FEAR LOAN MAY BE FAILURE, RETURNS RUNNING FAR BEHIND

Less Than One Fourth of Quota Subscribed and One
Third of Campaign Over—
Workers Everywhere Are Urged to Speed Up—Reports from Various Districts.

Washington, April 29.—Fears that the Victory Loan might prove a failure were openly expressed by Treasury officials today. It was estimated that the returns now total only $914,500,000, or less than one fourth of the quota with more than a third of the campaign having elapsed. The returns are running far behind those of the fourth Liberty loan, which lagged until the closing days. Workers everywhere were being urged to speed up, and to impress upon the public the embarrassment the country would face in the event of the loan falling short.

The city of Minneapolis has passed its quota, it was reported today. The state of Oregon, excluding the city of Portland, also has gone over. Portland's quota is 50 per cent subscribed. The campaign generally appears to be lagging in the large cities of the Pacific coast district, it was stated.

Although official figures from the Atlanta district show only about $6,000,000 subscribed, workers there believe their total to date may be in excess of $30,000,000.

The Cleveland district today continued to lead in the number of communities that have oversubscribed, having 195 in this list. At opening of the second week of the Fourth Loan campaign, only 139 communities were in the honor column. Industrial workers in this section continue to subscribe liberally, but great difficulty is being experienced in the mining sections, it was stated, owing to the unemployment situation.

At Sea? At Present.
As Republican Senators continued today to flock back to the capital as a result of the publication of the new covenant, Senator Lodge, one of the first to return, found himself confronted with a situation invested with more than one serious aspect, it was stated. A canvass of Republican Senators discovered a divergence of opinion as to how the Republican attitude toward the amended covenant should be presented to the country. A number of them expressed the hope that the Republicans would be able to present a united front on a subject upon which so many possibilities hinged, but they admitted they were "at sea" as to just what course of action certain Republican Senators were likely to pursue when the Senate was called upon to act finally on the covenant.

Senator Borah was insistent that Republican senators all disclose their exact position with relation to the covenant. It was stated that he did not "abate one jot or tittle his opposition to the United States being committed to a league of nations in any form whatsoever". Borah's friends added that he would fight the proposed League of Nations plan if he "had to fight it alone."

Bitter Debate Likely.
A bitter debate on the covenant when it is called up for consideration in the Senate, in which Senators like Borah and Sherman will participate, was foreshadowed by the biting criticisms already made by them of the new document. How extensive that debate will be was still problematical. Senator Lodge was expected to confer with other old guard Senators like Penrose and Knox, of Pennsylvania, and Brandegee, of Connecticut, before the week end.

It was also the prevailing belief at the capital that a conference of the 39 Republican Senators who signed the round robin of protest against the original covenant was a not unlikely development of the near future, a conference that might have considerable to do with the trend taken by the caucus the Republican majority of the Senate will hold shortly before the next Congress convenes.

TO MEET FRIDAY.
Berlin, April 29.—The peace committee of the national assembly has been summoned to meet on Friday at the chancellor's palace.

GERMAN HELMETS FOR BOND WORKERS MAKE FRANTIC RACE

Manchester Committee Explodes Bombshell in Local Loan Drive.

TO OFFER NINE HELMETS
AS PRIZES FOR SALES

Quiet Campaign Suddenly Becomes a Whirlwind Competition — Hun Trophies Electrify the Volunteers.

Chateau-Thierry shock troops could hardly have given Manchester's big organization of Victory Loan workers a more forceful jolt than was given it today by the local Victory Loan committee. It all came about through a prize contest instituted with the best of intentions by the committee. But the prizes themselves are what are causing the accelerated activities.

The Manchester committee announced this morning that it was in position to award nine German helmets to the nine Manchester citizens finishing as winners in a Victory bond selling contest to begin at noon Tuesday.

Helmets Cause Furore.
When the workers who visited headquarters saw those genuine German helmets and learned the special historical significance attached to them, the effect was electrical. The intense desire for Hun trophies is generally recognized, as evidenced by the protracted controversy between the governor of Connecticut and the governor of Massachusetts over that famous gun which Marcus Holcomb will eventually bring to Connecticut. It was this desire for German relics, particularly helmets, which asserted itself today when the Manchester committee made its announcement.

The way the local workers flew in the contest astonished the local bond committee. Half a hundred of the ladies were busy before noon laying their lines for the competition, and the committee was bombarded with questions as to terms and conditions. What had been a quiet campaign suddenly was transformed into what promises to be one of the most exciting contests yet seen in a local war drive.

The Conditions.
The contest will start at 6 p. m. Tuesday and will end at 6 p. m. Saturday. Four helmets will be awarded to women workers.

Every participant must register at the Liberty Loan headquarters before entering the contest. No one will be allowed to enter the contest after Wednesday, April 30, at 12 noon.

Helmets will be awarded on the following basis:
In determining the standing of each contestant one point will be allowed for total number of subscribers, and one point for total amount of subscriptions.

The contest closes at 6 p. m. Saturday, May 3rd, and all subscriptions must be turned into the Liberty Loan headquarters on or before that date and time.

The four leading contestants will secure the helmets.

Five to Factories.
Five of the helmets have been assigned to the local factories, to be given for high marks in bond selling. The Cheney silk mill teams will compete for three of the helmets and the workers of the other local factories will contest for two.

The trophies are to be on exhibition at the War Bureau and at the Victory Loan tent on Depot Square. Total is $489,800.

Today's subscriptions amounted to $41,300 and the total for the town at this writing is $489,800.

A strong effort is being made by the committee to clean up Manchester's quota this week. Citizens can greatly aid the committee by declaring their pledges at once.

AVIATOR KILLED.
Garden City, L. I., April 29.—Sergeant John F. Driscoll, 22, of Everett, Mass., attached to the 628th Aero Squadron, was killed early today by a Long Island train.

JAPS CLAIMS AND ITALY'S DEMAND FOR FIUME LAST BIG OBSTACLE FACING THE CONFERENCE

Italians Are Prepared for Battle,
Isolation or Death by Starvation

Paris, April 29.—Just before the Italian parliament convened in Rome today to consider the momentous Fiume problem King Victor Emmanuel said that he was heart and soul with the Italian people in whatever they wanted, according to a dispatch from Rome to the Matin.

"I wish what my people wish," the Italian was quoted as saying. "I shall solidly support any action that Parliament may decide upon."

It is apparent that Paris and London are not informed as to the real feeling in Italy, says a Rome dispatch to the Petit Journal. It adds that "all Italy is a solid bloc, impervious, it appears, to conciliation."

The Italians are prepared for isolation, battle, or death from starvation. No matter what the result may be it will leave grave traces, the Rome correspondent of the Petit Journal believes.

Italians are demonstrating against Americans everywhere, according to a member of the American Food Commission, who arrived in Paris today from Vienna by way of Trieste and northern Italy.

In describing the effect of President Wilson's statement the American said:

"American Red Cross officers who were given honorary commissions in the Italian army have been notified that all such commissions were cancelled."

A later dispatch from Rome to the Matin quoted the Italian leader Chiezza as saying:
"To attach signatures to the peace treaty without Italy could be considered treason. If the city of Fiume is given to Italy the government might be ready to negotiate for the port."

GERMAN ENVOYS EXPECTED TODAY

Japs Diplomatic in Not Pushing Racial Issue—Absence of Italian Delegates Caused No Comment—Big Three in Complete Accord—Belgians Somewhat Disappointed.

Paris, April 28.—With the League of Nations constitution out of the way the Big Three—President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau—planned to give a final hearing to Japanese territorial claims this afternoon.

Japan's claims in China and Italy's demand for Fiume constitute the last big obstacle facing the conference. Germans Expected Tonight.

The whole German peace delegation is expected to be at Versailles by tonight, about thirty envoys having arrived yesterday.

While the question of responsibilities was not discussed at the plenary session yesterday, the clauses covering this question have been drafted and the former Kaiser will be brought to trial as forecast by your correspondent some time ago.

Other German officials who are to be tried for their war crimes may be arranged before a tribunal on the scene of their crimes, in northern France or Belgium. A court may even be established in the Balkans.

Whether there will be another plenary session of the conference this week is problematical. In American official circles belief was expressed that another would not be held.

Japan smoothed the way for rapid progress at the session yesterday by not pushing the racial issue. This action was generally commended, but at the same time it was recognized as clever diplomacy, and the Japanese were believed to have strengthened their position for future developments.

The absence of an Italian delegate caused no comment.

All in Harmony.
That the big powers are completely in accord was shown by the harmony of the plenary session Monday. Matters that promised to be serious obstacles were removed at the outset. This resulted in a feeling that all the delegations present were acting in a "get-together" spirit and that all are working for the quickest possible action.

This was particularly emphasized by a Belgian delegate who declared that, while Belgium was deeply disappointed because Brussels had not been made the seat of the League of Nations, nevertheless the Belgians were ready to accept the decision of the majority and do everything possible to make peace secure.

WOMEN ATTACKED BY HUN SOLDIERS TO BE REGARDED AS "WOUNDED IN WAR"

THREE YANKEES SLAIN
IN FIGHT WITH BLACKS

Thirty Americans Also Injured in Battle at Winchester, England.

SAID TO BE SOLDIERS

This is Denied at American Army Headquarters Where It is Said There Are No American Troops There.

London, April 29.—A clash between a party of Americans and South African blacks today at Winchester, southwest of London, resulted in the death of three Americans and injuries to thirty.

The fight started when the blacks began paying attention to white girls. The Americans interferred and the blacks attacked them with clubs. British troops quelled the riot.

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Winchester said the Americans were soldiers in the American army. American army headquarters here denied there were any American troops in Winchester. The War Office later announced that the Americans were soldiers who had been serving in the British army and were awaiting repatriation. A court martial has been ordered.

NOVEL SUIT.
Jury to Decide on Egg Laying Ability of Parrot.

Boston, April 29.—A learned superior court judge and jury of "12 good men and true" were called upon today to decide the egg laying ability of a pet parrot. A summer amusement park offered a reward of $500 to anyone who could produce a parrot with an egg laying capacity equal to that of "Lizzie" who suddenly surprised her owners by depositing two perfectly good eggs after a silence of 18 years. Miss M. Louise Jackson claims she is entitled to the reward because her "Haco" disclosed unexpected propensities and deposited four eggs. Miss Jackson says she made a demand for the $500 but it was not forthcoming, hence the suit. It was not forthcoming, hence the suit.

TREATY COMPLETED.

Paris, April 29.—The text of the peace treaty is practically completed, excepting the clauses concerning Kiau Chau, the disposition of German prisoners of war and the method of applying naval and military terms, it was learned today.

The treaty Germany must sign will probably be handed to the Teutonic delegates at Versailles on Saturday.

Petition Signed by Five Million American Women Presented to Premier Clemenceau by Mrs. Charles H. Farnam.

Paris, April 29.—A plea that all allied women who were brutally attacked by German soldiers in the occupied zones shall be regarded as "wounded in war" instead of being objects of disgrace, is made in a petition, signed by five million American women, which was presented to Premier Clemenceau by Mrs. Charles H. Farnam.

Mrs. Farnam acted in the name of the committee on the protection of women under international law.

The Resolution.
"Whereas, there is overwhelming evidence that in the present war, the armies of the central European powers and of their allies have been permitted and encouraged to commit and officers and men en masse, have actually and persistently committed every form of sexual offense against the country they have entered.

Whereas, such offenses are crimes as well under the laws of war as under the laws of peace, as well under the common laws of nations as under the municipal law of every nation which is even superficially civilized and under The Hague convention;

Strikes at the Home.
"Whereas, such crimes besides their monstrous insult to the dignity of womanhood strike at the heart of society, the home. And the deliberate, wholesale authorized commission of them by the Germans and their allies confronts society, accordingly with the alternative:— Either acquiescing in its own destruction to allow the violation, the mutilation, the slavery and compulsory prostitution of women and girls to become established by force of precedent as a permitted custom under the laws of war; or, unmistakably to destroy that precedent;

"And, inasmuch, as more than 1,000,000 French women have unitedly appealed to the women of all countries to join them in denouncing this infamous and sinister attack on the common life of humanity through its woman kind;

"Therefore, we, the women of the United States hereby associate ourselves with the women of France in their protest and appeal.

VILLAGES CAPTURED.
Berlin, April 29.—Government troops, marching on Munich, have captured several villages near the city. A bloody siege of Munich is threatening unless the communists flee. Communist leaders are now negotiating with the government.

HINDENBURG RETIRES
AS GERMAN ARMY CHIEF
Copenhagen, April 29.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg has retired as commander in chief of the German army and is retiring to his estate in Hanover, said a Berlin dispatch to the Politken today.

It is expected that von Hindenburg will be succeeded by General Groener, former German food controller.

102ND INF. DISCHARGED
ALL OFF FOR HOME TOWNS

Special Trains Take Boys to Homes All Over State—YD Soon to Be a Memory.

Camp Devens, Mass., April 29.—To the accompaniment of screeching whistles and yells from their comrades, the men of the 102nd Infantry of the Yankee Division, most of whom live in Connecticut, left this cantonment today, following their discharge and boarded special trains for their homes.

They were followed by the men of the 101st Field Artillery, 102nd Field Artillery, 103rd Field Artillery, 101st Machine Gun Battalion, 102nd Machine Gun Battalion, 103rd Machine Gun Battalion, 51st Infantry Brigade headquarters, 52nd Brigade headquarters, 51st Artillery Brigade headquarters, 101st Field Signal Battalion, 101st Ammunition Train, 101st Sanitary Train, 101st Supply Train, American Post Office Unit 709, Sales Commissary No. 15, 101st Trench Headquarters, 126th Military Police Company, headquarters troop, division headquarters.

By nightfall, it is expected the famous Twenty-sixth, (Yankee) Division will be but a memory. Approximately 8,600 soldiers went back to civil life yesterday—and it was expected that the remaining 9,000, would be discharged before retreat tonight.

HARTFORD'S WELCOME
INTERESTS MANCHESTER

Eighty-Seven Local Men in Regiments to Parade Tomorrow.

Hartford's reception to the 102nd Infantry and 101st Machine Gun Battalion will include a parade of these organizations with a large escort of other military men. The overseas soldiers are expected to arrive from Devens at the Union station in Hartford at 11.30 and the parade is expected to start at 12 o'clock. It will be followed by the presentation of their colors to Governor Holcomb on the ground east of the state armory. This will end the formal exercises of the day, but individual courtesies will be shown to the returning men at clubs and theaters. The reception has been somewhat hastily arranged and the details of it are not yet fully established.

Manchester's special interest in Hartford's celebration is due to the fact that 87 Manchester men are returning with the two regiments.

ABOUT TOWN

Robert A. Hitt, a tenor of Springfield, Mass., will sing at the concert this evening at the Firemen's Fair. John S. Wolcott of Main street has rented the O'Donnell house on Hilliard street and will move to it tomorrow.

It was reported this afternoon that the illness of Thomas Weldon, Jr., had taken a turn for the worse and he is now in a serious condition. Mrs. John Sheehan of the Manchester Wall Paper store is back on duty after being laid up a week with bronchitis and other complications. The Ladies' Aid Society of the North Methodist church will give a May dinner in the vestry of the church Friday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock.

James Sullivan, now manager of the Circle theater, will on Thursday take charge of the Palace theater in Broad Brook, recently bought by John F. Sullivan. P. J. Sullivan will manage the Circle.

The silk mills will be closed all day tomorrow in order that employees may attend the military parade in Hartford. To compensate for the shutdown tomorrow the mills will run all day Saturday.

Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, worked the first degree on a class of 30 candidates in Foresters' hall last evening. The degree work was followed by a social hour, during which refreshments were served. Two weeks from last night, the second degree will be conferred on the same candidates in the same hall.

There is some little talk among certain of the South Manchester merchants about changing the closing afternoon during the summer months from Thursday to Friday. It is claimed that the change in the pay days at the silk mills has resulted in making Thursday a better trading day than Friday.

The Welcome Home Committee of the War Bureau have fixed upon Saturday, May 17, as the date for the welcome home celebration to the Manchester men who have been discharged from the service. Details of the celebration will be announced shortly. The Welcome Home committee will meet Thursday to complete the plans.

Inspiring piano selections were given at the reception of the Manchester delegation to our soldiers of the Yankee Division in the Parker House, Boston. In the account of the reception printed in The Herald the fact was inadvertently omitted that piano solos were excellently rendered by Clarence McConigal of Woodbridge street.

It was decided this morning by the officials of the Ninth School district not to close the schools tomorrow because of the military parade in Hartford. It appears that the schools will close this year on a Friday and if tomorrow was made a holiday, this day would have to be made up. This would mean that school would have to be held on Monday and all of the teachers would have to pay three days' board to stay for the extra day.

NEW ICE CREAM PLANT COMING TO SUMMIT ST.

Manchester Dairy Ice Cream Co. to Build Factory.

Papers were filed with the secretary of state today, incorporating the Manchester Dairy Ice Cream Company, with P. J. O'Leary, W. S. Hyde and Michael A. Orfittelli as the incorporators. The company is capitalized at $50,000, with $15,000 paid in, either in cash or property. Ice cream and various dairy products and soft drinks will be made in the new plant, which is to be located on land purchased on the east side of Summit street, about opposite Strant street.

A two story, brick structure will be built and it is planned to have the work finished by the latter part of July. The building will be 32x52 feet.

As is well known throughout this section, Mr. O'Leary, one of the incorporators and who is to be the general manager of the new company, has been in the ice cream business for several years, under the name of the Manchester Dairy. The new company will be a branching out of that business, with double its capacity. Besides the machinery now in use at Mr. O'Leary's place, it is planned to install about $20,000 worth of new machinery. Mr. O'Leary said this morning that the new plant would be second to none of its kind in the state.

Besides the manufacturing of ice cream, dairy products and soft drinks, the new company had contemplated manufacturing its own ice. This idea, however, has been given up for the present, but may be taken up at a later date.

CENTER CHURCH YOUNG FOLKS EARN $75 FOR FRENCH ORPHAN

"Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party", a one act farce, was given before an audience of about 400 people in the Center church parish house last evening and proved a pronounced success in every way. All the young people took their parts well, and what was particularly pleasing, a fair sum of money was realized for the benefit of the little French war orphan, whom the Center church Sunday school had been supporting for several years now. About $50 was realized from the sale of tickets and the different classes, which sold ice cream and home made candy, made about $25 more, making the total receipts around $75.

Phyllis Newcomb played the part of Aunt Dinah, Evelyn Johnson made a pretty bride, George Gould was good as the minister and Marion Jacobson, as Mrs. Parker, made a fine accompanist for the singing.

NORTH END ALSO HAS MIDNIGHT FIRE.

Large Barn on Edward Street Makes Hot Fire—Blaze Seen for Miles.

The large barn on Edward street, formerly the property of the late Edward Griswold, and owned by Stephen Pearl, was destroyed by fire last night. The fire was discovered by Leonard Dart, who lives in the Edward Griswold house not over 100 feet from the burned barn. It was then shortly after midnight. He immediately awakened his neighbors and the alarm was given at once. Apparently some boys on Depot Square saw the fire and lost no time in getting Hose Co. No. 1's cart to the spot. The men of Hose Co. No. 2 arrived at the fire about the same time as those from No. 1 and in a short time two streams were playing on the flames. Some of No. 2's men remained at the fire until three o'clock this morning to see that the job was completed. In a short time the firemen were on the scene and had the hose playing on the flames. The firemen soon found out that it would be impossible to save the barn so they turned their attention to the houses in the immediate vicinity. The water was turned on these houses and it was owing to the good work of the firemen that they are standing today.

The wind was not blowing very hard but what wind there was came from the south and carried the flames in the direction of the houses. At one time it looked as though a small shed less than 50 feet from the barn surely would be destroyed, but the firemen stuck to the job and while they were forced to turn their backs on the flames they saved the building and thus stopped the spread of the fire to the other houses.

Changed Ownership Yesterday.
It was a two story structure 40x90 feet. The barn was built by the late Edward Griswold. It contained the best of timber and was strong enough to last for ages. At Mr. Griswold's death the barn was bought by the late C. W. Cowles who had planned to turn it into a large tenement house. Only yesterday Charles J. Strickland, administrator of the C. W. Cowles estate, sold the barn to Stephen Pearl. Mr. Pearl was at the barn yesterday and had it cleaned out and left it yesterday afternoon in good shape.

Fire Incendiary.
How it caught fire no one seems to know. When the flames were discovered the fire was in the front part of the barn. The barn was empty and had been so for a long time. It was the general opinion of the firemen and those at the fire that the barn was set on fire and Chief John F. Limerick this morning notified the state police to that effect.

The barn was insured but the insurance will not cover the loss.

Notes of the Fire.
The Manchester firemen have demonstrated once more that given good apparatus and the means to reach the fires rapidly they can do good work.

This is the third fire within a short time and will doubtless be the last one for a time as local fires come in groups of three.

Private Thomas Wilson, who returned from Camp Devens yesterday, lives on Edward street and he was of the opinion that the barn was burned to celebrate his home-coming.

The blaze lit up the sky wonderfully and could be seen for a long distance.

The street lights went out as usual at one o'clock just about the time the firemen were finishing up the job and it made it bad for them. Some one evidently called up the electric light company for the lights were turned on again.

It is wonderful how quick a crowd of people will collect to see a fire. Although it was after midnight there were people from all the surrounding vicinity at the blaze. They came in automobiles by the dozen.

The water pressure was very satisfactory last night and the firemen had no trouble in directing the streams just where they did the most good.

Only the bare skeleton of the frame of the barn was left standing this morning.

The property owners and people who live in the vicinity of the burned structure all expressed themselves as being well pleased with the work of the firemen.

DOES HOLL'S MAIN ST. BLOCK ENCROACH?

Old Question to Be Again Argued at Selectmen's Meeting Tonight.

The Selectmen of the town of Manchester will meet in special session at the Hall of Records this evening. Routine business will be transacted in addition to a number of important matters which are on the calendar. It is expected that Judge William S. Hyde will appear before the board this evening, in the interests of E. J. Holl who is contemplating the erection of an addition to the property which he owns on the corner of Main street and Brainard Place.

A misunderstanding has existed for several years relative to the street line on Main street abutting the L. & M. store which is owned by Mr. Holl. Mr. Holl maintains he secured this line from town engineer at the time of building. The building was erected according to the engineer's lay-out and was flush with the street line. The claim was made soon after that there was an encroachment on the highway and this dispute has hung fire ever since.

Mr. Holl intends to add two more stories to the present structure and before starting the new developments, he will make an effort to have the misunderstanding cleared up. It is possible that an agreement will be reached at this evening's meeting. Another case of similar nature, is the Sanlorenzo question of encroachment which would in all probability have come up at tonight's session had it not been settled yesterday afternoon.

Sanlorenzo Case Settled.

Mr. Sanlorenzo, a shoemaker whose establishment was wiped out at the recent Ferris fire; started the construction of a small one story building on his property at Eldridge street last week on a permit issued by Building Inspector S. Emil Johnson on issuing the permit told Sanlorenzo to keep his shop at least six feet from the curbing. Sanlorenzo in his belief that he was allowing a sufficient margin, had the shop constructed eight feet from the curbing.

Building operations were called to a temporary halt when Town Engineer Frank Bowen visited the scene and informed Mr. Sanlorenzo that the structure was over the street line by four feet. Mr. Bowen stated that the property line on the south side of Eldridge street was twelve feet from the north curb and ordered the shoemaker to have the shop set back to the property line.

Mr. Sanlorenzo, confident that he was within his rights because he had followed the local building inspector's advice refused to adhere to Mr. Bowen's request. It was thought that the matter would be brought before the selectmen this evening. Yesterday afternoon however, a number of the town fathers called on Mr. Sanlorenzo and convinced him that the town engineer was right.

SOCCER TEAM BEATS BRIDGEPORT.

The local soccer team beat the Bridgeport Thistles Sunday afternoon before a large gathering of spectators in one of the fastest games ever played in town. The home team started off in great style and after two minutes play Williams opened the score from a well placed corner by Little. The ball was no sooner centered than the home team got another corner, this time by Paton, and Vennard scored number two. This was all the scoring the first half.

The second half the local forwards could do anything with the ball but score. Towards the end of the game the visitors scored their only goal and the final result, Manchester 2, Bridgeport 1.

Lew Williams, who has been out of the game for three weeks, made a welcome reappearance on the home team and was one of the best forwards on the field.

Next Sunday the local team will play the fast Bridgeport Swedes in Manchester.

An open meeting of the Soccer club will be held Thursday evening in the Waranoke parlor at eight o'clock. All those interested in soccer are requested to attend. All players are requested to report at the grounds Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings for practice.

Circle Theater

All travelling agents for the House of Hohenzollern, wholesale dealers in sedition are having a very poor season if one may judge by the type of American youth which is portrayed by that ever popular star, George Walsh in his latest picture "I'll Say So", which was shown last evening at the Circle theater and made a great hit. It will be shown again tonight.

George Walsh, as Bill Durham the young patriot, who has the "makings" of a good athlete, pages a recruiting station as soon as Uncle Sam declares war but is rejected, because he has flat feet. He can't get in the war and he can't stay out, for he crosses the trail of several of Kaiser Bill's agents who are busily engaged in hatching an unusually fiendish plot.

Bill Durham jumps onto this plot with his customary vim and soon has the dastardly plotters on the run.

Of course there is a girl and she is in the clutches of the plotters. How George Walsh spoils one of Villa's very best ten-thousand-dollar raids and finally rescues the girl in a whirlwind of action and surprises is cleverly pictured in this exceedingly novel photoplay.

The rapid fire action of George Walsh in "I'll Say So", exceeds anything that this clever young actor has yet produced.

On the same bill will be the fifth episode of "The Man of Might", a two reel Sunshine comedy and the famous Pathe News.

Park Theater

When "The Midnight Patrol", Select Pictures, great special attraction produced by Thomas H. Ince, is presented at the Park theater tonight, moving picture patrons of this town will see one of the most thrilling and sensational Chinese underworld stories ever produced on the screen.

"The Midnight Patrol" is a vivid story of Chinese life in a western metropolis. Wu Fang, a wily Chinese, rules like a czar over the vice and lawlessness in his district; while Jim Murdock, a corrupt political boss, shares with him the infamous profits derived from the gambling halls, opium dens and brothels.

At the time the story begins the Chinatown police squad is under the command of Sergt. Duncan, whose two trusted assistants are Terrence Shannon and Michael O'Shea. During a raid on Wu Fang's den Duncan is killed and Shannon is elevated to his position. Murdock and his Chinese plotters fear Shannon's power and they attempt to discredit him by stirring up trouble among the tongs. Shannon foils their plans, however, which has the unexpected result of making him stronger than ever.

About this time Murdock and Wu Fang are expecting a shipment of opium. In order to safeguard its arrival they tell Shannon that they are holding Patsy O'Connell, a young lady whom Shannon admires, captive in Wu Fang's den and that she will be harmed unless Shannon keeps out of the way until the shipment of opium is unloaded. Terrence believes that duty comes first, however, and leads a raid on Wu Fang's underground den. He is assisted by "Chink" Ross, a white man who has been thrown down by Wu Fang.

When Shannon breaks into Wu Fang's den, Fang grapples with him and over-powers him. Fang and his assistants then prepare to throw Shannon into a pit filled with live rats. Just at this time O'Shea rushes in with the reserves and saves Shannon and Patsy O'Connell from the horrible death that Wu Fang had planned for them. Wu Fang is killed and Murdock is captured. Shortly after this fete Shannon is made chief of police, but not until he and Patsy have discovered their love for each other.

NEW THEATER NEEDED.

That Manchester should have a good theater was the opinion last night of many who saw a first class musical comedy at the Park and were in their homes at 10.30. The cost was less than that of the same grade of performance in a city theater and the tedious journey to and from the city was eliminated. The performance last night suffered from the limitations of the theater. The stage was too small for the scenery, the lighting was inadequate and other accessories of a comfortable theater were missing. But the acting was good and the audience was large and appreciative. Manager Sullivan had the sand to make the try-out and the experiment was a success. In a new and up-to-date theater the audience would have been twice as large, while the expense of production would have been but little more.

Manchester is a live town, even if it isn't a city, and it responds readily to the offering of city conveniences. It has always had possibilities which were underestimated and because they were underestimated it has moved forward slowly and cautiously. But now it is beginning to realize its resources and is undertaking more boldly the enterprises which a few years ago would not have been thought of. We still believe that its progress would be more rapid if it held its rank among the cities of the state instead of the towns for it would then win the outside recognition to which it is entitled. But call it city, town or village, the fact that it has a population of 18,000 prosperous individuals, who have money and are willing to spend it will sooner or later leak out and will attract investments of capital in larger enterprises than those to which we have been accustomed.

A community of this size needs amusements and will have them, even if it has to go to Hartford for them. It would much rather have them at home and would patronize them better here than at the end of a ten-mile trolley ride. Manchester wants and will support the best, whether it be amusements, stores, newspapers, banks, churches, schools or fish markets. The facilities of the country town no longer fill the bill in this thriving community.

UNPROFITABLE TROLLEY LINES

In the report presented to the General Assembly by the attorney for the Connecticut company in relation to the unprofitable trolley lines and the need for relief if they are to be continued, it is said that there are 85 miles of track which do not even pay the expense of operating the cars and more than 100 miles additional which do not pay operating expenses and the taxes.

Included in this tractage is the Cross Town line of this town and the Manchester Green line. The line from Rockville to Stafford Springs is also unprofitable. It is hard to believe that the Cross Town line, which is only two miles long and gets a six cent fare, is of itself unprofitable. Linked to the first zone of the Hartford line to which it transfers without extra charge it might, if given only its proportionate share of the fare based on mileage, be unprofitable; but the Cross Town line, even if there were no Hartford connection, would of itself be assured of patronage. The Manchester Green line is doubtless a losing proposition if its mileage on East Center street alone were considered. But for half its length it runs on the Cross Town and shares with the Cross Town car a good patronage.

The attorney for the Connecticut company intimates that a receivership would result in the suspension of service on these lines. So far as Manchester is concerned the suspension of its Cross Town and Green lines would also break down its lines to Hartford which are now admittedly profitable. Rather than see the local lines discontinued patrons would doubtless prefer to see the transfer privilege abolished at this end of the line. A single fare for a ride on the Cross Town or Green line, would not be burdensome and would be cheerfully paid if it became a question between that and losing the trolley service on these lines altogether.

There is no disputing the fact that the automobile has made a serious inroad into trolley revenues and this inroad is bound to continue and increase. When the trolley lines were extended into rural districts the present competition was undreamed of by either the projectors of the lines or their patrons. The trolley was considered a god-send to many communities which were without railroad connection with the outside world. If the automobile had not appeared these lines would still be profitable to their owners and of great value to the communities which they serve. People have taken to automobiles, not because they are cheaper but because they are more comfortable and give faster service. But it costs several times as much per mile per person to ride in a private automobile as to ride in a trolley car at the present rates. If the trolley companies had the money to improve their service by using better rolling stock, with more comfortable seats and plenty of them, they could with justice raise their fares to a point where returns would be commensurate with expenses. But so long as passengers are asked to ride in crowded, poorly ventilated and unclean cars it will be impossible for the trolley companies to command an increased fare.

A decided increase in the consumption of ice cream is foretold by the coming enforcement of prohibition. Enterprising local men are going to get in on the ground floor by installing an up-to-date manufacturing plant at once. As a wage-paying industry this will compensate for the loss of several saloons and its output will be far more beneficial to the community than that of the saloon.

The cost of living for American wage earners declined three per cent during the period from the signing of the armistice to the first week of March, 1919—but the cost of living March 1 still was 60 to 65 per cent above the pre-war level.

Whiskey at the present price is almost as valuable as silk. The tactics of the New Jersey gunmen were repeated when an automobile carried off from a saloon in Kensington Sunday morning $500 worth of whiskey and wines.

We are glad to see that the local telephone operators are going to get a raise in pay. There is little cause for complaint of the service in this town.

THE NATIONAL SECURITY LEAGUE.

Editor, Herald: I have just read a report of an investigation of the "National Security League" by a congressional committee, Ben Johnson, chairman; and from the evidence "extracted" from its officers they seem to be as fine a bunch of political sharks as ever came down the pike, and its membership such a lot of suckers as would warm the heart of P. T. Barnum who believed that a sucker was born every minute. I was just wondering how many dupes the League got in Manchester.

NEW CLUB HOUSE FOR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS

To Be Built on Main Street in Two Weeks.

FOR USE OF NEW ARMY AND NAVY CLUB

Five Thousand Dollars to Be Used in Building and Furnishing Temporary Club House.

Manchester is to have an Army and Navy Club and it is proposed to have a temporary clubhouse built and furnished for its occupancy by May 17. That will be going some but Manchester has a way of doing things quickly and thoroughly and those in charge of this project feel confident that it will succeed. The date of May 17 has been fixed not only for the completion of the clubhouse but also for the big Welcome Home celebration to the Manchester boys.

The clubhouse project was launched last night when a meeting was held by six men from the navy, six from the overseas service and six from domestic service. Captain William E. Newman was chosen temporary president and Captain Ward Atwood temporary secretary. The new clubhouse will be located at the corner of Main and Forest streets on land owned by Cheney Brothers. The building will be of a temporary nature although substantial enough to meet requirements for some time to come, at least long enough to show whether there is a call for such a clubhouse. The sum of $5,000 is available for its construction, contributed from a source which will be announced later.

Like Army "Hut."

The building will be a sort of glorified Y. M. C. A. hut. Its general dimensions will be 45x90, the long side facing Main street. Along this front will extend a porch ten feet wide. The main room in the center of the building will be an assembly room and lounge. It will be 45x50 feet and clear of posts or other obstructions. It will have a small stage. In the south wing of the building will be a reading room 20x45 with a stone fireplace and in the north wing a pool room of the same dimensions. There will also be a small kitchen.

It is proposed to have the clubhouse open seven days a week. It will be a rough and ready place where men can drop in at any time in their working clothes, smoke, read, play cards, sing and enjoy themselves as they see fit. The place will be comfortably furnished with leather chairs in the reading room and with a piano and Victrola. It is probable that members of this club will, for a time at least, be permitted the free use of the facilities of the Recreation center, just across the street.

The construction of a building of this size and character in two weeks will require some lively work and the employment of many hands. All the contractors in town have been asked to meet tomorrow evening and at this meeting the plans will be unfolded to them and they will be invited to designate one of their number to take charge of the construction work and to contribute, as many men from their several gangs as may be necessary to complete the job on time. Raymond Goslee draftsman for Cheney Brothers, is already preparing the plans and will officiate as architect of the new building.

A meeting for the permanent organization of the army and navy club will be held next Monday night, probably at the Recreation center. All honorably discharged men from any branch of the service are invited to be present and to join the new Army and Navy club.

MRS. BISSELL'S FUNERAL.

Many beautiful floral tributes were noticed at the funeral of Mrs. Henry Bissell, who died several days ago at her home on Center street. The funeral was held this afternoon from her late home. Rev. G. F. Bailey, of Collinsville conducted the services and interment was in the East cemetery.

The flowers made up at the Park Hill Flower Shops included set pieces from Akron, O. and Brooklyn, N. Y. Floral baskets and showery wreaths and crescents of roses and a wonderful blanket of Mrs. Sawyer-roses, unusual in this town, were noticed. Departments of Cheney Brothers and Hook and Ladder Co. No. 1 were among the contributors of flowers besides the friends and relatives.

ELEPHANT NEARLY GOT ROOSEVELT IN AFRICA

Story of Late Ex-President Told by R. J. Cunningham, Famous Big Game Hunter.

R. J. Cunningham, the famous African hunter, who was in charge of the Colonel Roosevelt's hunting expedition in East Africa, said he had never found "any other so easy to get along with, and no other man who, by his character, made every man in his service so anxious to do the best possible for him." He tells the following story of "one very near squeak" the Colonel had. Said he: "The Colonel was determined to get an elephant and a tusker at that. I told him what that meant and how much risk there was, but he said that he was willing to face it. That was the Colonel all over.

"We found an elephant in a forest on Kenia Mountain. We had been hunting for three days, and it was hard work for a man of the Colonel's bulk in that heat and at that altitude, 11,000 feet. At last I caught sight through a thick bush of elephant hide and a tusk, about thirty-five feet away, just near enough to tell me it was a fine specimen. I pointed it out to the Colonel. He fired with complete coolness, got the elephant in the ear and dropped him.

"As the shot went off the forest all around roared aloud with trumpeting. We were in the midst of a herd of cows and young bulls; and one of the latter thrust his head through the bushes right over the Colonel's head. I was right behind him, fired at once and bowled him over.

"Then I rushed up to the Colonel and said, 'Are you all right, sir?' But I could see he was before I spoke. He hadn't turned a hair. At any moment the cows might have blundered through the bush over us, but he never thought of that. He went up to the old chap he had killed and gave it the coup de grace and then let himself loose. I never saw a man so boyishly jubilant."

OLD TIME SHEARING CONTEST TO BE HELD

Ancient Sport to Be Revived On May 3rd, at Storrs, This State.

Storrs, Conn., April 29.—Sheep shearers of Connecticut will revive an ancient sport on May 3, when, in a shearing contest at Guilford, they compete for prizes for skill in removing the fleece. The Connecticut Sheep Breeder's Association is staging the contest and is offering cash prizes in six classes.

The Association will meet at the Leetes Island farm of William S. Leete, as guests of the owner. The sheep raisers are planning a basket lunch with clam chowder and hot coffee on the side. It is believed that the shearing contest will bring out a number of experts who flourished in the days when Connecticut grew more sheep than at present.

According to announcements being sent out by Professor H. L. Garigus of Storrs, secretary of the Association, prizes will be offered as follows: Class I, Hand Shearing; Class II, Machine Shearing; Class III, Hand Shearing under 18 years of age; Class IV, Machine Shearing under 18 years of age; Class V, Boys and Girls of New Haven and Middlesex County Sheep Clubs; Class VI, Professionals—all those who have previously won first prize in Class II. Prizes of $10, $8, $4, $2, and $1 will be offered in each class.

HUNGER STAYS AMBITION, SO RUNAWAYS GO HOME.

Springfield, Ill., April 29.—With ambitions to see the world and headed for Colorado as the starting point, Henry Early, Erwin Wilson and Lyle Horn, ranging in age from fifteen to eighteen years, started out. They decamped clandestinely. Mamma and papa were forgotten. So was money. All they had was spontaneous desire and courage. But they overlooked the best bet. Arriving at a small Missouri city on their first lap to fame and fortune three empty stomachs overtook them. In tears they appealed to police for aid. Within a short time they were home after an absence of several days and with a satiated craving for adventure.

WIFE MAKES HUSBY DO LAUNDRY, IS DIVORCE PLEA.

Mansfield, Ohio, April 29.—Abraham Brennanman wants to be divorced from his wife, Nancy, and his plea for emancipation is that he has been humiliated by Nancy in the presence of company by being compelled to do the laundry work. He says that she takes particular delight in this humiliation of him and that in addition she is quarrelsome, abusive and nagging.

ANNUAL FUR SALE AT ST. LOUIS TO OPEN SOON.

St. Louis, Mo., April 29.—The spring sale of furs will be held at the International Fur Exchange here from April 29 to May 30. About $10,000,000 worth of furs will be sold at this sale, it is believed. Indications are that the number of fur buyers attending the sale this year will exceed the number at former sales. Buyers from practically every country have already sent in requests for seats at the sale. The first lot to be offered will be 10,000 dressed Alaska fur skins for the Government. St. Louis, since the start of the war, has been the leading fur market of the world—London losing its prestige as the leading market because of the inability of London merchants to receive shipments.

EVERYTHING READY FOR FIREMEN'S FAIR TONIGHT

Decorations and Booths at Cheney Hall—Two Floors Occupied—Opening Program.

Cheney hall is resplendent with bunting, flags, gaily colored booths and electrical effects for the firemen's fair, which opens tonight for a run of five nights. Among the first things to attract the eye are the numerals 1, 2, 3 and 4 in colored electric over the stage, representing the four companies of the South Manchester fire department, under whose auspices the fair is being given. Around these numerals circles what is known as a "rat chaser". An electric spark travels around and around the four figures, hence its name, "rat chaser". On either side of the stage is an illuminated crescent.

The various booths on the main floor are decorated with pink, green and white drapings. Groups of the Stars and Stripes grace the side walls between white above them hang the flags of the Allies. In the southwest corner of the main floor is found the candy booth. Opposite it is the flower booth. On either side, in the middle of the room, is a small booth, where the dance tickets are to be sold. The east alcove is occupied by the food booth and the west alcove, by the fancy articles.

Downstairs is found the Midway, with its various schemes for whisking the nickels and dimes away from the fair-goers, who are only waiting for a chance to spend a little money for the benefit of the firemen. In the northwest corner are the popcorn and peanut roasters. Next, to the south, is found a large booth with one of those magic wheels, which tells who is going to get a box of candy. Then comes another booth, filled with silverware. At the south end of the room are the canes to be rung with a ring and also a booth containing what is known as a "Hop La."

The treasurer has a nice little booth over in the southwest corner of the room. North of it are two larger booths, containing the little white fluffy dogs and Teddy Bears, that are always so popular at fairs. Cigars also are to be dispensed there.

In the center of the lower hall is a large booth for the dispensing of nice cold soda.

By the time all the booths have been visited, the guests will begin to feel the need of some substantial refreshments and these will be served at tables in the lodge room. There will be hot frankfurts, ice cream and cake, etc., to tempt the appetite, and a corps of pretty maids to wait on the guests.

The electrical effects were arranged under the direction of L. N. Heebner, head electrician for Cheney Brothers and superintendent of the South Manchester fire alarm system. A Rockville decorating concern did the other decorating.

Frank Cheney jr., president of the South Manchester fire district, will give the opening address this evening. His speech will be followed by a concert by the American band and there will come dancing for the remainder of the evening.

The entertainment for Wednesday night will include Clements, the mystifier, in a bewildering act up-to the minute magic and Dalton and Clump in a new top notch musical act. The fair will continue each evening through the week, with a matinee on Saturday afternoon and winding up with the awarding of the prizes Saturday night.

GALA NIGHT FOR SCANDIA LODGES

From All Over State They Join in Class Initiation at High School Hall.

Scandia Lodge, Order of Vasa, entertained about 600 guests in High school hall Saturday night, when 93 candidates from various lodges in the state were initiated into the mysteries of the order. The Manchester lodge had the largest number of candidates and received first prize for receiving the most members during the past year. During the evening, the both ladies' and men's degree teams of the local lodge put on exhibition drills and short addresses were made by a number of past officers.

At the conclusion of the meeting in High school hall, the guests adjourned to Tinker hall and rounded out the evening with a supper and dance. The out-of-town guests departed about midnight, some going in a special car, others in an auto truck and private automobiles.

RITCHIE GAME BUT LOSES FIGHT TO BENNY LEONARD

Fifteen Thousand Fight Fans See One of Most Exciting Ring Battles Staged in Years.

New York, April 23.—Willie Ritchie's hopes of regaining his place in the fast spotlight are battered and broken today, for the grand little one-time champion has met his master, and realizes it full well.

Before a crowd that filled every inch of space in the First Regiment Armory at Newark, Benny Leonard, present-day king of the lightweights, demonstrated that he is Ritchie's master.

Leonard won from the Californian in the eighth round when Referee Jim Brennan stopped the fight with Ritchie staggering about the ring, punch-drunk, but game to the core. Brennan's action gave Leonard a technical knockout victory—the same kind of victory through which he annexed the lightweight crown.

Takes Bad Beating.

Though battered and beaten in nearly every one of the eight rounds, Ritchie was far from disgraced, if that word can be used, Ritchie went down to defeat gloriously, stout-hearted and dominated by dogged will-power and wonderful stamina from first to last. He took the worst beating of his life and took it as though he liked it.

Ritchie's wonderful showing of gameness took the glamour from Leonard's victory. To be truthful, Leonard left much to be desired on his showing as a champion, for he hit Ritchie with everything but the ring posts and though he dropped the game little coast boy in both the second and eighth rounds with punches that looked potent enough to have set the average boxer far into dreamland, Ritchie managed to stagger to his feet on both occasions and come swaying drunkenly back for more.

Leonard's face wore a look of pained surprise, after he had landed with all his weight, as Ritchie unfolded his wonderful recuperative powers and managed to stick it out.

Leonard outboxed Ritchie by a wide margin, landing almost eight punches to one, though it must be said in Ritchie's favor that he never once showed a willingness to back down and that he carried the fight to Leonard whenever he was able to do so.

Ritchie has failed to come back, but his failure is softened by the memory of the rugged stand he made. His gameness brought back visions of the great lightweight fighters of other days—Gans, Nelson, Wolgast and Britt—and those at the ringside could not help but wonder what Ritchie could have done, five short years ago, in a championship battle over the long route with the present champion.

The crowd that witnessed the battle was a record breaker. The Newark Sportsmen's Club seats 11,000 persons, but there were 4,000 additional in the armory. The gate was well over $50,000 and the fighters made more than half of that sum, while Promoter Dave Mackay made a killing for himself.

All in all the fight was well worth the money and the fast bugs who went to see a tame battle were pleasantly surprised when they witnessed a gladiatorial combat.

PAN-GERMAN CLIQUE ISSUES DECLARATION DEMANDING RESTORATION OF FORMER MONARCHY

Copenhagen, April 2 (by mail).—With German wailing in the chaos of revolution and the gloom of defeat, the irrepressible Pan-German clique again comes to the front at Berlin with a "declaration" which is both pompous and grotesque. It was published as a supplement to the militarist newspaper Deutsche Tageszeitung, and if it were not for the horror into which Germany has been plunged it would furnish an element of wierd amusement.

The Pan-Germans want the restoration of the monarchy under the ex-Kaiser and are looking forward to another war. The "declaration" is signed by about fifty militarists, professors, judges and professional men, most of them bearing titles. Among the signers are General von Gebattel and General Leibert.

A copy of the text was received here today. In part it reads: "In consequence of the ignominious collapse of the German Empire the Pan-German League sees the fatherland not only deprived of the successful aims of a heroic war carried on during four years, but also reduced to extreme military, political and economic impotence. The Pan-German League regards it as a duty of the German sense of honor that the National Assembly offer the Kaiser and his consort a place of abode on German soil.

"The Pan-German League repudiates the charge that it was an accomplice in starting or prolonging the war. In spite of the frightful collapse we retain the belief that the German people may still be saved. The first prerequisite for this is that the Government organize an army that inwardly and outwardly offers the fatherland adequate protection and in which the officers assume the position to which they are entitled. The Pan-German League wishes to express the conviction that our fatherland will require a navy, also, in the future. It is important that we create it as soon as we are economically able.

"The Pan-German League can have no confidence in the present form of government as suitable for the German people. Events since November 9, 1918, have proved that a people so decidedly lacks a determined political sense as do the Germans is unfit for the so-called free state form of government. For that reason we particularly cling to the Kaiser idea which, we are confident, even after this calamity, will preserve its old strength. Our country's disgraceful downfall in the last instance was due to lack of patriotism.

"They must be inculcated with the will to blot out the disgrace of this downfall that the nation may once more be worthy of its name. We demand that the war be conducted along lines that gave us an opportunity to bring every form of German arms into action for the purpose of foiling our enemies' evil designs because we knew exactly from history and the inclinations of our principal enemies that they did not strive after an understanding of the Germans, but the destruction of the German Empire and the German race.

"If our enemies compel us to make territorial concessions they must realize that the demands of the German people, which are based on the achievements of the Prussian kingdom through a century and a half, cannot be rendered permanently impotent through the present helpless condition of the empire.

"The maintenance of our peoples' numerical adequacy and our populated areas require urgently that all of German Austria, including the German section of Western Hungary and all of the ancient German territories in the Baltic States, be incorporated in an imperial league.

"In order to forestall the fact that our racial existence is threatened, we demand as early as possible an immigration law that will protect us against the inboming of alien races. We regard the doctrine of equality of all human beings as a dogma the realization of which would be a crime to our people."

FLIER A TORCH FALLING 2,000 FEET

Federal Mail Carrier Holds Nerve to Last and May Pull Through.

CLOTHES CHARRED OFF

Paul L. Terron Making Game Fight For Life at Hospital.

(New York Sun.)

In the battle for his life which he is making at Jamaica Hospital, where he was taken after a fall of 2,000 feet in a burning airplane at Belmont Park yesterday, Paul L. Ferron, a new Federal mail flier, was reported last night to be "going through fine" on his nerve. Things happened quickly 2,000 feet up when the big plane in which he was making a trial flight suddenly kicked up, the engine stalled, and there was an explosion. The machine went into a nose dive, and a curl of flame darting out of the ignition system caught on the slender framework of the machine.

From then on it was a rushing of wind, a quick approach of the fire fanned by the fifty mile breeze and the added acceleration of the falling plane. Ferron said he realized his danger from the first fateful minute. With one hand he operated the controls of the machine, bringing it out of the nose dive and into a gentler volplane. With the other hand he covered his face where it was not protected by his helmet. But against him the heat was pressing fast, and to those on the ground it seemed that the entire machine was ablaze and must collapse.

The hope for Ferron's life last night was said by physicians to depend entirely on whether he had inhaled the smoke. Ferron told them he had not. He thought of that danger even in the press of other dangers during those few minutes in the descent. He insisted that he had shielded away the fumes and that none of them got into his lungs.

There was the difficulty of making a landing. Ferron said he was afraid he wouldn't be able to hit the ground in good form and had prepared to jump. He unbuckled the safety belt and in the brief glance that he cast down he saw that it was a question of one or two seconds before his fate would be decided. The ground was rushing at him, and he recalled that he must have made an odd spectacle coming crazily down out of the air with streamers of smoke behind his plane. Anyhow, when the machine struck, it was nose down and Ferron had a clear space through which to jump in his burning clothes. He made the leap at the same moment, rolling over and over, catapulted from the machine, believing that in this way he could smother the flames.

He rolled directly to the feet of two brother aviators and a score of other persons who had witnessed the whole thing. They rushed for ambulances, but finding that his clothes had been burned so that they fell from him at the touch, they put him in a motorcycle side car and throwing a canvas tarpaulin over him to keep the wind from the wounds sped to Jamaica Hospital. There it was found that his hands and face had been badly burned and one leg had been seriously scorched. The prompt treatment that he was given and his undoubted cheerfulness despite the pain of the burns led the doctors to state that they believe he will weather through.

Ferron is 31, married and lives in Jamaica. "It was some job," Ferron said, just before the doctors put him into bed at the hospital. "It seemed as though it took hours to come down. I knew my clothes were on fire and that the flames were mounting towards my face. All I could do was to guard my mouth and eyes and get ready to jump. I guess I'm pretty lucky to be here at all."

U. S. ARTIFICIAL LIMBS PROVIDED FOR SERBIANS.

Belgrade, April 29.—The numerous crippled soldiers of Serbia are to be provided with American-made artificial limbs, according to an arrangement made by the American Red Cross mission to the Balkans. A plant for the manufacture of artificial limbs established by the American Red Cross is now operating in Belgrade.

Punching The Bag

Getting all steamed up over the prospect of thrilling duels on the turf between Billy Kelly and Eternal, the crack three-year-old gallopers who are holding a place in the heart of the spotlight, has evidently caused a good many followers of the ponies to forget that Old Rosebud is coming back.

Colonel Applegate, owner of Old Rosebud, hopes to see the grand old horse come back to the glory that he knew in 1917, for the Colonel calls attention to the fact that Roamer, another idol of the turf, is also coming back this season and the rivalry between these two grand feet heels may dwarf that of the youngsters before they are through.

Old Rosebud and Roamer are both eight years old, and they have been rivals since they first attracted attention as juveniles. As a two-year-old Rosebud proved to be the better horse, and he indicated that he was the better three-year-old as well when he copped the Kentucky Derby.

Then, of a sudden, Old Rosebud went wrong. The erstwhile spirited champion limped about, regarded as a hopeless cripple for several seasons. In 1917, he came into prominence again, flashing across the margin of the turf like a shooting star, and eclipsing Roamer and many other American thoroughbreds. Beating Roamer decisively several times, he was a champion once again.

Last year Roamer had the field to himself again in so far as Old Rosebud was concerned, for the old Bud didn't race. His trouble had returned and kept him off the tracks. But now Old Rosebud is in training again and Colonel Applegate says he looks and acts fit. What a contest if he comes back to defeat Roamer once again.

he returned home with a glowing tribute for Jimmy Wilde, the little flyweight champion, whom he considers one of the most remarkable boxers who has ever drawn on the mittens. Twyford's praise for Wilde, however, was not half as interesting as an assertion he made regarding Georges Carpentier.

"I don't think that Carpentier will ever be right again," said Twyford. "He had a fall out of an airship and he hasn't been able to round himself into condition. Before I left France a big boxing show was held in Paris for the benefit of the wounded soldiers and the orphans, at which Carpentier was scheduled to appear. He didn't show up—and I think it was because he can't train sufficiently to get in shape to box."

DOMESTICATING THE BEE.

The average length of life of the honey bee during the summer months when she is working the hardest is only four to six weeks. However, bees which are hatched in late summer after the heavy work of the honey season is passed by should, under favorable conditions, survive the restful winter months and live long enough into spring to rear a new generation before they become feeble and die.

The life of a bee is too short a time in which to make any progress at domestication. In handling bees, therefore, we are handling essentially wild animals. By study and sympathetic attention to the habits of bees, it is possible to learn how to do almost anything with them, so long as we require them to do only what it is their nature to do. Bee culture is applied to animal behavior.

No one can expect to succeed with bees unless he understands the bee's disposition and likes, any more than one can expect to succeed with horses unless he understands the disposition and likes of his horses.—Lloyd R. Watson, Bee Specialist, Extension Service, Connecticut Agricultural College, Storrs.

The Proudest Moment of my Young Life!

"I would rather wear this Button than a hundred dollar diamond ring! It gives me more 'class' than any jewelry or clothing. It puts me in line with those who have sacrificed for the freedom of mankind; who are rebuilding the shattered and healing the sick. It gets for me the approval of all because they see I have done what they either have done or ought to do."

The "Victory" Liberty Loan

is the highest type of investment for the savings of the wage-earner—of professional men and women, or of those in business. They combine sentiment and income, saving and service.

Those who own Liberty Bonds command more steady employment, enjoy a basis for credit, and receive the approval of the people with whom they live. These are worth striving for.

MADDEN GUNMEN CASE NOT TO BE CONSIDERED.
The May term of the supreme court will be opened in Hartford on Tuesday of next week by Sheriff Edward W. Dewey. While the docket has several cases, many of those listed will not be argued as the records are not printed in them. For this reason the appeals of the five men convicted and sentenced to state prison for life because of the murder of Captain William F. Madden will not be considered. The next term of the supreme court in Hartford after the May term is not until October.

ABOUT TOWN

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Henning Johnson of 52 Laurel street.

Louis J. Banner, Y. M. C. A. secretary at Camp Devens, is spending a few days in town.

Troop 3 of the local Boys Scouts has accepted a challenge from Troop 3 of Talcottville for a twilight game of baseball this evening. The game will be played in Talcottville.

The new American Band of Manchester will give a concert at the Firemen's Fair which opens in Cheney Hall this evening. There will be a street parade by the band preceding the opening of the five night event.

Representative Willard B. Rogers has returned from an auto trip to the big Boston celebration. Mr. Rogers stated that he covered over 600 miles with his Overland sedan and during that time experienced no mechanical or tire troubles.

The Commercial divisions of the High school have typewritten 15,000 index cards which are going to be used in the hospital drive in the near future. The efficiency of these divisions is shown by the speed with which they did the work. Ten thousand of these cards were finished in one day.

Howard Murphy of the firm of Murphy Brothers, the local confectioners, has returned to civilian life and is now engaged with his brother William in conducting the establishment in the Park theater building. Murphy has been in the service for some time and was stationed at a Southern camp.

The amusement committee of the Firemen's Fair have engaged Miss Lena Savage a well known fancy dancer of Hartford for the fair. Miss Savage will give an exhibition of fancy and modern dancing on Thursday evening in conjunction with the scheduled vaudeville program. Miss Savage is considered one of the best toe dancers in New England.

Dr. T. G. Sloan, who returned from a trip to New York city a few days ago, says that it is almost impossible to obtain hotel accommodations in the metropolis. Doctor Sloan stated that he put up at a new 2,000 room hotel which had been opened but a few weeks prior to his arrival and was surprised to find that practically all of the rooms had been engaged.

Miss Mildred Johnson, daughter of Selectman Aaron Johnson of Linden street, returned home Saturday evening after an extended visit with her sister Mrs. Arthur Anderson of Chicago. Miss Johnson visited several points of interest during her stay in the West and on the return trip stopped off at Niagara Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson expect to return East this summer and will make their home in East Boston. Mrs. Anderson was formerly Miss Florence Johnson of this town.

Steve Pearl yesterday bought the house on Woodland street that was for a number of years the property of the late C. W. Cowles and has been occupied by William Wilson and his family. The place was known as the Hayes place. Mr. Pearl with his father and mother, will move to it soon. The Pearl family have lived in the Morton house on Depot square for a long time but the new owner of the Morton block wants the house for his own use.

Pedestrians at the Center yesterday afternoon experienced a thrill when Foley's big moving auto van and an out-of-town touring car narrowly averted a collision. The Foley truck was coming up Center Hill from the south end and was rounding the curb at Packard's pharmacy when the touring car apparently on the wrong side of the road dashed into view. Both drivers slammed on the emergency brakes in the nick of time and when the cars stopped it would have been a hard job to wedge a newspaper between them.

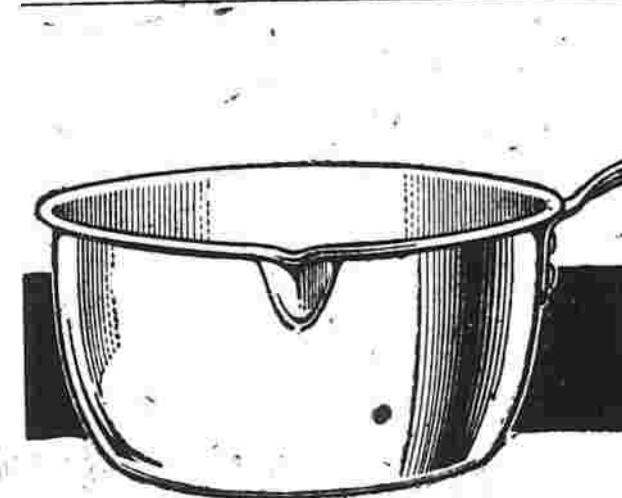

Miss Victoria Kempes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kempes of 148 Charter Oak street and Mr. Frank Petrasunos of 346 South Broad street, Elizabeth, N. J., were married at eleven o'clock yesterday morning by Justice of the Peace Robert E. Carney. The ceremony was performed in Justice Carney's office in the House & Hale building. A wedding breakfast and reception at the Kempes' home followed the ceremony. The newly married couple left last evening for the groom's home in Elizabeth, where they will reside. The bride was formerly employed at the local silk mills. The groom is an expert auto mechanic and is employed by an Elizabeth auto firm.
