Newspapers Jubilant over U. S. Army Record—America Six Months Ahead of Record, Says Pall Mall Gazette—Wilson-Baker Letters Published by All

London, July 3.—The evening newspapers made a great display today of dispatches telling of the movement of American troops to France. The Evening Standard carried a "streamer," (a head clear across the first page), stating that there are now 1,000,000 Americans in France. "President Wilson tells the people of record achievement," said the Evening Standard. "Since the German offensive began in mid-March, 731,740 men have sailed from America. Berlin has an anxious problem."

The Westminster Gazette also carried a big headline, saying that there are now 1,020,000 Americans in France. The movement is called an "advance."

This call for women between the ages of 19 and 35 is being issued jointly by W. C. The details will now be taken over by an examiner for the board who will come here Friday and open hearings. The board promised that announcement of its decision will be made by, or as near as possible, August 1 and that a just and fair retroactive provision will be made for the workers.

FRENCH AGAIN SMASH WAY FORWARD ON MARNE FRONT FOR HALF A MILE

Foes' Counter Attack Against Vaux, Taken Yesterday by Americans and French, Breaks Down—British to North Yield Some Ground—Italians Successfully Continue Counter Offensive

Following up the brilliant success of the Americans on the Marne front the French delivered a local blow against the German lines between the Oise and Aisne Rivers, penetrating the German trenches to a depth of 800 yards over a wide front.

The Allies are giving the Germans no rest over the greater part of the battle line, driving home strong minor thrusts and raiding advanced trenches.

In the meanwhile heavy artillery activity continues, but so accustomed have the armies become to shelling that, unless the cannonades are of especial intensity, they are not mentioned in the War Office reports any more.

Foe Counter Attack Breaks.

This counter assault was launched against Vaux, but the Americans grimly held on and refused to yield an inch of ground. The Americans have proved that the Allied high command made no error when it placed the United States troops at the vital point defending the Paris highway on the Marne.

Paris, July 3.—Between the Oise and Aisne Rivers the French carried out a local operation, north of Moulins Sous Touvent, penetrating the German position to a depth of 800 metres over a front of three kilometres, the French War Office announced today.

Two hundred and twenty German prisoners were captured.

West of Chateau Thierry a German counter-attack was delivered in the Vaux sector, but it was repulsed, prisoners remaining in the hands of the Allied forces.

Attempted raids by the Germans northeast of Moncel and upper Alsace were repulsed.

French Report.

The text of the communique follows:

"Between the Oise and the Aisne Rivers we executed a local operation north of Moulins Sous Touvent which enabled us to penetrate and occupy enemy positions over a front of three kilometres and to a depth of 800 metres at certain points. Two hundred and twenty German prisoners were taken.

"West of Chateau Thierry, the enemy delivered a counter at Vaux, but it was repulsed and some prisoners remained in the hands of the allies.

"Attempted raids by the Germans northeast of Moncel and in upper Alsace failed."

British Yield.

London, July 3.—Strong German attacks were delivered last night and resulted in the re-capture of the greater part of the ground taken by the British on June 30th, the War Office reported today.

The text of the official report follows:

"Last night, after a heavy bombardment, the enemy attacked and recaptured the greater part of the ground taken by us in a minor operation on the evening of June 30.

"Successful raids were carried out by us in the neighborhood of Boyelles, Moyenneville and Merria. A few prisoners were taken in each case."

The ground referred to as being retaken by the Germans lies near Albert, on the extreme northern end of the Picardy front.

American Seaplane Aviator

London, July 3.—Success does not crown every American effort at sea, but that does not deter United States naval contingents from continuing their work in high spirit and with determination. The enemy scores occasionally, but the American motto is to make him pay dearly for any success, no matter how trivial.

Among mishaps to American units officially recorded at the United States naval headquarters here is the case of Ensign Roe, aviator, who was attacked by three German seaplanes on the North Sea. His fate is unknown. He was last seen in the vicinity of some enemy destroyers and it is believed he was taken prisoner.

Last Word by Pigeon.
The last word from Ensign Roe was brought to a naval base by a carrier pigeon, the message reading: "On water, attacked by three Hunns." Roe and a British aviator, started from an English coast base for a long reconnaissance flight. Roe's engine was giving trouble, so he alighted on the water to make an adjustment. He signalled to his comrade that he would have his engine working soon, and the British aviator proceeded. Shortly the Englishman came upon two German seaplanes and accepted battle, driving them both in the direction of the German coast. He then attempted to locate Roe, but his gasoline supply was low and he could make only a brief search, which was futile.

A few hours after the British aviator reached his base the pigeon arrived with the message from the American.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

It is the independence of the whole world, including the poor, deluded wretches of Germany, for which America is fighting now, and this year's Fourth ought to mean more than any before it, except the first. Freedom means the right of each nation and people to be itself, provided it does not infringe upon the equal right of other nations and peoples.

The first three days of this week mark the anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, in the momentous struggle between the North and the South, for the freedom of the colored race. The Civil War was economic, at first, rather than moral, but Lincoln turned it into a great moral struggle, just as America has turned the fight against autocracy into a moral conflict.

Independence Day so symbolized is fraught with a significance beyond power of words to describe. France and England and Italy will celebrate our Fourth tomorrow, and their hearts will be in the celebration, too. It is a privilege to live on July 4, 1918.

OUR WAR LAWS.

It is an admirable statement on War Legislation that an instructor in politics in the University of Illinois contributes to the current number of a well known monthly. Under three captions he enumerates:

1. "What the Law Requires Us to Do"; 2. "What the Law Forbids Us to Do"; and 3. "What the Nation Asks Us to Do."

1. A—we are required—some of us to fight, which is Conscription; the nation can't wait for a volunteer army. The answers to the question are: 1. "We are required—some of us to fight, which is Conscription; the nation can't wait for a volunteer army. The answers to the ques-

Violations of any of these provisions are punishable by five years' imprisonment, $5,000 fine or both.

3. Lastly the nation asks you to be patriotic in spirit as well as letter. It asks you: To Save food, fuel, money and Loan, by buying thrifty stamps and Liberty bonds; to Give to the Red Cross, Army Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, and the Armenian and Syrian relief and other similar needs; and finally to Work at some useful occupation.

OUTSIDE THE LAW.

A few years ago a play called "Within the Law" appeared upon a New York stage. It told the story of a woman who, after a bitter and unjust experience at the hands of the law, had determined to get a living by a career essentially criminal, but without violating the law. She remained a criminal in spirit, of course, a worse criminal than the blunt and bold robber, just as a clever deceiver is worse than a bold faced liar.

In Germany, especially at present, any act that helps the state is condoned and any which hurts it is condemned, whether a crime morally or not. The state is, like Nietzsche's Superman, "beyond good and evil." In America huge fortunes have been made by evading the law, keeping within it.

These facts only illustrate the truth, not only that the spirit as well as the letter of the law must be observed, but that citizens must feel a moral obligation.

Laws, and especially the ends at which they aim, are futile unless public sentiment backs them. The obligation of all others, then, resting upon the nation is for each individual to realize that he or she is part of the real police power which makes laws effective.

It is not enough not to get caught violating the law. It does not suffice, either, to obey the law one's self and ignore the disobedience of others. The evil of omission is often worse than that of commission.

One must do more even than this. One must give one's moral and material support to the publication, the church or other agency that is genuinely patriotic and democratic. How much publicity, on its news and editorial pages, for instance, did certain Hartford newspapers give to the profiteering scandal that appeared Saturday? Extensive advertising by the worst corporations concerned staved off criticism. Anybody in town who encourages such newspapers is merely helping plunderers of the public.

and appears; those who encourage them; 2. Because they give the press the power without which privilege would be helpless; 3. Because they, in the mass, create most of the country's wealth, and wealth is power.

The Hartford Times asks for an auto law with more teeth in it. The new law, effective during the first six months of the year, did not prevent 65 fatal accidents in the State during the half year, in which 18 children of three or three and one half years to 12 years old were killed.

The New York Times lauds the pig as a meat manufacturer. But think of the goat. What chemist could turn paper into meat, as Billy and Nanny do?

Nobody will begrudge the increased appropriation for the Ninth District school, even if much of the increment will go ultimately to the Chicago packers and others.

The report that Postmaster General Burleson will have charge of the wire lines when the government takes them over, as it is expected to do, reaffirms the understanding current for some weeks.

Steel, cloth and other manufacturers in Connecticut could cut the cost of living of their employees 50 per cent., if they would take the production, preparation and distribution of certain staple foods into their own hands. The state has the land, too. But they prefer to continue raising wages, paying bonuses, etc.

In as much as Congress, which is so stanchly back of an eight-hour day—for others—averages about four hours' work out of 24, it shouldn't object to working this summer.

Nineteen thousand American troops and then some over and above a round million were in France on July 1, says Secretary of War Baker. This more than confirms a story published extensively in this and other newspapers long ago. Of course some of them are not fighters, but bottle-washers. But the cooks, too, have taken the gun once or twice.

Why do they call them bathing beaches? Of course there is such a thing as a sand bath.

Little East Hampton, the first to go over the top in the last Liberty loan campaign, got a flag yesterday and heard a speech from Governor Hildcomb. The Governor isn't talking for nothing.

Massachusetts is determined to raise enough food for its own consumption, instead of paying freight rates from the West and several mid-States. To do it a farm and food foundation has been organized, the funds for which are proposed on the following basis: Manufacturers, one twentieth of one per cent. of the previous year's payroll; banks, same percentage of net resources of previous year; merchants, one fifth of one per cent of net sales. Who said popular reforms always started in the West and came East?

BRIDE DISAPPEARS AFTER FIVE DAYS

Son of Millionaire Clubman of Boston in Search of Wife, Former Telephone Operator.

Boston, July 3.—Edward Tuck French, son of Amos Tuck French, millionaire corporation director, and clubman of New York and Newport, R. I., is in Boston today in search of his bride of five days, who left him in a hotel at Fall River, where they were staying on their honeymoon.

Mrs. French was formerly Lillian M. Harrington, a Manchester, N. H., telephone operator. She became the bride of young French only last Friday.

French telegraphed his brother-in-law, John E. Geraghty, at the latter's home at Brookline and asked him to meet Mrs. French on her arrival here. Geraghty failed to locate the bride.

Later, it is said, French came over the road in his auto, took a suite at the Copley Plaza and went direct to the Geraghty home, hoping to learn something of the whereabouts of Mrs. French. He was disappointed, however, and returned to the hotel.

Young French and Miss Harrington were married at the Church of the Advent, of this city last Friday afternoon.

South End Kiddies Flock to Cottage St. and West Side Sites

TYPICAL DAY'S PROGRAM

Those in Charge and How Children Will Be Entertained During Hot Summer Months.

Yesterday marked the opening for the season of the Cottage street and Washington or West Side playgrounds and both were well patronized throughout the day. The kiddies had a big time with games, story telling and folk dancing and also were instructed in Red Cross work. As a starter they had some marching and patriotic exercises, consisting of a flag raising, salute to the flag and the singing of The Star Spangled Banner. Red Cross work was featured at the Cottage street playground in the morning and physical culture in the afternoon, while the reverse order prevailed at the Washington playground in the morning and physical culture in the afternoon, and vice versa at the Cottage street playground.

The New Director.

W. H. Whiting of Springfield, successor to J. H. Mueller as recreation director in the Ninth district, was scheduled to take up his duties here Monday but did not arrive in town until today, having been detained by the illness of his mother. He will have general supervision of the boys' park and Miss Marlon Tinker of Park street, who has been engaged as his assistant, will have general charge of the girls' work. Miss Tinker is a graduate of St. Margaret's school of Waterbury and Dr. Arnold's or the New Haven Normal School of Gymnastics. She was graduated from the latter school last month.

In the playground activities, Miss Ethel Charter will have charge of the Red Cross work and Miss Elizabeth Weldon of the physical culture for the month of July. Both are local girls. Miss Charter is a graduate of the local high school and the New Britain normal school and has been teaching in the Ninth district this past year. Miss Weldon is a graduate of the local high school and of the New Haven Normal School of Gymnastics, class of 1918.

Physical Culture.

During the month of August, Miss Pearl Dougan of Garden street will have charge of the physical culture work and Miss Lucy Patee of Derby will have charge of the Red Cross work. Miss Dougan was engaged in the playground work here last summer. She is a graduate of the local high school and of the New Haven Normal School of Gymnastics. The past year she has been teaching in Vermont. Miss Patee has been teaching the past year in the Ninth district.

The Day's Program.

Below is printed a typical day's program at the playgrounds:

9.20 to 9.30, March and flag raising; salute to the flag and singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

9.30 to 10.30 active games and Free Play.

10.30 to 11.30, Red Cross work.

2.00 to 3.00, Quiet games and Story Telling.

3.00 to 4.00, Free Play and Games for the younger children; track work and new games.

4.00 to 5.00, Folk dancing for the younger and older girls.

At Recreation Center.
A schedule for the swimming lessons at the Recreation Center pool has been arranged, the girls to go in classes according to their school rooms and classes. Periods also have been set aside for employed girls and women, but they must be members of the Recreation club. There is plenty of room for new members, however. The schedule follows:

Monday.
Morning: 10.30 to 11.00 a. m., Miss Clark's room of the Barnard school; 11.00 to 11.30, Miss Moore's room.
Afternoon: 2.30 to 3.00, High school freshmen; 3.00 to 3.30, High school sophomores; 3.30 to 4.00,

The shipment of tobacco for the Manchester boys overseas was sent yesterday from New York and consisted of two hundred and fifty cartons of cigarettes to be divided between the boys of Company G and the other Manchester boys who can be reached by Dr. Hesselgrave. Some smoking tobacco was also sent, the total shipment coming to nearly one hundred dollars.

Since the government has taken over the factory at Winston-Salem, N. C., from which place the Manchester Overseas Fund has been purchasing tobacco, some difficulty has been experienced by the men in charge of the fund in obtaining tobacco for overseas. However, it is hoped now that the monthly shipment will go through in good shape.

It was recently learned that the tobacco and pipes sent from this place in January reached Company G about May 4th last, the first of any shipments except that taken over personally by Dr. Hesselgrave, to reach the boys. There were three other shipments that also were sent right after the January shipment, so if they come along in about the same time, there will be enough tobacco on
