PRESIDENT APPEALS TO ELECTORATE TO RETURN A DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS

Calls Both Parties Patriotic, But Says He Requires Friendly Senate and House if He is to Continue as Unembarrassed Spokesman for War at Home and Abroad—"Unified Leadership" is Necessary.

Washington, Oct. 25.—President Wilson today appealed to the people of the United States to return a Democratic majority to both the Senate and the House at the coming election. The President declared that the election of a Republican majority of either the Senate or the House unquestionably would be interpreted abroad as a repudiation of his leadership.

The President stated while unquestionably the leaders of the minority in both the Senate and the House have been pro-war, there is no question but they also have been anti-administration. The Congressional elections, the President says, occur in the most critical period of our country ever has faced or is likely at the present time and that if he is to be continued as the unembarrassed spokesman at home and abroad he must have a friendly Congress to back up his efforts.

The text of the President's communication is as follows:—

President's Appeal.
"My fellow countrymen: The Congressional elections are at hand. They occur in the most critical period of our country has ever faced or is likely to face in our time. If you have approved of my leadership and wish me to continue to be your unembarrassed spokesman in affairs at home and abroad, I earnestly beg that you will express yourselves unmistakably to that effect by returning a Democratic majority to both the Senate and the House of Representatives. I am your servant and will accept your judgment without cavil, but my power to administer the great trust assigned me by the constitution would be seriously impaired should your judgment be adverse and I must frankly tell you so because so many critical issues depend upon your verdict. No scruple of taste must in grim times like these be allowed to stand in the way of speaking the plain truth.

"I have no thought of suggesting that any political party is paramount in the matter of patriotism. I feel too keenly the sacrifices which have been made in this way by all our citizens, irrespective of party affiliations, to harbour such an idea. I mean only that the difficulties and delicacies of our present task are of a sort that makes it imperative necessary that the nation should give its undivided support to the government under a unified leadership and that a Republican Congress could divide the leadership.

Minority Against Him.
"The leaders of the minority in the present Congress have unquestionably been pro-war, but they have been anti-administration. At almost every turn, since we entered the war, they have sought to take the choice of policy and the conduct of the war out of my hands and put it under the control of instrumentalities of their own choosing. This is no time either for divided counsel or for divided leadership. Unity of command is as necessary now in civil action as it is upon the field of battle. If the control of the House and Senate should be taken away from the party now in power, an opposing majority could assume control of legislation and oblige all action to be taken amidst contest and obstruction.

Election's Significance.
"The return of a Republican majority," in either House of the Congress would moreover certainly be interpreted on the other side of the water as a repudiation of my leadership. Spokesmen of the Republican party are urging you to elect a Republican Congress in order to back up and support the President but even if they should in this way impose upon some credulous voters on this side of the water, they would impose on no one on the other side. It is well understood there as well as here that the Republican leaders desire not so much to support the President as to control him. The peoples of the Allied countries with whom we are associated against Germany are quite familiar with the significance of elections. They would find it very difficult to believe that the voters of the United States had chosen to support their President by electing to the Congress a majority controlled by those who are not in fact in sympathy with the attitude and action of the administration.

Nation Must Be One.
"I need not tell you, my fellow countrymen, that I am asking your support not for the sake of a political party, but for the sake of the nation itself, in order that its inward unity of purpose may be evident to all the world. In ordinary times I would not feel at liberty to make such an appeal to you. In ordinary times divided counsels can be endured without permanent hurt to the country. But these are not ordinary times.

If, in these critical days, it is your wish to sustain me with undivided minds, I beg that you will say so in a way which it will not be possible to misunderstand either here at home or among our associates on the other side of the sea. I submit my difficulties and my hopes to you.
(Signed) Woodrow Wilson."

AUSTRIA TO TALK WITH AUSTRO-CZECHS

Zurich, Oct. 25.—Austria in her reply to President Wilson's separate note to that country states that the Austrian government will negotiate with the Austro-Czechs, according to a report received today.

In his note to Austria President Wilson pointed out that the United States has recognized that as a state of belligerency exists between the Czech-Slavs and the Austro-Hungarian and German nations.

MORMONS WILL RULE NATION, SAYS SPEAKER

Send Out 5,000 Missionaries Every Year, She Says.

CONTROL SUGAR AND SALT

Own Millions of Dollars and Have Members in Many High Places in United States.

"The Mormon Menace is more dangerous in the eastern states than in Utah," said Mrs. Shepherd, secretary of the National Reform Association of Pittsburgh, Pa., in an address at the South Methodist church last evening. And her hearers went away believing her story. She told many startling facts regarding the progress being made by the Mormons in this country and she said she was telling them at the risk of her own life, as she had been threatened with trouble and death if she started on her crusade against the Mormons.

Mrs. Shepherd has lived in Salt Lake City, Utah, for 25 years. Before entering the service of the National Reform Association of Pittsburgh, which is conducting a nationwide crusade against Mormonism in an effort to have an anti-polygamy Amendment to the United States Constitution passed, Mrs. Shepherd was a national speaker for the W. C. T. U. She said Mormonism had always been a partner to the liquor traffic and she had succeeded, in nine months campaigning, to get Utah into the dry column. Believing others could preach prohibition, but that she was especially called to fight the Mormon Menace, she became a speaker for the National Reform Association and is now fighting to kill polygamy in Utah and banish it from the United States.

Aim of Mormons.

The speaker said the aim of the Mormons is to get control of this country and that they boast that they will one day seat one of their men in the president's chair. Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, a Mormon, she said had been in Congress for nearly 18 years. The reason he had not been unseated, she said, was a political game. The two leading political parties were after Utah's electoral votes.

Wealthiest Church.
Mrs. Shepherd said the Mormon church was the wealthiest church, commercially, in the country. The Mormons have the biggest department store in Salt Lake City, with branch stores in various cities throughout the country. They control the sugar beet industry and the salt industry in this country. She said that in 1914, with one stroke of his pen, Joseph Smith, president of the Mormons, cleared nine million dollars in the sugar business. Last year, the Mormons made ten million dollars on sugar. At the time we couldn't get any sugar, she said they

WILSON SENDS U. S. DIPLOMATIC MISSION OVERSEAS

Group, Headed by Colonel House Reaches France—Will Act for America in Interest of Allied Unity in Discussions of Diplomats at Versailles.

Washington, Oct. 25.—President Wilson today has his own personal representatives in Europe. He is prepared for anything that may happen in connection with peace developments affecting the Central powers. This was officially admitted, following the announcement by the State department that an American mission had landed safely in France and was now in Paris.

The mission is made up as follows: Colonel E. M. House, President Wilson's personal representative. General Tasker H. Bliss, representing the United States Army. Admiral William B. Benson, representing the United States Navy. Secretary of the Embassy at Berlin, technical adviser to Colonel E. M. House on all matters of diplomatic procedure. Frank I. Cobb, New York editor, whose status with the mission has not been cleared up other than the announcement that he is "to assist Colonel House."

London Approves Answer Of President; Times Says American is English View

London, Oct. 25.—President Wilson's last reply to Germany's peace overtures has met with hearty approval here.

"President has cleared up the uncertainty regarding an armistice which would give the Germans time to reorganize their armies and strike again," said the Telegraph today. "It is a remarkable document and meets with hearty approval everywhere."

The Times calls it an admirable message, adding that "it reveals that the American view is identical with ours."

"The note meets with the approval of all the Allies," says the Chronicle, "and leaves no loop hole."
Lord Lansdowne has been strongly before the public on account of "peace letters" to British newspapers, called the note "strong and prudent."
"It means unconditional surrender for Germany, was the comment of Lord Beresford."
Henderson Sees Peace Hope.
Arthur Henderson, famous labor leader, declared that "President Wilson has clarified our 'hopes as to a peace programme.'"
"President Wilson's note means that Germany must place herself irrevocably in the hands of the Allies," said the Daily News. "If Ger-

PEACE RIOTS IN BERLIN AND ESSEN

Zurich, Oct. 25.—Fresh peace riots have broken out in Berlin and the workers in the great Krupp armament plant at Essen are reported to have gone on strike, according to press advices received here today.

There were bloody encounters between munitions strikers and the police in Berlin on Wednesday, it was stated.

JUDGE W. S. DOWNS.

Derby, Oct. 25.—Word was received here today of the sudden death last night in Washington, of Judge William S. Downs. Heart disease caused death. He was one of the prominent republicans of the state. Judge Downs was born Mar. 16, 1867 and was a graduate of the Hopkins Grammar school, New Haven and of the Albany Law School.

LESS "FLU" IN ILLINOIS.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—The influenza pneumonia epidemic in Chicago was reported to be lessing its grip on the city today. Deaths resulting from the influenza reported yesterday were 224 and from pneumonia 100. New cases of the former disease reported were 1,475; of the latter 446.

Reports from the northern portions of the state show that the conditions are growing better, while in some places the epidemic is still in full sway.

CROATS SEIZE FIUME.

Basle, Switz., Oct. 25.—Croatian infantry, attached to the Austro-Hungarian army, has revolted and seized the city of Fiume, said a dispatch from an Austrian source today.

Fiume is an important port on the Adriatic Sea in Hungary. It has a population of about 40,000. Before the war it had a big commercial trade.

SEPARATE TURK PEACE IS NEARER.

Zurich, Oct. 25.—The demand for a separate Turkish peace is growing steadily in the Ottoman empire, according to dispatches arriving here from Constantinople.

ITALIANS BEGIN NEW DRIVE; PUSH AHEAD SEVERAL MILES

Already Have Captured 2,875 Prisoners—British Only Seven Miles from Maubeuge; Captured Vendigies; Fall of Quesnoy Not Far Off—Pershing Approaching Danvillers, Twelve Miles from Verdun—Serbs Again Victories.

The long expected Italian offensive against the Austro-Hungarians is under way today between the Brenta and Piave rivers and, according to unofficial advices the Austrians have been thrown back several miles. Already 2,875 prisoners have been taken.

The assault, which began yesterday, centered about Monte Grappa, near the point where the battle line bends westward from the Piave. The Italians swept forward to the Ornic river in the first rush, capturing Monte Solarola and parts of other dominating mountain summits which the Austrians had fortified. Islands in the Piave and villages were seized.

Timed With Hungarian Dissension.

The new Italian drive, which comes after a long lull on that front, was timed, according to internal conditions in Austria-Hungary. Revolt has broken out in Bohemia and the Croat soldiers have mutinied and seized the important Hungarian city of Fiume. Unrest and war weariness among the Austro-Hungarian people have reached a keen pitch and the country is on the point of being invaded from the Danube side. Austro-German forces that were trying to hold up the Serbian advance are now retreating in disorder towards the southern frontier of Austria-Hungary, followed by the Allies.

Foch Believed in Change.

It is supposed that the new Italian offensive is timed in recognition of Marshal Foch, who is the guiding genius of all the Allied armies in Europe.

The Italian army is under the direct command of General Diaz, who stopped the Austro-Hungarian advance on the Piave. The fighting is taking place in extremely difficult mountainous country, where, it is likely, winter storms have already set in.

British Advance Again.

Renewing their attacks over a wide front between the Franco-Belgian frontier and the Wassigny zone, east of Cambrai, the British have made fresh progress at various points and have reached the Normal forest, a stretch of wooded ground of great strategic importance lying only seven miles from the fortress of Maubeuge.

Vendigies Captured.

South of Valenciennes the British are advancing along the Ecaillon river and have captured Vendegies sur Ecaillon, five and one half miles west of Le Quesnoy, and 13 miles northeast of Cambrai.

It was unofficially estimated in Paris that Field Marshal Haig's army captured 8,000 prisoners on Wednesday and Thursday.

The fall of Le Quesnoy would be a severe blow to the Germans as a number of important roads enter the town and have been utilized by the Boches for distribution purposes.

The British are pushing on from Raimies wood, which is 17 miles from Mons, where a great battle was fought between August 23 and the 27th, 1914.

In the Valenciennes region, where the Allies are advancing on the German base at Bavay, the British are less than seven miles from the Belgian frontier.

Pershing Near Danvillers.

On both sides of the Meuse river General Pershing's American armies have gained ground and are now approaching Danvillers, on the Verdun-Montmedy railway, nearly 12 miles north of Verdun. In the intervals between attacks the Americans are pounding the German positions with their artillery.

French forces that crossed the Oise river near Longchamps are advancing upon the German concentration center at Guise and are less than three miles away.

Serbs Win Big Victory.

A great defeat has been inflicted on the Austro-Germans on the Balkan front. In a three day battle the Serbians threw the Teutons back along the Morava Valley and the invaders were reported today to be in headlong flight towards the Danube, (the southern boundary of Austria.)

EUROPEAN ORDER OF PEACE THAT WILL LAST FOR GENERATIONS, SHOULD BE ALLIED OBJECT, SAYS ECHO DE PARIS; OTHER PAPERS COMMENT.

Paris, Oct. 25.—"We must have an opportunity to establish a European order of peace that will last for generations," said the Echo de Paris today.

The Echo de Paris is usually a closely informed newspaper and in its comment it outlined the course that the Entente nations probably will take in regard to the peace situation. It continued:—"We must leave nothing to chance when we discuss the future of peace.

Washington's discussions with Berlin are purely military and not carried on through the usual diplomatic channels. The terms of Germany's capitulation should be fixed by Marshal Foch, Field Marshal Haig, General Pershing and the British Admiralty.

"President Wilson's note means revolution or capitulation," said the Journal.

PEACE OR FINISH FIGHT CHOICE, HINDENBURG SAYS

Copenhagen, Oct. 25.—Field Marshal Hindenburg, the German Chief of Staff, has written to Chancellor Max saying that the German people have two alternatives, an honorable peace or a fight to the last man, said a dispatch from a German source today.

KAISERIN VERY ILL.

Amsterdam, Oct. 25.—So serious is the condition of the German Kaiserin, who is ill, that all of her children have been called to her bedside in the Potsdam palace, it was learned from Berlin today.

The Kaiserin was 60 years old on Tuesday.

NEW MOTOR TRANSPORT INSIGNIA CROSKEN

Washington, Oct. 25.—The insignia of the new motor transport corps will be a bronze wheel upon which is imposed a winged hat. The corps will use a purple hat cord. Officials of the corps today issued another appeal for trained motor mechanics and drivers.

GERMANS POISON WELLS AGAIN

Paris, Oct. 25.—An official German army order directing the 10th brigade to "poison all wells" in territory which is about to be given up, has been taken by French army officers. The order was signed by General Heck, of the 10th brigade.

Again Manchester's reputation has been upheld. When the call from overseas came to Camp Greenleaf, Georgia, for volunteers from its latest arrival of selectives, for hospital and ambulance duty on the western front, two local lads, Frank Cervini of Oak street and Alfred Shaw of North Elm street stepped forward and offered their lives and services.

A letter from one of the lads states that they were accepted and are now in New Jersey awaiting orders to embark. Both of these young men left town last July with the draftees for Greenleaf.

LARGE SCORES MADE IN EARLY BASEBALL

Annals of Game Are Full of Notable Achievements.

Greatest Number of Tallies in One Inning Were Made by Chicago in Game Against Detroit—Dehanty Was Slugger.

In the early days of baseball no club was considered to have a safe lead over the opposing team with anything less than a margin of 20 runs to the good. With the beginning of professional baseball in the early seventies, and the launching of the National league, these conditions changed, and big scores became the exception and not the rule. Thirty-six years ago was played, at Chicago, the league game in which the record number of runs was made. Chicago and Cleveland were the opposing teams on that historic July 24, in 1882, and the former triumphed by a score of 35 to 4.

Many other league-swatting records have stood almost as long. The greatest number of home runs in a major league game was scored in a contest between Detroit and St. Louis in 1880, when seven circuit hits were made. This record has been several times exceeded in minor circuits, and at Corsicana, Tex., in 1902 no less than 19 home runs were smashed out. The world's record for the greatest number of runs in one inning of a league game has stood since 1883, when Chicago scored 18 runs—two for each man—in the "lucky seventh" of a game against Detroit, Burns and Weldman being the twirlers whose delivery fared so badly. As late as 1908, at Cleveland, ten hits were scored in one inning, nine hits were made, and each batter who made a hit got a run.

The individual batting records for a single game are headed by the wonderful performance of Beaumont of the Pirates, who in 1890 got six hits in as many times at the bat. Even more sensational was the feat of Delehanty of Philadelphia, in 1898, when in a game against Chicago he went to bat five times and got four home runs and a single.

HOW SPORTS HELP SOLDIERS

Americans Trained to Do Their Work in Quickest Manner Possible With Their Guns.

According to a returned American soldier, the Yankee sport training is helping them over there. In that United States soldiers do their work, which is to kill as many Huns as possible, in the quickest and most natural way. An English Tommy will chase a Hun half a mile, he says, to get a chance to stick him with a bayonet, when one shot from his rifle would do the trick at once. French soldiers have a tendency to wait until they can grenade their foe, but the Yanks get a head on the other fellows and drop 'em quick with their rifles.

man note accepting the President's 14 principles as a basis for peace and asking for an armistice so that details could be arranged. It was plain then that diplomatic unity between the Entente and the United States must speedily be arranged, and the President is understood to have realized the necessity of having his own spokesman on the ground to represent him on all matters that required immediate decision.

Mission to Versailles. Colonel House, after conferring with the President and approving the three questions sent to Berlin which later formed the basis for the President's famous decision, went back to his New York home and soon afterwards the personnel of the mission was completed and it started for Paris.

It is understood that there will be a very early meeting of the Supreme War Council at Versailles, which will be attended by the American representatives. Meanwhile there will be conferences held in Paris at which all questions dealing with the German application for an armistice will be decided.

In all conferences that may be held Colonel House will deal with matters purely political; General T. H. Bliss will handle the purely military matters and Admiral Benson will deal with Naval questions. Admiral Benson's presence will insure that the Navy has adequate representations by a full ranking officer as he is the ranking Admiral of the Navy.

SERVICE THAT WINS THE SOLDIER HEART

Fred Lockley, Y. M. C. A., Tells of the Gratitude of the Boys at the Front.

"One of the discoveries men are making over here," Fred Lockley, of the Y. M. C. A. and of Portland, Oregon, writes from London, "is that of the Y. M. C. A. secretary to hunt up out-of-the-way detachments of troops. A stable guard here, a machine gun company there, a platoon somewhere else. We carried our goods in an automobile. We had plenty of writing paper and envelopes for free distribution, and chocolate, cookies, chewing tobacco and smoking tobacco, cigarettes, razor blades, tooth paste and things of that kind for sale. American war service workers were busy everywhere. We found Salvation Army lassies making doughnuts for the boys and K. of C. secretaries giving help. Books furnished by the American Library Association were to be seen on all sides.

"Hearing firing at a distance, we drove down the road and found a score or so of men at machine gun practice. The officer gave the men half an hour recess to buy goods. "At another place we came in sight of a lieutenant drilling a platoon. I said to the lieutenant: 'How soon before you dismiss the company? We have Y. M. C. A. goods for sale.' "He said: 'Right now, Sergeant, dismiss the company!' "And ten seconds later the company was in line waiting to buy goods from our traveling 'Y.' Grateful is no name for it. The men can't do enough to show their gratitude."

SILK EMBROIDERY HAS CALL

Decoration Ranks With Fringes; Mixed With Metal and Silk; Dyed in Wondrous Colors.

Ranking with fringe as an omnipresent fashion is wool embroidery, notes a fashion correspondent. There is small chance of avoiding it, however, and no real necessity for it. It is ubiquitous, it is true, but it has a certain trickery of appeal that no one can resist.

It is never the same. The art of the embroiderer twists and turns it into a vast variety of pleasing pictures. The French gowns show it in every form that their artist embroiderers can invent.

It is mixed with metal and silk; it is dyed in rare and wondrous colors; it is lifted from the surface or pulled flatly against it; it is used in a series of dewdrops a half yard in width, to give the appearance of warmth to the fabric; and it is used in a subtle, ornamental manner that suggests the craft of the fifteenth century.

FOR WEAR ABOUT THE NECK

Bead Chain Most Modish and Artistic Form of Relief for the Collarless Neckline.

And now it's the collarless neckline, a style almost too severe for most types unless it is relieved. The bead chain seems to be the most modish and most artistic form of relief. But bead chains, when the beads do come on real chains, are not inexpensive things. Still there remains the necessity; after that comes the invention of the fabric chain for the purpose. So get out your little crochet needle, if you want a distinctive thing to put around your neck.

To begin with, choose either a metallic gray or an equally metallic old gold shade, and preferably in linen. If you choose either on chain foundation most desirable, these are the ones. They are all an inch in width. Now, if you can't find these very modish wooden beads large enough to accommodate themselves to the fabric chain, an effective way to place any sort of bead is to break the chain at intervals, secure the stitch with sewing silk, then insert the bead between the break, and secure that with the silk. With the gray and the old gold for background, and vari-sized beads and individual spacing a clever girl ought to be able to work up some startlingly good-looking things for about her neck.

ONE OF THE LATEST MODELS

This is an extremely smart suit of French blue duvetyn, trimmed with wide bands of possum. The coat is rather Russian in effect with a broad belt and short full peplum. Large bone buttons of blue are the sole trimming of the coat.

Sleeves Fit Closely. Sleeves are long and extremely close fitting. In spite of the revival of interest in suits, there is no appreciable decline in the vogue for the one-piece gown.

CHICAGO OVER LOAN QUOTA BY $52,000,000
Chicago, Oct. 25.—Chicago's Liberty loan quota was exceeded by at least $52,000,000, according to figures estimated by Philip R. Clark, of the local loan committee. The total for the seventh federal district was given as $963,700,000, an excess of $93,700,000 over the quota of $870,000,000.

had 1,100,000 pounds of sugar stored away. They own sugar beet land in several of our states and are buying land in large quantities in Cuba. They own the largest coccoanut grove in the world. Speaking of the salt corner, Mrs. Shepherd said the Mormons, or Joseph Smith, secured salt from the great Salt Lake for 65 cents a ton and sold it in Salt Lake City for $7 a ton and in California for $9 a ton.

The Mormons, Mrs. Shepherd said, send out 5,000 missionaries every year and they are working all over this country and in other countries, spreading their propaganda.

Have Millions. Speaking of the power the Mormons are getting, Mrs. Shepherd said they have $427,000,000 hoarded in the various industries of the country. Joseph Smith is a director of several of the great Western railroads and a president of one of them. A Mormon, she said, was chaplain of the 145th Utah Artillery in France and Joseph Smith's son has been appointed secretary of all the army chaplains.

Smoot as Vice President. Mrs. Shepherd made a prophecy that if the republicans, in the next presidential campaign, nominate an eastern man, Senator Reed Smoot would be nominated as vice president. John Browning, inventor of the Browning machine gun, she said is a Mormon. He receives $1,000 a day for his patents and through the titling system of the Mormon church he is obliged to turn over $100 a day to the church. Secretary McAdoo's assistant, J. H. Moyle, Mrs. Shepherd said, is a Mormon and therefore has access to all the financial business of the country.

The speaker said that two weeks ago Joseph Smith proclaimed that he did not practice polygamy, but she didn't believe he meant it. She said that 15 years ago, during the Smoot trial, Smith admitted on the witness stand that he had five wives and 42 children and that he was going to live with his wives.

Mrs. Shepherd will speak in Manchester again Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the North Congregational church. An effort also is being made to have her give an address in town for women only. She has three lectures that she gives on Mormonism. They are: "The Mormon Church and the Temple Ceremony," for women only; "The Mormon Menace" to mixed audiences and "The Secret Practices of Mormonism" for men only.

At the conclusion of her talk last night, subscriptions were received toward the fund to be used by the National Reform Association in pushing the Anti-Polygamy Amendment.

EUROPEAN ORDER OF PEACE NECESSARY

The Homme Libre, (Premier Clemenceau's paper) declared that the Entente will place themselves solely on military ground.

Up to War Lords. "It is up to the German military chiefs to say yes or no," added this paper. "The conditions of an armistice dictated by Marshal och are already known and ready to be set forth."

"An armistice is inadmissible unless it gives us the same results as victory," said the Matin. "All reports say that Germany is incapable of long resistance owing to the lack of materials and munitions. In this crisis the Germans find themselves without reserves to sustain a long battle or to make a big attack. The morale in their rear has been wrecked and the morale at the front is very bad. The Austro-Hungarian collapse may induce Max, (the German chancellor) to go farther than the original criminal. There is no advantage in his present condition."

CENTRAL'S OVER-TIME.

Central's "emergency calls" not only have not been abolished, with the conservation of the operator's strength that has become necessary, but during the epidemic have been multiplied probably many times. Read these judicious clippings from the Springfield Republican:

"While the doctors are working 18 hours a day, sleeping six, and eating a bite when they can, and while the nurses are rushing around and not knowing whether they are 'coming or going'—all because of the 'flu' bug—there's another set of people, not medical, but very logical, who are equally busy and whose emergency calls have been known to come at the rate of one about every five minutes on some days. They are the people at the end of the 'phone lines'—the telephone girls—and they are busy these days, giving the doctors and nurses extra places to rush to and assuring the panicky mother who has just called in 'Oh, send me a doctor quickly, my child is sick,' that one will be sent there just as soon as possible.

"Why, I've seen a girl work for two hours trying to complete one emergency call," said a supervisor.

"One day a call came from a nearby town. The whole family was as down and out as any family could be. The mother and father had just died of influenza and five children were seriously ill. For three hours the supervisor tried to get a nurse. She called the surrounding towns, even as far away as Hartford, Ct. None could be found free, to take the case. Something must be done. She did it. She reported the case to the superintendent of health and the children were immediately taken to the hospital."

Emergency calls don't mean summons of physicians alone, but include aid in case of fire, robbery or threatened physical violence and so on. And emergency calls have the right of way over every other. Incidentally, this extra work does not mean something extra "in it" for the telephone companies.

THOSE 2,000,000 OVERSEAS.

"More than two million American soldiers have sailed from the ports in this country to participate in the war overseas," Secretary of War Baker writes the President. The actual number in fact of those that have embarked is 8,931 over 2,000,000. How many of these are actually fighting?

Without going into the question of whether the record is what it should be, though America seems to be holding up its end in the big scrap, these figures are deceiving unless properly qualified.

In the first place, periodic rests have to be given to one division after another in order to keep the men in fighting trim. Then allowance must be made for the thousands or tens of thousands of troops who are not engaged in actual fighting in the infantry, artillery, cavalry, signal corps or aviation or any other regular branch of the service. These men are performing just as necessary a part in the war as their comrades. The cook, the horse-shoer, the clerk of the headquarters company and many another man fills his niche and fills it well, but he is not fighting.

Another discount that must be made has to do with the wounded and sick. Here is another item that robs the army of its thousands, for even the slightly wounded have to be withdrawn for days or weeks at a time to recuperate.

Two million men overseas, and no claim is made that all have reached France or Flanders, doesn't mean 2,000,000 fighters by any means. This is no time for shaking hands with ourselves over the record we have made.

LOAN FIGURES RISE.

The Central Connecticut district's loan total has risen a full million, according to figures to date tabulated in the Hartford Times. Manchester's total is unchanged at $1,254,400, but that is not true of some of the neighboring towns.

The original figures were a bit over $55,000,000. Now they have gone up to $56,708,050, with a total of 130,683 subscribers.

The figures cover Hartford, Tolland and Middlesex counties, Terryville in Litchfield county; and the towns of Chaplin and Windham in Windham county.

Hartford's figures, splendid as the capital's record was, seem to have sunk a little. The published total now is $36,949,100. At the close of the campaign upwards of $39,000,000 was the estimate.

"Available records show that Governor Holcomb has appointed to the State Council of Defense twelve Republicans as against seven Democrats," complains the Democratic State committee. Well, the Council has done pretty good work, hasn't it? Nobody certainly could accuse it of lack of loyalty to the war, which happens to be the particular business of a Democratic administration.

Dr. Hesselgrave writes that no celebration would have been great enough in honor of the fact that Manchester and other Connecticut boys were in the front line of the St. Mihiel offensive. Have we had enough such celebrations, readers?

The Bridgeport Times-Farmer reminds us that today is the anniversary of the death of the poet Chaucer, who died Oct. 25, 1400. Another of the greatest poets in the language who came from humble folk. His father was a vintner.

The cost of living has gone up only 30 per cent in Australia. But who wants to be an Australian?

ARMY TRAINING SCHOOL IN SUNNY CALIFORNIA

Government Preparing Institution Which Will Accommodate 20,000 Men at Camp Fremont.

There is to be established at Camp Fremont, California, a training school for civilian candidates for commissions as second lieutenant in the Infantry, United States Army. The school is to have a capacity of 20,000 students. Training commences December 1, 1918. Connecticut's quota is 200.

Candidates must be citizens of the United States, and must not have been born in any country with which the United States is at war, or in any country allied with those with which the United States is at war. Those who left such countries within five years of birth are exempted from this prohibition.

To be eligible for the school, a candidate must be between 18 and 46 years of age, and physically qualified for general military service. A high school education or its equivalent is required, and each candidate must present three letters from responsible parties as to his moral character.

All draft registrants between the ages of 18 and 46 are eligible, except registrants in Class 1 who registered prior to Sept. 12, 1918, and registrants in deferred classification on account of industry, occupation, or employment, including agriculture.

Selected candidates will be transported from their homes to the school at the expense of the United States. While in training they will be privates first class, U. S. Army, the pay of which grade is $33 per month. In addition to this, clothing, subsistence and medical attendance will be provided by the government.

Those who desire to avail themselves of this opportunity should communicate at once with Captain Cowles, Trinity College, Hartford.

NEW PASTIME FOR SOLDIERS

Now Planned to Equip Training Camps With Pool and Billiard Tables and Paraphernalia.

The New York Association of Billiard Room Owners has started to raise money to equip army camps and naval stations with pool and billiard tables and paraphernalia.

Contribution boxes have been placed in all the rooms in Greater New York. Contributions will not be solicited, but it is expected that patrons of the rooms will be generous in their donations.

COACH AND WIFE IN SERVICE

Grant Ward is at Great Lakes Station—Mrs. Ward as Third Class Yeowoman.

Grant Ward, formerly assistant football coach at Ohio State and later head of the Columbia department of recreation has a family 100 per cent in the war service. Grant himself is at Great Lakes in the naval training school and Mrs. Ward a few days ago left for Norfolk, Va., to join the navy as a third-class yeowoman. Her clerical services will relieve a man for active duty on the sea.

DON'T DRINK SHIPS!

Are you shocked to see the lady drinking ships? You drink ships every time you use sugar unnecessarily, in a beverage. Seventy-five per cent of the sugar used in this country has to be brought here in ships. Every possible ship is needed for the transportation of troops and supplies to the other side. Eliminate sugar as a luxury, and you release many ships for war purposes. Teach your appetite to remember this—DON'T DRINK SHIPS.

Prize Winners in Sullivan Liberty Loan Essay Contest

As announced yesterday, the judges have decided on the winners of the Sullivan Liberty Loan Essay contest. Francis C. Strickland was first, Hannah Moriarty, second and F. Henry Tilden, third. The prize essays follow:

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN.

By Francis C. Strickland, jr.

The "Fighting" Fourth Liberty Loan is about to be launched, a nationwide call for from six to eight billions of dollars. We have had three Liberty Loans previous to this, simply "starters." They built camps, trained men, transported them to France, perfected their training and put them in the trenches, besides furnishing ammunition and supplies for our Allies. Now we are fairly well into the war and we must continue the fight. America has awakened to her duty and sacred obligation. With the man-power which we have furnished Foch has forced a defensive war upon Germany. But we must do more, we must keep her running. The stream of fighting men must continue to flow eastward to take the places of those who pay the supreme sacrifice. The "Fighting" Fourth Liberty Loan will do this.

America has entered the war. Will she turn back now? Germany has started to retreat. Will we allow her to stop? Autocracy is slipping. Will we allow it to regain a foothold? No! It is against American principles and ideals to leave a job half done.

Americans also have a reputation as money-makers. As such will we allow this golden opportunity to pass unheeded? There is nothing so sure, so safe as a United States government bond. If that fails, all else fails.

Subscribe for your own good. Subscribe because it is your sacred duty and obligation. Subscribe to defeat Autocracy and to uphold Democracy and subscribe to your utmost.

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN.

By Hannah Moriarty.

Yes, this is the Fourth Liberty Loan! But aren't you glad—nay, proud—that you can thus help your country? The boys in France are fighting for you; fighting to keep you free from the clutches of the Hun. Maybe you're too old to fight; maybe you're not physically fit. Maybe—well, a hundred maybes—but you're not in that fighting line! You don't realize what it is to be under the fire of enemy guns! You can't comprehend how horrible it is to undergo the terrible hardships that they endure! And what are they doing it for? They are struggling with the avaricious Hun to keep you and all the rest of us free! And, now, what are you doing? You are living in luxury—oh yes, it costs more and you eat war bread—but, your existence is not made horrible by bombs and shells! No, our Sammies are holding the Huns over their heads so that they can't intrude upon our peaceful land. Now of you, living peaceful and quiet in God's country, Uncle Sam asks,

"Won't you lend me your money to care for and equip your boys with materials necessary to protect them from the foe? Won't you help keep alive the flower of our nation? Won't you buy a Liberty Bond? And how do you answer?"

We've got to make this Fourth Loan a Fighting Fourth Liberty Loan! In this time when everyone and everything possible is "in it" our dollars must not serve an idle purpose! If we can't fight ourselves we've got to make our dollars fight! Imagine him—over there—crawling through barbed wire. His clothes are torn in shreds, for he is in battle and doesn't think about himself. He has been wounded! The bandages, roughly bound about his head, are blood stained! His breath comes hard and fast. And yet, there he lies, crouching, gun in hand, ready to pick off that enemy of freedom. His strength will hardly last for one more shot—but there! he sees the head of his enemy. With superhuman effort he shoots! His shot was true. But ah! He has paid well the price!

He has given his last shot for you! Won't you give a few of your dollars for him? Fight with your dollars for that precious cause, for which he gave his life. Freedom for all Forever!

THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN.

By Henry W. Tilden.

By the Fighting Fourth Liberty Loan we mean the privilege given to the people of America—that of raising six billion dollars to fight for Uncle Sam. The Fourth Liberty Loan is for the purpose of raising four and a quarter per cent, with the right reserved by the government to call the bonds in after fifteen years. This is the safest investment in the world. Germany has raised more than this amount on a loser's chance—can't we raise it on the certainty of victory which the last two months has given us?

We lend to ourselves when we lend to our country. Think how much America has done for us, and how little she asks in return! Heroes fought and bled at Lexington, New Orleans and Gettysburg that Liberty, Fraternity and Freedom might reign supreme;—can't we lend our money for the same purpose? This is our war and we must help pay for it. If the United States had stayed out of the war the whole world would have despised her, even Germany. Now we're in it, let's win it! Thirteen billion, five hundred million dollars were spent last year; probably as much more will be needed this year. Let's raise it with a will!

Liberty Bonds support the soldiers. It costs sixty-one dollars for a soldier's complete outfit. How many will South Manchester cloth will buy fourteen rifles or twenty-three hand grenades, or provide trench knives for a company. Just think how handy those grenades will be when our boys smash through the Hindenburg line!

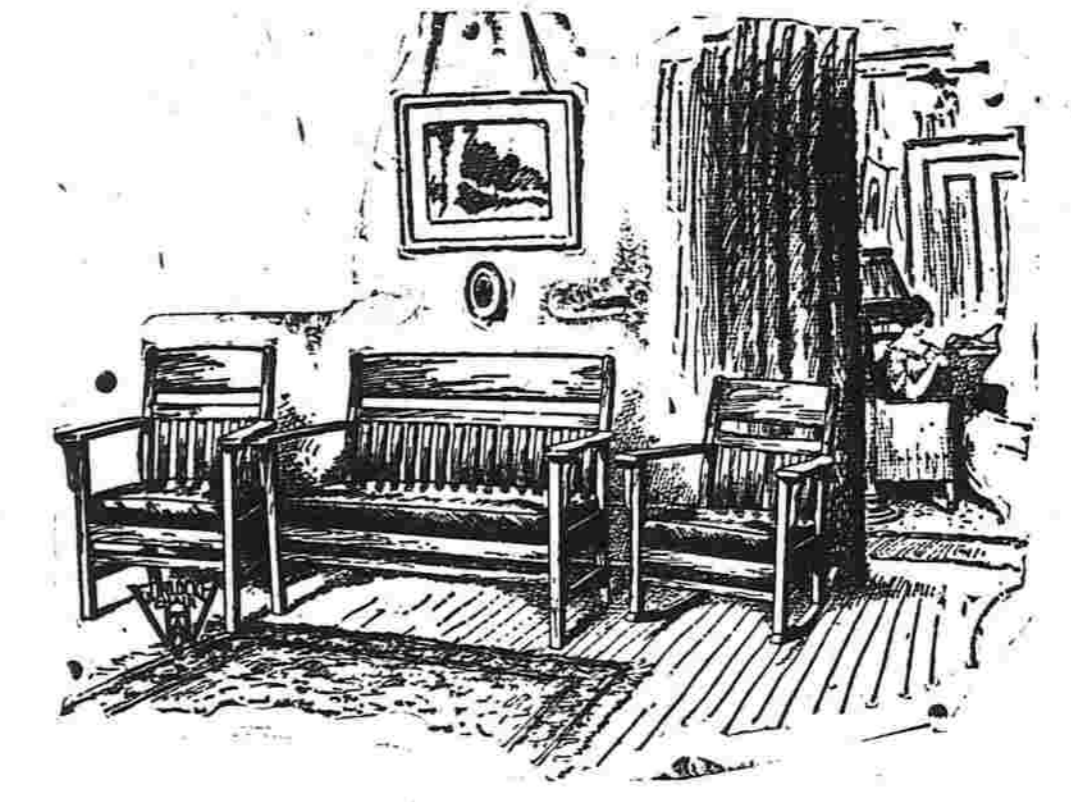

There is but one choice given to the Americans—either they must buy Liberty Bonds or become German bondsmen! To keep our country from Belgium's fate, to keep the Hun from American soil,—buy bonds of the Fighting Fourth Liberty Loan!

Short Will for $320,000. One of the shortest wills ever filed was admitted to probate in the register's office recently, when the testament of George V. Marshall, former manufacturer of passenger and freight elevators of Pittsburgh was filed. The will disposed of an estate of $380,000 and was written in four lines and contained less than thirty words. Mr. Marshall left his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Emma L. Marshall, who was named executrix. The estate is divided into personal property valued at $85,000 and real estate $295,000.

Superfluous Effort.

THIS HANDSOME SUITE IN FUMED OAK, $73.00

Buy it on our Christmas Furniture Savings Club plan and receive the cash direct. In these days every dollar spent must render a good account of itself. Yet compromising on quality is wasteful and extravagant. And nowhere is this more true than in the furnishing of a home.

The new offerings in furniture for the living room, now on display in this store, show unusual taste in designing and exceptional quality in the selection of materials and manufacture.

Watkins Brothers' high standard of quality has been maintained in every piece offered—the markets of the country have been searched to produce the right furniture for your selection.

A visit to the store and an inspection of the beautiful pieces is a treat in itself—and you are sure to find just what is wanted in this mammoth collection occupying seven spacious floors.

Have you any Victor records you are not using? If so you shall enlist them in the service.

The week of Oct. 26 to Nov. 2 is to be celebrated as lover the country as "FIGHTERS' RECORD WEEK" in which an effort will be made to collect and forward to the boys at the front every single slacker record. Go over your list and see what you can spare.

HOW TO SEND PACKAGES TO SOLDIERS FOR XMAS

Latest Information from Red Cross Headquarters on This Subject—Nov. 20 Last Day.

The local Red Cross chapter has received the latest instructions from the Atlantic Division concerning the sending of Christmas gifts to the boys in France and between October 25 and November 1 will receive these official cartons for shipping these gifts abroad. It isn't likely that the cartons will be received much before the first of the month. Plans are being made for having this branch of the local chapter's work done in the buffet room at the Recreation Center.

Here are the instructions: Between October 25 and November 1, all chapters of the American Red Cross will have received the official cartons for Christmas gifts to American fighting men in France, according to an announcement made by the Atlantic Division of the Red Cross. The cartons will be distributed only to those persons who have received the official Christmas labels which were issued to the men in the Expeditionary Force, and which are to be sent by them direct to the relatives from whom they desire to receive gifts. The Red Cross had had nothing whatever to do with the issuance of these labels overseas.

The procedure as explained by the Atlantic Division will be for persons, possessing the Christmas labels, to make application at the nearest Red Cross chapter. The official carton will be given them upon presentation of the label. If a label is lost it cannot be replaced and the person losing it will not receive a Red Cross carton.

The cartons should be filled as soon as possible and taken to the nearest Red Cross chapter for inspection. After the Red Cross inspection label is attached the parcel will be sent by mail to Hoboken. The postage is to be prepaid by the person sending the package.

November 20 is the last day that Christmas packages for the American soldiers in France can be put in the mails. By reason of the large number of packages that are bound to be received, relatives receiving the official Christmas labels from the men in France are asked to do their Christmas shopping early and thus make certain that their gifts will reach the point of transportation on time.

Relatives and friends, who are hoping to make the coming Christmas as merry as possible for the men in the trenches and concentration camps in the war zone, should bear in mind that each soldier is entitled to but one container. Where it is desirable to have several people forward him gifts, the size and variety of them should be decided upon, so that the carton may not be overweight.

The package cannot weigh more than three pounds when it is ready for mailing. If the Red Cross inspectors find that it is overweight, they are under strictest orders to remove some article or articles. Therefore, it is important that those who send the parcel adhere strictly to the specifications as to weight which call for a maximum of two pounds, fifteen ounces.

Letters From Manchester
Men on the Land and Sea

THE EVENING HERALD, eager to gather every bit of news of our soldier boys, wherever they may be, invites its readers to contribute personal, portions of letters, and any information about them they may possess. Such portions of letters as are personal or which may give information to the enemy, will, of course, not be published.

Mrs. H. A. Mills of East Center street has received many interesting letters from her son Kenneth who is stationed at a naval air station in France. He sends many picture cards of the towns and cities near him that he has visited when on liberty, also copies of the Panillac Pilot, a weekly paper published by the navy. There is nothing of military value sent over. He has sent a handsome silk scarf to his mother for Xmas. He said he wanted to get ahead of the Xmas rush. Just now he has charge of the air plane supplies department. His rating is machinist's mate, first class.

Extracts from two of the letters follow:
September 30, 1918

My Darling Mother:
I received your letter of September 8. I had plenty to make me happy last night. I got back from a week end trip to Bordeaux at 7:45; then went to church and when I got over to the barracks one of the fellows gave me my mail.

Where abouts are the Manns living now? You know they were talking of moving when I left. It must seem very strange not to see any automobiles on Sunday. It seems hard to realize. We have some autos over here but they are mostly navy and army machines.

The letter from Mrs. Parsons was very interesting; also the booklet. I have not had time to finish reading it yet. I will write her in answer to it.

As to the dry weather you speak about, I cannot say much except that I have a raincoat and carry it about half the time. The mud is like ice, it is so slippery.

I had a very interesting trip to Bordeaux Saturday night and Sunday. I will write you a more descriptive letter later in the week; also send more postcards. Bordeaux is a big city and has some big shops and stores. It is very different from a large American city, not being as clean and pure. The war, of course, makes a difference. The trolley fare is only one Sou or one cent. The motormen and conductors are either old men, young boys or women.
Your loving son,
Kenneth.

October 1, 1918
My Darling Mother:

We are having some nice cool mornings now. We have a stove in the office and it feels very good early in the morning. We are having a big Liberty Loan drive at the station here. Practically all the fellows are taking some bonds. I have taken $150 worth again. I am wondering if you have gotten my bonds from Pensacola yet.

I had a fine trip up to Bordeaux over Sunday. I sent you the two sets of postcards besides the one I carried with this letter. Going up on the train, I was standing in the small aisle outside the compartment of a first class coach. I met one of the old boys of the 5th company. He had just come into Paulliac. We had a good talk of old times. I got into Bordeaux; managed to fight my way into the first trolley car for the Y. M. C. A.; then got in the supper line and had a good supper for 3.50 fs.: a cup of chocolate, 2 eggs, potatoes, beef steak, bread and butter and canned peaches. I spent the evening walking around the streets, looking for my friend Williams I expected to meet, but did not find him. None of his station got liberty last Sunday. I got a room in a hotel, with a regular French bed. I don't believe I told you of those French beds. They have a mattress about a foot and a half thick and are fine and soft to sleep on. I got up about eight o'clock in the morning, went to the postoffice to see one of the fellows. Spent most of the morning sight-seeing. Had a fine dinner in a French hotel and it only cost 3.75 fs. a dinner of all kinds of meats.

In the afternoon, I went to several of the shops. Had some so-called ice cream. It was what we would call chocolate ice; a very small glass of 18 1/2 cents or one franc. It is almost impossible to buy any candy in the French stores. The best I could do was to pay five cents apiece for somekind of chocolate and fig mixture, about three-quarters of an inch in diameter; 30 centimes apiece. The French people seem to take their crowded train conditions and everything happily. There is one thing they do not go without, and that is their wine, etc. The water is very poor.

In the afternoon, I went to a French musical comedy. Of course, I could not understand the talking, but I enjoyed the music. A funny thing about the shows: of course all the young men are away, so every act opens with a chorus of old men, dressed very brilliantly and then close with a regular girl chorus. I got back to the station about 7:30 after having a very enjoyable trip for not very many francs. I went to church at our Y. M. C. A. in the evening and heard a very interesting lecture on happiness. George McLean, my pal, and I generally go every Sunday night. Church means much more over here. Our chaplain, Whitmore, is very fine. He used to be a pastor of Helen Gould's church in New York state. All us fellows like him because he can preach to us and say in any words he wants to what he wants and does not have to worry about any special denomination or creed.

Well, I have got to get to work. I have some reports to get out. I like the work quite well, but would like to be nearer the front and see some action; but we can't all get there. I guess there must be some celebrating over in the states over our victories on the front. The mail flag is due again. Hope to get some letters this noon.
Your loving son
Kenneth.

Wapping

Alfred Loomis, son of Henry Loomis, died at the Hartford hospital Wednesday of influenza. He had been an inmate of the South Windsor town farm for several years but was not a dependent, having been left sufficient money for his maintenance by the late Caroline Ayers who adopted him and cared for him at the well known "Ayers baby farm." At his death the local Methodist church society receives the residue of the estate.

TOWN'S OLDEST MASON, WILLIAM BRINK, IS DEAD

Death Due to Old Age—Had Been in Feeble Health for Past Three Months.

William Brink, one of the oldest and most respected residents of the north end, died at his home on Main street early this morning at the advanced age of 89 years. He has been in feeble health for the last two or three months, but managed to get about a little every day until about one week ago when he took to his bed. His death was caused by old age. He just became tired and his strength gradually left him and he passed away just like a child going to sleep.

William Brink was a native of Germany. He was born in a small town on the Rhine and came to this country when he was a young man of 25 years. He came to Manchester. He had learned the trade of shoemaker in his native country and when he came here he started a shoe repairing business on Depot square. In this business he continued for years until his strength gave out and he decided to retire from active work. He was considered one of the best men in his trade and was always reliable and straightforward.

When Mr. Brink gave up active work he became a great believer in walking as an exercise and every day he would start out with his cane and has walked as much as twelve miles in the forenoon. He knew that the exercise helped him and as long as his strength remained with him he continued the practice. In latter years the distance was of necessity curtailed. In the last year or two he made it a practice to walk to the south end every day.

Mr. Brink was the oldest living member of Manchester, Lodge of Masons. He had been a member of the lodge for over 50 years. About two years ago the lodge presented to him a gold headed cane when he had been on the books of the lodge for that period. This was one of the crowning events of his life and he valued the cane more than anything else he possessed. He was a regular attendant of the lodge meetings and Masons will well remember his particular seat in the old Masonic hall. It was considered his place and he always occupied it. He was also a member of the Sons of Herman.

Mr. Brink is survived by his wife, one son and two daughters. They are William F. Brink, Janet Brink, and Mrs. William F. Ramsdell, all of Hartford. These children were all by his first wife. He also leaves a sister, Miss Helena Brink of Hartford. He also leaves three grandsons. The funeral arrangements have not all yet been completed but it will take place on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and the Masons will be in charge. The burial will be in the Buckland cemetery.

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.

Candidates Speak, Entertainment Furnished and Local Campaign Started.

At an open meeting in Brown hall last evening, the local democrats fired the first gun in their campaign. The speakers were Hon. Clarence H. Smith of East Hartford, Attorney John J. Burke, of Hartford, Hon. George H. Gabb, of Bloomfield, Hon. Olcott F. King, of South Windsor, and Dr. Edward G. Dolan, of this town.

An entertainment was furnished after the speechmaking and cigars were passed around during the social hour.

The committee which arranged the meeting was composed of Charles I. Balch, C. S. McHale, John F. Limerick and Edward J. Murphy.

REMARKABLE MILLINERY VALUES AT GOLDENBLUM'S.

The Goldenblum Millinery Company, 633 Main street, Hartford, has been driven by increasing business to increase its floor space and will expand to take in practically the whole second floor of the building in which its salesrooms are located. To make room for the carpenters, stock must be reduced and for the next week or two remarkably low prices will prevail on new and seasonable millinery. It will pay any woman to walk up one flight to save several dollars on a hat.

KILLED IN ACTION.

L. N. Heebner of Park street receiver word this morning that his nephew, Lieutenant Carl Heebner, son of Dean C. F. Heebner of the College of Pharmacy of Toronto, Ontario, Canada, had been killed in action. Lieutenant Heebner was Dean Heebner's only son. He was 21 years old. He enlisted in the early part of the war as an aviator and for some time before being sent overseas was an instructor in his branch of the service in Canada. For several months past, he had been engaged as a bomber. He was reported as missing on September 24. Nothing more has been heard of him until yesterday when the father received word that he had been killed in action.

VALENTINE FILLERE.

Valentine Fillere, aged 65 years, died at his home, 30 Griswold street, last night after a three months' illness with a complication of troubles. Mr. Fillere had lived in Manchester for a number of years and was employed in the velvet mills. He is survived by his wife and six children, Valentine, Marie, Constantine and Jules of this town, Leo of Springfield and Louis of the U. S. Navy. The funeral will be held from the house at 8:30 tomorrow morning and from St. James church at nine o'clock. The burial will be in St. James cemetery.

Unusual care has been taken in selecting the trimmings that shall be used this season. Many new designs will be found in our flower and feather stock.

CHILDREN'S HATS 75c to $5.98
Hats of every description for the children, many new tailored models as well as those trimmed with flowers, feathers and ribbons.

SUITS, COATS AND DRESSES

While the inspirations for the new Fall and Winter fashions come from Paris, full credit for their development is due to American designers. Our own opinion is that this season's styles are more attractive than those of any past season within memory; and our opinion is verified by that of our customers.

There is no scarcity or lack of becoming fashions here. Every favored new style is represented in the extremely interesting display now presented for your approval and which you are urgently requested to inspect.
