ANOTHER MIDNIGHT FIRE STIRS UP MAIN STREET

Goetz Bakery Gunned, But Good Work of Firemen Prevents Spread of Flames—Loss in Thousands.

Just before midnight last night, the East side companies of the South Manchester fire department were called out for a fire at the Goetz Bread company's bakery on Gorman Place. The fire, which was confined to the bake shop, had broken through the roof before the firemen arrived, but they were on the spot in quick order and within 20 minutes had the fire under control. The recall was sounded at 12.30, but the firemen remained at work for half an hour or more after that.

No. 3's pump and hose truck was the first to reach the fire last night. Foreman E. W. Post, was at the wheel and volunteers helped him connect the hose at Main and Bissell streets and had a stream playing on the building within about three minutes. Other members of the company arrived soon afterwards and the nozzle then was turned over to them. Companies 4 and 2 also responded to the call and quickly had streams at work. Many complimentary words were heard for the rapid and efficient work of the firemen last night.

Aid From Volunteers.

It was through the assistance of volunteers and chiefly through the efforts of the Fitzgerald Brothers that Foreman Post was able to get to the fire so promptly. During the first few minutes after the alarm was sent in, the Fitzgerald boys seemed to be just where a man was needed. Francis and Harold ran to the hose house, and while the former was opening the doors the latter was cranking the engine and turning on the lights of the truck. When Foreman Post came hustling down, everything was ready for a quick get-a-way. Policeman William Fitzgerald, familiarly known as "Bing", turned in the alarm and then got busy helping remove some eight or nine horses from the stables adjoining the bakery. About that time, one of the late trolleys started down from the Center and Francis Fitzgerald was the man who ran into the street and stopped the car before it hit the hose. There were other volunteers who gave valuable assistance before the firemen arrived. One of them was "Billy" Murphy of Murphy Brothers, who was at the nozzle with Harold Fitzgerald.

Origin a Mystery.

Fritz Mohr, who has managed the bakery for some time past, recently purchased an interest in the business. He does not know how the fire started; neither can he give any definite idea as to the loss or the amount covered by insurance, as the business has been conducted through the New Haven office of the company. Apparently the fire started in the attic above the bakeshop. One of Mr. Mohr's sons had just returned home when the alarm sounded. He did not notice any fire as he passed the building to go to his home, just across the driveway from the bakery, and had not finished undressing when he was startled by the sound of the fire whistle.

No one was working in the shop at the time, but a baker was scheduled to start to work at two o'clock in the morning. There was a fire in the boiler, but it is not thought the fire started from the boiler, as a wooden barrel, standing beside it, was not burned. A good part of the roof was burned off and the whole interior of the bake shop was scorched and charred. About $1,000 worth of material, including flour, sugar, salt and 30 dozen of eggs received yesterday, was ruined and the machinery was badly damaged by water. The whole loss probably will amount to several thousand dollars.

Adjusters were at work on the scene today.

NEW ENGLAND HEROES IN TRIUMPHANT MARCH

gather along the route of march.

The Decorations. Flags and pennants flew from every building, Beacon street, where the parade began, was garbed in grand array. Allied banners hung from windows of clubs and homes facing Boston Common. Flags of many nations danced in the breeze along Tremont street—the "Avenue Victory"—as it is being called during the celebration.

YD Emblem Everywhere. Immense white pillars were topped half Corinthian. Golden laurel with gold crowns, half Ionic and chains hung from pillar to pillar.

The central figure was a gilt "Victory" carrying in her outstretched hand the wreath that is the sign of valor. Other uptown streets through which the parade passes were vivid with color. Throughout the city's decorations the "YD" emblem was universal. Elaborate provisions were made for policing the route of march. More than 3,600 soldiers and members of the State Guard cooperated with the thousands of Boston police officers as guards along the line.

The wooden grandstands, bordering three and one half miles of the ten miles of curbing along the route of march presented a spectacle never before witnessed by history of the city. They seated 150,000 and were erected at a cost of approximately $25,000. The nearest approach was when Admiral Dewey was welcomed at the close of the Spanish American war.

Distressing Feature.

One of the distressing features of today's big event was the fact that thousands of New England soldiers and sailors who performed noble service for their country were obliged to watch the parade from sidewalks. Many of the men fought on foreign fronts but as they were not connected with the 28th division, no provision was made for them or their families.

There were four reviewing stands along the route. In front of the state house on Beacon Hill were all the New England governors—Coolidge of Massachusetts, Holcomb of Connecticut, Beekman of Rhode Island, Milliken of Maine, Bartlett of New Hampshire and Clement of Vermont.

Representing Secretary of War Baker was Assistant Secretary of War Benedict Crowell.

Among others in this stand were United States Senators Lodge and Walsh; former United States Senator Weeks; former Governor McCall, (Massachusetts' war governor); Major General McCain, commanding Camp Devens; Rear Admiral Wood, commanding the First Naval District; United States Attorney Boynton and other federal and state officials.

Mayor Peters Present.

Mayor Peters and the city council were in the reviewing stand on Tremont street. Major General Clarence R. Edwards, commanding the department of the northeast, and as

Text of Orlando's Statement

Premier Orlando has issued the following statement in answer to the one made by President Wilson yesterday:—

"While the Italian delegation was discussing counter-propositions, which had been received from the British prime minister and which had for their aim the conciliation of contradictory tendencies which were manifested concerning Italian territorial aspirations, the Paris newspapers published a message from the President of the United States in which he expressed his own thought on one of the gravest problems which has been submitted to the judgment of the conference.

Innovation in Diplomacy.

"The practice of addressing nations directly constitutes surely an innovation in international relations. I do not wish to complain, but I wish to record it as a precedent, so that at my own time I may follow it, inasmuch as this new custom doubtless constitutes the granting to nations of larger participations in international questions, and personally, I have always been of the opinion that such participation was the harbinger of a new order of things.

"Nevertheless, if these appeals are to be considered as addressed to nations outside of the governments which represent them (I might say even against the governments) I should feel deep regret in recalling that this process, heretofore applied to enemy governments, is today applied for the first time to a government which has been and intends to remain a loyal ally of the great American republic, namely, to the Italian government."

Premier Orlando says that he might complain that such a message addressed to the Italian nation had been published at the very moment when the allied and associated powers were negotiating with the Italian government, the help of which had been sought and appreciated in numerous serious questions, heretofore discussed in intimate and complete solidarity.

Reverts Address to People.

Above all he continues, "I should have the right to complain if the declarations of the presidential message have the purpose to oppose the Italian people to the Italian government, because it would misconstrue and deny the high degree of civilization which the Italian people has attained and its democratic and liberal regime. To oppose the Italian people and government would be to admit that this great free nation would submit to the yoke of a will other than its own, and I should be forced to protest strongly against suppositions unjustly offensive to my country."

Referring to President Wilson's statement, Premier Orlando says it entirely purports to demonstrate that the Italian claims beyond certain limits laid down in his message violate the principles upon which must be founded the new regime of right, justice and liberty among peoples, and adds that he never denied these principles and that even President Wilson would do him the justice to say that in the long conversations they had together, he (Orlando) had never relied upon the formal authority of a treaty by which he knew President Wilson was not bound, but merely relied on reason and justice, upon which Italy's claims were based.

Signor Orlando deplors that he could not convince President Wilson, although the President admitted that justice and truth are the monopoly of no man and that all men err. The conference, he pointed out, has had to change its mind many times and he did not think himself disrespectful by asking it to change it again.

"I consider as unjustified the application that, in his statement, President Wilson makes of his principles toward the Italian claims," Premier Orlando continues. "It is impossible for me in a document of this nature to repeat the detailed arguments which have been produced in Italy's behalf. I might say that no one will receive without reserve the affirmation that the collapse of the Austro-Hungarian empire should imply the reduction of Italian aspirations."

Must Protect Flank.

Citing the President's argument that the concessions granted bring Italy to its natural defenses, the Alps, Signor Orlando says: "This recognition is of great importance, provided the eastern flank of this wall does not remain open and that the right of Italy should be interpreted to include the line of Mont Nevoso, which separates the waters running toward the Black Sea and the Mediterranean." He recalls that the Latins from the earliest days of Italian history designated this mountain the "Italian limit."

"Without this protection," says the premier, "a dangerous breach is left in this admirable barrier of the Alps, rupturing the unquestionable political, economic and historical unity of the Isthmian peninsula. I contend, furthermore, that he who is entitled to the honor of proclaiming to the world the right of the free determination of peoples should recognize this right for Plume, an ancient Italian city which proclaimed its Italian nature before the Italian ships arrived—an admirable example of national conscience perpetuated throughout centuries. To deny this right only because of the small number concerned would mean the admission that the criterion of justice toward peoples varies according to their territorial extent."

Premier Orlando points out that Antwerp, Genoa and Rotterdam are international ports serving an outlet to diverse peoples and territories without having to pay for the privilege by sacrificing national conscience, and continues:

Claims Not Excessive.

"It is impossible to qualify as excessive the Italian aspirations toward the Dalmatian coast, Italy's boulevard throughout centuries, which Roman genius and Venetian activity made noble and grand and whose Italian character, defining for centuries implacable persecutions, still shares the same thrill of patriotism with the Italian people."

The principle proclaimed with reference to Poland that de-nationalization based on violence does not create rights, the premier contends, should be applied to Dalmatia. Passing to the argument of "cold statistical statements" the premier affirms that among the national reconstructions occupying the peace conference none of the reconstructed nations will count within their frontiers a relatively slighter number of persons of alien race than would be attributed to Italy, and asks why only Italians should be suspected of imperialistic cupidity. The history of the negotiations, he declares, will show that the Italian delegation acted not only with firmness but with a grand spirit of conciliation.

He concludes his statement as follows: "The Presidential message ends with a warm declaration of America's friendship for Italy. I reply in the name of the Italian people, and proudly claim the right and honor to do this as one, who in the most tragic hour of this war, proclaimed the cry of resistance at all costs. This cry was heard and replied to with courage and abnegation, of which there are few more striking examples in the world's history.

"Italy, thanks to the most heroic sacrifices and purest blood of her children, was able to ascend from the abyss of misfortunes to the radiant crest of most glorious victory. In the name, therefore, of Italy, I express with all my power the sentiment of admiration and profound sympathy which the Italian people professes toward the American people."

EMBRYO ORATORS HEARD AT HIGH SCHOOL HALL.

Senior Assembly was held in High school yesterday afternoon and some of those about to graduate tried their wings in oratorical flights. The speakers were Miss Frances Spillane, Randall Toop, and Henry Smith.

Miss Spillane spoke on "Superstitions" and she brought in several humorous remarks which seemed to please her audience.

Henry Smith took "Crossing the Atlantic" for his subject. He gave a very clear picture of the different types of aircraft that are going to compete in this fight. He said that the United States plans to start this trip about May 1. England has already attempted one flight and at present she has two or three expeditions ready at New Foundland waiting for favorable weather. Mr. Smith said that France and Italy were not preparing for this fight at present and they probably would not attempt a flight until late in the summer. He made it very clear that it was a friendly race between United States and England.

Randall Toop chose "Automobiles" for his talk. He showed the rapid advancement of the automobile from the one cylinder racing car of 1900 which was capable of doing miles per hour, to the present twelve cylinder racing car which is able to run at a speed of 150 miles per hour. He told how the auto truck was the greatest rival of the railroad and emphasized the part the truck had in winning the war. The speakers were trained by Miss Barrett.

RITCHIE IS ALL SET FOR SCRAP ON MONDAY

Benny Leonard Will Also Have Something to Say About It—Battle Staged at Newark, N. J.

New York, April 25.—Willie Ritchie is ready for his coming scrap with Benny Leonard.

The California fighter announced today that he is down to weight, which means 142 pounds or under and during the next three days he will do nothing but light road work and play golf. Ever since the day he was matched with Leonard to battle eight rounds before the Newark Sportsmen's Club, Ritchie has worked like a truck horse. Sparring partners—four of 'em—have been mauled and battered in daily session at Billy Grupp's gym and Ritchie has worn out several perfectly good punching bags. Now he's through with the heavy work, and he says he never felt better in his life. Leonard is also ready for the bell that will send him out to face Ritchie for the second time next Monday night. The little champion hadn't nothing to worry about in the way of making weight, and he set about to improve his speed and hitting power only.

Both boxers look fit. Ritchie never looked much better, even in his championship days and Leonard is lighting fast and if anything looking more rugged than usual. This is because he has paid no attention to the scales, no doubt. The advance sale for the battle indicates that the Newark sportsmen's club will break New Jersey records for attendance.

EDGAR-WARTLEY.

Circle Theater

William S. Hart's new Artcraft picture "Breed of Men" is a story of a land development scheme in Arizona and the unprincipled methods of a land shark are exhibited in all their bald and heartless details. Mr. Hart appears as a bad man who becomes sheriff and finally rounds up the individual who has swindled all kinds of people out of their money. The picture was shown last night at the Circle and made a great hit. It will be shown again this evening.

Many of the big scenes were filmed in Chicago at the stock yards while the Thomas H. Ince Artcraft star and his party were in the Midwest on their way home from the star's wonderfully successful Liberty Loan tour. The picture was completed in Hollywood and in Los Angeles. There is some wild riding and plenty of thrilling action, and from all appearances the story will be one of the breeziest the favorite western actor has yet figured in.

Mr. Hart excels in a role wherein he is seen as a dare-devil of the open country and this is described as just such a part—one with plenty of speed, red blood and that desirable quality known as "pep." The star is his own director and is sparing himself nothing that will make the picture most effective.

Some elaborate sets were constructed for the new picture. The cast is exceptionally fine. Sena Owen being the leading woman. Others in the cast are Bert Sprotte and Buster Irving. J. G. Hawks wrote the scenario for Mr. Hart. It is one of the best things that Mr. Hawks has ever produced and that is saying much, for he is a prolific as well as successful scenarist.

For tomorrow they will be a great feature called "The Sagabond of France" as the head of a big Saturday bill.

Park Theater

The Merry Wizard Co. delighted a well filled house at the Park last evening and made so lasting an impression on those who attended that there will be even more present tonight when the last performance will be given by the company.

As a special attraction tonight, Mr. Abbott will be suspended, head downward from the top of the theater over Main street at seven o'clock tonight. He will be placed in a straight jacket and then hoisted thirty feet in the air. In this position he will make his escape. This is the trick which Houdini did in Boston last year which caused so great a sensation.

The bill tonight will have several good movie features besides the mystery show. There will be singing, dancing, jugglins, illusions, mind reading and many other novelties this evening. This is the best little road company which ever struck the town.

Tomorrow there will be a big bill of movies and on Monday night, for one day only, comes the "OK Boy" company.

RIBBON MILL BOWLING MATCH

The final of a series of three nights' bowling between the downstairs foremen, consisting of William Hunter, Richard Johnson, Ralph Howard, George Hunt and Russell Appleby, against the upstairs foremen, consisting of Hamie Metcalf, Frank Maloney, William Frazier, Clarence Williams, and Stewart Cordner, was staged at the hose house alleys Wednesday evening.

The first night the upstairs won by 81 pins, so they thought they had easy money and suggested that the losers treat to a supper. But that didn't scare the Downstairs as they knew the quality of their team and had confidence of gaining the 81 pins and then some in the next two nights, so the challenge was accepted.

And sure enough, they came back and made a gain of 69 pins at the second game. This got the Upstairs team worried and all worked to a high pitch, as they are hard losers and felt that they would have to pay for the supper which they themselves had proposed, after gaining the 81 pins in the first game. So all sorts of schemes were thought of in order to win, as they were now only 12 pins ahead. When they showed up they surely were determined to win at all costs for they had broken the rules and had put on a weaver who is considered the star bowler over there. But that didn't worry the other team a bit as they were game for anything and they came out victorious by a big margin.

So the downstairs bowlers sat down to a turkey supper with all the fixings at the expense of the Upstairs five. It was one of the best times ever, with plenty of good natured jesting on both sides. Peter Hurley, who belongs with the Downstairs foremen, was the chief rooter of the evening but was neutral and rooted for the Upstairs team as well.

The feature of the evening was Hamie Metcalf's star bowling with high single of 101. But his team didn't back him up. Chief rooter Pete Hurley handed Maloney a dill pickle and that got his goat for the rest of the evening and they say was the cause of his losing the game. George Hunt has been notified to practice or lose his position on the Downstairs team. Bill Frazier was the boy wonder with the lady throw but they didn't break for Bill.

ODD FELLOWS DAY IN HARTFORD.

As a preliminary to the Odd Fellows parade in Hartford tomorrow there will be an anniversary celebration at the Parsons theater this evening. Music will be provided by the Tempo quartet and addresses will be made by prominent officials of the order. Saturday will be open house all day in the Odd Fellows Temple and in Charter Oak lodge hall. An automobile sightseeing trip will start from the Temple at 10.30 a. m. The grand parade will start at 2.30 and will be followed by a box luncheon at the state armory. It is estimated that upwards of 5,000 will march in the parade, including many lodges, members of the Rebekah lodges.

CHARGED WITH NON-SUPPORT.

William Hutton of the south end was before Judge Arnott in the police court this morning upon the charge of non-support. The charge was brought upon complaint of his wife to Prosecuting Attorney Hathaway. When the complaint was read to Hutton he asked for a continuance of the case to next Monday morning in order that he might secure counsel. Judge Arnott asked Hutton if he could not secure counsel for tomorrow morning and he replied that he was going to get counsel from Hartford and the judge continued the case as requested. Hutton has been in court upon a similar charge and at that time he was ordered to pay his wife ten dollars a week for her support and that of his three children and rather than do that he served 60 days in jail. When he came out of jail he did pay the amount required by the court, but for some reason or other he again has stopped the payments.

$250 was required and he has not paid over that amount to

Mrs. GUTZMER, wife of the late Mr. Gutzmer, who died last morning, following from a illness from a cold. She had a good many automobile radiators were frozen.

Mrs. Gutzmer had been a resident of Manchester for the past 30 years. She was a native of Germany, having been born in West Prussia. Besides her husband, she leaves five daughters, one son and two daughters, all living in Manchester. The children are Mrs. Lena Fregin, Mrs. Mary L. Bissell, Mrs. Freda Muddock, Mrs. Minnie Norton, Mrs. Edith Balch and Sergeant Richard Gutzmer, who returned recently from service in France. The brothers are Charles and Albert Fregin.

The funeral will be held from her late home on Walnut street at two o'clock Sunday afternoon. Rev. Dr. C. E. Hesselgrave of the Center Congregational church will conduct the service. The burial will be in the East cemetery.

Sudden Cold Wave.

A sudden drop in temperature last night following a rainy day yesterday brought discomfort to everybody and imperiled the fruit blossoms and early plantings. The mercury dropped to 26 which is six degrees below the freezing point. The cold was accompanied by a high wind which made it hard to heat buildings, particularly those in which the supply of fuel was low. Many peach trees were in full bloom and it remains to be seen whether the cold has killed the blossoms. A good many automobile radiators were frozen.

ABOUT TOWN

Local poultry fans are reporting good success during the hatching season. Practically every owner of a brood, whether large or small, can lay claim to a fair sized flock of chicks.

Tomorrow will be clean-up day at the Wapping cemetery. The women will furnish and prepare a dinner at the Wapping hall and the men will fix up the graves, rake the paths and in general beautify the place.

King David Lodge of Odd Fellows, received its new banner yesterday and it will be carried in the parade for the first time tomorrow afternoon. The old banner was destroyed in the House & Hale building fire.

There is consolation in the fact that local residents who could not afford the trip to Boston's reception to the 26th will have an opportunity of seeing part of the division, and above all Manchester's own in the big parade which is to be held in Hartford this coming Wednesday.

As near as can be ascertained there are very few persons in Manchester who are unemployed at the present time. Practically all of our returned soldiers have obtained positions and there are a good percentage of local citizens working out of town.

Ever Ready Circle of King's Daughters will present a musical comedy, "The Tale of a Hat", Tuesday evening, May 13, in the Eighth District Assembly hall. The entertainment promises to be a rare treat as the cast includes some of the best musical talent in town.

The officers and guards of the Ladies of the Maccabees are to have a rehearsal this evening in the Spencer hall on Depot Square. The local Maccabees are planning to take a prominent part in the state convention which is to be held in Hartford on May 29.

The members of Sunset Rebekah lodge who are to march in the parade in Hartford tomorrow, are requested to assemble at Odd Fellows' hall at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon. All the marchers are to wear sweaters, but not necessarily blue ones, as was announced yesterday.

The town clerk's office will be open Saturday afternoon from 1.30 to five o'clock to accommodate those persons who wish to take out dog licenses. The time is getting short for the issuance of dog licenses and the dog owners are urged not to put off this duty until the last minute.

Woe to the criminal who enters Manchester's domains these days. It is rumored that the members of Manchester's finest are practicing daily with the new Colt "Police Possitives" which were distributed some time ago. It is expected that the local force will hold a contest with the new guns very soon.

It looks as if the red light signal system had been discarded entirely. The on and off tactics of the light have caused a great deal of comment and distrust and it looks as if the idea of having a system of this nature has been given up. There is much merit in the system providing it can be properly regulated. It is used to great advantage and with success in the larger cities.

Those who boarded the Manchester special for the Boston celebration yesterday did not include all of the local residents who saw the parade in the Hub this afternoon. Last evening a large number of people left via Hartford and Springfield, and there was a large delegation at the local station this morning waiting for the early train. It is estimated that about five hundred Manchester people are in Boston today.

Bowling fans will attend the match at the Center alleys "en masse" tonight, when Andy Anderson's Samosets line up against the Centers. The game is expected to be a lively affair as both teams are about evenly matched. Manager Frink of the Center alleys has promised to put some "Royal" glue on the foul line as Noble of the Centers has the habit of trying to kick down the pins which the ball misses.

In a recent issue of an out-of-town paper appeared a photograph of the big German gun which was captured by the 102nd regiment of the 26th division. This is the gun of which Governor Holcomb spoke at the Chamber of Commerce banquet some time ago. The gun at the present time reposes on Boston Common and was no doubt looked over today by many Manchester people. Both Connecticut and Massachusetts troops lay claim to its capture, but Governor Holcomb is of the opinion that it should be brought to Connecticut.

Many people from this town are intending to witness the big Odd Fellows parade in Hartford tomorrow. About 300 local Odd Fellows will participate in the demonstration. The Connecticut company will operate extra cars during the afternoon and evening to handle the crowds. The Center Flute Band will accompany the local lodge.

The local office of the Connecticut company announces that some of the open cars will be put into commission on the Manchester lines on Saturday. The cars are now being overhauled and repainted and the local management anticipating a congestion on Saturday owing to the Odd Fellows celebration in Hartford, will try and get into commission as many open cars as possible.
