2.75 BEER APPEAL HOTLY CONTESTED IN UNITED STATES COURT

Federal Attorneys Insist It Is Intoxicating, and That the Law is Constitutional.

ROOT SAYS WAR MEASURE IS NOT NECESSARY NOW

Quotes Wilson's Request to Congress That Ban Be Lifted and Tells of Big Interests Involved-Decision Reserved.

Final arguments for and against the manufacture of beer containing .2.75 per cent alcohol were heard yesterday at a special session of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in New York. The court's decision probably will be announced before July 1.

Elihu Root and William D. Guthrie represented the brewery interests, and arguments on behalf of the Government were made by William C. Fitts, assistant to the Attorney General, and United States District Attorney Caffey. No matter what the decision may be, the case doubtless will be carried to the United States Supreme Court.

Beer containing 2.75 per cent alcohol is intoxicating, said Mr. Caffey. He maintained that no matter how small the percentage of alcohol in beer, if an individual drank enough of it he would surely become ine-

"When beer is intoxicating no man can say," said Mr. Caffey. "The courts have decided that men may walk straight, attend to their busimess and be all right to the casual observer and yet not be as clear of intellect as they would have been without beer."

Mr. Root pointed out that the necessity of the act as a war measure had passed and quoted President Wilson to this effect in his statement of May 20 last, asking Congress to lift the ban on the manufacture and sale of malt and vinous liquors.

Wilson Regards it as Safe. "The President's recommendation did not specify distilled liquors," Mr Root argued. "But the President as Commander in Chief of the armies of the United States, the person charged chiefly with the conduct of the war, stated that demobilization had so far progressed that he regarded it safe to resume the manufacture and sale American citizens to remain away planes and of bombing planes.

Differences between Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation who arrived here from Versailles with the allied reply and Dr. Mathias Erzberger, of the German armistice commission have been reconciled

The national assembly will not discuss the terms until Friday. A member of the government declared today that only the prospect that Bolshevism will spread to Germany, and the fear of starvation may prevent a majority of the assembly from voting to reject the treaty.

The delegates to the assembly seem more disposed to criticize the United States because of President Wilson's alleged failure to insist upon his original fourteen points than to criticize eithen France or England.

Copenhagen, June 18 .- That Germany will refuse to sign the peace treaty and that the allies will resort to military intervention is regarded as inevitable, said a Berlin dispatch to the Politiken today.

Rioting at Weimar. Copenhagen, June 18 .- Rioting has broken out at Weimar, seat of the German government, where the national assembly has met to give Germany's final answer on the peace treaty, said a dispatch from that place this afternoon.

The Spartacists made an attempt to dominate the assembly, said the dispatch, but were frustrated by the Ebert government forces, and 'heavy rioting occurred."

Veteran Labor Leader Will Not Be Opposed for Reelection-'Phone Girls Organizing.

Atlantic City, N. J., June 18 .-Samuel Gompers has consented to serve one more term as president of the American Federation of Labor, at the end of which time he will retire, according to information about the convention today. As a result of this determination it is not likely that the veteran labor leader will be opposed for re-election.

Miss Mae Matthews, of New Yorl and Miss Rose Sullivan, of Philadel phia have arrived here and announced today the progress of organization among telephone girls The work of organizing the girls has been proceeding under cover for some time, bùt an open campaign is now being started in view of Postmaster General Burleson's recognition of their right to bargaining.

One of the biggest fights in the offing today was the proposedamalgamation of international unions, fostered by the radical ments of the federation. Thus, should one trades' union practically all organized would automatically follow.

Labor Predicted Before Nightfall — Committee to State Grievances— Police on Watch for L. W. W. Leader.

Waterbury, June 18 .- A general strike of unskilled labor is being predicted in this city before nightfall by labor leaders following the walkout this morning of about 3,000 employees of the Randolph and Clowes Company and the Waterbury Brass Branch and the Benedict Burnham branch of the American Brass Company. Police are now stationed at all of the shops to prevent any trouble.

The strikes occurred promptly at ten o'clock at three plants. The original walkout of casters'helpers was followed by a strike in the rolling and wire mills of the plants.

The Army's Opinion.

"The outstanding features of the work of the Salvation Army have been its disposition to push its activities, as far as possible, to the front and the trained and experienced character of its workers whose one thought was the well-being of the soldiers they came to serve."-John J. WOMEN CHARGED WITH STARTING FRENCH RIOT

German Secretaries Said to Have Thumbed Their Noses at French

Paris, June 18.-Two German woman secretaries were today accused of starting the trouble that attended the departure of the German peace delegation from Versailles Monday night.

An official inquiry, it was stated, disclosed that as the automobiles carrying the Germans drew away from the hotel reservoir, the women expressed their contempt for the crowd of two thousand Frenchmen and women by sticking out their tongues and putting their fingers to their noses.

The stoning occurred as the automobiles were approaching the Noisy-Le-Roi station. A shower of missiles descended on the German party, injuring Doctor Melchior, one of the German delegates and Frau Dormbluts, a secretary.

Premier Clemenceau not only dismissed the prefect of police Chaleil and the police commissary Oudaille, but ordered Caleil to make a person. al apology to the Germans. The French press today deplores the disorders and the necessity of the French having to apologize to the Germans, but, approves the dismissal of the officials.

During the demonstration at the station, women with babies in their Dent, Clarence Mikoleit, John arms ran alongside the German automobiles and carriages. One halfhysterical woman ran up to the car containing Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau and holding up her baby, shouted at the German foreign min-

Prior to that proclamation of beer. beer with so small an alcoholic content had not been in general commercial use upon any considerable scale. It is, of course, proper to assume that the President, in thus fixing this alcoholic content of 2% per cent for beer, at a time when the war was at its height and food and war conditions critical, acted with circumspection and upon expert advice and with an eye single o the national good

"Manifestly he chose this alcoholic content because of his conviction that it could not be harmful to the man power of the nation or wasteful of its food resources, both of which the country then urgently needed.

"It is therefore highly probable that the President considered the war beer he was expressly authorizing and encouraging to be non-intoxicating."

Mr. Root pointed out that on March 4 the President in another proclamation removed all the remaining restrictions upon the use of food products of any kind and quantity in the production of non-intoxicating beverages,

Army and Navy Recognized in Distribution of Titles.

New Haven, June 18.—The climax of Yale's victory commencement week came today when the University distributed honorary degrees to General William Josiah Snow of the army, Rear Admiral William Snowden Sims of the Navy, Orville Wright and other men of notable achievement in war work. The concluding exercises marking the end of the 219th year of the institution were held in Woolsey Hall, following a brilliant commencement procession in which walked the receipients of the degrees in course from the college and the various associated schools and the men whom Yale had selected for honors. The biggest throng of graduates ever gathered witnessed the ceremonies. Professor Theodore S. Woolsey distributed the degrees as follows:

Masters of Arts-Charles Albert Coffin, President of the General Electric Company; Russell Cornell Leffingwell, New York lawyer and assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Robert Stewart McClenahan, who for more than 20 years has done a great work for education in Egypt; Orville Wright, survivor of the two brothers who by their mechanical skill, ceaseless experimentation and accumulated knowledge of physics have led the way in mastering hu- near the northerly line of Porter Street. man flight; Samuel Hosea Wadhams, a surgeon in the regular army and soldier of France.

In "A Midnight Romance" which was presented at the Park theater last evening and which will also be presented for the last time this evening, Anita Stewart, acknowledged to be one of the screen's greatest emotional actresses, exceeds all her previous attempts at versatility and emotionalism, and gives to the silent drama one of the most marvelous portrayals seen in many a day. The change of characterizations from the chamber maid to a modern cinderella is effected by this talented star with the utmost ease, and it is really her work that stamps this offering as one of the best of the sea-

And then again, First National has given her a wonderful vehicle. The story by Marion Orth, eauthor of that famous success, "The Price of a Good Time", is particularly adapted for her personality. The situations, although delicate at times, are handled perfectly, and the climax where the much abused chamber maid blossoms out into a bewitching beauty to triumph over her rivals is one of the most notable achievements of screen-craft. This production is in six acts and will be presented this evening in conjunction with a two reel comedy and the latest screen news.

But she was a warm hearted little girl with great deal of beauty and when love for Teddy, the musician, came into her heart she spruced up and became a different looking girl. All this is told in "Mirandy Smiles", a delightful and breesy Paramount comedy, with Vivian Martin as the star, which will be presented on the canvas at the Circle theater this eve-Mirandy worked in the Grand Opera House in a Middle Western town. She liked to watch the players at rehearsals and also to listen to the wonderful music of Teddy, who played in the opera house orchestra, One day Mirandy splashed a pail of soapy water over herself and it was Teddy who rescued her. A romance started right then and there. Teddy asked Mirandy to come to

St. Mark's church to hear him play and when she came he persuaded the rector and the young lady who was engaged to marry the minister to try to help Mirandy. This they did by giving her the choir surplices to wash. In return Mirandy gave a sacred concert at her home, putting the surplices on the youngsters of the neighborhood in an attempt to raise money for a benefit. Here the fun starts and from this time on the production is one continual roar. Mirandy wins out however, but you

TWO NAVIES FOR THE U. S. Orders have been issued making effective the proposed division of our navy into two fleets of equal size, one to be known as the Atlantic and the other as the Pacific Fleet. The act seems to have been thorough going and to have provided each of these oceanic fleets with battleships, dreadnoughts, cruisers, destroyers, submarines and mine layers.

Such action is in the interest of itself to both the professional seabolt too suddenly for either coast of this country to have to wait for war duction in the time of a coast to coast trip made possible by use of the Canal would not suffice. Nothing meets the situation as does the two fleet plan just put into operation.

But there is another naval problem, a solution of which is made even more imperative than before problem of man power. Before we entered the war the Navy Department was carrying on a rather futile ducts you want to can you must concampaign to build up that branch of sider whether or not you have the service by means of posters and enough jars and rubbers. And it is not enough to have men only at the time they are needed for serious business. They, especially in the navy, must have thorough training before they can be thrown into even a minor engagement.

Theodore Roosevelt tried to impress this on Congress when, in one of his messages he declared, "To build the finest ship, with the deadliest battery, and to send it affoat with a raw crew, no matter how brave they were individually, would be to insure disaster if a foe of average capacity were encountered. Neither ships nor men can be improvised when war has begun."

Reduction of Armaments.

By Article VIII the League members expressly declare that the maintenance of peace requires the reduction of national armaments to the lowest point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligations. Taking account of the geo graphical situation and circumstances of each state, the Council is to-formulate plans for such reduction for the consideration and action of the several government. The League members agree to exchange full information as to the scale of their armaments, their military and naval programs and their warlike industries. After adoption by the several governments of the plan of reduction, the limits of armaments therein fixed are not to be exceeded without the concurrence of the Council. plans are to be reconsidered and revised at least every ten years. The League members agree that the manufacture by private enterprise of munitions and implements of war is open to grave objections and council is to advise how these evils can be prevented.

This is the first of the four great steps toward securing permanent peace in the League Constitution and is as important as any. One of the great factors in bringing on this war and making it what it was was the race in armaments between the European fiations. Prussia under Bismarkk perfected its military establishment by winning three wars, first against Denmark, secondly against Austria and then against Francethus the German Empire, was made in 1871: From that time on, the German armament has been increased and has kept pace with the growth of German desire for world domination. A thorough and drastic system of conscription, military training and reserves, built up the German military establishment so that it was a perfect machine and far more formidable than that of any other government. Fear of it prompted every continental nation not in alliance with Germany to enlarge its armament. Germany's allies, Austria and Italy, joined in the race at establishments went on increasing from decade to decade. After a time Germany acquired naval ambition, and then the race began between her and Great Britain.

Evils of Militarism.

The answer to the objections is full and complete. First, the Council in formulating the plan and fixing limits must act unanimously. First Will Take Place at Williman-Therefore, the plan can not be adopted by the Council without the consent of the American Representative in that body. This is a guaranty that the limits to be fixed would be not unfair or unreasonable so far as we are concerned.

Secondly, after the plan has been formulated and the limits fixed, each government must accept it before it making power and in this case the Congress as well, will consent and fix deem it wise. Chautauqua's Value Today

"During the war President Wilson looked upon and counted the Chautauqua as 'an integral part of our National Defense.' He appealed personally to the people to support it as a public duty. "In the period of reconstruction the platform is offering the only sane, sensible and lasting solution for our industrial and social unrest-that is a sane, calm and reasonable, discussion of the problems now up for solution. Under the Chautauqua tents the people are coming together for the purpose of reasoning together. "We have started out to take our message of hope and aspiration to the men in the field, in the factory, yes, out in the forest. We are now putting oil in tell and laughter in work ..

"The Chautauqua has done more than any other force to break down the imaginary Chinese Wall that all too often and all too long has separated the town from the country. "Ex-Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota, has said: 'If I had my way I would rather have had the honor of being the father of the Chautauqua movement than any other one started in America.' "The Chautauqua is now doing its share to make not only democracy a workable reality at home, but it is also helping to carry the blessings of education, entertainment, relaxation, pure amusement and purposeful fun to all the world. "The Chautauqua taught the youth of America that men and wemen are more than dollars and cents; that human lives are more than mere things; that ideals are more potent than armaments; that the masses are more powerful than potentates and armies; that, when the spirit is right and noble, the deeds will follow as effect follows cause. "The Chautauqua has helped to give the old world a new vision and has helped to recruit the millions of brave boys who put that vision into purpose." FRED HIGH lexandria, Va., Has Right to Boast of Her Present as Well as Her Past Glories.

Alexandria, Va., is a thriving little southern city with a historic background. The city can never decide of which it should be proudest-its prosperous present or historic past. As a rule it divides its pride equally between them. Several times, it has been given an opportunity to become part of the District of Columbia and proudly refused.

Alexandrians will show you with equal pride their busy shipyards and arbor and then escort you to one of helr ancient landmarks, such as Christ church or the Carlyle house. Christ church is sacred to the memory of the south's two greatest heroes, Washington and Lee. The Washington and Lee pews in the church are side by side, their names marked by silver plates. Twin mural tablets on the church's wall are inscribed to their memory. As to Punctuation.

With all that may be said about punctuation its use is pretty well as much part and parcel of the writer as are the words of the text. To one man a comma is merely "a breathing," and he puts one in where a reader would seem to need to pause for breath; whereas to others a comma is rather a handy mark for setting off a word or clause that is to a degree somewhat apart in form or sense from the direct implication of the sentence. All of which brings to mind the words of that very practical schoolmaster who was the first to say to his class, "The "I had a friend who went hunting | best rule of all for punctuation is to put in punctuation marks only where, without them, the meaning would be in doubt."

SENATE FAVORS HORSE MEAT.

Would Give $100,000 for Inspection Before Exportation.

Washington, June 18 .- The Senate amended the Agricultural Appropriation Bill today by adding $100,000 for the inspection of horse meat. The purpose is to enable packers here to supply horse flesh to countries which use it as food. Many Western states have from 200,000 to 500,000 undersized young horses not fit for work, which can be killed and exported .after they are inspected.

Dr W. T. Butler of Montana, is behind the proposition. He said his state would save $1,000,000 a year in forage by killing off 200,000 horses for export.

By Frank G. Menke. Toledo, O., June 17.-Veteran ng men assembled here who are ooting for a Jess Willard triumph July fourth, wag their graying thatches these days. They are fearlest the sublime confidence which champion has in himself takes he form of extreme contempt of lack Dempsey, followed by fatal over-confidence "it's fine for a ferlow to determine that he is going to win, but it's ruinous for him to get the impression that he is unbeatable", is their sentiment.

Because no man ever has drop-ed him, Willard probably figures that the 190 pound Dempsey can't It either. If Jess goes into the ng feeling it is a cinch for him and t he can't lose, he is likely to have fearfully sad guess coming.

Probably every champion of the at has been whipped not so much age or previous inactivity as by r-confidence that made him lax his training and which caused n to make an awful blunder in e ring."

That's about true, too. John L sidered Jim Corbett as nothing bre than a jumping jack and a sor powder-pull puncher. So why nd months in rigorous training? few weeks-quite enough. And en John L., figured, all that was ssary was to climb into the ring beat Corbett. "How can the difornian whip me?" quizzed John "He has not a real punch in his ole system. He can hit me all ett-let me tell you that. Mayle but I'll get him sure".

ut John L. didn't. The phanlike Corbett hit Sullivan when where he willed that night in Orleans. True, the blows t have knockout force. had enough power to cut Sullito ribbons. And through near-I minutes of actual fighting, the ly trained and winded John landed a solid smash. A dif story of the fight might have written if John L. had trained id for Kilrain had wene into it feeling that he was meeting worthy of his steel rather than "a man who hasn't got a ghost 'of a chance against me."

Over-confidence later whipped Corbett. The son of the Golden West had Bob Fitzsimmons beaten to a standstill for five rounds in Carson City. In the sixth Corbett dropped Fitz for the count of nine. When the Corinishman got up Corbett probably could have rushed in and finished him. But he did not; over-confidence. prevented it. He decided to prolong it for a few rounds more, so as to give his friends a little longer entertainment and in the fourteenth Fitz hooked a blow to the body-and became heavyweight champion of the world.

Fitz didn't take Jim Jeffries serlously. He was told that Jeff had a great punch and was a powerful fellow who could take plenty of pun-

"The bigger they are, the harder they fall," replied Fitzsimmons, who trained but little for the clumsy Jeffries because 'he'll be easy for me." Fitz was overconfident and Jeffries got him in the eleventh

The whole world rose up to tell Jim Jeffries in 1910 that Jack Johnson was nothing but 'a' shine". Jeff believed them and agreed to fight the negro. He realized he couldn't get back into prime condition but he was confident to the point of overconfidence in his ability to condition himself sufficiently to whip the negro. And on July 4, 1910, Jeffries learned the error of his reasoning. "Willard is a joke", some folks at and he won't hurt me. But told Jack Johnson. "Then I'll fight I hit him it's going to hurt him", agreed the negro in 1915. Willard trained faithfully and he'il get away from me for a hard. Johnson took things easy. Why exert oneself to fight a "joke?" a few punches here—and a few there—and the fight would be over with the negro grinning in triumph. But in the 26th round the negro toppled to the canvass-beaten and dethroned by the "joke."

Those who are Willard's staunchest admirers are hoping that he will learn the lesson of over-confidence from the battles of the past.

The weather forecaster knows more about clouds than he does about silver linings.

COMMENT ON REPLY London, June 17 .- "The allied resatisfied the hopes of those who fought this war."

The Daily Mail, organ of Lord Northcliffe, who has been accusing the peace conference of weakness in dealing with the Germans, declines to express a final opinion, holding that the summary of the allied reply, as printed here is not sufficient. The clauses regarding reparation are vague and disconcerting, the Mail declares, adding:

"We fear it needed all thhe vigor of Clemenceau and the obstinacy of Wilson to pin Lloyd George to the standpoint of the covering letter." shows that the peace terms remain in their original form, adding:

"When the war is definitely over, the spirit of the League of Nations, not the treaty, will be ascendant." The Chronicle declares the covering note bears the impress of President Wilson's pen. The Times expresses the hope that the unpublished portions of the treaty will at least be as strong as the covering note, which it considers satisfactory on the main points if it stood alone.

The Morning Post calls the reply 'a ticket of leave."

> El Paso, June 17 .- American roops are out of Mexico today but Francisco Villa, rebel chieftain, is reported to be preparing to making reprisal for the inglorious defeat he suffered at the hands of American forces at Juarez yesterday. The bandit leader, completely routed at Juarez, is lurking in the hills to the southeast, where he fled with the

Villa, it is feared, will make it his business to carry on guerilla warfare in the hills with American mines and smelters as his chief victims. Villista forces are expected to operate in small bands, raiding Americanowned properties wherever possible and occasionally swooping down to attack small border towns. The action of the American forces in swiftly taking the field to drive Villa away from Juarez definitely prevented the bandit leader from accomplishing his object of capturing and controlling that important border port. Villa's chagrin at this defeat, it is believed, will lead him to seek revenge and imperil American lives and property.

Hostility against the Americans is prevalent throughout the entire border district, it is declared today, and is not confined to Villistas, the Carranza forces sharing in the resentment felt over yesterday's inva-

DEMAND SELECTMEN CALL TOWN MEETING OVER BUILDING LINE

Is Signed by Many Citizens.

WANT LAW

Many Think Alleged Encroachment Not of Enough Consequence to Justify Expenditure of Funds.

The selectmen are to be requested to call a special town meeting for the purpose of giving the taxpayers an opportunity of discussing the building line proposition in regard to the Main street property owned by E. J. Holl and John F. Sheridan. The petition was being circulated today and nearly everybody who had an opportunity to sign it did so. The petition will doubtless be in the hands of the selectmen today and they, according to law, must call the meeting within the next ten days. The reason for this petition for a special town meeting is that there are many of the town's largest taxpayers who are not at all satisfied with the action of the board of selectmen in ordering the two buildings in question moved back. The expense of fighting the case through the courts in their opinion would be too great when it is realized that the buildings are not more / than seven inches to a foot over the supposed building line and even then the selectmen are not sure that the Board of Selectmen is divided on the question. It is estimated by some that it will cost the town of Manchester five thousand dollars to carry the case to a finish and there is always the possibility that the town will lose the case.

The buildings in question include the Park Theater building, owned by John F. Sheridan and the one south of it at the corner of Main street and Brainerd Place, owned by E. J. Holl. At this particular place the street is at its widest. No person would ever discover that the buildings were over the supposed line until their attention was called to it.

These buildings have been a bone of contention among members of the Board of Selectmen for several years. The question was up for discussion with the Board some three years ago and was allowed to remain on the table and it would doubtless have remained there for all time had not the make up of the board changed. Some one brought up the question again under the head of unfinished business.

At a special town meeting held in January, at which time the tax was laid, it was brought out that the town was too poor to build side walks this year. The proposition of extending the good sidewalks would be too costly, it was said.

Some of the property owners now believe that it would be better judgment to spend the money in building more sidewalks or improving the side streets in town than to go to the expense of a law suit.

But a majority of the selectmen are willing to spend almost any amount of money in fighting what they call, "a great principle."

These property owners are going to attend the special meeting and be heard on the subject. The meeting will have no power to decide the question but the selectmen and other citizens for and against the propositions will be given a chance to express their views and those who attend will doubtless learn some of the inside facts of the case.
