

C. E. BISSELL CITED BY GEN. PERSHING FOR CONSPICUOUS SERVICES

Manchester Man Receives Appreciation of Efficient War Work.

RECOMMENDED D. S. C. BY COLONEL S. G. JONES

Attention of Superiors Attracted by His Methods of Handling Large Bodies of Men.

First Lieutenant Clarence E. Bissell, Cavalry, U. S. A., A. E. F., has been accorded one of the highest of military honors in the form of a personal citation from General John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American Expeditionary Forces. The document which was awarded April 19, of this year from military headquarters is signed in "Jack" Pershing's own hand, and officially reads as follows:

United States Army, A. E. F.
CITATION.
Second Lieutenant,
Clarence E. Bissell, Cavalry.
For exceptionally meritorious and conspicuous services at Base Section Number Three, England.
In testimony thereof and as an expression of appreciation of these services, I award him this—
Citation.

(Signed)
JOHN J. PERSHING,
Commander in Chief.
Awarded on 19 April, 1919.

Lieutenant Bissell whose home is on Woodbridge street, enlisted in Boston the week of the declaration of war by the United States. He was sent to the first officers' training camp at Plattsburg, N. Y., commissioned a second lieutenant of cavalry on August 14, 1917, and assigned to duty with Company C, 104th United States Infantry.

He was ordered overseas October 4th, 1917, and was assigned to convalescent duty, because of a serious illness which confined him to a hospital for five months, October 28th, 1917, to March 14, 1918.

Lieutenant Bissell was put on detached service from his regiment in April, 1918 by a special order. After recovering he was never allowed to join his regiment, but was on convalescent duty in the A. E. F. from October 4, 1917, to March 8, 1919. It was his efficient handling of over 20,000 men during this period that attracted the attention of his superiors and paved the way for a citation. On May 21st, 1919, he was commissioned a first lieutenant. According to letters from his former commanders, he is in line for a captaincy. He has also been recommended for the D. S. M. by Colonel Samuel G. Jones of the United States Cavalry.

Bissell's military career started in 191 when he enlisted in Troop A, 1st Massachusetts Cavalry and served an enlistment with this company. He was also a member of the 1st Company, Governor's Foot Guards of this state.

SOLDIERS REBUKE REED FOR OPPOSING LEAGUE

Members of American Legion Vote to Stay Away from Speech by Missouri Senator.

Birmingham, Ala., July 14.—Resolutions were adopted by the Birmingham post of the American Legion today declaring that no member of the post would be present to hear the address which Senator Reed of Missouri will make here tomorrow night in opposition to the League of Nations and urging all "100 per cent Americans" also to refrain from attending the meeting. Senator Reed was handed a copy of the resolutions by a committee of the Birmingham post.

Poor construction of pipe lines is the cause assigned for the loss in one year of natural gas valued at $9,000,000 in the States of Missouri and Kansas alone.

BIG DIRIGIBLE LANDS; READY TO START AGAIN

Workmen Overhauling Air- ship for Trip to East Fortune.

CROWDS GREET ARMEN

Officers and Crew Enjoyed Journey Across the Atlantic—No Sea-Sick- ness—Met No Storms.

Pulham, July 14.—A force of 200 workmen were today engaged in overhauling the British dirigible R-34 in preparation for her flight to her base at East Fortune, Scotland, the starting point of her trans-Atlantic voyage. She is expected to take the air within two or three days and make the trip to East Fortune in about seven hours.

Landed Yesterday.
The R-34 landed here yesterday after her history making flight across the Atlantic and back in excellent condition. One of her engines must be replaced, but this will be done after she arrives at East Fortune. Aside from rips in her envelope she suffered practically no other damage.

Crowds of sightseers came to Pulham from London and many Norfolk towns to view the first trans-Atlantic airship today.

Enjoyable Trip.
Major Scott, commander of the R-34 and other officers of her crew, emphasized today the ease with which they made the return journey from New York and the comfort they enjoyed. Particularly they pointed out that while ships beneath them were being tossed by a forty mile gale that must have caused seasickness among their passengers, the R-34 rode the wind with scarcely any rocking.

KAISER NOT WORRYING OVER STANDING TRIAL

Laughs Gaily as He Walks With Former Empress and Secretary— Close-up of Wilhelm.

Amerongen, Holland, July 14.—William Hohenzollern, ex-Kaiser, is not the broken man he has been pictured nor is he apparently worrying over the prospect of facing trial for war crime, according to his appearance.

Your correspondent had an extremely close view of him and the former empress and a secretary while walking the grounds of the castle of Count Bentinck. The one time emperor was laughing gaily, talking animatedly and swinging his cane, just as he did in pre-war days, as I crossed the bridge over the castle moat. William was dressed in brown tweeds and his figure was strikingly erect though rather stout. There was no sign that he had been bowed down by the weight of his woes.

WORLD'S RICHEST "GOB" TO STAY IN U. S. NAVY

E. L. Perkins Now Has Income of $480,000 a Year Because Oil Was Discovered On His Farm.

New York, July 14.—E. L. Perkins, of Eastland, Texas, the world's richest "gob," is going to stick out the remainder of his four year term of enlistment in the United States Navy, though fate has suddenly tossed into his lap an income of $480,000 a year. When he gets out of the navy he will devote his wealth "to the people and christianity," he says.

Perkins owned an eighty acre farm in Texas but felt the call of the sea. He enlisted in the navy and became a stoker on the transport Imperator. When the Imperator docked here yesterday he learned that a six thousand barrel gusher oil well had been struck on his farm and that other wells may bring his income to a million a year.

Speaking of unanimity among the Allies, both President Wilson and Field Marshal Haig declare emphatically: "We won the war."

German High School Will Teach Revenge

Berlin, July 13.—(Via London, July 14.)—A threat to instill a spirit of revenge in German children is contained in a proclamation signed by a number of high school teachers which was published in conservative newspapers today. After criticising the Entente the proclamation concludes:

"If we are compelled to fulfill these peace demands we turn away with contempt from nations which lacked the moral force to suppress this criminal jugglery and will work with all our might to make our children and grand children inherit this sentiment and to keep it permanently alive in the German nation."

Prof. Kuno Meyer, well known in the United States as a lecturer, was one of the signers.

MILLIONS VIEW BIG VICTORY PARADE IN PARIS AS 20,000 HEROES MARCH

Marshal Foch Leads—Americans Under Pershing Follow— Widows and Orphans Weep While Soldiers Pass—Rep- resentatives of Every Civilized Race Present—Solemn Tribute Paid France's Million and a Half Dead.

Paris, July 14.—Twenty thousand allied soldiers swung across Paris eastward today before the eyes of more than a million spectators who saw the great victory parade.

Leading them on horseback was Marshal Foch, Generalissimo and directing genius of the allied troops on the field of battle.

Beside him rode Marshal Joffre, hero of the first battle of Marne, and riding at the head of the various contingents came Generals Pershing, Haig, Petain, Liax, Castelnau and other great chiefs.

Americans First.
The troops marched in alphabetical order which brought the Americans, led by General Pershing, immediately behind Foch and Joffre.

The greatest moment of the day came when Foch and Joffre drove their horses under the magnificent Arc de Triomphe, followed by the soldiers of Liberty.

Several Million Spectators.
It is impossible to estimate the number of people along the line of march but Paris papers today said that several millions saw or tried to see the spectacle. Representatives of nearly every civilized people cheered themselves hoarse at the passing war heroes.

A riot of overpowering emotion attended the scene, in which full throated French applause was the predominant note.

Bitter Grief Also.
But in the unprecedentedly great mass of people lining the route and packing the overlooking windows and balconies there were many moving manifestations of the most bitter grief. From these windows bereaved parents and children wept at the thought that a kindlier fate would have allowed their kin to share in this unparalleled spectacle and not, as Clemenceau suggested, the chamber of deputies have laid them down in a shroud of glory on the fields of battle.

The pathos of the scene was dimmed by the most wonderful demonstration of rejoicing ever seen in the French capital. Today it is as though the peoples of the earth were united in welcoming a millennium. What fact is happening in Paris today is the greatest men of Europe are joining the humbles in a feverish apotheosis of peace.

Tribute to the Dead.
Before the rejoicings began today, France paid an official tribute to her more than a million and a half of dead last night in the most mournful ceremony in the history of the republic. A "death vigil" took place beneath the Arc de Triomphe, where a huge tomb of war was built on a raised platform, sprinkled with the soil of many battlefields. A mammoth plaster figure of victory stood at each of the four corners. All night a picket of honor stood watch with arms reversed while a multitude of thousands weeping, filed beneath the Arch before the sepulchral monument in silent homage to the fallen heroes.

The candelabras were lighted at nightfall and cast flickering streams of light upon the people streaming solemnly past the tomb into the surrounding gloom of the vast arch.

Early this morning the sepulchre was removed to a corner of the Place le Etoile to allow the troops to march beneath the arch.

Route of the March.
The route of the march, from the porte Maillot to the place de la Republique, was a scene of Babylonian splendor. At porte Maillot, through which the allied armies made their official entry into the city, stood a great triumphal arch.

Along the avenue de la Grande Armee and then along the Champs Elysees to the Place de la Concorde were festoons of gilded bunting, which swung from Venetian masts placed at thirty foot intervals.

Adorning the masts were luminous globes, flower baskets, allied flags and coats of arms of French cities.

Trophies of War.
Displayed on pyramidal columns at frequent intervals were trophies of war, the steel helmets, rifles, haversacks and grenades mingling with the garlands of flowers, the whole warlike display in each instance being surmounted by a Gallic cock, emblem of French military valor.

The Arc de Triomphe stood undraped in all its splendor amidst a riot of gale and surrounded by a mammoth grandstand on the Place de L'Etoile.

"The Triumphal Way."
That section of the route from the Arc de Triomphe down the Avenue Des-champs Elysees to the Place la Concorde was officially styled "Triumphal Way" and here the biggest decorative effect was accomplished. Midway on the spacious Rond Point des Champ Elysees as reliefs were erected on altars dedicated to the martyred cities of Verdun, Soissons, Rheims, and Arras. Throughout the day clouds of vapor, pumped by electricity, flowed out from votive urns, crowning these altars.

Here by special wish of Premier, Clemenceau, captured German guns were heaped up pell mell with the figure of a victorious Gallic cock perched above each seat.

And the plaster triumphal arch stood on the place de la Concorde at the entrance to the Tuilleries Gardens. It bore on its entablature the names of prominent generals.

The Grandstands.
The whole length of the avenue Deschamps Elysees was a row of stands. Other giant stands were erected on the terrace of the Tuilleries gardens and around the place de la Concorde. The official decorative scheme ended, but the remainder of the route up the Rue Royale and along the Grand Boulevards to the Place de la Concorde, through private initiative provided a record display of flags, banners, oriflammes and escutcheons.

Brilliant though the scene was, there was a general complaint that the decorations, which were carried out mainly by war artists, lacked the magnitude fitting such an historic occasion. The government appropriated something less than a million dollars, and this, added to the fact that only a fortnight was given to devise and carry out the scheme, displeased many critics.

Paris was jammed to overflowing by great crowds of visitors that poured in from all over France.

Senate Committee Adjourns Without Taking Up Treaty

Times Says Carson Was to Blame For Dublin's Easter Riots in '16

London, July 14.—Significance was attached in political circles today to the fact that the Chronicle, the organ of Premier Lloyd George, the Telegraph and the Morning Post made no editorial comment upon the speech of Sir Edward Carson on Saturday demanding the repeal of the home rule for Ireland bill and warning Americans not to interfere in Irish affairs.

Daily Mail's Comment.
The Daily Mail, Lord Northcliffe's paper, which has been criticising the Premier, said, under the caption; "Carson's Bolshevism";

"Is there one law for Robert Smilie, (head of the coal miners' union) and another for Sir Edward Carson? A Bonar Law, government leader in Commons, declared that the government will use all the resources of the state against direct action by the miners and the railway workers. The government would make the path easier if it let it be known that it intends to deal firmly with the Bolshevism of ex-Ministers as well as of labor agitators. Responsible for Riots.

The Times, another Northcliffe paper, declared that Sir Edward was responsible for the Easter rising at Dublin in 1916, but that he possibly did not foresee that at the time. "But he has no excuse today," continued the Times, "when he condemns the rebellion of 1916 he should remember that he is the last man in Great Britain with less right to do so, and when he tells America to mind her own business he courts the retort that the wishes of 15,000,000 Irish-Americans are part of her, (Ireland's) business. There is no room for dictatorship in a commonwealth of free Democracies—neither dictatorship, of the proletariat nor the Orangemen."

The Daily News thinks "there is no room in a civilized community for people who are prepared on the least occasion to destroy one another in a private quarrel."

SHIPBUILDING RECORD BROKEN DURING JUNE

Builders Deliver 118 Vessels With Total Tonnage of 578,583—In- crease Over Last Year.

Washington, July 14.—American shipbuilders achieving new records in putting out ships to carry American products abroad. During June they delivered 118 vessels, with a total tonnage of 578,583 dead weight to the shipping board, it was announced today. This is an increase of 106 per cent over deliveries in June a year ago, when the total tonnage was 280,400 dead weight.

The deliveries consisted of 63 steel contract ships of 361,458 dead weight tonnage; seven requisitioned steel ships, 52,825 tons; 47 wood ships of 160,800 tons and one composite ship of 3,500 tons.

The total number of ships accepted by the shipping board from August, 1917, to June 30, 1919, was 1,047, with a total tonnage of 5,826,664 dead weight or 3,884,443 gross.

SPECIAL BOARD PROBING FIUME SITUATION TODAY

Inter-Allied Commission to In- vestigate the Recent Troubles Be- tween the Italians and French.

Milan, Italy, July 13.—(Via Paris, July 14.)—The inter-allied commission, appointed by the Peace Conference to investigate the situation at Fiume, began its sessions in Fiume today, said a dispatch from that city. The United States is represented on the commission by Major General Charles P. Summerall, formerly attached to the American Army of Occupation on the Rhine; General Watts, represents England; General Naulin, France, and General Dibrolant, Italy.

The first session was held at the Fiume casino where numerous witnesses were heard, including the commanders of the French and Italian forces and prominent Croats.

The members of the commission are housed in various quarters of the city.

THRIFT STAMP SALES WIN MAIL MEN MEDALS

Simonson Takes First Prize For Largest Sale of W. S. S. Stamps— Allen Second, McVeigh Third.

Gold and silver medals some time ago by Postmaster Quish of the south end office, to carriers making the highest sales of War Savings stamps and certificates, were awarded yesterday.

The first and second awards were of gold. Henry Simonson was awarded first prize and Richard Allen second. Joseph McVeigh captured third place and was awarded a silver medal.

Three Separate Resolutions Aimed Indirectly at Pact, Reported — Nothing Said About President's Appearance Before Body—Lodge, Borah and LaFollette, Spon- sors of the Resolutions.

Washington, July 14.—Three separate resolutions indirectly involving the peace treaty were reported to the Senate this afternoon by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Beyond taking up certain preliminaries connected with the peace treaty the committee adjourned without considering the document itself, or the proposed appearance of President Wilson before the committee.

Resolutions Reported.
The resolutions reported were:

1—The Lodge Measure, requesting the President to furnish the Senate with a copy of any treaty purported to have been "projected" between Germany and Japan, "together with any information regarding it which may be in the possession of the State Department.

An amendment to this measure reading: "Or any further information concerning any negotiations between Germany and Japan during the war," was adopted in committee by a vote of 12 to 2.

2—The Borah resolution, calling upon the President for the production of a protest against the cessation of Shantung to Japan, which Secretary Lansing, General Bliss and Henry White, as three of the American peace commissioners at Paris, were reported to have signed before the peace conference ended.

3—The LaFollette resolution requesting the President to inform the Senate why Nicaragua "has been permitted to invade Costa Rica and for what reason Costa Rica, a belligerent with the allies in the war, was not permitted to sign the Versailles treaty."

VERBAL WARFARE EXPECTED

Washington, July 14.—Warfare over the League of Nations and other disputed provisions of the peace treaty was to be renewed in the Senate today with President Wilson's supporters and antagonists busily engaged in "digging in" for what was expected to be a protracted and bitterly fought parliamentary and oratorical battle.

Since the President addressed the Senate and laid before it the peace treaty on Thursday, last, the lines between league proponents and opponents have been more tightly drawn than they were before his return from the peace conference.

Both Sides Claim Victory.
Both sides still claimed victory, but the republican leaders of the Senate, face to face at last with the concrete proposition of either ratifying or rejecting the treaty as it was signed at Versailles, admitted the opposition to the President was still divided as to the form proposed textual amendments or qualifying reservations should take.

Before the Senate met at noon the Republican leaders hoped to have agreed on a definite program, which would prove satisfactory to the President's opponents. The finishing touches to such a program were to be applied at a final conference of Republicans early today, the last of a series which have been going on since the Senate adjourned on Thursday last after the appearance of the President before it.

Developments Expected.
Other developments scheduled for today were:

1—First meeting of the Senate foreign relations committee to consider the peace treaty.

2—Adoption by the committee of a motion to accept the President's offer to appear before it.

3—Defeat of a motion by Senator Knox, anti-league republican, of Pennsylvania, was the offer in the

"Pershing's Own." A battalion dubbed "Pershing's Own," made up of 1,200 men selected from units of six American divisions, constituted America's show troops in the celebration. General Pershing led them in the parade, responding to uproarious cheers for the Americans all along the line of route. With him rode Major Henry T. Allen, who recently took command of the American army of occupation in Germany; Major General McLaughlin, of the first division, La Jeune, of the Second and Howe of the Third.

The Belgians followed, behind General Guillian. Then came a British battalion, consisting of men from crack regiments, including the guards and Seaforth Highlanders, with colors and pipers. Forty British generals figured in the parade, most prominent being Haig, Robertson, Birdwood, Byng, Rollinson, Lord, Cavan, Sir R. W. Marshall, Sir A. Montgomery, Sir H. Lawrence, Sir G. S. Powkes, Sir Traferis Clark, Sir John Birch, Sir G. M. Meath, and General Currie, representing the Canadians.

General Diaz led the Italians, who were followed by the Japanese, Greeks, Poles, Portuguese, Roumanians, Serbs, Siamese and Techo-Slovaks.

The second section of the parade was made up entirely of French troops drawn from the finest French regiments, marching behind a brilliant galaxy of generals.

Marshal Petain led the section and with him, or interspersed with various glorious regiments rode Gouraud, Mangin, Fayelle, Maistre, Debene, Humbert, Hirschauer, Castelnaud, Degoutte and dozens of other army, corps and divisional commanders. Generals Nivelle, Lyatuey Franchet-Desperey and Guillaumat were not present, being unable to leave their commands.

All arms were represented in the French section. Lieutenant Fonck, ace of aces, marched at the head of an aviation squadron, with the colors of the flying corps. French tanks brought up the rear of the parade.

There was a pathetic scene at the place de L'Estolle where one stand was filled entirely with soldiers blinded in the war. They responded with frantic cheering when the riot of plaudets announced the re-opening of the famous Arc de Triomphe as Marshals Poch and Joffre rode through.

STOCK MARKET

New York, July 14.—Business was on a fairly large scale at the opening of the stock market today with the tone as a whole strong. Ajax Rubber rose three points to 112 and Denver, and Rio Grande Preferred after selling 1 1/4 higher at 24, dropped to 22. Crucible Steel opened nearly three points higher at 125 and then moved up to 126 1/4, while Steel Common showed a gain of 5-8 at 114 1/4.

The oil stocks were active, Mexican Petroleum moving up 1 1/2 to 196 3/4 and Pan-American Petroleum two points to 108 3/4.

Marine Common yielded over one point to 64 3/4 while American Sumatra showed a gain of 1 1/2 to 114.

committee to provide for the separation of the league of nations covenant from the treaty, a heated question which other Republican leaders have tentatively agreed should be left to the Senate itself.

4.—Determination by the Republican leaders whether textual amendments should or should not be attempted because of the possible lack of the majority vote essential to their adoption, some of them favoring a less radical program confined to qualifying reservations embodied in a resolution of ratification, or offered as amendments to it instead of to the treaty itself. With an agreement as to what such reservations should be, they expected, the stated, to muster sufficient votes to prevent the two-thirds necessary for the ratification of the treaty in its present form, or to secure concessions at least from the administration forces.

5.—Submission of a report by Senator Fall, anti-league Republican of New Mexico, on the differences between the original league covenant and that finally incorporated in the treaty.

6.—Delivery of an address by Senator Swanson, pro-league Democrat, of Virginia, in which he was to present arguments in behalf of certain provisions of the league covenant and reflect the views of President Wilson regarding them.

7.—Return of Senator Hitchcock, Pro-league Democrat, of Nebraska, and ranking democratic member of the Foreign Relations Committee, to lead the administration fight in the committee and also to confer with the President at the White House.

It was stated that Senator Hitchcock, following the issuance of denials by Secretary Tumulty, Saturday, that a "break" had occurred between him and the President, would be associated with Senator Swanson in leading the administration forces in the Senate chamber, at least until the expected return of Senator Martin, of Virginia, the minority leader.

GEN. PERSHING DECORATES GEN. SLAYDEN WITH D. S. C.

After 48 Hours of Continuous Duty and Under Shell Fire, He Saved Day for Americans.

Washington, July 14.—For remarkable heroism in action, General Pershing has awarded the distinguished service cross to six officers and fourteen enlisted men of the American Expeditionary Forces, the War Department announced today.

Among those decorated was Brigadier General F. W. Slayden, headquarters Fifth Brigade, Third Division. On October 14, 1918, General Slayden, upon learning that the front line was held up by enemy machine gun fire, proceeded to the advanced position through three kilometers of heavy enemy artillery fire. He was then most exhausted from 48 hours of continuous duty. Upon arrival, he found the battalion commander had been killed and the troops disorganized. Once fainting, but refusing to be relieved, General Slayden personally reformed the units, and, due to his efforts the American troops carried the action successfully.

SWIFT AND CO. OPPOSE "PACKER" LEGISLATION

Urge Stockholders to Protest Against Kendrick and Kenyon Bills in U. S. Senate.

Aprpos of the recent government reports on the packing industry and the recommendations that restricting legislation be passed to curb the tremendous expansion of the big packers, the following letter has been sent to the stockholders of Swift & Co. It is signed by F. S. Hayward, secretary.

The letter follows: To the Shareholders of Swift and Company:

We believe that it is the duty of every shareholder of Swift and Company to pay attention to the present situation with regard to the proposed legislation affecting the packing industry.

There are pending in the United States Senate two bills—one the Kendrick Bill, introduced on June 23rd, known as S. 2199, and the other the Kenyon Bill, introduced on the same day, and known as S. 2202.

These bills are revolutionary in that they propose to place legitimate business under a federal license which may be arbitrarily revoked at any time, and they vest the blanket powers of directing and controlling all our operations in the hands of a government agent, who may know nothing about the business.

One of these bills specifically gives the Government the extraordinary power to say what commodities a licensee may or may not sell; the other bill probably gives the same power under its general license provisions.

These bills also provide that the packers shall be deprived of the control of their refrigerator cars, and of their interests in stock yards. This will result in reduced efficiency, and an increased cost and difficulty in the distribution of our products.

If these bills are passed, no business will be free from the menace of autocratic, irresponsible, bureaucratic control. They should be opposed by every investor in every industrial enterprise and by everyone who believes that the public interests are best served by industries under private, rather than, government management.

We are confident that, if given an opportunity, this industry can readily prove that the proposed legislation is vicious. It is for this reason that we believe it to be your duty to interview or write your individual Congressman and your Senators to urge them to make a complete and thorough investigation before legislating upon this subject and to urge them to oppose the pending ill-advised and destructive legislation.

Yours truly, SWIFT AND COMPANY, By F. S. Hayward, Secretary.

Government is not reason. It is not eloquence—it is force! Like fire, it is a dangerous servant and a fearful master; never for the moment should it be left to irresponsible action.—Washington.

A HINT TO SALESMEN.

(Philadelphia Record.) "They are three capital offenses in the penal code of our store, for any of which the guilty salesman is instantly beheaded," said a successful merchant recently. "First, dishonesty. Second, that form of incivility and carelessness combined which results in waiting upon customers out of turn; for nothing more quickly loses the good-will of a patron who has been patiently waiting for service than to see later comers attended to first. Third, failure to keep in touch with the firm's advertising. The value of our advertising is greatly diminished when the salesman fails to co-operate in our effort to make selling easy."

A salesman who would not dream of throwing his employer's stock out of the window or otherwise deliberately destroying it accomplishes the same end when he allows the selling force that the merchant has created through newspaper advertising to go to waste by not backing it up with personal knowledge and effort. When a customer knows more about what the firm has advertised on a particular day than the salesman does, as is sometimes the case, the store gets a black eye. No wonder the merchant above quoted regards the salesman's ignorance of the most important part of the business as a capital offense!

THE MANCHESTER LUMBER CO.

DEALERS IN

LUMBER, MASON'S SUPPLIES AND COAL

TO ATTACK HUNGARIANS.
 London, July 14.—A French and Roumanian army commanded by General Desperes, former allied commander in the Balkans, will soon attack the Hungarian Red Army, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Vienna today, quoting a report which had been received there from Bucharest. The plan to attack follows an unsuccessful effort to induce the Hungarians to establish a republic, it was said.

"Parliamentary practice" appears to have come to mean sniping at Lloyd George.

PLAN SPEAKING CAMPAIGN.
 Washington, July 14.—A coast to coast speaking campaign against ratification of the peace treaty and the covenant of the League of Nations will be conducted by senate opponents at about the same time that President Wilson tours the country in behalf of the entry of the United States into the League of Nations.

Mass meetings will be held in every large city; special efforts will be made to acquaint the people of the west with arguments against the proposed covenant, and speakers will be sent into every western state, it was announced today.

ELECT TRUSTEES TONIGHT FOR MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Constitution and By-Laws to Be Voted On—Twelve Trustees to Be Chosen.

Following the meeting of the voters of the Ninth school district at the assembly hall of the High School at seven o'clock this evening there will be a meeting of the members of the Memorial Hospital fund in the same room for the purpose of adopting the constitution and by-laws and choosing a board of trustees. The constitution provides for a board of 12 trustees, divided into three classes of four members each. The term of office for the trustees is six years and the expiration of the term of the several classes is so timed that a class will go out every two years. In order to get this schedule started the first class will be elected for six years, the second for four years and the third for two years.

A nominating committee appointed by the original incorporators of the hospital has prepared a tentative list of candidates for the trusteeship to be submitted to the meeting this evening. Other nominations may be made in place of these or any of them if the meeting so elects. The nominees suggested by the committee are as follows:

Trustees for six years—C. Elmore Watkins, D. C. Y. Moore, John T. Robertson, Mary Cheney.

Trustees for four years—Horace B. Cheney, William J. McGurk, William S. Hyde, Maytie Case Crowell, P. J. O'Leary.

For two years—Elwood S. Ela, P. J. O. Cornell, Howard I. Taylor, Emily D. Coburn, T. H. Weldon.

R-34 in preparation for her flight to In the case of trustees for four and two years only four are to be elected though five names appear on the ballot. The meeting will be asked to select any four of the five names.

STAGS BITE THE DUST.

Atlas Nine Trims Invincible Hartford Team With 21 to 3 Score.

The Atlas team of this town defeated the Stags of Hartford at the Pleasant street grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 21 to 3. The pitching of Cervini was the feature of the game, the visitors getting but three hits off his delivery. Robb shone with the willow connecting safely four out of five time up. Barrett and Taylor also kept the Stag outfield busy chasing the pill. Previous to yesterday's game the visitors had won 17 out of 18 games and were considered a hard team to beat. Next Sunday the Atlas will meet the Dodgers of Hartford at Colt's Park. This is the second game of the series, the locals winning the first game by a 4 to 2 score.

TROLLEY CAR AND TRUCK COLLIDE ON CENTER ST.

Driver of Big Auto Apparently Confused by Approaching Car Stops Directly on Tracks.

While the driver of one of the Texas Gulf Refining Company's big trucks was deciding whether to back up or go ahead, when the big machine had blocked both trolley tracks near a garage on Center street Saturday afternoon; a new type pay-as-you-enter car, west bound, came along and helped him solve the problem by smashing full tilt into the rear end of the machine. The truck, out of commission, was perched on the lawn of a residence in that vicinity this morning. The front end of the trolley was demolished by the crash.

The Gulf truck had halted at Williams' Garage for gas and was facing east. It suddenly started up and crossed both tracks within a pole's length of an approaching trolley which was on the west bound track. Motorman Burke sounded a warning, but the machine stopped directly on the tracks. The chauffeur, evidently seeing that he could not clear, started to back up and in all probability stalled his machine.

The intervening distance was too short and the trolley crashed headlong into the truck's rear end. Passengers in the trolley were considerably shaken up, but no one was hurt. The car was brought back to the barns for repairs with a crumpled end.

SERVICE CLUB MEN INCREASE ON SATURDAY

Army and Navy Club Campaign Has Brought in 149 So Far—Drive Ends Tonight.

Forty seven members were secured by eight teams in Saturday's drive for new members in the Army and Navy club's campaign which ends this evening. Team No. 3 established a record for the entire drive by turning in 15 applications. Team No. 6 still going strong, came in with 11. Team No. 9 with a poor start at the first of the drive came up with 10. Up to nine o'clock Saturday evening 149 members had been secured. Team No. 3 leads with a total of 25. Team No. 6 with 24, and Team No. 2 third, with 19. The drive was to have been over last evening but Chairman Albert Dewey has given the captains one day of grace, anticipating that many prospects would be gathered today. The drive will end this evening when the teams meet at the hut for final reports. Saturday's results follow:

PLAYGROUND OPENS OFFICIALLY WEDNESDAY

Workmen Busy Finishing Construction of Swings and Seesaws—Pools to Be Made for Wading.

On Wednesday morning the north end playgrounds will be officially opened to the public. For the past week workmen have been busy building bridges, swings, teeter boards and other playthings for the children to use. Dr. F. A. Sweet, the superintendent, is planning to construct pools where paddling may be enjoyed. These pools will be supplied by water that comes from H. H. White's pond on Pine Hill and so will be cool, pure and clean.

Miss Marion Taylor of South Main street, graduate of the New Haven School of Gymnastics, who is to have charge of the playground, assumed her duties there this morning to look out for the children who cannot wait until the finishing touches are put on their recreation grounds and who, already, are testing out the swings and other attractions.

NOTICE.

Water will be shut off tomorrow, Tuesday, July 15, from 8 a. m. till noon on North Main street including Depot Square and Buckland, Nelson Place, North School running north from North Main, Golway, North, Union, Kerry, Allen Place, Marble and Stock Place.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the A. O. H. will be held in the basement of St. James' Church tonight at eight o'clock.

The annual outing of Hose Co. No. 1 of the local fire department was held at Marlborough Lake, Saturday afternoon, the trip being made in autos. A big spread was laid out at the Cheney Cottage at noon. The afternoon being spent in games and sports.

Judge H. O. Bowers and his son, Sherwood Bowers, started for Grand Lake Stream in Northern Maine yesterday afternoon where they will spend the next two weeks fishing. Raymond Bowers, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Bowers, has been in Maine since the close of High School.

Through the efforts of Senator A. E. Bowers the number of Chautauqua guarantors for next year has gone over the hundred mark. It is hoped that fully 150 guarantors will be obtained. Chautauqua is assured for another year for Manchester. The session closed yesterday afternoon.

Arrangements have been made by the advance squad of the Boy Scout party to have letters or parcels from friends or relatives, delivered at the camp. All letters or bundles should be addressed to the Manchester Boy Scout Camp, General Delivery, South Coventry, Conn. There is also a phone located near by, 315-13, Willimantic division.

One of the heaviest shipments ever received at the local branch of the American Railway Express Company came in this morning when a mammoth ice cream freezing machine weighing 1,600 pounds arrived, consigned to the Manchester Dairy Ice Cream Company. Heavy shipments by express are rather unusual. The machine was shipped from Wisconsin and the purchasers evidently were not taking chances with freight congestion.

The Circle theater will be closed Thursday and Friday of this week as repairs are to be made to the interior.

The water will be shut off tomorrow from 8 a. m. until noon on North Main street, including Depot Square, Buckland, Nelson Place, North School street running north from North Main, Golway, North, Union and Kerry streets; also Allen, Marble and Stock Place.

Burnham & Converse have sold the north end wood yard to Lucius Goodale and Alfred Blatter. The deal was put through last week and the new owners took possession this morning. Mr. Goodale is well known in town where he has been employed for a long time by the Glastonbury Knitting Co. The new men intend to develop the wood business in town on a large scale.

STRIKE HANGS FIRE.

Bridgeport, July 14.—It looked this morning as if the action or inaction of the employees would determine whether all the corset shops in this city would close or continue operations within the next few days. None of the other factories had, during the morning hours, today, followed the example of Warner Brothers, who, on Saturday, locked out 2,500 of their employees without waiting for the presentation of demands that had been agreed upon in a general meeting of the workers.

OCEAN TRIP POSTPONED.

St. Johns, N. F., July 14.—Captain P. P. Raynham, whose attempt to start on a trans-Atlantic airplane flight, was prevented yesterday by the blow out of a tire on his Martinsyde machine, planned to make another effort this afternoon, weather permitting. The machine has already been repaired and overhauled.

As the Italian Government intends to reopen the sea salt mines of Istria, the Venetians have requested the Government not to forget those situated near Venice, which are covering about 700 hectares (1,730 acres) of ground and were producing several years ago about 100,000 quintals of salt a year.

Territorial integrity: The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league.

This is the famous Article Ten of the League of Nations Covenant as delivered to this country by the allied council at Versailles through the agency of the President of the United States.

The President's veto of the Agricultural Appropriations bill with its rider repealing the daylight saving law is commendable for two reasons.

A lot of talk is going the rounds about reservations and amendments to the treaty and those who can not bring themselves to accept it as it is will try to make it more to their way of thinking by one or the other of these agencies.

It is Article Ten that destroys the sovereignty of the United States, that contains the seeds of a hundred wars, that will send our boys throughout the world to fight the quarrels of other nations.

This last is the chief contention of the Senator. Ireland, India, Egypt, Korea will have never a chance to throw off the 'yoke' under which they now reside if the nations sign Article Ten.

The thing is contrary to reason and Mr. Johnson's saying it is otherwise will not alter the facts.

Of the good effects of prohibition, reports come from all over the state. Cases of intoxication have practically disappeared from the police courts and the jails have so few prisoners that there is a shortage of jail labor.

The President's veto of the Agricultural Appropriations bill with its rider repealing the daylight saving law is commendable for two reasons.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION DISCUSSION TONIGHT

Ninth School District to Consider Provisions for New School and Teachers' Home—Mary Cheney Offers Site.

The advertised call of business to be transacted at the annual meeting of the Ninth School District which will be held at Assembly Hall this evening, gives evidence that the meeting will be one of importance.

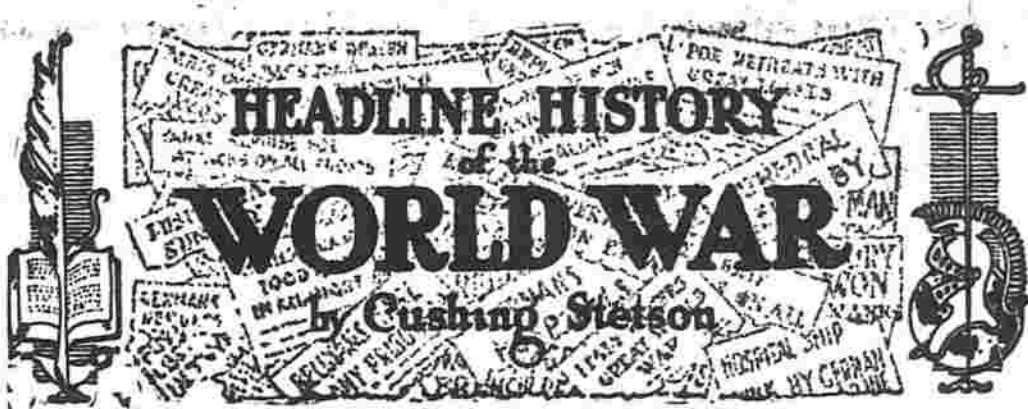

Among the important features to be discussed at the Ninth District meeting are the levying of a tax to meet the expenses of the fiscal year; the request of the committee for authority to borrow a sum of money not to exceed $25,000 to meet current bills.

Miss Mary Cheney has notified the district committee that she will deed with certain minor provisions, a portion of land for school purposes. This land is now utilized as a children's playground and is situated on Cottage street.

Relative to Section 1014 of the General Statutes of Connecticut, which calls for the construction of a home for teachers, it is very probable that steps will be taken toward the purchase of a building for this purpose.

Park Theater Circle Theater

Speed, pep and punch—you'll find all these in "Ginger," the new World Picture, which is scheduled for showing tonight at the Park Theatre.

Viola Palmer plays the leading role, that of "Ginger," from which the picture takes its title. Garret Hughes and Paul Everton are also co-starred with Miss Palmer, and a number of other film favorites are seen in important parts.

"Ginger" tells the story of a girl who starts life as a thief, owing to the fact that she has been brought up in the wrong environment and has been trained to be a thief by her father, who is himself a crook.

When "Ginger" grows up two men fight over her. They are Bob Trowbridge, the son of the judge, who has adopted her, and Tim, who was her companion and champion in her childhood days.

For tomorrow the girl with the local reputation, "Elsie Ferguson," will be seen in "Eyes of the Soul," a picture that will tug at your heart-strings. It is Elsie at her best.

BRIDGEPORT SINGERS CLEAN UP ATHLETICS

Big Crowd of Fans See One Sided Game at Nebo.

ATHLETICS BELOW PAR

Do Not Show Usual Skill in Dealing With Visitors—Make Many Errors.

A record-breaking crowd of fans, the largest seen at Mount Nebo this season watched the home team play like a bunch of school boys, while the Singer team of Bridgeport, champions of that city for the past three years, won by a score of 9 to 4, yesterday afternoon.

Aided by the superb twirling of "Pete" Wilson, former premier southpaw of the Eastern League, and the erratic playing of the Athletics, the Park City champions had an easy time of it after the third inning. Warnock pitched a splendid game, but was up against it.

Local stars, consistently steady and brilliant, yesterday pulled off all sorts of bonehead plays. One infielder ran backwards after a fly that was easily an outfielder's choice; result, ruin. Then shortstop let an easy grounder go through him and to make up for this he muffed a tossed ball that would have meant a double play.

The umpire made a couple of close decisions on the wrong side, so the crowd claimed. The players raged, so did the crowd. And the Park City champs simply grinned. But it can be said that they were a clean bunch and so impressed the fans that there were no exhibitions of crabbing. Here's the only alibi for yesterday: the Athletics lost.

But how about the game. It was good for three innings. That is, from a local fan's point of view. In the opening stanza with Bridgeport up, Shay was given a free pass. Haverly who succeeded him sent the sphere for a two bagger advancing Shay to third. Ollchney advanced to the plate. Shay evidently had a poor opinion of his team mate's prowess as a slugger, for he started to steel home on Warnock's throw to the pan. After a see-saw exhibition between third and home, he was tagged by Lamprecht. Ollchney then sent a sizzler through Sammy Massey's legs, sending Haverly home. The first half ended with the visitors one run to the good.

"Pete" Wilson was given a beautiful reception when the locals came to bat. Scheldge slammed his first offering for two bags. Sammy Massey up, caught "Pete's" second offering, sending it out to right field for three bags and sending Scheldge home in the bargain. Sammy followed Scheldge across the plate when Sipples sent a sacrifice to center field. The inning ended with the score of 2 to 1 favor the locals.

One man fled to the field and two others struck out in Bridgeport's half of the second. "Jerry" Fay up for the locals in the last half sent the ball out into the lot for two bags. Keith advanced him to third with a sacrifice hit. Lamprecht sent a short sacrifice hit to center, who made a great peg to the plate. His throw was too slow, for Fay beat the ball and scored.

The third inning went its way with neither team scoring. Came the gloomy fourth. Caserly up for the Singers, walked. Burke advanced him to second when Keith, the athletic shortstop, muffed an easy throw from Sammy Massey who made a neat stop of the hit. Lavery at the plate was called out when he bunted on his third strike. Wilson struck out. Even with a man on first and second, it appeared pretty safe for Warnock with two men out.

But Christy sent a single to right scoring Caserly, and Sammy Massey, sad but true, made an error then he let a hot grounder from Shay's willow slip through him. When the ball was received Burke and Christy had crossed the plate with two more runs. And the score at the end of the first half of the fourth stood 4 to 3. The only sensational feature of Manchester's half of this inning came when Burke the Singer rightfielder robbed Sipples of a three bagger by a difficult running catch.

The fifth passed with no runs, much to the regret of local supporters, only to make way for the sixth inning and its exhibitions of "bills", "bones", and a collection of errors on the part of local players. Singer players chortled with glee as their team mates fan wild around the bases. The umpire rendered a couple of close decisions with which the rooters did not agree. The official scorer wore out three pencils while the marks played tag with each other. But it ended when the score stood 9 to 3.

To make matters worse, "Old Man Wilson" who twirled Hartford to a pennant kept growing stronger. He held the locals scoreless from the second inning to the ninth when Sipples poked out a three bagger and came in on "Darby" O'Connell's single to left. The next two batters were out on easy flies and the game ended with the score 9 to 4.

DISPUTE OVER DECISION GIVES WHITE SOX GAME

Colored Corinthians Refuse to Accept Wormstedt Verdict and Quit Game in First Inning.

With the score 1-1 in the last half of the first inning the Corinthian-White Sox game at the Adams street grounds yesterday afternoon came to a sudden end when the colored gentlemen protested a decision made by umpire Wormstedt of Rockville. The prattle of the sons of Ham, which has such a marvelous effect on a set of "bones", failed to move the "ump" and with his refusal to reverse the decision, the dusky sphere artists retired from the field. The White Sox therefore won the game by forfeit. Score 0 to 0.

The break in the game came when Korna of the White Sox, who was on second, stole third. Umpire Wormstedt called him safe. The Corinthians evidently had other views on the matter and started to protest. The Umpire refused to change the decision. The visitors were given five minutes to make up their mind, which they did by walking off the field. The game awarded to the White Sox.

The Corinthians have defeated the White Sox in former games by crabbing at every decision and in order that the game might continue in peace, the locals have let them get away with these tactics. Yesterday's occurrence was entirely un-called for as Wormstedt is well known throughout the state as a reliable arbitrator. The large crowd voiced its disapproval and it is safe to say that it is the Corinthians last appearance locally for many moons.

ATHLETICS AT ELM CITY TROUNCE NUTMEGS 9-4

Come Back From Savin Rock With Victory—Work of White and Dwyer Stands Out.

The Athletics again defeated the fast Nutmeg team of New Haven, Saturday afternoon by a score of 9 to 4. The game was played at the Savin Rock diamond in the Elm City. White had the better of Fruin of the Nutmegs on the mound, while the playing of Billy Dwyer, the Colgate star who occupied shortstop position for the Athletics was the feature of the game. HUDSONS VANQUISH HARTFORD VICTORS

Fast Game on West Side Diamond Results in 4-0 Score in Favor of Local Team.

The Hudsons added another game to their long list of victories by defeating the Victory A. C. of Hartford at the West Side diamond yesterday afternoon in the second game of the series. The visitors captured the first game by a 5 to 0 score, but the locals came back strong yesterday by defeating Capitol City team 4 to 0.

The game was undoubtedly one of the best yet seen on the new diamond and attracted a large crowd of fans. Lang and Wilkinson shone for the locals while Matchon and Myers featured for the visitors. Arrangements will be made on Thursday for a five game series between the Hudsons and White Sox, when Manager Daust of the "Sox" and Manager Edwards of the Hudsons will meet to discuss the plans.

The West Side team has won 13 out of 16 games played this season. The White Sox also have an enviable record. The winner will undoubtedly challenge the Athletics for a series of games for the town championship. The score of yesterday's game follows:

APPEAL FOR LEAGUE BY NEBRASKA BISHOP

David Williams Makes Strong Defence of Pact at Columbia.

NATION LACKS LEADERS

Scores Senators Who Stand in Way of League—Says Both Parties Need Leaders.

New York, July 14.—A stirring defense of the League of Nations as an inseparable part of the peace treaty with Germany was made from the pulpit of St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University, yesterday afternoon by Bishop Charles David Williams of Nebraska.

"I hope and pray that the silent masses of the long suffering people may finally rise in holy indignation and overwhelm these pitiful palterers who threaten to wreck the agonizing longing and hope of the world."

Bishop Williams spoke at the 4 P. M. service to a large congregation composed chiefly of summer session students. He declared that the United States never so desperately needed leadership, "and yet was there ever in our history such an absolute dearth of leadership in all parties?"

Leaders Lacking. "As for me," he continued, "I see out one or two real leaders on all the horizon—men who excel when they stand among the crowd, from the shoulders and upward, men who catch far visions over the heads of the multitude. And yet, many, purblind with partisan prejudice or maddened by a possible threat to special privileges, reject their leading."

Answering the question, What shall we do with our hard-earned peace, earned in a war in which America found her soul? Bishop Williams said:

"Shall we attempt to see it once more on a delicately poised balance of power as sensitive as a pair of chemical scales under a glass case, and then surround it by the rapacious commercial greed of the nations and their unconscionable and unbridled intrigue, or shall we welcome the only possible promise of permanent security which beckons on the horizon—a peace settled solidly upon the foundations of justice and righteousness in international relations and guaranteed by some kind of league and covenant between the nations?"

"A glance at the map of the world, with its multitude of small self-determining nations set temptingly about the great powers like so many mice before a lot of cats, shows the absolute indispensableness of such a league. You cannot dissect it out of any possible treaty of peace and leave any force or vitality in that treaty."

Scores Senators. "And yet a Senate full of pitiful palterers plays carelessly and flippantly with the one desperate hope of the war-weary masses of humanity, labels it with partisan labels and flings it as a missile against political opponents. Many of them seem to be capable of no motive but personal pique or partisan prejudice."

"I speak boldly of the subject in this presence, for it rises infinitely above the plane of partisanship and even of politics as ordinarily understood. It reaches the level of world statesmanship and approximates the Christian ideal. It is the nearest practical approach ever attempted toward the dreams of the prophets and seers of all ages and the vision of Christ himself."

Bishop Williams made a plea for industrial democracy, saying England was fifty years ahead of us in this respect. "The world of the future is no longer to be satisfied with camouflage of democracy in political forms," he declared.

A large factory for the manufacture of underwear is to be established in Manila by Filipino and Spanish capitalists. The organizers plan to secure the necessary machinery in Spain and the yarn used in the making of the goods is to be bought in the United States.

DEFAMING OUR COUNTRY. Here are two paragraphs as quoted in the news reports of speeches lately delivered by United States Senator Johnson of California—a man who has been Governor of his State and a candidate for the Vice Presidency of his country:

"Italy despises us, France distrusts us, England uses us and Japan bluffs us. Alas, how the mighty have fallen!"

"It is the first time in our history that men go about making it a reproach to be an American citizen. Americans in Paris with a stroke of the pen have abrogated the Declaration of Independence."

This is not Americanism. It is politics and bad politics. When a man ceases to respect his country when he seeks political or other preferment or seeks applause by utterances which defame his country and hold it up to ridicule or contempt before the eyes of the world, he ceases to be a good American.

The Record is weary of hearing and reading that kind of un-American utterance. By what right does Senator Johnson assert that Italy despises us? Is there a statesman in Italy who would make such an assertion? Is there a man in the United States Senate who would approve such an assertion by any Italian? Italy does not despise us. There are many in Italy who believe that the United States should sympathize with the Italian claim to Fiume, and there are many Americans who do so sympathize. The Record believes the Italian claims are good, and the Record believes who seeks mutual friendship and mutual respect of Italy and the United States are permanent. The Record has no admiration for any man in political life who goes before audiences of Americans with such vicious attempts to sever that friendship or damage that respect.

France does not distrust us. Any man who, for political effect, says that she does is doing his unclear bit to lessen an affection which is one of the corner-stones of humanity. France may well distrust politicians who appear to place sensationalism before honor and who seek to sow distrust and suspicion where none exists. England does not "use us now, nor will she use us hereafter." Mr. Johnson, as a Californian, treads precarious ground when he discusses Japan.

Nor have the mighty fallen, if by "the mighty" Senator Johnson means the American people, who are America. They fall who, in the bitter darkness of cold animosities, seek to lower the prestige of their country or who point evilly toward vicious avenues of thought.

What men "go about making it a reproach to be an American citizen?" Name names, Mr. Johnson! Do you mean the President of the United States? Do you mean former President Taft? Do you mean every American who believes in the League of Nations and who desires to see the peace treaty and the League covenant ratified? If you mean any of these things, Mr. Senator, you are asking the Republican Party to nominate for President next year a man who seeks to libel his country and who would court political favor by diminishing the glory of this Republic.

It is the right of every American to criticize the policies of the Government and to seek support by opposing policies. No man can successfully seek to be honored by excoriating the policy of the Government. Americans whose argument is that he is ashamed of his country, or who pleads the false and damnable suggestion that "Italy despises us, France distrusts us, England uses us and Japan bluffs us," there is no Americanism in such a doctrine. The Republican Party is an American party. It is proud of its country—always. It will not patiently witness its vilification. Nor will those leaders who share in commission of such offense against our country sustain their leadership unless Republicans have lost their Americanism.

We believe that the best interests of the United States demand the election of a Republican President in 1920. We believe that the people of the country are so minded. We believe that the only thing that can alter that public determination, the only thing that can continue a Democratic Administration, would be the rejection of the peace treaty and the wrecking of the League of Nations.

We furthermore believe that no American, whatever his opinion concerning the treaty or the League or the present Administration, relishes slurs upon the United States, or assertions calculated to diminish its glory or cast suspicion upon its friendships and its friends.

There was once an isolation enjoyed by this country which the events of the past five years have destroyed. But there was never such an isolation endured by us, nor could there be, as that depicted by the Senator from California, who seeks on political platforms to read Italy, France, England and Japan out of our friendship. The isolation of a man or of a country without friends is not a good thing.

This country has done well in the past few years. It might have done differently; who shall prove that it would have done better? It has behaved honorably, and it stands greatly before the world. If there is any man professing to be an American who lacks honest pride in his country, let him take his shame into the closet and stifle it.

Confidence always pleases those who receive it. It is a tribute we pay to their trust, a pledge that gives them a claim upon us, a kind of dependence to which we voluntarily submit.—La Rochefoucauld.

NOT TO DYNAMITE LAKE TO FLOAT FIELDS' BODY

Rumor That Efforts Would Be Made Is Unfounded—Friend of Capt. Fields Says He Still Lives.

A rumor circulated around Manchester that Bolton Lake was to have been dynamited yesterday afternoon in an effort to recover the body of Captain William J. Fields, whose mysterious disappearance a week or so ago has led many people to believe that he was drowned, caused many local residents to motor to the spot in the afternoon to witness the proceedings. They were doomed to disappointment, however, for the lake was not dynamited and in all probability will not be.

It is said that the state police who have been investigating the case consider that dynamiting operations are unnecessary. Whether or not this signifies that they have struck a new clue is a matter of speculation. It was not the habit of Captain Fields, argue his friends, to leave the vicinity without informing some one as to where he intended to go. This coupled with the fact that the row-boat which he had hired for a few hours was found floating bottom side up, has led many to believe that his body is at the bottom of the lake and has been caught among the stumps.

Others are of the opinion that the news of the death of his mother in Florida, caused him to leave immediately without notifying his friends. A Hartford newspaper man, who was a close friend of the captain, states that a wound received by the latter had caused him much trouble and that he—Captain Fields—was subject to spells of insomnia and melancholy. He is of the opinion that his friend still lives and that he might have strayed away under the stress of one of these spells.

BRONKIE MAKES A HIT IN BIG LEAGUE GAME

Makes Hit That Ties His Team for Fourth Place in American League—Is playing Fine Ball.

Herman Bronkie, Manchester's only big-leaguer, made the hit that brought victory to St. Louis in its second game against Philadelphia yesterday. Bronkie's successful wallop boosted the score to 5-4 in the Brown's favor, won the second game of the day for his team and laced St. Louis in the same notch with Detroit for Fourth Place in the American League.

Bronkie, whose home is on Hillside Road, learned the national game with the local teams and it was in this town that he laid the foundations of his reputation. With the American League he has been playing consistent ball. In the first of yesterday's games in which Philadelphia went down to defeat with a score of 4-3, out of four times at bat, Bronkie made one run. He was responsible for four put-outs and three assists. In the second game he practically duplicated the record. In neither were any errors chalked against him.

O'BRIEN'S SHOWS TAKE CHAUTAUGUA'S PLACE

O'Brien's shows, which will be on the baseball lot all this week, arrived in town Sunday. The hauling of the paraphernalia to the lot began before the four o'clock religious service at the Chautauqua tent on the same lot. But the proprietors of the O'Brien shows courteously suspended operations and withdrew their men from the ground during the service. The work of dismantling the Chautauqua tent began immediately after the service and inside of an hour the chairs were on their way to the freight station and the tent was flat. The Chautauqua outfit was shipped to Taunton, Mass., where it will be located this week.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon and burial will be in the East Cemetery.

DEWDROP STORIES FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

FATHER BOB MEETS THE FAIRIES

(Written for the United States School Garden Army.)

"What fine beets these are," said Fatherbob one night at dinner. He was called "Fatherbob," so you would call him from "Justbob" or "Sonbob." "Justbob" and "Sonbob" were two names for the same person. Some people called him by one and some by the other.

"I'm glad you like them," said Mothermine, "these are almost the last of the beets we had canned from last year's garden. You see they will carry us on until the new crop is here this spring. That is why I am so glad we have plenty of beets in the garden this year."

"Yes," said Fatherbob, "it is a good thing to have a lot of beets and turnips and parsnips and such things in the garden, because they last all the winter through. I hope you boys have seen to that."

Billy and Bob both spoke at once: "Sure we have."

"Yes, sir; we've got six rows of turnips and six rows of beets and five rows of cabbages. We'll have enough for all next winter, and maybe sell some."

You see Bob and Billy had learned all about beets through the United States School Garden Army.

"Fine; it's a mighty good thing for you boys to have your garden; keeps you out of mischief and you might make some money out of it. Run along now and get your lessons, and you, Dollykin, come and tell father what the Dewdrop Fairy told you this morning."

Now, the funny thing about it was that Dolly had been talking with a fairy who had told her something about beets—the very thing which had been eating for dinner. He was a very handsome fellow. His complexion was rather dark, perhaps, but his cheeks had a fine color. He was dressed in a rich, dark red coat and had a wide ruffle of dark green around his neck. She had found him very nice to talk to. Now she felt quite proud to tell Fatherbob what the fairy had said. Her brothers had sometimes laughed at her for believing in fairies, but Mothermine and Fatherbob never did that.

"Well, Fatherbob," said Dolly, "I did see a fairy this morning, and he was telling me about beets. He said that the beet is one of the very best vegetables for young gardeners to raise. He said you could get greens from them in the spring and summer, and then, as soon as the first crop was gone your second crop would be growing up. He said beets were very—oh, it was such a long word—something like 'nursing.'"

"Nourishing, perhaps," said Fatherbob.

"Yes, that was it. He said it meant that people would get fat and be healthy if they eat plenty of beets. He said they had lots of sugar in them; have they?"

"Yes, indeed; more than any other vegetable, I believe."

"He said you planted the first crop late in March or early in April, and then you must plant some more in July to put up for the winter. He said that beets could not grow well in a 'sour soil.' What did he mean by 'sour soil,' Fatherbob?"

"Sour soil is the kind that has no food in it for the seeds and plants. It means the same as poor soil. People use many different things to 'sweeten' the ground. They use leaf mould and manure, and a good many people buy stuff made just to feed the ground with. It is called fertilizer."

"Oh, I know," cried Dolly, quite pleased to be able to understand this long word; "the fairies have told me about that."

"What else did they tell you about beets?"

"Well, the fairy said the seeds should be soaked in warm water for about eight hours. He said the seeds were really little pods with a lot of seeds in them. That makes them come up very thin, and you have to pull up some of them to make room for the others. You can use those you pull up for greens. He said they must be kept free from weeds; oh, Fatherbob, did I tell you about the weed imp?"

"Yes, you did. I liked the story very much, but now I think it is time for Dollykin to be in bed so she is going to get up early and see a Dewdrop fairy tomorrow. So good night, little daughter; sleep sweetly, good night."

Thousands of Tons of American Food Keep Poles from Starving During Their Dark Hour of Need

BY CECIL CHESTERTON.

Warsaw, June 14 (by mail).—At the present moment there are a million persons in Poland in receipt of Government relief. Unemployment and lack of foodstuffs have created a state of indigence and distress which but for the immediate assistance organized by America must have created an element dangerous if not fatal to the stability of the State. The headquarters of the American Food Mission are in Warsaw, under the direction of Colonel Graves, who was good enough to give me some interesting particulars of the way in which the work is carried on.

The task of feeding Poland has been given to America," he explained. "We are here to see that the grain and other foodstuffs are duly delivered and to give any suggestions to the Polish Government that we think helpful. The method of working is quite simple and business-like. A company has been formed in the States, under the name of the Grain Corporation, charged with the work of buying wheat, corn, canned milk and all foodstuffs exported to Poland, and selling them to the Polish authorities. You must understand that, though everything is arranged on trade lines, there is no margin of profit—everything is sold at cost price, which includes the freight from the port of departure to Danzig and any other additional items. The freights are under the care of the Shipping Board, who apply to Mr. Hoover for cargo space as it is required. The capital of the Grain Corporation is $15,000,000.

American responsibility for the goods ends with the arrival of the ships at Danzig," said the Colonel. "There the Polish Government takes control. Major Webb and his staff are there to smooth any difficulties and to arrange with the German authorities as to the unloading of the vessels and the transport to the Polish frontier; but, though we are ready and willing to negotiate diplomatic difficulties, the actual charge of the stuff is in Polish hands. I may tell you that we have been very successful in dealing with the Germans and have had very little trouble. Doubtless the judicious distribution of supplies of pork among the people and the fact that one of the conditions of employment is the right to buy food at a fixed rate has smoothed matters, but the fact remains that, with very few exceptions, the unloading of the vessels has been accomplished with very little friction."

"We started operations toward the end of February. The first big ship was Westward Ho. Then followed a series of vessels, so that by the end of March the delivery had assumed a fair figure. Up to March 31 the quantities were as follows:

"Wheat, 52,341 tons; fats, 3,141 tons; canned milk, 158 tons; wheat flour, 1,402 tons; meal flour, 3,190 tons; rye flour, 2,103 tons; beans, peas, pulse, 1,350 tons; clothing, 460 tons.

In April we delivered: "Wheat flour, 60,913 tons; fats, 3,646 tons; canned milk, 607 tons; cereal flour, 4,008 tons; cocoa and sugar, 455 tons; pork, coffee, tea and soap, 1,333 tons. Our estimates for May are slightly higher.

"Wheat flour, 71,946 tons; pulse, 5,000 tons; canned milk, 5,000 tons; fats, 1,000 tons.

Poland should be on a self-support basis soon, as the harvest is now being gathered. The great difficulty has been to clear up the terrible legacy of a Russian inefficiency with which Poland has been saddled. "When we came here we found that while it was possible for those with money to get as much food as they wanted those without were practically compelled to starve. It was not easy to find an immediate remedy. If prices were controlled the peasants would have refused to sell. Had the making of cakes been abolished right away a number of men would have been thrown out of employment. But I am glad to say that matters were adjusted quite satisfactorily, cakes have been stopped and a better distribution of food arranged generally. We do not want to interfere with the Polish Government; we are not here to teach them how to run their country, but diplomacy goes a long way and we are working very smoothly together. In other ways we have been able to help. We keep inspectors going around the country to report on labor conditions, and whenever there is any local trouble we suggest an increase of supplies in that particular district. For example, things looked very ugly at Dombrowa a short while ago. The men were all out of work and practically starving and the Bolshevik agitators made the most of the situation. One of our officers talked to the crowd, announced that a special distribution of flour would take place and the crisis vanished. I think the Poles are the most enduring people. I cannot imagine any other country where the men would have starved as quietly as they have done here, especially when in Warsaw and in other towns they see that people with money can get practically anything they liked."

"I suppose the great difficulty is the lack of organization?" I inquired. "It isn't that there is too little organization, but too much," said the Colonel. "The system is so complicated that it won't work. It is stifled with red tape—there are so many forms to fill up that the poor applicants would starve before he got through. At it is in kind-hearted official generally gives the food tickets without the proper formalities, otherwise nothing would be done. You can't blame the Poles. The only system they have is that forced on them by the Tsar. They have not had time to arrange their own methods. In those districts where officialdom has not permeated things are much easier. We simply choose the ablest man in the place and put him in charge of the business."

On arrival at Danzig the goods are sent to various centres, of which Warsaw is the largest. From these centres supplies are redistributed. In Warsaw during the months of February and March 74,418 tons of food were distributed. In April the amount totalled 73,213 tons. Lodz, the cottoncentre, had 46,480 tons in February and March and 71,914 in April. Other centres are Kalisz, Cracow, Brest, Lwow, Olkusz and Miawa. The American Mission extends its work throughout Poland into Lithuania and parts of Ukraine. The United States alone among the powers has sent Red Cross contingents who are at work on all the fronts.

The American Food Mission is quartered in a beautiful building, the palace of Count Zamojski, the descendant of the historic chancellor depicted in the famous picture of Matejko in which Skarga, the preacher, a gentleman with a family resemblance to John Knox, foretold the partition and enslavement of Poland. The rooms are lofty, the parquet floors inlaid with choice woods and brightly shining; the portraits on the walls, some of them hundreds of years old, gaze down at the alert figures and vivid faces of the American officers with a certain wonder and, it seemed to me, dismay, for with that wonderful faculty of creating their own atmosphere which seems to be the special quality of the English-speaking races the palace has an air of comfort and well-being lacking in the stiffer, more ceremonious Polish home.

The palace looks out on a pleasant park, where violets are to be found and wild strawberries. Whenever I feel an intolerable longing for England I go to the American Mission. It is the most homelike place I know. The work of the American Mission is done very quietly, but to anyone who knows the truth of the conditions in Poland, the terrible distress, the heartbreaking sufferings of the population, the critical importance of their undertaking is immediately apparent. That they have been of the most vital help to the people in the hour of their greatest need, not only by the distribution of food but in the preservation of order, is freely acknowledged by the nation. There has lately been open a special section dealing with the relief of children, both in their homes and in institutions. No one can understand the problems Poland has to face without realizing the mass of misery and destitution with which she and her helpers have to cope.

CANNING COMPOUNDS HARMFUL TO HEALTH

Housewives Warned Against the Use of These Trade Substances and Preserving Powders.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—Canning compounds sold under various trade names for use in home canning are often harmful to health and should never be used by housewives, say the specialists of the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture. These preparations which are usually in powdered form and contain salicylic acid or boric acid, are unnecessary since fruits and vegetables can be kept for long periods in perfect condition without any chemical preservatives whatever if proper methods of canning are followed.

The Federal Food and Drugs Act prohibits the use of harmful preservatives in foods which come within its jurisdiction. The food laws of nearly every State in the Union forbid the sale within the State of foods which have been preserved with harmful substances. Although neither the Federal or State laws apply to foods canned in the home and consumed there, it would seem that the housewife would not knowingly use, in the foods she preserves for her family, substances that are prohibited by law in foods for sale because the substances are injurious to health.

The Department of Agriculture has issued bulletins that give specific directions for the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables without the use of preserving powders or canning compounds. These bulletins may be obtained without cost upon application to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

The imports of condensed milk into Japan are steadily declining, for there are now several large manufacturers of this commodity in Japan, and last year 100,000 cases of Japanese condensed milk were exported to China, India and the Straits Settlements.

TAGGING THE BASES

More than 20,000 fans saw the Giants get even with the Pirates Sunday. McGraw's express train ran over Earl Hamilton in the ball-inning in which New York runners scored.

A long, heavy bat, propelled by Ty Cobb put the Yankees down for the count at Detroit. Ty hammered home two runs in the seventh and knocked in the winning tally in the ninth.

With the bases full in the eighth inning Wambogans scored from third when the Indians pulled a triple steal with two out and won from the Senators.

MANAGER GRIFFITH DECLARES WALTER JOHNSON AS GOOD AS HE EVER WAS

Washington Twirler Who Is Good for Several Years.

"Walter Johnson has four or five more years before him," declares Manager Clark Griffith of the Nationals. "Johnson is as good as ever he was." Griffith continued. "He is just past his thirty-second birthday and when seen at work he really looks like a youngster."

MAY IN HARD LUCK

Jahey May pitched to only two batters in a recent Cardinals-Reds game, but that was enough for the scorers to charge him with the loss of the game. He relieved Meadows with the score 4 to 3 and a runner on third. A hit by Rousch sent in the run that tied. Meadows could be charged with that, so May was left with the tie game to solve. The next batter hit safely off May, leaving two men he had put on before he was jerked. They were enough, when they scored, to give Cincinnati a win and May a black mark.

SIX WEEKS' TRAINING IS TOO MUCH-COBB

Tiger Star Says Player Should Remember Length of Season.

Looks Like Folly to Georgia Peach for Player to Drain His Endurance in South—Has His Own Idea of Training.

Ty Cobb answers the critics of his training camp methods by the assertion that the routine of one month or six weeks is entirely too long for the ball player.

For many seasons Cobb has refused to report to the Tigers when they are trained for Dixieland. Rarely has he jumped into uniform earlier than a week or ten days before the opening of the regular season. Cobb's enemies repeatedly declared that failure to train would handicap Cobb considerably. But it has never been so. Several times the "Southern Typhoon" has started slowly, but along about mid June he has found his stride and breezed along to the sublime heights of the offensive baseball world.

"Four to six weeks training in the South, with two sessions daily, hurt rather than help a player," Cobb explains. "After two weeks in the South the player is trained rather fine. After that strenuous training begins to sap his endurance. When the season opens he looks good and

ALL FAMILIES WANT AN AUTO

Machines Have Rapidly Developed From "Freak" Stage to Absolute Necessity.

LARGE FACTOR IN PROGRESS

Production Has Increased by Leaps and Bounds Until Today There Are More Than 5,000,000 Motor Cars in the United States.

When the first horseless carriage appeared we looked it over curiously, nudged each other knowingly, made jocular remarks and went about our business wondering what those crazy inventors would do next. Thus began the evolution of what is today our third greatest industry. From the freak stage, the automobile developed into a rich man's plaything. Finally, after many vicissitudes, we were forced to recognize it as a possible commercial proposition.

From a possibility to a probability—and soon to a certainty—the automobile quickly arrived at its proper position in the scheme of things. And that position is an exalted one.

All Families Want Cars.

The automobile today is so effective a factor in the progress and happiness of humanity that it is every family's ambition to possess one.

Logically, its production has increased by leaps and bounds, until today there are more than 5,000,000 automobiles in the United States alone. They have become a national necessity, employed in every avenue of industry—to save time and widen zones of trade.

They have brought fresh air and the wonders of the open country to multitudes, lessening distances and promoting closer fellowship.

That, in brief, is the past and present of the automobile.

What, then, of the future?

We hear much less than formerly of the approach of a so-called saturation period—a time when so many cars will have been built that sharp curtailment of output must come.

Industry in Infancy.

The more we reflect, investigate and analyze, the more our common sense tells us that the building of cars is still an infant industry.

In the first instance, we take into account that which we all know to be true; namely, that he who once owns a car will contrive to own one as long as he has the price.

That means, in round figures, that more than a million automobiles must be built this year to replace those that will wear out. This is on the conservative basis that the average car has a useful life of five years.

The future of the automobile is something for succeeding generations to worry about—maybe—but he is a rank pessimist who will say today that it is anything but rosy.

GRINDING NOISES IN GEARS

Trouble Can Be Reduced by Using Heavier Grease, but Good Judgment Must Be Used.

Grinding noises in gears or differential can be reduced by using a heavier grease, but judgment must be used, as it is easy to get a grease so heavy that when it is chilled it will squeeze out of the gears and stay out, causing them to run dry, and thus aggravating the trouble.

MOTORTRUCKS HAVE REVOLUTIONIZED BUSINESS OF QUICK TRANSPORTATION

Motor Truck Facilitates Transportation of Milk.

When the necessity for moving war essentials simply overwhelmed the railroads and paralyzed shipping conditions, the world was brought to a realization of what motor trucks could accomplish in emergencies. Thousands of business men learned the answers to their individual transportation problems and will permanently profit by them. It is apparent, on the other hand, that many others have even yet failed to come to a complete realization of all that the motor truck means to present and future transportation.

No industry, no business house requiring either pick-up or delivery can obtain full success today without the use of one or more trucks. The public demands quick service—motor truck delivery is the solution.

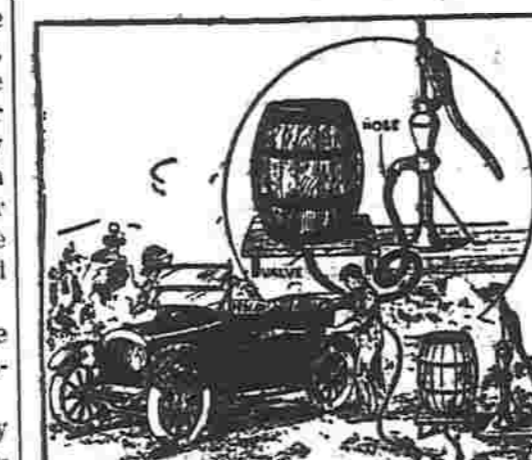

Daily Object Lessons.

Every day the object lesson is driven home. One merchant increases his business because of the dependability of his deliveries. His competitor, with otherwise equally good facilities, bare-

DIFFICULTY IN WASHING CAR

Operation Can Be Performed by Man Working Alone. If Barrel Is Placed on Platform.

The great difficulty in washing automobiles, where no water under pressure is available, is to operate the sprayer pump, and at the same time use a sponge effectively, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. A large water and air-tight barrel with both heads intact will be required. A faucet or valve, to which a hose can be attached, is inserted in one of these heads. The barrel is then placed, with the faucet down, upon some sort of platform. A hose is attached to this faucet and to the nozzle of the force pump. After the valve is opened, water should be pumped into the barrel, until it is about three-fourths full. The valve is then closed, and the hose is removed from the nozzle of the force pump. To use the barrel as a force sprayer, it is only necessary to put a nozzle on the hose and open the valve at the bottom of the barrel. The air, which is compressed by pumping the water into the barrel, forces the water out when the valve is opened, thus making an effective spray. All these operations can be performed by a man working alone.

TAR REMOVED FROM MACHINE

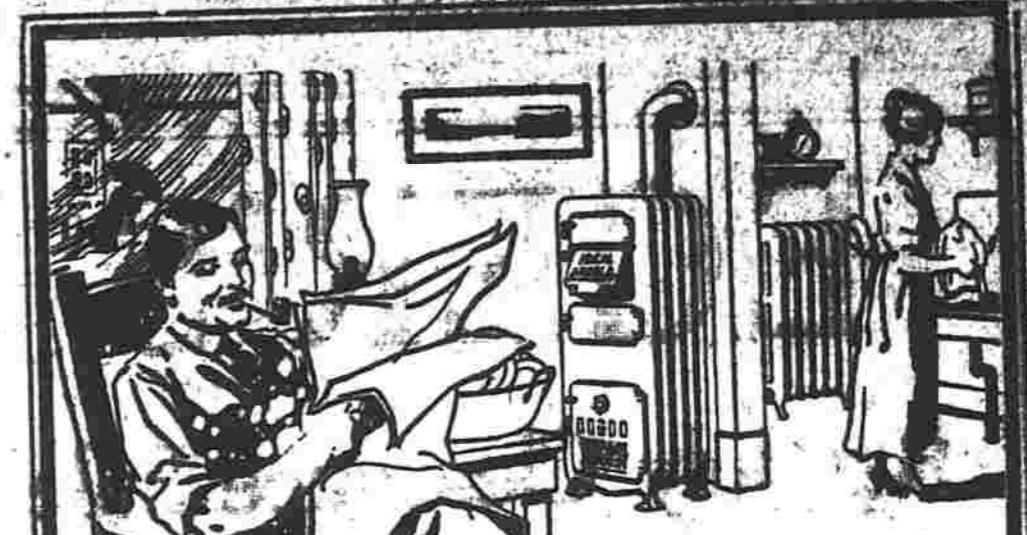

Almost Impossible to Run Over New Roads or Pavements Without Getting Some on Car.

It is hardly possible to drive a machine over newly tarred roads or pavements without getting at least some of the tar on the body. If treated in time the spots are not difficult to remove. The machine should be washed to eliminate all the grit, and carefully dried with kerosene, so that the tar will not smear. A little vaseline applied over each spot and worked in with the fingers will help to remove the stains. A thorough wash with body soap and a finish polish in the usual manner completes the operation.

ONE-WAY BUSINESS HARMFUL

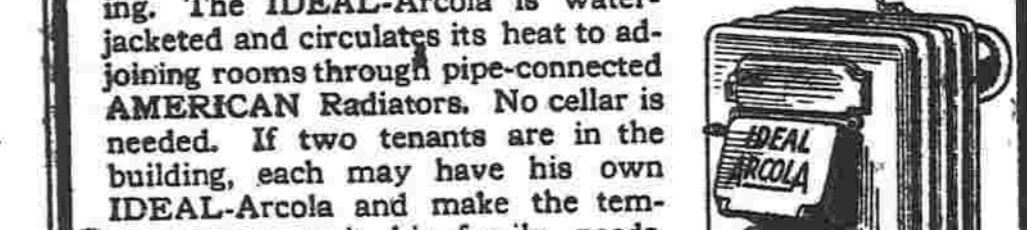

Too Many Motortruck Routes Inaugurated Where Driver Returned With Empty Truck.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Too many motortruck routes have been started where a good one-way business was secured and the operator felt justified in returning with empty trucks. It is unsafe to generalize, but it may be definitely stated at this point that practically no route has ever been successful which has depended on a one-way load.

MANAGER MORAN KEPT KOPF

Youngster Promises to Be One of Shining Stars in National League This Season.

Leave it to Pat Moran to save himself an ace for the day of the big emergency. He managed to retain Larry Kopf, who originally was slated to go to the Dodgers, but refused, and the youngster who broke into the main show a few years ago as substitute infielder for the Athletics promises to be one of the outstanding stars of the National League this season. Kopf already has made good, but his admirers say he is going to ascend to even loftier heights. Both in fielding and batting Kopf has been one of the stars of the Reds, and Moran doesn't hesitate to express his admiration for the youngster. Moran, it is evident now, accomplished a ten strike for the Reds and himself when he kept Kopf for Cincinnati.

GRIFFITH SWEET ON FOSTER

Manager of Nationals Thinks His Third Sacker Is One of Greatest Place Hitters.

Clark Griffith—always an extravagant talker, and at the same time a renowned baseball sage—is ready to boost Foster. Here is a sample: "I have had on my teams the three greatest place hitters in the history of baseball, and I want to tell you that of the three, Eddie Foster is the best.

Eddie Foster.

The others are Willie Keeler and Hal Chase. Willie taught Hal, and Hal taught Eddie.

"Foster is the smartest batter I ever saw. A pitcher usually can tell by the position of the batter's feet just where he hopes to hit, just as a boxer gets a line on the schemes of his opponent by watching his opponent's feet. If you see a right-hand batter's feet set for an attempt to hit to right field, you can pitch fast inside, and nine times out of ten he will pop up."

Introduce American Methods.

American methods, introduced on the Seine at Paris, of coaching a rowing crew by use of moving pictures, have been the subject of lively discussion among French athletes.

New Pitcher for Senators.

Manager Griffith of the Washington club secured Pitcher Whitehouse of the Minneapolis American association team in exchange for Infielder Davis.

DIAMOND NOTES

American soldiers abroad participate in 5,000 baseball games daily.

Right Fielder Miller of Worcester is out of the game with a cracked ankle.

Ping Bodie is a natural hitter. Never took a lesson in his life. He hits by ear.

Fewster doesn't feel well unless he is chased from the bench once or twice a week.

Terre Haute has signed Guy Gelter to play first base. He is just out of the army.

Kitty Bransfield is being complimented for good work as an umpire in the Eastern league.

Jim Scott lost his first out as a pitcher with the San Francisco team, Oakland beating him 7 to 6.

Pitcher Pete Shields, who has been with Bridgeport, has been released to Evansville of the Three I league.

Joe Birmingham has found it anything but a picnic handling the Pittsfield team, with shortage of players, etc.

The Cincinnati club is reported to have offered Little Rock $5,000 for Charley Grimm for immediate delivery.

The Salt Lake City club announces that it has purchased Infielder Eddie Fitzpatrick from the Boston Nationals.

Red Sox signed Lamar from the Yankees after he had been two years with New York. He was secured from Baltimore.

With the purchase of Bunny Fabrique from Seattle to play short the Los Angeles club gave Freddy Driscoll his release.

First Baseman Kellher of Peoria hit safely in 24 consecutive games. He made 45 hits and scored 25 runs in that stretch.

Ray Bates has been getting a slow start with the Angels. He hasn't done any ball playing to speak of since 1917, and needs considerable limbering up.

Washington Twirler Who Is Good for Several Years.

"Walter Johnson has four or five more years before him," declares Manager Clark Griffith of the Nationals. "Johnson is as good as ever he was." Griffith continued. "He is just past his thirty-second birthday and when seen at work he really looks like a youngster."

Asked whether Johnson was suffering with a sore arm this season, the manager replied: "I have never known Walter to have a sore arm. There was talk about his arm being sore at the opening of the season, but it was not so. He was suffering from a bad cold, which caused general indisposition."

UNIQUE TRIPLE PLAY

That triple play in a recent Cleveland-St. Louis game was rather odd and deserves detailing. In the fourth inning, with the bases full, Gerber hit a fly to Wood, on which Sisler scored from third. Wood's throw was intercepted by Chapman, who found Jacobson and Sloan wandering around off bases, and both runners were retired, what should have been one out thus resulting in three.

ABOUT TOWN

Charles E. House of C. E. House and Son, Inc., is enjoying a rest at Watch Hill, R. I.

Thomas and Earl Chambers of the Waranoke Inn spent the week-end at Belknap Lake.

A son was born last evening to Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Duffy of 350 Center street. This is their second child.

Manchester continues to grow steadily. During the month of June at the Hall of Records there were recorded 31 births, 24 marriages and only 8 deaths.

Henry W. Nettleton, superintendent of trolley lines, with Mrs. Nettleton, is enjoying a few days with relatives in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. They made the trip by automobile.

Leonard Richman of the Dewey-Richman Company motored to Ocean Beach yesterday. He was accompanied on the return trip by Herbert House, who has been visiting at Watch Hill.

John Shea, the Green Line conductor, has purchased an Essex touring car. Jacob Lauffer of Main street is another owner of an Essex model. Both sales were made through the Stephens-Williams Essex agency.

The Misses Ruth and Mildred Porter of Garden street and Miss Thelma Gilbert, of Rocky Hill, left this morning for Eagle Camp, South Hero, Vermont, where they will spend the next two weeks.

Ernest Williams and John Herr of the Class of 1918, South Manchester High, returned from the Worcester Tech Saturday, having completed the three weeks of "shop practice" required of all mechanical students after commencement.

Edward McCarthy, the local umpire who was accidentally shot in the leg at the West side a few weeks ago, by a bullet from a 22 calibre rifle, is able to be around. McCarthy still limps, but expects that this will not interfere with his work.

Kirkland T. Taylor, formerly employed in the finishing department at Cheney Brothers, has left the employ of that firm to enter the local branch of the Prudential Insurance Company. Mr. Taylor will cover the Ellington and Rockville routes.

Mathew Wolf and Harry Reichard, both well known in automobile circles, are to enter the employ of the South Manchester Garage this week. The former has had charge of a Portland, Me., service station and the latter conducted the Jones Garage in Hartford.

A party of boy scouts, about twenty five in number, left by auto from the Recreation Center at nine o'clock this morning for the Scout Camp at Coventry, which opened today for two weeks. An advance guard left Saturday to make the final arrangements. Many of the boys will remain only one week, consequently there will be room for those who desire to go the second week. Applications may be turned in to Director Whiting at his office in the "Rec."

James Quinn, the druggist, is driving a new Ford run-a-bout.

Will Clegg of Toop's Meat Market is enjoying his vacation in New York City.

John Goldman of the Park Shoe store spent the week end with his parents in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Johnston of Bigelow street will spend the next two weeks at Pleasant View, R. I.

A number of young people employed at Cheney Brothers enjoyed an outing Saturday at Coventry Lake.

Sheppard Encampment, Loyal Order of Odd Fellows will hold an installation of officers at the lodge headquarters this evening.

Miss Olive McIntosh of Buckland left today for a two weeks' vacation at Lake Sunapee, N. H. Miss McIntosh was accompanied by her mother.

Harley Rogers, an ex-motorman of the Connecticut Company, is visiting his father on Oakland Place. Mr. Rogers is now employed on the Boston elevated lines.

There will be a special meeting of the ten teams which competed in last week's membership campaign, at the Army and Navy Hut this evening. The meeting will be called to order at 7.30.

Benjamin Phillips of Lilley street, who has been conducting an Atlantic and Pacific branch store in West Hartford, has given up this venture and is back with the G. E. Keith Furniture Company.

The annual outing of Hose Co. No. 4 of the South Manchester Fire department was held yesterday at Coventry Lake. The members left the hose house early yesterday morning making the trip in autos.

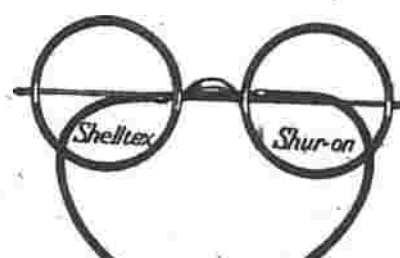

Thomas Hewitt, a former member of Company G, 102nd, regiment A. E., is enjoying a short furlough at his home on Prospect street. Hewitt was badly wounded in France when the fragments of a bursting shell entered several parts of his body. He has been recuperating at the United States General Hospital No. 41 at Fox Hills, Staten Island.

Local Orangemen and their families celebrated the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne with a celebration at Riverside Park, Springfield Saturday. The affair was sponsored by Washington Lodge of this place. It is estimated that over 350 people attended from Manchester. The party returned in the evening, when a short parade was held by the Center Flute Band.

Bobby Rejmer, the New Britain featherweight, who has many local admirers, having been until a few years ago, Manchester's premier mitt artist, has posted a forfeit of $100 for a match with Sammy Waltz, the Hartford sensation. It is now up to Hugh Rorty, the latter's manager, to accept the challenge. Many local fans are of the opinion that Rejmer is Sammy's superior.

A feature of the last week's anniversary celebration of the Sage-Allen stores in Hartford, was a window display containing a silk loom in full operation. The loom was owned by George McCormick who has been in the employ of the local concern for twenty-seven years. The demonstration was the first of its kind ever held in Hartford. It attracted thousands of shoppers and was featured in the Hartford dailies.

Main street was a busy place yesterday afternoon and evening. The property of the company that is to hold a carnival on the ball ground was unloaded at the freight station and carted to the ground by auto trucks and teams. The men were busy unloading until the middle of the afternoon until midnight. Just as soon as the last session of the Chautauqua came to an end the paraphernalia belonging to the association was carted to the freight station for shipment to the next stopping place.

QUALITY AND PRICES ARE WHAT COUNTS

We believe in giving a square deal to all, which means perfect vision, highest quality goods and low prices.

As we sell six times as many glasses as anyone else in Manchester we can afford to sell them cheaper. If you want good, yes extra good glasses and don't feel that you can pay the high prices charged by some, than you should call at our South Manchester office and receive a square deal and get your glasses at the right price.

Office Open Every Night Except Saturday from 9.30 to 5.30 p. m. At Optical Dept. G. Fox & Co. during the day.
