"REC" PUT TO MANY USES.

Building is Center of Activities Centering Wide Range of Interest.

Last night's activities at the "Rec" demonstrated to a marked degree the varied uses to which that building may be put in one evening. In the big gymnasium, the grand windup of the hospital drive was in progress. From the sounds proceeding from that room, one would think a Fourth of July celebration was being held. The discordant blasts of tin horns, the whir of rattlers, shouting and handclapping, all mingled joyously together as the reports of "Victory" were made by the team captain, while this was going on, a few members of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce were holding a quiet meeting in the small gymnasium on the first floor. In the auditorium, the newly organized tennis club of Recreation Center members were holding a social and down below on the bowling alleys, the Three Man Leaguers and pin boys were sweating and hollering over their game. "Rec" members were having a quiet game of pool in the men's game room and still others were sitting about in the lobby looking over the magazines. The buffet also was brought into use, refreshments being served there during the intermission in the dancing, which followed the hospital drive windup.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT.

Entries Received at "Rec" Office, Until Friday Evening.

The newly organized tennis club, composed of members of the Recreation Center, held its first meeting in the form of a social in the auditorium at the "Rec" last evening. Dancing featured and refreshments were served.

During the evening, entries were received for four tournaments. These tournaments include men's singles, men's novices, ladies' singles and ladies' novices. Entries will be received at the "Rec" office until Friday evening. It is planned to start the tournaments next week and run them off as speedily as possible. Other tournaments will be arranged later and it is the aim of Recreation Director Whiting to have some city championship contests at the end of the season.

There are a number of courts about town now and between the different organizations it will be possible to arrange for some interesting matches.

THREE MAN LEAGUE.

Will Bees Beat Comebacks—Echoes' Scores Are Protested.

The Will Bees and Comebacks had a close match in the Three Man League at the "Rec" last night. The Will Bees winning, 760 to 754. The Echoes and Don't Cares were scheduled to bowl in the second period, but the Echoes had another engagement and went to the "Rec" and bowled early in the evening. According to the rules of the league, there must be a man from another team on the foul line. This rule was not observed and so the scores made by the Echoes are entered under protest and cannot be counted.

The summary follows:

Table with columns for team names and scores. Includes Will Bees, Comebacks, Echoes, and Don't Cares.

"The Mary drew up to within 200 yards of us and for an hour and a half we watched her crew trying to put over a life boat. When they finally got her launched they had difficulty making their way to us, but after a fight with the waves reached the plane and took us off. TO HOLD FIRST JUSTICE CASE IN TWELVE YEARS

F. W. Woodhouse Brings Action Against Antonio Lamenzio—Claims Option on Leasing Building.

A justice case which was to have opened in the Manchester police court yesterday afternoon was postponed until next Monday. When this case comes up next week Justice Frederick R. Manning will preside in conjunction with a jury of six men and it will be the first time in twelve years that a justice's jury trial has been staged in Manchester.

The case in particular which regards a lease or its option, has for plaintiff, Fred W. Woodhouse, a Pine street grocer, and for defendant, Antonio Lamenzio who owns the building, in which Mr. Woodhouse conducts his grocery business. Judge H. O. Bowers of this town will represent Mr. Woodhouse while Judge Joseph E. Tuttle of Hartford will be counsel for Mr. Lamenzio.

Mr. Woodhouse has occupied his present quarters in the Lamenzio block for the past five years. The present lease which he is willing to renew, expired today. Mr. Woodhouse states that he has a renewal option of five years more, and that he gave Mr. Lamenzio sufficient notice that he wished to renew. Mr. Lamenzio appears to be unwilling to renew the lease and, according to the grocer's statement, is demanding a rental that is higher than the present one.

MACCABEE REHEARSAL.

The final rehearsal of the Officers and Guards, of the Woman's Benefit Association of the Maccabees will be held Wednesday evening in Spencer hall, to prepare for the State Convention to be held this Thursday at Charter Oak Hall, Hartford. Officers, Guards and members are to leave on the Croston car leaving the north end terminus at 12:45. Those who care to go in the morning should leave on the 9 o'clock car. All members are urged to be present.

The Eastern Star Whist Club will give a whist social in I. O. O. F. Hall at 2.15 tomorrow afternoon. Friends of the club members are invited. Prizes will be awarded and refreshments served. The proceeds go to the Memorial Hospital Fund.

SPECIAL POLICE WILL BE ON DUTY AT FIRES
 Commissioners Name Twelve Men—Will Have Power to Make Arrests.
SPECIAL CAPS FOR THEM
 Will Also Wear Badges—To Establish Fire Lines and Protect Property from Theft.

Better order is to be maintained at future fires and the property of fire victims will be better protected in the South Manchester fire district when the newly appointed fire police become thoroughly organized and when the people know what authority these fire police have. The fire commissioners have appointed twelve special fire policemen, three from each of the four companies and it will be the duty of these men to maintain fire lines and to guard property after it has been removed from burning buildings.

Can Make Arrests.
 During a fire, these fire police will have all the powers of regular policemen and will have the authority to make arrests. They will be under the direct supervision of the fire chief. Badges have been issued to these men and it is proposed to have special caps for them. The caps will be kept with the apparatus of the companies.

As soon as an alarm is turned in, whether it is for a big fire or a small one, the fire police will respond, establish the fire lines and maintain order during the fire. At least two companies are called out for every alarm and that means that at least six special fire police will be on the job.

It is the duty of the town policemen to maintain order and protect property at fires, but with the small force Manchester has it is too big a task for them to do alone. That is why the fire police are appointed. The fire commissioners are given the power to appoint the fire police by the Statutes of Connecticut. The special fire police and the companies from which they are appointed are as follows:

- No. 1: Albert Behrend, John Bissell and F. P. Hanson.
- No. 2: Carl Anderson, Arvid Gustafson and William Mason.
- No. 3: Robinson Crockett, Archie Hayes and E. T. Ferris.
- No. 4: F. J. McCormick, P. E. McVey and Alexander Trotter.

EAST CEMETERY READY FOR DECORATION DAY
 Hundreds of Geraniums Beautify Burial Ground—Boulevard in "Excellent Condition."

Local horticultural enthusiasts will find East Cemetery and its immediate vicinity a veritable beauty spot these days. The triquets and roadways of the cemetery which are now in excellent condition are being still further enhanced by Superintendent Alexander Duncan for Memorial Day.

As one enters the grounds, the scent of geraniums is distinctly noticeable and upon inspection a bewildering variety of these plants are in evidence. It is estimated that over seven hundred geraniums will be set out in the cemetery grounds before Friday. This botanical display together with other improvements have made a wonderful difference in the appearance of the grounds.

The geraniums which are being set out in the cemetery are furnished by the Park Hill Flower Shops. Two truck loads of plants were received yesterday from the Pierson gardens at Cromwell and Manager Pentland stated last evening that he was forced to phone for two more loads in order to take care of the town's needs.

TAGGING THE BASES

Three successive passes by Cooper was the deciding factor in the Giant victory over the Pirates.

Five twirlers yielded to circuit swats, the walloping quintette including McCarty of the Giants, Zack Wheat of the Dodgers, Mousel and Adams of the Phillies and Roth of the Athletics.

Many sport writers ticketed the Browns for a cellar berth, but their victory over the Yankees yesterday gives them top out of the last 11 games.

Five pitches got workouts while the Indians were defeating the Red Sox. Twenty-six wallops were evenly divided.

Sensational fielding by Jackson, Risberg and Schaik saved the White Sox from a drubbing at the hands of the Senators and the losers outfit the winners at that.

Phil Douglas let the Braves down with one lonely single while the Cubs earned their sole but winning score.

TROLLEY CRUSHES AUTO J. BROZANSKI INJURED

Hartford Bound Car Crashes Into Automobile on Oakland Street.

VICTIM IN HOSPITAL

Was Driving on Meat Delivery Route When Struck—Fear Internal Injuries—Car Total Wreck.

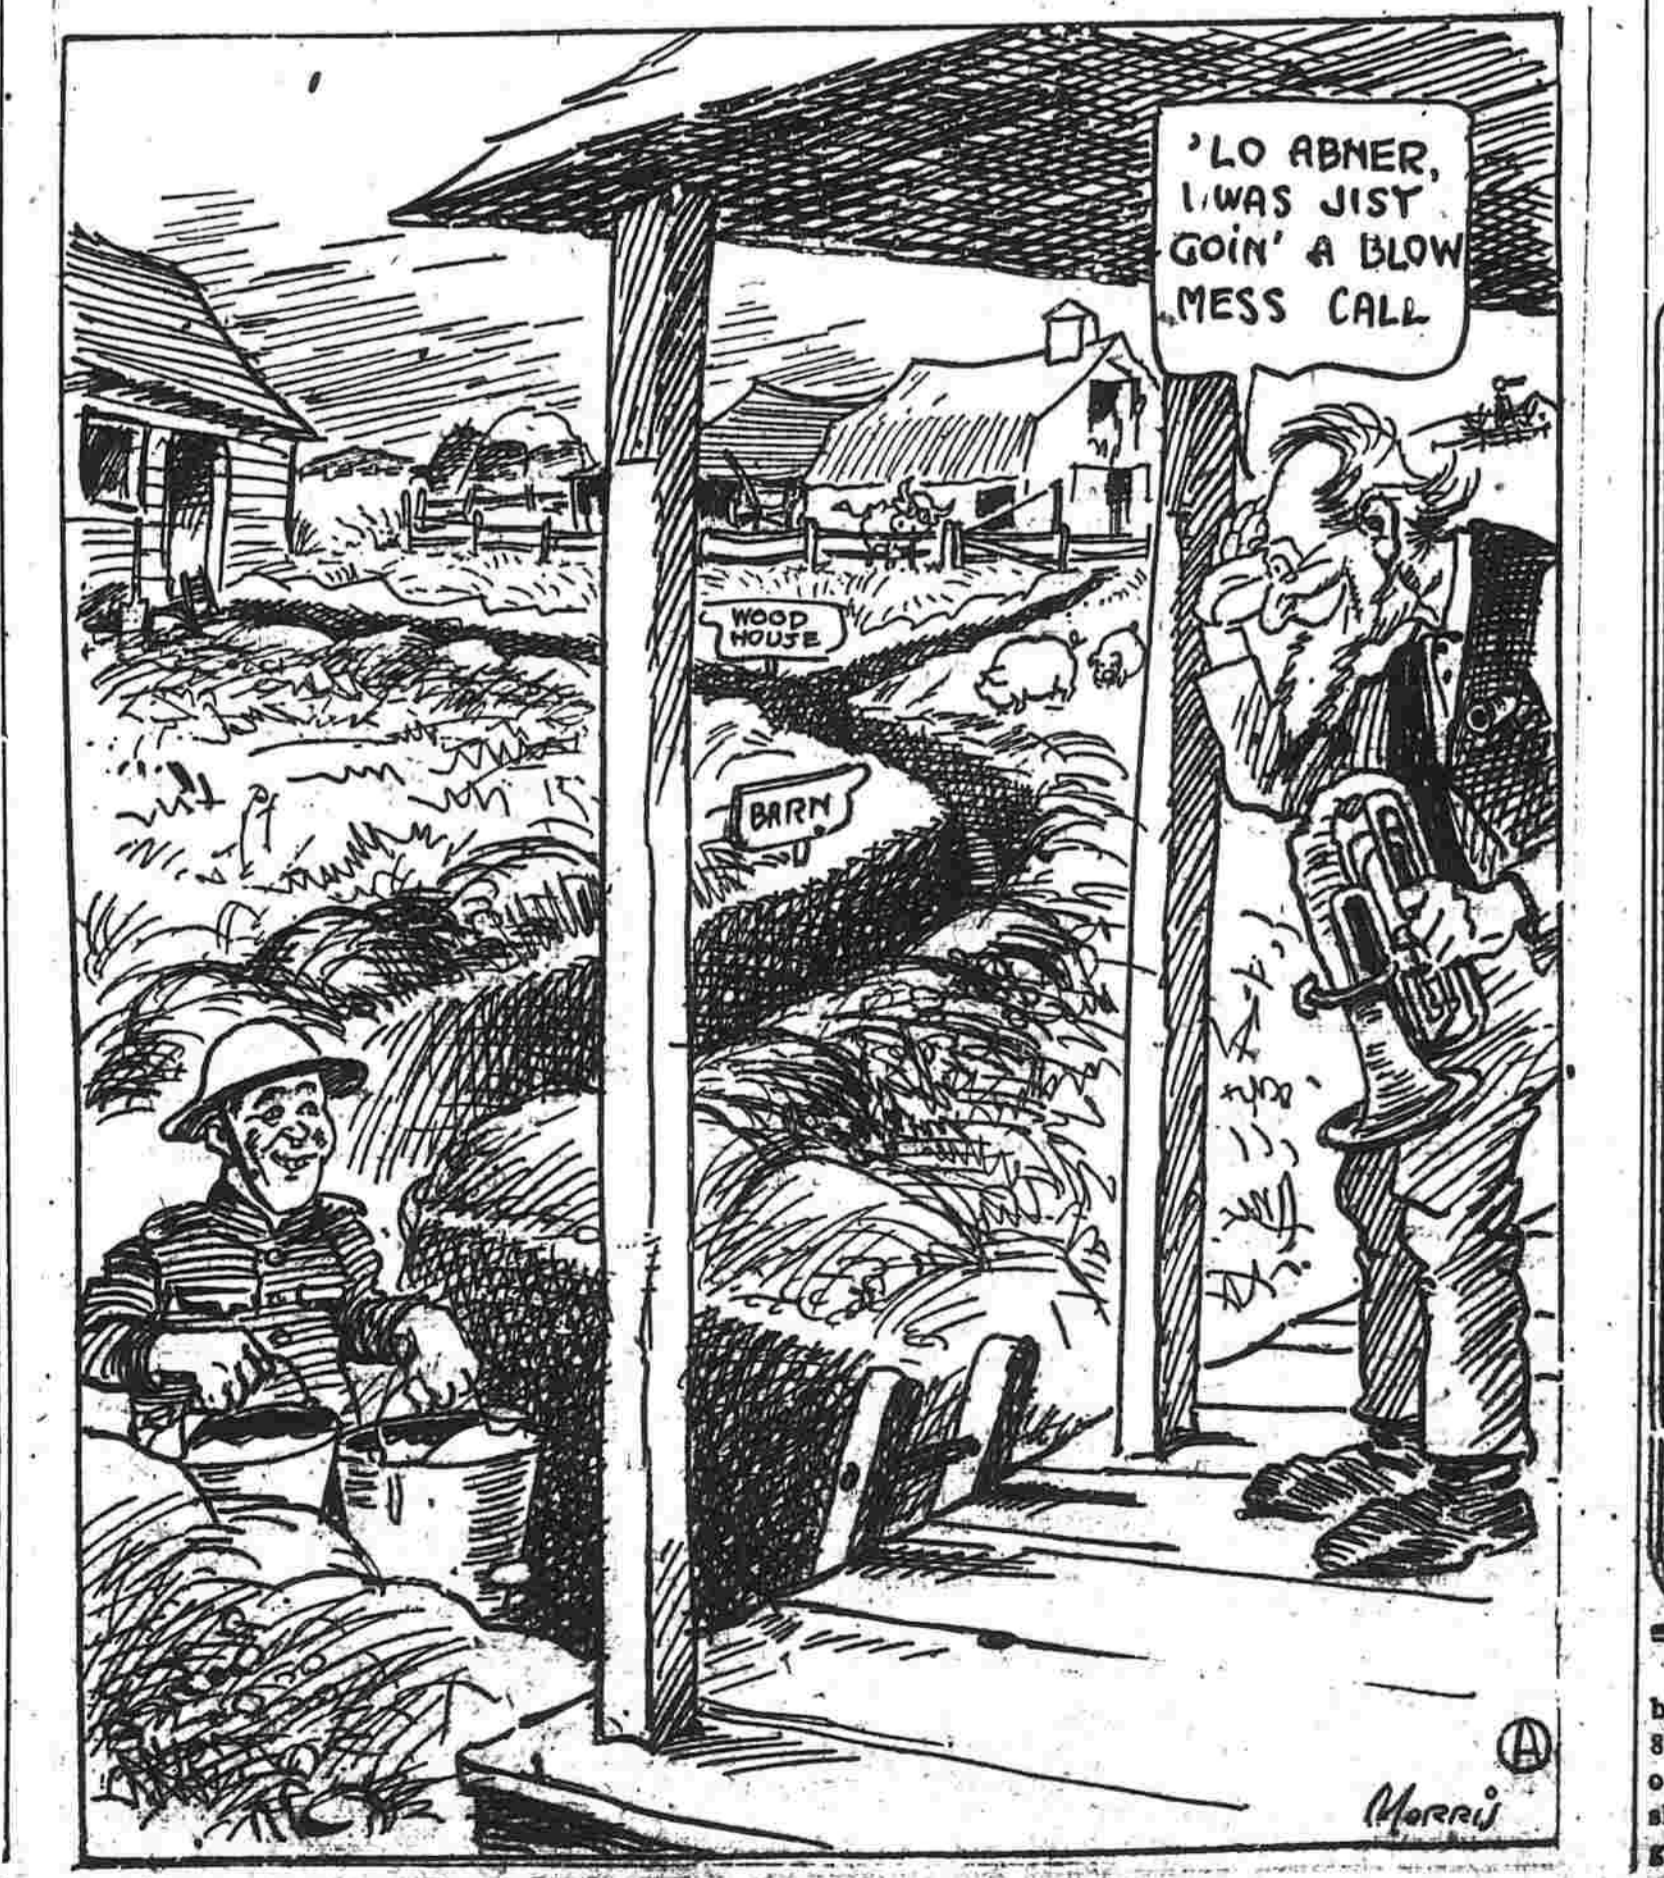

John Brozanski, well known meat dealer of North street, was hurt internally this morning when his automobile was struck by a trolley car on Oakland street. Brozanski was hurried to the office of Dr. F. H. Whiton who sent him to the Hartford Hospital. He had just started out on his route and was about to turn into Mill street when the car that was due at Depot square at 7.30 ran him down.

The automobile was a complete wreck and it is a wonder that Brozanski was not killed outright. The machine was rolled over the ground for some distance. His brother, who is in the same business, happened to be in the neighborhood and at once ran to his assistance. With the help of the trolley crew the car was righted and Brozanski who appeared to be badly hurt was hurried to the doctor's office. The doctor, after an examination found that no bones were broken but he feared that the man was hurt internally and thought it best to send him to the hospital. He was taken in an ambulance to Hartford.

The trolley car was in charge of Conductor Allison and Motorman Leon Davis. The motorman did not suppose that Brozanski was about to turn into Mill street but as soon as he saw the man's intention he applied the brakes with as much force as possible but could not stop in time to avert a collision. Brozanski must have failed to see the coming trolley car or else he misjudged the distance it was away from him. The wrecked car was later brought to the beef box of Morris & Co.

A recent issue of the Handlesberthen states that the Societe Generale of Belgium has increased its capital by the issue of 31,000 capital shares and 31,000 reserve shares, the former of which were issued at the rate of 1,050 francs and the latter at 2,500 francs. The number of shares is thus doubled and the capital nominally increased by about 100,000,000 francs ($19,300,000).

A FINE ACHIEVEMENT.
Manchester's achievement in raising in one week by private subscriptions, $183,000 for a memorial hospital is something to be proud of. This amount was contributed by over 5,000 persons, which makes the accomplishment all the more significant. It proves that this form of a memorial to those who offered their lives in the great war appealed to everybody as being eminently appropriate. It proves that the people of Manchester are prosperous and are willing to give generously to worthy causes and it proves that those who conceived and carried out this project were skillful organizers and commanded the confidence of the public. Another thing it proved is not only that the people who live here love their home town and are ready to contribute to its welfare but that those who once lived here and have moved away still have a warm place in their hearts for Manchester. The generous offer of Cheney Brothers to match all other contributions with a gift of 50 percent of the total was in harmony with their well known philanthropy and aided materially in the successful outcome of the enterprise.

Manchester will now have a modern and well equipped hospital, not a remodeled dwelling or public building as so many small hospitals are, but one new from the ground up and built upon a site selected after careful investigation for its accessibility and its fitness for the purpose it is to serve. The building, on this central and commanding site, will embody the latest approved ideas in hospital construction and equipment. It will be a democratic hospital. All contributors of $5 or more will have a vote in the choice of the directors, who in turn will select the management. Thus the hospital will belong to the community and its benefits will be available to all deserving persons.

Although the drive has closed and a handsome initial amount has been raised it is not to be supposed that the opportunity for giving has passed. The hospital is a permanent institution and will be appreciated and used more and more as time goes on. It will stand, for generations to come, as the leading humanitarian institution in town. It will need a large endowment in order that its patients may receive the best treatment at the minimum cost. It is a memorial hospital, the institution itself, the building and grounds a memorial to the soldiers and sailors of the great war. But particular features of the hospital, such as rooms, wards or annexes may be dedicated to the memory of individuals. Those who have lost loved ones will no doubt take advantage of this opportunity to perpetuate their names. Still others who wish to leave money where it will do the most good after their death will remember the hospital in their wills.

But regardless of the future, the people of today, the rich and the poor of Manchester, have made a magnificent offering. Their sacrifice will bring them good returns as the project unfolds and they see the beneficial effect of their giving upon suffering humanity. And no doubt many of those who have now given for the benefit of others may some day find themselves in a position where the hospital will be of inestimable benefit to themselves or to members of their families.

KIDDIES HERE AND THERE.
A feature of the Welcome Home celebration which was unnoticed by most of the spectators but which will be long remembered by many of the marchers was the line-up of school children on either side of Main street. Nowhere on the line of march was there greater enthusiasm, nowhere was there more sincere admiration for the men in khaki and nowhere was there more spontaneous joy at their home coming. There were party dresses ruined by the rain that day, there were wonderful hair ribbons that are now but little better than faded rag, there were best jackets and new shoes that suffered sadly through that downpour but it was all a willing sacrifice. The soldiers had come home!

To every member of the A. E. F. who saw those happy, glowing faces there came the picture of other children in the war scourged lands across the seas; grave, hunger pinched children of England; wan, hollow cheeked children of Belgium; pale, flat-chested, withered-faced children of France. With such as these in his mind's eye and with the ruddy, well clad youngsters of his native land actually before him the men from overseas could well say—Thank God I am an American.

TA TA POCHON DANCE.

Camp Fire Girls Stage Exhibition—Greenberg and Miss McCourt Win Prize.

There was a large attendance at last night's dance in Cheney Hall given in honor of Ta Ta Pochon camp of the local Camp Fire Girls. As advertised, there was a prize fox trot and a special exhibition dance. The prize fox trot was won by Jacob Greenberg and his partner, Miss Jane McCourt. The judges, William Brennan, Walter Crockett and Joseph Harrison gave the prize of a sum of money to the winners after a somewhat heated rivalry between the last two couples on the floor. An exhibition dance by the Misses Helen Boudreau and Bella Lantagne was well received. Miss Boudreau dressed as the gentleman. Joseph Harrison, who is fast gaining the reputation of being the best fancy dancer in the state gave an exhibition of a specialty fox trot. His work was received with great applause. At the refreshment tables during intermission the dancers were furnished with novel paper caps.

GOLDEN EAGLES APPEAR AGAIN IN BERKSHIRES.

Lenox, Mass., May 27.—Miss Adeline O. Johnson, instructor of music in the Lenox Schools, acting as guide for six other young women, while hiking on West Stockbridge mountain ridge, saw two golden eagles flying low, and each carrying a lamb in its talons.

As Patrick Larkin, the shepherd of the Highland Farm, reported the loss of two lambs from the flocks he watches, it is presumed that they were the property of William B. Osgood Field, of New York, who owns the estate.
"Oldtimers assert that this is the first time in fifty years that golden eagles have been seen in the Berkshires."

TURKS USE WHITEWASH.

Trying to Place Blame of Massacre on Old Regime.

Lausanne, Switzerland, May 27.—The present Turkish government is trying to "whitewash" itself before the rest of the world in regard to Armenian atrocities, blaming the revolting massacres upon the old regime, says the Gazette.
A secret letter written by Former Grand Vizier Talaat Pasha has been published in Constantinople newspapers proclaiming the extermination of the Armenians.
"I assume all moral responsibility," wrote Talaat Pasha.

"GUEST" IS O. K., BUT "LODGER" IS OUT OF LUCK.
Galesburg, Ore., May 27.—If you're a "guest" of an Oregon hotel and have your clothes "pinched" from your room, you can make the hotel proprietor pay. But if you're just a mere "roomer" or "lodger" you're out of luck.
This is the ruling as it stands today made by the State Supreme Court. A. M. McIntosh was a regular "roomer" in the Standish Hotel, Portland. When his clothes were stolen he sued the hotel for $34. The lower courts granted the amount requested, but the Supreme Court overruled that decision because McIntosh was not a transient "guest" but a steady "lodger."

GERMANS WANT BREAD.
Geneva, May 27.—Both Germany and Austria probably will be compelled to sign the peace treaty by force of public opinion, according to travellers arriving at the Swiss border from both countries today.
German arrivals declare that "while the government is bluffing," the German people are demanding peace and bread.
"Down with Ebert, Scheidemann and Noske," is the keynote of the comment in Berlin, the travellers say.

DIES IN DENTAL CHAIR.
Rockford, Ill., May 27.—Ether administered while extracting teeth proved fatal for Adam Wade, prominent business man here. He died from its effects, although two physicians were in attendance at the time. The physicians were exonerated by the County Coroner, who held death was due to fatty degeneration of the heart.

FOR THAT BABY

KIDDIE-KOOP

Crib, Play-Pen, Bassinet Combined

The Kiddie-Koop saves you money and space; means more health for baby and relief for mother. Provides a roomy, airy place to play; keeps baby safe from animals, dirt, draughts and harmful playthings. It assures a soft, warm, sanitary place to sleep, night or naptime, indoors or out. This attractive nursery necessity is creating a sensation wherever shown.

By all means come in and see this economical, useful, nursery necessity. Price $12.50.

Baby should have a good Carriage

Following is an extract from the Government Bulletin "Infant Care" by Mrs. Max West:
"Some of the Go-Carts of the present day are so stiff, so small, and so ill adapted to the baby's anatomy that they can hardly be recommended even for temporary use. Also they are too close to the ground, that the child is propelled through only the lower and colder air currents, which fling an unending stream of germ-laden dust off the streets into his face. They frequently have no cover with which to shield the baby from heat or cold, or sun or wind."
Let us supply you with one of the many new models in carriages and strollers. Prices from $27.50.

MAGRIFP PAINTS WORD PICTURE OF BRITISH PREMIER "IN ACTION"; COMBINES ORATORICAL EFFECTS OF ROOSEVELT, TAFT AND BRYAN

By FLOYD MACGRIFF.
London, May 27.—The Prime Minister!

Huzzas, yea-yees, mingled with basso "heah-yeears," burst forth from packed tiers of parliamentary benches, resembling bleachers, in a Gothic, oak-paneled hall, and an alert, dapper, gray-haired man of medium build, in dark clothes, enters a half-hidden door at the right of the robed and bejeweled, Speaker seated high on a canopied chair of state.

The newcomer, center of all eyes, nimbly steps a dozen paces past Cabinet members on the front bench, where they face a table that drops down in tiers from the Speaker. With quiet confidence he takes his seat, facing the golden mace, capped by a crown, the emblem of authority, which rests at the end of the table in full view of all.

A Cabinet Minister, trying to appease a questioner who objected to allowing imports of lamp chimneys, sat down in the middle of a syllable. The Prime Minister seated, his colleague re-rose and quickly finished the lamp chimney's explanation.

There was no hand clapping to announce the advent of the nation's chief. The throaty greeting, suggestive of a back-stage growl, was the only but sufficient announcement that the Prime Minister had arrived.

Though "his mid-day but half-light filters through the colored Gothic windows. So eyes are strained from narrow galleries, seating only a few score persons fortunate enough to obtain tickets, and from members' benches alike to drink in details of the proceedings. From the gallery opposite the speaker one may see Lloyd George, the center of a pit of men, evidently chatting confidentially with Bonar Law, leader of the House. The session is a "full dress" affair, which is parliamentary parlance for important.

Lloyd George, in full-dress armor of subtle argument, incisive phrases, palliative intonations of voice, verbal thrusts and expressive gestures, buckled up with challenging openness, sarcasm, humor, defiance and engaging sympathy, is ready to scatter the tattered opposition clan that bids for encounter.

He talks slowly, clearly and confidently, sometimes banteringly, but always convincingly. With the earnestness but not the vehemence Americans found in Roosevelt, the engaging cordiality but not ponderousness they know in Taft, the declamatory switch from the sublime to the ridiculous Al Jolson sometimes portrays, the Prime Minister plays as a master harpist on the strings of human emotions and intellect.

Listening to Lloyd George for ninety minutes during one of the great speeches of his career—the speech in which he openly flouted Lord Northcliffe, the most powerful publicist in Great Britain—easily convinced one of his mastery still in dealing with Lloyd George: "Oh, really (with biting sarcasm), I wish my honorable friend had explained that to the 370 members. (Loud laughter and cheers.) And the reliable source—anonymous. I think—was the Westminster Gazette. I am surprised at that, but before he gave that answer he ought to have compared notes with my honorable friend there" (pointing to Colonel Claude Lowther).

Colonel Lowther (received amid laughter): "May I say that the telegram was sent only with one object—to strengthen the hands of the British representatives?"

Lloyd George: "I never doubted the bona-fides of my honorable friend or those who sent the telegram for a moment. I am complaining of the reliable source." (Laughter.)

Colonel Lowther: "Did it do any harm?"

Lloyd George: "None at all. I think it will do some good before I am done with it."

And from that point on he sat into Northcliffe, though not mentioning him by name once. And the Premier drove home his points by references to cartoons and articles, showing a shifting and inconsistent attitude of Northcliffe, appearing in the latter's papers.

"And all from the same reliable source," said the Premier. "That is the last word I would apply to it. Here today, jumping there tomorrow. I'd as soon rely on a grasshopper." Thus, by inference, he publicly compared the country's greatest newspaper publisher to a grasshopper. (Which is using the weapon of ridicule to the limit.)

Lloyd George's comparisons stick. He likened the Russian Bolshevik danger to a volcano and that it was the British policy to safeguard those dwelling on the slopes of the volcano—the adjoining Allied countries—from Bolshevism and to stop the flow of lava into Allied lands.

Another contrast. After referring to work in building a League of Nations, which is to safeguard the peace by correcting possible errors that might arise, the Prime Minister switched, within half a minute, to the difficulties under which the peace makers worked, with "stones rattling on the roof, coming crashing through the windows and sometimes with men screaming through the key-holes." (Loud laughter and cheers.)

"I have come back to say a few things and I mean to say them," said the Prime Minister.

"Say them to your friends," put in Jack Jones, Labor representative.

"I agree," said Lloyd George, calmly, and proceeded.

An example of the Prime Minister's ability to humanize his speeches is seen in the following:

"A very keen observer who has just come from Central Europe said to me:

"I have seen the world going to pieces—men, helpless, half-starved, benumbed, no fight in them, no revolution because the men have no heart."

"Two British soldiers crossing a square in Vienna saw a hungry child. They took a biscuit from their knapsack and handed it to the child. You have seen when you throw a bit of bread on the ground how the birds flock from everywhere, birds that you have never seen before. Well, hundreds of children came from nowhere and clawed for the food, and it was with difficulty that the two soldiers escaped with their lives."

The Prime Minister never hesitates to threaten his opponents. Twice during the speech, in unmistakable terms, the Premier told the House that if confidence in him was lacking it could choose someone else for his place and reminded that body there were "many eligible offers."

While across from the Lloyd George cabinet (the majority of which, by the way, are bald headed) sits the labor leaders, the official opposition. But there is very little to indicate that this body constitutes any real or determined opposition. In fact, the Premier complimented the members of the opposition for the assistance given the Peace Conference in formulating the international labor provisions.

The general impression gained from watching the British Parliament in action is that Lloyd George holds the destiny of that organization within the hollow of his hand. He wags the House—the House doesn't wag him.

MEMORIAL DAY WILL BE CELEBRATED IN BRITAIN.
London, May 27.—Memorial Day will be celebrated in Great Britain with fitting ceremonies. Wreaths will be placed upon the graves of all American soldiers, sailors and marines, who died in the British Isles during the war, nearly 3,000 Americans dying in hospitals in England and Scotland from illness or wounds.

PROMOTION TO MAJOR FULFILLS AMBITION.
Atlanta, Ga., May 27.—William F. Slaton has just been promoted to the rank of major in the American Army of Occupation, thereby fulfilling his great ambition to reach the same rank as his grandfather, for whom he was named. Major Slaton is the son of W. H. Slaton, for many years superintendent of the Atlanta schools. His grandfather was a major in the Confederate army.

CARLOADS OF KISSES BLOCK DIVORCE SUIT.
Los Angeles, Cal., May 27.—"Three hundred and sixty carloads of kisses and 457 barrels of hugs" aided Mrs. Anna E. Jones in blocking a suit for divorce instituted by her husband, William T. Jones, in the Superior Court here. Mrs. Jones was not the bestower of all the kisses or the carasses, but in Judge Crail's Court, where she appeared to oppose Jones' charge of desertion, she introduced letters alleged to have been written to Jones from "Girle," "Gertrude" and "Mamie."

"Gertrude," in one letter, sent "360 carloads of kisses and 457 barrels, stacked high, of hugs." "E. W. A. K." which appeared in one letter, was interpreted as meaning "sealed with a kiss." In one letter, a whole page was devoted to "Ks" and "Xs," indicating kisses, it was said. The Court denied Jones a decree.

MATADOR BATTLE "YALE" COW IN HARVARD SQUARE.
Cambridge, Mass., May 27.—Initiation stunts completed the long service of a number of Harvard men seeking places as editors on the Crimson. These frolics took place in the college area, starting in the early morning and ending only with the coming of midnight.

Henry Villard, of New York, in the role of matador, carrying a red banner, danced back and forward before a bewildered cow at noon in Harvard Square, the animal representing a one-time famous bull. The cow wore a blue banner on which was inscribed a black "Y," symbolic of Yale.

STOCK MARKET

New York, May 27.—New Victory Notes were admitted to trading on the stock exchange this morning and in the first 15 minutes a moderate amount of the first 4 3-4's sold at 99.90. The Liberty Fourth 4 1-4's were traded in at 95.46 against 95.40 at the close yesterday. The tone of the stock market continued strong at the opening today and for a period in the early trading many stocks made gains ranging from one to three points, but there was an element that believed a reaction is due and this element sold the leading stocks on the early advances. Steel Common rose 3-8 to 108 3-4 and then declined to 107 3-8. U. S. Rubber advanced 2 3-4 to 108 1-4, followed by a reaction to 107 1-4. Pierce Arrow was one of the strongest features, advancing 2 1-8 to 61. Southern Pacific was the feature of the railroad group advancing over two points to 112 1-4, a new high for recent times. American Steel Foundries also were strong, making a gain of 5-8 to 38 1-4. Studebaker rose 2 1-8 to 102 and then reacted to 100 1-2. After the early advances an orderly tone developed and sufficient supply appeared to balance the persistent buying which caused the violent upturns Monday. Steel Common, after selling up to 108 3-4, reacted one point and similar recessions occurred in other Steel issues. The motor stocks continued prominent, General Motors rose over two points to 207, but soon lost all this gain. Southern Pacific led the railroad issues, touching 112 1-2. Reading rose over one point to above 90. Mexican Petroleum sold up over four points to 186 3-8. U. S. Rubber from 109 1-4, reacted to 107 1-4.

UNINJURED BY WAR; BADLY HURT IN SCRAP.

New Bedford, Mass., May 27.—August Aquist, of Portland, Me., fought four years in the Belgian army without a scratch; returned to this country three weeks ago; got into an argument over some frankfurters and today lies in St. Luke's Hospital with his right leg nearly severed and his name on the dangerous list. As a result, Ulysses Cutler, cook on the barge Black Rock, whose home is at No. 135 West 43rd Street, New York, was arrested today charged with assault with a dangerous weapon.

WILSON URGES THE U. S. TO SET WORLD EXAMPLE

which have united the Americas time out of mind a feeling that the world at large has accepted those principles, that there has gone a thrill of hope and of expectation throughout the nations of the world which somehow seems to have its source and fountain in the things we always believed in. It is as if the pure waters of the fountains we had always drunk from had not been put to the lips of all peoples, and they have drunk and were refreshed. And it is delightful thought to believe that these are the fountains which sprung up out of the soil of the Americas. I am not, of course, suggesting or believing that political liberty had its birth in the American hemisphere, because of course, it did not, but the peculiar expression of it, characteristic of the modern time, that broad republicanism, that genuine feeling and practice of democracy, that is becoming characteristic of the modern world, did have its origin in America; and the response of the people of the world to this new expression is we may perhaps pride ourselves, a response to an American suggestion.

Owes World a Service.

"If that is true we owe the world a peculiar service. If we originated great practices, we must ourselves be worthy of them. I remember not long ago attending a very interesting meeting which was held in the interest of combining Christian missionary effect throughout the world. I mean eliminating the rivalry between churches and agreeing that Christian missionaries should not represent this, or that or the other church, but represent the general christian impulse and principle of the world. I said I was thoroughly in sympathy with the principle, but that I hoped it was adopted that the inhabitants of the heathen countries would not come to look at us, because we were not, ourselves united, but divided; that while we were asking them to unite, we ourselves did not set the example.

"My moral from that recollection is this: We among other friends of liberty, are asking the world to unite in the interest of brotherhood and mutual service and the genuine advancement of individual and corporate liberty throughout the world. Therefore, we must set the example.

His Previous Efforts.

"I will recall to some of you an effort that I made some years ago, soon after I assumed the presidency of the United States, to do that very thing. I was urging the other states of America to unite with the United States in doing something which very closely resembled the formation of the present league of nations. I was ambitious to have the Americas do the thing first and set the example to the world of what we are now about to realize. I had a double object in it, not only my hope that the Americas should set the example and show the gentleness of their principles, but that the United States should have a new relation to the other Americas. The United States upon a famous occasion warned the governments of Europe that it would regard it as an unfriendly act if they tried to overturn free institutions in the western hemisphere and substitute their own systems of government which at that time were inimical to those free institutions; but while the United States thus undertook of its own motion to be the champion of America against such aggressions from Europe, it did not give any conclusive assurance that it would never itself be the aggressor. What I wanted to do in the proposals to which I have just referred was to offer to the American states our own bond that they were safe against us and any illicit ambitions we might entertain, as well as safe, so far as the power of the United States could make them, safe, against foreign nations.

All Should Be Friends.

"Of course, I am sorry that happy consummation did not come, but, after all, I doubt the impulse contributed to us which has now laid a sort of mutual pledge on the part of all the self-governing nations of the world that they will be friends to each other, not only that, but that they will take pains to secure each other's safety and independence and territorial integrity. No greater thing has ever happened in the political world than that, and I am particularly gratified tonight to think of this hour I have had the pleasure of spending with Mr. Posso, as a member, along with him, of the commission on the League of Nations which prepared the covenant which was submitted to the conference."

NC-4 OVER HALF WAY ON JOURNEY TO LISBON

"We seem to be on our way. Many thanks for your hospitality." The crew boarded the NC-4 an hour before sunrise, taking food supplies aboard and making final preparations for the flight. The weather experts announced the winds mostly north-west all along the course from the Azores to Portugal.

Trouble with the seaplane's port engine slightly delayed the start this morning. Lieutenant Commander Read said he hopes to resume the flight to Plymouth tomorrow, though his air voyage officially ends at Lisbon. Thirteen destroyers line the course from here to Lisbon.

To Resume Flight.

The N. C-4 left Rockaway Beach, L. I., on May 8, but started from Trepassey on the actual flight across the Atlantic at 6.07 p. m., New York time, May 16, arriving at the Azores the following day. Her official flying time is as follows: Rockaway Beach to Halifax, (540 miles)—7 hours, 47 minutes. Halifax to Trepassey, (460 miles)—8 hours, 59 minutes.

Trepassey to Horta, Azores, (1,200 miles)—15 hours, 18 minutes. Horta to Ponta del Gada, (150 miles)—1 hour, 44 minutes. If she reaches Lisbon before 4 o'clock this afternoon, (New York time), the N. C-4 will have crossed the Atlantic in less than 27 hours actual flying time. The Mauretania made the best record of any steamer when she crossed in four days, 17 hours, six minutes on February 20, 1909.

DOCTORS BACK HOSPITAL.

Manchester's physicians are working in perfect co-operation for the new Memorial Hospital as was evidenced last evening at the meeting of the local medical association at Tinker hall when every doctor present spoke enthusiastically of the project and promised to do everything possible for its success. New officers were chosen as follows: President, Dr. N. A. Burr; vice president, Dr. J. A. Higgins; secretary and treasurer, Dr. D. C. Y. Moore.

The old officers were Dr. T. J. Sloan as president, Dr. Burr as vice president and Dr. R. W. Rice as secretary and treasurer. Although Dr. Higgins is now in France he was chosen vice president. The retiring president made a speech in which he asked that every physician in Manchester co-operate in the work of its new institution.

PADEREWSKI EXPECTED.

Paris, May 27.—Premier Paderewski, of Poland, is expected to arrive here about Thursday to discuss the Polish situation. (Recent cablegrams from Paris indicated that the Allies become annoyed at the continued offensive of the Poles against the Ukrainians against the demand of the peace conference that an armistice be declared.)

The Newark club of the International league has cancelled Irving Porter, former speed merchant of the old New England league, who has just been released from the army with the rank of sergeant.

Jimmy Hamilton, who will manage the Peoria team in the Three-I league, worked his friend Del Howard out of three good ones when he got Howard to release to Peoria Croll, Dedson and LeBourveau.

Lester Simmons, for a number of years a well-known player in the Virginia league, and later in the International, New England and Eastern circuits, is mixed up in a murder case at his home in Petersburg, Va.

Man Who Has Been Chosen to Manage Phillies.

Since Wilbert Robinson assumed the management in 1912, succeeding Bill Dahlen, Brooklyn has had an aggressive and hard ball club to beat, but most of this credit has been given to Jack Coombs, formerly one of the best pitchers in the American league, and reputed to be a smart baseball man. The effectiveness of the Dodgers increased as soon as he joined the club and in 1918 it won the pennant of the National league. That year Coombs twirled fine ball and was said to have been instrumental in developing the twirlers on the club. He also is said to have had a hand in improving the skill of the club in team work.

Some baseball men have even gone so far as to say that Coombs was virtually manager of the club and that it is incredible when one knows that Robinson directed the plays on the diamond, looked after the condition of the players and gave them their instructions. There is no denying that Coombs was invaluable to the Dodgers as an assistant, but that he was almost wholly responsible for the success of the team is to be doubted when Robinson's knowledge of baseball and his ability to handle men are considered.

Opportunity to Show.

Whether Coombs is as smart a baseball man as many believe he is will be revealed in the National league struggle this summer. He has been chosen to manage the Phillies in place of Pat Moran and will have every opportunity to prove he is a baseball man of managerial ability. If he is not successful with the Phillies those who have been giving him credit for the good showing made by the Dodgers in the last few years will probably be willing to admit that Robinson is the man who has been responsible for the climb of the Brooklyn team. Yet if Robinson does not keep the Dodgers up in the race Coombs' friends may call attention to the fact and say he must have had some share in developing the club.

Plan Intensive Education Campaign Among Women of State to Prepare Them for New Duties.

Hartford, May 27.—In order to help in training the women of Connecticut for intelligent citizenship with the expected coming of complete enfranchisement, the Connecticut Woman Suffrage Association is planning a comprehensive program of education that is intended to reach everyone of the state's coming citizens.

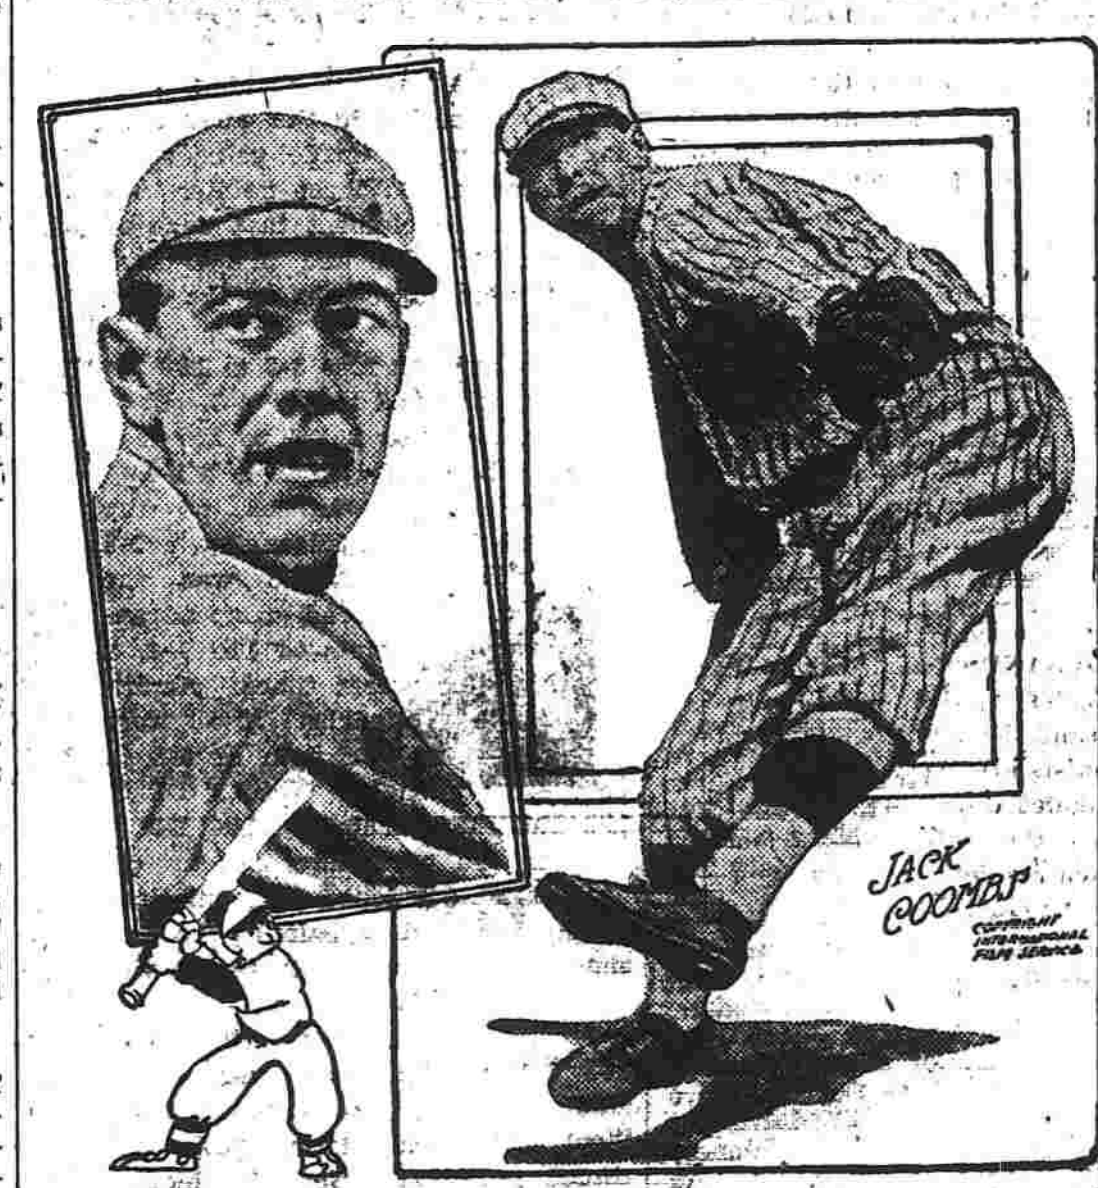

This announcement was made today by Miss Katherine Ludington, president of the state organization, who also explained that plans are being rapidly completed for raising $100,000, which is the estimated sum needed to enable the Association to meet its responsibility to the state, she said. Manchester Represented.

The campaign for funds will be conducted by a state campaign committee, of which Mrs. Samuel Russell, Jr., of Middletown, has been chosen chairman. Mrs. Russell is well known for her work as state chairman of the Junior Food Army and as chairman of the state Woman's Motor Corps Division. Other members of the state campaign committee are: Miss Mary Bulkeley, of Hartford, Mrs. J. Davenport Cheney, of South Manchester, Mrs. William Fleck, of Bridgeport, Miss Katherine Ludington, of Lyme, Mrs. Harry Tyler Smith, of West Hartford, Mrs. Henry H. Townsend, of New Haven, Miss Mabel C. Washburn, of Hartford, and Mrs. W. F. Worall of Meriden.

The state is being thoroughly organized by this committee on county and township lines, with teams of volunteer workers in each community.

"Every person in Connecticut who is alive to the need for this citizenship work will be given an opportunity to help," Mrs. Russell said. "There is a vast amount of work to be done these days among all classes, and it is felt that the Connecticut Woman Suffrage Association is best serving the state by concentrating its efforts on the women. In the 1910 census Connecticut had more than 335,000 women of voting age, and her coming women voters will probably number approximately 400,000. Of these, about 150,000, or 37.1-2 per cent, are foreign born, about 80,000, or 20 per cent, are native born of foreign or mixed parentage."

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Harper Case.

There was a large attendance at the parents' day exhibition of work at the Center school Friday.

The growers of South Windsor are increasing the number of acres of tobacco this year, according to reports from reliable growers. They have the best land adapted to tobacco in this section of the state. This is borne out by government authorities in their experiments and growers in that section always receive the topnotch price. This section runs along Main street, mostly on the river bank but does not extend eastward to neighboring towns nor this side of Podunk river. Although there are fine tobacco farms this side of the Podunk river the fact stands out clearly that in the heart of South Windsor is where the fancy prices are paid and the tobacco grown there is of the finest quality. James Brown of Pelham Bay spent the week end at A. H. Sudd's.

BOLTON

Manchester talent gave a musical comedy in the Bolton Hall, Saturday evening entitled "The Tale of a Hat." There was a large attendance and all enjoyed the entertainment. The parts were exceedingly well taken.

The Bolton schools are to have an all day field day at the Center, June 13th. The evening of June 14th the schools will hold graduation exercises. The Center and South schools will not close at that time as they have been closed so much on account of illness.

Bolton people have received invitations to the wedding of Miss Grace Brewster Post, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Post of Hartford, and Randolph Locke Eddy at the South Congregational Church, Hartford, June 4th.

Mrs. George Maloney, and small son, of Hartford have been visiting at Mrs. Ernest M. Howard's. Manchester teams were in town Sunday soliciting for the Manchester Memorial Hospital.

SOME OF MOST FAMOUS BASEBALL STARS BEGAN CAREERS IN STATE OF GEORGIA

Tyrus Raymond Cobb and Napoleon Rucker are not the only famous players who can hark back to the start of their baseball days in the balmy climate of Georgia.

Some of the famous men of the diamond, exclusive of the sensational Tiger and once brilliant southpaw of the Dodgers, began careers in Georgia that vaulted them to the pinnacle of their profession.

An old man, who has spent his years keeping tabs on ball players and peach crops was sitting in the park where the Tigers were training at Macon, whittling on a piece of wood with a robust blade the size of a young scythe.

LONDON DEALERS PLAN QUICK SHOPPING TRIP TO PARIS BY AIRPLANE.

London (by mail).—Fifth avenue needs must sit up and think. Its air of aloof distinction, bred of the fact that Paris domination slackened under the restraint of Big Bertha and war restrictions, is threatened.

Fifth avenue, perhaps, has come to plume its fine feathers with pride over the sales of British adoption of American styles. But London and Paris are becoming leagued in a closer union, and it behooves the artists in seductive publicity who abide the length of the smooth and traffic encumbered avenue to think up something good—also quickly.

Sir Woodman Burbridge, managing director of "Harrods," holds high cards for the present. "We hope soon," says Sir Woodman, "to take an order in London in the morning for a Paris hat of gown, fly over to Paris for it and deliver it to the customer in the afternoon."

Nor is this all. The great store is establishing an air service to Paris which this month (May) will send fifteen of the firm's buyers Parisward in a single day and these fifteen will return to London via the Handley-Page route that same evening, having spent nobody knows how many thousand pounds.

"Other developments will shortly be a regular passenger service for our customers. There will be few places in the United Kingdom or on the continent to which we shall not be able to offer air passage soon."

GREAT BRITAIN'S LOW PHYSICAL STANDARD WAS PARTIALLY DUE TO LACK OF FRUITS

London, May 26.—A certain slight settling of prices is visible in England since the armistice, but many articles that are necessities to an average American and that must rank as luxuries to the middle class English family "stay put" at a price that would startle even a New York housewife.

These articles have never been controlled, and, compared to American prices, they have never been cheap. Hence England does without them.

Lack of fruit has been declared by some investigators partially responsible for the fact that the draft revealed so many thousands of C-3 men.

Peaches, in season, repose in cotton batting in florists' windows at forty cents each. Pineapples today sell at $1.25 each. These are common on American tables, but impossible of achievement outside the West End in London. More common still to the American family: Apples, 25 and 30 cents; bananas, 8 and 10 cents each; canned fruit, 75 cents to $1.15 a "tin". Small oranges sell at 8 and 10 cents each, which possibly is nearer an American price. Apples, controlled, sell at 18 cents a pound, regardless of quality. At times they might well have been two or three shillings each had not the Food Controller ruled otherwise.

Growing children, the experts declare, need the acids of fruits. The fact that millions in England cannot have fruit has been a dominating factor, it is claimed, in the abnormally low physical standard found in Britain.

Turn to the good old American institution, the green salad. A small cluster of lettuce, the equivalent perhaps, of a sixth of an American head lettuce, sells for 8 cents. Tomatoes are 30 cents a pound and cucumbers 25 cents each. England, of necessity, substitutes boiled cabbage, and that and watercress have become the classic "greens."

Irrin Cobb has written in characteristic style of the flatness of English cooking. Cobb, no doubt, stopped at the Savoy, and certainly he ate at Simpson's. Just as certainly he had ample funds and could buy what was for sale, regardless.

So he missed one more or less salient fact, to wit: English cooking generally is flat and tasteless and without inspiration because the things we call inspiration in a meal come high. The women of England who must "ration" their expenditures have fruit as an event. They have schooled their families never to miss the favor which a can of soup or liberal helping from a tomato can may give to the inevitable stew, because the tiny can of soup available around the corner in America at 12 cents comes off the shelf at 30 cents in London and the most casual "tin" of tomatoes exchanges for half a dozen, which mounts up to sixty cents at the current rate of exchange.

And, of course, butter, though only 60 cents a pound, comes in packages of an ounce per person per week, so little flavoring of that sort can be done. When milk, very much skimmed and "underproof" at least 50 per cent stands on the doorstep at 22 cents a quart, and cream, only recently available at all, is dipped into paper containers, and a six-pence—12 cents—purchases almost three tablespoons—well, persons desiring richly cooked food pay the piper, and those who cannot, do without. Hence the boiled cabbage and boiled potatoes and flat water boiled steaks.

These various items being necessities, and not "events" to Americans, Americans in London pay the piper. That broad expanse of these islands which is unable to pay eats its beef at 60 cents a pound; its potatoes at 5 cents a pound, and quantities of bread and cabbage, both of which are cheap enough. Meanwhile, all Whitehall goes probing to discover why England, physically, has become a C-3 nation.

Americans wonder if the fact that some millions of children go barelegged through the bitterest of winter may not have something to do with it. This is a tradition not induced by poverty, but a glance at the windows of a "draper's" shop would prove that it must cost a father of three or four a considerable sum to clothe his family in woollens at prevailing prices. Blankets just aren't being bright under present market conditions. But sheets, for instance, may have worn out. New ones? At forty dollars the pair for linen and $9.75 for cotton? No, there are many things that middle class England is not buying—yet.

Middle class England isn't, for instance, replacing kitchen ware any more than is imperatively necessary, when the sort of pan Mr. Woolworth made famous may be had at the "iron-monger's" for only 75 cents to $1.25. Nor is the man who foots the bills sending his family en masse for new footgear if it can be helped when the finest baby sandals—about 80 cents worth, say—retail at $2.25. And young England plays with its old toys unless mother becomes reckless and permits the young hopeful to carry off a Woolworthian doll cart at $1.25, or a wooden engine guaranteed not to win the envy of any American neighbor boy at $2.50.

In time England may get back to normal. There are some signs. Eggs, which were 11 cents each a while back, have just dropped from $1.35 and are now $1 a dozen. But mostly England will be buying its meat and potatoes and cabbage and shoddy clothes for many months yet, until its money goes farther than it will at present.

Circle Theater

Camouflaging her feelings is Gladys Brockwell's specialty on the motion picture stage. Yesterday a William Fox production opened at the Circle theater in which Miss Brockwell, as the heroine, is obliged constantly to hide suffering and sorrow under a smile. "The Call of the Soul" is an unusual photoplay that tells a story of motherlove in a manner that differs from the general run of such stories. For it reveals the motherlove that must bear trials and suffering and that comes triumphant out of its ordeal.

Miss Brockwell portrays one of those unfortunate women whose little child may not know who its father is. Instead of hating the little one that comes to her under such cruel circumstances, her motherlove conquers her aversion. Her motherlove brings a great conflict between her desire for her child and her love for a good man. It becomes her haunting secret, for she dare not tell her husband of the little one who should call her "mother". But in the end her motherlove and sacrifice are vindicated, when her husband discovers the full truth and forgives her—adopting the child.

This picture made a tremendous hit last evening so it is to be shown again.

On the same bill will be "The Man of Might", the Pathe News and a two reel Sunshine comedy. Tomorrow Wallace Reid will be seen in "The Man from Funeral Range" and here is the best news of all Baby Osborne who has many friends as the Lee Kids will be here on Saturday in a comedy "The Old Maid's Baby."

Park Theater

After holding the stage in England and this country for more than thirty years, "The Silver King", the famous melodrama of English life, written by Henry Arthur Jones and Henry Herman, has been pictured with William Faversham in the stellar role, and this great Paramount Artcraft special picture will be shown at the Park theater tonight.

"The Silver King" deals with the adventures of Wilfred Denver, an English country squire, who is ruined by a supposed friend in revenge for cutting him out in the affection of a beautiful girl whom Denver marries. Years later, Ware induces Denver to bet all he owned upon a Derby race, the result being that he is impoverished. When Denver hears Ware gloating over the success of his scheme, he goes to the latter's house at night with the intention to kill him, but Ware instead is slain by the leader of a band of robbers.

Denver, suspected of the crime, but he evades arrest by fleeing to this country and he amasses a fortune in a Western mining camp. His wife and friends, as well as the police, believe him to have been killed in a railway accident and when he reappears in England under an assumed name, exciting events ensue. Denver's innocence of murder is established and he is reunited with his family.

This play is really the best of the old fashioned melodramas of the stage. Hundreds of Manchester persons who saw it on the stage will want to see it tonight in the pictures. Therefore it would be wise to come around to the Popular Play house early tonight if you wish to get a seat. There will be no reserved seats.

MEASURES FOUR GIRLS FOR TIGHTS, GETS SIX MONTHS

Haverhill, Mass., May 27.—James F. McFadden, one of the best known young men of the city, was sentenced to six months in jail, having been found guilty on a technical charge. He appealed and was held in $1,000. The police charged that McFadden, who is twenty-five and unmarried, recently inserted in a local paper an advertisement offering employment for girls in a "refined vaudeville act."

The police say that four young women went to this place and there met McFadden, who was dressed as a woman. McFadden is said by the police to have assured the girls of employment at a tempting wage in "refined vaudeville" and to have measured them for tights.

BURLESQUE SHOW HOUSE NOW GOSPEL MEETING.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—The old Empire burlesque theater here, which has been dark for several years, will be open this week. But instead of girls in tights, pastors will hold down the stage, and instead of suggestive songs, gospel sermons will be sung. The Cedar Lake Bible and Evangelistic Conference, which Paul Rader, pastor of the Moody Tabernacle, Chicago, will conduct under the auspices of the Wheeler Rescue Mission, the federation of churches and a committee of pastors and laymen, will be held in the old theater.

DOWN BOOKS FAST TEAM TO TEST HIS ATHLETICS

Fisk Red Tops and Comstock-Cheney competing in Diamond Put in Better Shape For Sunday Game.

Manager Dowd of the Athletic team has completed negotiations for the local appearance of two of the fastest semi-professional baseball clubs in New England. They are the Fisk Red Tops of Chicopee Falls and the Comstock-Cheney team of Ivoryton. This is an announcement worthy of mention and local fans will no doubt rejoice in the news.

It is the belief of many sporting critics that the above teams are just as fast, if not faster, than any minor league club. Manchester fans are fortunate in being given an opportunity to see these teams in action. Ordinarily it would cost the local management a fancy sum to book teams such as the above. A guarantee of $150 is the usual stipend.

It is because of the fact that such teams as the New Departures, Fisk Red Tops, Remington Arms and the Comstock-Cheney are backed by manufacturing companies that they represent, that the Athletic management is enabled to bring them to Manchester.

Manager Druquer of the New Departure team has promised Manager Dowd of the local team a third game. He also informed Mr. Dowd that he could not appear in Manchester at the guarantee he demanded if it were not for the fact that his club was backed by the New Departure Company. Manager Dowd also announces that benches will be placed along the first and third base lines, and in the outfield. The diamond will be put into better shape and arrangements made to handle a record-breaking crowd for the Athletic-Fisk Red Top game on Sunday afternoon at the Mt. Nebo grounds.

BRITISH EXPLORERS PLAN SIX YEARS' EXPEDITION TO SOUTH POLE

London, (by mail).—A six years' polar expedition by British explorers and scientists to the South Pole, in which an aeroplane will be utilized in accomplishing the final stages of the trip, is to be started in June, 1920. The proposed expedition, under the leadership of John L. Cope, F. R. G. S., who accompanied the Shackleton expedition as surgeon and biologist, will be known as the British Imperial Antarctic Expedition. Its objects are:

1. To ascertain the position and extent of mineralogical and other deposits of economic value.
 2. To obtain further evidence of the distribution and migration of whales of economic value.
 3. Generally to extend the knowledge of Antarctica, especially with a view to obtaining further scientific data of economic importance.
4. To investigate the meteorological and magnetic conditions of the Ross Sea area and at Cape Ann in connection with their influence on similar conditions in Australasia and South Africa (respectively).
- While the expedition is to be gone six years, it will not be cut off from contact with the civilized world, because it will take along a fairly powerful wireless set.
- The famous exploration ship Terra Nova will take the expedition to the southernmost parts reachable.

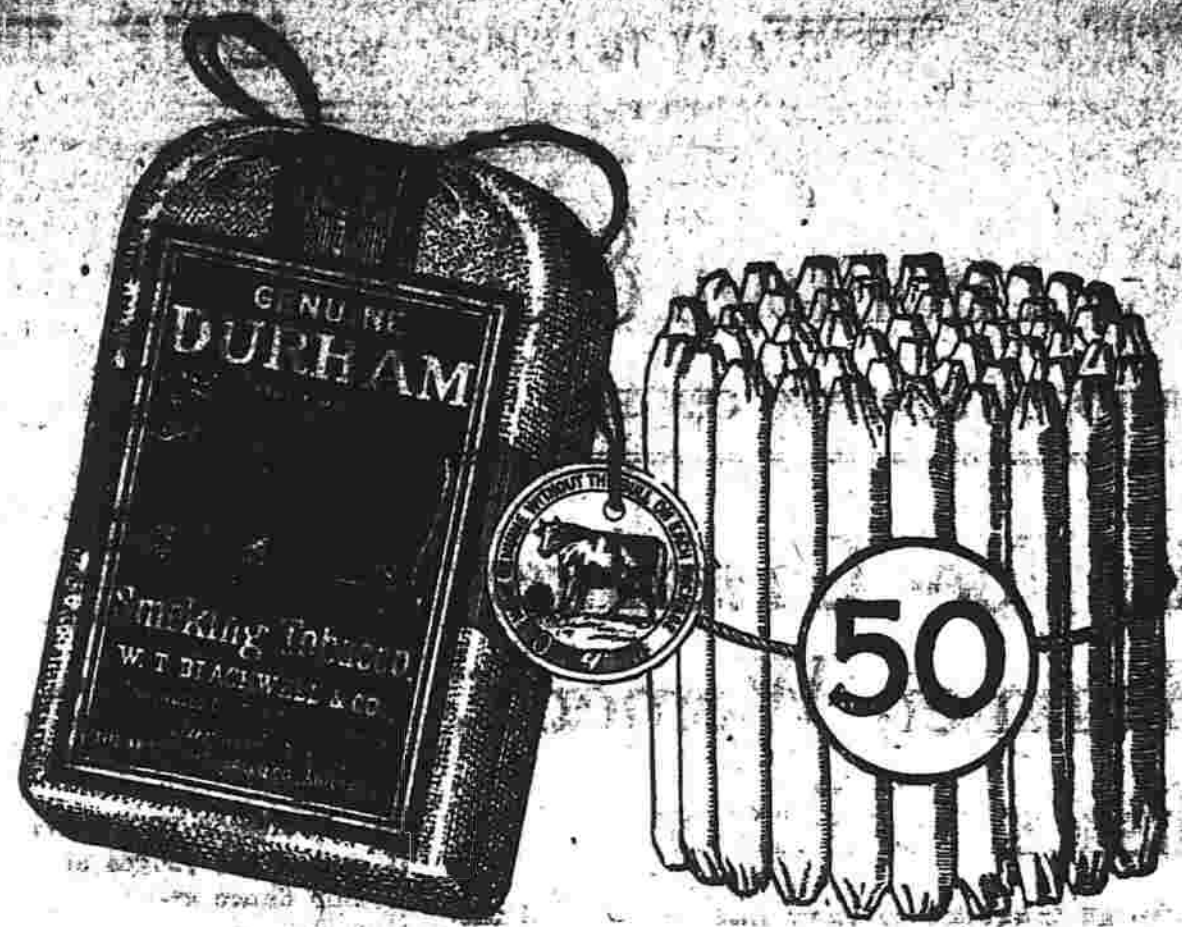

LOS ANGELES EXPECTS THOUSANDS OF COLONISTS

Los Angeles, Cal., May 27.—Several thousand French, Belgian and Swiss colonists are expected to arrive in Los Angeles during the summer, according to the statement of prominent French residents who are interested in the movement. The new settlers will take up land and start farming in various parts of Southern California. Their compatriots here will protect them from speculators and a special committee will personally prove the value of all land before it passes into the possession of the newcomers.

DECLARES ANY WIFE IS WORTH $175 A MONTH

Pittsburg, May 27.—One wife is worth $175 a month in the estimation of Dr. J. A. Mount, a local Baptist preacher. Rev. Mount got all the men of his congregation to attend services in observance of Fathers' Day. "They all came," said Dr. Mount, "wearing dandelions in their lapels and expecting to be patted on the back. I massed them where I could better get at them and then I told them the value of women from a financial standpoint. Here are some of the things the clergyman told the men:

"You pay everybody but your wife. Your son gets pocket money, your daughter's clothes allowance, but your wife gets only thanks and sometimes not that. If your wife dies you pay a housekeeper $75 a month and then hire another woman to come in and do the washing and heavy work. Every time your child-dren get sick you have a nurse. And your wife in the world is worth $175."

CONVICTS COOK IN CELLS SUPPLIES SMUGGLED IN.

Providence, Mass., May 27.—A search of cells at the State prison resulted in the finding of knives, liquor, preserves and a "wagon load" of articles smuggled there by a route that is said to puzzle prison officials. It is charged convicts were cooking meals in their cells and had all the paraphernalia which goes to make up a satisfactory meal. Warden Charles E. Lincoln decided to raid the cells, with disastrous results to the prisoners. How the articles were smuggled into the cells is a mystery.

ABOUT TOWN

There will be a special meeting of the Board of Selectmen tomorrow evening.

The Athletic A. C. will meet the Union City A. C. of Naugatuck on the latter's field Memorial Day afternoon.

Professor Walter Wirtella will be one of the judges at the championship dance given by the Manchester Soccer Football Club in Cheney Hall on Wednesday evening.

There will be initiations at the meeting of the Local Division, Sons of Temperance, to be held on Thursday evening at the home of E. L. G. Hohenthal, 467 Center street.

The Dewey-Richman Co. received by mail from the Navy Department yesterday afternoon a pair of binoculars which were loaned to the government by Charles E. House a year and a half ago.

Lawrence Moonan of the North End is expected to arrive home today. He has been in the service of Uncle Sam for the last two years and has been overseas for 18 months. He was in the ordnance department.

E. J. Holl sold 13 more of his building lots yesterday afternoon at the auction sale in the Pinehurst tract. The sale continued this afternoon and it was expected that the few remaining lots would be disposed of.

Charles Richmond of the South End has enlisted in the U. S. Marines and has been ordered to Paris Island, So. Carolina. He left for that place this morning. It is understood that he expects to go across the water for duty.

A Maytime dance will be held in the gymnasium of the Recreation Center this evening. The "gym" has been prettily decorated for the occasion. Music will be furnished by a local orchestra. Members will be required to show their membership and guest cards at the door.

The mail carriers who serve the residential districts at the South End began leaving the postoffice an hour earlier yesterday. That means that the people will get their morning mail an hour earlier than they have been accustomed to. It is understood that an additional carrier is to be granted to the South Manchester postoffice in a short time.

Otto Thier son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Thier of Henry street, arrived home last evening from France. He has been in the service for over a year and has been in France for the last eight months. He was in several battles and escaped being wounded. It took the ship he was on seventeen days to make the journey from France to New York City.

Recreation Director Whiting has called a meeting at the "Rec" this evening for the purpose of organizing an Industrial Baseball League. Among the teams to be represented will be the velvet mills, the weaving mills, spinning mills, ribbon mills, Cheney Brothers' main office and machine shop. Any other teams interested are invited to attend the meeting, which will be held at eight o'clock.

A small playground and athletic field is being built on the north side of School street, opposite the Recreation Center building. This field is chiefly for the school children, although the Recreation Center members also will use it for practicing jumping and other outdoor sports.

The Army and Navy club will hold a meeting at the new club house at seven o'clock tomorrow evening. All men, who desire to march in the Memorial day parade, are requested to attend.

Ellery M. Dutton, of Hartford, whose farm on Keeney street was sold last week to Maurice Horowitz of Hartford, takes exception to the statement that he was forced to give up his agricultural pursuits because of old age and also to the statement that the farm had been in the hands of real estate brokers for several years. Mr. Dutton is only a little past 60 years. He quit the farm last fall, because of ill health and is making his home with his son in Hartford. The farm, he says, has been on the market only about six months.

YOUNGSTERS IN COURT FOR STEALING KNIVES

Entered Ferris Brothers' Store by Prying Open Rear Door.

ONE BUYS FISH POLE

Sells Knives He Stole from Ferris Brothers to Purchase Fishing Tackle from Same Concern.

Three little fellows, the oldest twelve and the youngest seven years were in court this morning for stealing a quantity of knives and shells from Ferris Brothers' store. The theft was committed on Sunday and the youngsters gained an entrance by prying open the rear door. Chief Gordon saw the boys about the place on Friday and when the theft was reported to him he at once sought out the youngsters and one of them confessed the whole story. They said that they learned the ways of burglars by attending moving picture shows and tried them out.

In Court Before.

This is not the first time these boys have been in court for a similar offense. Their parents seem to have little or no influence over the boys and the youngsters are allowed to run wild. They all attend the Barnard School.

The parents, who were in court, could speak very little English. Judge Arnott took them to task for not attending to their children and gave the boys to understand that if they appeared in court again he would send them to the Reform School at Meriden. He continued the case for a month and placed the boys in charge of Probation Officer Goslee.

One of the boys had sold knives enough that he had stolen to be able to buy a good fish pole. He stole the knives from Ferris Brothers and after selling them went back and bought a fish pole from the concern.

Had Dog Without License.

Lillian M. Stafford of South Main street has been keeping a dog without a license with the result that Dog Warden Horton had her brought to court to answer for it. She told the judge that her husband had recently left her and that she did not have any money with which to pay the license until she went to work. Upon her promise to get a dog license at once the judge suspended judgment.

FLAMES RELEASE DOG FROM BLAZING BARN

Fire Eats Through Rope and Animal Dashes to Safety—Pig is Roasted Alive.

One pig lost its life and a dog had a narrow escape from death in a fire of unknown origin which destroyed a small barn, pig pen and hen coop at the extreme east end of Bissell street yesterday afternoon. Fortunately for the dog, it was tied with a rope and when the rope burned it came dashing out of the flames. The pig in its pen, was less fortunate and was roasted.

An alarm was sent in from Box 54, at Spruce and Bissell streets and the East Side companies of the South End department responded. The burning buildings were a long distance from the nearest hydrant, situated at Bissell and Holl streets, and at first only the chemical streams were used. But the wind, which was blowing hard, fanned the buildings into a mass of flames and the house nearby was threatened. Then a line of hose was run out and the fire was soon under control.

MILDRED E. BENSON.

Mildred E. Benson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Draper Benson, 31 Lilley street, died at the Hartford hospital yesterday afternoon after an operation. Miss Benson was 21 years of age and was born in Manchester. Besides her parents, she is survived by two sisters, the Misses Florence and Elsie Benson. The funeral will be held from the house at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Rev. Dr. C. E. Hesselgrave of the Center Congregational church will conduct the service. The burial will be in the East Cemetery.
