THE BALKANS, FRENCH CLAIMS AND ADRIATIC QUESTIONS UP

Who Actually Shall Admin- ister Various German Col- onies Not Yet Decided— Wilson Favors More or Less Charter Rights for People of German Colonies

Paris, Jan. 31.—With the acceptance of the principles of internationalization for the German Pacific and African colonies, under jurisdiction of the next best fitted to administer government, the next great questions designated to create troublesome discussions in the peace conference include the claims of Italy on the Adriatic, French claims to German territory and the entire Balkan lineup.

President Wilson is standing for administration under the League of Nations which would give the inhabitants of the territory in question considerable charter right to appeal from being unduly exploited.

The American position regarding the Italian claims on the Adriatic, the French claims to German territory and the Balkan claims is the same as that concerning the Pacific islands. While naturally considerable friction is anticipated, it is certain that a conciliatory spirit will be manifested. Progress has been made far better than that appearing on the surface.

Italian insistence that the pact of London be enforced to the letter has been his hand by the action of Japan in accepting the partition of the islands in the northern Pacific. The precedent thus established is considered almost certain to abrogate all of the secret treaties entered into since the beginning of the war.

President Wilson spent the morning quietly. He conferred with the other American commissioners before going to the foreign office to attend the supreme inter-allied council this afternoon.

The program for the plenary session of the peace conference tomorrow was mapped out at the meeting this afternoon.

Beginning on Monday, the subcommittee of the League of Nations will begin to hold sessions, probably at the Muret Palace, where President Wilson is living, to complete a program for submission to the general conference. It is hoped that such progress will be made that a draft may be submitted to the conference one week from tomorrow, so that it can be accepted before the return of President Wilson to the United States.

The work of the committee which is to decide the amount of indemnity Germany must pay and the manner of its payment will necessarily be slow and it is certain that there will be no statement as to conclusions until the committee report is presented to the plenary session.

EIGHT DEAD, 20 HURT IN NYACK EXPLOSIONS

Fire Follows First Blast and More Blasts Then Succeed.

WHOLE TOWN MENACED

Nearby Towns Rush Help to New York Community—Several of 300 Employees Not Accounted For.

Nyack, N. Y., Jan. 31.—Eight persons are known to have been killed and 20 seriously injured by a series of explosions and a fire which wrecked the plant of the American Aniline Dye Products company here today. Several of the 300 employees in the plant at the time are missing and it is believed the death toll may be increased when the ruins are searched.

The first explosion occurred in the mixing room in the center of the five-story building occupied by the plant, which covers a city block. It is believed to have been caused by the ignition of fumes.

The eastern wall of the plant was blown out and glass in nearby buildings was broken. The Nyack public school, a short distance from the plant, was shaken by the explosion.

Fire apparatus and ambulances were rushed to the scene, but the rescue work and efforts to fight the fire were greatly hampered by a series of explosions, every few minutes. Several frame buildings in the vicinity of the dye works caught fire as the result of burning timbers thrown upon them by the explosions.

Fire apparatus, however, was hurried to the aid of the local department from nearby towns and the firemen succeeded in checking a conflagration.

The plant of the dye products company was appraised last year at $1,550,000 and is a total loss.

The eight men known to have been killed were at work in one of the 14 sections of the plant known as the "tank house." The first explosion occurred there.

Later there were six other serious explosions and about 50 smaller or other explosions, during which time the flames swept the plant.

Red Cross workers aided in carrying the injured to the local hospitals.

GOODWIN'S FIVE WIVES; HIS PHILOSOPHY OF MATRIMONY

Matrimony never lost its fascination for Nat Goodwin, his friends said. His five wives were: 1, Eliza Weatherby; 2, Nellie Pease; 3, Maxine Elliott; 4, Edna Goodrich; 5, Margaret Moreland.

He was not afraid to philosophize on the amusing aspects of his many marriages. Some of his epigrams on the marital state have become famous. Here are a few of them:

Marriages are made in Heaven—and cancelled in Reno. If a man steals your wife don't kill him—caution him.

My first wife was an angel; my second a silly woman; my third a Roman Senator; my fourth a pretty thing; my fifth, all woman.

My whole desire has been to prove by repetition that hope can conquer experience.

Death Due to Nervous Collapse and Complication of Disease—His Adopted Ward Chief Heir.

New York, Jan. 31.—Nat Goodwin, actor, died today at the Manhattan Hotel. He had been suffering from a nervous collapse and a complication of disease.

Goodwin was adopted by the late Charles C. Goodwin, and was his adopted ward and chief heir.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM MADDEN IS MURDERED BY JERSEY GUNMEN AT OUR SILK MILLS; DEATH CAR DRIVER HELD; OTHERS ESCAPE

How Death Car Chauffeur Was Caught in Hartford

Daniel B. Ahearn, Hartford's "giant cop" stopped the murder car in Hartford.

After Captain William Campbell of this town had arrived on the scene and heard of the number of the car with the New Jersey license, he immediately sent hurry calls to police departments in the neighborhood to spread a net to catch the car.

In Hartford the news sent a detail of reserves to the Hartford bridge to stop all autos passing over the river. The policemen, however, arrived too late, as the murder car had passed in to Hartford a short time before. Several autos were stopped at the Hartford end of the bridge but the occupants were not the people sought by the police.

General Ahearn sounded.

The operator at Hartford police headquarters was not content to send the detail to the bridge but he set the red light flash all over the city. As the result of this signal the car was stopped by a patrolman.

MORTALLY WOUNDED, MADDEN EMPTIES HIS REVOLVER—EXCLUSIVE STORY OF MURDER TOLD BY ONLY EYE WITNESS—HOBOKEN CHAUFFEUR WHO DROVE CAR AT HARTFORD'S POLICE HEADQUARTERS—WAS CAUGHT IN HARTFORD WHERE COMPANIONS ESCAPE—CROOKS CAME HERE TO STEAL SILK—TIP RECEIVED BEFOREHAND

The body of Captain William F. Madden, of Manchester, lies today at Holloran's undertaking establishment awaiting the coroner's inquest. At Hartford police headquarters is Frank Klein, of Hoboken, N. J. All over the New England states the police have stretched a dragnet for six or eight men who came here planning to steal silk at Cheney Brothers mills and who followed the attempt fired the shots which killed the captain.

LIFE OF CAPTAIN MADDEN; WAS ALL 'ROUND ATHLETE

Was Best Known Man in Manchester—Never Used Alcohol or Tobacco—Leaves Wife and One Daughter.

Captain Madden was one of the best known men in Manchester. He was the best all-around athlete ever produced here and as such his reputation spread far beyond the town's limits. Clean living was the secret of his success as an athlete, for he never used tobacco or liquor in any form.

Born in Manchester.

Captain Madden was born in Manchester in May, 1879 and spent his whole life in this town. His prowess as an athlete developed early in life and while in the grammar school he played half-back on the high school team. He continued to play this position all through his four years in the high school and was about the most consistent ground-gainer on the team. He was always in the game, never lost his head and seemed to know just how to fall, when tackled, without being injured. And he was invariably called upon to kick the goals.

All 'Round Athlete.

Not only in football, but in almost any other line of sports, Madden excelled. In the high school athletic meets, he participated in such varied events as the shot-put, hammer-throw, pole vault, running, jumping and kicking. He also was a clever boxer and wrestler and baseball player, having played on the Manchester town team.

Joined Co. G.

Madden entered the high school in April, 1896. He joined Company G about the same time. While he was a sophomore, or in 1898, the Spanish American war broke out and Madden served with the company through the war. He was made a corporal during the war and later became captain of the company. After the war was over, Madden resumed his studies in the high school and was graduated in April, 1900. He worked for Cheney Brothers for a time after his graduation and then attended Trinity, for two years. While at college, he played on the varsity football

HIT BY AUTO ATTACHES PROPERTY FOR DAMAGE

Westport, Jan. 31.—Property of Henry A. Boudreau, on Riverside avenue, was yesterday attached in a civil suit of Charles Spadano, of Bridgeport, in which damages of $10,000 are demanded. The plaintiff alleges that on January 28 he was struck at the corner of Fairfield and Howard avenues, Bridgeport, by an automobile recklessly driven by the defendant and badly injured. The case is returnable to the civil superior court, March term.

BEHEADING OF CRIMINALS BY CHINESE IS STOPPED.

The old custom in China of cutting off prisoners' heads in passing, according to Dr. William L. Hull, a Seattle physician who has just returned here after conducting several friends' hospital at Sunning for several years.

"A man whose head is cut off," said Dr. Hull, "goes into eternity permanently crippled, according to Chinese belief, so the prisoner who can raise 20 cents to buy a cartridge has himself shot. Friends of beheaded criminals came to us frequently to have us sew the heads on again so as to fool the devils, but we had more business at the hospital than we could attend to. The tallies made a regular business of sewing on heads at $3 each."

URGES BRITAIN SHOULD KEEP GERMAN COLONIES

London, Jan. 31.—"If Great Britain gives up the German colonies now it will be a case of 'heads I win, tails you lose, so far as Germany is concerned," said the Daily Express today commenting upon the peace conference negotiations on the colonial question.

"Germany deliberately gambled her colonial empire against the world empire she hoped to have. We have never heard that in the event of victory she proposed to hand over the conquered Anglo-French possessions. Harrison evaded capture in the Tombs yard for nearly an hour while detectives, police reserves and prison guards searched for him.

"Most Married Man in America" Had Had Five Wives.

HAD LONG STAGE CAREER

After illness had compelled him to quit the show in which he was starring, Mr. Goodwin was brought to this city from Philadelphia on Sunday. His condition failed to improve and, as a result of the complications of disease, a nervous collapse followed. The serious turn in Mr. Goodwin's condition came shortly after his fifth wife, Miss Margaret Moreland, was married to Lieutenant Raymond Gilson, U. S. A., and on the very day the news of the marriage became public.

Mr. Goodwin for many years was kept in the public eye, as much by his domestic affairs as by his stage fame.

That his true condition was not known to the veteran comedian was shown by his often expressed belief that a few days' rest in New York would enable him to rejoin his company. Mr. Goodwin's health suffered a severe shock several weeks ago when an attendant gave him chloroform in place of an eye wash by mistake. This made an operation necessary. For a time improvement was noted, but it was not permanent.

"Most Married Man."

Mr. Goodwin, who was sometimes called "The Most Married Man in America" was born in Roxbury, Mass., and was in his 62nd year. His father and mother are still living there and it is expected that the remains will be taken there in a few days for burial. Services will be held in New York first, however.

Parents Hear News.

Boston, Jan. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Goodwin, parents of "Nat" Goodwin, the well known actor who died in New York, were grief-stricken at their home in the Roxbury district today. They received a telegram from their son yesterday, saying he was confined to his hotel suffering a nervous breakdown. Today his death was reported.

Two generations of play-goers have known the famous comedian and had laughed at his stage drolleries. While a school boy young Goodwin attained popularity as a Car Driver On.

"When I picked myself up the driver was swinging his car in zig-zag fashion in an effort to escape Madden off. Shots were being exchanged between Madden and the car's occupants. Then I saw Madden fall to the ground followed by a member of the band who stood in the middle of the road.

"We both exchanged shots. I emptied the chambers of my Colt. I must have hit him for he cried out, 'I'm shot, save me.' The occupants of the car grabbed him and he went flying down the road.

BIGGER NAVY DANIELS DEMANDS IS LIKELY TO BE GRANTED BY CONGRESS

Washington, Jan. 31.—Secretary Daniels' bigger American Navy program appears likely to triumph before the 65th Congress ends on March 4, according to indications today when the House naval affairs committee re-assembled to vote finally on the Navy appropriations bill for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1919.

Despite bitter opposition by Representative Thomas S. Butler of Pennsylvania and William J. Browning of New Jersey, who are among the oldest Republicans on the committee, it was predicted by supporters of the Daniels' program that the bill would be favorably reported with appropriations approximating $750,000,000, only about $200,000,000 less than Daniels asked for.

Sixteen capital ships for the American Navy will be provided for in the bill, it was also declared.

"The elimination of the submarine from the fleet," Daniels proposed to the peace conference.

Mystery thrown about the text of the bill, as a result of the members of the committee being pledged to refrain from all discussion of its exact details until a vote was taken on the measure as a whole, left other members of the House in doubt as to what understanding had been reached as to Daniels' aerial coastal defense system and the division of the Navy between the Atlantic and the Pacific.

The Ford boats.
"How about the Ford eagle boats?" was another unanswered question asked by Representatives awaiting the action of the committee. A report was current that the amount of money that would be allotted to the Navy for the 1919-20 fiscal year would be nearer $550,000,000 than $750,000,000, but the advocates of Daniels' program on the committee merely shook their heads and smiling remarked, "Wait and see."

Daniels' Supporters.
One of the remarkable developments of the hot fight that has been waged in the committee over Daniels' proposal for the continuation of his policy of a three-year building program to insure an American navy "second to none" has been the stiff support Daniels by Representative Patrick H. Kelley, Republican of Michigan. Kelley has stood shoulder to shoulder with Representative Lemuel H. Padgett of Tennessee, chairman of the committee, and other Democrats on it, in commending Butler, Browning and other members in who urged that Congress should wait until after the peace conference reaches some definite conclusion as to a world-wide naval policy in the enforcement of the mandates of the proposed league of nations.

Friends of Daniels' program are explaining today that Admiral Mayo's description suggested league of nations as a "sewing circle" was not intended to be anything, more or less, than a means of emphasizing the view of the Navy department that a bigger American Navy—a navy "second to none"—and equal to the enormous task of looking after American interests on the high seas at home and abroad, is absolutely essential. "Mayo pointed out that the American Navy would have been in a bad way without the aid of the British Navy," upon America's entry into a war that he maintained, really was won by naval rather than military superiority.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Jan. 31.—There was a moderate demand for stocks at the opening of the market today, with the leading issues generally showing fractional gains, but trading was quiet after the first transactions.

Marine preferred declined one point to 97, followed by a rally to 97 1-2. Steel common was firm, with sales all through the first 15 minutes at 90 1-8 and 90 1-4 against 90 1-8 at the close yesterday. Other steel industrials made gains of 1-4 to 1-2.

Studebaker advanced 1 1-8 points to 51 1-2.

Red opened up 3-4 at 88 and then dropped to 87 7-8. Tobacco products was strong, advancing 5-8 to 78 3-4, and United Cigar stores made a gain of 5-8 to 113 3-4.

There was a marked falling off in the volume of business during the forenoon, with trading very quiet, especially in those issues which had been active during the weak. Steel common fluctuated within a narrow range, selling down to 89 3-4 and then moving up to 90 3-8. Similar narrow movements prevailed in the other steel shares and the railroad issues. Marine preferred was active falling 1 5-8 points to 96 1-2 while American Hide & Leather preferred dropped to 87 1-8. Tobacco Products moved up 7-8 to 77.

EMELIA GUSTAFSON.

Emelia, wife of Svante Gustafson, died at her residence 349 East Center street, at 10 o'clock this morning after two weeks' illness from pneumonia. She is survived by two sisters in this town, her parents, and a brother and a sister in Sweden. The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. P. J. O. Cornell will officiate and interment will be in the East cemetery.

DON'T CROWD, MEN—HERE'S SOFT DRINK WITH A KICK.

To offset the terrible Sahara thirst that will be the vogue after June 30 a temperance "cocktail" has been concocted by an enterprising ex-bartender who is now engaged as a soda clerk. The "drink" is composed of grape juice and yeast, and according to imbibers has a "kick" like TNT.

A recipe issued for "regulars" is as follows: One glass of grape juice, one small pellet of yeast, one large pinch of salt. Stir the pellet in the juice and mix thoroughly with thirst. Result—the kick.

SOLDIERS HOME.

Local soldiers and sailors who reported at the War Bureau yesterday as having been honorably discharged from the service were: Private Antonio Bertotti, Private Charles Teichert, Private James Findlay, First Class Private David Collins, Seaman Paul E. Clune, Private Giuseppe Rota, Wagoner Clement T. Lewis, Sergeant Otto Custer, First Class Private Charles Johnson, Seaman Walter Fox, and Master Mechanic Paul E. Diekow.

Pacific Coast Dry Workers To Fight Liquor in Orient

Now that nation-wide prohibition is assured, temperance workers on the Pacific coast are looking toward conquering the strong drink habit in the Orient. Sake must follow whiskey—into the world discard, is the battleship.

Mrs. Kara Smart Root, corresponding secretary of the W. C. T. U. of Southern California, chosen delegate of the World Dry Federation to go to Japan and conduct a five-year temperance campaign, believes the move to wipe out alcoholic beverages in cherry blossom land has been made "just in the nick of time." Otherwise, according to Mrs. Root, the Japanese soon would be manufacturing as many intoxicants as America.

On a previous trip to Japan as a White Ribbon missionary, Mrs. Root found that sake, which she describes as just the same thing as whiskey, is taking its toll in the tears of women and children.

Jap Prohibition.

Some 10,000 Japanese were interested in prohibition, based on figures on the fact that there is a men's temperance league working in Japan and editing a temperance paper which has 10,000 native subscribers.

SAYS HUMAN MIND IS 1st WIRELESS TRANSMITTER.

The mind is the original wireless transmitting machine, and thoughts are like radiograms. Such are the claims made by Rev. W. John Murray in a lecture delivered before the Divine Science association in session in this city.

It was asserted by Dr. Murray that thoughts were similar to her waves in their action as they completed a circuit when they emanated from the human brain, and if they were not received by another brain they returned to their sender with redoubled force. The necessity of thinking only good thoughts, he said, was therefore apparent.

DRUNKEN DOG TIPS OFF LOCATION OF THE STILL.

Drop is just a dog, but what a gay of dog he! Rufe Anson a descendant of Ham, admits Drop is "my dawg." The two lived in Dawson county near Atlanta county until the revenue officers suspected moonshine activity on the part of Anson. The revenue men arriving in the vicinity of Anson's abode were unable to locate the still until they came upon Drop, dog drunk. When the dog was sufficiently aroused to stand up and wag his tail, he wanted another drink, the distinct odor of corn liquor indicating that the dog had inside information on the location of the still. They followed the dog and that's why Anson is in jail and the dog is disconsolate.

BOY SCOUTS WILL PLANT TREES TO HONOR "TEDDY."

In memory of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt Boy Scouts of Kansas City Mo., will plant more than 100 trees, to be known as the "Roosevelt Memorial Grove," probably in one of the city parks.

A special service will be held, when the weather permits, and each troop will plant a tree. Colonel Roosevelt was honorary vice president of the National Boy Scout organization.

"There is already a Japanese mission organized to study the question of liquor and prohibition in America and England. This fact indicates that the Japanese Government, always abreast with every forward step of nations, is ready to give prohibition its scientific consideration."

"Also, I fancy this is significant, though comparatively an unknown thing over here—the Japanese government now recognizes temperance in an odd way. There is always a great ceremonial when the Emperor receives. An imperial custom is to pass a cup of sake in order to drink to the Emperor—and now temperance has made such advance there that those who attend the imperial reception are told that they need not drink if they do not wish to."

"Sake varies from 13 and 14 per cent alcohol to 45 per cent when it becomes very intoxicating. The average Japanese has a tolerance for it."

The sum of $50,000 must be raised before Mrs. Root can start on her mission. She says the World Dry Federation has set 1930 as the date for "dry" Japan.

$750,000,000 FOR NEW NAVY

Washington, Jan. 31.—The House naval affairs committee this afternoon unanimously vote to appropriate $750,000,000 for the U. S. navy for the next fiscal year. The action of the committee is seen as a complete victory for Secretary of the Navy Daniels' three year building program for a bigger American navy. Included in the appropriation vote for by the committee is $169,000,000 for construction, including the building of 10 capital ships an 10 scout cruisers.

WIRE COMPANIES CALLED AUTOCRATIC

Boston, Jan. 31.—Charges that the government officials managing the telephone and telegraph companies are "autocratic and unfair employers of labor" were made by Miss Julia S. O'Connor, president of the Boston Telephone Operators union, and president of the operators' department of the International Brotherhood of Electrical workers, in a letter of resignation as a member of the government wage committee made public today.

WAR CORNER

Private Paul J. Strange, with the Ordnance department, 315th Ammunition train, in France, writes the following letter to his mother, Mrs. Catherine Strange of Florence street, telling of his experiences from the time he left Boston, July 1, 1918, to November 25th, the date of his letter.

Dear Mother: Have the afternoon to myself and we are allowed to say where we have been, so I will try and interest you in some of our travels. Well Mother, we left Boston, July 1st, Sunday, at 7:30 and landed in Camp Mills July 2d about 9 o'clock. We stayed in Camp Mills until July 5th, Friday, and received our overseas equipment. We left Camp Mills Friday morning about 6 o'clock and arrived in New York at 7. We got off the train at the Pennsylvania station and got on the ferry. We got off the ferry at Dock 62 at the end of 23d street and laid around until 12 o'clock that night, until the boat was loaded and then we went on.

We left the dock at 11:40, July 6th and it sure was a funny feeling, sailing down the bay. The first three days out it was hard to tell whether we were sick or not, but after that everything went fine and as the weather was very good and nothing sighted we had a very pleasant trip, never giving the subs a thought. There were 15 ships in our convoy and about 40,000 or 50,000 men and we were on the only American ship in the convoy, the Louisville. We had life boat drills about twice a day and the rest of our time was spent in reading, writing and entertainments the Y. M. C. A. man on board got up. He organized a band on the way over, and we had band concerts every evening until we were two days or more from land.

We were on the water 11 days and a half, so you can imagine how anxious we were to see land. I was on port hole guard when an officer came down and told me to go up and see the sights. I went up and, believe me, they were wonderful, I will never forget them.

The daylight was just breaking and away off on both sides we could see the land rising as we came closer. On one side was the blue hills of Scotland and on the other was the green land of Ireland. We pulled into the harbor of Liverpool, England, July 19th, and laid up until we were pulled into the harbor at noon July 17th, and unloaded at 2 o'clock. We hiked through Liverpool to Camp Knotty Ask, about six miles outside of Liverpool. We left Knotty Ask the next morning at 10 o'clock and went to a rest camp in Romsey called Camp Woodley, landing there about 4 o'clock Friday, July 19th.

We left Camp Woodley Tuesday, July 23d, about 9 o'clock and hiked 12 miles to Southampton. We hiked with full packs and it was pouring rain so you can imagine what a tired looking bunch we were when we landed in Southampton. We laid around dock until 4:30 and then boarded a small English boat, Edward the second. We pulled out from the dock about 5:30 and anchored a short way out until about 9 o'clock. It took us just about six hours to cross the channel but it was the roughest six hours I ever had. I don't know a man on that boat that wasn't sick, even the sailors were sick.

We pulled into France between two and three o'clock, Wednesday, July 24th. We landed about 9 o'clock and hiked six miles out to a rest camp called English Rest Camp No. 1. We left there about 7 o'clock, July 26th, and hiked back to Scherbert and took the train for Camp Hunt, near Bordeaux. We were on the train for two days and two nights, arriving in Camp Hunt about 9 o'clock at night. We left Camp Hunt about 10 and went to a Mechanic's school in Libourn. Libourn is a fair sized city and we had some time there. I played baseball while I was there and took trips around the different towns with the boys.

I visited Base Hospital No. 2 at Montpoint and met a few boys from the lines. We left Libourn Sept. 1st and went back to Camp Hunt. While we were there the artillery was on the range and we were kept busy repairing them and carrying ammunition. We left Camp Hunt about Oct. 19th, and traveled in box cars from Bordeaux to Andelot taking us three days and two nights. While in Andelot we worked one day and were loaded the next. We were in Andelot about one week and then seven of us were sent to Renuerout and the rest went to Chantrain. From Renuerout we came to this place.

We are now living in a French concern, near Stenay. The last battle was fought near here and it brings back memories when we walk around. The most of our time is spent working on our trucks and during our spare time we look over the battle fields, and towns. It is a sorrowful looking place, around here. There isn't a building here that hasn't a hole in it and most of them are a complete ruin. Churches seemed to be their first target and they wrecked most of them. Everywhere is a part of the war and the safest way is to keep hands off of things you don't understand.

Well, mother, the word around here is the 9th division lands in Paris, Dec. 12th, and in New York, Jan. 1st, but there is always some rumor around so we live in hopes. Sometimes it seems true but it is hard to believe such a great thing could be so. The signing of the armistice has changed most of our minds. While there was always something going on we wanted to go on but now it is all over we are very anxious to go home. Well mother, I must close now. Wishing you a merry merry Christmas and a happy new year.

From your loving son, Paul.

Mrs. Everett A. Irons of Laurel street has received the following interesting letter from her son Joseph, who has been ill for some time with bronchitis but is now recuperating in the southern part of France:

Cannes, France, Jan. 9, 1919. Dear Mother: Just a few lines to let you know I am feeling fine and hope this finds you and all the family well. I have moved quite a distance since I wrote last. I am now in the southern part of France, about 20 miles from the city of Cannes and 30 miles from the city of Nice. It certainly is lovely and beautiful here, as warm as summer in the states.

The building we are in is a large beautiful hotel and up-to-date in every way. It was turned over to the army and is now being used as a hospital and is a beautiful one.

It is so nice at this time of the year it certainly makes a good place for one. The flowers here are all in bloom and the trees are all green. A fellow told me yesterday that he saw them picking oranges just below here. The hotel faces the Mediterranean sea and is about 600 feet from the shore and upon a rise of ground and one can look out anywhere and get a fine view of the water. I can see the Alps all covered with snow away off to the east. It took us three days and three nights to come from Langres to here by train and you can bet I was tired when we arrived, but it was like going into a new world as it rained about all the time I was at Langres. Here the sun shines most all the time. I guess that is why they call it sunny France as it is so pleasant here in the winter.

I sent a bunch of cards yesterday of the city of Cannes and hope you get them all right. I am going to get some cards with a view of this hotel the first time I go down to the city and will send you one. There are a lot of palm trees here, the first I ever saw. I am up walking around everywhere so don't think I am sick in bed. I will write again in a few days and tell you some more about the place here.

With love to you and all of the family, Joe.

TIMBER WOLVES KILLING CARIBOU BY HUNDREDS

Timber wolves are working havoc among the caribou herds around Lake north of The Pas, the present northern terminus of the Canadian National railway. Trappers and hunters report that the caribou are being slaughtered by the hundred.

The caribou are accustomed to swarm into the Lake Athapuskow region every summer to pasture on the rich grass that carpets the forest and swamp lands. They usually withdraw at the approach of cold weather into the barrens of the far north, where they winter immune in a country free from wolves. They delayed their northward migration this year because of the mild temperatures that have prevailed on their southern feeding grounds and, caught in the heavy recent snows, they have fallen easy prey to the wolves.

Circle Theater

A large crowd saw Griffith's masterpiece "The Great Love" at the Circle last evening. It will be shown again tonight. The picture has the same cast as "The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World" so you know it's good. It will be shown again tonight. Here is the story of the play:

When Jim Young of Youngstown, Pa., receives news of German atrocities in Belgium, it rouses him to great anger, and he proceeds forthwith to Canada and enlists in the British army, thus becoming a fore-runner of the American forces that are subsequently to leave for the battlefields in Europe. On his arrival in London, Young observes the war preparations there with great interest and he is at once sent to his training camp on the outskirts of that city, and begins active training.

While enjoying a few hours leave of absence, Young meets Susie Broadplains a young Australian girl, who is innocence personified, and who is much flattered by the attentions paid her by a real live, vigorous American soldier, enlisted in the cause of the allies against Germany. They meet frequently and their friendship soon ripens into love.

Susie falls heir to 20,000 pounds and at once becomes the object of much solicitude on the part of Sir Roger Brighton, an unscrupulous fortune-hunter, who has resolved to win her at any cost. He contrives to force his unwelcome attentions upon the girl, and when Young is called to the front with his regiment, Sir Roger seeks to force her to marry him before he leaves on a business trip for France. She repels him and at a final meeting with Young assures him of her love and bids him a cheerful adieu as he leaves for the front.

The story now deals with the adventures of Susie and her two suitors, which are interrupted frequently by international complications and the machinations of German adventures masquerading as radicals, with whom Sir Roger becomes entangled. The transformation of the fair woman and social butterflies of England to workers in hospitals and munition factories, is shown in a series of remarkable pictures.

"PEACE HATH ITS VICTORIES."

The killing of Captain William F. Madden, special deputy officer for Cheney Brothers, by would-be robbers last night is a reminder of one of those victories of peace in which the policeman and fireman are constantly figuring, but which only on occasion come conspicuously into the public mind. Madden died in an attempt to stop the murder car. He failed to halt it, but not a particle of the firm's property or money which it was his business to guard was taken.

Officer Madden was former captain of the local police force and also an ex-captain of militia. He was efficient in both capacities.

In spite of his death Madden was a victor, a victor as truly as if he had died in the service of his country. The sympathy of the entire town will go out to his bereaved family.

1,000,000 IDLE

The fact that 1,000,000 workers in the country are unemployed was given by Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson yesterday, before the Senate committee on education and labor, as the reason why the Kenyon bill, appropriating $100,000,000 to help provide work for the idle, should be passed.

Secretary Wilson stated that this was the same number out of work as in 1917. If that is so, it was war activities that produced and maintained the industrial prosperity now ended.

Mr. Wilson said he didn't believe wages were going to be reduced, but he did think raw materials would. Business was waiting, he told the committee, because it feared a decrease in demand.

His prices was meant our dispatch from Washington did not make clear.

To cap the climax the Secretary added that there was really a shortage of labor in the nation, because of the 4,000,000 men under arms and the absorption of 400,000 men in the new industry of shipbuilding. The worthy secretary might have explained why business is waiting. One reason is that a tax bill which should have been passed eight months or more ago still is practically untouched, while the Senate declaims and criticizes and the House kills time. Another is that, with the Fifth Liberty loan for five billions only a few months off, not even the date for it has been fixed. A third is that the attention of Congress, and with it that of the nation, is fixed upon Europe and the peace conference.

Meanwhile America is a very secondary matter.

A SPENDTHRIFT CONGRESS.

The days when Mr. Average Citizen—a purely mythical person, but one approximation toward whom has made for the moderation necessary to national balance—read of the first "billion-dollar Congress," he gasped and perhaps murmured against the seeming extravagance. But the war has taught us different things. The appropriation of 20 or 30 billions in a single year has expanded the imagination of official Washington. An even Mr. Average Citizen says perhaps: "Well, we're a big country and growing."

We are big and growing. Furthermore, the number of dollars named in an appropriation means much less when prices are double or triple what they were 10 years ago than it used to mean. And besides, we now must meet a burden incurred during the war as well as plan for the future.

Nevertheless, the habit of official extravagance in Washington is easily formed and hard to break. With the utmost conscientiousness, our legislators never have been and are not now as thrifty in the expenditure of the nation's money as they would be with their own.

The feed-Europe bill and certain other measures have shown a fine spirit of world philanthropy, but the appropriation of tens of millions of dollars for one object or another with scarcely a question raised about where the money is coming from or how necessary the object is should be discouraged. The Democratic party's present financial record, omitting the Federal Reserve act, makes it worthy of no more confidence now than before.

AN ADMIRAL'S "FREE SPEECH."

"The League of Nations idea is rapidly getting down to a 'sewing circle' with no means of enforcement and with no international police force." This is part of what Admiral Mayo told the House naval affairs committee yesterday afternoon, in coming out for Secretary Daniels' biggest Navy on earth program.

Admiral Mayo shows admirable loyalty to his chief, the most efficient member of the President's Cabinet, but his freedom of speech is likely either to embarrass Mr. Daniels or get the admiral into trouble with him.

"If an international police force were formed," he continued, "I do not think the United States Navy, as it is constituted today, would be in a position to provide its full share of ships." Now is the time to "go the limit," he declared, and added: "When the United States went into the war, our Navy was not properly prepared and if we had not had the assistance of the British Navy, we would have been in a very bad way indeed."

Nevertheless, with the important exception of Britain which would keep its Navy supreme if possible, the tendency is to reduce naval armaments so far as the demands of the proposed international navy will permit.

To Americanize, one's self means to become an American, speaking the language, appreciating its democracy and giving and taking as a citizen. We feel sure the experience back of "American" 's letter in these columns yesterday, whether his own or that of friends, is not typical.

The unanimous invitation to Rev. E. F. Studley to continue for the fifth year as pastor of the North Methodist church is no surprise, but none less pleasing on that account.

"The complaint is made that out of 258 members of the General Assembly only 17 follow the legal profession. That is a queer thing to complain about."—Journal-Courier.

It is said that Henry Ford dipped his Eagle boats, instead of painting or even spraying them. Does this mean Fords are going to be dipped, too, hereafter?

The Springfield Republican tells us that "co-education is threatening capture of the university of Pennsylvania." The alumni are against it, but the faculty mostly for it apparently. The vote in the young ladies' finishing schools and academies hasn't yet been taken.

The Hartford Times would probably call it "the so-called General Assembly," or "the audience which occupies the hall Mr. Roraback hired." What' maledictions doth green-eyed envy summon!

"Detroit is growing restless under its present street railway service," remarks a contemporary. Does this mean walking is on the increase?

A Massachusetts neighbor inspires the suggestion, which we humbly submit, for a society for the protection of super-centenarians. Probably the dues would be the only unpopular feature of the organization.

HUBBY ASKS SPOUSE TO WEAR DEAD WIFE'S CLOTHES

When W. P. McAfee asked his second wife to wear the old clothes of his first wife he started things that will end in the circuit court here, where Mrs. McAfee the second is suing for separate maintenance. "My husband had enough money to put a stained glass window in the Brighton Methodist church. That was all right, but when I asked him for money with which to buy a new coat and he told me to wear his dead wife's, I thought he was carrying the matter too far—especially in view of the fact that there are eight sizes."

The suit for separate maintenance followed.

FEMALE JURORS BARRED.

Women cannot serve on juries, according to a ruling made by Attorney-General S. P. Freeling of Oklahoma. Mr. Freeling called attention of Grady county officials upon hearing that Chickasha women were being called for jury service, while the constitution provided for "twelve men," and it means just that.

BOLTON

Bolton people were grieved to learn of the death of Second Lieut. Sidney Beardsley in France in November. Previous to leaving in the U. S. service Lieut. Beardsley was pastor of the Granby church. Rev. Mr. Beardsley's mother was Miss Emma Alvord of Bolton. He is survived by five brothers and two sisters.

Second Lieut. H. Douglas Fryer of Willimantic, who is at present stationed in Washington, D. C., is having a furlough. The middle of the week he visited his grandmother, Mrs. E. Jane Finley in town.

Prof. S. M. Alvord had a large number of chestnut logs sawed by the sawmill on the Clark place previous to its being moved to the Cary D. Carpenter place. Mr. Alvord had the logs sawed to save them from decay and plans to use the boards in the future for extensive repairing of his house.

Robins have been seen in town. If the ice men get the weather they are sighing for we will all be wondering with "Mother Goose" who asks: "What will poor robin do, then?" No one with an ice house has yet got the contented look which goes with a harvested crop of ice in a mild winter.

Carlos Ruggles, Jr., is now a sergeant at Camp Devens.

$25 A POUND FOR HER FAT.

In the suit of Mrs. Anna Wilson, of Beacon, against the New York Central railroad for $5,000 damages as a result of falling over a heap of iron pipe and debris at the station here a year ago. Mrs. Wilson got an award of $2,500. The testimony showed that Mrs. Wilson had gained 100 pounds since she received her injuries. A stout woman before the accident, her enforced inactivity added much to her weight. The verdict practically paid her $25 a pound for her surplus fat.

FINAL FIGURES GIVEN OUT IN TOWN'S GRAND TAX LIST

Summary of Manchester's Taxable Property—Gain of Over a Million. The Items.

Regardless of the fact that the world war was on, Manchester's grand list took a jump last year of a little more than a million dollars. The assessors completed their work today and will have their books ready for the board of relief which will hold its first sitting tomorrow. Manchester's grand list is now $23,722,176. That is an increase over last year of $1,064,394. It is not expected that the board of relief will materially reduce these figures. The following is a summary of the taxable property in the town of Manchester as recorded by the assessors:

2672 Houses,	$5,787,020
1,055 Barns and Sheds,	456,744
4760 House Lots,	2,581,855
162 Stores and Shops,	701,090
53 Mills,	5,108,566
14,375 Acres of Land,	891,191
695 Horses and Mules,	61,351
904 Neat Cattle,	37,298
Sheep, Goats and Swine,	1,320
Carriages and Wagons,	24,205
998 Automobiles and Motorcycles,	411,873
Watches and Jewelry,	14,920
Furniture and Pianos,	197,044
Farmers' and Mechanics' Tools,	10,475
Goods of Merchants,	436,545
Goods of Manufacturers,	5,279,990
Cables, Wires and Pipes,	607,950
Excess of Credits and Profits,	29,795
Money at Interest,	59,715
Other Taxable Goods,	6,275
Ten Per Cent Additions,	46,944

Total, $23,722,176. The amount of the ten per cent additions this year was a third less than last year which goes to show that more people visited the board of assessors and personally handed in their lists.

HOME COMFORT is what the returning boys need

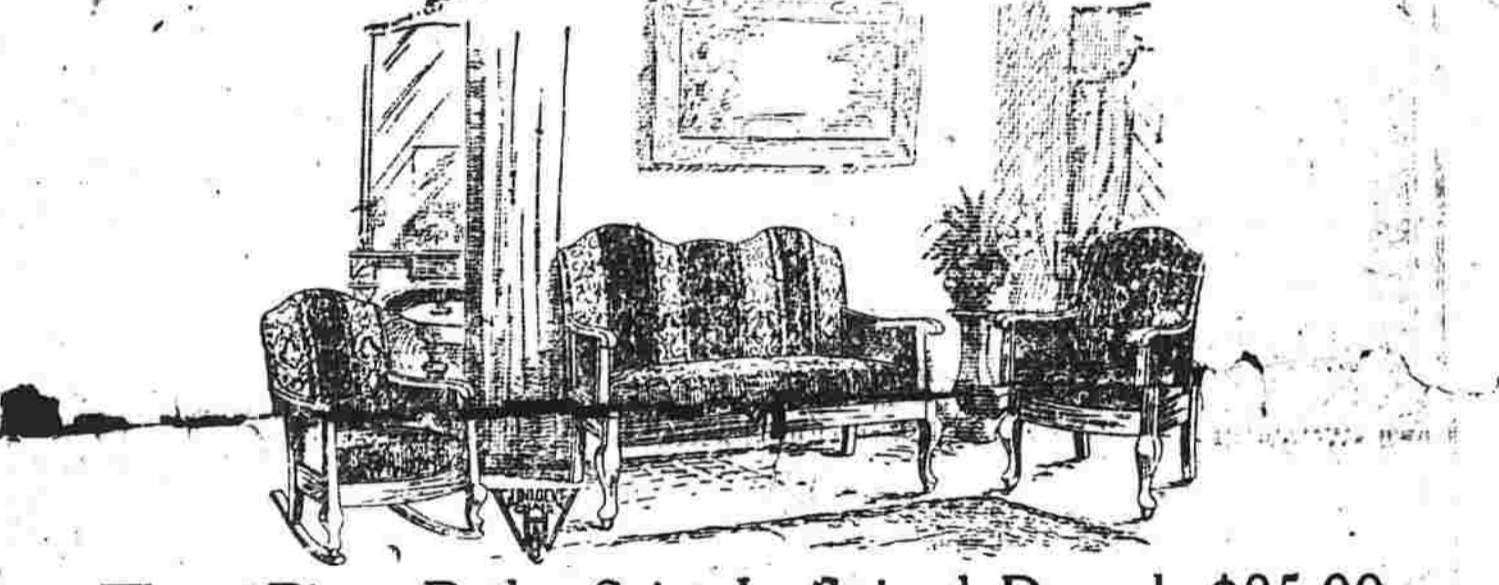

When Your Boy Comes Home Will He Find His Home Improved?

Our Annual February Furniture Sale opens tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock. We know this will be good news not only to soldiers' families but to many other people in Manchester for we have been having inquiries about when it was to start for several weeks. The uppermost question in everyone's mind in buying anything nowadays is whether the prices will be lower or not and whether to postpone buying. We have given this matter a great deal of study and spent a lot of time investigating manufacturing conditions and getting other men's opinions in our line of business. The result is that we can say unequivocally we do not believe the prices will ever be lower than those quoted at our coming sale for the same grade of merchandise. The fact is we still have thousands of dollars worth of furniture bought or contracted for, before any war prices were tacked on. In other words, to obtain lower prices than we are quoting now would mean a reduction of the cost of raw material and labor below the standard of 1914. Surely no one believes that this will occur. Therefore it would seem foolish to put off buying what we actually need with the expectation of lower prices.

Mahogany Four Post Chamber Suite $155.00
This is probably the most striking value to be offered during the sale. The dresser is 48 inches wide with extra large mirror as illustrated in the photograph. The construction is very substantial with 3 1/2 inch corner posts and genuine mahogany wood work throughout. Chiffonier and bed are a good match. The regular price for the three pieces (the toilet table is not in stock) is $249.00. Just one suite at our February Furniture Sale $155.00.

Three Piece Parlor Suite in Striped Damask $85.00
This suite is just as attractive as the picture indicates, the covering is black and gold damask with plain seat. The sides of the arms are cane, finished dark to harmonize with the covering. The regular price is $100.50. At our February Furniture Sale $85.00.

This Sewing Table
Genuine mahogany sewing tables with two drawers and extension top as illustrated, regular price $20.00. At our February Furniture Sale $14.50.

Child's Crib $7.65
This crib is full size with five end fillers 7-8 inch posts, adjustable sides, finished in white enamel, baked on, and fitted with National springs. The regular price $10.00. At our February Furniture Sale $7.65.

Sister Susie's Sewing Stands
Sister Susie's sewing stands in solid mahogany, regular $8.50 value $4.98.

LINOLEUMS

Remnants of linoleum at half price.

Watkins Brothers Inc.

Watkins Brothers FEBRUARY FURNITURE SALE

This Library Table
$16.50

When we took inventory the other day we ran across a lot of library tables we did not know we had. They were bought nearly a year and a half ago from the Wolverine Co., one of the largest table manufacturers in the country, whose plant has now been taken over by the government. We bought them when they were closing out their stock at a very low price. You will believe us when we say this table is a genuine bargain. A choice of quartered oak or mahogany finish.

Mattresses
$5.98

Special combination mattresses, full size in two parts, made of clean new material throughout, covered with good quality ticking, regular price $8.50. At our February Furniture Sale $5.98.

Special combination mattresses, fibre center with felt top and bottom and sides, made in two parts and covered with attractive art ticking. The regular price is $12.75. At our February Furniture Sale $9.98.

Stearns and Foster mattresses made of pure felt throughout, covered with plain durable ticking, the regular price $19.50, specially priced at our February Furniture Sale $13.75.

Upholstered Davenport
$85.00

You would be surprised to know the number of davenports we are selling nowadays and you would be further surprised if you could see some of the homes where they are delivered. Contrary to the prevailing idea it does not require an extra large room to accommodate a luxurious davenport. We have arranged them in some ordinary sized living rooms and the owners agreed with us that the davenport instead of crowding, simply "made" the room. If you like we will gladly place one in your home so you may see just how it actually does look. All our $100.00 and $110.00 upholstered davenports in good tapestry at our February Furniture Sale $85.00.

Royal Push Button Easy Chairs
$19.50

Here is one of the most comfortable easy chairs imaginable with the well known patent adjustable back and foot rest. You can have your choice of mahogany or golden oak finish, upholstered in Chase's leather or tapestry. The regular price is $27.00. At our February Furniture Sale $19.50 each.

You Will Be Delighted with this American Walnut Dining Room Suite at $159.00

Could a dining room suite be more perfect? From the modest dining chairs to the large handsome buffet, everyone of these eight pieces represent the work of master craftsmen. The entire suite is finished in American walnut, upholstered in fine Spanish leather. The regular price of the buffet, table and six chairs is $200.00. We offer them at our February furniture sale for $159.00. The serving table if wanted is $20.00 extra. The China Cabinet $59.00.

Three Piece Living Room Suite $57.50 In Fumed Oak

There is still as strong a demand as ever for the arts and crafts furniture finished in fumed oak. This suite is constructed of white oak throughout and finished a beautiful nut brown fumed, the cushions upholstered in genuine Spanish leather. The regular price is $73.00. At our February Furniture Sale $57.50.

This Charming Chamber Suite $169.00

The above illustration is almost an exact reproduction of the old-fashioned suites our grandmothers used to have only we believe it is better made and the interiors of the bureaus and chiffoniers are more conveniently arranged. The finish of this one is a dull brown mahogany. This is the very best photograph we could get of the suite. As a matter of fact, we have in our store a chiffonier in place of the desk and another chair in place of the night table. The regular price of the seven pieces complete is $217.50. At our February Furniture Sale $169.00.

$49.50
For This Davenport Bed

You have at some time or other planned to buy a davenport bed. Our February Furniture Sale offers you just the opportunity that you have been waiting for. This one is very easy to operate and can be changed in a flash from an attractive davenport to a comfortable bed.

The regular price is $65.00, a choice of three styles, fumed oak or mahogany finish. At our February Furniture Sale $49.50.

Wooden Beds
$19.75

Wooden beds are out-selling the iron and brass beds more and more. Here is a chance to buy one of the latest styles at a very low price. We have a half dozen or so of different styles left from suites in mahogany and walnut which formerly sold from $30 to $35 from which you may take your choice at $19.75.

$198.00
The Lowest Price We Have Ever Asked for a Suite of This Character

Of course you can buy cheaper living room furniture but we doubt if you can buy anywhere three pieces of this exceptional quality at nearly so low a price. This suite has a double row of springs in the arms and springs in the cushions. The covering is a durable tapestry. The regular price is $245.00. At our February Furniture Sale $198.00.

$12.75
For This Solid Mahogany Chair

Yes, it is every inch solid mahogany, with cane seat and back and is well enough made and good enough looking to go into anyone's home. The regular price was $18.00 and the reason we can offer them at so low a price is on account of buying them in dozen lots. At our February Furniture Sale $12.75.

LOCAL HIGH TO PLAY MERIDEN HIGH TONIGHT

Meriden High will be the opponents in basketball of the local high school tonight. The game will be played in the Recreation building. The locals are well set for the bettle and are confident they can make the Silver City boys take a back seat. Meriden has a high school somewhat larger than the local school but never seems to be able to turn out as good athletic teams as Manchester. Last summer in baseball the locals trimmed Meriden 20-3. They hope to inflict a similar defeat on the basketball team tonight. Ever since the locals played their "victorious defeat" game at Loomis they have been aching to play a home game and show the local people what they can do.

RENO FOR WILLARD-DEMPESEY FIGHT, MAYBE.

New York, Jan. 31.—Reno will be the site of the Willard-Dempsey championship battle July 4, if Promoter Tex Rickard can secure permission to stage the bout over the 20-round distance, or to a finish. This was the prediction made in boxing circles here today, following Rickard's announcement that the battle will not be staged in Texas. At the present time the Nevada law limits bouts to 10 rounds, but it is said on good authority that promoter Rickard has received reasonable assurance that it will be possible to secure a special permit.

DEMPESEY SAYS HE CAN WHIP WILLARD.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 31.—Jack Dempsey, enjoying a short visit with his mother here, is not letting the prospect of meeting heavyweight champion Jess Willard worry him in the least. "Willard is a big man and a good man, but I can whip him," he said. "I can get ready to fight in a very short time and as soon as articles are actually signed I will begin to get in shape for the bout." This was Dempsey's only comment on Tex Rickard's statement late yesterday that he preferred Dempsey to Carpenter as Willard's opponent in the fight in July.

FORMER BASEBALL STARS OF HANLON MANAGERS; MESSRS. GLEASON, M'GRAW, JENNINGS, ROBINSON

New York, Jan. 31.—Edward "Ned" Hanlon, veteran baseball magnate, manager and player, can lay claim to unprecedented distinction as a sort of godfather to major league managers.

No other figure in the realm of baseball, past or present, has enjoyed the knowledge that four of his one-time proteges—stars of a team of his own recruiting—were filling major league managerial berths at the same time. Kid Gleason stands out as the fourth and latest member of the quartette to come into prominence, for John McGraw and Hugh Jennings have been managers for many a season, while Wilbert Robinson was prominent in the National league before he took over the management of the Dodgers.

MACHINE SHOP CONTEST SURELY WAS A HUMMER

Low Records of the World Shattered—5,000 Reserved Seats Faded to One Soap Box—Sidelights of Game.

The town clock was slowly tolling the hour of ten, when the official scorer of last night's bowling contest between the married and single men of Cheney Brothers' Machine Shop awoke "special constable" Clayton Gilbert from a sound sleep and announced that the single men had captured the three games. The "constable" crawled out of the arms of Morpheus, collected his salary for the night's work and proceeded to the tobacco counter where he bought a small sized pack of Meccas. "Now I'm broke," said the constable, and he left for his domicile satisfied that he had done his share of the night's work.

But to get back to the game. It was sure a dejected looking lot of married men that filed out of the Brunswick alleys after last night's game, muttering about the high cost of living, home troubles, divorce proceedings, etc. The single men had upheld their contention that single life was the best, even in bowling. They left the building smiling for they had captured the three straight games and had beaten their adversaries by 71 pins.

No Reserved Seats. Of course there were the disappointments that always attend big events. Those seats that were hired from the Barnum show did not arrive. Mr. McCann blamed this on the railroad administration. "There's the reserved seats," said the manager as he pointed to a cracker box that stood in the corner. "After that is all occupied the rest of the crowd will have to stand up. And they did, all but "Jerry" Fay. His smiling countenance was seen high above the heads of all others and when asked how he done it he proudly displayed a sky hook. "I've attended these affairs before," said Jerry.

Nobody from Bolton. And then there was the absence of the country contingent. The press agents explained that the cars from Bolton had been stalled near the New England hotel and the Vernon cars had run off the bridge near the mills. "Where's those fifty dollars," hollered Captain Dowd. "Sorry," said Manager McCann. "The guy I borrowed that money off, came in this morning and borrowed it back again, and I've been busy figuring all day whether I owe him the money or he owes it to me." "Well, I see the skunks are here, anyway," said the captain, and he pointed to (censored by Creel).

teges—Gleason vs Jennings in the American league and McGraw vs Robinson in the National. To say the least he can claim the title as the champion producer of big league pilots.

Hanlon has done much for baseball in his time, and baseball has done much for him. He is the owner of valuable property, and is said to have a fortune of half a million. His best days as a player were spent with Detroit, National league champs of 1887, the team that beat Comiskey's St. Louis Browns for the world's title.

He was a brilliant outfielder, and a slugger as well, and ranked in the day just as Ty Cobb now ranks with respect to his brother gardeners on the Detroit club.

years old. "But I'll fix that, I'll get you an audience," and he ran into the Chinese laundry next door. "Nothing doing," said McCann on his return. "He's studying the first principals of Americanization and he don't want to be bothered. "All right," said Tommy, "show us the alleys, I want to get this game over by ten o'clock and the crowd ought to be here by that time."

And the alleys—never in the annals of Manchester's bowling history had the motley crowd—(they were coming in by this time)—witnessed such a sight. It was a miniature scene railway with tracks, loop, loop, and a crowd of spectators like this before, encountered Captain Tommy. "Neither have I," said Manager McCann, "just follow the blue print, you can't go wrong. "Play ball," shouted one of the royal rooters. "Little music," shouted another. And to cap the climax the Machine Shop Stringed Orchestra had failed to show up. "Never mind," said "Constable" Gilbert, "I'll furnish enough music for the crowd." And he did, for when he had settled down for the evening, his music could be heard above the roar of the rooters. "What kind of an instrument do you call that?" said a rooster after the game. "That," answered Clay, "is what I call the nose basso."

Details of Game. But now to the details of the game. There was smoking regardless of the drastic order laid down before the game and it is said that this affected J. McEvitt's eyesight. The best he could do was eighty-five, but he said he could do better than this if he was pushed. Some wise guy thought this was a good stunt and he gave "Jawn" a shove sending his person down the alleys for a strike. "Ruled out," hollered the "ump" and the teams abided by his decision. Durfee, the New London star, gave an exhibition of right and left handed bowling and reached the 95 mark. "If I had another hand I could raise that score to a hundred fifty," said Durfee. "You had a better hand than that last night," snapped a member of the married men's team, "and you lost this pot."

Captain Dowd's "Hook." Captain Dowd and his little hook boasted the single men's score, for the ball went rolling over the bumps for an average of 93 for the three games. In fact he captured the high single for the evening with a 97. Martin's gutter ball made a great hit and gave the pin boy a much needed rest. Martin event went so far as to state that the pins had been spiked. Jerry Sweeney said that he missed his tinner's hammer otherwise his score might have been larger.

Johnson failed to uphold his end, explaining that he had purchased a small sized undersuit and this prevented him from bending over. He could bend he said, but he did not want to spoil a good suit on a bowling game. William Warren's alibi for his showing was that he forgot to bring his New London alleys with him. Matty Paton's "heather" ball was rolling great. He rolled one box and did not hit a pin. A loyal Rooter suggested that he use a broom or a shovel, but the idea was not to Mattie's liking. Captain Tommy Weir of the married men attributed his poor showing to the fact that he had been working late night's taking the census and was run down. "You'll do some more running before I get through with you," said Dowd. "Wait until I organize the baseball team."

But aside from these little errors it was a clean game. The balls and pins had been thoroughly washed at Frank Hare's laundry so how could it be otherwise. It was announced that town and world records would be broken and they were. The world's record for low bowling score is 61. The town record is 60. Johnson beat this last night. His record was 59. Captain Dowd's little bull which he placed on the alleys every time a married man came up raised havoc and the ball would soar towards the ceiling. There was only one incident that warranted investigation. Paton of the married men came up in the eighth box of the last game. The brawny Scot let loose the sphere and a strike was chalked up to the credit of Paton.

The alleys will probably be a permanent thing as they were a great success last evening. There are three or four strips left and half of the balls are missing. An inventory of the damages done by flying balls and pins has not been taken. But the creditors will receive a statement when this work is finished. The game is a thing of the past, but the scores still remain.

CAPT. MADDEN IS SLAIN BY NEW JERSEY GUNMEN

Captain Madden, lying on the ground, mortally wounded, he emptied the contents of his automatic at the fleeing occupants.

"Died in My Arms."
"When I reached the Captain he was lying in the middle of the road. Blood was streaming from his mouth and nostrils. I dragged him to the sidewalk and bent over him to see if I could find any signs of life. I called to him but could get no response. He was breathing his last. I then hustled to one of the adjoining buildings to get some water. Returning I lifted the Captain's head and he died in my arms."
"I then telephoned from the Machine Shop to Captain of Police William R. Campbell, giving him the details, the license number of the car, which we had taken previous to the shooting. Strangely enough when I returned there was not a soul near the scene. This seemed queer with all the shooting. It was easily fifteen minutes from the time the murder occurred to the time that the first person reached the scene."

Macomber is a special constable and has been engaged for some time to assist Captain Madden in the patrolling the properties of Cheney Brothers. When asked how many shots were fired he said that he estimated about eighteen or nineteen. That fact that he must have hit one of the members of the party is substantiated by the finding of a revolver in the middle of the road by a young man who arrived on the scene later on. This gun was handed to Medical Examiner Tinker and was of a different type than the ones used by the murdered man or Macomber. Macomber also stated that there were six in the party who attempted the robbery.

Was Police Captain.
For several years, Madden was a member of the Manchester police force and for four years was captain of the force. About three years ago, following the sudden death of his wife, Captain Madden accepted the position of special patrolman for Cheney Brothers. He has been their head patrolman and it was in performing his duty as such that he met his death last night.

Wife and One Child.
Captain Madden is survived by his wife and one daughter, Catherine, about a year old. He also leaves three brothers and two sisters. They are: Maurice and Lieutenant Joseph Madden of this town, Frank Madden, Miss Lulu Madden and Mrs. Mary Madden Purdy, all of Dillon, Mont.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Words of Appreciation.
Manchester was all excited this morning when the news had spread about. However, Supt. of schools Verplanck and Deputy Sheriff Sheridan found time to express words of praise for the dead officer. Said Mr. Verplanck:

"I have known intimately William F. Madden for twenty-five years as a boy, a student, and a man of affairs.

"As a pupil, he was good natured, big hearted, sympathetic, loyal, well liked by his teachers.

"As an athlete he played a clean game, never lost his temper, and was always an exponent of clean sport. He took great pride in his physical fitness and never let alcohol or tobacco interfere with the full development of his powers.

"As an attendance officer, he was always ready promptly to do the work assigned, giving more rather than less of his time to the intelligent investigation of each case.

"The way and manner of his death he had foreseen, yet, he died as he had lived courageously and faithfully performing his duty."

ABOUT TOWN

The Ladies Aid society of the Swedish Congregational church on Spruce street will have a social in the church basement at 7:30 o'clock this evening. A program of vocal and instrumental selections will be given. After the program, refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Andrew Crowe has returned from Camp Shelby, Miss., where she was called to her brother, William R. Kennedy, bedside who was suffering with pneumonia. His reports his condition much improved and he is on the road to recovery.

"NAT" GOODWIN, ACTOR IS DEAD IN NEW YORK

His Career.
Goodwin began his business life in a dry goods store as a clerk, but it proved too humdrum and already he was feeling the lure of the stage. He quit the monotony of mercantile life to become general utility man at Niblo's Garden, in New York.

From Niblo's Garden Goodwin went to the Boston Museum. His first appearance in a pretentious role was at the Providence Opera House with William Henderson in the "Bottle," an old fashioned melodrama. After submitting to stage fright he fled from the theater and the next day was found on a train still wearing his makeup wig. Thinking he was too shy to tread the boards Goodwin then became a clerk in a shoe store. Subsequently Stuart Robson engaged him for one of his productions and from then on his rise was rapid.

Plays He Starred In.
Among the plays in which he starred were: "Little Jack Sheppard," "A Gay Deceiver," "The Nominee," "The Gold Mine," "Nathan Hale," "The Cowboy and the Lady," "In Missouri" and "When We Were Twenty-One."

Mr. Goodwin's last public appearance on the stage was in Baltimore last Saturday night in "Why Marry?" Mr. Goodwin went to Philadelphia with the company, but so ill that he continued on to New York from that city.

Miss Gardner Deeply Affected.
Miss Gardner, whose home is in Los Angeles, was prostrated today over the death of her benefactor. It is understood that Mr. Goodwin transferred a third interest of his property to her a short time before his death and arranged to have the balance held in trust for his mother and father, with the proviso that it go to Miss Gardner after their death. Mr. Goodwin perhaps made more money than any other comedian the American stage has produced, but it is understood that he left a small estate. He was a liberal spender and lender and an exceptionally poor business man.

His Vinegar Bath.
The actor got into the public prints on an extensive scale last year as a result of some humorous revelations brought out regarding his life and habits during a breach of contract suit he had brought against a moving picture company. It was then that Goodwin told of taking a vinegar bath in the morning to tone him up for the day.

By a curious coincidence two of the former wives of the late comedian are now living in New York at the same hotel.

Miss Gardner, the last object of Goodwin's attractions, had been married and divorced. Her first husband was Joseph C. Weinsandler. Her ex-husband is reported to be an officer in the American army.

Park Theater

They arrived this afternoon, spick and span in flashy uniforms. Who? Why the members of Guy Brothers minstrels who are to play a one night stand at the Popular playhouse to-night. A street parade held this afternoon gave the local residents a line on the performers who will entertain this evening.

Tonight, real big time entertainment awaits the theater goer at the Park. There are 25 in this troupe. The company carries a carload of scenery and its own orchestra and band. There will be 10 big vaudeville acts, a dozen dancers, some wonderful acrobats, sweet singers and funny comedians.

Just see this show for yourself to-night. It is direct from a big city and on its way to Bridgeport. It had one night open and decided to play here. The advance man of the show said that he did not wish to make any extravagant statements but that the show would do all the advertising for him.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Alfred Lincoln of Ridge street, employed by Cheney Brothers, is at the Hartford hospital, suffering from a broken collar bone and probably internal injuries as the result of an accident yesterday afternoon on the Bolton road, just west of the Manchester-Bolton line. He was drawing telegraph poles from Bolton and in going down the grade the wagon pole broke. The horses bolted and Lincoln was pulled from his seat to the ground and both wheels on one side of the truck passed over his chest. Dr. Aloa was called and after giving first aid ordered the men taken to the hospital.

REMOVE CARGO

FROM SHIP AGROUND
London, Jan. 31.—The cargo of the American steamship Piave, which is aground off Deal, is being jettisoned today. Five tugs attempted to haul off the stranded ship at high tide. The Piave sailed from New York for Falmouth on January 14th.

SONS OF ITALY APPROVE AMERICANIZATION PLAN

Only 10 Per Cent. of Local Italian Colony Intend to Go Home to Stay.

Much discussion in taking place regarding the anticipated return of many foreigners to the old country in the near future. The following statement has been given out by an Italian concerning the local colony in Manchester:

"Not over 25 per cent of this colony has any idea of returning to Italy, and of that number, not more than 10 per cent have any idea of remaining there. Most of those who are planning to go back, are going simply to see the old folks once more, or to dispose of whatever property they possess over there. They will then return to America for permanent residence."

"Concerning those who will remain in Italy, the Italians themselves join with the Americans who say: 'It is best for those who feel unhappy or dissatisfied in America to go where they will be happy.'"

Sons of Italy Plan.

It will be interesting to those interested in Americanization to know that the new Italian lodge just organized has for its primary duty the vigorous and earnest promotion of interest in Americanization—particularly working toward citizenship of the United States. This is an organization which is nation-wide in scope and powerful in influence with the Italian population of America. In some parts of the country, schools are being organized under the auspices of this lodge, for the purpose of teaching English and Citizenship.

CUSHMAN-TRACY.

The marriage of Sidney B. Cushman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Cushman of Hillstown, to Miss Elsie A. Tracy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Tracy, took place last evening at the home of the bride on Woodbridge street. Rev. Mr. Peters of the North Congregational church performed the ceremony amid a large number of relatives and friends from Springfield, New Haven, Stafford Springs, Hartford, Hillstown and this town. The young couple were attended by Miss Florence Tracy, a sister of the bride and Carlton Miller of New Haven, a cousin of the groom. The bride wore Georgette crepe over white satin and carried a bouquet of white roses. The double ring service and the Reformed Episcopal service was used. Miss Ruth M. Tracy presided at the piano and played Lohengrin's wedding march. Following the ceremony Mrs. Olive Hartz of East Hartford sang "O Promise Me." She was accompanied by her sister Miss Hilma E. Cushman. A reception followed. The house was tastefully decorated with pink and white.

The groom is the well known dairy man. He is a graduate of the South Manchester high school. The bride, too, is a graduate of the local high school. The couple left town during the evening for an automobile honeymoon and on their return will be at home to their friends after April 15 at 531 Parker street. Mr. Cushman owns the well known Nettleton farm on Parker street.

HOODOO IN FEET.

William Keefe's feet seem to be his hoodoo. Keefe returned recently from doing his bit in France. Before entering the service, he was employed by L. T. Wood the local ice dealer and was rejected once or twice because of trouble with one of his feet, caused by a cake of ice falling on it. About a year ago, however, Keefe was taken in the draft. He went to France and was wounded in the foot. He is still suffering from the wound and returned to the Base Hospital at Camp Upton today, after having a week's turlough in town.
