HAYS, G. O. P. HELMSMAN, WELCOMES WOMEN TO PLACE BESIDE MEN IN REPUBLICAN COUNCILS

Following Passage of Suffrage Amendment, National Chairman Hastens to Invite Prominent Women to Join Republican Ranks—Will Not Be Distinctly Organized But Amalgamated.

Washington, May 22.—"Women are entitled to participate in the affairs of the Republican party on full equality with men," Republican national chairman Will H. Hays, declared at a notable gathering here today of prominent women, including wives of Republican Senators and Representatives, held under the auspices of the Republican women's national executive committee.

Following the speedy passage of the National Woman Suffrage amendment yesterday in the Republican-controlled house, the declaration of Hays—the helmsman of the Republican party—was construed as another indication that the cause of votes for women would also triumph soon in the Republican-dominated Senate.

Welcomed New Members. Between offering assurances to American women that the Republican party welcomed them as "units in the party membership" and being engaged in smoothing out the differences between the Progressives and old guard Republican Senators over the choice of Senator Penrose, of Pennsylvania for chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, the Republican national chairman was kept on the jump as he kept in close touch with the Capitol on one hand and the women's gathering on the other.

The women were assembled at a Washington hotel from the Capitol but that did not prevent the quick-moving Republican national chairman from flashing from one to the other in his automobile. He turned up at the headquarters of the Republican national committee bright and early. He soon got in touch with Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, the Senate Majority Leader.

Hays on the Job. He conferred with other Republican Senators. When he was not talking to them face to face he was conversing with them over the phone. He appeared to be "on the job" in a dozen different places at the same time.

In his address to what was described as a "conference of Republican women party workers," Hays said that the "women are not to be given secondary consideration, but that full consideration due all other individuals in the Republican party; they will not be distinctively organized, but amalgamated."

Mrs McCormick Present. One of the leaders at the gathering was Mrs. Medill McCormick, wife of the Illinois Senator and daughter of the late Mark Hanna, one time Republican "boss." Mrs. McCormick will preside at a banquet tonight which is to be addressed by Hays, Senator Cummins, President pro tem of the Senate; Speaker Gillette, of the House and other Republican leaders.

In announcing to the assembled women that their sex "would be given full equality of consideration" by the Republican party, Hays said also that the Republican women of this country are a part of the party membership. "In many states this has long been so," Hays added. "They come into this party activity, not as women but as voters, entitled to participate and participating insofar as the present legal limitations permit, just as other voters do. Their activity is not supplemental, auxiliary or secondary at all—they are units in the party membership, and where suffrage for them is new they come in just as men have come in when they have reached the legal voting age."

Not to Be Separated. "They are not to be separated or segregated, but assimilated and amalgamated, with just that full consideration due every working member of the party in the full rights of their citizenship. There is to be no separate women's organization created within the party except, and only in those cases, where such an arrangement may be needed temporarily as an efficient instrument in the aid of the complete amalgamation which is our objective. I am convinced that the Republican women will enter into the party's activities with sense of responsibility and serious attention to their party's affairs which is the only instrument through which all individuals can apply their patriotism, all to the end that the problems of government, immeasurable in magnitude and

Col. House Uses 'Uglier Word' In Denying Walsh's Assertion

Paris, May 22.—The Irish-American situation stirred up a hornet's nest today and Colonel House used the short and uglier word in denying the assertion of Frank P. Walsh, Edward P. Dunne and Michael J. Ryan, that he had obtained from Premier Lloyd George a promise to grant safe conducts for de Valera, Griffith and Plunkett, the Irish Republican leaders, to come to Paris to present their claims for Ireland's independence.

He said that the entire matter was one in which he had been embarrassed after trying to do the three representatives of American-Irish societies a favor, acting simply as an individual. Colonel House denied that he had asked Lloyd George to grant the passports. He asked Sir William Wiseman, he said, if he thought there was any chance of the passports being issued. Sir William advised him that he thought this could be done but that Lloyd George first desired to talk to Walsh, Griffith and De Valera.

Colonel House said he felt a sense of delicacy about putting the question directly to Lloyd George and that he only repeated to the three Americans what Wiseman had told him.

CONGRESS IS SWAMPED WITH BILLS DESIGNED TO AID OUR WAR HEROES

Nearly 100 Bills and Resolutions Presented in Both Houses—Increased Bonuses Principal Provision.

Washington, May 22.—Congress already is swamped with bills designed to aid the soldiers.

Although the Sixty-sixth Congress has completed but three legislative days there have been nearly one hundred bills and resolutions presented in both houses which are aimed to benefit those who were in the military or naval service during the war with Germany. Increased bonuses for service men and revocation of all court martial sentences and fines, are the outstanding provisions of the bills to Congress. Increased bonus bills appeared to be doomed to failure at the present time, however.

There was general feeling among the members of Congress that the great majority of men who served do not want any gift from the government, and they base this conclusion on the action of the convention of the American Legion recently held in St. Louis, which ultimately voted down a proposal to seek increased bonus money.

$200 to $500 Bonuses. The bills which provide for additional bonuses run from a $200 bonus to a bonus of $500. Debits of the nation are already too high to allow increased bonuses, many members of Congress declare, although they are careful not to be quoted in such statements. Those who are urging the enlarged bonuses argue that Congress has provided for the farmer by fixing a profitable price for wheat and that it is fair that discharged soldiers and sailors should be given full aid.

Revocation of Sentences. Revocation of court martial sentences and fines seems likely of passage by Congress. This measure will be tied up with probable revision of the military court laws under the articles of war, and it already has the support of many Republicans who have been interested in the court martial controversy in the War department. One soldier organization known as the Private Soldiers and Sailors Legion has already submitted its legislative demands to Congress. This program includes an increased bonus, employment for soldiers on public works, precedence for soldiers in civil service positions, revocation of court martial findings and repeal of luxury taxes.

No Word From New Legion. The American Legion, the largest soldier organization which has yet been formed, has not presented a legislative program. Members of Congress have been notified, however, that this organization will have a legislative program which will call for legislation which affects service men to so great a degree as it will call for constructive legislation. Already this organization has gone on record as demanding strict legislation to wipe out Bolshevism and it is believed that when its legislative program is finally arranged, it will follow along such lines.

Land Grants For Heroes. Land grants for soldiers and sailors by Congress seem to be assured now, although it is probable that such legislation will be delayed for some time. Amendments of the Congress war risk insurance act to give great benefits to those who are concerned by this act, are already in

BRITISH TROOPS BATTLE WITH AFGHANS IN INDIA

Heavy Fighting Against Rebels is Reported—Enemy Has Over 100 Killed.

London, May 22.—Heavy fighting between eight battalions of British troops and Afghan troops and loyal British forces was reported by the government of India today. Hostilities centered around Dakka, but the general officer commanding the first Indian division reported in a message dated May 18th that the situation is now very satisfactory. The revolutionists attacked first on the night of May 16th, supported by four guns. They were driven off and four guns were captured. The casualties of the loyal troops were put at about 130.

Heights Stormed. On the 17th the First Indian Brigade, (loyal troops) with the cooperation of airplanes attacked the enemy in the hills west of Dakka and the heights were taken by storm. The loyalist casualties in this engagement have not yet been reported.

Over 100 enemy dead had been counted when the dispatch describing this action was filed. Loyal pickets now hold the hills west of Dakka and Sherabad and Rubat, two miles west of Dakka, have been occupied. The success of the loyal troops is said to have had a most beneficial effect upon the tribes.

15,000 CITIZENS ARM TO STOP BOLSHEVISM

Drilling in Winnipeg Barracks Under Returned Soldiers—Growing Shortage of General Supplies.

Port Arthur, Ont., May 22.—Fifteen thousand citizens of Winnipeg have been sworn in as volunteer guards to prevent Bolshevism agitation from setting up a Soviet government, according to word received here today. They are now drilling under returned soldiers and shirts remain on duty at the barracks. Captain Chris O'Kelly, a winner of the Victoria Cross, addressed a large number of volunteers, outlining the position taken by the military authorities and the steps that will be taken in case agitators start trouble. Many returned soldiers said they would have sympathized with the general strike had it not been engineered and financed by Bolshevism propagandists.

The restrictions on bread supply have been lifted but there is a growing shortage of all general supplies. Gasoline is becoming very scarce and automobiles form in lines a mile or two in length at stations where its sale is permitted.

DEATH LEAP FOILED.

Derby, May 22.—Mrs. Asunt Lagone, 45, was frustrated in an attempt to jump from the roof of a four story building here today when Mrs. Sabina, a neighbor, grasped her by the skirt and held her until help arrived. The woman is demerolized and was taken in charge by the police.

WHEN WILSON WILL RETURN.

Paris, May 22.—"When will you return home, Mr. President, do you know?" an American visitor asked President Wilson today. "No, do you?" the President replied, with a smile.

RAISE $75,196.68—HALF OF HOSPITAL FUND IS PLEDGED

Town Responds With a Will to Make Memorial Huge Success.

NORTH SIDE TEAM WINS PRIZE FOR BEST WORK

Dr. Dolan Heads Canvassers Who Bring in Largest Total for Day.

Seventy-five thousand one hundred and ninety-six dollars' worth of enthusiasm was turned loose at the Recreation Building at noon today when reports were read of the success of the Memorial Hospital drive. Members of the five canvassing teams were present and the building shook with cheers as Chairman C. Elmore Watkins announced that $75,196.68, more than half the grand total needed for the hospital had been subscribed.

Mr. Watkins himself was overcome by the significance of the returns and when he told the canvassers that Dr. Dolan with his North Side team had risen from second to first place and brought in a total of $9,949.02 since yesterday, making a grand total to the credit of this hustling team of $16,227.47, he was fairly swept off his feet by the burst of applause. The North Side team captured the prize of $2,000 offered by the executive committee to the canvassing organization which brought in the largest total for the day.

How the Teams Stand. The present standing of the teams is as follows: North Side, Dr. Dolan, captain, day's total, $9,949.02; grand total, $16,227.47. East Side team, L. P. Knapp, captain, day's total, $6,036.15; grand total, $12,972.30.

ALLIES MAKE PEACE TERMS EASIER AND GIVE DELEGATES 7 DAYS' GRACE

Prince of Wales to be the Guest Of Nation When He Visits U. S.

London, May 22.—The Prince of Wales will be the guest of the American nation when he visits the United States, it was learned today. The youthful heir to the British throne is keenly interested in America and will not confine his trip to New York and Washington, but will visit a number of cities.

The Prince has endeared himself to the Americans by his democratic demeanor and when he visited headquarters of the American army of occupation on the Rhine, he enjoyed dances with a number of American Red Cross nurses.

Since the armistice was signed the Prince has been in the public eye a great deal. He attended the London Sporting Club for the first time recently and enjoyed a rattling good bout.

Later he went for a flight in an airplane and has now taken up aviation seriously. He is being taught to fly by Lieutenant Coryon, who was special instructor in the British air corps during the war.

The Prince is fond of lively company and enjoys the latest dances and the music that accompanies them.

AMERICAN ARMY READY TO ADVANCE IF GERMANS REFUSE TO SIGN PACT

"BIG FOUR" HAS SOLVED THE UKRAINIAN PROBLEM

To Issue Statement in Short Time—Poles Continue to Make War, Reports Say.

Paris, May 22.—President Wilson and the allied leaders reached a decision on the perplexing Ukrainian problem at a conference yesterday and will issue a statement within a short time, it was learned today.

Whether this decision disposes finally, so far as the peace conference is concerned, of the rival claims of the Poles and Ukrainians, is not yet known. It was reported in some circles that the Big Four would await the arrival of Premier Paderewski in Paris before making a final and complete statement.

Poles Still for War.

Reports reaching Paris show that the Poles, despite the recommendations of the peace conference and despite the opposition of Premier Paderewski, continue to make war on the Ukrainians. The supreme inter-allied economic commission has raised the question as to whether they should continue to give aid to Poland when she has ignored the mandate of the allies and is continuing to fight her neighbors.

A million Ukrainians in America are awaiting the outcome of the controversy. Congressman James A. Farrell, of Jersey City is understood to be preparing an appeal to President Wilson. The main Ukrainian delegation threatens to leave Paris unless the conference here takes drastic action to restrain the Poles.

SENATE ANTI-LEAGUERS TO START FIGHT AT ONCE

Will Not Await Wilson's Return But Will Inaugurate Attack Tomorrow.

Washington, May 22.—Those Republican and Democratic Senators who declare themselves to be unalterably opposed to the entry of the United States into the proposed League of Nations are not going to wait the return of President Wilson from the peace conference before renewing their opposition on the Senate floor to the ratification of the modified League covenants as inextricably interwoven with the peace treaty.

This was made plain this afternoon when Senator Reed, Democrat of Missouri, and Senators Johnson, of California and Sherman, of Illinois, Republicans, who are uncompromising "anti leaguers," announced that they proposed to inaugurate a bitter attack in the Senate tomorrow on the League plan.

LYNCH APPOINTED.

Hartford, May 22.—Governor Holcomb today appointed Alexander F. Lynch, of West Haven, as a member of the State Park Commission, vice Melbert Cary, of Ridgefield, resigned, for the unexpired term ending September 1, 1919, and for a full term of six years from that date.

The governor also named Joseph W. Alsop, of Avon, trustee of the Connecticut Agricultural College and L. P. Waldo Marvis, of Hartford, trustee of the Mansfield State Training School, as a commission to supervise the installation of a common water supply for these two institutions, in accordance with an act of the last legislature.

Economic Experts of France and U. S. Recommend Changes Which Will Make It Possible to Meet All Demands—Will Not Much Delay Signing of Pact.

Paris, May 22.—Developments within the last twenty-four hours have cleared away many of the difficulties that threatened to interfere with an early conclusion of peace. Official declared today that the skies are much brighter and they hope to finish their task, insofar as Germany is concerned, possibly by the end of the current month.

Germany Will Sign. Germany eventually will sign the treaty. This latest positive information reached conference sources today, following a series of meetings continuing throughout yesterday.

The granting of eight additional days in which the Germans may consider the terms simply put, that the allies and the associated powers were unwilling to ride over a beaten enemy.

Old Time Maneuvers. Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, German foreign minister and head of the German peace delegation, probably will leave Versailles again to give his own views to the German government. Whether he personally returns to the peace conference is a matter of no consequence. Berlin is ready to replace him should it become necessary. The maneuvers being conducted by the count at Versailles are merely a duplication of the maneuvers once carried out at Washington when Count von Bernstorff was behind the scenes and the same German propagandists who then characterized Bernstorff as "the greatest diplomat" are now applying the same term to the German foreign secretary.

The Present Situation. The situation here today is exactly as follows: First—The economic experts of France and the United States have recommended changes in the economic demands of the treaty as originally presented, which will make it possible not only for Germany to meet the economic demands, but also the demands regarding reparations.

Second—The German delegates have received an extension of time until May 29 for consideration of the treaty and have completed criticisms covering two-thirds of the treaty.

Third—It is considered certain that at least a third of the present German delegates at Versailles will be replaced before Germany signs the treaty.

Fourth—When the present time limit expires, one week from today, only 48 hours will be required by the allies and associated powers to consider the final suggestions.

Fifth—The Germans, realizing the danger in Germany of further delay, are certain to accept the treaty inasmuch as modifications now under consideration are designed to meet their viewpoint. Without actually receding at all, the Allies are making the terms easier of acceptance. The extension of time granted the German delegation will not delay the signing of peace more than a few days. It is understood that the Allies and the United States will insist when the extended time limit expires that the Germans sign the treaty a day or two thereafter.

Won't Affect Austria. The extension granted Germany will, in no way, affect the negotiations with Austria. The Austrians will receive their peace terms from the Allies next Monday, and it is expected that they will reply before the end of next week.

It is understood that they will not be allowed as much time to deliberate as was granted the Germans. This indicates that both sides will be signed only a few days apart.

ROBBER ESCAPES

Detectives Fire Twenty Shots at Fuging Man.

Chicago, May 22.—Lives of several pedestrians were endangered today when several detectives pursuing James Delton, accused of a $30,000 bank robbery, fired twenty shots at the fleeing man as he ran from the district attorney's office into North Clark street, and made good his escape.

Delton, who had been arrested in a "roundup" by the police following several bank robberies during the past week, was being taken to the district attorney's office when he eluded his guard and escaped.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL EXHIBIT WORK TOMORROW
Parents Invited to Cooking Class—Many Other Features of Interest.
Tomorrow will be Parents Day in all the schools of districts, one to eight inclusive, and a general invitation extended to the public. For several years the parents and friends of pupils in these districts have received special invitations to visit the schools upon some appointed day in May, and large numbers have responded. Interest in the exhibits and programs has increased notably year by year and the occasions have proved profitable to children and visitors alike.
The programs for tomorrow will consist, for the most part, of regular class work but many of the rooms will have special exercises in the afternoon. Exhibits of the year's work in drawing, penmanship, written spelling and other subjects will be displayed and some portion of every child's work will be shown.
Manual Training Work.
This has been a banner year in the Manual Training department of the Eighth District and the work of the upper grade boys in this line will be displayed in Assembly hall. The sewing classes will have a large exhibit and Miss Packard will give a lesson in cooking 1—a class of eighth grade girls from 9.30 to 10.30. The cooking room is large enough to accommodate a number of visitors and all who desire to be present during the lesson will be welcome.
The special class of second and third grade children has done some novel handwork during the year and this will make an exhibit well worth inspecting.

TO ENGRAVE SOLDIERS' NAMES ON MEDALS FREE
War Bureau Asks Service Men to Return Medals for Finishing Touch.
All the medals, which were given the soldiers and sailors by the town of Manchester in connection with the Welcome Home celebration, should be returned to the War Bureau as soon as possible, that the name of the individual owners may be inscribed thereon. Some of the men seemed to have misunderstood the plan of having their names inscribed on the medals and are going to the expense of having it done themselves. It was impossible to have the names inscribed at the time of the presentation, but the War Bureau now wants the medals returned, that this work may be done as soon as possible.
MRS. ALICE E. DAVIS.
Mrs. Alice E. Davis wife of Leon W. Davis of 36 Strant street, died early this morning at the Hartford Hospital. She has been ill for a number of weeks suffering from a complication of diseases.
Besides her husband, Leon W. Davis, she leaves four children: Clarence W., Clyde H., Mrs. Florence McCann and Kenneth. She is survived by her mother whose home is in Leraville, Pa., and by three brothers: George Van Winkle of Eottersville, Pa., O. J. Van Winkle of Ulster, Pa., and Fred Van Winkle of Middletown, New York.
The funeral services will be held from her late residence Saturday afternoon at 2.30. Dr. Hesselgrave will officiate and the interment will be in the Buckland cemetery.

HERALD MEN MAKE GOOD.
The employees of the Herald Printing Company completed their quota in the hospital fund today. Everyone of the 22 employees contributed, the average individual contribution being about $8. Five of the contributors were honorably discharged service men.

ABOUT TOWN
Mrs. J. L. Renahan of Main street has returned from a two months' visit with relatives in Baltimore.
Wallace D. Robb yesterday sold a building lot at East Center and Parker streets for Thomas Smythe to Mrs. A. Miller of Southbridge, Mass.
At the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, I. O. F., at New Haven yesterday, C. R. Hathaway of this place was chosen grand marshal.
Substantial collections were taken up for the Hospital Fund at the Park and Circle theaters last evening. The Red Cross canteen girls volunteered as collectors.
Local anglers seem to be slow about their trout activities this season. Out of town anglers have reported good catches, but thus far no local records have been set by enthusiasts of the rod and fly.
The two silver cups which the local Soccer Club will award at their prize dance next Wednesday evening are on exhibition at the Dewey & Richman store. The cups are exceptionally good and are bringing much favorable comment from the local "jazzers."
The local nurses are planning to give a dance and entertainment in Cheney hall. The proceeds will be contributed to the Memorial Hospital fund. A meeting is soon to be held at which the date and other arrangements for the dance will be determined.
The baby tank which participated in the Welcome Home celebration, left today for New Haven where it will take a prominent part in the celebration which will be held in the Elm City on Saturday. It was thought that the tank would be sent to Camp Merritt, N. J., but orders to the contrary were received last evening.
The S. P. D. Club will hold a minstrel show and dance in Cheney hall this evening and judging from the number of tickets sold the affair will be a huge success. Among the end men will be found such local stars as Andy and Oscar Anderson, Clarence Peterson, Warnock and Gallagher. A solid hour of song and laughter is assured.
It will not be necessary for babies under five-years to walk to the Cradle Roll party which is to be held in the South Methodist Church at 2.30 Saturday afternoon. The church has organized a motor corps which will furnish taxis for the tots on that date. All kiddies who wish to attend should get their mothers to call Mrs. Earl G. Seaman, phone 249-3 or Mrs. L. S. Burr, phone 215-3.
Invitations have been received by a number of Manchester people to attend the second annual convention and dinner of the Hartford County Young Men's Christian Association at the Memorial Hall, Windsor Locks, Saturday afternoon, June 7, at one o'clock. Dinner will be served in the Congregational church. There will be a social hour from 12 to one o'clock. Following a brief business session, there will be an address by the Hon. John H. Light of South Norwalk. Both men and women are invited. Tickets for the dinner at 75 cents may be secured from Messrs. F. H. Anderson and F. J. Bendall.
Contractor Street of Rockville has started operations on the moving of several buildings which changed hands in the recent real estate deals at the South end. The Chinese laundry is to be moved from the west side of Purnell Place on Oak street east to a position just west of the dry brook. The double house, now standing west of the laundry and which was partially damaged the time of the Ferris fire, is to be moved to a vacant lot in the rear and the frame building on the south side of Oak street, now occupied by the South Manchester Restaurant is to be moved across to the north side of the street. The moving of this frame building will make room for the addition which is to be built in rear of the J. W. Hale Company's store.

Park Theater
In "Diane of the Green Van", one of the features at the Park tonight, the initial production of the Winsome Stars Corporation, starring Alma Rubens, released by Exhibitors Mutual, the sponsors have been highly commended for a production out of the ordinary. A remarkable story—one that won the $10,000 prize in a story contest—it holds the audience by its mystery, plot and counter-plot, thrill of adventure and exciting moments up to the very finish. A cast very much above the ordinary "star" cast, lavish settings and beautiful exotic scenes, ranks this production as one of the notable achievements in photo-plays.
Miss Rubens, as "Diane", is the storm center of an intrigue which extends from "Houdania", a mythical principality of the old world, to society homes in New York, and down to the Everglades of Florida, where the mystery is unraveled in a Seminole Indian village.
Diane Westfall shocked her aunt and the society folks by fitting up a van and embarking on the nomadic life of a roving gypsy, with Florida her objective. Her lover, Phillip Poynter, much to her disgust, insisted on trailing her in a hay wagon, for Phillip knew her life was in danger from plotters. After saving her life on one occasion, and frustrating on several others,—Phillip determined on caveman methods, carried Diane away from the Seminole Indian village in the Everglades on horseback and married her.
Wallace Worsley, is responsible for the production.
And tonight also there will be shown the first chapters of our greatest of all serials "The Silent Mystery." In it you will see mystery, romance, adventure, the lure of gold, a sacred jewel, an uncanny taloned hand, an Egyptian Priestess, a mysterious crime, marvelous electric novelties and the swiftest action and most exciting episode endings ever produced.

Circle Theater
With Gouverneur Morris' best work of romantic fiction as a working script and with Jane Grey, favorite of both stage and screen, as star, Robert Thornby, director, has fashioned the photodrama "When My Ship Comes In" into an hour's entertainment on the screen that waves defiance at all competitors and swings on the fascinating strings of romance from the gold fiber of pantomime to the hearts of the most discriminating audience. It holds a fascination for all, young and old, and presents Miss Grey in a role that brings out all those lovable characteristics that brought her to Broadway as one of its leading stars.
In "When My Ship Comes In" patrons of the Circle theater will see tonight a romantic drama far removed from the beaten path. Its theme dwells upon one of the most romantic mediums—the stage—its advantages and disadvantages. Much of the action takes place in and near a well known harbor port, and Director Thornby and his cameraman have given the screen some of the most beautiful scenic effects ever presented in connection with a photodramatic offering.
And with these two ingredients—romance and beautiful settings—the author, Gouverneur Morris, has sustained suspense, the quality upon which all good drama rests for its big entertaining value. Here we have it in two-fold measure. In Miss Grey's support appears William J. Kelly and Nigel Barris, two of the best known leading men on the speaking stage, and more recently seen to fine advantage in some of the screen's biggest and most successful productions.
If you have ever had a desire to become an actress, if you like stories of the theater, with a tinkling romance interwoven, you will make special efforts to see "When My Ship Comes In."

UP AND AT 'EM
"WEST STREETERS."
Yet again are you back in your boyhood days. Remember—how can you forget! When poor Bill Mackden led you with his mighty stick against these Eldridge Streeters. Oh! didn't we soak them—can you imagine it, they thought they could play ball! Yes, they did handle us rather rough. Come to think of it Captain Knapp did say something about "Treat 'em Rough". I wonder if they're still at their old tricks, well, I guess it's alright this time as Judge Bowers can make it mighty uncomfortable for them. Let history repeat itself "West Streeters!"
These are hair splitting times, and it is expected that soon the courts will be asked to decide that the constitution is unconstitutional.

DENSE FOG IN HARBOR HOLDS UP TRANSPORTS

More Than 27,000 Returning American Soldiers Waiting to Disembark.

New York, May 22.—More than 27,000 returning American soldiers will disembark today if the dense fog, which hung over the coast this forenoon, permits transports and cruisers to proceed into New York harbor.

Five vessels were fog-locked outside the Narrows or at Quarantine, waiting for an opportunity to dash to their piers.

The remaining troops are speeding for port in giant transports Leviathan and Imperator in an exciting race which began at Brest, May 15. Wireless messages early today said that each planned to be off Ambrose this afternoon.

Major General Leonard Wood, who formerly commanded the 8th Division, troops from Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and South Dakota, went down the bay to meet returning units of the division aboard the Leviathan.

Kansas Governor Thero. Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, and a big delegation of Kansas; Governor S. R. McKelvie, of Nebraska, and a big delegation of Missouri, also were aboard boats that planned to meet the Leviathan at quarantine and give the returning Westerners a big reception. The Manchuria, with 4,784 returning troops, slipped through the Narrows last night and arrived at Quarantine before midnight. She lay there until forenoon and then moved up toward her dock, bringing 4,784 troops, including the 104th Engineers complete and Casual Detachments. The cruisers Charles Morgan and Chloan were held down the harbor in the fog.

DAVE FITZGERALD WANTS TO REFEREE BIG BOUT

New Haven Alderman Is in Toledo Waiting to See Tex Rickard About It.

Toledo, Ohio, May 22.—The contest for the honor of being the third man in the ring here July 4, when Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey mix, is assuming almost as big proportions as the main go.

"Honest Dave" Fitzgerald, the New Haven, Conn., alderman and hotel proprietor, who wants the job badly, is here today awaiting the return of Tex Rickard Friends of Matt Hinkel, the Cleveland candidate for the re-shipment, not to be outdone, about a representative here who boasted Hinkel's stock persistently. About fifty other booms were in circulation. Prospects today, however, were that the matter will not be settled until about two weeks before the fight.

The Overland Club, where Jack Dempsey is training, began to assume the appearance today of a regular training camp.

A. A. U. MEET.
New York, May 22.—Tentative arrangements have been made for holding the amateur athletic unions national track and field, all-around and relay championships this year, at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on Friday, Saturday and Monday, September 5, 6 and 8. These arrangements have been submitted to the championship committee for a mail vote which closes tomorrow.

ESCAPED CONVICT CAUGHT AFTER THRILLING FIGHT

Boston "Bad Man" Broke Jail After Killing Policeman—Hid in Apartment House.

Boston, May 22.—In solitary confinement and under close scrutiny, Herman L. Barney, who escaped from the Charles Street jail and eluded the police for thirty-one hours, today awaits the hour when he will face a charge of having killed Patrolman Charles L. DeIninger of Chelsea.

The boy, one of the nerviest of Boston's underworld figures, was captured after a thrilling running fight with policemen in Allston, not far from the jail.

Barney had been in hiding at an apartment house in Allston. Police learned of his presence and a guard was placed at the front and rear entrances of the building.

When Barney emerged from the rear entrance he ran into the arms of two policemen. By a ruse he broke away from them. A hot pursuit, intermingled with revolver shots, followed.

The young gunman stumbled at one time, but was up and away immediately. Tired and exhausted, he was eventually captured.

Congress and likely to be adopted. Possibilities of pension legislation cropping out despite the provisions of the war risk insurance act were great today. ### WILL YOU HELP?

There is an old and deathless story of how one day a certain man came to grief along the highway and lay in sore distress for many hours until he was at last picked up by a traveller, placed on his beast of burden and conveyed to an inn for such rough and ready treatment as was there possible.

It was, no doubt, the best that could be done at that time and place and certainly the Samaritan deserves all the credit that has attached to him through the ages. He did the best he could under the circumstances—his record to which we all might well aspire. But, after all, the whole thing was pretty tough on the man who needed medical care.

At least two voyagers had seen him lying there and had passed him by. It was not easy to tend the sick along that Jericho—Jerusalem highway and neither the priest nor the Levite had felt called upon to make the necessary effort. They may have been unskilled in first aid treatment—most men are bunglers at such things. They may have been hastening along their way under press of business which would admit of no delay. They may have been fearful that the man in the ditch was sick with some contagious disease.

But whatever the cause of their neglect the result was the same for the poor fellow by the roadside. He was badly in need of medical attention and in the normal course of events only one out of three who knew his plight had found it possible to come to his assistance.

And how little even the good Samaritan was able to do with nothing but his personal resources. He had to hoist the wounded man onto the back of a donkey, jolt him along to a road house and, after administering what benefit he could, abandon him to the uncertain mercies of the public host.

The Samaritan was hampered, not by any inward lack of good will or zeal to serve his fellow men, but by the fact that the community in which he was had never organized itself for acts of medical mercy. The Samaritan could not swiftly summon help by telephoning for an ambulance to bear the sick man away in comfort. He could not assure himself that the suffering one would receive the utmost attention that skilled hands and scientific minds could render. At best it was certain that the injured man would be turned away before his wounds were entirely healed.

In short it was impossible for the Samaritan to carry out his good intentions and his utmost efforts were but partially effective because the citizens of that place had never joined their resources and built a hospital. They had been content to rely on individual effort and to let the suffering ones obtain relief as best they could. In other words, they had never seen their public duty, they had never lived up to their community obligations.

But the good Samaritan did one thing which stamps him for a practical benefactor and proves that he knew how to make his Christian spirit count for something. It is recorded that he was mindful of the sick man's future and that he drew a sum of money from his pocket and ordered that the patient be well cared for.

All honor to the good Samaritan! As we praise him we cannot but wish he might have lived in a town which was going to build a splendid, up-to-date hospital. How generously, how joyously, he would have contributed!

NC-4 READY TO HOP OFF WHEN WEATHER PERMITS

Sea Is Extremely Rough Today and Trip to Lisbon May Have to Be Postponed.

Washington, May 22.—An extremely rough sea made it impossible for Commander Read in the NC-4, to hop off from Punta del Galá early today on the fourth leg of his trans-Atlantic flight. A dispatch to the Navy Department received from Admiral Jackson shortly after seven o'clock, conveyed this information and while it said nothing about the likelihood of the flight being continued later today in the event that the seas became calmer, it was assumed in Navy Department circles that this would be done. The engine trouble that developed in the NC-4 is reported to have been remedied and the plane to be ready for the jump to Lisbon as soon as the weather conditions permit.

PARROT, 22 YEARS OLD, LAYS 5 EGGS IN ONE YEAR.

Boston, May 22.—The parrot owned by Miss M. Louise Jackson, of Cambridge, known as "Haco," at the age of twenty-two years, has produced another egg, making five the bird has laid within a year.

Miss Jackson says that for several days "Haco" has not shown the vivacity which is her natural wont. Instead of roaming around the house and interesting herself in affairs, she has been contented to remain in the cage and most of the time has slept. Then Miss Jackson found the situation had suddenly changed, and "Haco" greeted her with the usual "good morning." On examining the cage Miss Jackson discovered another egg about four inches in circumference.

DEATH IN ODD MANNER.

Johnstown, Pa., May 22.—Michael McKnight, an acetylene gas burner, was killed in an unusual manner here recently. He was burning holes in a piece of steel plate which he rested on an oxygen tank carrying 1,500 pounds pressure. The flame of the burner not only cut through the plate but also pierced the tank. The intense pressure blew the plate into the man's face, causing instant death.

Doctors Endorse Hospital

Editor of The Evening Herald:—

It would seem that at this time when the drive for the Memorial Hospital is in progress that some expression directly from the physicians is in order so there can be no mistaking their attitude toward the proposed hospital. It has long been felt by the Medical Fraternity that a Hospital was needed and some four years ago they discussed the proposition with the Chamber of Commerce, but as there were no available funds at that time and with the war coming on soon after the matter was dropped; but every member of the Manchester Medical Society expressed the opinion that a hospital was needed and the recent influenza epidemic proved they were right. What they considered a necessity four years ago is more of a necessity today and the Manchester Medical Association, to a man, is heartily in favor of the hospital project and will do all in its power to promote and to support it.

SOLDIERS SEARCH RUINS OF MOBILE FOR BODIES

Ten City Blocks Destroyed by Fire and 4,500 Persons Made Homeless—Million Dollars Loss.

Mobile, Ala., May 22.—While relief organizations are being hurriedly organized to take care of the 1,500 or more persons made homeless yesterday by a fire which destroyed ten blocks in this city's residence district, firemen, police and soldiers are searching the smoldering ruins in the belief that some of the residents might have perished.

The fire which started in a rubbish pile back of a store caused damage estimated today at nearly $1,000,000. More than 200 residences were completely destroyed. The region swept by the flames lies near the river front and several large shipbuilding plants and docks were threatened with destruction.

YANKS BACK FROM WAR BEST GROCERY CLERKS.

Topeka, Kan., May 22.—Soldiers back from France make the best grocery clerks. At least George Denton, City Food Inspector, says so. He is in a position to know. Mr. Denton says that the boys learned sanitation while in the army, and that it is "pie" for them to keep a grocery clean after having had to keep a big barracks clean. Many Topeka grocers have employed returned soldiers and, according to Mr. Denton, he can tell which stores have them by the quick way in which the store takes on a clean appearance. For months the complaint of the grocers has been that they were short of help and couldn't keep the place looking as neat as usual.

$25 FEE FOR ONE WORD.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 22.—"Sane." For that one word Dr. Herman H. Hoppe, alienist, was paid $25. Harold O. Aeg was on trial for murder and his counsel was trying to prove him insane. But Dr. Hoppe was compelled to sit and listen while the hypothetical question was read and it contained 2,500 words.

For the ten months ended with April the exports were valued at $5,705,000,000, as against $4,834,000,000 for the corresponding period last year.

Imports for April totaled $273,000,000 in value, a gain of $5,000,000 over the $268,000,000 announced for March, and a decrease of $6,000,000 as compared with the $279,000,000 for April of last year. Imports for the ten months ended with April are put at $2,474,000,000 as compared with $2,362,000,000 for a similar period in 1918.

A CORRECTION.

The War Bureau announces that Rule 8 of the Rules covering the Manchester Honor Roll as published in Tuesday's Herald is incorrect. It stated that men who were rejected in the military examinations shall not be included on the Honor Roll, even though they may have gone to camp and received final examinations there. The rule should have stated that all men who were rejected at the training camps in this country are included in the Honor Roll.

INFANTRY HAS BORNE LION'S SHARE IN EVERY WAR, AND TERM OF "GUN FODDER" IS NO EXAGGERATION

American Army Embarkation Area, Ecomoy, France, (by mail).—"Oh, the Doughboys, the Doughboys, with mud behind their ears."

This line from a song popular in American camps overseas suggests the tough grind of the infantry.

In every war the foot troops had to bear the lion's share, but never in history had the infantry faced greater peril and hardships than in the late world conflict, because of the development and destructiveness of modern machinery.

Men were termed "gun fodder" in military parlance, and it was not an exaggeration. At the outset of the war the French, until they had an opportunity to overcome the handicap secretly taken by the Germans, were compelled to check the awful blue gray flood with men, and the slaughter was terrible, until French guns were hurriedly produced which equalled and often surpassed those of the enemy.

And the slaughter of infantry continued on both sides in spite of the stupendous massing of artillery. In this human crusher went our Doughboys from the United States as fearlessly as any of the European veterans, and the going was hell. There is no other word for it.

That accounted for the heavy casualties in the infantry units of all countries; heavier than in any other branch of the service, which is proof of the terrible ordeals undergone by the Doughboys of the Yankee Division.

Take the casualties in Colonel Edward L. Logan's One Hundred and First regiment. Of the 78 officers killed in the division 24 were attached to the One Hundred and First Regiment—more than 30 per cent. The number of enlisted men killed in the Yankee Division was 1,652, of which 332 were from Colonel Logan's regiment—20 per cent of the total.

The total of men severely wounded in the division was 3,624, of which 527, one-seventh, were members of the Boston regiment; division total of slightly wounded 2,819, One Hundred and First Infantry 500; total number gassed in division, 3,363, of which 965 were in the One Hundred and First Infantry. Upward of 9,000 men have passed through the regiment in replacements and original members in order to keep up the war strength of 2,600. There are now in the regiment men from Montana, California, North Carolina and Georgia, and everyone is a Yankee Division enthusiast and booster.

The One Hundred and First Infantry was organized August 21, 1917, the nucleus being the old Massachusetts "Fighting" Ninth, with a filling to war strength from the old Fifth Massachusetts, a crack National Guard organization which Colonel Willis W. Stover commanded on the Mexican border in a manner creditable to himself and his men. The Fifth Regiment bemoaned the splitting up of their command, but long before they entered the fighting line they had one purpose, to keep the colors of the One Hundred and First Infantry among the highest on the western front, and they succeeded.

The patriotic members of the Ninth Regiment Associates who contributed such a generous fund for the welfare of the newly constructed regiment overseas, were amply repaid by the valor and the sacrifices of the men in Colonel Logan's command. If they could have seen the benefits of their subscriptions they would have swelled with satisfaction. There was not an American regiment in France so well cared for in the line of "extras." The men looked it and acted it. It made them better fighters.

President James J. Phelan and his colleagues contributed in a larger and more direct manner than they may have imagined in helping to win battles, because they were instrumental in preserving the morale of the regiment. I hope former Congressman Joseph O'Neill, Mr. Rathesky, "Dan" Coakley, "Jack" Heyer, Congressman Gallivan, former Mayor Fitzgerald and the others will not blush too violently at these words, because they are timely and true. There are other names which ought to be included here, but I cannot recall them in the rush. They include all those on the membership roll of the Ninth Regiment Associates.

The One Hundred and First Infantry was the first National Guard unit to leave the United States for France. It left the camp at South Framingham September 6, 1917, and sailed from Hoboken, N. J., next day. Congressman Gallivan, former Mayor Fitzgerald, the late Postmaster William J. Murray, John Heyer, of the Federal Trust Company; Lieutenant Malcolm Logan and Theodore Logan, brothers of Colonel Logan, and Mr. Lyons, of the Boston Elevated Company, whose son, Sergeant Doran S.

Lyons, was in the outfit, were among those of us who followed the transports down to the Statue of Liberty in a fleet launch, and Colonel Logan and Captain "Tommy" Murphy, his adjutant, gave us a farewell from the bridge.

I was among them later in the Toul sector, after having reported the development of the Seventy-sixth Division of the National Army at Camp Devens. But as my job over here was that of a correspondent accredited to the American Expeditionary Forces to report operations as a whole for the country, rather than those of a division for any community, I could not keep in touch with intimate regimental details which are necessary for organization histories.

Sergeant Major George Gilbody, a former reporter on the staff of the Boston American, has a mass of data concerning the One Hundred and First Infantry which ought to make good reading. It is impossible to go into these phases in hastily sketching a division history.

The One Hundred and First Infantry landed at St. Nazaire, September 21 and was conveyed to a training camp in freight cars labelled "40 hommes—8 chevaux," meaning that either man or beast to the number stipulated might travel in the cars which the men christened "Pullmans."

A Doughboy's tabloid description of the trip over was given to me by Private Joseph Coen, of No. 5 Pine street, Manchester, Mass. "Joe is a member of I Company, and such a tidy chap and good soldier that he is now orderly for Chaplain O'Connor, a job which his comrades call "sky pilot's secretary." Said Joe, as he fed the open fireplace in the padre's room in a local monastery with logs on a day that was biting cold:

"All we fellows thought about was the big ship we were to travel on. Crossing the ocean was some treat, something most of us never expected to experience only in the movies. We didn't think of the dangers ahead or anything. We were like a lot of kids waiting for the trip. We were packed in like sardines below decks, and, say you ought to have seen us the second day out. Talk about seasickness! We didn't think much about romantic ocean voyages then.

"We felt like asking the captain to stop the ship. But in a few days we were strong and hungry again and thinking of submarines. We never knew the ocean was so big. We thought we'd never see land, but one night we saw a flicker and all hands would have cheered, if officers with pistols hadn't warned us that the slightest noise might mean a torpedo. It was the beacon light near St. Nazaire and we lay to there, it seemed an eternity, thinking we were safe, when we learned later it was the most dangerous position of all where we were anchored before entering the harbor. A U-boat might have binged the tub and got us all.

"We didn't sleep much that night. We could hardly wait to get on the dock. It looked like a good town. The houses were different, and the small boats with red and tan sails and the men and women in wooden shoes and the cops carrying daggers instead of billies and the trolley cars with upper decks on them and big signs like a fence at a ball game, and when we reached the traip we saw some officers getting in swell cars with funny side doors, and one of our non-coms said that was the kind of train we were to travel in, but he was only kidding. We walked and walked along the tracks and came to freight cars marked for horses or men, and in we crawled on the straw and we looked and felt like cattle arriving at the Brighton stock yards. That trip lasted two days and two nights, and perhaps we weren't glad to finish the Cook's tour.

"Then the fellows were anxious to mix it with the Heines. We felt queer the first time we entered the front lines. When the first shell cracked your blood felt funny, but you soon got over that. Now when you look back at it it seems like a nightmare, and you wonder how you came through. You ask fellows in other companies for Dick or Billy, and they tell you they didn't come along—that they're back with the others on the hills. Gee, but a load are sleeping over there. Strange thought, isn't it? Fellows you knew buried in France. And the war is over. That seems funny, too.

"I know one. He was my bunkie. Gee, but he was a corker and game. I'll never forget Johnny Coyle if I live to be a hundred. He came from Brighton. His father has a city job. I guess the family is comfortable. Johnny's dad used to write swell letters. They always cheered both of us up. They made Johnny game. He was only a kid, about eighteen, (the speaker being little older). I remember one letter Johnny's father wrote. He said Johnny couldn't fool him when he tried to write pleasant things. His father said he knew pretty well what the game must be, and he said: 'My son, if the time ever comes when you have to make the big sacrifice, do it like a man. He didn't know how near one of us was to it.

"Johnny was a good kid. He had principles which he wouldn't break for anything. He prayed regularly—we all prayed—but where Johnny was different was in smoking cigarettes. He never smoked before he came over here and then only two a day—not one more on his life.

TAGGING THE BASES

In his first start of the season Packard applies the whitewash to the Cards while the Phillies gathered six counts.

The Pirates made the series 50-50 by scalping the Braves, four to 2.

Sisler's freak double in the eighth which netted on tally, spoiled a perfectly good twiler's duel between Shocker and Shaw, the contest ending one for the Browns and none for the Senators.

Five runs scored in the third when the Red Sox sent Kallio to the shower meant nothing to the Tigers who got busy immediately, slammed three Sox hurlers out of the box and grabbed the contest 6 to 5.

While Morton held the Athletics to two runs, Cleveland scored seven counts.

The Giant-Red game and the Yankee-White Sox contests were presented by Mr. Fluvius.

BIG BROTHERS GOOD AS DEAD GRANDMA YARN.

Mansfield, Ohio, May 22.—Mansfield has a boy who has it "all over" the youngster whose grandmother dies each spring when the baseball season opens. The Elks were entertaining returned soldiers and the temple was so crowded that all excess relatives had to be excluded. But this small boy was ready. "I gotta brother in there," he said. The other boys took the "hunch" and soon there were a lot of big brothers in the company.

YANK KNOWS FOOD VALUE.

Washington, May 22.—The returning American soldier knows the value of food and so he is going in to help win the world food war by planting victory gardens. Among requests for garden books to the National War Garden Commission was one from Private James E. Kent, Ordnance Department, Fort Winfield Scott, San Francisco, who says he wants to join the soldiers of the soil.

LOSES RACE WITH DEATH.

Evansville, Ind., May 22.—Opal Tolle, an Evansville soldier who served with the American Expeditionary Forces in France, lost a race against death from war-stricken France to Indiana. His wife, for whom doctors held no hope, begged for several months to see her husband, and at last permission was obtained for Tolle to leave his organization and come home. But Mrs. Tolle died before he reached her bedside.

STRIKE IN DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—No express matter is being sent out of Detroit nor is any coming into the city as a result of a complete tie-up caused by the strike of 60,000 express employees in the government service inaugurated Tuesday when demands of the workers for a 25 per cent increase in wages was refused by local officials.

The strikers claim the government had promised the increase several months ago to be retroactive to January first of this year, but that they had not received the increase.

PHYSICALLY FIT AT ANY AGE

It isn't age, it's careless living that puts men "down and out." Keep your internal organs in good condition and you will always be physically fit. The kidneys are the most overworked organs in the human body. When they break down under the strain and the deadly uric acid accumulates and crystallizes look out! These sharp crystals tear and scratch the delicate urinary channels causing excruciating pain and set up irritations which may cause premature degeneration and often do turn into deadly Bright's Disease. One of the first warnings of sluggish kidney action is pain or stiffness in the small of the back, loss of appetite, indigestion or rheumatism. Do not wait until the danger is upon you. At the first indication of trouble get the cure at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL HAZELIM OIL Capsules, imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They will give almost immediate relief. If for any cause they should not, your money will be refunded. But be sure to get GOLD MEDAL. Watch other labels. In sealed boxes, three sizes.

FEARS WAR WILL BE DETRIMENT TO YANK HEROES.

Boston, May 22.—The experiences of the soldiers overseas are not believed by Chaplain Lyman Rollins, of the One Hundred and First Infantry, to have the impulse to lift them to a higher standard. He hopes, however, that his view may be in error and that the outlook of the soldiers as a result of their experiences in the trenches will inspire them with a deep sense of religious and moral sensibility.

"I know that this question has occupied my thoughts continually," said Rollins. "Further I have talked with many of the other chaplains of our division, regardless of creed, and find that they agree with me in many points. John Mott and other men prominent in religion, predict that there will be a wonderful movement toward a higher standard of morality and religion. I am afraid that I do not agree with them.

"During the war the same prediction was made in England. But people prayed that the war might be stopped and the war went on with the result that the prediction failed to be realized. The boys in the trenches went through too much that was awful, saw things that were too horrible to tell, felt things that were too fearful to be considered, and I doubt that the experience is to lift them to a higher standard. I hope that it may be proved to be wrong."

1,500 ELECTRIC VOLTS STRIKE MAN—HE LIVES.

Chester, Pa., May 22.—Although fifteen hundred volts of electricity passed through his body, Frank Heffinger will recover. Heffinger came in contact with a live wire carrying this voltage while at work for an electric company here. In trying to rescue Heffinger two fellow workmen were badly burned and all three were sent to a hospital. Heffinger is frightfully burned.

SITS ON ROOF AT 105.

New York, May 22.—Jacob Grozerman, despite his one hundred and five years, recently developed a fondness for sitting on the edge of a roof and permitting his feet to dangle over the coping. His grandson has applied to have the old man committed to an institution.

FOURTEEN AMERICAN WOMEN DOCTORS ARE NOW IN BALKANS.

Nish, Serbia, May 22.—Fourteen American women doctors are now in the Balkans, assisting the American Red Cross in its work of caring for the sick and destitute. These doctors are from the American Women's Hospital at New York and are located in the warmest commendation of the banish. Already their work has earned the warmest commendation of the government. Some of them have received decorations or been cited for conspicuous service among the soldiers and refugees.

In Serbia, where most sickness and destitution exists, nine of these women physicians are operating. They are Dr. Marjorie B. Burnham, of Ash-tabula, Ohio; Dr. Mary H. Elliott, New York; Dr. Harriet M. Gervais, Dorchester, Mass.; Dr. Alberta M. Green, Judith Bay, Mont.; Dr. Lulu Peters, of New York; Dr. Marion C. Stevens, of Reading, Mass.; Dr. Regina Flood Keyes, of Buffalo, N. Y.; Dr. Mabel Flood, of Elmira, N. Y.; Dr. Catherine M. Cook, of Washington, Pa.

Dr. Catherine M. Cook, of Washington, Pa., and Dr. Dora E. Bowman, of Kansas City, Mo., are assisting the American Red Cross doctors in Montenegro; Dr. Nell G. W. Bartram, of Huntington, Pa.; Dr. Mary J. Hyndman, of Philadelphia; and Dr. Safah E. Foulks, of Burlington, N. J., are doing similar work in Albania.

NO COOKING IN FAMILY HOTELS SINCE FATAL FIRE.

Columbus, Ohio, May 22.—Where we go to eat? This is the question being asked by residents of several family hotels in Columbus, where the edict has gone forth that there be no more cooking in the hotel rooms. The order is the result of the horrible disaster which took a toll of ten lives last week in an apartment house fire in the heart of the city.

LEONARD WINS.

Trenton, N. J., May 22.—Benny Leonard knocked out Young Erne, of Buffalo, in a bout here last night.

A FIFTY PER CENT INVESTMENT

The amount asked for the new Memorial Hospital was $150,000. This was considered the lowest amount for which a Hospital with 45 beds could be built and equipped and at the same time leave a small reserve for the expected deficit in operating expenses for the first two years.

If more than $150,000 is raised the excess can be used in increasing the equipment, beautifying the grounds and giving more free service to the needy.

Cheney Brothers have agreed to give one-half of the amount contributed by all others in this drive so that if the fund contributed by the town amounts to $100,000 Cheney Brothers will add to it $50,000.

But Cheney Brothers will go even farther than that. Their limit is $100,000 in their offer of 50 cents for every dollar pledged from other sources. It follows that if the town raises as much as $200,000, the total with the addition of Cheney Brothers' gift will be $300,000.

Therefore every dollar you give will add $1.50 to the Fund. This offer lasts only during this drive. So give as generously as you can at this time and we will have a Hospital that Manchester will be proud of.

If you wish you can have a year in which to complete your payments: One-half with the pledge or any time before July 1; one-quarter Jan. 15, 1920, and one-quarter June 15, 1920.

Liberty Loan Bonds of any issue will be accepted at par in payment of subscriptions.

WAR RECORDS OF HUN SUBMARINES

SHOW "BRAVERY" ACTS, OTHERWISE

MURDER, RECEIVED IRON CROSS MEDALS

London (by mail).—The war records of the German submarines surrendered by Germany to the Allies and given to the United States, have been collected by the United States Navy Department here, compiled from information received from the commanders and from records found on the boats.

The boats in question are U-140, U-117, U-111, U. B-88, U. B-148 and U. C-97. Of them all, the U-117 has the most interesting history for America, as she was one of the boats which operated off Nantucket last July.

The U-140 is a cruiser submarine carrying two guns. On her first cruise she was commanded by Captain Kophamel, one of the original officers of the Deutschland—the first submarine to cross the Atlantic. He is described as the possessor of many decorations, among them the Iron Cross.

The U-140 had her trials some time in April, 1918, and in June left for her first cruise, her objective being the coast of America. Going out north of the Shetland Islands she had a baptism of fire from an American vessel, the steamship Kanawha, which she attacked, sheering off unharmed when met with gunfire.

The first operation of this boat off the American coast was on August 4, when she is reported to have sunk an oilship by gunfire off Chesapeake Bay. Next day she sank another American ship by placing bombs on board after forcing the crew to abandon the vessel, and on the 6th of August she sank the Diamond Shoal Lightship after shelling a steamer.

She steamed around Cape Hatteras for a few days, but had no luck, and on the 13th of August prepared to go home to Germany. On the way she sank a British ship by gunfire off Cape Sable, Nova Scotia, and then turned toward Europe. She was forced to seek assistance from another German submarine and the two proceeded in company to the home port, arriving in Germany September 20.

During her cruise the U-140 sank nine vessels of a total tonnage of 29,948 tons—according to the reports of her commander. She was surrendered on February 23 of this year to the British and was then turned over to the United States.

Several other vessels were bombed or torpedoed on the trip north, among them being a steamer off Cape Race, and a number of American fishing vessels. During her entire voyage in the North Atlantic she is said to have accounted for twenty ships, the majority of which were American, aggregating a tonnage of 19,113 tons, in addition to ten sailing vessels.

The U-111 is an ocean-going type of submarine carrying two guns and twelve torpedoes. Her commander, Lieutenant Commander Beyerdorff, she left Germany about March 30, 1918, for the North of Ireland, where she sank one steamer, steaming from thence to the English Channel, where she got another steamship.

After this she returned home and was in Heligoland Bight for a couple of weeks, departing thence for the Atlantic on May 27. Her luck was not very great until June 14, when she sank a steamer of about 2,800 tons and a British armed merchant cruiser of 6,000 tons. She then returned to Germany and left for her last trip under the German flag on August 25.

Again her luck was not in, for after cruising about the British coast for several weeks she was forced to return without the record of a single high-seas murder. Captain von Rabenau left Germany for the Atlantic in the U. B-88 about June 5 of last year. Off the English coast she sank two steamers and then joined the submarine flotilla operating from Zebrugge. Using this port as a base the submarine cruised along the English coast and made a bag of six steamers. Running in and out of Zebrugge she is reported to have sunk four steamers off Brest.

Her last voyage started about September 12 and she is said to have the record of having been the last German submarine to have successfully passed over Dover Straits. On her return to her base two weeks later she found that the Germans were rapidly evacuating the Flanders coast and she departed for Kiel.

The U. C-148 and the U. C-97 are the latest type of mine-laying submarines. Both of them were constructed just before the armistice was declared and were undergoing their trials in November last, so they had no chance to carry out the mission for which they were intended. They ran for safety to Sweden and interned themselves there on November 11, but were surrendered later to the British navy.

These people who are pulling off riots all over the country are terribly aggrieved if all their technical rights are not protected when they are arraigned in the courts.

SELECTION OF "ACE" AS REFEREE FOR BIG RACE RECALLS SPIN.

Indianapolis, May 22.—Eddie Rickenbacker and his smile, equally as famous throughout the country as Barney Oldfield and his cigar, will not only lend further international color to the 500-mile Liberty Sweepstakes here May 31 (Eddie having knocked off a few dozen Huns while cruising through the air over the European battlefields), but will give the countless auto-race fans a chance to remark: "My, but this seems natural."

No imagination is needed to picture the enthusiasm of the vast throng and the welcome certain to be accorded Eddie when that most popular Yankee "Ace" walks out on the track and up into the referee's stand. For, as you know, Eddie has consented to officiate as referee, and it will be just as it was when he was fighting Huns—"What Eddie says, goes."

Race fans recall what shivers and smiles the time that Eddie all but went through a wall while rounding into the homestretch in his favorite Maxwell. That was a sight never to be forgotten. With two of the fastest drivers on the track right behind him, one of Eddie's rear tires went bad and—the thing happened.

Frenzied auto fans held their breath while Eddie spun around on that slippery brick track three times, clinging to the steering wheel with grim determination, being barely missed by both onrushing racers and then crashed into the upper wall. The car was smashed but Eddie and his mechanic escaped injury.

The thousands who witnessed the miraculous escape will recall how the big oval, and the entire big enclosure for that matter, thundered its joy when Eddie was seen to emerge from his car, and, in company with his mechanic, come walking down the inner side of the track toward the judge's stand.

And Eddie was wearing his most approved smile. But beneath the grin there was a pallor, a deathly whiteness which could not be hidden. As Eddie neared the judge's stand it apparently occurred to him that he had been knocking at death's door and that death itself had even asked him to come in. The thought was not very humorous to Eddie, but the majority of that vast crowd only saw his smile and cheered all the more lustily.

Eddie has defied death quite often since, but we have a hunch that no Hun bullet ever brought the "ash" to Eddie's face as noticeably or with as much force as that little "spin" out on the Indianapolis Speedway.

PRODIGALS SENT HOME BY COURT—FATTED CALVES.

Manassas, Ohio, May 22.—There are two towns in Richland County where the fatted calf can be killed. The prodigals will be on hand. Mayor Brunner has two of them in his court and he knew each to be a hard worker when at home and a "bumdinger" when away from home.

"Your home town is dry, isn't it?" asked the Mayor of the first prodigal son.

"And yours is dry?" he nodded to the other. Both replied in the affirmative. "Then they can kill the fatted calf for you both," said the Mayor. "The sentence of the court is that you go home and stay there until after May 27, when old Ohio goes dry."

PAYS SMALL FORTUNE FOR VALUABLE TRACT

Judge Carney Looms Large on Glastonbury Horizon — May Launch Bottling Industry.

A real estate deal which shadows all the big realty surprises which have been sprung in town during the past few weeks, took place at the City club on Oak street Tuesday evening, when Judge Robert E. Carney purchased about ten acres of land for the sum of twenty dollars. The land is situated in Glastonbury and was sold by Alfred Johnson of the Oak street cafe who purchased the property four days previous.

The sale came about when Mr. Johnson was setting forth the possibilities of his Glastonbury tract before Judge Carney and members of the club. He bought the land he said, on the spur of the moment and owing to the fact that his local business demanded his entire attention he decided to auction it off. "How much will you take for the property," said Judge Carney after having been convinced that it was no Long Island "under the ocean" lot.

Johnson quoted his price. "I'll take an option on that land immediately," said the Judge. "How much do you want as an evidence of good faith?" "Five cents," was the reply. "Agreed," said the Judge and the deal was clinched. Mr. Johnson wrote out a receipt for the nickel and handed it to Judge Carney.

Members of the City club paid no more attention to the matter thinking it was a joke, until last evening when Judge Carney came into the lounging room of the club, and exhibited a deed of the transfer which made him the legal owner of the property. Mr. Johnson stated last evening that the transfer was a reality and not a joke. He further stated that he does not know where the land is, neither does Judge Carney. "It is somewhere in Glastonbury," he said. "It is real land and there are about seven to ten acres in the tract."

When Judge Carney was interviewed last evening in regard to the future development of his tract he said, "I'm busy now. This is a big deal, there is a considerable amount of capital involved and I must be cautious in my movements." He is a small barn on the tract. There is also a brook running through it.

"I may run a number of avenues through the tract and cut it up into building lots. The barn could easily be converted into a theater. The quality of the water in the brook is excellent and I may erect a bottling plant, that is, after July 1st. There is also an enormous amount of young fern trees on my tract. When these grow older I could sell them for Christmas trees. So, you see, my future plans will require a great deal of study. Come around later and I may have some dope."

Although the above transfer may appear an exaggeration, it is a fact. There is nothing remarkable about this purchase when it is recalled that a number of years ago Edward J. Holl purchased in Granby, a large tract of land belonging to a bankrupt estate for the sum of one dollar. Although Mr. Holl holds a deed for this land, he states he has never seen it. He has been informed that the adjoining land has been sold as desirable building lots.

The auction of the 40 odd lots in the Pinehurst tract which is to take place next week should attract many home builders. In Manchester houses were never so much in demand as at the present time. It is almost impossible to get a suitable rent and the growth of the town is being retarded because of this fact. The building lots in the Pinehurst tract are very desirable and ought to find ready buyers.

The pupils of the Washington school have donated $20 towards the Hospital fund. The money was obtained by the pupils of this school through the sale of newspapers and periodicals which they gathered during a recent drive.

A large number of the members of St. James parish will leave in auto trucks for Suffield this evening to attend the big fair which is being held in that town this week by the parish of the Sacred Heart Church. The pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, Rev. James O'Meara, is well known here having served as rector of St. James for a number of years.

The Athletic management announces that the players will take the 11.45 a. m. Hartford car instead of the noon car, for the game with the New Departure team at Bristol on Saturday afternoon. The change is made because of the fact that the noon car leaves from the car barn for the city instead of the terminus. Members of the local team are also requested to appear for practice at the Mt. Nebo grounds on Friday evening.
