

TWO HUNDRED GERMAN PRINCES WANT TO TAKE KAISER'S PLACE

Former Crown Prince Sends Telegrams Asking That They Stand by Wilhelm With Their Lives—“Take Us for Him, or With Him,” Says the Message

Berlin, July 9.—Several hundred German Princes will present themselves before an allied tribunal and demand trial for the acts for which the ex-Kaiser is accused, if the idea of Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, of Lippe, is carried out.

The Prince, who is now residing at Frankfurt-on-the-Oder, has sent telegrams to all German princes, simultaneously with the offer of Prince Eitel Friedrich, son of the ex-Kaiser, to substitute himself for his father, for trial in London.

Allies Seek Revenge.

“German impotence,” wired Prince Friedrich Wilhelm, “has brought on self disarmament and has given our enemies a chance to satisfy their thirst for revenge with greedy manifestations which demand our emperor, who, until recently they envied.

“The degradation they want to bring on him also strikes us. Shall we stand aside when the emperor treads the path of sorrow? It can not, must not be. We German princes, who stood close to him in the good times, followed him in war, and in peace and carried the sword which was also his, we now stand by him, calling out to our enemies: ‘Take us for him, or with him.’

Stand by Kaiser.

“German cousins, that is my call to you. Let us prove that German faithfulness still lives. It was a true oath we swore him for which so many of our blood, leading our brethren, died before the enemy. Let us now in upholding German princely honor stand by the Kaiser with our lives.”

Prince Eitel Friedrich today refused to add anything to the statements he made, offering to place himself at the disposal of the allies as a substitute for his father.

“American correspondents must seek elsewhere,” he said over the telephone from Potsdam.

A Monarchist organization called “The League of German men and women for the Protection of the Personal Liberty of William II.” has sent an open letter to the ex-Kaiser urging him to return to Germany, concluding with the Latin phrase: “Ave imperator mortui tunc salutantique.”

MASTER PLUMBERS SAY U. S. IS STEALING MEN

Government Agents Offering Them 33 1-3 Per Cent More Wages Than the Bridgeport Scale.

Bridgeport, July 9.—Local master plumbers are complaining bitterly because government agents are hiring away their men for work on housing projects in New London, offering 33 1-3 more wages than the scale here. The government is paying $1 an hour in New London, while contracts here are based on a wage scale of 75 cents an hour.

The housing project in New London was delayed during the war by a controversy over alleged bad plumbing that was to be installed in the houses. A compromise has been reached and the work now is going ahead.

Expect Plane Today.

Mineola, L. I., July 9.—Piloting the Martin bombing plane which is to make the flight from Mineola to the Pacific Coast, Captain Roy N. Francis, of the United States Army, left Dayton, Ohio, at 10.30 today on a non-stop flight to Hazelhurst Field, near here. A message from Dayton said Captain Francis expected to make the trip in five hours. Upon Francis' arrival preparations will be made at once for the trans-continental flight.

STRONG WINDS DELAY RETURN TRIP OF R-34

Major Scott Says He Hopes to Start Back Tomorrow Morning.

EVERYTHING NOW READY

Giant Airship Being Filled With Gas and Finishing Touches Put to Machinery.

Mineola, L. I., July 9.—After remaining aloft 150 feet throughout the night, the British dirigible R-34 was hauled back to earth at day-break today and mechanics gave her a final looking over in preparation for her start back to the British Isles tomorrow morning.

Unfavorable Winds.

Major G. H. Scott, the airship's commander, said he hoped for an abatement before night of the unfavorable winds that caused the R-34 to postpone her departure this morning, but that he was quite certain he would get away before six o'clock tomorrow morning, regardless of the weather.

Can't Take Risks.

“The dirigible has now been lying in the open four days—exposed to the danger of being badly damaged or destroyed, he said. This is the first time any of our big airships have remained unhoused for that length of time. The R-34 cost $2,500,000 and we must not take unnecessary risks by staying here longer than is absolutely necessary.”

Getting Ready for Trip.

Only a light breeze was blowing over Roosevelt Field today, the weather was fine and there was little likelihood of any trouble with the airship. For a few minutes last night the R-34 again got out of hand when the contraction of hydrogen gas as the night wind grew cool caused her stern to drop earthward. Two of the crew, who were standing watch all night aboard the airship, threw out water ballast and she righted herself.

Throughout the night the R-34 continued to take on gas in preparation for tomorrow's journey.

TWO KILLED, SCORE HURT AT BIG CHICAGO STRIKE

Over 1,000 Employees Quit Work—150 Shots Exchanged—Situation Graved Today.

Chicago, July 9.—Armed guards are patrolling the plant of the Corn Products Refining Company at Argo today where a strike of more than 1,000 employees late yesterday flared into a riot in which two persons were killed and more than a score were injured. Fighting ceased after a battle in which more than 150 shots were fired but the situation today is considered extremely grave.

Special deputies have been sworn in to reinforce the police and volunteer guard at the plant and 100 guards are on duty today. Plans have been made to rush additional guards to the plant should there be a further outbreak. The possibility of calling out state troops also has been considered in the event of additional trouble.

Two Men Killed.

John Wutack and Mike Marcinik, strikers, are the two who were killed. Six persons suffered all the casualties, none of the guards or officers being injured.

The rioting started, according to the most authentic reports, when a mob of strikers menaced an enclosed automobile in which Miss Elizabeth Horgan, a special nurse at the plant, was riding. Charles Johann, chief of the guards at the factory, came to her assistance and was felled with a brick. Other guards rushed to aid him and a shot was fired.

100 GO OUT ON STRIKE AT YALE-TOWNE PLANT

Want Eight Hour Day and 25 Per Cent Increase in Wages.

OVER 4,000 EMPLOYEES

Strikers Say More Will Quit Tomorrow—Company Offers Men 20 Per Cent Increase.

Stamford, July 9.—About 100 of the 4,000 employees of the Yale and Towne Manufacturing Company went out on strike today following the failure of the representatives of the employees for an eight hour day and a 25 per cent increase in wages. The matter was considered for two days by the council composed of representatives of the men and of the company. The men held out for eight hours and finally reduced their demands for increase in pay from 35 to 25 per cent.

The company today posted notices that the employees would receive 20 per cent increase on all hourly and piece work and that the workday would be nine hours, that all overtime would be paid at the rate of time and one half and that Sunday and holiday work would be compensated at double time rate. This amounts to five hour reduction in the working week and 20 per cent increase in wages.

According to the strikers, more men are expected to join the strike.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES ASK WILSON TO SAVE SERVICE

Say Working Standards Have Dropped and Experienced Men Are Quitting to Work Elsewhere.

Washington, July 9.—An appeal to President Wilson to save the postal service from a “complete breakdown” has been made by the National Federation of Postal Employees, its secretary, Thomas F. Flaherty, announced today. The postal working standards, the President was told, “have fallen so far behind the average prevailing standards of employment that experienced men are quitting the service and new men can not be induced to fill their places.”

This acute shortage of man power, Flaherty asserted in his protest, has resulted in a slowing up of the mail service and caused a great economic loss to mail patrons.

WARSHIPS FOR PACIFIC WILL SAIL ON JULY 19

Expect to Arrive On Coast August 5-10—Wilson to Reach There About the Same Time.

Washington, July 9.—The date of departure of the Pacific Fleet for the Pacific Coast has been definitely set for Saturday, July 19, and it is expected to arrive between August 5 and 10, Secretary Daniels announced today. The date originally had been set for July 17, and was changed following a conference with Rear Admiral Hugh Rodman, who will command the fleet. The secretary also stated that it is now practically certain he will be able to make the trip upon one of the vessels. It is also understood that President Wilson's itinerary would be arranged so as to bring his arrival on the coast simultaneous with that of the fleet.

EX-KAISER GUARDED.

London, July 9.—All possible steps have been taken to prevent the escape of the ex-Kaiser, A. Bonar Law, government leader in the House of Commons, announced in Parliament this afternoon.

STRIKE IN ITALY.

Rome, July 9.—The threatened general strike in Italy over the high cost of living has been averted by the 50 per cent reduction of prices of foodstuffs, it was declared today. There has been much disorder and pillaging, especially in the north.

FAMOUS LAWYER HIRED TO DEFEND HARRY NEW

Reports Say Senator Will Pay All Expenses at Trial.

AUTOPSY HELPS YOUTH

Verifies His Statement That He Offered to Marry Sweetheart and She Refused.

Los Angeles, July 9.—An elaborate defense will be prepared to save Harry S. New, Jr., said to be a son of United States Senator New, of Indiana, from the gallows for the murder of his 20-year old fiancée, Miss Freda Lesser, in Aopango Canyon, early Saturday morning.

Noted Lawyer Hired.

A lawyer of national fame, it is said, will be employed to fight for the life of New. The money for this attorney, according to unverified reports, will come from a man close to Senator New and direct from the Senator's pocket book.

Autopsy Helps New.

Although New stands charged today by a coroner's jury with having shot and killed his sweetheart, Attorney John Richardson, the prisoner's counsel, declares the autopsy performed upon the body of Freda Lesser yesterday and which proved that she was to become a mother, has helped New's case immeasurably.

New's first statement was that he shot Freda Lesser when she told him she had seen a nurse, a friend, who would have an operation performed to prevent her from becoming the mother of his child. This corroboration of New's first story as the reason for his act, will be used, it is said, to prove that the girl's declaration temporarily unbalanced New's mind.

Had Offered Marriage.

New, it will be shown, placed his sole hope for happiness in the girl whom he alleged was to bring him a baby and he had offered marriage and pleaded with the girl to immediately become his wife. Her refusal drove him to worse than desperation, it will be said.

THAW VISITS CABARETS; WON'T STAY IN ASYLUM

New York Officials at Harrisburgh to Extradite Millionaire—To Be Tried in New York.

New York, July 9.—Allegations that Harry K. Thaw, who supposedly is incarcerated in an asylum making the rounds of Philadelphia cabarets will be made at Harrisburgh today at the public hearing on District Attorney Swann's request for Thaw's extradition to this state, it was learned here. That he is wanted here on the complaint of Frederick Gump, a Kansas City boy, whom he accused of mistreating.

According to the officials of the district attorney's office, Thaw was accompanied by a lawyer on his visits to the cabarets and theatres.

The extradition request was signed by Governor Smith and two assistant district attorneys are in Harrisburgh to represent New York.

YEGGS BLOW SAFE.

Waterbury, July 9.—Covering the safe with blankets and sweaters so as to muffle the sound of the explosion, yeggmen committed a daring burglary in the store of the Coco Cola Company at 449 West Main street here last night or early this morning. The safe was blown to pieces and the burglars got away with $186. The police believe it was the work of professional crooks as they did their work so cleverly that no one in the vicinity heard them. Four men were later arrested this morning on the charge of suspicion.

RIOTS IN HANOVER.

Berlin, July 9.—(Via London, July 9)—A state of siege was declared at Hanover today as a result of fighting in which several persons were killed. The railways, which were tied up by a strike, are resuming operations.

Wilson Will Present Treaty To U. S. Senate Tomorrow; Says Public Will Approve It

President is Given a Hearty Ovation When He Reaches Nation's Capital

Washington, July 9.—Although it was long after midnight when his “welcome home” had ended, President Wilson was working at his overloaded desk in the White House soon after eight o'clock today. He had disposed of a large amount of personal and official correspondence even before any of the force of the executive offices put in an appearance. It was expected that the President would devote practically all of the day clearing up urgent matters calling for his personal attention.

The President's greeting when he arrived at the National Capital was the most spontaneous ever accorded him. Although his train arrived two hours after schedule, the crowd not only waited but was augmented until, when he arrived, there were 100,000 persons crowded in the concourse of the Union Station and the station proper also was jammed.

Washington, July 9.—The issues in the German peace treaty with its accompanying constitution for the proposed League of Nations were joined today. With President Wilson back in the White House the advocates of the treaty had leadership at last. The opening gun for the ratification will be fired tomorrow. President Wilson himself will tell the Senate, and as many members of the House as can be accommodated in the chamber, just why, in his opinion, the treaty must be ratified.

In Hands of Printer.

The President's message and the complete official treaty went to the printer today. Both will be laid on the desks of the Senators tomorrow immediately after the President ends his address.

The message, those in the President's confidence who have had opportunity to read it, say, is a master piece. In fact, some of the President's most enthusiastic advisers characterized it today as the greatest of his state papers.

Throughout the message is declared to be absolutely free from criticism of its author's opponents. It is designed, it was stated today, to lay the foundation for full and free discussion of the work of the American Commission to negotiate peace.

Contains 5,000 Words.

The message is something more than five thousand words in length. Starting off with an explanation of the difficulties that were encountered in reconciling the diverse interests represented in Paris it explains that there was evidence at all times that the peoples of the world were looking to the United States for guidance. The President makes it plain that the world has depended on America to assist it in “getting back to work.”

Tribute of the highest sort is paid to the great work of the American army and navy. As in his speech in Carnegie Hall, New York, the President extols the valor and dignity of the American warriors who turned the tide of battle and stemmed the onward rush of the great German military machine, making possible its complete shattering.

The Treaty in Detail.

The President then takes up the treaty itself in detail. He declares in open, plain terms that everywhere in the conference it was the consensus of opinion that only through the creation of a League of Nations could a stable peace be established. He recites many of the complex problems that have been raised which could not be settled under present conditions and which of necessity had to be referred to the League of Nations to be worked out. He asks that the treaty be accepted in its entirety and ratified as speedily as possible in order that the United States shall not be held back in assuming its place in the commercial world under the new conditions that now are prevailing.

Throughout, the measure is declared, by those who have seen it as conciliatory in tone, although talking square issue with those who believe the reservations to it can be made. Friends of the President declared today that he believes when all of the facts are known, the opposition to ratification will break down of its own weight. It also was declared today in white house circles that the President believes the people will completely endorse his position so soon as they know all of the facts.

GERMANY IS GETTING READY TO PAY WAR INDEMNITIES IMPOSED ON HER

PLANS FOR KAISER TRIAL HAVE NOW FALLEN FLAT

Publicity Given to Names of Other Offenders Will Make It Hard to Get Them Now.

London, July 9.—“It is now plain at Westminster and admitted by all hands that the plans for the trial in London of the ex-Kaiser has fallen flat,” wrote the Lobby correspondent of the Daily News today. “There is no disguising the embarrassment in ministerial circles. It is feared the publicity given the names of other offenders will jeopardize the chances of bringing them to trial.”

Lord Charles Beresford contributes a letter to the Times today on the same subject.

“I earnestly hope that on second thought the public will see the rocks and shoals ahead and will not persist in the desire to try the Kaiser in London,” he wrote.

The Daily Express says it is possible that Captain-Lieutenant Kaiserwetter, now in custody in the Tower of London, may be released, on the ground that he held a safe conduct issued by the French at the time of his arrest aboard a Dutch steamer at Falmouth, despite the fact that the Admiralty has proof that he commanded the German submarine which sank a hospital ship.

GERMAN NATIONAL PARTY WANTS TO SAVE KAISER

To Make Eleventh Hour Appeal—Two Brief Paragraphs to Ratify the Peace Treaty.

Welmar, July 9.—The German national party will propose in a resolution tomorrow that before the National Assembly ratifies the peace treaty, it make a provision that Germany will not surrender the ex-Kaiser for trial before an international commission.

The bill for ratification of the peace treaty is composed only of two brief paragraphs. It follows: “Article One—The treaty of peace between Germany and the allied and associated powers, signed June 28, 1919, and the protocol belonging thereto, as well as the agreement concerning military occupation of the Rhineland are hereby approved. “Article Two—This law is effective from date of publication.”

PRINCE OF WALES COMING.

London, July 9.—The Prince of Wales, heir to the English throne, will sail for Canada on August 8, it was announced today by John W. Davis, American ambassador to Great Britain. The prince is expected to arrive in Washington October 1. The prince will be a guest at the White House, but will not accept any invitations to private functions, it was stated.

ONCE RICH, NOW POOR.

New York, July 9.—George W. Rector, formerly proprietor of one of the most famous restaurants in the world here, is reduced to living on an income of $1,500 yearly and running his own diner, according to his own statement, made in reply to his wife's suit for alimony.

WILSON WILL PRESENT TREATY TO U. S. SENATE TOMORROW

Meanwhile, the President will remain in Washington for at least two weeks. He will be available to any Senator or Senate committee, that desires to consult him. His proposed western tour will not start much before the latter part of this month, if then.

Domestic Problems.

While the President is here he will devote himself to domestic problems. There was a growing belief in Administration circles today that cabinet changes are impending. Gossip was rife with the names of at least four members of the present official family who, it was declared, probably would soon retire. Some will go for political reasons; others will go for at least ostensibly for business reasons, because they are unable to live on their salaries. And the men who believe that these changes are impending also declared today that the successors to the men who will retire will be men of great prominence who have been material factors in the winning of the war and the writing of the peace.

AWAY SEVEN MONTHS.

Washington, July 9.—When President Wilson walked down the gangplank of the United States Naval transport George Washington Tuesday afternoon he ended a trip marked by more precedent breaking than ever before in the history of the nation characterized the Administration of its chief executive.

The President had not alone visited Europe, but he personally participated in the drafting of the treaty of peace which had ended the war with Germany. That document he brought back with him and will present it to the Senate within 48 hours.

Whether the document is a satisfactory one to Congress; to the Senate which must approve it by a two thirds vote of its membership, and to the people of the United States generally is something yet to be determined.

President Satisfied.

But it can be stated officially that the President himself is satisfied. He does not regard the treaty as a perfect document. But he does believe that it marks a long step forward, and that it will, when its contents are explained and analyzed, receive the approval of the people.

The President, it is known, believes that the treaty follows even more closely than he had anticipated, when the diverse interests of the nations involved are considered, the fourteen points of peace outlined by him in his original peace message to Congress. Persons close to the President today declared the treaty accomplishes the following facts:

Germany Must Pay.

First, compels Germany to pay the costs of her folly in initiating the war to the utmost of her ability, while at the same time protecting her from bankruptcy that would inevitably have followed had she been forced as Great Britain, and France originally intended, to assume the entire cost of the war.

Second, furnishes a medium to avoid future wars through the creation of the much controverted League of Nations.

Third, restores to France Alsace-Lorraine, wrested from her by the Prussian empire in 1871.

Fourth, Liberates peoples who had heretofore only dreamed of liberty in the persons of the new republics created in Europe, including Poland, Czech-Slovakia, etc.

The Defense Pact.

In addition to the treaty with Germany the President will submit to the Senate a treaty arranged between France, Great Britain and the United States, whereby the two latter powers are to agree, should Germany again threaten France, to come to the latter's assistance without waiting for action by the League of Nations. This treaty was agreed to as the result of the insistence of Premier Clemenceau of France but there is grave doubt expressed in many American quarters whether it will appeal to the people of the United States. There is a general feeling among the Americans in Europe that this undertaking will never be ratified by Congress.

In Europe 7 Months.

With the exception of the week that he spent in Washington meeting the constitutional requirements for the end of the last Congress, the time required for travel back and forth, the president has been in Europe nearly seven months. He left New York for Brest on December 3, last. During his absence he visited, and was the guest of King George, of Great Britain, King Victor Emmanuel, of Italy and King Albert, of Bel-

INJURES LEG TRYING TO GET ON TROLLEY

William T. Perrett of 29 Edgerton street sustained a fracture of the left leg last evening when he boarded a Manchester bound trolley on Center street. He was taken to the Salvation Army citadel where the fracture was reduced by Dr. N. A. Burr. Mr. Perrett was later removed to his home where he is resting comfortably today.

Mr. Perrett sustained a similar injury about three years ago at Cheney Brothers where he was employed. In this particular case Mr. Perrett was standing on a step-ladder engaged in oiling a pulley shaft. The ladder caved in and he was thrown to the floor.

Although he injured his left leg he paid no serious attention to the injury until one day he complained of the limb being sore and after receiving medical attention at the mill started for home. When he reached the corner of Main and Myrtle street, his left leg gave a sudden snap and the attending physician pronounced it a fracture.

The leg had troubled him in the past and particularly during the last few days. Last evening he boarded the car and just stepped on the platform when it fell him again.

Circle Theater

Toby Watkins is the all-around drudge on his uncle's farm—a twenty acre patch of black mud entirely surrounded by mortgages. This is the opening sentence from Julien Josephson's scenario, "String Beans", which serves to introduce Charles Ray in his next Paramount Picture which will be shown at the Circle theater tonight. In highly condensed form it presents a vivid picture of the story's opening scenes.

Toby Watkins is the sort of country boy, brave, humorous and thoroughly human, that all Charles Ray's admirers like to see him portray. It is the sort of character that has made the Ray pictures sure-fire offerings from the exhibitor's point of view. But Toby Watkins is no ordinary boy. He is imaginative and somewhat dreamy, and every night when his day's work is done he goes to his room and takes out a book that he has bought by mail, "What Every Young Poet Ought to Know." For Toby is ambitious to be a writer.

The scenes of the story change to a country newspaper office where Toby goes in search of opportunity. This part of the story is developed with realism and charm by the author, Julien Josephson, who was formerly a country editor himself, and who writes of that life with delightful sympathy.

It is stated, that Ray's handling of the role of Toby Watkins will rank as one of the best screen portrayals. Excellent support is provided by Jane Novak, John P. Lockney, Donald MacDonald, Al Filson and Otto Hoffman. Victor Schertzinger directed and Chester Lyons was the photographer.

Also tonight there will be a new release comedy.

Tomorrow and Friday the big feature will be "A Romance of the Air."

Park Theater

"They had just been married, the minister had but a few moments before said the words that made them man and wife. He was waiting for his bride to join him so they might start on their honeymoon. Softly she came down the stairs, stole up to her husband, looked over his shoulder and saw—the photograph of another woman with words of love written on it. Then followed twelve years of misery for her. Was she to remain true to her husband and let him do as he pleased or was she to do as she pleased or was she to get what pleasure she could out of life? This is the absorbing sort of a plot that is unfolded in 'Wives of Men', starring beautiful and talented Florence Reed."

"Wives of Men" was shown for the first time last evening at the Popular Playhouse and made so great a hit that tonight ought to see the Park packed to capacity. This is a great play. Ask those who saw it. It is the most sensational screen success shown this year. When it played last week at Meriden it packed the theater for six days.

Tomorrow's feature will be Beasts Barrassale in "Josselyn's Wife."

Of the approximate 10,000 Japanese in the Philippine Islands are said to be merchants.

Opens Vaudeville Career in Cincinnati—Get Challenge.

Cincinnati, July 9.—A crowd of more than 20,000 saw Jack Dempsey, new heavyweight champion of the world, open his vaudeville career here by boxing three rounds, showing the kind of blows he used to put Willard out at Toledo. Dempsey will close his engagement here Saturday night and leave for Salt Lake City to visit his mother. He will spend a week in Salt Lake and then leave to join a circus in the east.

Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, said last night that he had received an offer for a bout between Dempsey and George Carpentier, French champion, in Paris, but will insist that Carpentier meet Dempsey in America.

WORKS 35 YEARS FOR A UNIVERSITY DEGREE.

Eugene, Ore., July 9.—After thirty-five years Miss Anna Coffin, of Seattle, will complete her university course at the University of Oregon here this year.

WONDERS OF PROHIBITION.

Vincennes, Ind., July 9.—This is sworn to be a true story. W. A. Daffron, a Knox County farmer, caught a thirty-five pound catfish in White River. He brought it to Vincennes to be dressed. At the market a small catfish weighing two and one-half pounds was removed from the interior of the big fish. Inside the smaller catfish was a five-inch minnow. Daffron says the two and one-half pounder gobbled up the minnow and the thirty-five pounder gobbled up the other two.

TAGGING THE BASES

The Giants tightened their slipping grip on first place by driving Willie Doak, the Cardinals' pitching ace, to the showers. Rube Benton had his hooks working. Cincinnati helped the Giants hang on to the lead by splitting even with the Braves.

Hendrix didn't want to lose to the Phillies so he poled a homer and that ran gave the Cubs victory.

The fans are looking up in Brooklyn today. Zach Wheat drove the Dodgers into fourth place with a four base wallop that beat the Pirates.

The Indians found Koob easy and won the only American league contest of the day.

FRANCIS McCaughey IS GRADUALLY RECOVERING

Physicians Hold Out Hope for His Recovery—Take X-Ray Photos of Head.

Francis McCaughey of Laurel Place, who was injured in an automobile accident near New Haven Saturday night, is reported to be resting comfortably. His condition seemed somewhat improved yesterday, when his daughter called at the hospital. An X-Ray picture taken of his head, showed a slight fracture on the upper part of the skull. A second picture was to be taken today to determine whether there is a fracture at the base of the skull. Mr. McCaughey recognizes his relatives and friends and the hospital physicians say if no complications develop he will recover.

ROCKVILLE YOUTH DIES IN HARTFORD HOSPITAL

Erwin Waltz Passes Away After Fatal Blow From Ramrod of Exploding Cannon.

Erwin Waltz, the Rockville youth who was injured last Wednesday when a Fourth of July cannon into which he was ramming powder exploded and drove a six inch ramrod through his head, died yesterday afternoon at the Hartford hospital. The lad had made the cannon at the Trade School here and was filling it with powder from the firecracker when the fatal accident occurred. The ramrod was driven into his head with such force that it penetrated his skull from front to rear.

For a time it was thought, that he might possibly recover as he seemed to improve after an operation had been performed. He was a junior at the Rockville High school and was studying to be a machinist at the Trade School here. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Waltz, a sister, Doris and a brother, Homer. He was a nephew of Gus Waltz of this town.

MRS. SKEELS ILL.

Nurse Accused of Murder is in a State of Nervous Collapse.

Lawrence, Mass., July 9.—Mrs. Bessie May (Skeels) Lundgren, the "Sunshine Nurse", was near death at her home today. For five days, since the frail little woman was acquitted by a jury of the charge of having poisoned her patient Miss Florence W. Gay, she has been in bed in a state of nervous collapse. She refused to take food, saying she had no desire to eat. Her husband today engaged a specialist to assist the family physician in saving the life of the "Sunshine nurse". It has been deemed unwise to tell the patient of the warrant which now awaits her at the local county jail charging her with poisoning her brother, Albert J. Wilkins, of Bayonne, N. J.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare. In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form. In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar. This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

Text Of President's Speech After Hearty Welcome Home

Says He Was Homesick Man in Europe—Praise for American Soldiers in France—Declares Opponents of Peace Treaty "Have Looked Too Much Upon the Ground."

President Wilson, after his triumphant parade here today, spoke to a great audience in Carnegie Hall as follows: Fellow Countrymen: I am not going to try this afternoon to make you a real speech. I am a bit alarmed to find out how many speeches I have in my system undelivered, but they are all speeches that come from the mind, and I want to say to you this afternoon only a few words from the heart.

You have made me deeply happy by the generous welcome you have extended to me, but I do not believe that the welcome you extend to me is half as great as that which I extend to you. Why, Jerseyman though I am, this is the first time I ever thought that Hoboken was beautiful. I have really, though I have tried on the other side of the water to conceal it, been the most homesick man in the American Expeditionary Force...

I do not say that because I lack in admiration of other countries. There have been many things that softened my homesickness. One of the chief things that softened it was the very generous welcome that they extended to me as your representative on the other side of the water. And it was still more softened by the pride that I had in discovering that America had at last convinced the world of her true character.

I was welcomed because they had seen with their own eyes what America had done for the world. They had deemed her devoted to material interests, and they had seen her boys come across the water with a vision even more beautiful than that which they conceived when they had entertained dreams of liberty and of peace.

Pride in Soldiers. And then I had the added pride of finding out by personal observation the kind of men we had sent over. I had crossed the seas with the kind of men who had taken them over, without whom they could not have got to Europe; and then when I got there I saw that army of men, that army of clean men, that army of men devoted to the high interests of humanity, that army that was my glory to point out and say, "These are my fellow countrymen."

It softens the homesickness a good deal to have so much of home along with you, and these boys were constantly reminding me of home. They did not walk the streets like anybody else. I do not mean that they walked the streets self-assertively. They did not. They walked the streets as if they knew that they belonged wherever free men lived, that they were welcome in the great Republic of France and were comrades with the other armies that had helped to win the great battle and to show the great sacrifice.

Because it is a wonderful thing for this Nation, hitherto isolated from the large affairs of the world, to win not only the universal confidence of the people of the world but their universal affection. And that, and nothing less than that, is what has happened.

Wherever it was suggested that troops should be sent and it was desired that troops of occupation should excite no prejudice, no uneasiness on the part of those to whom they were sent, the men who represented the other nations came to me and asked me to send American soldiers. They not only implied, but they said, that the presence of American soldiers would be known not to mean anything except friendly protection and assistance. Do you wonder that it made our hearts swell with pride to realize these things?

But while these things in some degree softened my homesickness, they have made me all the more eager to get home where the rest of the folks live; to get home where the great dynamo of national energy is situated; to get home where the great purposes of national action were formed, and to be allowed to take part in the councils and in the action which were to be taken by this great Nation, which from first to last has followed the vision of the men who set it up and created it.

For Freedom and Right. We have had our eyes very close upon our tasks at times, but whenever we lifted them we were accustomed to lift them to a distant horizon. We were aware that all the peoples of the earth had turned their faces toward us as those who were the friends of freedom and of right, and whenever we thought of national policy and of its relation upon the affairs of the world, we knew we were under bonds to do the large thing and the right thing. It is a privilege, therefore, beyond all computation for a man, whether in a great capacity or a small, to take part in the councils and in the resolutions of a people like this.

The Opposition. I am afraid some people, some persons, do not understand that vision. They do not see it. They have looked too much upon the ground. They have thought too much of the interests that were near them, and they have not listened to the voices of their neighbors.

I have never had a moment's doubt as to where the heart and purpose of this people lay. When any one on the other side of the water has raised the question, "Will America come in and help?" I have said, "Of course America will come in and help." She cannot do anything else. She will not disappoint any high hope that has been formed of her. Least of all will she in this day of new-born liberty all over the world fail to extend her hand of support and assistance to those who have been made free.

The Yoke Thrown Off. I wonder if at this distance you can have got any conception of the tragic intensity of the feeling of those peoples in Europe who have just had yokes thrown off them. Have you reckoned up in your mind how many peoples, how many nations, were held unwillingly under the yoke of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, under the yoke of Turkey, under the yoke of Germany?

These yokes have been thrown off. These peoples breathe the air and look around to see a new day dawn about them, and whenever they think of what is going to all that day with action, they think first of us. They think first of the friends who through the long years have spoken for them, who were privileged to declare that they came into the war to release them, who said that they

Anniversary Celebration

Editorial

The success of an institution does not depend entirely upon the number of years it has been in business, but upon the service it has rendered during that time.

It was 22 years ago when the J. W. Hale Company opened this store. Those of you who remember that far back need not be told of the unpretentiousness of that occasion. Year by year it has grown. Not only in volume of business, but in the confidence of the people.

You have made this 22nd Anniversary Celebration possible by your patronage and we know of no better way to show our appreciation than to set aside 10 days for profit-sharing with those who have made this celebration possible.

SIGNED,

F. H. Anderson

We trust the low prices we have quoted on reasonable merchandise will speak for themselves in showing our practical appreciation.

SOUTH MANCHESTER, CONN.

Vilna, Crazy and Starving by Hand Of Bolshevik, Finds Self Unable to Resist Power of Heartless Profiteers

BY CECIL CHESTERTON.

Vilna (by mail).—I arrived here after thirty-six hours' travelling. The city is wrecked from artillery fire. When Russia was still in the fighting line the Vistula was prosperous and gay. Now it is desolate, the people being without fuel and food. Motionless figures sit on the pavement, stupefied from sheer hunger.

Since my entry troops of the Polish Army have been sharing their rations with the population. It may be little, but for a starving people it means much.

On my arrival I found unheard of prices being asked for food. A pound of bread cost thirty roubles—that is, nominally. Rotten eggs cost $25, a pound of sugar $8.25, a pound of meat $7.50, butter $37.50. Nearly all restaurants were closed, but in one still open I paid $25 for a dinner of soup and coarse meat. I asked for a piece of cake, but was told it would cost $25. I was glad that I brought my own provisions from Warsaw, according to a friend's advice.

To quote a particular case. A doctor, not badly off, goes to the country to see his patients. They pay him by produce. He gets for his advice and medicine eggs, butter and bread. Certain people learned what was happening, and a lady of very good family came to see him.

She fainted before she began to speak, and the doctor gave her food. She revived a little, but burst into tears, saying that she came not for herself, but to beg some food for her mother, who was dying from starvation.

An acquaintance of mine who was lucky enough to obtain a piece of leather took it to a shoemaker, asking him his price to make a pair of shoes. The shoemaker replied: "A loaf of bread."

It is much easier to obtain goods for bread, cheese and butter than money, even gold.

Money has brought further confusion. A part of the Polish Army had five kinds of currency in circulation—roubles of the Czar's period, which have the highest value; roubles of the Kerensky Government; roubles printed by the Germans during their occupation, and roubles circulated by the Bolsheviks, which have no value at all. The Bolsheviks are able to print all kinds except German, as they are in possession of the original paper and blocks.

This allowed them to rob the helpless population. They paid their accounts in their own money, which has no value abroad, while duties and taxes had to be paid in the Czar's money, which is still exchanged in foreign countries. Russian letter stamps are still used instead of small coins to prevent speculation. The Polish authorities have published an official table of values.

Meanwhile the Bolsheviks have plenty of food amid the misery. All the members of the party now known as the Communists were drawing large salaries. A soldier of the militia draws $2,500 a month, while classes exist even more privileged in San Gorges Hotel. The restaurant there is opened only to commissaries. Communist leaders are admitted to a dinner of four courses, costing $3.75, half the cost. The manager of the hotel told me that the Russian Government paid the difference thus spending enormous sums for the benefit of selected people. This is a characteristic trick of Russian Communists.

The inhabitants of Vilna tell me that there is now more corruption than even in the time of the Czar. Bribery will secure everything. Freiden, an influential Bolshevik at Vilna, received bribes of several hundreds of roubles for an introduction, without guaranteeing that he would grant a request for a life passport, or even a smaller favor.

Just before the Polish Army occupied Vilna the Bolsheviks achieved acme of oppression. They decided to arrange a Beggars' Day on May 1. Every inhabitant was ordered to go out of his house, leaving the door open. The Bolsheviks were then allowed to go into the houses and take anything they liked. Following this robbery, the unfortunate people were not allowed to return home any more. An official notice directed them to houses in another part of the town, thus preventing them from hiding any objects of value. The number of deaths from exposure was considerable.

I understand that the entry of the Polish Army sent the populations almost mad with delight. My old housekeeper's son joined the Bolshevik militia, otherwise they would have had nothing to eat. He arrived home stating that the Polish troops were fighting the Bolsheviks. The mother thought him mad, and when she discovered the truth, fell down dead from joy.

After a severe fight the Bolsheviks were driven from Vilna and retreated to the other side of the river, where they began to rob houses. An old man bolted the door, which they were unable to break open. They started a fire, intending to burn him out. At that moment the Polish troops appeared and saved his life. All were not so fortunate. In a neighboring house a married couple were murdered in a revolting fashion.

In another house which the Bolsheviks looted they decided to put the whole family to death. One of them, a Jew, shouted to his comrades: "Do not stain your noble hands with unworthy Jewish blood."

By this trick he saved the lives of the Jewish family.

Boy scouts played a brave part in the Polish attack under a rain of bullets.

When I arrived Vilna still had stains of blood on the streets. There were heaps of shattered glass and mutilated houses, but the Bolsheviks were already far away.

SHORT SKIRTS ARE BAD FOR BOTH MORALS AND HEALTH.

Aberdeen, Wash., July 8.—"Educate women to wear longer dresses" is the purpose of a resolution passed here by the Gray's Harbor, W. C. T. U. in annual convention. Present six, favor the standard of morals and are not conducive to health, is the attitude adopted by those in session.

Plans for the campaign of education were formulated and the workers are urging women to dress "more reasonably."

SHORTAGE OF HIDES.

New York, July 8.—There is a world shortage of hides and for this reason, chiefly, shoes are to be from $3 to $4 per pair higher, according to officials of the National Shoe Dealers' Exposition, which is in session here. All foreign countries, it was declared, must come to America for shoes and this has created a demand that is another factor in the high cost of footwear.

TWO SETS OF TRIPLETS IN LESS THAN TWO YEARS.

Leavenworth, Pa., July 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Snyak, married less than two years, have six children—two sets of triplets. The combinations in both cases were the same, two boys and one girl. Of the last set, the boys each weighed five pounds and the girl five and a half pounds.

OFFICER'S GOOD MEMORY NETS ESCAPED PRISONER.

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—Some time ago, Leo Mullin, lieutenant of the Kansas City police force, went to Leavenworth and visited the United States Disciplinary Barracks there. He saw, among the other prisoners, the members of the prison band.

While standing on a downtown corner the other day Mullin saw a man approaching. "When did you quit playing in the prison band?" questioned the officer.

"Oh, a week ago," replied the man, as he attempted to walk away. The officer, however, held him for investigation and learned he was an escaped prisoner, Hugo C. French, who had taken "French leave."

QUICK WIT SAVES CASH.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—Two men in army uniform and carrying revolvers entered the restaurant of Charles Anderson here. While one of the men "covered" Anderson and Calvin Estes, a customer, the other started for the cash register. Anderson killed out:

"Wait a minute, mister; here's some money. Go get something to eat."

The man halted a moment, then accepted the money and fled with the other robber close behind.

ROOSTER ACTS AS PROPHECY.

Chillicothe, Mo., July 9.—L. A. Martin, a farmer near here, has a rooster that is worth considerable as a prophet. Early in the Spring the rooster tried to "sit" on a certain piece of corn land, and according to Martin, this was a sign there would be three floods. Martin refused to plant his corn at the usual time.

Sure enough, three floods came, and after they had passed Martin planted his corn. The other farmers, who planted at the regular time, lost their crops.

CURES I. W. W. BY MARRIAGE.

Wichita, Kan., July 9.—It remained for a Kansas girl to discover how to cure an I. W. W. Joseph Gresbach, arrested here in connection with propaganda distribution, was held by the police. His sweetheart-besought him to give up the work, and finally agreed to marry him if he did so. The wife announced the marriage a week after it occurred, and told about the agreement. Gresbach seems perfectly happy.

GOES FROM OFFICE BOY TO G. P. A. IN ELEVEN YEARS.

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—This city boasts one of the youngest—if not the youngest—general freight agents in the person of Guy A. Patterson, of the Kansas City Terminal Company. Mr. Patterson, who is just thirty-one, has been with the company for more than eleven years. In that time he has risen from office boy to his present position.

AGED WARRIOR ALIVE.

Junction City, Kan., July 9.—John Allen, sixty-four, who two years ago made a trip in a box car from this city to New York to enlist in the army, is not dead as reported. He expects to return to this city as soon as he is mustered out of the service.

Allen wrote to friends here, from London, where he is staying at the home of a brother, whom he had not seen for forty years, that he was alive.

BATHES IN RED PAINT.

Sapulpa, Okla., July 9.—P. L. Rose, an engineer for a gasoline company here, became suddenly demented, terrorized his fellow employees at the power house for some time and then went out of the building and took a bath in red paint. He was taken in charge by county officers and later Sheriff Abe Bruce took him to the State hospital at Norman. He still showed evidence of his bath when he went to Norman.

Firemen Are Called Out for Third Time Within Week.

LOSS WILL REACH $2,000

Block on Spruce Street Gutted—Store and Contents Total Loss—Origin a Mystery.

For the third time in less than a week, the east side companies of the South Manchester fire department were called out at 1.15 this morning by an alarm from Box 53 at Spruce and Oak streets.

This morning's fire was in the block owned by Joseph and Rebecca Saidella of Cottage street and located on the East Side of Spruce street, just north of Oak.

The fire apparently started in the secondhand store and either worked up through the partitions to the attic or up the front of the building. The roof was burned considerably, while there was no fire in the tenements in the rear of the store.

Mr. and Mrs. Saidella's loss is covered by insurance, as is that of Pietro Balliano, Joseph Antonio did carry insurance, but his policy ran out about six weeks ago and he had neglected to have it renewed.

COURT ORDER FORBIDS BOARD OF SELECTMEN FROM CUTTING BLOCK

E. J. Holl Gets Injunction to Halt Proposed Removal.

BOARD HAD VOTED TO CUT AWAY BUILDING'S FRONT

Judge Case Grants Injunction—Selectmen Will Attempt to Have Ban Lifted.

William S. Hyde, acting as attorney for Edward J. Holl, has secured an injunction restraining the selectmen from cutting back the building on Main street, between Pearl and Bissell, owned by Mr. Holl to conform to the building line, which the selectmen allege to be the true and legal line.

The injunction was granted yesterday by Judge William S. Case of the Superior Court of Hartford County. It is returnable on the first Tuesday in September but is not likely to come up for action before November or December.

The injunction describes the property in question and recites the facts that have led up to the present contest. It tells how, on August 1, 1909, the selectmen voted to restore and define Main street boundaries which had been lost or which were uncertain.

As a result of this, a map was made showing these boundaries, including the one now in question, and duly endorsed and approved. It was then made a part of the town land records.

Section 10 of the injunction goes on to state that on January 5, 1910, the board of selectmen drew up a written description of the building lines along Main street and this also was made a part of the records of the town. The written description was supposed to conform to the map and to describe the lines as therein shown, but in the case of the east line of Main street, between Pearl and Bissell streets, and in front of the property described in the injunction, the line described is not the same as that shown on the map but is somewhat further east.

At a recent meeting of the selectmen it was voted that the chairman of the board, Aaron Johnson, be authorized to employ experienced carpenters and proceed to remove that portion of the Holl and Sheridan properties which project beyond the alleged building line. The injunction, granted yesterday, enjoins the selectmen not to do this under penalty of $500.

On July 21 the selectmen will appear before Judge Edward Smith and give him their reasons for refusing to call a special town meeting on the building line question. This is in response to a writ of mandamus which was recently served on the board ordering them to call such a meeting or to appear in court and render sufficient reasons as to why it should not be called.

Should the arguments of the selectmen fail to convince Judge Smith he will undoubtedly order a town meeting called at which the voters of the town will have a chance to express their wishes in the building line controversy.

BIG LUMBER MOVEMENT STARTS FROM NORTHWEST. Seattle, Wash., July 9.—The greatest single lumber movement in the history of the fir industry is the movement of 45,000,000 feet of railroad ties from the Pacific Northwest to the United Kingdom, which started June 20 and will continue until early fall. Thirty wooden vessels have now been placed in this service by the U. S. Shipping Board, twenty of which will carry 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 feet. The ties have been bought by British interests for reconstruction in England and other Western European countries. This order leaves the Shipping Board with but little tie-wood tonnage. There is a general lumber famine in Australia, and it is said that more than 4,600 houses are standing in an unfinished condition.
