Secretary of War Tells Senate Military Affairs Committee What His Department Has Accomplished—Lauds Pershing—Defends Quartermaster General's Department and Bureau of Ordnance

Washington, Jan. 10.—A "substantial" American army is in France and is "ready for active service," Secretary of War Baker told the Senate committee on military affairs this morning.

Arms of the most modern and effective kind; artillery, machine guns, automatic rifles, and small arms, have been provided for every soldier in France and "are available for every soldier who can be got to France in 1918," the secretary continued.

small mistakes of the war machine, the committee have ever in mind the great achievements that have been effected.

In detailing the success with which his efforts had met, he had one particular object, the secretary said.

Lauds Pershing. "General Pershing and our Allies are entitled to have the benefit resulting from the depression of the morale of their enemies which must come when the Germans realize that the American democracy has neither blundered nor hesitated."

"I make this statement," continued the secretary, "fully aware that there have been produced before the members of this committee some expressions of 'doubt,' difference of opinion and disapproval. The War department has spent eight months hearing similar expressions, analyzing them, correcting the conditions out of which they grew, perfecting its organization to prevent their recurrence; and all the while driving on to the accomplishment of the main task."

"My military associates and I appreciate the work which this committee has done, and will value suggestions from the committee as a whole, from its individual members, and from every other patriotic citizen which will enable us to carry on this work more effectively and more rapidly."

HOW WAR STAMPS HELP OUR SOLDIERS

Director James C. Tucker and Postmaster Wall Address Audiences at Movies

SOME "WAR LIES" HIT HARD

How war stamps How Quarters Saved Mean Arms, Clothing and Munitions for the Troops—Way to Invest.

The four-minute speaking campaign arranged by Chairman F. A. Verplanck, head of the speakers' committee of the war savings workers in town, is placing strong arguments before large numbers of people almost nightly. At the local theaters last evening the speakers were Director James C. Tucker, of the trade school, who spoke at the Circle, and Postmaster Fred H. Wall, who spoke at the Park theater.

The four-minute speeches are being given under the auspices of the Manchester War Bureau's war savings committee, of which C. E. House is chairman. Howell Cheney is head of the committee in charge of the entire war savings program in Connecticut.

In his address last evening, Director Tucker paid his respects to the mischievous propaganda which seeks to add the enemy through circulating untruths.

Mr. Tucker's Address.
Mr. Tucker spoke as follows: "Bigger than any gun or regiment or division or army has been the influence of German propaganda in fighting this great world battle. Think what this weapon of the enemy has done. It has accomplished what even Mackensen was unable to do so successfully in all his brilliant fighting in the East. It has silenced the guns of one great nation of the entente by bringing about discord, and disorganizing its government. It has broken the Russian nation up into various factions and set them to fighting each other. It has offered to make peace only to gain time by parleying to reorganize and strengthen its armies.

"I dare say that even some of you are hearing today some say that the war is about over. I have heard it in effect from well meaning men. There is nothing our enemies would like better than to have such talk spread.

"We are not ready to quit until militarism and the brutal outrages of the Huns are ended. Do you think for a moment Germany is ready to stop on such terms? Not on your life. We have a long struggle ahead. We shall win surely, but it will be because we will have conserved our every resource by saving and by aiding our government in loans. We have responded loyally in the two Liberty Loans and in the various other patriotic and humanitarian causes. We must continue to do so. Here is the opportunity to follow out a plan in which we may put our small savings into good use and at the same time obtain even better interest than is ordinarily paid on saving accounts in the banks."

Mr. Wall's Address.
Postmaster Wall, who spoke at the Park theater, said:

"Over in France tonight there are hundreds of thousands of American soldiers. They come from the various states and towns of this country—states like Connecticut and towns like Manchester. Over 100 of these soldiers are Manchester boys. They are surrounded by all dangers of this heart-rending war. What are the dangers which confront these American soldiers and those of our allies? Millions of trained Prussian soldiers, bombing airplanes, trenches, mines, heavy guns, liquid fire, poison gases and barbed wire. Do these soldiers need our help? And what is the help that we can render them? It is a cold night tonight. It has been cold here for many nights. It has also been cold in France and on the other battle fronts. Have our soldiers who are fighting there for me and you been warm? Have they the proper clothing? Have they sufficient guns? Have they enough ammunition? Here is where we stay-at-homes can do our part. We can help supply the clothing, the guns, the ammunition for our soldiers in those desperate, dangerous battle fronts. We can lend our twenty-five-cent-pieces and our dollars which are our savings to our government, and our government will use them to aid our soldiers. And in five years, remember, we get our money back.

"What is the best way of loaning our savings to the government? How can we do it? By buying thrift stamps at twenty-five cents each. You buy them until you fill a card which holds sixteen stamps. When filled, this card is worth $4. Take the card and twelve cents, present it at the post office and you will receive a war savings stamp. In five years, that stamp will be redeemed by the government for $5. This gives you back your money and interest at 4 per cent, compounded quarterly."

RED CROSS TO COLLECT LINEN FOR HOSPITALS

Local Chapter Wishes Manchester Housewives To Contribute on Jan. 21, 22 and 23.

Three days, January 21, 22 and 23, have been set aside by the local Red Cross chapter on which linen is to be collected for French hospitals. The past three years of war have about exhausted the supply of linen in French hospitals. There is a great need for sheets, pillow cases and towels. The need has been so great that the nurses have frequently torn their own clothes up to provide comfort for the sick soldiers. The need for sheets especially is great. In many cases a soldier is forced to rest upon a rough woolen blanket with no sheet on top of the blanket for comfort. Nurses have used their own clothing to protect the soldiers' bodies from the rough wool. The shortage of towels puts the doctors and nurses in the hospital at a disadvantage. Every American housewife knows how difficult it would be to try and get along without the necessary towels. For health conditions new pillow cases are badly needed.

Appeal to Housewives.
Upon receiving word as to the conditions in France the local chapter is making a special appeal to the housewives of Manchester for linen. Mrs. J. M. Williams of Hudson street is the head of the committee to arrange for the collection. Each housewife is asked to give one unit. A unit consists of one cotton sheet bleached or unbleached; one cotton pillow case, either bleached or unbleached; and either a face or a bath towel. Dish towels, dish cloths or wash cloths are much needed and would be greatly appreciated. If any housewife feels that she may spare more of her linen it will be gladly accepted and small quantities will be appreciated greatly. The Red Cross does not care to draw upon its funds for this linen, for it feels that the housewives of the nation can easily supply the necessary articles. It is requested that the contributor do not buy the articles. If the women throughout the country start to buy up these goods it will send the price of cotton goods sky high.

Size of Sheets.
The sheets which are needed should measure 62 by 102 inches. Sheets can be used which are as small as 93 inches long. Pillow cases should measure 28 by 30 inches. The towels of course may be of any size. Any extra strips of cloth will be greatly appreciated. The nurses and doctors can find use for every available piece of cloth.

The housewives of the country should give gladly to this. Here is a chance to do something which aids the suffering soldiers directly. The articles which you furnish will be of great comfort to the soldiers. Who knows, but what the articles sent from Manchester may comfort the Manchester boys who may reach the hospitals. No quota has been set in this campaign but Manchester should surely go far over the top in such merciful work.

EAGEN PUTS OUT DOWNEY.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 10.—One robust lunk head to the stomach in the seventh round won for Joe Eagen, the Boston welterweight, in his ten round bout with Bryan Downey of Chicago, here last night. Although the blow did not put Downey to the mat, it took all the fight out of him, and Eagen gave him an artistic trimming in the remaining rounds.

AMUSEMENTS

WHAT'S WHAT AND WHO'S WHO IN MANCHESTER MOVIE HOUSES BY THEIR OWN PRESS AGENTS.

AT THE PARK.

Poor "Doug" Fairbanks! If Maciste could be brought to this country there would be no more Fairbanks after a couple of his pictures came out. This is not the press agent's statement but the statement of hundreds who packed the Popular Playhouse last evening to see the greatest real big feature shown in Manchester for months.

Where Fairbanks picks up one or two small men in a fight, the giant hero of "The Warrior" picks up five big men. He throws over horses, carries a 500 pound gun and carries over the mountains, knocks over big tables with a blow of his fist, uproots trees, throws down large stones on the enemy and with no trick photography either. Maciste is really strong and is acknowledged to be the strongest man that ever lived. And he does all these stunts with a smile that puts "Doug" to shame.

There really is no need to boost "The Warrior" today. That was done before midnight last night in some 800 homes by those who saw the picture. When the Park management gets a picture like "The Warrior" all it does is to boost the first night to get people to see it. Then all that is necessary is to sit back and be prepared for the S. R. O. sign. That well worn placard is wearing out these days.

"The Warrior" is no war picture. It is in reality a comedy with a war setting. The last episode shows the war preparation in the Alps and some trench action by the Italian and Austrian armies thousands of feet in the air among the eternal snows. It shows how difficult it is for the Italians to hold their positions in the mountains and gives the average man a different opinion of the Italian army after he sees what they are up against.

MARKET IRREGULAR, GENERALLY DOWNWARD

Steel Common and Bethlehem Steel B Lose—Rails Quiet and somewhat Lower—Quotations.

New York, Jan. 10.—There was a steady tone to the trading at the opening of the stock market today, with price changes narrow.

Steel Common ranged from 94 3-4 to 94 3-8, compared with 94 7-8 at the close yesterday. Bethlehem Steel B was up 1-4 to 79 and Crucible advanced 3-8 to 55.

Marine Preferred was active, and after yielding 1-2 to 86 1-2, rose to 87 3-8. Atlantic Gulf was one point higher at 101.

National Enamel continued in good demand and rose 1-4 to 42 1-4. Distillers advanced to 33 3-4 and American Lined Preferred rose one point to 71 1-2.

Anacosta was 1-2 higher at 62 1-2 and American Smelting gained 3-8 to 79, 57-8.

The railroad stocks were generally fractionally lower.

The majority of the active issues, after an irregular hour, ranged generally lower during the forenoon. Marine Preferred, however, moved up to 88 1-4 from 86 1-2. Steel Common sold down to 93 3-4 and Bethlehem B dropped 1 3-8 to 77 5-8. Mexican Petroleum fell from 83 7-8 to 81 3-4 and then rose to 83. American Tobacco fell 38 7-8 to 161, and A. T. and T. fell 1 7-8 to 104.

The railroads were quiet and fractionally lower.

Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $406,155,951; balances, $40,294,616.

Money loaning at 4 per cent. Cotton.

Heavy selling by spot interests caused a drop of from three to 20 points at the opening of the cotton market today, but the loss was speedily recovered on a renewal of Liverpool and trade buying.

At the end of the first 15 minutes the market was up 10 to 17 points from the lowest.

Stock Quotations. Reported for The Evening Herald by Richter & Co., 6 Central Row, Hartford. 3:30 p. m. prices:

AT THE CIRCLE.

"The time of his life," as the advance advertising stated was right and Douglas or "Doug" Fairbanks certainly has it in "Reaching for the Moon" which was presented at the Circle yesterday. Most of us think we would like to be kings but the "job" or position or whatever you may call it is not as pleasant as one thinks. Mr. Fairbanks certainly is one busy "guy" in this photoplay. He is commanded to marry a princess with one of those faces that would stop any respectable eight day clock, and it is then that Alex Caesar Napoleon Brown (that's "Doug's" name in the picture) makes a grab at the "Moon," throws up the sponge and retires to his little cottage in the foreign part of "Jersey." The production is just great and one of the most terrific fights ever seen on the screen takes place in the palace in which Fairbanks battles with a half dozen men. "Reaching for the Moon" is an extraordinary picture and while it bristles with melodrama interspersed with comedy it tells a logical story and expounds a philosophical theory that success is really the attainment of happiness. The added comedy feature was even better than the management claimed and we suggest that if you have that down and out feeling or a good old fashioned grouch go to the Circle tonight and see "Roaring Lions and Wedding Bells" and you surely will forget it.

We are in no position to know who selects the photoplays for the Circle theater but who ever it is seems to know what the public of Manchester wants, judging from the attendance and applause which greeted the picture show last evening. A triple bill of features will be presented at the Circle Saturday only, headed by Anita Stewart in the "Message of the Mouse," a "Vita" comedy and the last episode of Vitagraph's wonderful "The Fighting Chinese" and the grand opening of the greatest Vitagraph supreme continued story "Vengeance and the Woman." No advance in the admission price.

$250,000 FIRE IN CHESTER, PA.

Chester, Pa., Jan. 10.—One of the worst conflagrations in the city's history destroyed the pork packing plant of the John J. Buckley Company here early today, causing a loss estimated at $250,000. The origin of the fire is unknown. Fanned by a stiff breeze, the flames spread to the offices and main buildings of the firm, the walls collapsing forty minutes after the fire started. Fire apparatus from neighboring towns aided the local firemen.

$50,000 For Carey?

Barney Dreyfus is said to have turned down $50,000 for Max Carey. It leaves our doubts as to whether he will accept of it.

It appears that some of the magnates are running hog wild in their estimates of player values in these uncertain times. There are few ball players in the business who would bring $50,000, even in times of peace.

1918 baseball contracts are as popular with the players as the prohibition amendment in Milwaukee. Baseball magnates claim exemption from paying higher salaries.

There's no doubt that he is certainly one of the good to Dreyfus as they are.

On the schedule of the local high school basketball team appears the name of Rosary High. This game will be welcomed by all who know of the reputation of the Holyoke High school for turning out basketball teams. This game will be played Jan. 25, and if it doesn't bring out a crowd no game will. Rosary men can play basketball.

JOSEPH GUILFORD, golf champion of Massachusetts and playing partner of Francis Ouimet, is taking the Avila examinations at Boston.

Sport Squibs

Now that the Manchester City Club has started a pool tournament there is a good chance to start a regular pool tourney in town. The championship of the town in pool has never been decided. Every pool parlor has its star but Manchester has no individual who stands out as superior.

And speaking of championships there have not been any championship basketball games played so far this season. It is usual for some basketball team to win two or three games straight and then challenge some other quintet for the championship of the town. It may be a little early for that yet.

Why doesn't some skating enthusiast start a hockey team and get games with either pick-up teams in town or Hartford teams? About the only sport Manchester is strong on in winter is basketball. Even the interest in that sport has died out since the G team broke up. A medal to the man who organizes a hockey team and stages a game in town.

Roller skating is getting to be a popular pastime. It's a good way to get recreation. It would be a good way to renew roller polo playing, too. When the game of roller polo was in full blast Manchester was at the head of the list. This game has been rejuvenated in many of the larger cities and Manchester ought to be among the leaders.

What's the matter with the local team? They haven't got started yet. There's excellent material on the team and it's a shame to see it wasted in such an overwhelming defeat as was received in Middletown and Waterbury.

In his first year at Denver Hendricks led the Grizzlies to a second place finish and then came a string of three successive pennant winners in the Mile-High City. Hendricks was hailed as the miracle manager of the Western League by everyone except his rival managers, and they were mighty glad to see him leave the circuit in the winter of 1913 to manage the Indianapolis club of the American Association, which was purchased by McGill.

Taking a tail-end team at Indianapolis, Hendricks elevated it to third place in 1914 and finished in the same position the following year. In 1916 his Indianapolis club finished second to the Louisville Colonels, after one of the hottest races in Association history, and last fall they galloped home with a pennant, following which they won a series for the minor league championship from the pennant-winning Toronto club, of the International League.

Five Wins in 12 Years. With a record of having won five pennants in twelve years and never having finished lower than third place, Hendricks comes to the big show bringing a world of proof that he has managerial ability. By nature Hendricks is a manager of scrappy disposition on the ball field. He is not a rowdy, but he loves an argument now and then, and he has a strong pair of lungs with which to lay claim to his rights.

He has proven his caliber as a tactician by his successes as a minor league manager and there are but few, if any, managers in the minors at present who have sent up more good ball players than Hendricks. While in Indianapolis Hendricks, like all other minor league managers, was forced to dispose of players at times, and in player deals alone he made $37,500 for the Indianapolis club.

Sure to Succeed. As manager of the Cards, where he can hold onto his star talent, there is little room for doubt that Hendricks will succeed. He is a capable judge of players, a smart and aggressive manager, and he has the knack of making friends, and that goes a long way toward success in baseball.

He has already passed a few of the many severe tests which young men who would be aviators must pass, and bids fair to come through the final tests with flying colors.

HENDRICKS GET CHANCE WITH THE BIG LEAGUES

Deserves Opportunity to Display His Skill in Big Leagues—His Record.

New York, Jan. 10.—If there ever was a minor league manager more deserving of a chance in the big show than Jack Hendricks, the new pilot of the St. Louis Cardinals, he must have kept in hiding.

The recent signing of Hendricks by Branch Rickey was no great surprise. It came after a series of unsuccessful attempts on Rickey's part to secure Hendricks' services, and had the St. Louis magnate failed in his efforts he would have lost the best major league managerial prospect in the game.

12 Years Experience. Hendricks' record speaks for itself. He has been managing clubs in the minor leagues for twelve years, and in all that time has never piloted a club which finished worse than third in a pennant race.

"Scrappy" Jack started out as a ball player. He played a number of positions in the minor leagues, but his natural place was in the outfield, and he was at one time a member of the Washington and New York clubs. Though he never ranked as a phenomenal player, he found his sphere in baseball when he broke in as manager of the Springfield, O., Central League club in 1906, and drove his team to a second place finish. The following year he won the pennant for Springfield and in the winter of 1907 he signed to manage the Fort Wayne club.

After making two third-place finishes in the Western League, Hendricks had just purchased the club, and, as he was a progressive magnate from the start, he gave Hendricks all the leeway necessary to build up a winner.

Hailed as Miracle. In his first year at Denver Hendricks led the Grizzlies to a second place finish and then came a string of three successive pennant winners in the Mile-High City. Hendricks was hailed as the miracle manager of the Western League by everyone except his rival managers, and they were mighty glad to see him leave the circuit in the winter of 1913 to manage the Indianapolis club of the American Association, which was purchased by McGill.

AL MAMAUX

Despite the attempts made by McGraw and Mathewson to get the services of Al Mamaux, this Pittsburgh star, the Dodgers have won him. Mamaux is a headliner among pitchers. He goes to Brooklyn along with Murlough Grimes and "Chuck" Ward in trade for Cutshaw and Stengel.

1917 SEASON DEVELOPED GOOD HURLERS FOR NATS

New York, Jan. 10.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the mighty right-hander of the Chicago Cubs, was the champion pitcher of the National League for the season of 1917 according to the official averages made public today.

The great ex-Philly slabber led all others with an average of the least earned runs per game scored against him. He held opposing batsmen to 1.85 tallies per nine innings and turned in a total of thirty victories, as against thirteen defeats.

Pol Perritt, of the Giants, was a close second in the matter of effectiveness, allowing but 1.88 earned runs per game, and he was followed by Ferdie Schupp, his club mate, with 1.95, and Pete Schneider, of the Cincinnati Reds, with 1.97.

Jim Vaughn, of the Cubs; Nehf, of the Braves; Sallee, of the Giants; Toney, of the Reds; Pfeffer, of the Dodgers, and Rixey of the Phillies, complete the list of the first ten ranking pitchers, and it is noticeable that five of the ten are left-handers. Phil Douglas, of Chicago, pitched in the greater number of games—51—followed by Barnes, of Boston, with 50.—Alexander scored most shutouts (8), and he also led in complete games pitched with 35.

Alexander led the right-handers in strikeouts with 201 out of the 1,531 batsmen facing him. Vaughn, of Chicago, led the left-handers with the higher percentage of 195 strikeouts of 1,216 chances.

In consecutive victories, Sallee and Schneider tied with a run of nine games each, the former making his record from June 30 to August 16, and the latter during the winning streak of Cincinnati from June 9 to July 26.

Two victories in one afternoon were scored July 1 by Toney of Cincinnati, against Pittsburgh; on September 3, by Alexander, of Philadelphia, against Brooklyn; and on September 18, by Doak, of St. Louis, also against Brooklyn.

SPRING TRAINING GAMES WILL TAKE UP TEN DAYS

Teams of Opposite Leagues Will Come Together—Much Ground to Be Covered by Trips.

New York Jan. 10.—Ten major league clubs will devote from a week to ten days of their spring training season this year to exhibition contests with teams from their rival leagues.

Eight of the ten clubs will tour with rival league teams en route northward from Dixie, and the two St. Louis clubs are planning to stage their annual spring series in the Mound City.

The teams which are scheduled to hook up in exhibition tours, exclusive of the Cards and Browns, are as follows: Cincinnati Reds and Detroit Tigers.

New York Giants and Cleveland Indians.

New York Yankees and Boston Braves.

Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Other big league teams, regardless of whether or not all arrangements for spring training have been announced to date, will follow their usual training programmes, playing exhibition contests with minor league clubs as they trek back home to open the major league schedules on April 16.

American league clubs may spend a few days longer in training than their National League rivals if they wish to do so. There is a ruling in the National League which limits clubs to a month of training, and because of this rule no club in the mother circuit will start active training earlier than March 16.

As was the case in 1916, the Chicago Cubs will cover more territory than any other team on their training trip. Weeghman's team will train at Pasadena, Cal., and will probably be the first to leave for camp, as the trip to the Golden State will consume all of a week.

The world's champion White Sox will file themselves to Mineral Wells, Texas; just as they did last year. Comiskey's team should be a great drawing card in minor league cities in the Middle West, which will be visited on the way back to the Northland. The Giants will train at Marlin and the St. Louis teams may also train in Texas.

The Dodgers and Red Sox are scheduled to train at Hot Springs, Ark., and Washington will return to Augusta, Ga., while the Cleveland Indians will visit New Orleans once again. The Phillies and Athletics are scheduled to condition themselves in Florida as "per usual," and the Pirates, having deserted Hot Springs, will train in Georgia, according to plans announced some time ago.

George V. Touhey, veteran wrestling promoter in Boston and other eastern cities, said recently that the successful wrestler can make more money than any other star in sport, and quoted figures which he claims are authentic, or nearly so, to prove his statement.

Touhey says that Giovanni Raicevich, the Italian champion, amassed a fortune of $1,500,000 in Europe before the war broke out. He estimates that George Hackenschmidt, the Russian lion, earned more than $1,000,000 on the mat, and places George Lurich and Alex Aberg in the millionaire wrestler class.

Frank Gotch, according to latest estimates, made all of $350,000 out of wrestling, and Stanislaus Zybyszko, of Poland, is said to have earned as much as $650,000 during his active career.

Doctor R. J. Americus, Stetcher, Ordeman, West, Lloyd, Linow, Husane and other heavyweight grapplers have earned all the way from $40,000 to $300,000 in the mat game, and Earl Caddock, had he continued in the game, could have soon amassed a fortune.

The wrestler, unlike the boxer, can compete six nights in every week where the wrestling game is good. And if he isn't lazy he soon collects a bank roll that would give a greyhound an awful tussle. The average wrestler collects 100 per cent of the purses he earns, for he does not bother with a manager. Compared to the ball player, who earns a stated sum of money and works but five months in the year, the wrestler has twelve months to work, and when he lines up for big matches he gets big money.

WALTER M. HALL and FRED B. ALEXANDER

Four tennis stars have been chosen to represent Uncle Sam in the international tennis matches to be played at Montreal Saturday. The match will be played for the benefit of the British Red Cross, on the board floors of the Montreal Tennis club, and is sure to gather a substantial sum for the war charity.

Fred B. Alexander and Walter M. Hall are two of those chosen to represent Uncle Sam in the tourney. The other two members of the team are Nat Niles and Harold Mortimer.

COLLEGE SPORTS TO LIVE

Given Stamp of Approval by Everyone in Authority.

New York, Jan. 10.—College sports are alive and kicking. They have been given the stamp of approval by a jury consisting of nearly everybody of importance from President Wilson down.

They are looked upon now as a war-time necessity rather than a field for wasting time. They are patriotic and they must be continued.

Athletics for every male student enrolled in institutions of learning, from prep schools to universities, are quite the thing, and with the recommendation of the National Collegiate Athletic Association backing them up it appears that they are going to have a good year.

The moss-covered idea of developing the husky specimens into highly specialized athletes has been eliminated from the general plan of things athletic. Henceforth some form of athletics for all students will be the main idea, and the lads who should be getting red-blooded exercise instead of sitting around with their noses in a dime novel or a text-book twelve hours out of twelve, will be given an incentive to get out and exercise their ankles.

SHORT SPORTS.

Of Mister Bill Baker, the record deal maker, Full many a column's been wrote, For right on the heel of his big player deat.

They labeled this Baker the goat. The chances that Billy will prosper in Philly Are said to be mighty remote.

"Strangler" Lewis and "Doc" Roller might get a big surprise some night if they peek into the small gymnasium in the Recreation building and see some of Manchester's coming stars practicing the toe hold and throwing their bodies around like a ball.

Bobbie Reimer is some class now. We don't suppose he could speak to some of his old friends who used to beat him up back home here. He has the best wishes of his Manchester friends in the fistie sport.

Ed Walsh is interested in a deal which will sign E. Walsh to a major league contract.

Rumor says Freddie Welsh has offered to sneak into Berlin and teach the Germans how to run.

No one will be able to accuse Bill Baker and Connie Mack of being war profiteers after next season.

There won't be any handouts after the season opens.

THE FUEL FAMINE.

All indications point to a coal famine in New England the rest of this winter. The assurance of government officials last summer and fall that there was plenty of coal, and that all consumers had to do was to buy sparingly and be patient, has proven false. All the various promises—of coal for New England, after the ice had shut off shipments to the Northwest via the great lakes; of precedence of coal shipments over all others except food, and of direct routing of coal after the government took over the railroads have failed of fulfillment. The more the government mixes up in the fuel question the worse off we are. Only one car of hard coal has arrived in Manchester in the last three weeks and the dealers are entirely out. Fuel administrators all over New England, from the local coal committees up to the New England head in Boston, are putting their demands in the strongest possible language, but they get no satisfaction from the higher authorities in Washington.

We are not now trying to fix the blame. We wish simply to call attention to the bald fact that New England is, in midwinter, facing a fuel famine, and to suggest some ways of lessening the hardships which are bound to come in the next three months. Of course those who laid in a winter's supply of coal last summer have no cause to worry at present, although even they may find it to their advantage to conserve their supply in view of the probability that the shortage may extend into next winter. Those who are without coal must face the problem of finding a way to keep warm the rest of the winter.

Bringing the question down to Manchester and vicinity, the easiest way out will be the substitution of wood for coal. We are more fortunate than many other localities in having forests all around us. There is wood enough to keep everybody warm in a pinch. Of course the trees have to be chopped down and the wood has to be sawed and split. Most people are not accustomed to this kind of work, but it will not take them long to learn to do it. No expensive organization of men and machinery is needed. The production is not restricted by union rules nor by capitalistic greed. Two men with sharp axes and a crosscut saw make an ideal working combination. They can cut wood enough in a day to keep an average sized family warm for a month. The teams released from hauling coal can be used in hauling wood.

Of course the people long accustomed to the use of coal will be inclined to rebel against the unfamiliar processes of preparing and burning wood for fuel, especially as most of the wood now obtainable is not seasoned. But they will find wood much better than nothing and after they once get accustomed to it they will realize that it can be made a very fair substitute for coal. We advise our readers to make strenuous efforts to procure a stock of fire wood at the earliest possible moment. We cannot make this advice too emphatic. If you cannot get wood at a reasonable price from a dealer, buy a few trees of standing wood and chop it yourself. Hundreds cultivated home gardens last summer and in their spare time raised vegetables enough to carry them through the winter. In like manner the same individuals can provide their own supply of fuel. If two or three men would club together the task would be simplified. Ways of conserving fuel will suggest themselves. Families can live in fewer rooms than usual and use gas or oil for cooking and heating. But we believe that most families which have no coal on hand will for the remainder of the winter have to turn to wood for fuel.

PRESIDENT FOR SUFFRAGE.

The President's somewhat in using his influence as head of the political party in power and chief executive to clinch the passage by the House of Representatives today of the suffrage amendment is not creditable to him.

His action is not consistent with his stand in the past—he has repeatedly asserted that suffrage was a matter for the states to settle individually—and he steps outside the executive province of the government and usurps the legislative. His qualified statement does not excuse his action either.

Here's what a committee of twelve Democratic members of the House reported after seeing him:

"The committee found that the President had not felt at liberty to volunteer his advice to members of Congress in this important matter, but when we sought his advice, he very frankly and earnestly advised us to vote for the amendment as an act of right and justice to the women of the country and of the world."

The House had already been polled and stood 270 to 120 for the suffrage amendment resolution.

That the capital was amazed, as well as the suffrage leaders themselves, goes without saying.

Meanwhile, we can imagine what is going to happen if the amendment does get around to the states to vote upon. There will be suffrage fights in every commonwealth where the issue is in doubt, and the two great parties will be compelled in many instances to abandon their past policy and some of their principles.

There is no reason to believe that, even granted that the amendment finally is adopted by the necessary majority of the state legislatures, the vote will appeal to the mass of the country's women, of whom the suffragists are only a fraction.

The Evening Herald will publish with due prominence in the future as it has in the past any matter concerning suffrage that is news, but we believe the majority of the other sex don't want the vote, and won't use it when they get it, after the charm of novelty wears off. The vote is like forbidden fruit, a thing desired to which distance lends enchantment, a tuft of grass just on the other side of the fence. The Colorado women, and even the women of California, don't half use their privilege. The woman of normal life and duties is too busy with other more important things to mix in politics.

If there is any country on the face of the globe that will survive the war with enhanced popularity among the nations it is America. Nothing like beginning right. The practical remission of the Japanese and Chinese indemnities years ago, a position in which the United States stood alone, followed by payment to Spain for her colonies, have found a worthy new successor in the extensive relief measures undertaken for Belgium, northern France, Serbia, Armenia, Roumania and even Russia. Humanity has been America's policy almost from the beginning.

That the German "Weinstuben" of New York are hot-beds of disloyalty is no news to anybody who knows his New York. These and other drinking places which cater to one nationality are very likely to be hot-beds of anarchy and many kinds of plottings against the public peace. And New York City is no exception to the rule among the big communities of the country.

The Canadian Food Comptroller has warned potato producers that any attempt to raise prices of potatoes will be dealt with summarily. Maximum prices, if necessary, will be fixed. Heavy penalties are provided to compel prompt unloading. But then Canada always has settled its food problems better than America. Food is just about fifty per cent cheaper in the hotels and restaurants of the Dominion's big cities.

Hartford has been getting quite a little back-patting for the action of its saloon-keepers in shortening open hours to save coal. Boston dealers refuse to cut their hours, but Mr. Storror yet may have something to say. Concord, N. H., dealers have decided to abbreviate their working day and Worcester, Mass., is thinking it over.

No sooner does the prospect of peace draw nearer, than the stock markets get "bullish." Up go most of the shares listed, and presumably many that aren't. There is not much doubt where capital stands in regard to the war, provided the conflict can be ended safely and permanently.

Atlanta, Ga., has adopted the coal card system. Denver weeks or months ago started a municipal coal bin. There are various ways of settling the same problem.

Australia has over-subscribed its loan, even if it has turned down subscription. The total of the recent Liberty loan is $20,205,340.

Mississippi is the first state in the Union to ratify the prohibition amendment. We hope Connecticut won't be the last.

John Savage, Jr., of the Springdale section of Stamford, is dying in the Stamford Hospital, another coasting victim. Savage lost control of a sled when coasting on Christy Hill yesterday and the sled crashed against a telephone pole. He received a severe concussion of the brain and he cannot recover.

The time is not far distant when the Lenine family will think they are just as good as the Hohenzollerns.—Washington Star.

Three cigarette stumps today threatened to wreck the marital relationship of Dr. James A. Anderson and his wife of twenty years.

Dr. Anderson testified that he found the three stumps in his home and that they were not his brand.

"Mrs. Anderson said that a man next door, Mr. Wetzel, came into our apartment to borrow a book." The court reserved decision.

Governor Holcomb yesterday sent a letter to the State Grange, in an annual session, in which he said:

"I am especially pleased with the honor of your telegram of this date, pledging the support of the 18,000 farmers of this state in the part Connecticut must take in the successful prosecution of the world-wide war for the emancipation from the menace of militarism and conquest. I wish there were 50,000 organized farmers in the state. They have been a potent force for good in this state and nation."

The farmer, fruit-grower, dairyman and raiser of food animals is the truest producer the country has, and the most necessary producer of all. For if he tends his soil properly his industry is not more or less temporary, like mining or lumbering, but permanent. Connecticut owes its growth in population mainly to manufacturing, but it cannot have too many farmers.

The resolution passed on the death of J. H. Hale of Glastonbury, a man who was as well-known among fruit men, particularly peach producers, as perhaps any man in the country, was only Mr. Hale's due. The resolution read:

"For a long term of years Brother J. H. Hale was a member of your executive committee. Ever loyal ever ready with a keen and discerning mind, his labors upon this committee were ever for advancement of the order. We desire to record the loyal support of all majority resolutions whether he was in the vote or not."

The Grange's importance now is greater than ever before, and should grow in importance during the years to come.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The Susan B. Anthony amendment will be passed by the House late this afternoon, 40 years to a day from the date of its first introduction. This was conceded on all sides today.

To President Wilson's action in endorsing the amendment must go a large part of the credit for the suffrage victory. His statement to a group of southern Democrats, who went to him sorely tried on the eve of the vote, has lined up all members of his party who were in doubt, solidly behind the amendment.

Six-sevenths of the Republican members of the House had given their pledge before the President's new position was known, to vote "aye" this afternoon.

The republican caucus was thrown into confusion when the White House made known the President's stand, but it was decided finally to hold to the original plan and to let the women voters decide to what party was due the larger measure of credit.

Victory for the suffragists was conceded by the anti's before the debate on the bill began. Approval of the bill would be little more than a formality, they admitted. The only question today was not how large the vote in favor would be, but how many would vote "nay."

Congressmen who up to this time have been grimly "non-committal" were scrambling for a place on the band wagon today and proclaiming their unwavering loyalty to the cause. This class was largely made up of men from the solid South who found themselves between two fires yesterday, but today were resting their case with the leader of their party.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 10.—Winding the metal cores of dynamo armature magnets with insulating tape may open a new avenue of employment for the blind. Experiments have been conducted here and so far are said to have been successful. Arrangements have been made for an unlimited amount of this work if it can be shown that the work can be done by the sightless.

Boston, Jan. 10.—"Feed the birds and win the war. Most birds mean better crops." This is the new slogan of the Massachusetts Audubon Society. In an appeal to the public to feed the feathered songsters the officials of the society lay stress on the fact that the deep snow covers the usual food of the bird—insects' eggs, larvae and the seeds of weeds.

New York, Jan. 10.—Followers of baseball and boxing here were optimistic today over the chance of two bills affecting these sports which will be pushed in the legislature at Albany. Assemblyman Kierman of New York has already introduced a bill legislating Sunday baseball and a bill to bring back legalized boxing will be introduced soon.

Stamford, Jan. 10.—Anderson M. Peck, 35, died in the Stamford Hospital early this morning from fracture of the skull. While Peck was playing hockey on Bett's Pond yesterday afternoon, Augustus A. McKelvey, a small boy, coasting down the hill across the pond, hit Peck and he fell heavily upon the ice.

HOUSE PASSES SUFFRAGE RESOLUTION TODAY SURE

Forty Years Ago on Jan. 10 Amendment Was First Introduced in House.

This class was largely made up of men from the solid South who found themselves between two fires yesterday, but today were resting their case with the leader of their party.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Billy Sunday, who opened up here January 6, gets 'em going and coming. His tabernacle, erected in the shadow of the Capitol dome, stands also close to the Union Station. All who come to the city and all who go are within smell of the sawdust trail.

Incidentally, members of Congress are attending the revivals in large numbers, despite the fact that Billy never hesitates to attack the politicians.

Pittsburgh, Jan. 10.—Winding the metal cores of dynamo armature magnets with insulating tape may open a new avenue of employment for the blind. Experiments have been conducted here and so far are said to have been successful. Arrangements have been made for an unlimited amount of this work if it can be shown that the work can be done by the sightless.

Boston, Jan. 10.—"Feed the birds and win the war. Most birds mean better crops." This is the new slogan of the Massachusetts Audubon Society. In an appeal to the public to feed the feathered songsters the officials of the society lay stress on the fact that the deep snow covers the usual food of the bird—insects' eggs, larvae and the seeds of weeds.

New York, Jan. 10.—Followers of baseball and boxing here were optimistic today over the chance of two bills affecting these sports which will be pushed in the legislature at Albany. Assemblyman Kierman of New York has already introduced a bill legislating Sunday baseball and a bill to bring back legalized boxing will be introduced soon.

Stamford, Jan. 10.—Anderson M. Peck, 35, died in the Stamford Hospital early this morning from fracture of the skull. While Peck was playing hockey on Bett's Pond yesterday afternoon, Augustus A. McKelvey, a small boy, coasting down the hill across the pond, hit Peck and he fell heavily upon the ice.

John Savage, Jr., of the Springdale section of Stamford, is dying in the Stamford Hospital, another coasting victim. Savage lost control of a sled when coasting on Christy Hill yesterday and the sled crashed against a telephone pole. He received a severe concussion of the brain and he cannot recover.

The time is not far distant when the Lenine family will think they are just as good as the Hohenzollerns.—Washington Star.

Three cigarette stumps today threatened to wreck the marital relationship of Dr. James A. Anderson and his wife of twenty years.

Dr. Anderson testified that he found the three stumps in his home and that they were not his brand.

"Mrs. Anderson said that a man next door, Mr. Wetzel, came into our apartment to borrow a book." The court reserved decision.

Governor Holcomb yesterday sent a letter to the State Grange, in an annual session, in which he said:

Even if you are not quite ready for the Piano the sensible thing to do is to buy at the Mid-Winter Piano Sale and keep the money saved for something else.

TEN LARGE PACKAGES OF SMOKES SENT TO BOYS

Waterbury Democrat Aiding Co. G Smoke Fund—Contributions Still Come In.

Company G Smoke Fund. Previously Acknowledged $100.00. Charles J. Strickland 1.00, David J. Landers 1.00, E. L. Bunker 1.00, Robert J. Smith 2.00, Charles Bloom 1.00. Total $106.50.

Ten large packages of various forms of smokes such as cigarettes, corn cob pipe to the number of one hundred and forty two and a package of Liberty or Veteran tobacco for every pipe will leave South Manchester tonight for the Manchester boys in Company G and the 102nd regiment. These articles have been on exhibition in P. H. Dougherty's show window today, but will be taken out for shipment by mail about seven o'clock this evening.

The packages are addressed to Captain H. B. Bissell and word has been sent to him to superintend the distribution of the smokes, so that no Manchester boy in the regiment will be forgotten. Subscriptions are coming slowly but steadily and this is a sure sign of healthy growth.

Fund Will Not Fail. With the subscriptions that have been promised from a number of people and from the various lodges and societies in town who have members "over there" it is believed that the Smoke Fund will not fail for lack of funds. Thus far no attempt has been made to solicit subscriptions, every bit of money that has been donated so far being voluntary contributions.

Postmaster Thomas J. Quish this morning received a copy of the Waterbury Evening Democrat of Wednesday, January 9th, with an article printed therein relating to the Smoke Fund. The article follows: "The high personal valuation which the average soldier places on tobacco as a means to satisfy his desire for it has rendered that commodity an indispensable necessity in the trenches. No one endowed with a spark of human kindness or sympathy has yet to read of a soldier's request for craving for tobacco without being prompted by the wish to assist in his gratification. To bring comfort to the man who has made great sacrifices and who has unselfishly offered his all in defense of his country. "Would the average man from Waterbury help boys from his own home town to enjoy that luxury?"

BRANDEIS AND LANE FOR R. R. WAGE BOARD

Four Big Railway Brotherhoods Recommend Them—Both are Experienced and Experts.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Members of the Supreme Court, Justice Brandeis and Secretary of the Interior, have been recommended by representatives of the four big railroad brotherhoods as members of the new railway wage board. It was stated today at the office of Director General McAdoo that the labor leaders regard these two men as especially fitted for positions on the board. There are to be four members of the body, which will be the tribunal to pass upon wage questions arising during the government operation of the railroads. Director General McAdoo today announced that the names of the other members of the board would be announced today or tomorrow.

Justice Brandeis has for many years been a close student of wages of labor and especially of workmen's compensation. Secretary Lane also is an expert in labor matters and was one of the President's principal advisors at the time of the railroad strike crisis a year and a half ago. Secretary Lane is a member of the special committee named to make a study of the railroad labor problem at the time of the passage of the Adamson eight hour law.

USES OF BAMBOO.

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—Our little brown brothers in the tropics cannot understand how citizens of the United States get along without bamboo, according to United States Marines, returning here from the Philippines. The Filipinos use bamboo for everything. They build their shacks from this material exclusively, using stout poles for the supports, flattened-out bamboo for the sides and floors, and bind the whole together with tough bamboo fiber. It is also used for the construction of barrages to carry water, and green bamboo, hollowed-out, is used as a receptacle in which the natives cook their rice. The friction caused by rubbing together two sticks cut from the bamboo tree will start a fire in less than three minutes. The U. S. Marines have convinced the Filipinos that America is a wonderful place, but when told that we do not cultivate bamboo, the Americans are inclined to be a little skeptical.

That little patch of Germany at Lucerne will bear watching—especially by Switzerland.—Boston Herald.

Between Ourselves

PATRIOTISM AND THRIFT

There is really no distinction between the two—they are inseparable. To be thrifty is to be patriotic...

It all depends on our definition of the words. To be hysterically economical is not "thrifty" in the true sense of the word...

Sensible economy consists of spending money wisely—buying those things that are needed and buying reliable qualities at the lowest possible price.

SERG. GIBBONS TO SPEAK TWICE THE SAME NIGHT

Demand for Tickets Cannot Be Supplied by One Hearing—Lectures at 7 and 9 O'clock.

Owing to the great demand for tickets to the lecture by Sergeant Gibbons at High school hall tomorrow night the War Bureau has decided to have two lectures the same evening. Sergeant Gibbons says he is equal to it. He will get a rest between the lectures for about an hour, as the war pictures, during the showing of which he does not have to speak, will be shown at the end of the first lecture and the beginning of the second lecture.

Those persons who have already secured tickets for the lecture with the understanding that it will begin at eight o'clock, will be asked to come one hour earlier as the first lecture will begin promptly at seven. The second lecture, for which tickets may now be obtained from the War Bureau, will begin at nine o'clock.

Persons attending the second lecture will be admitted to the lower corridor of the building after half past eight and will be expected to remain there until the first lecture is over. The first audience will then descend the north stairs and the second will go up the south stairs, thus avoiding confusion.

MAY CLOSE WHITE WAY.

A special meeting of the directors of the Manchester White Way Association has been called for next Monday evening at the rooms of the Manchester Wheel Club in the Brown building for the purpose of discussing the proposition of the selectmen to curtail the White Way lights during the remainder of the war.

It is understood that the Manchester Electric company will cooperate with the association and will extend the period of the time at the close of the contract. The association made a contract with the lighting company to furnish the White Way light for five years and if the lights were now curtailed the difference in the cost of maintenance would be extended at the close of that period.

Ed Rogers Off Form But He Makes Score of 91.

At the semi-weekly session of St. Mary's Bowling League last night, No. 1 took two out of three games from No. 4 and No. 2 won two out of three games from No. 3. Wickham, captain and anchor man of No. 1, who hadn't bowled for a couple of weeks, seemed to have profited by his rest, for he was the high man of the first match, with a single of 108 and a three string of 296. In the other match, Ed Rogers of No. 2, although off form considerably, was high roller, with a single of 91 and a three string score of 260. Following is the summary:
