PRESIDENT PROMISES TO CO-OPERATE WITH SENATE IN TREATY ADDRESS

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE, AT NOON, WAS 700 MILES FROM START

Is Speeding Eastward at More Than Sixty Miles an Hour—If Speed is Kept Up R-34 Will Reach London at Noon on Saturday.

New York, July 10.—Speeding eastward at the amazing speed of more than 66 miles an hour, (57.7 knots), the big British dirigible R-34 was more than 700 miles from her starting point, Mineola, L. I., shortly before noon, wireless dispatches from her forward gondola indicated.

Throughout the early morning hours she was heading a course almost directly east of the southern coast of Rhode Island. If she maintains her present rate of speed she will reach London in slightly more than 51 hours, arriving over the British capital at noon, London time, Saturday.

Start of the R-34.
New York, July 10.—The British dirigible R-34, which sailed away from New York on the return trip to the British Isles at 1.20 this morning is speeding up the Atlantic Coast at 48 knots an hour and has already traveled more than than 300 miles of her homeward voyage.

At 4 This A. M.
At 4 o'clock this morning the big airship was nearing the island of Martha's Vineyard, four miles south of the Massachusetts mainland, according to a wireless message received by the British Air Ministry. She had then covered about 175 land miles and was heading toward Barnstable County, the projecting point of the Massachusetts coast.

Started at Midnight.
The official time of the R-34's start from Roosevelt Field at Mineola, was exactly midnight. Major Scott had planned to get away at about 4 o'clock this morning, but another urgent message from Washington last night gave warning of the approach of a storm of considerable intensity from the Great Lakes.

Scott decided to take no chances and ordered the crew to make the airship ready for departure at once.
American On Board.
Provisions were taken aboard and all hands were ordered "on ship" at 11.12 p. m. Colonel William N. Honsley, the American observer, who is making the return trip, was one of the last aboard. At 11.55 the engines were started. Two minutes later the cables that held the air giant to earth were released and five minutes later the R-34, with the white ensign of the British navy at her tail and the Stars and Stripes flapping from her forward gondola soared away toward New York City.

New Yorkers Anxious.
New Yorkers had been apprised of her coming half an hour before by announcements in restaurants, hotels and all public places where crowds were still gathered. They stormed into Times Square and other great open places while searchlights swept the skies, waiting to pick up the trans-Atlantic airship.

The New Course.
Major Scott, the dirigible's commander, has mapped a course that takes the airship in a northeasterly direction off the Atlantic coast, to the 52nd parallel, when the R-34 will swing eastward and head directly for Fastnet, on the southwestern tip of Ireland, proceeding from Fastnet to Paulham, a suburb of London.

At her present rate of speed the

TWO KILLED, 30 INJURED IN ROME STREET FIGHTS

General Strike Declared—Many Shops Closed—Riots in Other Cities.

Paris, July 10.—Advices to L'Information today said that two persons were killed and thirty wounded in an outbreak of fighting in Rome, following the declaration of a general strike. Many shops were pillaged.

Troops with machine guns were posted about the central telegraph office. Rioting again broke out in Brescia and Palermo, where 100 ringleaders were arrested.

COTTAGE ST. PLAYGROUND TO HAVE FREE MOVIES

Program Will Be Given Every Wednesday Evening—Crowd of 500 Last Night.

Open air movies are to be given free at the Cottage street playground every Wednesday evening. The first of these entertainments was held last night when 500 gathered before the screen at the playground to see a varied program.

Capt. Philip Cheney contributed the motion picture machine and the films and will continue to do so during the summer, or until the Recreation Committee purchases a machine of its own.

Walter Olson, who is in charge of the playground, operated the machine at last evening's entertainment.

SENATE WILL RATIFY TREATY, SAYS WILSON

President So Tells Newspapermen in First Interview Since His Return—Is Very Happy.

Washington, July 10.—The Senate will ratify the peace treaty in the opinion of President Wilson. He made this very plain today in his talk with the newspaper correspondents, the first that he has had since the United States entered the war.

The President also made it plain that with the ratification of the treaty by the German National Assembly at Weimar the blockade of Germany automatically came to an end. From now on Germany will be allowed to trade freely under the system of credits that have been adopted by the Supreme Economic Council.

President Happy.
The President was in an unusually happy frame of mind and seemed supremely confident that the work of the Paris peace conference will be fully satisfactory to the people of the United States. While it is not permitted to quote what he said, there was no doubt of the impression that he left with the correspondents to whom he talked freely and frankly. He declined to answer a number of purely hypothetical questions dealing with what might happen when the League of Nations actually is organized. However, he insisted that the Senate would ratify the treaty and it was very plain that he expects the ratification to include the original document.

A law has recently been passed in Uruguay which places stock companies operating in that country under the supervision of the general inspection of banks and stock companies.

AUSTRIANS' REPLY TO ALLIES' TERMS NOW MADE PUBLIC

Says New State is in Sympathy With League of Nations.

ALL PARTIES UNITED UNDER PRESENT RULE

Communication States That Nations Along Danube Need League to Maintain Order.

Paris, July 10.—The Austrian reply to the allied peace terms and the allied reply to the Austrian statement, were made public here today.

G. K's the League.
The Austrian communication, signed by Dr. Renner and addressed to Premier Clemenceau, first assured the allies of the sympathy of the new state of German-Austria for the idea of the league of nations. It points out that the present Austrian government is founded on Democratic parties, the Social Democrats and Christian Socialists, representing the working classes and the peasants, who under the old imperial regime could never realize their political aims.

Can't Keep Peace.
The Austrian delegation recalls that the nations along the Danube seem to find it almost impossible to keep peace among themselves, and declares that "it is the general league of nations which can and must be substituted as a power representing supreme order."

BOLSHEVISTS TAKE 200 PRISONERS AND 8 GUNS

Are Advancing On Archangel Front—British Are Withdrawing Troops.

London, July 10.—The Bolshevik government announces that their troops have started to advance north of the Dvina River on the Archangel front in a wireless dispatch from Moscow picked up here today. There has been fierce fighting around Pouchne in which the Bolshevik forces captured 200 prisoners and eight machine guns, the radiogram added.

A recent London cablegram said that the British had begun to withdraw their forces from northern Russia.

TO RATIFY TREATY.
London, July 10.—The committee on foreign affairs of the Bavarian diet has decided to follow the action of the German National Assembly by ratifying the peace treaty unanimously, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam today.

EBERT HAS SIGNED.
London, July 10.—A News Agency dispatch from Berlin today said, that, according to the Vorwaerts, President Ebert has signed the resolution ratifying the peace treaty. The document was then immediately sent by special courier to Versailles, the dispatch added.

ALECK SMITH DEAD.
New York, July 10.—Alexander "Broadway Aleck" Smith, who won fame as a catcher with the old Superbas in the late nineties and with the Giants in 1901, is dead at his home here today. Smith was 46 years old. Death was due to an attack of heart trouble.

Our War Bills Are Cut To 18 Billion Dollars

Washington, July 10.—The gross cost of the war to the American people was $30,177,000,000, according to preliminary figures presented to Congress today by Secretary of the Treasury Glass.

This total probably will be cut by at least 40 per cent when loans to the Allies and amounts invested, such as those for ships, for the War Finance Corporation, the railroads and farm loan bonds, are returned. Loans to the Allies aggregate $9,102,000,000.

Just what the return will be from shipbuilding investment is not known, but it will be safely over $1,000,000,000, to be realized from sale or charter of the Government fleet.

The War Finance Corporation and the railroads, with the investment in farm loan bonds, runs approximately $2,000,000,000 more. This will leave a net cost to the American people for one year and seven months of active war of approximately $18,000,000,000.

Just what could be accomplished constructively with such a fund is almost beyond imagination. It was figured here today that it would improve all of the highways of the country, the waterways, railroads and public roads to a point nearing perfection.

American Experts Explain League of Nations Clauses

(Copyright, 1919, by the I. N. S.)
Washington, July 10.—Seven subjects are dealt with in the economic clauses of the treaty with Germany. They include every problem that has grown out of the war. Outstanding, however, is the fact that the American economic experts refused to make the United States a party to an arbitrary division of indemnities or of seized property.

Instead the United States is the only nation subscribing to the treaty with rights reserved to its law making body—Congress—the right to dispose of all property acquired from Germany. As a result the American Lusitania claims, and the claims growing out of the sinkings of American merchantmen as well as the claims resulting from the submarine raids of the Atlantic Coast by German submarines, can be adjusted by Congress itself.

Economic Subjects.
The seven subjects deal with the economic sections of the treaty are as follows:

First—Commercial relations between the allied and associated powers on the one hand and Germany on the other hand, including matters relating to nationality, exportation and importation and property rights of Nations of the allied and associated governments in Germany.

Second—Treaty relations with Germany, how they are to be resumed, etc.

Third—Readjustment of debts among nationals of the Allied and associated powers on the one hand and German national on the other.

Fourth—The disposition of private property which has been sequestered in the Allied and associated powers and Germany.

Fifth—The legal effect and the adjustment of contracts concluded prior to the war between nationals of the Allied and associated powers on the one hand and German national on the other.

Sixth—A mixed arbitral tribunal to pass upon claims against Germany for property injured or seized in Germany and function in connection with the adjustment of debts.

Seventh—Rights in relation to industrial property and literary and artistic property in the Allied and associated countries and in Germany. The economic provisions so far as they refer to commercial relations provide through stipulations favored national treatment by Germany to the Allied and associated countries. Free entry for a limited period are accorded to goods originating in Alsace-Lorraine, in German territory ceded to Poland and in Luxembourg. Favored national treatment is accorded fishing vessels of the Allied and associated powers in German territorial waters. Germany must suppress false markings and wrappings and protect Allied and associated trade

Lays Treaty Before Senate—Declares U. S. Sought Only to Protect Right and Liberty—Disaster Threatened Allies Just Before U. S. Entered War—Pays Remarkable Tribute to Army—Speaks of Cross Currents of Politics—Applause from Opposition Senators Lacking.

Senate Chamber, Capitol, Washington, July 10.—The United States Senate today was given complete power to finish the task of ending the war with Germany. President Wilson, fresh from the peace conference at Paris, laid before the Senate the complete text of the document signed by the German delegates and the representatives of the allied and associated powers at Versailles.

Until that document is ratified, or rejected, the technical state of war will continue.

The President raised the issue of the League of Nations in clear and unmistakable terms. He told the Senate that the peoples of the world "bled white" wanted a permanent peace. He warned that if the League of Nations was not created and its future assured "there must be another and a final war and the world must be swept clean of every power that could renew the terror."

The President reviewed the changed attitude of the European statesmen toward the League and then demanded: "They saw it as the hope of the world and that hope they did not dare to disappoint. Shall we or any other free people hesitate to accept this great duty? Dare we reject it and break the heart of the world?"

Will Co-operate With Senate.
The President was listened to earnestly. When he declared that his services and all the information he possessed dealing with the treaty was at the disposal of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate the advocates of ratification nodded their approval.

No Applause From Knox.
Senator Harding of Ohio, and Sterling of South Dakota, were among the Republicans, who applauded the President from time to time. Other Republican Senators, like Knox, of Pennsylvania and McCormick, of Illinois, were among the Senatorial opponents of the League of Nations who did not join the applause.

The President's tribute to the part that America's "moral force" played in the struggle was greeted with cheering and applause. It was a continuation of the applause which had greeted him as he took his place in front of the Vice President's chair.

The President read his address from small typewritten cards and his voice was firm and carried to the remote portions of the chamber.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.
Washington, July 10.—The text of the President's address follows: "Gentlemen of the Senate:—The treaty of peace with Germany was signed at Versailles on the 28th of June. I avail myself of the earliest opportunity to lay the treaty before you for ratification and to inform you with regard to the work of the conference by which that treaty was formulated.

A World Settlement.
"The treaty constitutes no less than a world settlement. It would not be possible for me even to summarize or to construe its manifold provisions in an address which must of necessity be something less than a treatise. My services and all the information I possess will be at your disposal and at the disposal of your committee on Foreign Relations at any time, either informally or in session, as you may prefer; and I hope that you will not hesitate to make use of them.

"I shall at this time, prior to your own study of the document, attempt only a general characterization of its scope and purpose.

His Report.
"In one sense, no doubt, there is need that I should report to you what was attempted and done at Paris. You have been daily cognizant of what was going on there—of the problems with which the peace conference had to deal, and of the difficulty of laying down straight lines of settlement anywhere on a field on which the old lines of inredoubtable soldiers and marines had already closed the gap the enemy had succeeded in opening for their advance upon Paris—had already turned the tide of battle back towards the frontiers of France and began the rout that was to save Europe and the world. Thereafter the Germans were to be always forced back, were never to thrust successfully forward again. And yet there was no confident hope. Anxious men and women, leading spirits of France, attended the celebration of the Fourth of July last year in Paris out of generous courtesy—with no heart for festivity, little zest for hope. But they came away with something new at their hearts; they have themselves told us so. The mere sight of our men—of their vigor, of the confidence that showed itself in every movement of their stalwart figures and every turn of their swinging march, in their steady comprehending eyes and easy discipline, in the indomitable air that added spirit to everything they did—made everyone who saw them that memorable day realize that something had happened that was much more than a mere incident, in the fighting, something very different from the mere arrival of fresh troops. A great moral force had sprung itself into the struggle. The fine physical force of those spirited men spoke of something more than bodily vigor. They carried the great ideals of a free people at their hearts and with that vision were unconquerable. Their very presence brought reassurance; their fighting made victory certain.

WILSON PLACES TREATY IN HANDS OF SENATE

"They were recognized as crusaders, and as their thousands swelled to millions their strength was soon to mean salvation. And they were fit men to carry such a hope and make good the assurance it forecast. Finer men never went into battle; and their officers were worthy of them.

Proud of Americans.
This is not the occasion upon which to utter a eulogy of the armies of America sent to France, but perhaps, since I am speaking of their mission, I may speak also of the pride I shared with every American who saw or dealt with them there. They were the sort of men America would wish to be represented by, the sort of men every American would wish to claim as fellow countrymen and comrades in a great cause. They were terrible in battle, and gentle and helpful out of it, remembering the mothers and the sisters, the wives and the little children at home. They were free men under arms, not forgetting their duty in the midst of tasks of violence. I am proud to have had the privilege of being associated with them and of calling myself their leader.

Typical of America.
"But I speak now of what they meant to the men by whose side they fought and to the people with whom they mingled with such utter simplicity, as friends who asked only to be of service. They were for all the visible embodiment of America. What they did made America and all that she stood for a living reality in the thoughts not only of the people of France, but also of tens of millions of men and women throughout all the toiling nations of a world standing everywhere in peril of its freedom and of the loss of everything it held dear, in deadly fear that its bonds were never to be loosened, its hopes forever to be mocked and disappointed.

Duty of Delegates.
"And the compulsion of what they stood for was upon us who represented America at the peace table. It was our duty to see to it that every decision we took part in contributed, so far as we were able to influence it, to quiet the fears and realize the hopes of the peoples who had been living in that shadow, the nations that had come by our assistance to their freedom. It was our duty to do everything that it was within our power to do to make the triumph of freedom and of right a lasting triumph in the assurance of which men might everywhere live without fear.

Entanglements Everywhere.
"Old entanglements of every kind stood in the way—promises which governments had made to one another in the days when might and right were confused and the power of the victor was without restraint. Engagements which contemplated shy dispositions of territory, any extensions of sovereignty that might seem to be to the interest of those who had the power to insist upon them, had been entered into without thought of what the peoples concerned might wish or profit by; and those could not always be honorably brushed aside. It was not easy to graft the new order of ideas on the old and some of the fruits of the grafting may, I fear, for a time be bitter. But, with very few exceptions, the men who sat with us at the peace table desired as sincerely as we did to get away from the bad influences, the illegitimate purposes, the demoralizing ambitions, the international councils and expedients out of which the sinister designs of Germany had sprung as a natural growth.

The Basis of Peace.
"It had been our privilege to formulate the principles which were accepted as the basis of the peace, but they had been accepted, not because we had come in to hasten and assure the victory and insisted upon them, but because they were readily accepted to as the principles to which honorable and enlightened minds everywhere had been bred. They spoke the conscience of the world as well as the conscience of America, and I am happy to pay my tribute of respect and gratitude to the able, forward-looking men with whom it was my privilege to co-operate for their unflinching spirit of co-operation, their constant effort to accommodate the interests they represented to the principles we were all agreed upon. The difficulties, which were many, lay in the circumstances, not often in the men. Almost without exception the man who led had caught the true and full vision of the problem of peace as an indivisible whole, a problem, not of mere adjustments of interest, but of justice and right action.

Hopes of Small Nations.
"The atmosphere in which the conference worked seemed created, not by the ambitions of the strong governments, but by the hopes and aspirations of small nations and of peoples hitherto under bondage to the power that victory had shattered and destroyed. Two great empires had been forced into political bankruptcy, and we were the receivers.

"Our task was not only to make peace with the central empires and remedy the wrongs their armies had done. The Central Empires had lived in open violation of many of the very rights for which the war had been fought, dominating alien peoples over whom they had no natural right to rule, enforcing, not obedience, but veritable bondage—exploiting those who were weak for the benefit of those who were masters and overlords only by force of arms. There could be no peace until the whole order of central Europe was set right.

New Nations Created.
"That meant that new nations were to be created—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary itself. No part of ancient Poland had ever in any true sense become a party of Germany or of Austria, or of Russia. Bohemia was alien in every thought and hope to the monarchy of which she had so long been an artificial part; and the uneasy partnership between Austria and Hungary had been one rather of interest than of kinship or sympathy. The Slavs whom Austria had chosen to force into her empire on the south were kept to their obedience by nothing but fear. Their hearts were with their kinsmen in the Balkans. Those were all arrangements of power, not arrangements of natural union or association. It was the imperative task of those who would make peace and make it intelligently to establish a new order which would rest upon the free choice of peoples rather than upon the arbitrary authority of Hapsburgs or Hohenzollerns.

Linked Against Their Will.
"More than that, great populations bound by sympathy and actual kin to Roumania, were also linked against their will to the conglomerate Austro-Hungarian monarchy or to other alien sovereignties, and it was part of the task of the peace conference to make a new Roumania as well as a new Slavic state clustering about Serbia.

"And no natural frontiers could be found to these new fields of adjustment and redemption. It was necessary to look constantly forward to other related tasks. The German colonies were to be disposed of. They had not been governed; they had been exploited merely, without thought of the interest or even the ordinary human rights of their inhabitants.

Peoples Cry for Freedom.
"The Turkish empire, moreover, had fallen apart, as the Austro-Hungarian had. It had never had any real unity. It had been held together only by pitiless, inhuman force. Its peoples cried aloud for release, for succor from unspeakable distress, for all that the day of hope seemed at last to bring within its dawn. Peoples hitherto in utter darkness were to be led out into the same light and given at last a helping hand. Undeveloped peoples and peoples ready for recognition but not yet ready to assume the full responsibilities of statehood were to be given adequate guarantees of friendly protection, guidance, and assistance.

A Great Opportunity.
"And, out of the execution of these great enterprises of liberty sprang opportunities to attempt what statesmen have never found the way before to do; an opportunity to throw safeguards about the rights of racial national, and religious minorities, by solemn international covenant; an opportunity to limit and regulate military establishments where they were most likely to be mischievous; an opportunity to effect a complete and systematic internationalization of waterways and railways which were necessary to the free economic life of more than one nation and to clear many of the normal channels of commerce of unfair obstructions of law or of privilege; and the very welcome opportunity to secure for labor the concerted protection of definite international pledges or principle and practice.

To Set Precedent.
Washington, July 10.—President Wilson was today to set a precedent by presenting the treaty of peace to the Senate in an open session. No other President in the history of the United States has ever before discussed a treaty in open session. The stage was set in the capitol for the epoch-making event. Early this morning crowds began to gather to witness the proceedings, but for the most part they were unsuccessful in getting past doorkeepers, admission to the Senate galleries being by ticket only. Tickets were distributed by Senators to their friends and many Senators' offices were stormed today by those desiring admission to the galleries.

To Leave at Noon.
President Wilson was to leave the White House about noon, and proceed to the Senate wing of the capitol and await in the President's chamber announcement that the Senate was ready to hear him. The Senate was to be called into session at 12 o'clock and prayer offered by the chaplain, Rev. Forest J. Proffman, who was to ask divine guidance for the Senate and the chief executive in the work it was about to undertake.

The usual morning business was to proceed in the Senate until 12:15. Met by Committee.

At the appointed hour of 12:15 Vice President Marshall was to announce the presence of the President of the United States and the reception committee, consisting of Senators Lodge, of Massachusetts, Borah, of Idaho, McCumber, of North Dakota, Hitchcock, of Nebraska, and Williams, of Mississippi, was to proceed to the President's chamber, notify the chief executive that the Senate awaited him and then escort him down the center of the Chamber.

Vice President Marshall, as president of the Senate, was to receive the President and announce to the Senate the purpose of the visit. The President will speak from a small rostrum erected by the desk of the reading clerk of the Senate.

TRY HIM ANYWHERE.

When Lloyd George announced that the trial of the Kaiser was to take place in London some members of the American peace conference said that they were unaware of any such plan and for a time it looked as though something approaching a storm might arise on the international horizon.

Since the landing of the President all such misgivings have been dissipated. The President says he was fully aware of the Lloyd George plan, that he consented to it, and that in fact he had himself been instrumental in bringing it about by refusing to consent to have the Emperor tried in Washington.

It is flattering to have it thought that a greater measure of justice could be obtained in our capital than in those of European nations, but, manifestly, Washington is too far from the place of the crime for the convenient and efficient conduct of so great a trial. Aside from a universal desire to see the responsibility for the inhuman violations of international law fairly fixed, the world is anxious to know who is to blame for the initial acts which precipitated the conflict. All this will require the presence of many witnesses and innumerable documents from Europe. With a court composed of the foremost jurists of the allied nations there is no compelling reason why the trial should be held in this country.

There seems to be an apprehension on the part of European nations that some day William of Hohenzollern may become the idol of certain classes such as Napoleon I, did and that the city where he is tried will be regarded as a place of tyrannical persecution. None of our Allies seem anxious to have the court convene within their borders.

We believe this is an unwarranted apprehension. Not till we have seen monuments erected to Judas Iscariot and holidays in honor of the birth of Nero will we credit tales of the popularity of William Hohenzollern.

As we have previously remarked, where the Kaiser is tried makes little difference. The thing to do is to catch him, place him in the prisoner's dock and call the court to order.

PENNY WISE.

We may expect to see some impressive statistics furnished us by the present Congress showing the millions they have been able to save the nation and of course implying that the least we can do is to render votes for value received.

When this time comes, it will be well to remember that the army has suffered severely in the economy efforts at Washington. With the eyes of the world turned to the wonderful feats of air planes and dirigibles and with Great Britain appropriating $11,000,000 for the construction of a single type of air craft it is amazing that our government should have seriously crippled our air service by stinting its appropriation. The motor transport and the tank service have also been severely hit by the wave of economy and it is reported that 23,000 temporary officers who have applied for permanent commissions will have to be dismissed.

This is a short sighted policy and, in the end, is poor economy as well.

MEAT PROFITEERING.

We call special attention to an article published on this page. It is from an official document prepared by the Office of Information of the Department of Agriculture and issued under the authority of Clarence Ousley, acting secretary. The situation therein described merits the attention of every household.

If the farmers and stock raisers are getting hardly enough to meet expenses and the buying public is still paying war time prices the question naturally arises as to where the money is going.

It has always been supposed that the so called laws of supply and demand would keep at least a reasonable relation between the price of a product and the ease with which it could be obtained.

The Department tells us that there is no longer need for meat conservation, that the supply is plentiful and that while Europe is no longer receiving the former vast shipments of meat from us, production is as great or greater than it was while hostilities were continuing.

Such a situation would bring an appreciable drop in the price paid by the consumer were there not some obstruction to the natural working out of economic processes. Somebody is making a fortune if the government's statements are facts.

THIS MAN DID NOT EXPLOIT HIS GOVERNMENT.

A gentleman from Detroit, writing about Henry Ford, said this: "The government gave the Ford organization the contract for making cylinders for Liberty motors; the estimated cost was $19 each. The Ford organization made them so fast and so good that the whole job was handed over to them and when the work was completed they were billed to the government at $8.25 each, saving hundreds of thousands of dollars."

This statement is so different from business transactions that most men and firms had with the United States government that the editor of the Commercial Appeal wrote to ask if it was really true. Here are the facts:

The Ford people were approached early in the Liberty engine campaign and asked to take a contract for cylinders. At that time a contract had been placed with a concern in the east for these cylinders at $19 each. The experimental cylinders which were originally made were drilled from solid blocks of steel and cost about $40. The Ford people took a contract for 400,000 cylinders at $8.25 each. The company proceeded to design jigs and dies and the cylinders were forged. When this contract was completed the Ford people received another contract for $8.25. The firm returned the contract and stated that the price should be $8, which would let the company out, in spite of the fact that labor and material had rapidly risen. The cost of the changes and extra equipment was charged off in the first contract.

At the time of the armistice Ford had manufactured 69,000 cylinders at a cost of $8 each. Thus the Ford firm was able to save the government $11 a cylinder, or $5,000,000 on the contract.

The government usually paid $1,200 for caissons. The Ford firm took a contract for 9,300 and billed them to the government at less than $600 each.

The Ford firm sold to the government 29,000 Ford motor cars of different styles and types at a discount of 15 per cent. off of the regular price.

We presume the Ford Company made a fair profit on all of these undertakings, but in these two instances the government saved $10,000,000 on its contract.

If other firms in the country and other individuals had dealt with Uncle Sam as did the Ford Motor Company our supplies for the war would have cost us about 50 per cent. of the actual amount paid out.

We hope when the next war comes on that men of Henry Ford's ideas of integrity will be scattered all over this country.

A BUDGET SYSTEM.

The great debate on the quadrennial topic, Resolved, that a Republican is more economical than a Democrat, opens with heavy artillery. Representative Fess boasts that the Republicans in twenty-four days cut $1,095,000,000 from the major appropriation bills that the Democrats wished to pass last session, a saving "of $46,000,000 a day". Any one with enough ciphers in his pencil can figure out what four years of Republicanism will save. Claude Kitchin, expert on economy, comes to the rebuttal with sweeping denials and counter-assertions. The one thing certain is that while in previous campaigns economy boasts and reproaches dealt in millions, in 1920 they will deal in billions. Meanwhile, does either side pay attention to its best debating point? On Saturday the Senate adopted a proposal for a commission, to consist of five Senators, five Representatives, the Secretary of the Treasury, and two Presidential appointees, to bring in a plan for a budget system. The party in 1920 which has done most to obtain that system will have an achievement on which it can gain the voters' attention.

When this time comes, it will be well to remember that the army has suffered severely in the economy efforts at Washington. With the eyes of the world turned to the wonderful feats of air planes and dirigibles and with Great Britain appropriating $11,000,000 for the construction of a single type of air craft it is amazing that our government should have seriously crippled our air service by stinting its appropriation. U. S. Has Plenty of Meat; Conservation Time Is Over Government Urges Public to Disregard Meat Saving Practices—Price to Consumer is High While Producer is Losing Money—Why Is It?

The Department of Agriculture issues the following statement: With meat prices to the consumer so high that he is denying himself, and with the prices for live stock, especially beef and lambs, so low to the producer that he is actually losing money, the Nation is confronted with a grave problem which requires solution if we are not to suffer a decline in the live stock industry.

It is an anomalous situation. The Department has endeavored to inform itself on the subject, and after conference with Senators and members of the House who represent live-stock producing regions and who also feel deep concern for the welfare of consumers, deems it important to give to the public certain outstanding facts, which may be summarized as follows:

There is no longer need for meat conservation. The supply is plentiful, and patriotic citizens may freely disregard the meat-saving placards which are still displayed at many eating places.

Europe needs our surplus pork, but is filling its beef requirements by importations from South America and Australia. Prices of beef cattle have fallen sharply since March 1 on account of the stoppage of exports for Army use, and a slack demand for beef at home, due to the continuation of beef conservation under the mistaken idea that such conservation is still necessary to feed the people of Europe. Beef producers who sell their products at this time are confronted with the danger of heavy financial losses which would tend to restrict production and cause a serious shortage in future.

The United States will never have a satisfactory and permanent solution of the problem until the manufacture, sale and distribution of meat products are officially supervised by authorized agents of the Government, working in cooperation with State and municipal authorities, whose only aim is to serve the public at large and not any particular class. When the Federal Government is enabled by law to maintain a just supervision over the meat-producing industry that will prevent unfair dealings, speculation and profiteering, by furnishing the public from an unimpeachable source all the facts with regard to the industry, and when the States and municipalities are enabled by law to exercise similar supervision over intrastate and local business, then only can we expect to have fair and stable markets in which producer and consumer alike will have a square deal.

Beef Industry Crisis. Some of the particulars of the situation are as follows: The beef industry in the United States faces a most serious crisis. For a decade before the outbreak of war in Europe farmers and ranchmen had been urged to increase beef cattle production because the industry was not keeping pace with the growth of population. The lowest ebb in production was reached in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914, when we practically ceased to have fresh dressed beef for export, but began to import it from the Southern Hemisphere. The campaign for increased production began to bear fruit with the outbreak of the war and beef again gained volume in our exports. Prices rose and farmers were encouraged to expand their beef-making operations. With the entrance of the United States into the war a vigorous and successful effort was made to increase the supply of meat for our Army, especially beef, by civilian self-denial. Hotels and restaurants, at the request of the Government, reduced the size of their beef portions and regularly left beef off their menus. Private families by thousands, did likewise. Farmers and ranchmen exerted themselves to the utmost at great risk in order that our soldiers and sailors could have the best food that skill and loving care could produce. The result is history. From an export of beef and beef products of 151,000,000 pounds in 1914, we exported 590,000,000 pounds of beef and beef products in 1918—almost equalling the great surplus of 1901, when our population was 35,000,000 people less than now. The exports of 1918 were treble the three-year pre-war average.

The war is over. In a little while the presence of American soldiers in Europe will be a memory of noble sacrifices. We must not forget that the principal use for the beef which we shipped over seas in such quantity was for the men in uniform. Europe, short of food though it is, does not need beef from the United States so much as it needs our pork. The stocks of cattle in the most of Europe have not suffered seriously in numbers during the war. Indeed, outside the areas actually overrun by the contending armies, cattle stocks have fairly held their own and in some cases even increased. Stocks of hogs and sheep have suffered much more severely than have cattle. It is also well known that Europe turned to South America and Australia for beef and lamb as soon as shipping conditions permitted. England and Italy are now buying in those markets. The United States, however, is the only large pork surplus nation, and Europe, suffering for fats with her stocks of swine greatly reduced, can consume our pork surplus readily. The beef and lamb now awaiting market on our farms and ranges must, therefore, find its outlet not overseas but at home.

In 1918, for the first time in many years, the production of meat animals gained ground in the losing race with growth of population. This was made possible by the earnest and patriotic efforts of our live stock producers, and unless beef and lamb consumption is now increased to its potential maximum, without needless waste, we are in danger of throwing away the advance we have made under war pressure.

Plenty Ahead. People do not realize that the necessity for conservation of foods, especially meat, no longer exists, except as a matter of reasonable economy and prevention of sinful waste. We have in prospect the greatest wheat crop in our history; we had in 1918 by far the largest production of pork we ever had, as well as a great increase in our beef, lamb and dairy production. Yet one sees everywhere in hotels, restaurants, and dining cars the "Save Food" signs, which were such a vital influence in the successful prosecution of the food campaign and incidentally, the winning of the war. These "Save Food" signs should now be disregarded. Consumers are unconsciously working harm to themselves and to live stock producers by now restricting their consumption of meat.

This situation is a real menace to the farmer and to the consuming public as well. Many cattle raised in response to the demand for meat production for the Army are now maturing, and if marketed on a falling market will cause heavy loss to the producers, with the result that declining production may be expected in the future. Stockmen do not deserve to be penalized for their patriotism, but should be supported by the consuming public in an effort to restore consumption to the normal without delay.

Retail Prices Not Justified. The Department is aware that much of the reason for the hesitation of the average housewife to increase the amount of beef in the family diet is the excessive retail prices which now prevail. These prices are not justified by the wholesale quotations.

Legislation Required. The Department has not the time in this emergency to do more than to present these outstanding facts, but thus presented the facts demonstrate clearly the commanding need for Governmental supervision over the manufacture, sale, and distribution of meat products. Federal supervision of the interstate industry may well be accompanied by State and municipal legislation providing supervision over the intrastate and local industry, to the end that Federal, State and municipal supervision may be correlated for the prevention of unfair dealings, speculation and profiteering by turning to the public from unimpeachable sources all the facts with regard to the industry, from the farm to the table, in order that both producer and consumer may have a square deal.

In addition to presenting these facts in this manner to the American people, the Department is communicating a summary of the situation to Mr. Herbert Hoover who is in charge of the American Relief Administration in Europe, and inviting his advice and suggestion as to measures of immediate relief which may be put into effect here and abroad.

TAGGING THE BASES

Due to defeat by the Cards the Giants today have but a five point lead over the Reds.

Roger Peckinpaugh, the demon American League, swatted himself safely in 28 consecutive games. Slim Sallee, who took the Braves into Camp to the tune of 3 to 1, now has nine straight victories to his credit.

NEGRO SAVES HIS DOG.

St. Louis, Mo., July 9.—Thomas Smith and William Schultz, city dog catchers, were held at bay here when a negro stood behind a shotgun. "Leave that canine alone," shouted the negro when he saw the dog catchers advancing toward the dog. He opened up a barrage with his shotgun and vanished behind the smoke screen. The dog followed.

NOT MUCH INTERESTED IN OLD; WANTS NEW ONE.

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—"Seems to me there was a former suit by these parties," said Judge F. G. Hutchings, in his division of the Wyandotte County Circuit Court, addressing George Carr, a negro who was the plaintiff. "That's correct," replied Carr. "Six years ago I filed suit for divorce in this very court. The case was taken under advisement. I never took the trouble to find out the decision." Judge Hutchinson took the case under advisement again until the records could be looked up to see the disposition of the former case.

PIMPLE LEADS TO SUIT.

Topeka, Kan., July 9.—A pimple on the back of his neck was the basis of a suit filed in the City Court here against Charles Wolff Packing Company by T. J. Donnelly, an employee. Donnelly declares in his petition, that the pimple became infected while working in the plant handling meat, and that he lost wages and had to pay for hospital treatment. He asks $300 damages.

$16,000 YEARLY ENOUGH FOR GIRL, JUDGE SAYS.

New York, July 9.—Pity poor Lorena Carroll! Surrogate Fowler has decided that Lorena, who is nineteen, must try to get along on $16,000 a year. She recently submitted an application to have the amount increased to $22,500 a year because of the increased cost of living. The Court denied the application.

Miss Carroll is the daughter of Joseph D. Carroll, prominent horse man and politician, who died some time ago, leaving his daughter the income from $150,000 until she became of age, when she will get the residue of the estate, which is estimated at $1,250,000.

GIRLS SWIM SCREENED FROM MASCULINE EYES.

Cincinnati, O., July 9.—"For Women Only." This is the sign hung out at Chester Park each Wednesday morning from 7 a. m. until noon. These hours are set apart for the girls to wade and cavort in the swimming pool with their toes bared to the morning sun and with no skirts on their bathing suits to hamper them from doing the Kellerman stunts. Even the manager is to be barred—after all are made to feel at home on the "sands."

THOUSANDS OF CATS ARE HOMELESS BY PROHIBITION.

New York, July 9.—Another of the evils of prohibition has been discovered. Seven thousand cats have been made homeless in New York by the closing up of the saloons, it is estimated. There were well over seven thousand saloons in New York, and outside the fashionable bars in the big hotels, it is estimated that every barroom had its cat, some of them more than one. Now that the saloons are closed the cats are homeless.

PREDICT COFFEE SHORTAGE.

New York, July 9.—Coffee will soon become a luxury to the average consumer, if the predictions of New York coffee merchants come true. A blight in Brazil is said to have destroyed vast fields, which, coupled with the shortage of tonnage for transport, is going to send coffee a great deal higher, according to dealers.

MAY CHRISTEN-SHIPS WITH ORDINARY CIDER.

Quincy, Mass., July 9.—Prohibition has created a problem for ship launching officials of the Fore River and the Squantum Shipyards. Thirty-five vessels are under construction, or soon to be started on, at these works and the "christening fluid" is limited to twelve half-pint bottles of champagne.

Ten submarines and eight merchant ships will soon be ready for christening at the Fore River. The Squantum works have contracts for seventeen more destroyers. "It may be necessary to use apple cider," said an official.

"LONG JOURNEY" IS TO JAIL.

Kansas City, Mo., July 9.—"Mister you're going on a long, long journey," said Allie Rice, a fortune teller to Detective Harry Arthur. "I want company; come with me to police headquarters," Arthur told Allie.

In police court Allie was fined $200 and given a stay on the condition she close up her establishment.

SCHOONER SETS SAIL FOR NEW GOLDEN FLEECE.

San Francisco, Cal., July 10.—Voyaging to the far North in search of a new golden fleece is the "silver ship" Casco, the schooner that bore Louis Stevenson to the South Seas. The Jasons of this expedition derived their hope for gold from Miss Lillian Thrall, who is to become the bride of one of them—identity unrevealed—upon the Casco's return.

The Casco sailed for Siberia bound for the Audis River. Miss Thrall has known of the existence of rich placer beds on the Siberian river for a long time. The men interested organized the Northern Mining and Trading Company. Captain C. L. Oliver, a former navy officer, is in command of the Casco.

MINISTER FASHIONS OWN COFFIN FROM AGED TREE.

Noblesville, Ind., July 9.—The Rev. James Hill, a retired minister, who lives on a farm in the northern part of this county, has just finished the coffin in which he will be buried. It is solid walnut and highly polished. The timber was cut from a tree on his farm which was planted by his grandmother ninety years ago. He has placed the coffin in a local undertaking establishment and it will remain there until the time comes to use it.

GIANTS ISSUE CHALLENGE.

The Giants defeated the Yankees Tuesday night at the four acre lot by the score of 20 to 9. The batteries for the Giants were Robert Boyce pitch, Donnelly catch. The Giants will challenge any team from 10 years old to twelve years old. Manager, Ed. Boyce, 103 Cedar St.

JEWELERS, FEARING ROBBERY, WANT DEATH PENALTY BACK.

St. Louis, Mo., July 10.—Jewelers want the death penalty restored in Missouri.

They fear that with the coming prohibition and the subsequent passing of diamond-encrusted bartenders, bartenders, deprived of what they have long regarded as legitimate prey—will turn their attention to jewelry stores. Many murders, it is pointed out, have resulted from saloon robberies; therefore, the sellers of precious stones are gazing into the future with something akin to fear.

Circle Theater

The Circle theater will have as its guest today and tomorrow one of the most famous aviators that America contributed to the great world war. He is Lieut. Bert Hall, a plucky Kentuckian, who, with William Thaw of New York is all that remains of the original American Escadrille in France, which later became the famous Lafayette Escadrille.

Lieut. Hall was in Paris when the war broke out in 1914. He, with Allan Segar, the lamented poet, Dennis Dowd, "Jimmy" Bach and other Americans enlisted in the French Foreign Legion. He fought in the trenches for six months and then was transferred to aviation work where he rapidly achieved fame as one of the most audacious and successful aces in the Lafayette Escadrille.

Time after time Hall was decorated for daring exploits and perilous missions, always successfully performed back of the German lines. In rapid succession he was awarded the Medaille Militaire, the Croix de Guerre, the Cross of St. George, and numerous other decorations. Marshall Joffre, on several occasions, singled Hall out as one who had performed exceptional feats.

Severely wounded in air battles on several occasions, Hall always came back after comparatively brief stays in hospitals. He rode the embattled air in Champagne, at Verdun, along the Somme fronts, in Russia and Roumania.

Since returning to the United States the lieutenant has been the recipient of distinguished attention, New York tendered him an ovation. In Chicago a couple of weeks ago he was the guest of honor at several large banquets.

The story of "A Romance of the Air" tonight's feature is a thrilling one. By all means come and see this daring aviator in a daring play.

Park Theater

"Josselyn's Wife" the latest production for Exhibitors Mutual release starring Bessie Barriscale, is a powerful drama of complex and emotional elements which will hold the audience tensely waiting for the final climax which resolves for murder mystery and exonerates the innocent victim of a domestic tragedy. This the feature at the Park tonight.

The mystery surrounding the sudden death of Thomas Josselyn is one of the cleverest contrived situations ever shown on the screen, and when the real cause of the old man's death is revealed, the effect is electrical and unexpected.

There is a female "love octopus" in the play who ensnares men and plays with them as a cat plays with a mouse. Lillian Josselyn was a feline enchantress with the lithe and sensuous charm of a panther.

With a temperament of hot ice, she lured on Gibbs Josselyn, her stepson, and caused him to break with his father in a violent quarrel. She played false even with Gibbs, staying at the house of another man the very night she had appointed to see Gibbs.

Love intrigues, heart-breaking experiences of the faithful wife, the mysterious murder of her husband's father, culminating in the conviction of Gibbs as the criminal, followed in rapid sequence in the Long Island mansion. The final clearing up of the murder mystery and the re-uniting of Gibbs and Ellen, make a happy ending to a story of power and emotional thrills.

Also will be shown "The Silent Mystery" a serial and the famous Ford Weekly.

Tomorrow's feature will be a Goldwyn called "Go West, Young Man." Tom Moore is the star.

LARGER CERTIFICATES MEET POPULAR DEMAND

Denominations of $100 and $1,000 to Soon Be On Sale in This State

Hartford, July 10.—War Savings Certificates in denominations of $100 and $1,000 will soon be available for sale in Connecticut, according to announcement made today by the Connecticut War Savings Committee. It is expected by War Savings workers throughout the state that there will be a lively demand for these new certificates as soon as their presence becomes generally known.

War Savings Stamps of the face value of $5 each are convertible into these new certificates, which bear the same rate of interest as the W. S. S., amounting to nearly four and one-half per cent. on stamps purchased during July. Widespread and continued savings and investment in $5 W. S. S. has caused an insistent demand for the issuance of a Government security which would combine the safety and profit of the W. S. S. with greater convenience for the purchaser of larger amounts. The new certificates have been issued in response to that demand, and also to provide a medium for investment of the funds of fraternal organizations, labor unions, and other civic and social units which have signified their willingness to invest their moneys in Government securities.

The $100 certificates are convertible into $1,000 certificates. The $1,000 limit of investment for each individual will be continued.

R. R. PROBLEMS OF STATE BEFORE MANUFACTURERS

At New Haven Luncheon They Will Hear Authorities on R. R. Conditions Speak.

The Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut will have a luncheon and meeting at the Hotel Taft, New Haven, on Saturday, July 12, at 1 p. m. The principal subjects to be discussed will be the railroad problem in its relation to Connecticut industry and pending national legislation of prime interest to manufacturers.

The speakers of the meeting will be:

Mr. Percy R. Todd, general manager of the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad; New England District Manager U. S. Railroad Administration, and former vice-president of the N. Y., N. H., & H. R. R. Mr. Todd will make clear just what the present railroad problem and a proper solution thereof means to the New England manufacturer.

Mr. James A. Emery, legal counsel of the National Council for Industrial Defense and the National Association of Manufacturers, for many years in closest touch with affairs in Washington, and an authority on legislative proposals affecting industry.

Among those invited, besides the manufacturers of the state, are Governor Holcomb, Lieutenant Governor Wilson, members of the Public Utilities Commission and State Board of Finance, E. J. Pearson, Federal Manager of the N. Y., N. H., & H. R. R., officers of Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, and a number of other persons actively interested in industry and the railroads in Connecticut.

SCHOOLBOYS DIE OF PECULIAR SKIN DISEASE.

Salina, Kan., July 10.—With the death of Louis Keyte from an unknown skin disease here, three schoolboys have died. The first death was that of George Isaacs, who lived a week after being stricken. Philip Farrell lived thirty-six hours. Louis was ill four weeks. A fourth boy recovered.

The disease starts with what appears to be a skin hemorrhage, which later turned into spinal meningitis. At first it was thought the disease came from the Y. M. C. A. swimming pool, but investigation disproved this theory.

BROTHERS MEET ON DANCE FLOOR AFTER YEARS APART.

Emporia, Kan., July 10.—The first meeting that Phil Edwards, private in the A. E. F., and his brother Hugh, captain in the A. E. F., had since the war began two years ago, was on a dance floor in Paris a few months ago, according to the story told by them on their return. Private Phil was dancing when it was announced there would be a contest for the best looking man on the floor. Phil looked up, and saw that his brother, Captain Hugh, had been nominated. Hugh won, although Phil declined to say if he voted for Hugh.

"GERMAN ITCH."

Webb City, Mo., July 9.—The "German itch" is the name given a new skin disease which is "going the rounds" here. Local physicians do not know a name for the disease, and it has almost assumed the proportions of an epidemic. Its victims have given it the fancy name for want of a better one.

SUFFS WILL NOT ACCEPT HOLCOMB'S "NO" AS FINAL

Feel That Action of Other States Will Swing Connecticut Into Line.

The refusal of Governor Holcomb to call a special session of the Legislature for the ratification of the Federal Suffrage Amendment is not taken by the Suffragists as final. Work for the special session will continue just as though no such answer had been received, and it is felt that the logic of events will soon convince the Governor that there is an "emergency" calling for such special session.

Ratification has been proceeding rapidly since the amendment was passed by the Senate at Washington on June 4th. In the month between June 4th and July 4th, eleven states ratified the amendment.

A notable fact is the size of the majorities for the amendment. So far the count stands thus—June 10, Wisconsin, Illinois and Michigan. In these three states there were only six dissentient votes and both Senate and House in Michigan ratified unanimously. June 17, New York, Kansas and Ohio. In these three states there were nine dissentient votes. New York and Kansas ratified unanimously in both houses and in Ohio the vote was 73 to 6 in the House and 27 to 3 in the Senate. June 24, Pennsylvania. Here the vote stood 31 to 6 in the Senate and 153 to 44 in the House. June 25, Massachusetts; Senate 34 to 5; House 185 to 47. June 28, Texas; Senate 31 to 3; House 96 to 21. July 2nd, Iowa; Senate unanimous; House 95 to 5. July 3, Missouri; Senate 28 to 3; House 27 to 7.

The total number of states needed to ratify is 26. If progress should continue at the same rate—11 in a month—it would take little more than three months to complete ratification. There are still twelve full suffrage states to be heard from, all of which will ratify unanimously, and there are also many states in which women have either presidential or primary suffrage which will, probably, act favorably.

FAIRIES CAME, BUT NOT ACCORDING TO WISHES.

Boston, July 9.—Six-year-old Alice Plant won't try to play with horses' tails any more. As the result of this pastime she landed in the Relief Hospital, suffering contusions and abrasions of the face.

The child was playing in the stables on Rutherford avenue, Charlestown. Someone had told her that if she plucked a hair from the horse's tail she would be able to catch a fairy. She tried it. But she got no further than an attempt to pluck the horse hair when the animal kicked.

CHILD DIES OF POISON; FATHER TOOK WRONG BOX.

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—Emmett Perkins' infant son was ill. He telephoned a physician, who told Perkins he would leave some medicine at his office. The physician's office was closed when Perkins arrived. He broke in. Taking a box of tablets from a desk he hurried home and gave one of the tablets to his ailing child. The child died. The tablets were poison. Perkins, who is a colored messenger in Governor Lowden's office, got the wrong box.

LINCOLN'S CHAIR ENTERS INTO MARITAL DISPUTE.

Springfield, Ill., July 10.—George B. Lloyd owns Abraham Lincoln's old chair, made and presented to the latter by an ardent friend and hunter a jury in the Circuit Court declares. They settled a dispute between Lloyd and his wife when the latter claimed the chair, fashioned out of elk horns, following a separation. Lincoln gave the prized article to his son, who gave it to Lloyd, and when the Lloyds agreed to disagree in the matter of marital happiness a wrangle over its possession developed. The foregoing court action followed.

WANDERER RETURNS TO BOYHOOD SCENES RICH.

Springfield, Ill., July 10.—Forty years from home, James Laswell was returned for dead. He returned a few days ago to visit relatives whom he believed had died. At the age of seventeen years he pilgrimaged west. Absorbed in a business career he lost track of his brothers, sisters and parents here. Efforts of all to communicate proved futile. Frantically he came back here more to visit his boyhood scenes than anything else and was surprised to find relatives still living in Springfield.

MORE PRINTERS NEEDED.

St. Louis, July 10.—St. Louis employers are urging high schools to turn their attention to the printing business.

The Ben Franklin Club of this city composed of employing printers and men in allied industries, has begun a movement to interest boys.

"The need for apprentices was never so urgent as now," says Oliver Wroughton, secretary of the Graphic Arts Association of Kansas City.

FOR BENEFIT OF CUIT.

(From the Washington Star.) "Education," said Uncle Eben, "is like a gun; helpful and necessary when you're goin' huntin', but mighty dangerous if employed keardless."
