F. O'Ryan, commanding the New York National Guard; Major General C. G. Treat, commanding the Ohio National Guard; Major General E. St. John Greble, commanding the Texas and Oklahoma National Guard; Major General F. S. Strong, commanding the California and Northwestern States National Guard; Major General C. M. Clements, commanding the Pennsylvania National Guard, and Major W. H. Sage, commanding the Indiana and Kentucky National Guard.

HUNGARY WANTS PEACE.

Zurich, Nov. 2.—Hungary is ready to make peace without any annexations. This declaration came today from Count Karolyi, famous Hungarian statesman, who is now in Switzerland on a peace mission. The Hungarian peace agent has been trying to get in touch with representatives of the Entente Powers for the purpose of furthering the peace movement, he said.

WHAT'S WHAT AND WHO'S WHO IN MANCHESTER MOVIE HOUSES

AT THE PARK.

Bessie Love, the Triangle star, who is probably the most popular movie actress in Manchester, will be shown tonight at the Popular Playhouse in "The Little Reformer", a typical Bessie Love play. In this play Bessie, who is called Polly Ann, starts out as an orphan and is then in turn a slave, actress and finally a sweetheart in a pretty love story. According to the story Polly is at the county poor house when she meets a troupe of strolling players. Polly immediately decides that she wishes to become an actress and accompanies the barnstormers. The play is said to be a "hamper of humor that will stimulate happiness for old and young, fat and thin, male and female." Not since "The Sawdust Ring" has Bessie Love had such a whimsical role.

For tomorrow night there will be a special World picture in which Alice Brady plays the star part in Henry Murger's famous story "La Boheme". Besides this Mr. Sullivan will give away live turkeys. There are a half dozen of the plump "turks" now on exhibition in one of the Main street store windows. They were bought from a farmer months ago and have been kept on a farm out Bolton way. With turkeys worth their weight in gold and almost impossible to get, this will surely be a prize worth taking. The turkey distribution takes the place of the usual bonus distribution for this week.

YOUNG WOMEN FORM "OVERALLS" CLUB.
"Overalls Club," Nov. 27.—The "Overalls Club" has made its appearance among the elite of this city, with a membership of twenty young ladies. The young women of the newly formed organization have announced that they are ready and willing to take the places of young men called to the colors.

The girls plan to take the places of clerks or others whose duties are of a light nature, although they ex-

"Still Waters", a seven act super de luxe edition of the story of the same name by Edith Barnard Delano, with Marguerite Clark in the stellar role, is the attraction at the Circle this evening and also tomorrow afternoon and evening. It is a stirring drama of life under the "big tops" and it is said that the picture is the most novel and pretentious offering that Paramount has ever released. Miss Clark needs no introduction to Manchester's movie goers. Her latest productions which have been shown at the Circle have always attracted large audiences and there is no doubt that "Still Waters" will draw even larger houses, as it is conceded to be her greatest picture. This is not the production that Miss Clark appeared in a year or so ago. Owing to the fact that Miss Delano objected to the old print because it did not do the book full justice, Paramount called it in and now it has been revised, re-titled, many new novelties have been introduced and it has just been released as a re-issue de-luxe of the once famous production. Critics throughout the country declare that it is the best of the Clark screen plays and Paramount announces that the bookings on the picture have been tremendous. Other reels will be shown on the same program with "Still Waters".

Thanksgiving afternoon and evening the Circle will present "Jack and the Beanstalk", which is meeting with such phenomenal success at the Strand Theater, Hartford, this week. The Circle management announces that the rental price for this picture would pay for three of the biggest productions that have ever been shown in this town, in fact, the price would pay for an ordinary two months' service.

THE VIGILANTES

The following articles are written by the Vigilantes. Who are the Vigilantes? The Vigilantes is an organization of America's brainiest men and women, who receive fabulous prices for their contributions to magazines. When war was declared with Germany they banded together and decided to use their pens, absolutely free to the publishers, "to help make the world safe for democracy."

HAVE YOU BOUGHT YOUR NEW FALL SUIT?

By Betty Tansley of The Vigilantes.
I note that the modes of Autumn and Winter are being arranged with an eye single to simple luxury. Velvet and fur is a combination much in favor.

Plush, rich and deep-toned, smothered with a great fur collar, wide cuffs of fur and a heavy fur band at the foot is also much the vogue. These coats show so much lovely fur that, until the collar is turned up, they hardly reveal the self-material at all! Fine.

Yes, and khaki is remarkably clever this season, too. Heavy in quality, made in military style, buttoned to the throat. Very good indeed is khaki. And it is now being accompanied more and more by a gray, hand-knit sweater, sleeveless but coming up close about the throat. Warm and very good-looking don't you know, and likely if the worst comes to the worse, to act as a life saver.

How many gray sweaters will a fur collar pay for?

The three piece set of beaver and velvet is winning every heart, too. Wide velvet hat, le dernier cri de la mode in the sweep of its brim. The shirred velvet crown all bound around with two narrow bands of beaver, each caught at the front with its tiny, pink velvet rose.

The neckpiece is a masterpiece of velvet, fur and satin lining. And completing the ensemble is a delectable bag of velvet which has its own band of beaver and pink velvet rose.

Yes, and service hats are good this year, too. These hats are wide in the brim and are being tied down, more and more, as the season advances, by eleven-inch wide knitted gray mufflers, hand-made and very attractive. These mufflers are luxuriously long, showing sixty-four inches of cozy warmth. They are intended to go about and about the head, covering ears and throat. It gets very cold in that charming France, though you might not think so to listen to the talk in America about the Paris fashions.

And it is not so warm as you might think in certain newly built cantonments. In addition to the muffler just described, there are two other articles to which I would call your attention. This is a set of three, also, don't you see?

These other articles run in pairs. One pair consists of two very chic gray wool hose, constructed on the half-mast plan, full man's size, and as thick as they can conveniently be built by a set of bone knitting needles. Luxurious indeed they are and intended to be worn daily and in fact nightly during active service.

The other pair is composed of two wristlets, resembling—how interesting to observe the note of olden times in the fashions of today—resembling what our grand-mamas used to call half-handers. They go well up over the wrists and come down over the hand, showing a neat thumb piece which serves to hold all taut and trim.

Lots of these young men are very dear to the girls who will be wearing the three piece sets of fur and velvet. I wonder if those girls wouldn't honestly prefer a lot of the gray wool combinations to send to the boys in France and in our cantonments at home, rather than fur and velvet to cuddle themselves in? "The modes as usual" this winter? Oh no! Oh no!

CRUMBS.

By Pauline Worth Hamlin of the Vigilantes.

In olden times there was a certain Rich Man who was clothed in purple and fine linen and who dined sumptuously every day. There was also a Beggar who lay at the gate of the Rich Man and begged for the crumbs from the Rich Man's table and was refused.

And it came to pass that this Rich Man died and lifted up his eyes in Hell.

This is an old story. You have heard it often. It can be repeated in 1917, for the Allies are asking only the crumbs from the Rich Man's table and if they are not given we will lift up our eyes in hell.

It is food that is going to keep the Germans out of the United States. Give it!

TAKE DOWN YOUR TATTERED FLAGS.

By Pauline Worth Hamlin of the Vigilantes.

All over this country there are now flying faded, tattered flags. If we do not respect The Flag ourselves whom shall we expect to respect it?

The Stars and Stripes are our emblem. Shall it appear that we consider dirt and tatters symbolic of our country? Never! Our Flag should be as white as the snows, as blue as the skies, as red as our blood and as whole as our hearts. Let it be truly symbolic and when a flag becomes bedraggled take it down. If you cannot put up another be happy in the consciousness that you honor it far more by not flying it at all than by flying it when it is faded, ragged and dirty.

Lester A. Grimes of Orange, N. J., a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Grimes of Wells street, was one of a group of well known magicians, who gave an entertainment for the benefit of the Hippodrome for the benefit of the families of those who lost their lives on the Transport Antilles. The feature of the program was the appearance of the veteran, Harry Keller who, though retired ten years ago, came all the way from Los Angeles, Cal., to New York to contribute to the American Magicians' gift to the Antilles fund. Six thousand dollars was realized as a result of the entertainment.

POILUS' "ENGLISH."

Washington, Nov. 27.—Among the idiomatic terms adopted by United States Marines everywhere, the expression "shove off" is used more frequently than any other. In the sea-soldier lingo, if a Marine goes home on furlough, leaves his camp or garrison, or goes anywhere, he "shoves off."

A story comes from France of a Marine who had been acting as orderly for a lieutenant. The officer sent him on an errand and when he returned the lieutenant was nowhere about. A poilu, who happened to be loitering in the vicinity, was questioned by the Marine: "Have you seen the Lieutenant?" "Oui, monsieur, oui," replied the poilu, proud of his newly-acquired Marine Corps English, "he have—what you call—pushed over."

PROSPEROUS TIMES FOR MINERS REPORTED.
Connellsville, Pa., Nov. 27.—These are the prosperous days for the miner. Analysis of the new wage scale of the H. C. Frick Company, which became effective Saturday, shows that some employees were boosted 22½ per cent. The new rate makes it possible for the average miner to earn $80 to $90 every two weeks, and first class miners—men who can mine and load about 500 bushels a day—upward of $150 in two weeks. An average workman mines and loads 300 bushels daily.

OPENS THEATER NEAR BIG TRAINING CAMP.
Camp Gordon, Ga., Nov. 27.—To provide more entertainment for the Sammies in the cantonment here from New York and other sections East and North and from some southern states, Jake Wells, manager of the Atlantic Lyric theater, showing Keith's vaudeville, will soon have completed a big theater near the camp, and it is stated that the show house will be in operation within a few weeks. Popular prices will prevail.

"BIBLE SANCTIFICATION," REV. ABBOTT'S SUBJECT

"Living as we are in a time when much is said on the subject of sanctification, it seems proper and necessary, if we would entertain correct views of holiness of heart and purity of life, that we should raise the question, 'What saith the Scripture?'" said Mr. Abbott in his discourse on "Bible Sanctification," Sunday evening at the Odd Fellows Hall.

"Sanctification, as applied to a moral agent, signifies 'the act of God's grace by which the affections of men are purified or alienated from sin and the world, and exalted to a supreme love to God.'"—Webster. It is the will of God that his people should attain unto this high and holy state; it is our privilege to have our hearts established, unblamable, in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints.

"The pardon of sin, or justification from past transgressions, may be an instantaneous work. And when these priceless blessings are obtained, when one has passed from death unto life, he enters the school as a 'babe' in his new life, to develop into a man in Christ Jesus. 2 Peter 2:2 says, 'As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby.' As the work of growth in the Christian's experience progresses, sanctification of heart and life is developed.

"Mr. Buck, in his theological dictionary says, 'Justification delivers us from the avenging wrath of God; sanctification conforms us to his image.' Where is the man who dares claim that he is conformed instantaneously to the image of God? The only phase of sanctification that is instantaneous is when man yields himself entirely to God, thus setting himself apart for a sacred purpose. And he who chooses God's will, who surrenders himself as an instrument of God, is a sanctified man. 1 Cor. 6:11. He has separated himself so far as in his power from the world and sin. He is set apart unto God. He is yet imperfect in character, he lacks wisdom in working, he makes mistakes, he may fall through the infirmities of the flesh, but he is a child of God, who is to be 'built up' (Acts 20:32), and thus have 'an inheritance among all them which are sanctified.'

"Complete sanctification embraces the whole man. 1 Thess. 5:23. Complete sanctification means that the mind with all of its faculties, the life, and the body is fully sanctified. What are some of the faculties of the mind? The power of choice, the affections, meditation, memory, imagination, judgment, and the will. If we claim full sanctification, high and noble thoughts will always occupy our minds. Our thoughts mould our words, thus no unkind nor harsh words will be spoken. We will cease to meditate on wrongs that have been done to us, or upon hard times or trials that we have passed through; no unkind criticism about us or tribulation will cast a gloom over the spirit. Our imagination will never cause mischief, for we will never have evil imaginations. Our judgment will always be the best. We will have the mind of Christ, in that we will always submit to the Father's will. 'Not my will, but thine be done.'

"If our life is fully sanctified we will be ever following in the footsteps of Christ. We will continually ask ourselves, 'What would Jesus do if he was here in my place?' It is not our profession, nor our praying, nor our talk that counts, it is a sanctified life. And full sanctification includes the body. We should even glorify God in our bodies. 1 Cor. 6:20; 10:31. That means control of appetite as well as control of other members of the body. Can we say that we are eating and drinking to the glory of God when we introduce injurious and unhealthful foods into our systems?

"How are we sanctified? John 17:17; Eph. 5: 25-7. As we feed upon the words of God our defects are revealed to us and the same Word points us to the remedy, the blood of Christ. Thus we continue to grow in grace until the image of God is restored within us. 2 Peter 3:18; 1: 5-7, 10, 11.

"Considering then the meaning of full sanctification, where is the man who will claim that he is fully sanctified? Truly that is the standard set before us, and we should seek to attain unto it. However, the more sanctified we become, the less inclination we will have to go about and proclaim our own goodness and perfection. See Prov. 27:2. Job 9: 20, 21. It will take us all of our probationary time to reach such a standard. But with the help of God it is possible, and may be found among those who will be sanctified and ready for the Lord at his coming."

Next Sunday evening Mr. Abbott will speak on some gospel theme, the subject of which will be announced later. The song "Ninety and Nine" will be used and will be illustrated. An interesting service is planned for.

ALL FOUR GENERATIONS KNITTING FOR SAMMIES

Peoria, Ill., Railroad President Is One of Four—Product of Needles Hugs.

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 27. — Do you knit? Does your daughter knit? And does your granddaughter knit? If you do, and they all do, your family is doing a big "bit," but still you are not the champion knitting family.

E. N. Armstrong of this city, president of the Toledo, Peoria & Western railroad, and a veteran of the Civil War, acknowledged champion gentleman knitter of Peoria, is the head of a family of knitters covering four generations. He knits, his daughter knits, his grand-daughter knits and his great-grand-daughter knits. And they all knit for the Sammies.

It is an enormous quantity of sweaters, wristlets and mufflers that come from the needles of Mr. Armstrong, Mrs. W. A. Boettger, of Denver, Colo., his daughter; Mrs. L. E. Sale, of Bloomington, his grand-daughter, and Miss Muriel Sale, his great-granddaughter.

Purl Two, Drop One.

And it is not an unusual occurrence to make a call at Mr. Armstrong's home and while you are waiting in the parlor to hear the deep bass voice of the old Civil War veteran singing his "Purl two, drop one," as he turns out wristlets for some Sammy, Tommy or polli in record time.

The quality of the knitted articles coming from the family of which Mr. Armstrong is the head can be vouched for if they possess the ability of their forefather. He is a master at the art and even teaches the beginners at the Red Cross workshop here.

On numerous occasions of late he has given instructions to the members of the Wilson Circle, ladies of the Grand Army and other women's organizations in Peoria who are engaged in knitting for the Sammies. The veteran can handle the needles better than a majority of the fairer sex who have been knitting for a good many years.

DEVIL CONGRATULATES KAISER

De-coded by Eugene H. Blake of the Vigilantes.

Infernal Palace, Hades.

My dear Wilhelm:

Congratulations on that team work in the United States. The Baltimore fire was a neat job. Our elevator fire on the water front in Brooklyn destroyed only 800,000 bushels of wheat, but every little bushel counts. And we had torch crews out in Kansas City, Battle Creek and Indianapolis, burning cattle and wheat and hay. Good stuff, Wilhelm!

Fire is my own specialty, but I'll have to admit you've shown me—all the way from Louvain to San Francisco. Hope some of those United States don't get impatient and shoot our fire bugs at daybreak.

Joyously yours,
THE DEVIL.

REGISTRANTS' QUESTIONNAIRE.

The questionnaire addressed to registrants under the selective service law, which is now being sent out by the government to local registration boards for distribution, is about as comprehensive as a German police register; and rightly so. The long list of questions, divided into twelve series, is preceded by an enumeration of the five classes into which registrants are divided and a long list of rules which tell how the questions should be answered.

Series I is composed of general questions regarding name, address, all occupations for the last 10 years, most proficient occupation, previous military experience if any, branch of service registrant prefers to enter, schooling, etc. All registrants must answer all the questions.

Series II covers physical fitness. Every registrant is supposed to answer the first two questions of this series, giving height and weight without clothes and stating whether he is in sound health mentally and physically. The other four questions in the series he need not answer if he can write "Yes" to question 2, for they deal in detail with the illnesses the registrant has had.

Series III is for legislative, executive, and judicial officers, and registrants who say in the first answer that they are not such, need not answer the other two questions.

Series IV deals with ministers of religion, similarly, and a registrant who answers question 1 by saying he is not a minister need not answer the other three questions.

Series V is for divinity students, and the same rule holds, while students have to describe their experience preparing for theology.

Series VI is addressed to those in the military and naval service, and the same rule holds.

Series VII to citizenship. Those who write in their first answer that they are citizens need not answer the other ten questions. Question 2 here relates to a claim of exemption, and those who do not make such a claim need not answer the other questions.

Series VIII relates to officials, federal employees, pilots and mariners.

Series IX to religious conviction against war. The first question is "Are you a member of a religious sect or organization whose creed forbids you to participate in war in any form?" The usual rule applies, concerning answers.

Series X to dependency. Dependents must be named in full, but if one answers he has none, he need not go beyond the first question. Dependents named in this first question are: "Wife, child, aged, infirm or invalid parents, grandparents, brother under 16, sister under 18 or a helpless brother or sister of any age, mainly dependent upon the registrant for support." Detailed questions regarding dependents and income and property follow.

Series XI covers industrial occupations, and one who is not so engaged need not answer any question but the first.

Series XII covers agricultural occupations similarly.

The registrant's affidavit closes the questionnaire.

AFTER THE WAR AND "TRUSTS."

Modification of the Sherman anti-trust law, so as to confine its application merely to measures of protection of competing companies and of consumers from monopolies is as likely as not after the war. And American "trusts", in their foreign fields at least, will probably get more government encouragement than they have in decades before.

The government has just taken its first preparatory step in this general direction. The department of commerce has issued a statement in which it says: "German preparations for trade after the war are being scrutinized carefully by experts in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce of the department of commerce, and the recent important report on the subject of 'German foreign-trade organization,' by Chauncey D. Snow, which touched on this point, has been in such great demand as to establish a new sales record for government trade reports." Supplementary bulletins on German trade are to follow soon.

Several of the German cartels, which are a combination for buying and selling purposes of several comcerns in the same business made by voluntary agreement for a term of years, have averaged from 26 to 30 per cent dividends annually during the past 10 years. They have been able to do so not only by exploiting the German workingman, who, skilled as he is, knows little or nothing of the eight-hour day and receives about half the American wage, but through government aid. It is the cartel that brought Germany to its great pitch of prosperity, the cartel government-aided, and it is the "trust" that has made America commercially, whether America likes to admit it or not. A freer hand for the American corporation, in its foreign trade at least, will be absolutely necessary, if the country is to hold up its head in the fierce competition after the war.

"THREE PER CENT" BEER.

The food administration takes a wise stand in its decision not to stop entirely the manufacture of beer. The reason it gives is that it doesn't want to drive drinkers to whiskey, of which there is a supply sufficient to last two or three years still in stock. The alcohol content of beer will be cut to three per cent and the amount of grain used in manufacture reduced by 30 per cent. The order will also provide for a larger cattle feed output from breweries.

The average prohibitionist doesn't look at the liquor question as practically as this, and of course any person or firm or corporation whose pocket-book is concerned is still less to be trusted than the prohibitionist, who loses nothing by the squelching of the liquor traffic.

The food administration's order has been approved by the President and will be forthcoming from Washington soon. In its statement the former says:

"The food bill provides for the prohibition of the use of foodstuffs in the production of distilled spirits for beverage purposes and the use of foodstuffs for the production of distilled drinks was stopped September 8.

There is, however, in the country from two to three-years' supply of whiskey, brandy and gin and other distilled liquors. The food bill provides that these liquors can be commandeered by the government if required for purposes of manufacture of alcohol for munitions. On the other hand, the requirements for industrial alcohol in addition to the normal output, from sawdust and other waste products, is at present negligible.

"Those who wish brewing entirely suppressed should, therefore, bear in mind that if such a course were pursued the country would be placed on a whiskey basis entirely and the amount of alcohol consumed most probably would increase. The desirability of saving all the grain used in brewing from the point of view of food conservation is, therefore, limited by the social question involved in the exclusive use of whiskey."

THE NATION'S HEALTH.

Heart disease, tuberculosis and pneumonia carried off nearly one third of Americans in the federal "registration area" who died during 1916, according to the bureau of the census' report, released today. "Registration area" means that part of the country's territory where registration of vital statistics is made. Another third of the deaths were due to these following other diseases: Bright's disease, nephritis, cancer, apoplexy, diarrhea and enteritis, influenza, arterial diseases, diabetes, diphtheria and typhoid fever.

The percentage of deaths from tuberculosis has dropped from 200.7 per 100,000 of population in 1904 to 141.6 in 1916.

The year showed a huge increase in deaths from infantile paralysis, because of an epidemic that developed.

Deaths from accidents showed a big increase over 1915 — railroad and automobile accidents especially. From auto accidents 5,193 persons lost their lives, or 7.3 per 100,000 of population.

The lowest suicide rate in ten years is recorded, 10,162 or 14.2 per 100,000 people.

It will be interesting to watch the effect of less eating of meat, drinking of alcoholic beverages, etc., on the nation's health in 1917, which will be the first year of the war to exhibit an appreciable difference.

Rear Admiral Peary predicts that a blow will be struck at some one or more of our Atlantic coast cities by Germany within the near future and that when it comes it will be a surprise. We have no fear that Germany, under present conditions, can successfully conduct any large operations on the Atlantic coast although it might by sporadic attacks do some damage. The appearance of German armed forces on this side of the ocean might awaken some of our indifferent people to the fact that the United States is really at war.

The high price of spirituous liquor has turned the attention of the thirty toward beer. Now the government is to issue orders reducing the proportion of alcohol in beer to three per cent. It is growing harder and harder for men to get drunk.

We trust the food administration has given due warning to publishers of dictionaries, encyclopedias and so on, of the forthcoming order concerning beer, in order to enable them to make definitions in new editions conform to it. Mr. Wiley is now out of date.

America is fast making this a 100 per cent war. The liquidation of insurance companies incorporated in Germany will hit several concerns doing large business in Connecticut and neighboring states.

The Italians also seem to be "an obstinate nation." We wish we could say as much for the Russians. But give them time.

The Evening Herald force will miss the genial face of Pastor Calderwood, who leaves soon for Lee, Mass. Mr. Calderwood has been a minister of much public spirit and public usefulness. Lee is lucky to get him.

A thousand for homeless Armenians isn't much, but it is a good deal for one community in so short a time. If every town of Manchester's size did as well there might be no starvation abroad.

LOCAL MAN BADLY HURT AS HIS HORSE RUNS AWAY

Second Accident in One Night For Alex. Pulchunitz and Family — In Hospital.

As a result of a runaway accident late last night Alex. Pulchunitz of Parker street is at the Hartford hospital where he was taken for treatment. Pulchunitz with his wife and child attended a wedding on Union street and were returning home when one of the wheels of his buggy broke down and the three were thrown out on North Main street. None was very much hurt and Pulchunitz took his wife and child back to the house of a friend to remain for the night. He secured another wagon and once more started for home. The horse was a young animal and full of life. When the turnout reached Depot Square the horse became frightened by a passing train and ran away. The wagon overturned and Pulchunitz was thrown out on the hard concrete road.

Some time later he was found by Officer Crockett on the road in an unconscious state. The officer secured assistance and the injured man was carried to Curran's barber shop and when his face had been washed and his injuries cared for he was taken to Dr. Burr's office by Stephen Pearl. The doctor advised the removal of the man to the hospital. The word today from that institution is that he is getting along well. No bones were broken but the man received some bad cuts in the head and face. Pulchunitz is employed on the farm of Mrs. J. W. Nettleton of Parker street.

"Silk stockings were $1.00 now $1.50." Another illustration of the high cost of giving.—Bridgeport Telegram.

SEVERAL OFFICERS GET FRENCH WAR CROSSES

Three Commissioned, Four "Non-Coms." and Eight Privates Win.

THEY CAN'T WEAR 'EM.

Special Action of Congress Necessary — Ceremony of Presentation — Deeds of Distinction.

With the American Army in France, Nov. 26.—(Delayed)—Standing on the top of a snow flecked hill a major general this afternoon personally presented French citations and the Croix de Guerre to three American officers, four non-commissioned officers and eight privates of a certain company which was attacked by the Germans and suffered the first losses in infantry fighting on November 2-3.

"The occasion often arises in war times requiring clearheadedness and great courage," said the General. "This company met such an occasion as I expected. The French general commanding the sector wherein these troops were located considered that this company and especially certain men earned the war cross. With much pleasure I come to deliver the citations and crosses. It must be distinctly understood, however, that the men cannot wear the crosses but must keep them in their private possession until Congress authorizes the wearing of decorations conferred by other governments than at Washington."

A major general, who had been visiting the field headquarters camp for several days obtaining information for use in the United States, accompanied the staff to the field and witnessed the ceremony. An entire regiment that had occupied the sector raided was drawn up on three sides of a hollow square wherein the awards were made.

A crowd of French from the village in which the regiment is quartered were spectators. (name deleted) first read the French divisional order of the day citing the entire company, which occupied a position in front of the center of the hollow square and then delivered the company citation and Croix de Guerre to the company commander, a lieutenant, who stepped forward saluting and was personally congratulated.

A divisional adjutant then read the citation of the lieutenant, who was knocked unconscious while attempting to run through a barrage fire to bring up reinforcements. The lieutenant, a sergeant and a corporal each stepped forward, saluting, and received the citation and cross and the congratulations of a major general.

An adjutant next called out: "Corporal _____," (name deleted) A comrade stepped forward, replying: "Corporal _____ is in the hospital with a very bad wound, sir."

The citation and cross was then handed to _____.

Six privates were next handed their citations and crosses by the general, who then turned to the colonel commanding the regiment, saying:

"I have here, Colonel, citations and crosses for Corporal _____ and Privates _____, who died bravely in hand-to-hand fighting with the enemy. I wish you to see that these citations and crosses reach their nearest kin."

OUR BUILDERS UP IN ARMS AGAINST NEW UNION RULE

If Any Man Quits Job Because of Non Union Workers No One Will Hire Him.

The Manchester Builders' and Contractors' association held a meeting in Orange hall last evening to take action relative to a notice received recently from the Building Trades' Council to the effect that after January 1, 1918, no union man would be allowed to work on the job, where a non-union man was employed. It was voted that if any union man quit his job simply because a non-union man happened to be working at the same place, no other local contractor or builder would give him work.

Besides taking action on the above question, the association last night adopted a constitution and by laws. The Manchester Builders' and Contractors' association was organized with temporary officers about two months ago. E. H. G. Hohenthal jr. being chosen chairman and Dwight Blish, secretary. It is expected that permanent officers will be elected at the next meeting, to be held the last Monday in December. This meeting also will be held in Orange hall. Meetings are to be held monthly thereafter, on the last Monday evening of the month.

NEGRO KILLED.

Was Waving Hand to Girls When Train Hits Him.

Albert Hurd, of Washington, D. C., a colored section worker on the railroad, was killed late yesterday afternoon at the Vernon tower on the New Haven road. He had just left a hand car and was running toward a train to go to Hartford. As he turned to wave his hand at some colored girls who were standing there, his feet slipped and he fell under an approaching train. He was killed instantly.

The old war song, "The Vacant Chair," isn't half so mournful as the up-to-date one, "The Empty Sugar Bowl."—Springfield Daily News.

Boys' Shoes

THE KIND THAT WEAR

THEY WEAR WELL
BECAUSE THEY'RE BUILT WELL.

We have boys of our own, so we know how hard it is to keep them shod with the ordinary play or school shoe. But this particular brand of Boys' Shoes is made just to stand that hard usage that only a boy—the red-blooded kind of youngster—can give to footwear.

Only the very toughest cuts of the toughest leathers are used, and the findings, the linings, counters, threads, etc., are selected with this "hard wear" in mind.

We say these are "Boys' Shoes that Wear," and we ask that you let your boy put them to the test.

RED CROSS IN GREAT NEED OF MORE KNITTED GOODS

So great is the present demand upon the Red Cross for knitted articles for men in cantonments and aboard American warships that the Manchester Chapter and all other chapters in the state have been asked by Ethan Allen, manager of the Atlantic Division, to speed up work on sweaters, wristlets, mufflers, helmets and socks.

A report of the Bureau of Military Relief of the Atlantic Division, which accompanied the appeal from Mr. Allen, showed that in three days requests for 408,000 knitted articles were received from cantonments, forts, and embarkation camps in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut.

With practically every requisition for sweaters and other knitted articles, it is said, comes the request that the garments be delivered at the camps before Christmas. Just as fast as these articles can be obtained they are being forwarded to Red Cross warehouses at the camps and distributed to the men under army regulations, which require that they be accounted for on inspection days the same as equipment provided by the War Department.

From three camps in the Atlantic division requisitions for a total of 300,000 knitted articles were received. Another camp asked for 108,000 articles.

The output of the volunteer Red Cross workers no longer keeps pace with the need for knitted garments, and the Red Cross, in order to supply soldiers and sailors with despatch, has had to purchase sweaters in the market.

The national headquarters of the Red Cross, after purchasing 550,000 sweaters, allotted 60,000 of this number to the Atlantic division. This supply has been exhausted.

The knitted garments the Red Cross provides are distributed among soldiers and sailors without a penny of cost to those receiving them. This applies to all kinds of materials, both the articles manufactured in Red Cross workrooms and those purchased in the market.

From October 25 to November 20, the report of the military relief department shows, 36,902 knitted sets, each containing a sweater, muffler or a helmet, wristlets, and socks, were sent out to camps and warships. In a period of six weeks prior to that time 57,517 sweaters, 50,885 helmets and mufflers, 40,775 pairs of wristlets and 62,321 pairs of socks were supplied, making a total since September 10, 1917, of 359,016 knitted articles.

In a statement to the chairman of the local chapter, Mr. Allen said, in part:

"The knitting of articles for our fighting men is very important and very necessary. The Red Cross cannot overemphasize the importance of it. In view of the present demand it is advisable that chapters do everything possible to stimulate interest in knitting. Let the women who are knitting for the Red Cross know that if their work were to stop the Red Cross would be hard put to it to prevent widespread suffering and distress this winter."

FAR WEST UNAFFECTED

BY ELECTRIC SIGN RULE.
Portland, Ore., Nov. 27.—Western cities, as a rule, are not affected by the recent order of the National Fuel Administration limiting the use of electric signs to certain hours. Fuel Administrator Holmes, of Oregon, declares where electric energy is produced by water power the order does not apply.

"Very little coal or oil is used for making electricity for the big cities of the Pacific Northwest. In some of the smaller towns waste from sawmills is used to produce electricity and this fuel does not come under the administration's order.

What is Your Boy Doing Now For His Uncle Sam?

Washington, Nov. 27.—The second line of every army is the artillery. In the present war heavy artillery has made almost obsolete the field artillery of former days. There are no more gallant charges, with snorting horses drawing light cannon and caissons amid bursting shells. Artillery today is too heavy for horses. It is moved either by railway trains or motor tractors.

American boys in the artillery will find themselves dealing with bigger guns than they have ever dreamed of. Life in the artillery is no sinecure, but it has the disadvantage of plenty of action with no apparent results. All day long the heavy guns are drawn up several miles behind the front, and they are banging away at objects out of their sight. The artilleryman never sees in modern warfare his mark. He fires by mathematical calculation at some object which an observer has reported.

Artillerymen are more apt to be trained men than other branches of the service. Men schooled in mathematics are sought most eagerly. The work of the enlisted artillerymen is not as diversified as that of his brother the infantryman. His work is the incessant firing of his gun and the constant handling of ammunition.

Aviators, balloon observers and outposts report to the commanding officer of each artillery battery spots which should become targets. The report is couched in technical terms, and the range is found by mathematical calculation. As a gun fires an observer watches its effects and communicates back to the commanding officer the results. The men behind the guns never see the damage done by the shells which they handle.

Under present conditions the artillery are used to clear the way for an infantry charge. Constant hammering of the heavy guns for days is purposed to tear down the enemies defenses and make the infantry charge easier. When the signal for the infantry charge is given, then the artillerymen must protect the chargers with a curtain of steel, known as a barrage. The barrage must lift with exact timing as the charging men reach the enemy trenches or the artillery will be shelling its own men.

Enlisted artillerymen have heavy work. The shifting of the guns and ammunition is strenuous. However, they have the compensation of comparative safety, especially so now that the German aviators are rarely flying over the allied trenches to spot artillery.

Artillerymen are designated by a crimson red cord about their hats. Their collar insignia is two crossed cannons. They wear leather puttees, since they come in the classification of mounted men.

SOUTH METHODIST NOTES.

Four persons were received into the church on probation Sunday morning.

The Women's Missionary societies are holding a rummage sale in the north store of the Ferris block this afternoon and evening.

The people of this church are invited to attend a union Thanksgiving service in the Center Congregational church at ten o'clock Thursday morning. Rev. W. H. Bath will preach. Because of the union service in the morning, the mid-week prayer service in the evening will be omitted.

The Home Guards will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. N. C. Ingalls.

A Thanksgiving social will be held by the Epworth League in the church at 7.45 o'clock Friday evening. Wednesday evening naturally would be the regular time for the league social, but the event was postponed until Friday evening because Wednesday evening is Thanksgiving eve. All young people are invited to the social.

ST. MARY'S BOWLERS.

No. 6 Team Still Remains at Head of Column.

No. 6 and No. 1 teams of St. Mary's Bowling League played their last match of the first round last night, No. 6, the league leaders, winning two out of the three games. The first game went to No. 1 by only two pins. I. Wickham, anchor man for No. 1, made high single of 114 and Tom Rogers, anchor man for No. 6, hung up high three string of 287. Last night's victory leaves No. 6 at the top of the league with a lead of six games over No. 1.

In the other match, No. 2 took two out of three games from No. 4, the result of this match tying No. 2 with No. 1 for second place and leaving No. 4 a close third. Ed. Rogers of No. 2 and J. Moore, anchor man for No. 4, tied for high single of 90 in this match while Rogers had high three string of 261.

THRIFT STAMPS.

New Plan to Be Operated Through Local Post Offices.

A campaign for the National Thrift Fund, to be carried on through the post offices of the country, is to be inaugurated by the National War Savings committee of the treasury department at Washington on Monday, December, 3, and the local postmasters have received instructions for handling of the fund as well as the war savings certificates and stamps and the thrift cards to be used in the campaign. Local committees are being organized throughout the country, under the direction of Frank L. Vanderlip, chairman of the national committee. The secretary of the treasury has appointed Howell Cheney state director or chairman of the state committee, which is to be assisted by the Connecticut State Council of Defense.

The purpose of the campaign is to raise during December, 1917 and the calendar year of 1918, through the sale of war-savings stamps at the post offices, the amount of $2,000,000,000 toward the war fund. And it is not simply to raise that amount of money, but to save on material and labor. The stamps cost but little and the work is to be done by the post office employees. The stamps will be placed on sale December 3.

The spirit of Thanksgiving can be displayed in no better way than with an abundance of flowers in the home. Phone 440. adv.

Foes' Losses Of Man Power

Will Give The Allies Victory

Says Sec. Of War Baker

Washington, Nov. 27.—Declaring that "the week just closed has been one very favorable to the allied arms," Secretary of War Baker in his weekly review of war conditions today paid high tribute to both the British and Italian arms. Germany, he declares, took the offensive in Italy to extricate herself from the increasingly difficult position in which the German armies find themselves on the western front. This has failed, the secretary says. Summing up the result and the outlook, Mr. Baker says:

"It is the wastage of the enemy forces, the slow, yet relentless sapping of the man power by continued and sudden offensive thrusts, which must eventually result in the softening of his line in the west. This is the ultimate objective of the series of intensive offenses so successfully pursued by the allies, during the past six months, and is even more important than the gain in territory." The complete review as made public by the secretary is as follows:

A Favorable Week.
"The week just closed has been one very favorable to the allied armies.

"The success of the British offensive in the region of Cambrai and the steady resistance of the Italians in the face of repeated attacks of the Austro-German forces are two factors which may be considered as co-relative elements of one and the same movement.

"It is evident that the enemy took the offensive in Italy, thereby hoping to place Italy in a more difficult position than his forces find themselves in the west.

"The German higher command were apparently confident that in order to save Italy from invasion such important contingents of French and British troops would be detached from the western front as to render any further allied offensives in this theater impossible.

"Though the French and British have both dispatched large contingents to Italy, this has in no way hampered the continuance of their offensive operations." The British captured more than 10,000 prisoners, he says.

French Coup.
"Along the front held by the French forces, the latter have achieved a successful coup de main south of Juvencourt, in Champagne, resulting in the capture of some elements of enemy trenches and the taking of numerous prisoners.

"Lively artillery duels took place north of the Chemin des Dames and in the Verdun sector, where, as for several weeks past, the enemy continued to bombard the French positions.

"In the sector where our troops are training increased artillery activity is noted. Small detachments, while on patrol duty, have gained some useful experience."

HOW "JIMMY" OF ALABAMA "JOINED UP" WITH THE U. S. EXPEDITIONARY FORCES IN FRANCE

With the American Army in France, Nov. 1.—(By mail to New York.) Nov. 27.—From the unwarlike business of making up beds in Norfolk, Va., to the hot business of dodging shells, bombs and other Boche hardware in France, is a considerable jump, but "Jimmy," who thinks he was "bawn somewah in 'Alabama'" has made it and now he has pretty nearly jumped back again.

How "Jimmy" got to France, has always been a great mystery to the men with whom he fought in the foreign legion, and to "Jimmy" himself. He has a faint recollection of a grand party in Norfolk one night. Under certain stimulus he voted making up beds and cooking flapjacks no way of seeing the world and set sail for France.

"Jimmy's" ship had not been long in a French port when he found himself in trouble. He appealed to the American consul. The consul fixed things up.

Jimmy "Joins Up."

The next night "Jimmy" encored and so did the consul. But when "Jimmy" blazed the horizon for the third consecutive night the consul advised him to spend some of his spare energy fighting the Germans. The thing appealed to "the best houseman in Norfolk" and he joined up.

There came a night when "Jimmy's" regiment went over the top and attacked amidst a hell of fire from the German positions. "Jimmy" stumbled half way across "No Man's Land" before he fell with his right arm shattered by a shell fragment and his left shoulder pierced by a sharpnel ball. His comrades found him later, they said, by the whites of his eyes, as he lay staring up at them from the bottom of a shell hole. When he left the hospital, Jimmy's fighting days were over.

They sent him back to a French training school. There an American major, in command of a school for the instruction of student reserve officers, found him. Now "Jimmy" is back at his old job of making beds, although he cannot perform this feat as swiftly as he used to when he had two good arms.

NEW PATROLMAN.

At a meeting of the police commissioners last night John McGlyn was named as a supernumerary. McGlyn has been employed by the Connecticut company as a motorman on the local lines for a number of years. He will fill the place of Frank Quish who recently resigned from the force. This was the only business discussed at the meeting.
