PROHIBITION NEARER.

Louisiana, which ratified the federal prohibition amendment on August 8 at a special session of the legislature, makes the 14th state to line up in favor, and now Florida is practically pledged affirmatively.

Thirty out of the 32 members of its legislature, whom Senator James E. Calkins sounded regarding their sentiment in favor of him as candidate for President of the State Senate, stand for the amendment, and he declares the next legislature, which meets in April, will be composed almost entirely of men known to favor national prohibition.

Senator Calkins adds that "if a majority of the next legislature votes to act in obedience to a direction in the federal constitution, the thing is done, the state constitution to the contrary notwithstanding."

Louisiana is the only state which has recorded its vote against the amendment, and it reversed its action later. On May 23 last its Senate split even on the question.

Prohibition sentiment is becoming distressingly prevalent. It is breaking out in almost every part of the country, and is not confined merely to the Southern states, which have to cope with the danger of drunken negro labor.

That legislation has died with the silence of its original legislators. The East is well represented by Massachusetts, not to mention Delaware and, if you like, Maryland; the West by North and South Dakota and Montana; the Southwest by Arizona and Texas.

The other broad divisions of the nation will answer "Yes" as soon as their legislatures have a chance to vote, unless they call special sessions, as some states have done.

In fact, it is becoming really fashionable to oppose prohibition.

SALVATIONISTS LIKED BEST. For many months past we have been hearing a good deal more about the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus than about the Salvation Army, all over America.

The four organizations, recognized by the War Department and authorized to do Camp Welfare Work in France are the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus and the Salvation Army.

MILK ZONE SYSTEM. The waste of time, labor, horse-flesh or gasoline, etc., involved in the duplication by milk retailers of service on the same routes, is an absurd condition that several New England cities have noted.

San Francisco, however, seems to be about the first large city to undertake the reform. A plan has been worked out by a milk distributing commission, appointed by the city's federal food administrator, whereby the entire municipality will be "zoned."

Only two dealers will be permitted in the same zone—probably because most streets have only two sides, the poor side you occupy and the nice side you look at.

The city hopes to keep the price of the fluid down to 12 cents in consequence—12 cents a quart, at which it now is selling—so that the producer may obtain a larger share of the profit.

In the Northwest a movement is being pushed to promote comprehensive cooperation, between producers and the federal Food Administration. Here are examples that should serve as precepts everywhere.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR. This newspaper does not believe in mixing religion and medicine, although it frankly realizes that the division of human knowledge and experience into various sciences is to some extent artificial and arbitrary.

But the Evening Herald is obliged to take off its hat to the Christian Science Monitor as a newspaper. It is the only truly international newspaper of which we know, and we might almost say the only truly national one.

The paper is somewhat bold in its new policy, for the tendency now is toward afternoon newspapers all over the country.

Improvements in railroad appliances and facilities, such as that of the new locomotive flashlight that is said to play a distance of 20 rods in front of the iron monster, indicate that the roads' vision is returning.

CLEVELAND POLITICIAN CARRIES SMALL CIRCUS. Cleveland, O., Aug. 13.—An original election campaign has been inaugurated here by County Clerk E. B. Haseford, who is seeking re-election. He has a miniature circus train made of three automobiles, in one of which he carries a stepladder, another bears a canvass screen to act as the stage, and a third is fitted out with a small callopo.

Several contemporaries have dropped from 18 to 20 pages, or more, to 16. Isn't dehydration a perfectly wonderful principle!

OLIVER TWIST FINED. Boston, Aug. 13.—Oliver Twist has been ordered to pay a fine of $10 by the Charlestown Municipal Court, he having been found guilty of displaying a substitute number plate on his automobile without the permission of the State Highway Department.

STATE TO FILL QUOTA IN CANNING CAMPAIGN

Early Reports to Food Committee Indicates This—Connecticut Pledged 5,000,000 Quarts.

Early but incomplete reports to the food committee of the State Council of Defense indicate that Connecticut will measure up to her full quota of 5,000,000 quarts of canned fruit and vegetables. It is perhaps not surprising that in general smaller communities are running far over their quotas, while the larger cities in some cases are falling short of their allotment.

Rocky Hill was one of the first towns in the State to report. The whole campaign was turned over to the Junior Home Economics Clubs and the girls did splendid work. A quota of 4000 quarts was assigned and the report shows 187 pledges that averaged 85 quarts each, or a total of nearly 16,000 quarts, almost three times the allotment.

A number of different plans have been effectively used in the different communities. In Darien the War Savings Stamps Committee did the collecting. In Danbury pledge cards were distributed by the letter carriers as they handed the housewife her morning mail.

The Danbury section of Fairfield County reports that 5,300 cards have been signed, pledging a total of 127,000 quarts. In New Haven County, 4,000 cards have been signed and 275,000 quarts pledged and 15 towns not heard from.

The reports "fell" for the story.

INSIDE HISTORY IS TOLD OF A FAMOUS MILK BATH

Now That Anna Held Is Dead Veterans Scribe Divulges How Plan Was Worked.

The wires this morning brought the news that Anna Held, the actress, had died in New York. Now that the actress is dead it is no breach of confidence to tell how Miss Held "got into" the newspapers of the United States when she came here from Paris in 1898 or thereabouts.

When Miss Held arrived in New York she at once procured a manager and a press agent named James McCarthy, a newspaper reporter, who is now head of the S. P. C. A. of Hudson County, N. J.

After this had been going on for a week, the people in the neighborhood started to talk. They wondered who was drinking 320 quarts of milk each day. Then McCarthy tipped off the newspaper offices.

The janitor told them the milk was sent up to Miss Held's apartments each day. He did not know what she was doing with 320 quarts of milk.

The next step for the reporters was to interview the actress. She was ready for them with her American manager. She could not speak a word of English but through an interpreter she told the newspapermen that she was accustomed to taking a bath each morning in milk; that it was this milk bath that made her so beautiful.

The reporters "fell" for the story.

Come to Our August Furniture Sale

That day every newspaper in New York came out with four and five column stories telling of the milk bath. The stories were widely copied and Miss Held was so well known before the end of the week that she had her pick of engagements as the theatrical managers followed the newspapermen to the apartment to induce her to sign contracts.

Coming, N. Y., Aug. 13.—The Coming City Court had one slipped over on it a short time ago. A resident of Hammondsport, on being fined $10 for intoxication, offered a check in settlement. It was accepted by the Judge. Shortly afterward the check was returned unpaid marked "no funds". When the monthly report of the City Judge was made to the Common Council it showed a discrepancy of $10, the amount of the unpaid check.

Remark about Quentin Roosevelt cost $100. Dodge City, Kan., Aug. 13.—H. A. Cord, a coal dealer here, was declared by witnesses to have expressed pleasure over the death of Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt as the result of a fall from his airplane. The Ford County Council of Defense called upon Cord. He was released after paying $50 to the Red Cross and $50 to the Y. M. C. A.

Sullivan, Ind., Aug. 13.—Maan's Grove, Sullivan County's most beautiful picnic spot is soon to be a part of a grain field. The big walnut trees will yield to overgrown service in the capacity of gun-shocks, gas-plane propellers and king brass, according to Dr. J. L. Durham, who owns the grove. Dr. Durham stated the government is calling upon him to send his grove to war, and that he will "expect every citizen to do its duty."

EVENING HERALD'S MAGAZINE PAGE

"ROOM AND BATH" JUST BACK OF THE FIGHTING LINES

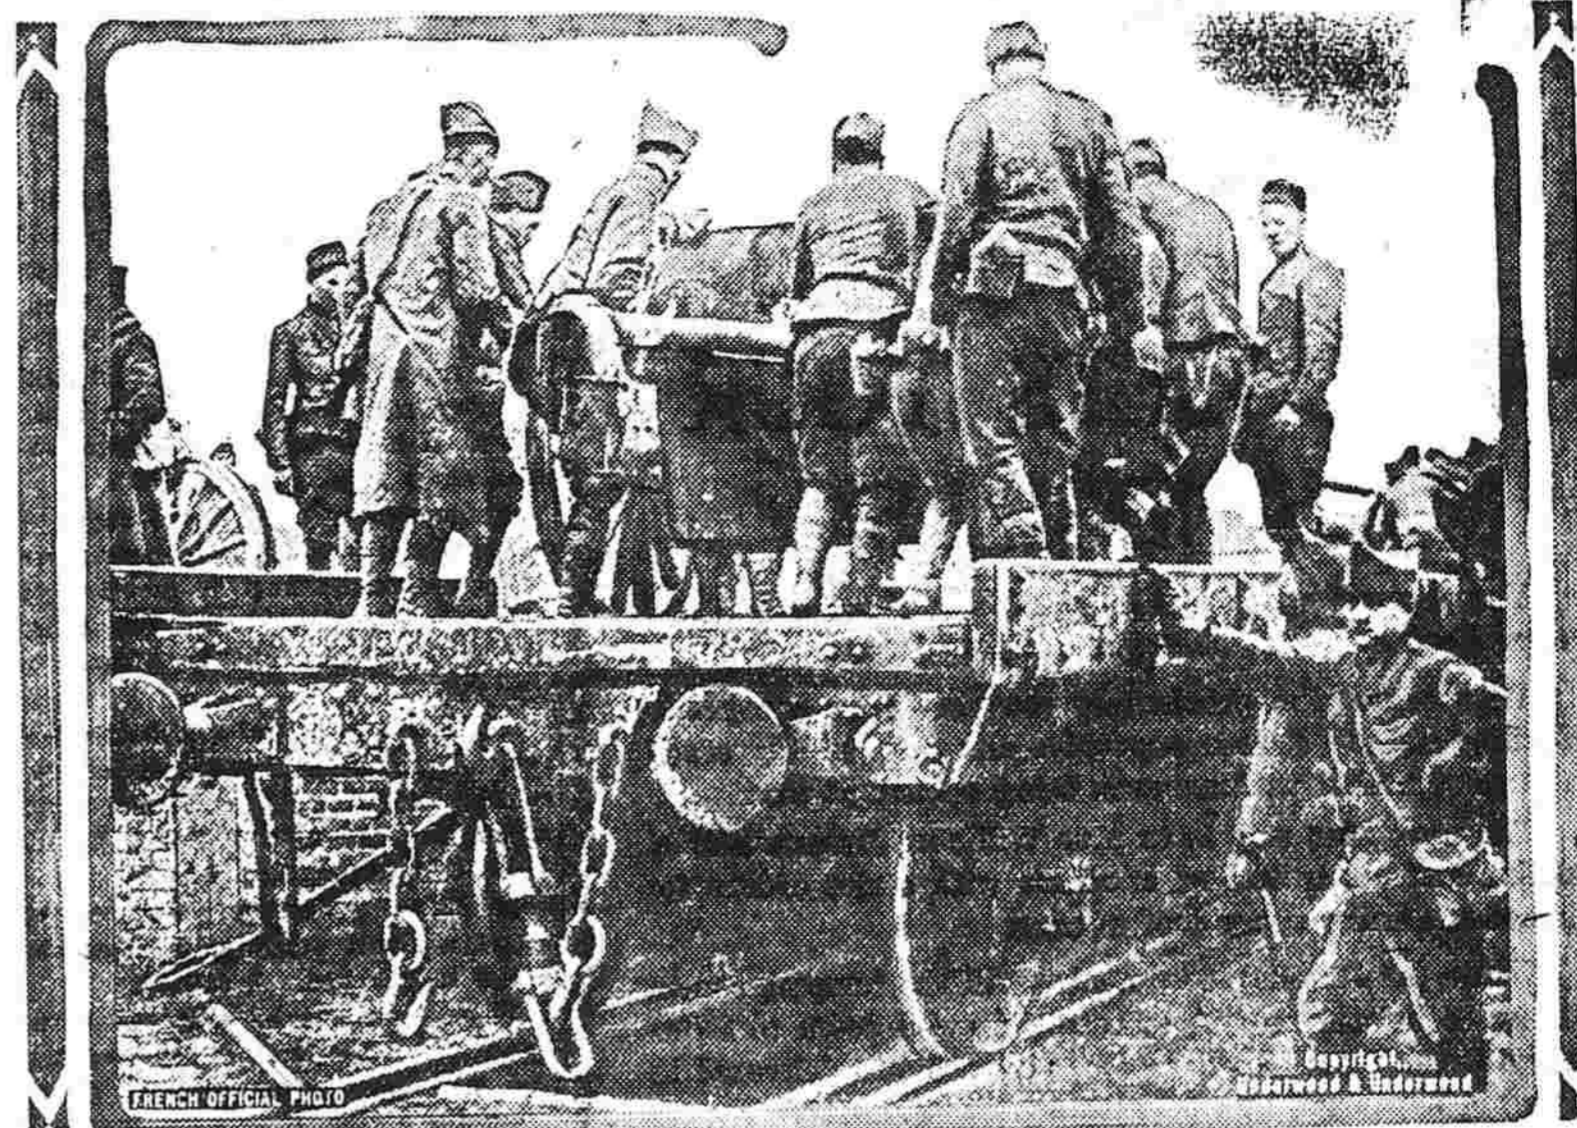

One of the most necessary things, and sometimes the thing greatly lacking, is a bath for the men "out there." Behind the lines there are bathing quarters for the men and when bathing day arrives they are in a happy frame of mind. It's a case of first come, first served. The old fable of three wise men in a tub cannot be repeated here, because this tub has room for only two men. These are British Tommies who have been relieved from duty in the trenches and are making the most of their rest.

French Girl Popular in Washington Society

Miss Genevieve Belle, daughter of Baron Belle of the French high commission, is one of the most popular of the women war visitors to the United States capital. The various war missions have contributed so much to the social life of Washington that entertainments frequently have the cosmopolitan aspect of similar events in European capitals.

AMERICANS IN FRANCE UNLOADING THEIR ARTILLERY

The Americans are getting into the fighting in France in five fashion. Here are some of a division that has just arrived close to the front line, unloading the guns with which they will soon be hammering the Hun.

Dr. C. H. Mayo, Attached to Surgeon General's Staff

A new portrait of Dr. C. H. Mayo of Rochester Minn., an eminent surgeon, who has given all his time and talents to the government since the United States entered the war. He is now attached to the surgeon general's office in Washington, and has been a member of the general medical board, council of national defense, ever since that board was organized.

Belgian Who Captured a Carload of Germans

Jacques Du'pre, a Belgian soldier who has been in the service of his war-stricken country since the opening days of the war, is now the hero of his compatriots for his daring exploit of capturing an entire carload of Germans.

Major Maek Slapped King George on the Shoulder

Major William J. Maek of Cincinnati brought home to King George of England the kind of democratic spirit that is customary among Americans. Major Maek is agent of the United States insurance board in England. When presented to the king and queen, Major Maek asked their majesties for their signatures to encourage American soldiers in England to sign also. He accompanied the request to the king with a well-meant, informal slap on the shoulder. The enterprising Ohioan has sold $1,500,000 war insurance for the government.

Beautiful Countess Is Working for the Soldiers

The beautiful countess of Pembroke is shown in her costume as a Red Cross nurse. She, like many other prominent ladies of the British peerage, is wearing the garb of Red Cross nurse while working for the soldiers. Lady Pembroke is the wife of the fifteenth earl of Pembroke and has been serving as a nurse at home while her husband is at the front. Before her marriage she was Lady Beatrice Paget.

Man Who Issued the "Fight or Work" Order

A new photograph of Maj. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, United States provost marshal general. He is and has been in charge of the draft, an undertaking which not only has mobilized the numerical man power of the nation, but has segregated the men of draft age into powerful industrial units as well.

Heads Pigeon Section of the Signal Corps

Major Griffith is head of the department to train pigeons for carrier service with the army. The department is known as the pigeon section of the Signal corps.

Commander of One of Our Big Battleships

A new photograph of Capt. Henry A. Wiley, commander of one of the biggest of Uncle Sam's dreadnaughts.

Not So Mean.

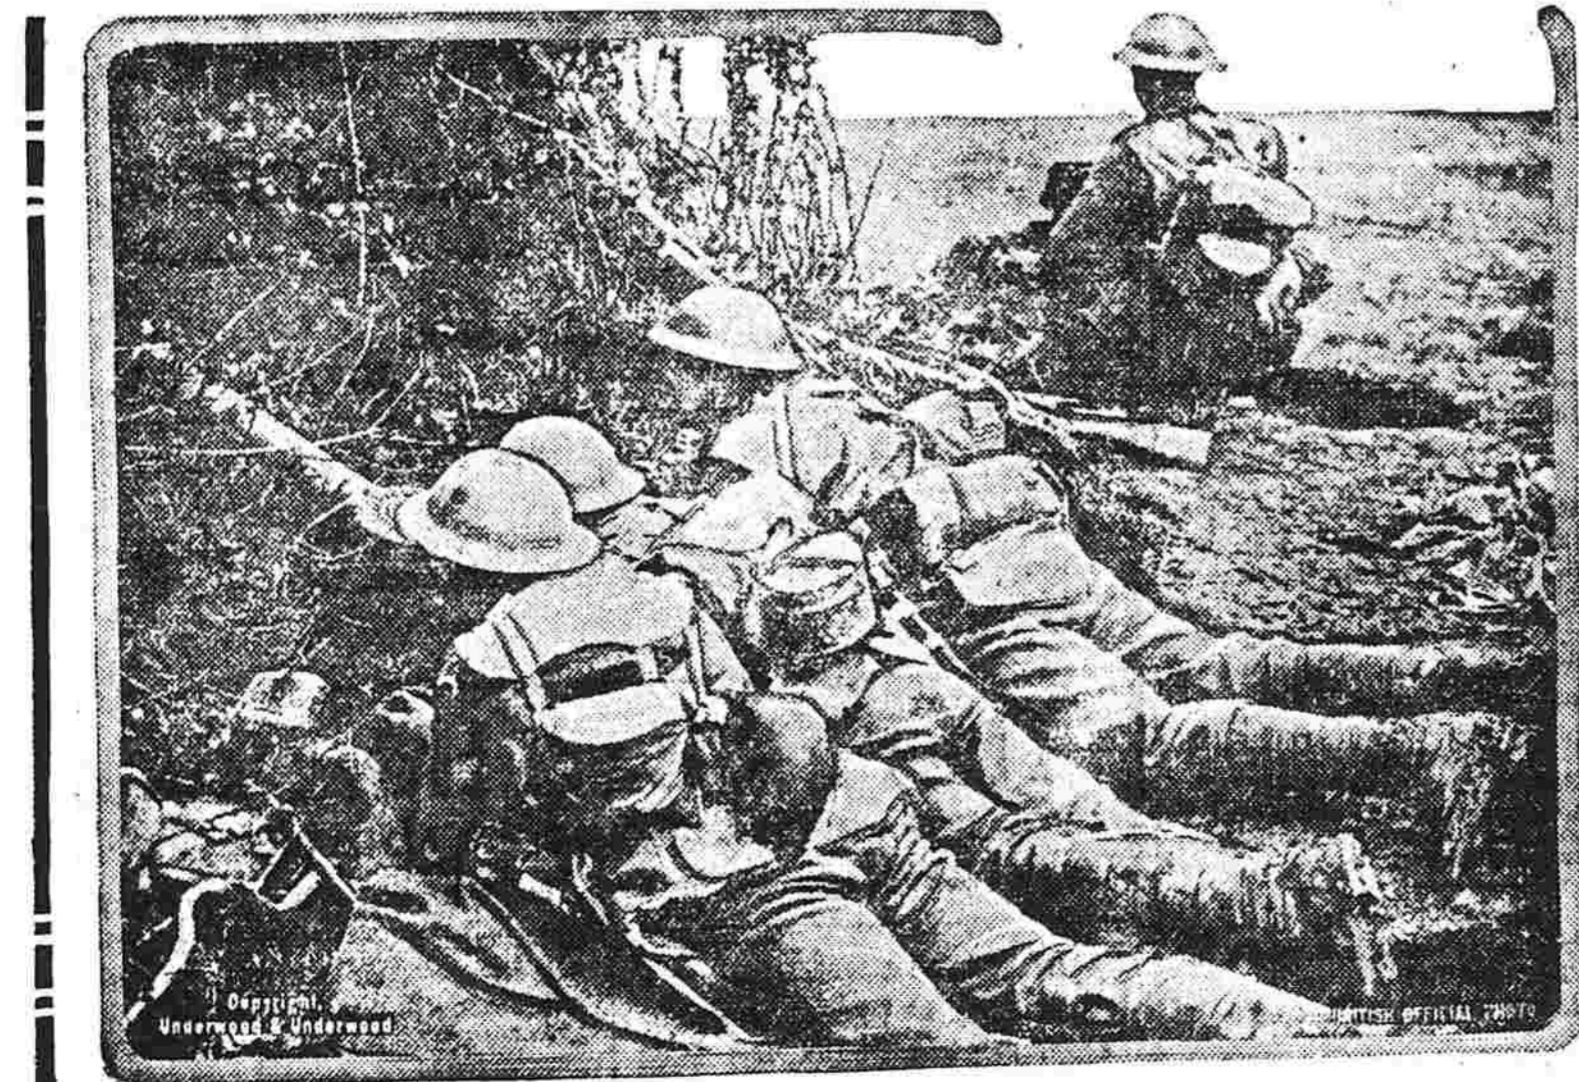

"Did the bride's father give her away?" "Yes, on the contrary, he told the bridegroom she would make a very economical wife."

MAKING CITIZENS OF FOREIGN-BORN MEN WHO ARE SERVING IN AMERICAN ARMY

One of the most impressive of any scenes witnessed at any of the training camps where men of the selective army are being whipped into shape was enacted at Camp Upton when 300 men wearing the khaki of Uncle Sam were admitted to full citizenship. These men are all foreign born, and full citizenship was granted them in order to give them every protection accorded a citizen of the United States. The photograph shows James F. Richardson, city clerk of Suffolk county, receiving the oath of allegiance from the men in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at the camp.

OPEN FIGHTING IS THE RULE ON WESTERN FRONT

Open fighting is taking the place of trench warfare on the western front now, especially during the German mass efforts to break through. In this fighting the machine gun plays an important part. The gunners run across a stretch of open ground, then, as is shown in this British official photograph, they ambush themselves in a thicket or some other handy bit of shelter. This machine-gun squad is working its Lewis gun only 100 yards from the advancing German lines.
