ALLIES AWAIT SECOND PHASE OF PICARDY FIGHT, WASHINGTON EXPERTS SEE WAR DECISION AHEAD

The Summer Campaign May End Conflict Once For All NUMBERS NOW WITH ALLIES

German Defeat Would Bring Worst Political Crisis at Home Yet—Allied Force Increasing.

Washington, April 3.—With the second stage of the battle of Picardy still to develop, Washington today was speculating what the next move would be. Army strategists are somewhat puzzled because the rolling up movement, which seemingly was started by the British and French, has been abandoned.

It is believed that there has been a distinct change in the plans of General Foch, the supreme commander, and no one here would be surprised should the Entente try an offensive against the Germans at a point far removed from the present scene of the fighting.

The series of battles which the German assault precipitated must last for months, officers here say. They declare that there is a decided chance that this summer's campaign can be made the final one of the war.

Germany is now at the maximum in men, these officers say, and it has been demonstrated that the Allies across now in France can hold the German force at maximum.

Of the last thirteen months, the German army has been the largest, but the British side. The reserve army created by the Supreme War Council at Versailles has not yet been engaged anywhere, so far as can be learned here. Therefore they say that the initiative can be assumed by General Foch at any moment and that when he does take it it must be developed everywhere and the attacks pushed, regardless of the cost in men and materials.

German Discontent.

There is no doubt here that any serious reverses of the army on the western front will be quickly responded to by increased discontent among the German people. Already the editorial translations reaching the State Department from its agents abroad, showing the tone of the German press on the Picardy fighting and the broad claims of victory made by von Hindenburg and von Ludendorff, display a change from the early boastfulness. Today discontent is very evident and it is known here that because they feared the effect on the German people the German army leaders held a great proportion of their wounded in Belgium and northern France and did not send them into Germany.

Defeat Means Political Crisis.

This has proven conclusively, officials here say, that the German military machine was forced to initiate the Picardy battle through political considerations at home and that any serious defeat will precipitate another political crisis.

Meanwhile the United States continues rushing its men and munitions abroad. Reports reaching Washington from the various cantonments say that the utmost enthusiasm is being exercised by the troops over the prospect of early service abroad. There is a snap and vigor in the work that speaks volumes for the spirit of the men, the reports received here say.

ALLEGED MEMBER OF ARSON TRUST SHOT.

Chicago, April 3.—Charles Levy, member of the firm of the Levy-Meyers Company, owners of a department store, was shot in a gun battle with the police today.

Levy is said to have been named by Isaac Harris, fire insurance adjuster, as one of the ten merchants who had their places burned by an alleged "arson trust." Levy tried to flee when the police reached his home, and fired at one of the officers. The fire was returned and Levy was wounded in the arm.

"WE MUST STRAIN EVERY NERVE", PRESIDENT SAYS, TO RUSH REINFORCEMENTS OF SUPPLIES AND TROOPS TO OUR ALLIES ON WEST FRONT

Washington, April 3.—America will strain every nerve to send men and munitions to aid in the halting of the German drive on Amiens. This was the official word coming from the White House today.

President Wilson has been working prodigiously for several days, laying plans with the cabinet officers for the rushing of men and supplies to Europe. Last night he had the preliminary work completed.

Today President Wilson called in the members of the "War Council" to adopt a formal plan for the speeding up process.

"We must strain every nerve," the President is understood to have told them.

Speaks Saturday at Baltimore.

The President will again set forth America's purpose to fight to victory on Saturday at Baltimore.

Plans for the President's trip were announced at the White House today. During the afternoon he will review General Kuhn's division of the National Army from Camp Meade.

In the evening the President will speak. It is understood that he will take this occasion not only to open the campaign for the third Liberty loan, but to reiterate the war purposes of America and to clear up many questions of policy which have arisen during the past few weeks.

BAY STATE "DRY" BY SAFE MARGIN

Massachusetts 11th State Whose Legislature Passes Federal Prohibition Amendment—State Referendum Measure Beaten.

The Massachusetts Senate voted 27-12 yesterday for the Prohibition amendment to the federal Constitution, confirming the action of the lower house. It is the first of the northeastern states to ratify the amendment, and the eleventh state in the Union.

Only one member in western Massachusetts voted against the amendment. The state referendum measure was defeated 25-14.

MAINE DEMOCRATS TO SAVE WATER POWER

State Convention at Portland Acts on Issue—Claimed Few Corporations Control—McIntyre for Governor.

Portland, Maine, April 3.—Water was the chief issue in the Democratic state convention which opened in this city today.

Maine's water powers are largely controlled by a few corporations who are allowing to go to waste enough energy to run every industry in the state.

The Democratic state committee favors a resolution adopted by the Republican convention after a bitter fight. This resolution merely asks that Maine water powers shall be kept within the state and that there shall be an investigation for taxation, valuation and the like.

The convention is expected to endorse the candidacy of Bertrand G. McIntyre of Waterford, former state assessor, for the gubernatorial nomination, and of former Congressman Obadiah Gardner of Rockland, for United States Senator.

State Senator Leonard A. Pierce of Houlton was the chairman of the convention and the main speech will be made by former Congressman McGillicuddy.

GERMANY CONTROLS OIL SUPPLY OF ROUMANIA

Washington, April 3.—Germany has secured control of Roumania's oil wells for a period of 99 years.

A dispatch to the State Department quotes the Tagliche Rundschau as publishing a statement that an agreement had been reached whereby Germany secures a monopoly of the output of the Roumanian oil wells for that period. The statement declares that this is in compensation for Germany's war losses in Roumania, estimated at 1,000,000,000 dollars.

Officials here interpreted this as indicating that Germany intends to disavow the "no annexations, no indemnities" policy.

DEMOCRATS STILL CLAIM WISCONSIN

National Committee Refuses to Admit Election of Lenroot, Republican, as U. S. Senator—Returns Not All In—Milwaukee Has Socialist Mayor Again.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 3.—Checking up on returns continued slowly today in the Senatorial election, but there was no question that the Badger state had repudiated Victor L. Berger, the Socialist and anti-war candidate and had wiped out the stain of Kaiserism that had marred the state.

Irvine L. Lenroot, Republican, apparently was elected by a plurality estimated around 15,000. The latest available returns from 1536 precincts out of 2283 show the following: Lenroot, 96,337; Davies, 80,145; Berger, 54,513.

Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, Socialist, appears to have been re-elected over Percy Braun, loyalist. Returns from 193 precincts gave Hoan 27,227 and Braun 24,697.

Total State Vote 300,000. The total vote in the state is estimated at around 300,000. Of this Berger is expected to gather about 85,000.

Late returns indicated that Davies might outstrip Berger in Milwaukee county.

Lenroot's election was at first claimed by Republicans by 40,000 votes, but returns from the west and northwest were rather disappointing to them and they withdrew their claims.

Democrats Still Claim Victory. The Democratic National Committee today declined to admit the election of Irvine L. Lenroot, as United States Senator from Wisconsin. Although Milwaukee figures indicated the Republican candidate's election by some 15,000 the committee said that complete returns when available would show Joseph E. Davies winner by a very small plurality.

The Republican Congressional committee insisted that the complete figures will only add to Lenroot's plurality.

RESOLUTION THAT GOVT TAKE OVER PACKING PLANTS.

Washington, April 3.—A resolution for the government to take over the packing plants and operate them was introduced in the Senate this afternoon. It was referred to the agriculture committee.

In the preamble of the resolution, it was charged that the packing plants were largely responsible for the increasing cost of living and that they were causing unrest among the people.

TANK FOR NEW HAVEN

New Haven, April 3.—Announcement was made here today that the British tank Brittanica, which is touring the country in the interest of the Liberty Loan will be a feature of the big Liberty Loan parade in this city on Thursday.

GERMANS MAKE DRIVE ON FRENCH IN PICARDY BUT ARE REPULSED

Our Ally Gains North of Pleumont Official Report Declares

FOES GETS FOOTING AT BUT ONE POINT

Latest Assaults in French are South of Moreuil and East of Montdidier—Results.

Paris, April 3.—The Germans broke the lull on the French section of the Picardy battle front last night by striking at the French positions south of Moreuil.

The attacking forces were thrown back, the French war office announced today.

There was only one point where the Teutons were able to gain a footing. North of Pleumont the French gained some ground.

"South of Moreuil the Germans made an attack during the night but were thrown back," the official communique said. "Only at one point were the Germans able to gain a footing in an advanced French trench."

"The Germans attacked near Rellet, but were repulsed. "North of Pleumont the French gained some ground."

To the east of Montdidier the Germans attacked the French in the Rellet sector, but the French positions all held firm.

(Fampoux lies about four and one half miles east of Arras on the Scarpe river. It is a strategic point for that the Germans made a determined effort last week to break through the British front with a huge force of troops and to throw a wedge between Arras and Vimy Ridge for a double encircling movement. Moreuil is about eleven miles southeast of the British base of Amiens and has changed hands several times in the past few days. Rellet is a hamlet about five miles southeast of Montdidier, while Pleumont lies about seven miles east of Rellet.)

KINSELLA ELECTED MAYOR OF HARTFORD

Beats Mayor Hagarty by 452 Votes—Gleason Town Clerk by 3,000—Council Split Evenly.

Richard J. Kinsella defeated Mayor Frank A. Hagarty for Mayor of Hartford yesterday by 452 votes. About 2,000 less votes were polled than in 1916, when Mr. Kinsella was the head of the ticket before, but probably more Democrats turned out to vote, as usual, than Republicans. Fire Commissioner John A. Gleason, candidate for town clerk, also was elected, running ahead of his ticket and winning by about 3,000. Five Republicans and six Democrats were elected to the common council, which makes ten for each party.

The propositions to widen Morgan street at a cost of $350,000 and improve Bulkeley street at a cost of $450,000 were both beaten. The mayor was voted an ex-officio member of the water board, fire board, charity and street boards.

COMMITTEE TO TEST FREE ENERGY MACHINE ACCEPT.

Washington, April 3.—A broken part of his machine is all that is holding up the tests of his mysterious "Free Energy" machine, Garabed T. K. Giragossian told Secretary of the Interior Lane in a letter today.

Five of the scientists whose names were submitted to Secretary Lane by Giragossian to act as the board that will test his invention have been nominated by the Secretary and have expressed their willingness to serve. At the request of the inventor, Secretary Lane withheld the names of the scientists chosen.

The broken part will be replaced and the tests held "in due course," Giragossian told the secretary. Lane believed the trial would not be delayed beyond the end of next week.

GERMAN ATTACK ALONG SCARPE IS SMASHED BY BRITISH NEAR ARRAS

MCADOO ASKS RAILROADS FOR STATEMENTS ON CASH BALANCES IN BANKS—ROADS' SUBSIDIARIES INCLUDED IN NEW REQUEST

Washington, April 3.—Through the Interstate Commerce Commission, Director General of Railroads McAdoo today requested railroad presidents to furnish detailed information as to deposit balances to the credit of their companies and of all subsidiary companies, together with the cash on hand at the close of business on March 31, 1918. The request calls for information as to the amount of each company's deposits with banks and trust companies subject to check as of March 31, in national banks, in New York, Chicago and St. Louis, in state banks, trust companies and private banks in the same cities and the amount of cash with the treasurers and agents or in transit from agents and conductors in addition to bank balances. Mr. McAdoo requested the same information respecting other cities and towns other than those previously mentioned.

The instructions call for particulars and amounts of any banking accounts carried in the names of agents or trustees or otherwise than in the name of the main road in the subsidiary line.

STRIKERS AT KANSAS CITY STILL ARE OUT

Refusal of Company to Permit Union Buttons Prolongs Fight

GENERAL STRIKE OFF

Admission Results in Same Conditions as Before Walkout—Same Men and No New Contracts with New Men.

Kansas City, Mo., April 3.—Refusal of street railway company officials to permit trainmen to wear their union buttons resulted this morning in refusal of most of the carmen to return to work under an agreement which ended the general sympathetic strike in other industries. As a result fewer cars were running today than yesterday while all other workers who had been out in sympathy with laundry strikers were returning to their work.

The general strike which tied up business in Kansas City for six days was declared off following conferences of the joint board of business agents representing the unions, the Employers' Association and Patrick Gill, federal mediator.

The strikers returned to their employment exactly under the same conditions existing when they walked out. Where contracts were in existence they will continue, where they have expired, new ones will be arranged; where none existed, none will be made.

The Seventh Regiment, National Guard, which has been on duty, is expected to be demobilized some time during the day.

WILLARD-FULTON BOUT IN WEST PROBABLY

New York, April 3.—Colonel Joe Miller, the Oklahoma rancher who is seeking a place for the Willard-Fulton battle July 4, hinted today that the big bout may be held in the West after all.

A score of eastern promoters have applied to Colonel Miller in quest of the fistic plum, but no offer made to date has attracted him. Joe Mulvihill, of New Haven, gave up the chase when Miller flashed a certified check for $10,000 and asked him to do the same as a token of good faith that he could stage the battle in Connecticut.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE ORGANIZATION ABOUT FINISHED

New York, April 3.—With John H. Farrell as their guiding spirit, the club owners of the new International League will meet here tomorrow evening to perfect their organization. The meeting was to have been held today but was postponed to give several prospective clubs more time to complete their plans.

LIBERTY BOND BILL UP FOR PASSAGE IN SENATE TODAY

Increases Limit of Certificates of Indebtedness to Eight Billion—Banks Must Include Bonds Among Taxables—Bill Should Get Vote by Tonight.

Washington, April 3.—The Senate finance committee this afternoon voted to recommend the immediate passage of the Third Liberty bond bill, authorizing the issue of $4,000,000,000 new bonds and increasing the limit of certificates of indebtedness to $8,000,000,000.

The only change made in the bill as it passed the house was the complete elimination of the section allowing banks to deduct the par value of Liberty bonds in completing their assets for taxation.

An effort will be made to bring the bill up and pass it in the Senate later today.

PROBE CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTORS AT DEVENS

Answers to be Tabulated by War Department in Washington—Two Die of Pneumonia.

Camp Devens, Mass., April 3.—It became known here today that the conscientious objectors at this cantonment have been subjected to a rigid cross-examination as to their views regarding the war with Germany and Austria and the merits of the stands they have taken.

Each of the "C. O.'s, as they are commonly known in the army, was compelled to answer a set of questions, sent out from the War Department and the answers to these questions have been sent to Washington. This is reported to be part of the program instituted by the War Department to determine the status of the conscientious objectors and what shall be done with them.

Two more men died of pneumonia at the base hospital today. They were Sergeant Clifford Copping, of Battery A, 302nd Field Artillery, and Private Berger A. Satterstrom, of Company C, 33rd Engineers Regiment. Sergeant Copping is from East Dorset, Vt., and Private Satterstrom is from Middle River, Minn.

The bodies of both will be sent to their relatives.

Major C. J. Dwinn, of the 303rd Field Artillery has been appointed division inspector. Second Lieutenant Russell M. Geer has been assigned to the 301st Field Artillery.

HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

New Haven, April 3.—Dr. David A. Flynn, of this city, was today found criminally responsible by Coroner Mix for the death of Elsie Moulton, a little girl who was killed by the physician's automobile as he was driving on Whalley Avenue last Thursday. Dr. Flynn will be arrested on a charge of manslaughter.

Teutons Lose More Troops

Leave Many Dead on Field in Tampoux Sector, Official Report of Haig Announces

—Ayette Now in English Possession—British Increase List of Prisoners

London, April 3.—The Germans have renewed their pressure against the British line east of Arras, delivering a determined attack in the sector of Fampoux, on the Scarpe river, the war office reported today.

The assault, which was made on Tuesday morning, was completely repulsed.

The Germans suffered heavily, leaving many behind. In addition, the British captured some prisoners. The British carried out a successful operation during the night at Ayette, which is now in British possession.

More than 100 German prisoners and three machine guns were captured there. Other prisoners were taken by the British.

The lull along the Picardy battle front from Arras to the French lines continues.

British Repulse Fampoux Attack. British troops repulsed a determined German attack in the sector of Fampoux yesterday morning," the official statement said. "The enemy left a number of dead upon the field. A few German prisoners were captured. A successful local operation was carried out by the British last night near Ayette, which is now in British possession. Upwards of 100 prisoners and three machine guns were captured. In Tuesday's operation at Serre the British took a few prisoners. Lincolnshire troops made a successful raid near Loos, capturing 31 prisoners and a machine gun.

"Another raid by the British near Poelcapelle, (on the West Flanders front), resulted in the capture of some German prisoners."

London, April 3.—A deadlock has developed in the battle of Picardy. As a result of the unbreakable defense of the Anglo-French armies and the exhaustion of the shattered German armies, today the fourteenth of the German offensive—found the battle front virtually unchanged.

Tuesday was given over to small, local operations, although the German artillery was active against the French on the southern end of the fighting zone and violent artillery duels raged in some sectors.

Field Marshal Haig reported the capture of a German post near Serre, seven miles north of Albert, but elsewhere, he said, Tuesday passed quietly.

New Drive Expected Soon. Just how long the deadlock would last was uncertain, but the increasing artillery fire and the reports of aviators that German troops were being massed, indicated a resumption of the drive toward Amiens soon.

The German commanders have been busy reorganizing their forces and bringing fresh troops and artillery up to the new positions. On their side the British and French have massed their reserves at strategic points around Amiens, reformed their artillery and strengthened their defensive works.

From General Foch, the Allied generalissimo, down to the humblest private the opinion is deep rooted that any further effort of the Germans to break through the Allied front and capture the base city of

GETTING ACQUAINTED
WHIT FOREIGN WOMEN

Manchester Women Pioneers

HOSPITABLY RECEIVED

Foreign Speaking Women Welcome
Chance to Learn American Ways
—They Teach as Well as Learn.

At the lecture by Miss Caroline Ruutz Reese last week it was made clear that all women's activities in the state of Connecticut are more definitely organized than ever before, and for that reason more definite results may be confidently expected. An attempt has been made to enable each woman to choose the special activity in which by nature or training she is most efficient. In this way a great deal of wasted energy and time may be eliminated.

As one very important branch of work has not to any great extent been touched upon hitherto, and as this particular subject lies at the foundation of our future security and happiness, a committee on Americanization has been formed and Manchester has the honor of being the second town in the state to start the work, Hartford being the first. The situation, placed squarely before us, is this:

We have within our gates a tremendous mixed foreign population. Probably 50 per cent. of these people do not speak English, do not understand our customs, our aims, our activities or our American ideals. The tendency among most of them has been to colonize; to keep by themselves; to use only their own language and customs and form little settlements of their own.

Their children go to the public schools and become educated side by side with the children of English speaking parents and imbibe the same ideas and share the same interests and will in time inter-marry. This great body of growing children and young people of today will become the citizens, voters and public men of tomorrow. They will grow up and develop ideals which to a great extent are implanted in them in their home life of today. They will grow up with a double set of ideas, and the pendulum will swing in whichever direction will swing influence is brought to bear.

We Americans pride ourselves upon our democracy and are ready to fight to the death that our cherished ideals may live. These foreigners have come to our land as to the land of promise. Behind them lie their cherished ideals and traditions, in many cases sadly crushed and mutilated by superior force in the countries across the sea. Before them lie years of prosperity and happiness in America, the land of dreams. But these dreams cannot come true if the "clannish" spirit prevails. And because in a few cases a certain small percent of people have looked upon their foreign-born neighbors with a certain contempt as only "foreigners", the foreign-born neighbors have judged all Americans in the same class, and have held themselves aloof, and sought their own kind. It is this idea that the women of Manchester wish to dispel. Accordingly they have organized a committee on Americanization with the object of bringing together American and foreign born women that they may learn each other's language, customs and opinions and if possible hasten the time when the newcomers may feel at home among the older settlers in this country. This committee is already at work and Mrs. Florence Hillsburg, its efficient chairman, is highly gratified at the results already accomplished. She says:

"We realize that the bridge can be crossed and crossed to mutual advantage. Every door that we have tried to enter in the true American spirit has been thrown open with true foreign hospitality and enthusiasm. Our welcome has been so complete that we are greatly encouraged to continue our efforts until we have become acquainted with all our neighbors from across the sea who are in our midst.

"Our method of procedure is new, but the experiment is working out well. We try to get into communication with some woman of foreign birth who can speak some English and explain our plan and ask her to gather a group of perhaps six women who live near together and are congenial, and have them meet, bringing their children if necessary, in some central home. Then one or two—usually two—English speaking women go to this group once or twice a week to help the foreign women learn to talk English. If it is desired, and in most cases it is, reading and writing are taught. However, we aim to avoid the expression "teaching" in the sense of merely carrying something to these women expecting them to accept it blindly.

"On the other hand we encourage an exchange of ideas and sympathy and instruction, realizing that we have much to learn from our foreign-born neighbors. The result of all our efforts thus far has been far beyond our hopes. Our women have been welcomed enthusiastically and treated royally. In every case the 'class' has grown after two or three calls, in one case the class becoming large enough to divide.

"Our present intention is to give a certain definite number of lessons—say 16—so that all may feel that a definite point has been attained. We hope, at the end of a certain length of time, to have a general 'get-together' affair which will bring people of all nationalities pleasantly together in a mutual feeling of unity. July 4th has been suggested as a highly suitable time.

"To further our efforts and allay all misunderstandings, we propose to invite all foreign people of each nationality to hold public rallies, inviting speakers to address them in their own languages, explaining many of these problems which are before us today. Moreover, our foreign neighbors are actively engaged in many lines of war work of which we have little knowledge, and for which we are not giving them proper credit. Many of these points could be cleared up and thus we can avoid overlapping in the various lines of work in which we are all engaged.

"Over forty-four women have volunteered their services in the work of Americanization. Nine groups with two workers each have begun work."

HIGH SCHOOL NINE.

Coach Believes He Has Good Championship Timber.

As the local high school baseball team rounds into form the chances for a championship nine this season become more hopeful. The team has not lost last year's "pop" and will start the season confident that it can win. Each and every man on the team realizes that he is with a strong aggregation and must play his best to stay on the team. The school is not pinched for good players. If any one man doesn't care to do as the captain and coach demand, he may take the bench.

The past few days' vacation have given the players an opportunity to square themselves with their studies. There are only a few who hang on the dividing line and with a little extra studying they can pull themselves through to the safety zone. Those who are among the doubtfuls are taking no chances and are studying late nights to avoid being dropped from the team for deficiency in studies.

The team stands as it was last year with the exception of first base and center field. Clune is missing at first and "Mert" Moriarty is at Cornell. The other positions are filled by the same players. Hartford High will be the first team to come under the clutches of the local sluggers. This game will be played at Hartford on Saturday afternoon, April 13. Hartford High has been practicing steadily since the good weather arrived and no doubt the game will be a hard one. The locals feel confident that they are in old time form and Hartford High seems doomed for a trimming. Without a question the locals will be able to equal last year's splendid record. Last year the team won eight and lost two games.

WISON O' K'S.

"CHILD WELFARE." Washington, April 3.—President Wilson today endorsed the cause of the children. In a letter to Secretary of Labor Wilson, praising the baby saving campaign which opens next Saturday, the President declared that the greatest patriotic duty, "next to doing everything possible for the soldiers at the front," is the protection of the babies of the nation.

The success of the campaign is indicated by the fact that more than a million mothers have applied for cards from the children's bureau, on which they may record the health of their children.

STAMFORD TEACHERS GET MORE Stamford, April 3.—The school committee of this town today raised the minimum salary of public school teachers from $500 to $700 and raised the amount of the yearly automatic increase from $75 to $200.

ATTACKING GERMANS ARE REPULSED AGAIN

Amiens will prove a disastrous failure.

Rain Hinders Movements. Considerable rain has fallen at intervals during the past 48 hours, and when the combat is renewed the opposing armies will have to struggle over a field thick with mud, as was the case in the bloody Flanders battle.

Military experts are divided as to where the next blow will fall, but the German activity along the southwestern part of their salient indicates that the Germans may renew their efforts to cut the Paris-Amiens-Calais railway at a point southeast of Amiens. Arrachas Wood, (which the Germans claim to have captured), is four and one half miles from the railway line.

Germans Neglect Wounded. Already German losses have mounted to an appalling total, but it is evident that the Kaiser will not reckon with the life blood of his soldiers if he sees the slightest chance for success. So hard were the Germans driven during the early stages of the offensive that many of their wounded lay for days on the battlefield without attention. Cavalry and artillery were ruthlessly driven over their bodies and infantry advances were made at times across ground covered with the dead and wounded that had fallen in earlier assaults.

This British casualties have been amazingly low, considering the magnitude of the battle. No official estimate has been given out, but it is computed that they are only a very slight fraction of the German losses. The British losses were heaviest in the first part of the fighting, but have grown lighter day by day since then.

Allied Man Conservation. Both the British and French have been very sparing of their men, preferring to withdraw rather than sacrifice their usefulness. As a result of these tactics it is said that the Allied reserve army is almost intact. This does not take into consideration the large forces of Americans who were sent to the scene of the battle.

Paris holds the view that the worst is over and that the German drive has already spent its force. "The battle for Amiens is not yet ended," said the Petit Parisien, "but we have withstood the worst part of it."

The Journal's military critic says that the Germans, having failed to score a success by their encircling movement, probably will be compelled to make frontal attacks when they renew their efforts. This will be a much more dangerous and costly operation than the flank developments, the Journal points out.

The morale of the British, French and American troops remains high and unshaken.

STATE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The state basketball championship will be decided tonight in the Armory on Wells street. The Middletown team will play the Golden Rods of Winsted. The Middletown team has trimmed the Ramblers of Hartford and the Golden Rods claim a victory over the New Britain Y. M. C. A. team. This leaves the Middletown and Winsted quintets sole contestants for the championship. Both Middletown and Winsted will send large contingents to town to witness the game. A special train will come from Winsted to Hartford and thence by car to Manchester. Middletown will send a full car load to Manchester.

This game was played last year in the Armory by the same teams. The game was an excellent one and attracted a large number of Manchester sports. The Middletown team won but not without a hard fight. McConochie, Danny Abner and Ray Kelly are still with Middletown as are Salmonson and Spears. These men put up an excellent brand of basketball and some fine plays and shots should be expected. Carroll the right forward on the Winsted team is the shining light for that quintet. His shots from the side of the floor have made him famous throughout the whole state. The game will start at 8 o'clock. There will be no preliminary and no dancing will follow.

AT THE PARK.
As was expected, standing room was at a premium again last evening at the Popular Playhouse when Tommy Levine and his Yankee Doodle Girls presented the musical comedy, "The Hotel de Luxe." It was far funnier than "The New Property Boy", the opening play on Monday evening.

For tonight the best play of the company's repertoire will be presented. Seven trunks of new costumes arrived this morning and with them a new stage setting which will be used in the big second part finale. It is of a patriotic nature and a surprise is packed in it that will get tonight's audience on their feet with cheers. New vaudeville specialties will be introduced and an entire new change in songs. The multi-color effects will also be used much in the last scenes of the play.

Mr. Levine was interviewed in his dressing room last evening by a reporter who wanted to know what he thought of Manchester. "You just tell the folks," he said, "that they have the best and most modern little city that I ever saw in my life. We have been guided around town and have marveled at your schools and mills and Recreation Center and we know now why Manchester people are so proud of their town."

"Of course what interests us most is your theater goers. They are aces. They appreciate an actor's work and it is a pleasure to entertain them. For our last show we put on the best we have and new costumes and settings will be used. We expect the biggest crowd of the three nights."

The big Paramount Special, "The Price Mark", which made so great a sensation last evening will be shown again tonight as the moving picture feature.

Tomorrow an Irving Cobb story will be one of the features and the five reeler will be "The Argument." On Friday the local Home Guard Company will hold a benefit and on Saturday, besides the serial and a big feature and a comedy, the famous Billy West will be shown in a brand new comedy. Sunday's feature will be "The Law's Outlaw" a graphic western thriller.

AT THE CIRCLE.
Norma Talmadge in her new photodrama, "The Secret of the Storm Country" which was shown at the Circle yesterday and which will be shown for the last time this evening, gives one of the finest performances of her entire career. As the squatter's daughter, wronged and deserted by her husband, left to rear their child under a cloud, she rises to great emotional heights, and her portrayal of "Tess" is one that will readily win the sympathy of any audience.

With her depths of feeling, her extraordinary versatility and the ease with which she can step from pathos to fun, she makes of "Tess", one of the most compelling figures in fiction. The sanctity of marriage and the home is one of the vital matters discussed in this intensely dramatic production. In it is shown the struggle between a woman's love for her husband and her devotion to their child. Wifehood battles against motherhood for supremacy, but at the final count, the love for the child predominates. It is a picture that will hold one's interest from beginning to end and will leave an everlasting impression. This picture will be screened for the last time this evening. Other reels are also included.

Tomorrow, Marguerite Clark comes to the Circle for a two day engagement in her latest Paramount picture, "The Seven Swans", which is said to be the most pretentious and elaborate film ever produced. The picture is along the lines of "Snow White", which packed the Circle to capacity at its showing here last season. The production is staged on a more elaborate scale and its plot has been modernized. The mammoth troupe of beautiful girls from the production "Chu Chin Chow" which is now playing in New York City with tremendous success, is used in one of the scenes of this picture. It is really a picture and a story for all who haven't lost their "make believe." "Roaring Lions in a Hospital" is another attraction that will be sure to create a great deal of comment.

SACRIFICE WILL WIN WAR

Washington, April 3.—Victory will come to the Allies on the Picardy front, and it will come as the result of the spirit of sacrifice of the people of the Allied nations. This belief was voiced today by Secretary of the Interior Lane at the Americanization Conference here. Educators and civic leaders, called together to start a campaign to develop the national spirit of America, heard from Secretary Lane that this nation must arouse itself to its responsibilities if it shall not suffer a decline. Secretary Lane held out hope for Russia. He declared that he does not believe that Russia is a doomed nation, but merely a nation in the making.

DRAFTEE LEAVES WATERBURY RELIGION FORBIDS FIGHTING Waterbury, April 3.—Declaring that in killing men he would be violating the ten commandments, Peter Zubola, a local draftee, has skipped from this city to Detroit, after being notified to appear for examination. "There is no glory under God Almighty to kill a man," Peter wrote to the board after his departure. "I am willing to help this country all I can, but my conscience won't permit me to kill."

Domestic and Shopping Hints for Housewives

There is no excuse for an unbecoming hat this spring. The milliners have shown a surprisingly kindly disposition toward practicality every type of face.

To your boy going to the front a military watch is nearly indispensable, and I found the Dewey-Richman Co.'s store prepared to meet your needs.

Because the hats are so generous in their variety of shapes, don't think you can wear your last year's one and pass undetected.

The little things of life aren't little, when their effect upon human happiness is considered.

Tulle provides a fascinating drapery for hats of many kinds. There are little flower hats that are thickly veiled with brown malines.

We have been thinking so much about milady's Easter hat and her new spring hat generally, that we forget about the kiddies' head gear.

Robert J. Smith has sold for Sinal and Armesine Demars a one family house with one half acre of land on Center street to Bernard Hirsch of Granby.

Organdy for the bridesmaid, including organdy hats is unquestionably dainty and sweet.

Large kerchief collars and flaring cuffs of organdy trimmed with crisp little frills growing up instead of down are mighty fetching.

When you get the man of the house out in the garden or on the lawn, you want him in trousers that won't need to be replaced inside a week or two or require steady mending.

What to Eat. Substitute a potato for a slice of bread. "We must save more wheat."

Learn to cook liver, tripe and tongue to make them thoroughly delicious. Then use them oftener.

Mr. August Jansen, chairman of the New York food conservation committee, says "There should be no garbage pail in the house."

Many a woman who wouldn't think of going out of doors in a shabby gown lets the floors and walls of her home get nicked and marred without pretending to mend them.

The Manchester Wall Paper Co. has every color and shade in the alphabet of hues in stains, tints, etc., for every part of the house.

Sausage Cake—1/2 lb. boiled liver, 1/2 lb. cooked pork boiled together, 1 qt. water, 1 c. rice or barley, salt and pepper.

American Chop Suey—1 lb. chopped meat, 1/2 can tomatoes, 1 c. cooked rice, 3 small onions, 1 c. cooked spaghetti.

Hominy Pudding—2 c. cold boiled hominy, 1 1/2 c. milk, 1 egg, 1/2 c. Karo, 1/2 c. raisins.

MARINES TRAIN PIGEONS

Paris Island, S. C., April 3.—In response to General Pershing's recent call for 5,000 carrier-pigeons, U. S. Marines here, who have aided the government in nearly every conceivable manner heretofore, again have come to bat with a pigeon-raising campaign.

The carrier is an invaluable little weapon in the war but is far too scarce for the immediate needs. So the Marines have begun the training of them on the island, having secured 300 of the birds from the homes of various members of the Marine Corps.

Meanwhile, although several have been lost in training, the carriers are rapidly increasing in numbers, and the Marines are hoping to be able to all General Pershing's order by themselves, and in addition, sending the pigeons across the water already trained in their line of duty.

WAR BUREAU NEWS

The War Bureau has received the following letter from the State Council of Defense:

We would warn you against solicitations from The Woman's National League, with executive headquarters at Washington, D. C.

This League claims to have at present a capitol stock of two million dollars, and to be working for an endowment fund that will reach ten million dollars. It solicits funds for membership, agreeing to give each founder member a dividend sharing certificate in amount of one hundred dollars which will pay an income to the holder for life, etc.

We have received information from Washington that this "Woman's National League" is a fraud, and was so reported to the Department of Justice in January of this year.

The Evening Herald was started in October, 1914. In March 1915 it had an average paid daily circulation of 798. In March, 1916, the daily average had risen to 1432; in March 1917, to 2003, and in March 1918 to 2969. The circulation continues to show a substantial gain every month. Last month the gain was 63 a day.

DO YOUR REPAIRING NOW. Many house-owners in town already have begun to make their spring repairs. Roofs are being re-shingled, more or less painting is being done and a few small additions to some houses are under way.

Spring, summer and fall are the show-off seasons, in contrast with winter, when the average New Englander is too busy thinking about his cold toes or ears to let free his admiration of landscape gardening and pretty houses.

A nice looking lawn with some fine trees make a house in poor repair look even worse than it is.

There is nothing new in the town beautiful idea, but it seems as though beautification must be made a community thing to bring people to realize the importance of each individual doing his share by making his premises as shipshape as possible. For years the magazines have been full of suggestions of what may be done with a small expenditure toward improving the appearance of the house. Pictures of houses and grounds and roads, before and after using the periodical's favorite prescriptions, have been displayed ad nauseum.

The point is that the individual house and grounds is the unit of the community, whose attractiveness is impossible apart from that of its multiple parts. The law restricts almost every other individual liberty which infringes upon the freedom of or injures others, but it is strangely silent about what a man shall do with the house he lives in and its surroundings. The restricted residential district alone prescribes rules which keep each dweller therein up to the mark.

If every house-owner in Manchester who resides in his own property would improve it and keep it in repair, Manchester would be even more beautiful.

KINSELLA BEATS HAGARTY. Congratulations to Mayor-elect Kinsella of Hartford should await his performance. He happened to bear the label "Democratic," but that meant in itself little beyond adherence to the Democratic organization, city, state and national, and Mr. Kinsella has shown considerable independence of the first two, at least. The lightness of the vote, more than two thousand less than two years ago, and the small plurality, about 452, showed the electorate's disregard of political principle, platform and even of candidate. There was no burning issue, and the merits of the two opposing party leaders were too evenly divided to make a fight worth seeing.

On general principles it is unwise to change a candidate too often, because in that way the public loses much of the benefit of the office-holder's specific experience of the office. Mr. Kinsella is no novice, however. He has been in close touch with Hartford's affairs for years, he was a defeated candidate two years ago for Mayor and he has been water commissioner.

The Mayor-elect's record is still for him to make. Republicans as well as Democrats will be glad to see him make it.

THE WAR AND ROTHSCHILDS.

The cool matter-of-fact statement a day or two ago of a prominent Vienna newspaper, that Germany could not win the war, even if Paris fell, was not surprising in view of the reiterated utterances of Count Czernin, concerning Austria-Hungary's views and policy. The statement was merely the boldest perhaps yet made and either must have been inspired or had official backing. Germany must lose the war, said the writer, because the Allies still command the ocean, and an attack on England by sea was out of the question.

It is true that Emperor Charles' statement of peace terms coincided quite closely with that of the Kaiser, when the two replied to the Pope's note, and that the Kaiser probably dictated at least most of Charles' terms. But still the young monarch's statement was more moderate, and since then Count Czernin has spoken his mind with a freedom which must have been startling to Austrian Germanophobes.

Anyhow, Austria-Hungary's attitude, taken along with other known facts, leaves little doubt regarding the sentiment of the financial house of Rothschild toward the war. That the house wants peace and wants it badly seems unquestionable. That it is a strong force making for a united world is also sure, because it is not a "house divided against itself," and the London and Paris "branches" have easily the preponderating influence.

It was Baron Nathan Rothschild of London whose financial daring brought the house to its pre-eminence, and Frankfurt on the Main, nominally the chief seat of the Rothschilds, has long played second fiddle. The Mannesmanns, with their alliances at least, have certainly been more active in Germany.

The house of Morgan, with its branches in London and Paris, has been far more prominent in the war, so far as is publicly known, but it is still young, and its chief strength has remained in America, where by reason of its alliances and the brilliance of the elder "J. P." it has overshadowed any rival.

But Kuhn, Loeb & Company has been closely associated with the American interests of the Rothschilds for many years, and the Rockefeller have maintained a fairly unbroken alliance with this, the second banking concern of the United States. The present head of the firm, Jacob H. Schiff, has been not only a brilliant financier, but has won a great deal of popularity by reason of his benevolences and kindness. Jewish money generally in America is inclined to rally to Kuhn, Loeb & Company.

The Rockefeller, with Kuhn, Loeb & Company and the Rothschilds are the strongest and most widely ramifying financial alliance in the world. The elder John D. Rockefeller is unquestionably patriotic and probably also wise enough to see that Germany cannot win. His backing of the relief measures in Belgium show how his sympathy stands.

That the Bolshevik leaders are more inclined to side with the Rothschilds, who are Hebrews, than with any other financial power of the hated bourgeoisie goes without saying.

Finally, the Rothschilds are not backing a losing horse, any more than they did after Waterloo. And they are hardly callous to the scorn of trade and business which the Prussian nobility flaunt.

Germany is bankrupt and Austria-Hungary more so. That the Rothschilds are for peace, even a peace dictated by the Allies rather than the Central Powers is as sure as common sense and the facts can make it.

Ethics and morals have a way of deteriorating unless kept well ventilated. There is no such thing as solitary virtue. The Deven's draftees who balked because of religion deserve no pity whatever.

It is good community insurance to keep the town's fire alarm system up, and the $6,500 added to the $6,000 appropriated for the purpose was no mistake.

Thrift stamp sales continue to mount in Connecticut. When it comes to the stretch at the end of the year the state will give an additional hitch to its trousers and surprise even itself.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED.

Mrs. Alva Woodward, who before her marriage was Miss Carrie Sauer, was given a pleasant surprise party by about 30 of her friends from Cheney Brothers' main office at the home of Miss Clara Juul of Manchester Green last evening. During the evening, Henry Morgan, in behalf of the friends, presented a set of silver to Mrs. Woodward. A most enjoyable time was spent with games, music and refreshments.

TAFT CLUB JUMPS TO THE $75,000 MARK

Manchester's Thriving War Stamp Group Hits New High-Record Level

WANTED—MORE MEMBERS

Work is By No Means Finished—New Members Particularly Desired—Speeding Up Advised.

Manchester's prosperous Taft $1,000 Limit war stamp club reached a new high mark today, when it rounded out an even $75,000. Although this record stands alone in Connecticut in the war savings stamp movement, the success which has been attained is not to be allowed to act as a deterrent of further progress along these lines. In fact, plans are being made to push the Taft club idea in town with renewed vigor.

Although the success of the local Taft club has been little short of phenomenal, those most interested in its progress are now emphasizing to the public the fact that the one great object is to promote the continued sale of war stamps. This must be done in order to properly support our government in winning this war. The Taft club promoters believe in facing the matter squarely, and are this week pointing to the fact that while this town has done well thus far, it is still a long way below its quota due the government in the war savings stamp campaign.

Where's That $20 Per Capita? It is generally recognized that each citizen's fair share of the war stamp burden is $20. Striking an average, this community is still quite a distance from that $20 per capita. Therefore every effort is to be made to urge the citizens to hasten to make up the deficit between their present subscriptions and the amount needed to round out that $20 per capita.

There are particular reasons why those who are in a position to do so will be urged to join the Taft club in Manchester. Figures compiled by the state committee show that Connecticut's per capita contributions thus far total but $1.61. Obviously, those who are able to contribute generously will see the necessity of buying war stamps liberally in order that the state's average may be attained.

Despite their immense resources, the eastern states are being pushed from leadership in the nation's war stamp campaign. Out of the twenty-five leading states, seventeen of the leaders are states located west of the Mississippi river.

No Time to Slow Up. Some of the published figures of the war stamp sales in Manchester for the past month indicate a falling off as compared with the sales of the previous month. However, the committees in charge of the war stamp movement in town are satisfied that this is only temporary, and that the excellent record of the previous months will be kept up. The local committees feel that at the present time, when our soldiers who are at the front have been offered en masse to the allied forces for duty right on the firing line, this is no time for slowing up at home in patriotic work of any kind.

The intensive drive which has been carried on throughout the state has resulted in bringing thousands of men, women and children into the army of savers. But unless it is possible to organize this army and maintain the interest that was created throughout the entire year, a large measure of the good work accomplished will fall of its complete result. In every local factory, store, school, church and lodge, one or more organizations reach the workers for the purpose of selling war stamps. Such organizations keep before the minds of the members the vital importance of the thrift stamp movement. The Taft $1,000 Limit club has a field particularly its own, and it is fortunate for the war stamp campaign locally that there is to be no let-up in pushing this organization to further attainment. Mrs. A. L. Crowell will continue the Taft club work which she has promoted thus far with such pronounced success.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our thanks to our friends and neighbors for their sympathy during our bereavement in the death of our brother Elio Scala and especially to the Manchester Italian band for their free services at his funeral. Mr. and Mrs. John Scala.

The Open Forum

My dear Editor: In last evening's issue of your valuable paper a letter was published which was sent out by the Post Office Inspection department in response to letter sent to the department by a Postmaster who stated that residents of a particular community declined to buy war savings stamps on the ground of belonging to a religious organization.

I am astonished to find the denomination referred to is the Pentecostal Nazarene church. I am surprised and humiliated. Perhaps the whole thing is an April fool joke.

It is needless to say that the particular community is not Manchester. Our stand is well known but I am sorry that members in any community should refuse to buy war savings stamps.

I am not aware that my denomination takes a different stand than any other denominations such as Methodist, Congregational, Presbyterian, etc. This is the first hint to the contrary. Perhaps we local Pentecostals have been violating the rules of our church by aiding the war by buying liberty bonds, war savings stamps, etc. I have no fears however, for I am certain our denomination is with the Government. The members of the Pentecostal Nazarene church of that "particular community" are laboring under great misapprehension and deserve the rebuke which the Post Office Inspection department has given them.

I am positive that the authorities of my denomination would sanction the attitude of the Post Office department and condemn the attitude of the people in question.

As far as I am able to know the vast majority of our people up and down the land are as loyal and patriotic Americans as can be found anywhere and are ready and willing to make all sacrifices necessary to aid our Government and its Allies to destroy Autocracy of the "Potsdam gang", and "make the world safe for Democracy."

Thank you in advance for publishing these few lines. Yours for God and Country, A. C. Goldberg.

ENTERTAINED VISITORS.

Andover Men Guests of South End Young Men's Club.

Members of the Methodist Young Men's club and the Andover Men's club are looking forward to an enjoyable time this evening when they will hold a joint meeting at the South Methodist church.

The local club members were royally entertained by the Andover men last December. At that time, Rev. Vernon W. Cooke of Willimantic, now in charge of a Y. M. C. A. hut in France, gave an inspiring and patriotic talk and the men tonight will have the privilege of listening to a "Victory Talk" by Charles A. Cushman, one of the best Four Minute Speakers of Hartford. Mr. Cushman was secured through A. E. Bowlers, chairman of the committee on speakers of the State Council of Defense. He has not announced any particular subject, but it is expected he will speak on the general theme of "How to Win the War."

Besides the address, there will be a program, including selections by the Victor orchestra. The program will be followed by a social hour, during which refreshments will be served.

A WOMAN'S BACK

The Advice of This Manchester Woman is of Certain Value. Many a woman's back has many aches and pains. Oftentimes 'tis the kidneys' fault. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills are so effective.

Many Manchester women know this. Read what one has to say about it: Mrs. G. Norton, 4 Oakland St., says: "About two years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills for continual dull, nagging pains across my back and they certainly proved very good. Soon after I started using them the pains left entirely. Sometimes, since then, overwork has caused my back to get tired and aching. I have kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and they have always given me great relief."

MANCHESTER RECTOR GOES TO UTICA CHURCH

Rev. Manning B. Bennett to Be Assistant to Rev. E. H. Coley, D. D., His Predecessor at St. Mary's.

Rev. E. H. Coley, formerly rector of St. Mary's church and Rev. Manning B. Bennett, who succeeded him, are to be united in the pastorate of the Calvary Episcopal church, at Utica, N. Y. Rev. Mr. Bennett, who left St. Mary's last fall, has accepted a call to be assistant rector of Calvary church, of which Rev. E. H. Coley, D. D., is rector and will assume his new duties June 1.

The Utica Daily Press speaking of Mr. Bennett's engagement, says: "The announcement will be received with genuine satisfaction, for he is no stranger here, and has endeared himself to all of the members of Calvary Church who know him well. For some time the development of the work in Calvary parish has indicated the need of an assistant to the faithful and efficient rector, Rev. E. H. Coley, D. D. It remained to obtain the right sort of an associate, and the selection of Rev. Mr. Bennett could hardly be improved upon. He was formerly assistant at Calvary, being there during several months when Dr. Coley was ill. His splendid efforts in behalf of the church are not easily forgotten, and his welcome on his return will therefore be most cordial. He will come to Utica the latter part of May, undoubtedly, and will take up his new duties the first of the month of June. In May, 1902, he came to Utica to assist Dr. Coley at Calvary, and September 1, 1903, accepted the rectorship of St. Mary's Church, Manchester, Conn., where he recently concluded 14 years of very successful work, baptizing over 600 persons and presenting 544 people for confirmation. Since October 1, he has been acting as locum tenens at Emmanuel Church, Norwich.

It is seen that he is well qualified for the duties at Calvary, and his success there is already bespoken. He will be warmly greeted, and will have the best wishes of the church-going people of the entire community.

He pointed out that several States that were regarded as rather oppos-

Memphis, Tenn., April 3.—There will be no liquor sold in the United States after 1923 for, before the close of that year three-fourths of the States of the Union will have approved the Federal Constitutional Amendment.

That is the prediction made by ex-Governor M. R. Patterson, of Tennessee, who has been making a tour of Alabama for the National Anti-Saloon League. A fight for ratification of the amendment is under way in Alabama, and Governor Patterson believes the Prohibitionists will carry the election.

Governor Patterson bases his prediction that liquor will be completely wiped out in the United States within five years on the progress that has already been made toward ratification of the Constitutional amendment.

He pointed out that several States that were regarded as rather opposed to State prohibition have adopted the Federal amendment. He is certain a large number of States that already have prohibition will adopt the amendment as soon as their legislative bodies meet or elections can be held.

"A three-fourths majority, or the approval of thirty-six States, is needed to carry the amendment," said Governor Patterson, "and all indications are highly encouraging. Of course, much delay will be experienced, as many legislatures will not convene again for some time, but I feel sure that we will have no difficulty in finally accomplishing our purpose, and that, too, before the expiration of the seven-year limit provided in the bill that passed Congress."

THE WAR CORNER

News From Manchester Men Who Are Serving Uncle Sam on Land and Sea

THE EVENING HERALD, eager to gather every bit of news of our soldier boys, wherever they may be, invites its readers to contribute personals, portions of letters, and any information about them they may possess. Such portions of letters as are personal or which may give information to the enemy, will, of course, not be published.

Mrs. Ferdinand Schwartz of Strant street has received an interesting letter from her son, D. Holger Schwartz of the U. S. S. May, U. S. S. Naval Forces, who is "somewhere in France" and describes his visit to "Gay Paris." He also takes occasion to speak of the fine way Uncle Sam cares for his boys in the navy. His letter follows:

March 17, 1918.

Dear Mother,

Received the box you sent me and it came in very good condition, but the pie was moulded in the center, otherwise it was fine. The fudge and gum were great, also the dates, I must say. We dipped them in sugar and they tasted fine.

The next day, Paris leave. We travelled all that night in those French cars, nothing like what we got in America, but they can make speed. We arrived there the next morning. It sure is a big city and, believe me, "Gay Paris" is the right name.

Now, at home, when the girls or women want a drink they generally move to the interior of the building but not so in Paris. They have tables and chairs right out on the sidewalk and there is the place they have their drinks. Girls or men; it's all the same.

I happened to see a place in Paris which the Germans had bombarded and the buildings were completely wrecked.

The second day I was there we were having lunch when we heard news started to scream and ran for the cellar. They thought it was another air raid, but we were fooled. It was an ammunition factory that exploded. I must say I was afraid. When we came back to our table there was nothing but broken glass.

We had a friend with us, an ambulance driver. He said that was nothing; he was used to it.

We visited the tomb of Napoleon. It's a large building where they have all kinds of collections from different wars. From this war they have in this place some German airplanes and a lot of guns and many other things. The tomb is covered with sand bags to protect it from air raids. I tried to visit the Latin quarters, that is, where the artists of Paris live and have their studios; some Americans there, too, but we didn't get the chance.

We had a great time in Paris and returned to the ship tired out. I see German prisoners every day. They are treated fine, get three meals a day, plenty of smoking, a bunk to sleep in and I think they are glad to be out of the trenches.

I'm feeling fine, weigh 190 and 'am six feet tall. Believe me, they don't starve you in the navy. They say, if you want a man to fight you've got to feed him and they live up to it. Tonight for supper we had pork chops, fried potatoes, bread and butter, canned peaches and cake.

Will close as I'm going to play football with the fellows on the French ship.

Your loving son,
Holger.

Mrs. August Lindell, who has not received a letter in more than a month from her son, Harry, who is with Headquarters Company, 102nd U. S. Infantry, "Somewhere in France", was pleased yesterday to receive a cablegram from him. The message conveyed was simply, "Easter Greetings" and was signed, Harry.

Mrs. James Munsie of Center street has received the following letter from her son, James V. Munsie, who is in the Medical Department, Sixth Infantry, at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Dear Mother,

Received your letter and was glad to hear from you.

I am sending you a picture; one of the fellows took of me; it's a postal. The sun was very bright, I had to grin a little. It was taken outside. This gives you an idea of what we carry "over there." We had our inspection, quite a strict one, too. I came out O. K. We are busy getting ready to leave. I hope we go north. I think we will go to Camp Meredith, N. Y. I only hope I can get a pass for a few days to get home to see you all once more before I go.

I had a letter from Mrs. Adjutant Abrams. She said she was sending you a postal. I am having half a dozen cards taken. When I get north I will get a better picture.

We drill and parade on the grounds where the civil war was fought. You see on back, is my back-pack and around my waist is my first aid belt and at my side is my axe for chopping wood to make splints. I have half a tent on my back, and another fellow has the other. We put them together and it makes our tent. They are about 2 1/2 feet high and 8 feet long, about 4 or 5 feet wide; not much room to move in.

Believe me, ma, I am glad I enlisted, at the time I did. I know some lads can't get in where they would like to. But I would not be a slacker. Sometimes I think of Bill and me being away from you and pa, but cheer up, ma. Our army won't win if we all stay at home. We have got to win, and when it's all over, if it's God's will we can come home, knowing we have done our duty.

Tell everybody I am fine and dandy and send my love to all. Will write later if I get a chance.

I remain,
Your loving son,
Jimmie.

ATHLETICS TO ORGANIZE AND PUT TEAM IN FIELD

Spring Weather Disperses Discouragement Over Loss of Men in Service—Practice Sunday.

Because so many of their men had gone into service, the Athletics had decided not to try to have a baseball team this season, but the nice spring weather of the past few days has caused them to be afflicted with the baseball fever and a team they must have after all. Six members of last year's team are in service—Harold Coogan, John L. Jenney, Joe Madden, Leo Egan, William Phillips and Howard Matchett—but there are enough men left, with a little new material, to make a good team. The team has been playing for the past seven years and during that time has captured the town championship a number of times. Joe Tedford has managed the team practically all the time since its organization and it is expected when a meeting to organize for the season is held he will be given his old place again. Joe has also been captain of the team and played first base.

Besides Tedford, the following old players are left: Richard Lamprecht, Tom Sipples, Fred Warnock, Sam Kotsch, William Keating, William C. Schiedge, and "Pop" Edgar. A new man, who is expected to play, is Gus Miller, who has not been living in town very long and formerly played on a team in Philadelphia. Any others who would like a tryout, are invited to attend the first practice at Mt. Nebo at ten o'clock Sunday morning.

It is announced that the Athletics will play practically all Sunday games this season.

ALL PLANS ARE READY FOR CAMP DEVENS DAY

Big Parade in Manchester Saturday Afternoon—Minstrel at Night in Cheney Hall.

Manchester will have an ideal Camp Devens Day Saturday. On that day Co. A of the 301st Machine Gun Battalion, our own, will be in town. This company is composed largely of Manchester boys. Permission has been given by the War Department for drafted men to visit their home towns in a body in order that they might be seen in line before being sent across France.

The big event of the day will be the parade which will start at two o'clock. Besides the Devens men there will be in line the Boy Scouts, the Home Guard companies from our own town and from East Hartford, Glastonbury and Wethersfield. Two drum corps will be hired for the day. Austin Cheney will be the marshal of the parade.

R. LaMotte Russell is the chairman of the War Bureau committee which is taking care of the affair in town for the boys in camp. An entertainment and dance has been arranged to be given in Cheney hall in the evening. The entertainment will be furnished wholly by Camp Devens men. A military travesty entitled "A Hot Time in Camp" will be given and Frank Mallon will sing. Further details will be given in The Herald when the representative from Devens arrives with the information.

The tickets for the entertainment are being sold at the War Bureau. It is hoped that every one in town will purchase a ticket. The proceeds go entirely to the Co. A fund. The money will be used to purchase baseball and sporting supplies for the men in the company. All are urged to buy tickets whether they attend or not. The money is going for a good cause. The presence of sport supplies will tend to keep up the morale of the men when in camp and in France. It will give them something to do when off duty behind the trenches. The night's entertainment will be worth all that is asked and the results obtained from the expected success of the night cannot be imagined.

TAR-FEATHER PARTY AT JACKSON, MICH.

Jackson, Mich., April 3.—Twelve masked men late last night seized Chris Gwinner, a butcher, accused of pro-Germanism, placed him in an automobile and drove three miles south of this city, where a coat of tar and feathers was supplied and a warning given Gwinner to "behave."

It is alleged Gwinner has been making disloyal statements about the United States and its army and that he said "the boys who went down in the Tuscania got what was coming to them and before this war is over crepe will be flying on a lot of those houses where they have flags now."

FEDERAL CLERKS ADOPT 150 TINY FRENCH ORPHANS

In the United States 60,000 Persons Have Adopted Fatherless and Motherless Tots.

One hundred and fifty children have been adopted by clerks in two of the government departments in Washington, D. C. One of these children is being cared for by the charwomen of the Agricultural Department.

The adoption of these children is in response to an appeal of the organization known as The Fatherless Children of France.

According to Miss Harriet Winslow, local treasurer of the organization, one hundred children have been adopted by clerks in the Department of Agriculture, and workers in the Department of Commerce have taken fifty children. At the Library of Congress a number of the Library's workers meet every two weeks to translate and discuss the letters received from their small beneficiaries. Thirty charwomen in the Department of Agriculture have united to adopt and educate one orphan. Many American officers, both here and on French soil have adopted children through this organization and are educating them.

Statistics show that through The Fatherless Children of France, sixty thousand people in the United States are now in personal contact with as many French children and their families. The influence of this work in strengthening the morale of the French civilians and in deepening the affection between the American and French people is said to be estimable. Since gifts to these numerous children would clog the transports, all help is in the form of money cabled to each child in the name of the American donor who has adopted him.

Under the reorganization of the French executive committee, Marshall Joffre is president and M. Lucien Polnaire, vice president. Brieux, the famous French playwright, has made many speeches in behalf of the fund in Paris.

RABBI GIVES NEW VERSION OF DECALOGUE

Cleveland Hebrew by Implication Fiercely Arraigns Kaiser and Conquest—Ten Commandments Down to Date.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 3.—A new Ten Commandments is being revealed to the world through the "blood and tears of the world war," according to Rabbi A. H. Silver, of this city. His version of the new decalogue is:

"I am the Lord, thy God, who formed thee and fashioned thee and whose great purpose thou must serve, Thou shalt have no other gods before thee, thou shalt not take unto thyself any idols of wealth, power or prosperity, for I, the Lord, thy God, am a jealous God, visiting the iniquities of one generation upon another."

"Thou shalt not speak of Me when thou art engaged in deeds of lust and conquest."

"Remember the spiritual Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou work and do all thy labor, but the seventh day is the Sabbath unto the Lord, thy God. Do not consume all thy splendid energies in the acquisition of things material, but dedicate some of them to the attainment of the higher gifts of life."

"Honor the memory of thy forefathers, not by slavishly imitating them, but by progressing ever onward in the spirit of truth-seeking which was theirs."

"Thou shalt not kill, either thine own children through ruthless industrialism, nor the children of any neighbor through wars of conquest."

"Thou shalt not prostitute thyself through unholy alliances with nations that are doers of wrong."

"Thou shalt not steal the life, liberty or independence of any smaller unprotected neighbors."

"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor nor permit libellous charges to be made against him."

"Thou shalt not covet the land or the wealth or power of any neighbor, for within thine own self thou shalt find those vast treasure coves which alone exalt a nation."

TEACHES 69 YEARS—QUITS.

UNCLE SAM'S NEW ARMY; ARMS—BRUSH AND PENCIL

Government to Give Prizes to Artists Painting the Most Original Patriotic Posters.

Hartford, April 3.—Uncle Sam has a new army, armed with brush and pencil. They are all ready for a big drive with paint, a drive that the American public will be unable to resist. Artists of all ages are joining this army, from graded school children to professional designers who have volunteered for Uncle Sam's service. They are working now to make posters which will tell, as the Four Minute Men are telling in the theaters, all about the government's plan of increasing our savings. The posters however will be one minute men, telling their story in a moment, and appealing to the eye instead of to the ear.

Many Cash Prizes. Grade school children, high school pupils, and art school students, are competing for prizes which are offered for the best designs made in each section of the country. Three hundred dollars in War Savings Certificates will be distributed in prizes among young artists in the middle west. Besides the section prizes there will be a national award of a ribbon, a decoration, to be given to the students in the grades, high schools, and art schools, whose designs are judged to be the best in each class. Professional designers are not included in this contest.

All Asked to Compete. Every artist in the country, young or old, is urged to submit drawings in these competitions, for Uncle Sam needs posters that will appeal to both children and old folks. The art teachers in charge of this competition know that young people know best what kind of posters will make young people save their money and lend it to Uncle Sam. That is why they ask child artists to enlist for this service. Every boy who makes a poster telling a good reason for buying Thrift Stamps, and shows it to the other boys and girls in his school, will be helping sell Uncle Sam's War Bonds, whether or not his poster is a work of art.

CAT FUNERAL STOPPED BY HEARTLESS OFFICIALS

Police Substitute Another Spot for Cemetery Selected by St. Louis Couple, Who are Childless.

St. Louis, April 3.—Real candles, flowers and genuine tears were in evidence at the wake over the pet cat of Mrs. Alfred Palmer here, but plans for the funeral were interfered with by the police.

The wake was attended by many residents of the neighborhood. All pronounced the cat as looking more life-like than any dead cat they ever saw. The life-like appearance was enhanced by the silk lined white enameled casket which Mrs. Palmer had made to order.

Mrs. Palmer and her husband had no children. So they planned an elaborate funeral preliminary to the burial in her back yard.

The police didn't approve of the burial grounds, however, so the dead animal wagon from the Garbage Department backed up in front of the Palmer residence and amid much tears, bore away the cat, sans casket, sans candles, sans flowers.

HENRY LEWIS STACY.

Henry Lewis Stacy died at his home on Main street yesterday afternoon at 4.30 at the age of 74 years. He had been ailing for upwards of a year, although his case was not considered serious until within the last few weeks. Mr. Stacy was a native of Monson, Mass., being the son of William S. and Lucy Bradbury Stacy. He lived in Manchester for the last 26 years, coming here from Holyoke, Mass. He was overseer in the weaving department at Hilliard's mill for a long time and in fact was able to continue steadily until he had reached the age of 72. He had spent the greater part of his life in the woolen business.

Besides his wife who is in very poor health, he leaves three daughters, Mrs. E. M. Ogden, and Mrs. Robert M. Reid of this town and Mrs. A. E. Pinney of Talcottville. He also leaves 17 grandchildren, four sisters and one brother. Mr. Stacy was a member of Wadsworth Council of American Mechanics. Mr. and Mrs. Stacy celebrated their golden wedding two years ago.

The funeral service will be held at his late home on Main street, Thursday afternoon, at three o'clock. Rev. Elliott F. Studley of the North Methodist church will officiate. The burial will be in the Buckland cemetery.

A half-acre garden, if cared for properly, will produce far more vegetables than the average family can consume during the maturing period of the crops. Only a small portion of a garden of this size should be devoted to those vegetables that must be used as soon as they reach maturity. It is advisable to devote the major portion of the space to those crops which if not needed at once may be kept for winter use. In fact, if the space is available the garden should be planned with the definite purpose of growing crops for storage for winter use.

Late beets, late cabbage, carrots, celery, onions, parsnips, late potatoes, sweet potatoes, salsify, and late turnips may be stored in their natural condition and if possible should be grown to the extent of the family needs for storage for winter use.

It is possible in nearly all sections of the country to grow late beets, late cabbage, late potatoes and turnips on ground that has already produced a crop of lettuce, radishes, beans, early peas, early potatoes, or some crop requiring a relatively short period for its maturity. Gardeners are inclined to neglect the opportunities for crop production in the garden after the first part of the season has passed and frequently space is allowed to lie idle that should be producing a crop of late potatoes, cabbage or turnips. In sections where the season is short it is possible to plant the late crops between the rows of early crops before the early crops are removed, thus gaining two or three weeks' time.

Late potatoes may be planted on ground from which early peas or string beans have been removed.

Late cabbage may be planted between the rows of early potatoes before this crop is mature. Turnips may be sown between the rows of late corn and late bush beans. Late beets may be planted between the rows of late beans and will grow long after frost has killed the beans.

Storage in the Home. By utilizing every square foot of space in the garden a considerable quantity of vegetables may be grown for storage for winter use. If no storage facilities exist in the home all the crops suitable for keeping may be stored in outdoor banks or pits. However, it is not all difficult to provide storage facilities in most homes, it being only necessary to make use of the cellar, the attic, a large closet, or other parts of the dwelling, depending upon the character of the product to be stored.

Beans, including the Limas, may be stored dry, and it is advisable to grow them to as great an extent as possible for winter use. Limas and other pole beans may be planted around the fence, it being possible in this way to produce considerable quantities of dried beans for winter use. The pods should be allowed to remain on the vines until dry enough to rattle, should then be gathered, spread on the attic floor or in some other dry place, and when dry, shelled and stored in bags.

Plants which grow high and cause heavy shade should not be located where they will interfere with sun-loving small plants. It is well, also, to separate perennials, such as rhubarb and asparagus which are not cultivated, from plants which must be tilled.

The same kind of vegetables should not be grown twice, if this can be avoided, in the same part of the garden. If a radically different kind is grown, disease spores and insects, though present in the soil, probably will not attack the second crop.

DR. KNOWLES DEAD; A QUEER CHARACTER

Well-Educated, But Lived in Hovel—In Many Lawsuits Which He Defended Himself.

New Milford, April 3.—Dr. David W. Knowles, 81 a retired dentist, and Civil War veteran, died at his home in Lanesville Tuesday, after two days' illness with pneumonia. Dr. Knowles was a noted character in this section of the state by reason of the fact that notwithstanding he was well educated he insisted on living in a veritable hovel and ascribing his long life to his mode of living. He had been a defendant in numerous lawsuits, which he always defended personally, and was generally at odds with his neighbors and civilization in general. A few years ago his son, Joseph, now dead, killed a man who attempted to take possession of his father's property. Later the children of the son were taken away from the old man by the Connecticut Humane Society, owing to his mode of living. His wife, who shared his views of life, died a few years ago at the age of 80.

AMERICAN PAPERS SPEND MILLIONS IN PUBLICITY.

Sacramento, Cal., April 3.—The patriotism of the press was shown with startling emphasis here with the startling emphasis estimating the compiling of figures estimating roughly that California newspapers have contributed approximately $2,500,000 worth of space to the Government's war publicity since the United States entered the conflict.

Considering California as an average State, this means that the newspapers of the country have given the Government $100,000,000 worth of publicity since last April.

Men in the employ of Cheney Brothers have been busy of late repairing breaks, caused by frost, in the water mains at the south end. Three breaks were discovered on Park street. In repairing one of the breaks near Dr. Tinker's home, it was found that the water was frozen solid in the pipe and the men were able to cut out the pipe and put in a new piece without shutting off the valve at Main and Park streets.

SORRY NOW.

Man Who Wanted to Blow Up Mill Lost His Temper.

Charles Buscaglia the man who became excited at the E. E. Hilliard mill yesterday morning and threatened to blow up the mill was given a chance to make good this morning by Judge Carney in the police court. The man was sorry that he allowed his temper to get the best of him and said so in court. He had an application made out and wanted to join the aviation corps but he has been waiting for an opportunity to get an appointment. He is therefore spending his time weaving. He thought he was not getting enough pay and allowed some of the other workmen to get him excited over it.
The judge was of the opinion that the man had been punished enough and allowed him to go. Buscaglia was anxious to get his job back again. Attorney William S. Hyde represented Buscaglia in court.

TOWN'S POLITICAL POT BEGINNING TO SIMMER

Special Town Election To Be Held Here on May 8

JUDGE WOOD'S SUCCESSOR

W. S. Hyde Almost Certain of Being Our Next Judge of Probate Court—Political Whispers.

The special town election for the successor to Olin R. Wood as judge of probate will be held on Monday, May 8. Governor Holcomb yesterday issued the special warrant. The Republican town committee will meet soon to arrange for the Republican caucus for the nomination of a candidate to be elected on the above date. It is not certain whether the Democrats will name a candidate or not. While it has been rumored about town that there were to be several candidates for the job, there is only one man whose candidacy is taken seriously. That man is William S. Hyde. He has been an avowed candidate for the last year or more. He has said that he would like the position and no one doubts his ability to look after the duties of the office of judge of probate. He is one of the most popular men in the Republican party in the town and he is also one of the best vote getters in the party. It is not likely that anyone will dispute his candidacy.

Burke, a Candidate?
Attorney Harry M. Burke has said that he would like the position but he is not going to make a big fight to secure it. It has been noised about that Selectman Howard I. Taylor would be a candidate for the position but he told a Herald man this morning that he had never thought of such a move and the rumor that he was a candidate was altogether wrong. He has all the work he cares to take upon himself at the present time.

Democrats Not Interested.
John F. Limerick who is chairman of the Democratic town committee said this morning that as far as the Democrats were concerned the office of judge of probate did not appeal to them. It was an office that had been held by the Republicans for the last 30 years and he questioned whether his party would take the trouble to name a candidate.

The Republicans will name a candidate at an open caucus and the election will be held in the usual manner with the use of the voting machines. It will be necessary for the registrars to prepare a voting list for the special election and the whole election machinery will be brought into play for the election of one man.

Judge Wood's Record.
Judge Wood who retires from the office of judge of probate has served the town continuously since the winter of 1889. He has been named by the Republicans at every caucus where an election for the office was to be held. His candidacy was contested on two different occasions, once by Harry M. Burke when Judge Wood won out by a small margin of three votes and again when a combination of Democrats and Prohibitionists got together and named E. L. G. Hohenthal to oppose him, but the judge won out handily.

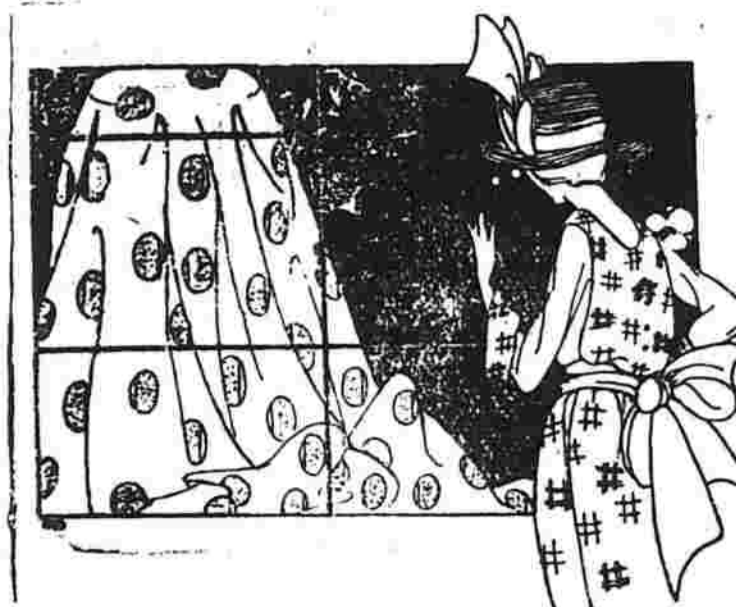

Reached Age Limit.
Judge Wood reaches the age of 70 years on the 29th of May. He then retires from the job because of the age limit. That he has been faithful to his trust as judge of probate has never been questioned. In fact he has devoted practically all his time to the job. He is yet in the best of health and capable of doing much good work. He does not intend to sit down and take life easy but is ready and willing to undertake all work that comes his way. He has as yet made no definite plans for the future other than that he intends to make an honest living at his life's calling, that of practicing law.

WHY A BUICK?

THAT'S THE QUESTION

What does the VALVE-IN-HEAD Buick motor mean to you; have you studied its manifold advantages? Do you understand why it is more economical in GASOLINE CONSUMPTION than any other type? Do you know from what cause its wonderful power is realized? Do you fully appreciate what it means to buy product from a company who has continuously for fourteen years manufactured it; who has held tenaciously to first principles and who has given the Valve-in-Head Motor the touches of perfection, gained through these years of experience in its development? In your mind, what is it that has created for the Buick Motor Company the most wonderful demand ever experienced by any motor manufacturing company? Would you believe that three out of every four prospective automobile purchasers are said, first, to seek a Buick? Do you know that many must be disappointed, as the supply does not equal the demand? It is almost impossible to secure immediate deliveries, yet thousands patiently await deliveries. Do you realize that the sum total of all your questions can be simply, yet truthfully, answered by telling you that—
