

HENRY FORD CALLS SELF A MURDERER AT TRIBUNE TRIAL

Said He Was the Same as Anyone Who Made Ammunition.

ALSO CALLS HIMSELF AN IGNORANT IDEALIST

Says His Son Could Have Had Dozen
Commissions But Wanted to be Doughboy During War.

Mount Clemens, Mich., July 16.—Henry Ford called himself a "murderer" on the witness stand in the trial of his $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Tribune today.

"You characterized everybody who advocated preparedness as doing it for the purpose of making money out of it, didn't you?" Attorney Stevenson asked him.

"I advocated preparedness," Ford answered.

"Over preparedness, you said," stated Stevenson.

"No, I advocated preparedness after we got into the war," Ford declared.

I Was Murderer.

"I am talking about 1915 and 1916," the lawyer said.

"I was a murderer just as well as anybody else," the witness replied.

"You were a murderer?"

"I was a party to it. One of its helpers," Ford said, referring to the manufacture of munitions at his plant.

"Do you mean that the men who were advocating preparedness in 1915 or 1916 were murderers, like you were in 1917?"

"No," Ford said, "we were not in the war."

President's Speech.

A speech made by President Wilson in Kansas City when he made his tour of the country in the interest of preparedness was read. It urged unification of the martial spirit of the entire country. The purpose in introducing it into the trial was to show divergence of opinion between the President and Mr. Ford at that time.

Ford's first statement from the stand today was an admission that he is an "ignorant idealist." The term was applied to Ford in the Tribune editorial in which the libel suit is based.

"You wanted me to say that, didn't you?" Ford asked after Attorney Stevenson had asked him concerning the "ignorant idealist" appellation.

"So I did," Attorney Stevenson replied. "You admit that as a fact don't you?"

Ford merely nodded his head.

Never Heard of Him.

In answer to another question Ford referred to Benedict Arnold as a writer and said he had never heard of Major Andre, of Revolutionary war fame.

"Do you know, Mr. Ford, when the United States was born?" Stevenson asked.

"I could find out in five minutes," was the reply.

Just before he resumed the stand today, Ford characterized as absurd the charges of Senator L. Y. Sherman, of Illinois that Secretary of War Baker and President Wilson violated the draft law in exempting Edsel Ford from military service.

Son Offered Commission.

"Edsel was offered ten or a dozen different uniforms with commissions," Ford said. "His knowledge of the various war materials being made in his father's plant made him invaluable. The tank corps wanted to commission him a few weeks after we got into hostilities and the aircraft section followed shortly afterward.

"But Edsel did not want to strut around in a uniform or sit in a swivel chair. He wanted to be a doughboy. I have many ideals and wishes I want to be carried out and that, coupled with the fact that he was really doing a man's work that could not be duplicated, kept him out of the army legitimately." Ford's statement concerning his son's non-participation in military service was made just before he resumed the stand today.

YANKEE GIRL UNEARTHED PLOT TO GET U. S. IN WAR WITH JAPS

South American Newspaper

Member of Our Secret Service — Beautiful Yankee
Girl Substituted for German
Girl Sent to be Zimmer-man's Secretary.

Buenos Ayres, July 16.—A beautiful young American woman played a highly important part in the uncovering of the German plot to involve Mexico and Japan in war with the United States, as revealed by the Zimmerman letter two years ago, the newspaper La Nacion declares. La Nacion asserts that it received full information of how the United States secret service obtained copies of letters relating to the conspiracy from a man who was until recently in the American secret service. He was a trusted agent of the American State Department, the newspaper declares, and trailed German agents acting as intermediaries between Foreign Secretary Zimmerman, in Berlin, and the German minister to Mexico, von Eckhardt.

DR. ALFRED ZIMMERMANN

The First Clue.

According to La Nacion, the United States secret service first picked up the trail of a German agent, who was acting as intermediary, and finally brought about his arrest in New York. After he had been interned on Ellis Island, Ambassador Bernstorff obtained the services of a pretty young German girl, who was to go to Mexico City on a Dutch passport, ostensibly as a tourist, but in reality as the carrier of important confidential information to von Eckhardt regarding the German plot against the United States.

Stopped the Girl.

The girl was stopped at Laredo, Texas, La Nacion asserts. The State Department let the word be spread about that she had merely been refused entrance into Mexico on the ground that it was dangerous for women to enter the country and that she had been set at liberty.

Another Girl Substituted.

As a matter of fact, says La Nacion, she was held incommunicado and the young American woman, who was married, was given the German girl agent's credentials and proceeded to Mexico City. There she represented herself to be the emissary from Bernstorff and was employed as confidential secretary by the Minister. It was while acting in this role that she obtained possession of the documents that were subsequently given publication from Washington, creating a world-wide sensation.

FIFTY SEAMEN INJURED IN N. Y. STRIKERS' RIOTS

Break Through Gates at Ward Line
Piers and Drag Seamen From Vessels.

New York, July 16.—In a series of battles between striking marine workers and policemen early today, more than fifty strikers were painfully injured and five were placed under arrest.

Shortly after midnight 200 strikers burst through the gates of the Ward Line pier and dragged forty seamen from the decks of the steamer Morro Castle. Twenty policemen charged the strikers with night sticks, routed them in a sharp fight and rescued the non-union men.

Three hundred strikers made another attempt to rush aboard two other ships of the Ward Line and were on the point of succeeding when police reserves arrived and drove them back. Two fights occurred on the piers of the American Line, where the strikers unsuccessfully attempted to drag seamen off a vessel which was sailing today.

REPUBLICAN CHAIRMAN STATES LEAGUE STAND

Will H. Hays Declares for Effective
Reservations and Changes of Article X.

New York, July 16.—Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican National Committee, has issued the following statement on the League of Nations covenant:

"The situation respecting the league covenant is simply this: There must be effective reservations. These reservations must safeguard the sovereignty of the United States in every particular, must guarantee the Monroe Doctrine beyond the shadow of a doubt; must either eliminate article X entirely or so modify it that our own Congress shall be morally as well as legally free after a specified period to decide when and where and to what extent our soldiers shall be employed; must retain our full control of immigration, tariff and all other purely domestic policies; and must provide full right to withdraw from the league at any time without hindrance or conditions of any kind, upon giving suitable notice. It is up to the administration to decide whether it will or will not accept these essential guarantees of American independence which would unquestionably be promptly accepted by the other nations."

STRIKE ORDER SENT OUT TO 7,000 "L" EMPLOYEES

Men Told to Stop Work at Four O'clock Tomorrow Morning.

Boston, July 16.—Failure of the National War Labor Board to meet the demands of the Boston street car men's union resulted today in strike orders being sent to all divisions of the Boston Elevated.

The 7,000 men were told to be ready to stop work at 4 a. m., tomorrow morning.

The only definite word came from Secretary Lauck of the Board, who urged that the men remain at work pending the decision, and who intimated that a strike would throw out the whole matter under consideration.

The men are protected, Lauck said, because the award, when it comes, will be retroactive.

NO MEXICAN INTERVENTION.

Washington, July 16.—"There is no foundation for the press reports emanating from South American countries that the United States has determined upon armed intervention in Mexico, and would assume control of the Mexican government," Third Assistant Secretary of State Long declared today.

"There is no foundation for the statement. The United States has not determined upon that policy," he said.

Frederick August, of Saxony, Latest to Plead for Kaiser—Who'll Be the Next?

Berlin, July 16.—Former King Frederick August, of Saxony, is the latest to plead the ex-Kaiser's cause. The former petty monarch has sent a message to King-George of England saying:

"Your Majesty will understand that the German princes of our dynasty will stand by our Kaiser. In consideration of your Majesty's Christian sentiment we expect your influence towards dropping the matter of extradition."

NO 2.75 BEER FOR DRYS SAYS WAYNE WHEELER

It Would Keep Alive Liquor
Trade and Defeat
Prohibition.

WHAT IS INTOXICANT?

Drys Need No Enforcement Code Unless the Word is Defined Says Anti-Saloon Head.

Washington, July 16.—To allow the sale of 2.75 per cent. beer would keep alive the liquor trade and defeat the purpose of National Prohibition declared Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League of America today before the Senate Judiciary Committee, conducting hearings on prohibition enforcement legislation.

The statement of Mr. Wheeler was in the nature of a reply to recent testimony of Samuel Undermyer before the same committee, in which the attorney advised that the brewers be allowed to sell 2.75 per cent. beer direct to the consumer.

"The friends of prohibition do not want an enforcement code unless it defines intoxicating liquors," Mr. Wheeler continued.

Mr. Wheeler told the committee that "everyone of the 33 dry states had defined this term, and local option states had also done so." He challenged Mr. Undermyer to show any court decision denying congress or a legislature the right to define terms.

What Drys Want.

"In view of this experience with the traffic in 90 per cent. of the territory of this nation, Congress cannot consistently adopt a weaker standard in defining the term than that which has been already enacted in the states," he said. "This means nothing can be sold for beverage purposes that contains more than one-half of one per cent. of alcohol."

"The brewers are just as responsible for the evils of the traffic as the retail liquor dealers," he added, referring to Undermyer's statement, that "saloons are the kindergartens of crime."

Wilson Would Bury Hatchet; Wants To Settle Senate Feud

JAPAN IS TO EXPLAIN HER SHANTUNG PLEDGE

By Doing So the Present Situation in Senate Would be Clarified.

WOULD HELP THE LEAGUE

Sen. Norris Wants Shantung Settlement Stricken From Treaty—
If That Is Done Treaty Would Be Thrown Out of Senate.

Washington, July 16.—Japan may issue soon an official declaration to the world that she will abide strictly by the pledges made by her representatives at the peace conference that she would respect the territorial integrity of Shantung if permitted to retain certain economic rights within the Chinese province which she wrested from Germany during the war.

This was ascertained today not only from Democratic Senators who have been in close touch with the White House since President Wilson's recent return from Paris, but from Republican Senators who claimed to possess trustworthy inside sources of information regarding the Shantung settlement.

Want Japs to Explain.

The Democratic Senators expressed the hope that Japan would not delay in making her attitude toward the Shantung question, so clear as to leave no doubt as to her intentions regarding the Chinese province. By doing so, Japan would do much to clarify the situation, they added, and thereby greatly assist President Wilson's supporters in the Senate in overcoming some of the bitter opposition which has developed in that body to the ratification of the peace treaty with the Shantung settlement as one of its provisions.

Pledges Not in Treaty.

It was pointed out that the pledges of the Japanese peace commissioners with respect to Shantung were expressly omitted from the peace treaty at their request lest the incorporation of them in the document be construed as a reflection on the word and honor of the Japanese.

Senators arrayed against the United States giving approval to the Shantung settlement have repeatedly declared that all the assurances the American people had that Japan would surrender all territorial rights within the Chinese province were based on the "promises" of the Japanese peace commissioners, and not upon any definite announcement by the Japanese government.

Would Help League.

If the latter were to come out with a definite statement that the Japanese would live squarely up to the pledges of her commissioners, it was said, the teeth would be drawn from much of the Senatorial opposition to the Shantung agreement which Democratic leaders in the Senate admitted today was giving them no little concern.

Republican Senators like Borah, of Idaho, Johnson of California and Knox, of Pennsylvania, who have abandoned hope of the President's antagonists being able to separate the League of Nations covenant from the peace treaty, were not attempting to conceal their satisfaction with the Shantung controversy, which has sprung up in the Senate.

Shantung Helps G. O. P.

Their satisfaction was based, they frankly stated, not only on the fact that the Shantung issue had tended to solidify the Republican majority, but promised a sufficient line-up of Republican Senators to prevent the ratification of the peace treaty in its present form by the necessary two-thirds vote.

Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, signified his intention of offering an amendment to the document—when it is reported to the

Makes Further Effort to Bring Opposition Leaders to Confer- ence—Seeks to Remove Friction—Aims to Get Govern- ment on Peace Basis as Soon as Possible—Holds Up Plans for Speaking Tour in League Behalf.

Washington, July 16.—President Wilson today took steps to smooth away at least some of the friction existing between the legislative and executive branches of the government. He directed that invitations be sent to the Democratic and Republican leaders of both the Senate and the House to visit him at their convenience at the White House. It is the object, White House officials said, to have all Senators and Representatives get into touch with the President, explain their grievances, if they have any, and see whether personal contact will not wipe out many differences which actually have no apparent reason for existing.

Lodge and Knox Invited.

All of the Republican leaders, including Senators Lodge and Knox, are to be included in the invitation. Whether they come or not will be entirely up to them. However, so far as the President is concerned, administration officials said today that he is very anxious that all causes of friction be removed and everything possible be done to get the United States back on a peace footing in all branches of the government.

Chamberlain, Also.

The first Senator invited under the new rule was George E. Chamberlain of Oregon. Senator Chamberlain has been at odds with the President since the early days of the war when they disagreed over the manner in which the Senate-Military Affairs Committee of which Senator Chamberlain was chairman, conducted certain of its investigation into army matters, notably the air service.

Senator Chamberlain was called on the telephone and announced that he would be very glad to come to the White House at once to see the President.

Western Trip Postponed.

White House officials said that until the President had had the opportunity of placing himself fully and unreservedly at the disposal of every member of Congress the plans for his western trip will be held in abeyance. It was stated that there were no strings on the President's invitation to Senators and Representatives to call and that he would remain in Washington until all had an opportunity of visiting the executive offices.

So far as the western trip is concerned there are four tentative itineraries on the president's desk. Any one of them could be agreed upon and put into effect on 24 hours' notice so that there is no reason for a speedy decision on the date to start.

Get Back to Work.

At yesterday afternoon's Cabinet meeting the President told his official family that the great need at present is to get the world back to work. The United States, he declared, must set the example along this line. Therefore he urged that every member of the Cabinet get his department on a peace time basis with as little delay as possible.

Wants Free Discussion.

It was pointed out in administration circles today that so far as the President is concerned, his invitations to the Senators and Representatives was not limited to having them come to discuss the peace treaty or matters growing out of that document. On the contrary he hoped that there would be a full and free discussion of all matters of impending legislation. The President, his confidants declared today, is very anxious that he be not placed in the position of having to exercise his veto power as a weapon against Congress. He wants to avoid this as much as possible and therefore is perfectly willing to discuss legislation in all of its phases with authors of prospective laws in advance of congressional action. It is realized that, with the republicans in the majority in both sessions of Congress there would be legislation that was bitterly opposed by the Democrats. However, Administration leaders declared today that so far as the President was concerned he would judge all legislation on its merits and approve or veto only after the most thorough examination.

Among the Senators who conferred with the President today, in addition to Senator Chamberlain, were Senators Owen, of Oklahoma, Harris, of Nebraska, Wolcott, of Delaware, and Pomerene, of Ohio.

LLOYD GEORGE TO HEAD NEW POLITICAL PARTY?

"Latest Political Sensation" London
Newspapers Term Formation of Coalition Party.

London, July 16.—The Daily Mail, a newspaper which has been opposing Premier Lloyd George, stated today that Colonel Winston Churchill secretary of state for war, is proposing the formation of a new permanent coalition political party.

The Evening News emphasized the story in its afternoon edition with a streamer-head saying: "The latest political sensation."

Colonel Churchill made a speech at the Criterion Restaurant last night, having just returned from a visit to Premier Lloyd George, who is recuperating at Criceth, Wales. It was then the proposal was made public.

The Northcliffe morning papers "played" the story as a "scoop" over the Chronicle, which is close to the Premier and which has generally supposed to be his organ.

The Star, an opposition paper, leads its story with the query: "Is the Premier the leader of the new party?"

Colonel Churchill's plan involves a permanent union of moderates in the coalition factions of both Liberals and Unionists.

LABOR TROUBLES CLOSE BRIDGEPORT FACTORY

Warner Brothers Shut Down Garment
Shop While Labor Leaders
Confer Over Grievances.

Bridgeport, July 16.—With a general strike of garment workers in Connecticut threatened unless the corset employees' demands here are quickly settled, the union representatives went into conference today with Warner Brothers, who closed their factory on Saturday, dismissing 2,500 of their employees. Warner Brothers in a statement yesterday expressed a willingness to consider any grievances but reiterated the determination to keep the factory closed, until the labor situation is settled.

The demands of the workers, which now include a closed shop provision, have not yet been presented to the other employers and it is not known when they will be presented. It is expected that the conference with Warner Brothers will last for several days and in the meantime little new developments are looked for.

The fleet's base in the West will be at Puget Sound.

It will turn out, before the world is much older, that the gravest defect in the American army is the tradition that makes a wide social gap between the officers and the privates.
There ought not to be conditions imposed upon the private soldier which his officer is not willing to share with him.
France did some good fighting without setting up the officer in a separate class as a special order of human creature.

HUN NEWSPAPER RAVES OVER YANKS MARRYING

Report That 130 Soldiers Are to Wed German Girls Raises Storm of Protest.
Berlin, July 16.—The Pan German newspaper Deutsche Zeitung is raving over the report that 130 soldiers of the American army of occupation had applied for permission to marry German girls. The newspaper denounces "German girls who would reach out their hands to the murderers of their brothers."
"Not an ignominious peace, but race shame threatens German destruction," argues the Deutsche Zeitung. The paper adds:
"The damage, less than the actual marriage itself, lies in the fact that a girl is capable of such an idea. That each woman may conclude her love is a fact, but we refuse to admit such couples into our society. We shall fight with all our means the infusion of the blood of negroes, Frenchmen, Indians, Chinese, Yankees and other bearers of culture."

ALLIES ASK BELA KUN TO SAFEGUARD BONDS

Will Consider Confiscation of Foreign Securities Robberies and Act Accordingly.
Paris, July 16.—The Entente's note to Bela Kun, Red dictator of Hungary, warning him that the confiscation of foreign securities will be considered acts of robbery and that the allies will not recognize the sale of Hungarian securities in neutral countries, was understood today to be merely the forerunner of more drastic action unless the situation in Hungary changes for the better within the next few days.
Disregarded Warning.
The fact that Bela Kun disregarded the warning to reopen the Danube by shifting military operations from the Czechoslovaks to the Roumanians is regarded as emphasizing the necessity for the conference to agree upon some definite plan of intervention.
The "little five" received a note from Bela Kun to the effect that the Roumanians and Czechs are breaking the armistice on the southeastern front and not Hungary. The dictator asked what the conference intended to do about it. The "little five" decided to refer the question of continuing the blockade of Russia to President Wilson.

of the State Department in 1917, just before the United States entered the war, revealed the existence of a German plot to embroil the United States in difficulties with Japan and Mexico. The correspondence consisted of letters from Zimmerman, then foreign secretary in the German cabinet, to von Eckhardt, the German minister to Mexico, who was to sound the Mexican government on the scheme.
Zimmerman subsequently issued a statement, admitting authorship of the letters and justifying his action on the ground that the United States apparently was about to declare war on Germany and that he was attempting to keep her military resources engaged on this side of the Atlantic. Both the Mexican and Japanese governments denied knowledge of the conspiracy.

TWO VESSELS SPEED TO ALLISON'S RESCUE

Radio Messages Report Crippled Steamer Sinking Off Long Island—No Further Messages Received.
Washington, July 16.—Two vessels have been sent to the rescue of the Shipping Board steamer Allison, which in radio messages picked up last night was reported to be in a sinking condition off the Long Island coast, and the Navy Department announced today. The United States Coast Guard Cutter Morrill, and the U. S. S. Lake View set out last night for the Allison, but no word has been received from either of them up to 11 o'clock today.
According to the messages from the Allison, which were picked up by three stations along the coast she was proceeding under her own power, but that she was filling rapidly and likely to sink at any time.

MORAN IS MIRACLE MAN OF PRESENT B. B. SEASON

Silent Manager Takes Up Broken Down Reds and Means to Win the Pennant.
New York, July 16.—"The miracle man," of 1915, has come back.
Pat Moran, the silent manager, is making another strong bid for fame. Only a few short months ago Moran was out of a job. The Phillies released him unconditionally after he had won a pennant and made two second-place finishes for them. Today he is the most talked of manager in the Major Leagues.
Taking the reins at Cincinnati just before the training season opened, the man who has a reputation for moulding winning ball clubs out of misfit material has come into his own again.
The Reds looked rather hopeless as pennant contenders when Moran took hold of them. Today they are furnishing the "zip, and ginger and the element of opposition of the Giants that is making the National League race worth while."
Moran has done what ten former managers of the Reds failed to do—given Cincinnati a winner. Bob Allen, Bid McPhee, Joe Kelley, Ned Hanlon, John Gansel, Clark Griffith, Hank O'Day, Joe Tinker, Buck Herzog and Christy Mathewson all tried it and failed. How does Moran do it? In the words of the Bard: "It's a gift."
When Moran took charge of the Reds he needed a shortstop, a second baseman, an outfielder and some pitchers. He managed to swing Jake Daubert into line to fill Chase's shoes but he had to let Tommy Griffith get away to do it. He finally got Larry Kopf back into harness and then picked up Morris Rath, who was cast off by the White Sox some seasons ago and stationed him at second base, completing an infield that looked uncertain.
His outfield, with Griffith gone, was a problem, but he has made an outfielder of Brossier, a pitcher, and is using him regularly.
All this shows genius.
The pitching staff of the Reds also presented a problem, but Moran solved it. Reuther, Eller and Luque comprised his original pitching foundation and he settled down to make winning havers out of all of them. His success with Reuther is a real accomplishment and the averages show what the other two are doing. He picked up Slim Sallee who refused to come back to the Giants, and then grabbed the veteran Ray Fisher, former Yankee. With these five chuckers, Moran is blazing a trail down the road to pennantville. There isn't a sign that the Reds will crack.
In Rariden, Wingo and Allen, Moran has a trio of dependable catchers. His infield is working as smoothly as a Swiss watch and his team as a whole is fielding and hitting brilliantly.

Senate by the Foreign Relations Committee—to strike out the Shantung settlement.

JAPAN'S PROMISE.
Paris, July 16.—Phillipe Millet, prominent writer on diplomatic questions, today urged Japan to make public at once the terms of her confidential undertaking to the council of four to restore Shantung to China to quiet opposition in the United States Senate to the peace treaty.
"Baron Makino's promise to Clemenceau, Wilson Lloyd George and Orlando was secret, but nevertheless formal," said Millet. "No one can doubt its sincerity. The only way to quiet American apprehension is to publish the text which Japan should now do. France and Great Britain never would have consented to the Shantung clause if they involved the dismemberment of China."

PILE SUFFERERS! CLEVER OHIO CHEMIST SAYS THIS GREAT PRESCRIPTION TAKEN INTERNALLY HAS NEVER FAILED

Even chronic cases of 20 to 30 years standing, with profuse bleeding, have been completely cured in from three to ten days.

No discovery of recent years in the field of medicine has caused such a stir among the medical profession as the recent discovery that piles can be successfully treated and cured at home by a wonderful prescription known to druggists as Miro Pile Remedy.

It has been proved that no caustic external remedies applied or inserted into the rectum can cure piles and at the best only give temporary relief. This is also true of surgical operations which simply remove them after formation, but in no wise acts on the source of the trouble.

This prescription, although taken internally, is not digested in the stomach, but is rapidly passed on unchanged to the intestines in a short time, reaching the exact place where by its soothing, healing action, it first allays all inflammation and then by direct contact with all ulcers and piles, causes them to heal and disappear forever.

It is positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days at most, even in cases with profuse bleeding that have resisted all known treatments and operation, really wonderful results have been accomplished.

The author of this amazing discovery desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Miro Pile Remedy decisively conquers even in the worst cases and he has instructed druggists all over the country to guarantee it in every case of blind, bleeding or protruding piles.

IMPORTANT—What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Remedy has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription.

If your druggist cannot supply you we will gladly send either of the above mail charges paid in receipt of war tax 6c, Ointment 50c, war tax 2c extra. Internal treatment $1.50. Guaranteed Remedies Co., Elyria, Ohio.

SENATE TO INQUIRE INTO LIVING COSTS

Find it is a Long Buck That Has No Passing.

RETAILERS ARE BLAMED

Expect to Find Relief as Soon as Treaty is Disposed Of—Packers Criticized.

Washington, July 16.—Living costs presented a question second only to the peace treaty in the interest of the Senate today.

Two movements were under way to secure information upon which legislative action may be taken to reduce the cost of living. Senator Gronna plans an exhaustive hearing on two bills, designed for control of the packing industry, which he believes will show interesting facts concerning high food costs, and Senator Sherman of Illinois, was today completing plans for an investigation of living costs in the District of Columbia. While this investigation is intended only to take up food costs in the District of Columbia, there were indications that its scope would be considerably widened.

To Investigate Food Prices. Senator Capper of Kansas, a member of the special sub-committee appointed by Senator Sherman, has indicated that he will strive to show in the investigation some of the causes which are keeping food costs above normal.

Senator Capper, a champion of the farmer, has it as his intention to absolve the farmer from the blame of high costs. He stated today that, in his opinion, the retail dealers are to blame to a large extent, and pointed out that while cattle is selling for lower prices than several months ago, the retail prices on meats are not declining.

To Show Retailers Responsible. Senator Capper proposes to summon witnesses who can give information as to the cost of wearing apparel and is firm in his belief that testimony which will be brought out will show that retail dealers are responsible for high prices.

Packer Propaganda. Meanwhile a storm was brewing in the Senate on the regulation of the packers. Senator Kenyon, who is the author of one bill which would place the packers under control, declared that there is a widespread movement on foot to create sentiment for the packers. At the same time there is also an anti-packer movement, evident from the large number of telegrams being received from householders demanding some action against the packers and high prices.

Such great pressure was being brought to bear for the lowering of living costs, that it was predicted today by party leaders that some action would be taken, which would at least be an attempt at relief, as soon as the peace treaty has been disposed of.

HUDSONS TO BE TESTED BY FAST TEAM SUNDAY

Will Meet Acorns of Kennington, Mass., On West Side—Visitors Have One Armed Marvel.

The Hudson A. C. winners of 13 out of 16 games have decided that they are eligible to go up against semi-professional material. On Sunday afternoon at the West Side playgrounds they will have for their opponents the fastest team they have faced this season—the Acorns of Kennington, Mass.

The feature of this game will be the appearance of the Acorns' famous one armed wonder. He plays any position on the team and critics declare that he is faster than many two armed men. The visitors have been playing exhibition games throughout the state having won 15 out of 19 games played.

Tomorrow evening Manager Edwards of the Hudsons and Manager Daust of the White Sox will hold a conference to arrange for a series of 5 games between their respective clubs. The team winning the series will challenge the Athletics for the town championship. Details of this meeting will be announced in Friday's Herald.

ANOTHER REPORT DENIED.

Washington, July 16.—A report that President Wilson had tendered the office of Postmaster General to Bernard M. Baruch was given widespread circulation here today. Mr. Baruch, who called at the White House to see the President, characterized the report as "absurd." He said that he was a candidate for no political office and that his one great desire now was to complete the tasks assumed for the government during the war and "get back to private life."

N. Y. GIRL HONORED.

Brussels, July 16.—King Albert today awarded the Queen Elizabeth medal to Miss Elizabeth Marbury, of New York, in recognition of her services in behalf of Belgium since 1914.

TAGGING THE BASES

The Yankees lost six straight games in Cleveland and Detroit before George Mogridge broke the losing string by winning the second half of a double header from the Tigers.

Pitching his first game since the middle of June, Grover Alexander held the Braves to seven scattered hits and the Cubs won.

Rain and threatening weather caused three postponements in the National League.

A double by Centerfielder Burrus, of the Mackmen drove over the tying and winning runs for Philadelphia in their game against the Browns.

Cicotte had the better of James in a pitching duel at Chicago and the White Sox tightened up their hold on first place at the expense of the Red Sox.

Walt Johnson blanked the Indians yesterday allowing eight hits, but keeping them scattered. He helped win his own game with a triple.

Roger Bresnahan is manager of the Toledo club again. Roger may return to the game as a catcher, also.

PROHIBITION SIDETRACKED.

Washington, July 16.—Prohibition enforcement legislation was sidetracked in the house today for the Nolan $3 a day minimum wage bill, which affects federal employees.

The fight over the wage bill centers around an amendment by Representative Good, of Iowa, leader of the Republican economy forces in the House, which would withhold from workers benefited by the bill, the $240 a year increase in pay previously granted by Congress to federal employees.

TAKING STRIKE VOTE.

Chicago, July 16.—Employees of the surface and elevated street railway lines of Chicago are making preparations today to take a strike vote. Balloting, it is expected, will begin Friday.

Decision to take a strike vote was reached after officials of the tractor companies had refused demands of the employees for wage increases amounting to 77 per cent. of the present scale.

ASKS COMPENSATION.

Paris, July 16.—The French government has sent a note to Berlin demanding 100,000 francs compensation for the family of Sergeant Paul Mannheim, who was killed by a mob in the streets of Berlin on Sunday morning, and also that a fine of 1,000,000 francs be imposed.

BRITTON TO FIGHT.

New York, July 16.—Jack Britton will defend his welterweight championship against Ted Lewis in an eight round bout at Jersey City on the night of July 28.

Circle Theater

That human quality of determination which seems to be an American characteristic pre-eminently, the spirit of which was recently shown in a Government office when signs were distributed about the building reading: "It can't be done—go do it," is one of the strong features of "Quicksand," a Paramount picture from the Thomas H. Ince studio in which Dorothy Dalton is starred and which will be shown at the Circle theatre tonight.

In this photoplay Miss Dalton is seen as a young wife whose husband is wrongfully accused of forgery and imprisoned. Determined that she will prove his innocence, the wife becomes a cabaret singer and in this capacity lures the man who really committed the crime into a confession. This frees the husband and all ends happily after a narrow escape from the quicksands of life, which abound on every hand and trap us if we are not wary.

Miss Dalton is said to have been given a particularly powerful emotional role in this production which was directed by Victor L. Schertzinger and written by John Lynch. R. Cecil Smith did the scenario.

The supporting cast is a powerful one. It includes Ed Coxen who plays the role of Jim Bowen the husband who suffers imprisonment, Philo McCulloch who is seen as a wastrel, Henry A. Barrows who plays the part of John Boland, keeper of a dance hall, and little Frankie Lee. The photography by John Stumar is said to be excellent in every respect.

Shorter subjects will be on the same bill.

Tomorrow and Friday there will be no shows at the Circle as some minor repairs are to be made.

Park Theater

While Elsie Ferguson was in Miami, Fla., whether the production company journeyed to take some beautiful scenes for her latest Avicraft production, "Eyes of the Soul", she discovered a clever little boy playing in the park. He was dressed in soldier costume and immediately removed his little cap from his curly blond head when she approached him. He was really just the type that Emile Chautard had been seeking and had despaired of finding.

Miss Ferguson asked the boy how he would like to work in the picture. He was delighted at the prospect and after receiving permission from his parents he appeared at the location, ready for work. Wyndham Standing, who plays the part of a blind soldier in the picture, interested the boy keenly, who believed that Mr. Standing was really blind.

After the day's work was over, Mr. Chautard said to him, "Well, now, my little man, what do we owe you for your day's work?" And the boy replied, standing at salute, "It has been a pleasure to help a blind soldier, please, sir, give my pay to him."

Mr. Chautard did not wish to disillusion the lad about the actor being blind, so he thanked him and told him he was a very patriotic little American. Before the company left Miami, however, a beautiful gift was sent to the little soldier boy.

Miss Ferguson has a delightful role, that of a cabaret dancer in "Eyes of the Soul", which will be shown at the Park theater again tonight. The story is vibrant with heart interest and excellent players portray the various parts.

The picture made a great hit last night.

Tomorrow's feature will be "Bond of Honor" with Sessue Hayakawa, the Jap actor, playing the leading role.

GEN. PERSHING HONORED.

London, July 16.—The distinguished service medal was today conferred upon General John J. Pershing, commander of the American Expeditionary force. The ceremony took place at the War Office. British officials made speeches in which they warmly praised the aid given to the allied cause by the United States and expressed their gratitude for it.

Among those present were Colonel Winston S. Churchill, Secretary of State for War; Viscount Milner, former Secretary of State for War, Lord Piel and Lord Weir.

SOLDIER REGAINS SIGHT

AFTER BATHING IN WELL. London, July 16.—Joseph Cudshaw, an ex-soldier of Burnley, suddenly regained his sight after bathing in the holy well at St. Winifred's, in North Wales, according to the Express. He had been blinded in battle during the war.

NO DISCORD HERE.

The attempt Monday night to inject discord into the harmony which has prevailed among those whose working and planning have made the memorial hospital possible was a flat failure.

It was alleged by one speaker at the meeting that the presentation of a list of candidates for trustees, even though blanks were left on the ballot for the substitution of other names, was "concerted action against unconcerted action."

The three thousand or more individuals who became members of the corporation by virtue of their contributions to the hospital fund could not act concertedly and expeditiously without some rallying point, some concrete proposal to consider.

CHAIRMAN HAYS' FIVE POINTS.

It is a dangerous thing to announce an official policy too early in the game but since Chairman Will Hays has declared himself regarding the league covenant we suppose that his statement may be taken as representing the orthodox policy of simon pure Republicanism.

The drift of political sentiment in the Republican party for the past few weeks has been unmistakably away from the never-never policy of Senator Borah and his followers and toward a more temperate view of the situation.

Chairman Hays makes a flat declaration in favor of reservations. His requirements and, inferentially at least, those of his party are five: (1) Safeguard the sovereignty of the United States. (2) Guarantee the Monroe Doctrine. (3) Eliminate Article Ten or so change it that Congress shall be free to decide "when and where and to what extent our soldiers shall be employed".

Chairman Hays will have public opinion solidly behind him so far as safeguarding the sovereignty of the United States is concerned. If there is anything in the treaty or in the league covenant which impairs that sovereignty, the Senate should at once take every possible means to have it eradicated.

In the official text of the league covenant as presented to the Senate by the President this statement is contained in Article 21: "Nothing in this Covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace." Chairman Hays wishes the Doctrine to be protected "beyond the shadow of a doubt" and if he can see even the shade of uncertainty in the above provision of the covenant we trust it will be dissipated by the Senate in which his party has a working majority.

But the Chairman is entirely too off-hand in his declaration that we should "eliminate Article Ten or change it." Here is where the league opponents have dug their trenches and prepared to make their most bitter fight. We do not believe Chairman Hays intends to join the last ditchers in their opposition to the covenant. To Borah and his bawling cohorts Article Ten has been like a red rag before a bull.

As to his suggestion that the Senate should so change the Article to give Congress power to decide "when and where our soldiers shall be employed" there is necessarily a confusion of judgment. Here the Chairman's statement is either meaningless or revolutionary. If he means that the covenant should be changed to give Congress the right to determine whether the United States shall or shall not resort to military action he is but asking for something that already exists.

"Congress shall have power to declare war" and "to make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces" says the Constitution of the United States in articles 11 and 14 of section eight. Are we to see the Senate solemnly debating whether the Constitution of the United States is the Constitution of the United States? But if Chairman Hays implies that the covenant should give Congress the right to say whether or not definite military dispositions of our forces should be made he is asking that the Senate vote this country to military disaster and positive defeat in any future conflict of arms.

The three thousand or more individuals who became members of the corporation by virtue of their contributions to the hospital fund could not act concertedly and expeditiously without some rallying point, some concrete proposal to consider. For that reason the incorporators completed the preliminary work as far as possible and then placed it before the members for their approval or disapproval. Evidently the large majority approved it.

Article Ten should not be tinkered by the Senate.

The league covenant itself provides that the settlement of domestic questions shall not come within the purview of the International Council but shall be left to the individual nations, just as Chairman Hays wishes, in the fourth of his suggestions.

There is a possibility that several nations would like to determine the policies of immigration that would govern the United States. It is even more likely that some of them would like to write our tariff laws for us. The thing is too obvious not to have been provided against by the framers of the league. While it is conceivable that nations might seek to dictate the domestic policies of their neighbors it is certain that none of them would care for any dictation in the reverse direction.

Furthermore, the principle that no other nation can justly intervene in the domestic affairs of another is one of the best established ones in international law. It has always been the rule among free nations and comes within the very fact of sovereignty. Still, if the Senate wishes to reaffirm what is already a well established fact we see no reason why it should not do so.

As for a provision enabling the United States to leave the League the Senate will do well to remember that this country should ask no special ruling for itself. There is no reason why the United States should have any different rule in this respect than the other nations. We are one of the largest, we are the most powerful, we are the richest of the league members. Upon what different grounds than the other nations stand should we seek to quit the league? If the Senate has some better scheme than that contained in the covenant let it present it to all the signatory powers. Under no circumstances should we appear to be seeking one rule for other nations and another for ourselves.

Doual is an example of an industrial city deliberately put beyond the possibility of competition, by dynamite in the hands of the Germans.

Would Have Senate Ratify but with Strong Reservations—Thinks President Has Failed—Implies that European Diplomats Have Got the Best of Us.

BY FREDERICK M. DAVENPORT. (From The Outlook.)

Since the United States Senate is Republican, Republican leadership has a great responsibility and a great opportunity. Through the mist there is beginning to appear the position that America should take. And America can take her position only through the Senate, which is now dominantly Republican, and a two-thirds vote can be obtained for the Treaty only through a Republican majority.

Will the Republican party rise to the level of its solemn duty? Party leadership has had a golden opportunity. The psychology of America is against the Democrats, and probably against the President. But the Republican Senate has not yet succeeded in persuading the American people that it has a policy of its own, or in carrying the public opinion of the American people with it.

The issue is clearing. Probably one reason for the seeming impotence of the Republican leadership has been that until recently the issue has not been clear; that nobody in the Republican majority had a copy of the Treaty; that covert and complicated covenants, covertly arrived at, are hard to fathom and straightforwardly to interpret to a hundred millions, anyway.

Wants Some Sort of League. Now that we know, the provisions and the stipulations, we are beginning to see the light. The public opinion of the country is crystallizing. It is evident that the American people believe that the suspense of a continued state of war should cease, that some sort of a substantial and practical league of nations is a necessity for human progress, and that the instrument embodying the League and the Treaty should be ratified.

But there is a great current of influence which is not Wilsonian at all, and not yet interpreted by the Senate leadership at Washington, but which is in reality traditionally American, eminently sound, and comes along the Hay-Roosevelt line of political heredity. It represents the traditional foreign policy and of internationalism which was at its best when Republicanism was at its best in the McKinley and Roosevelt Administrations.

of the League" also brings, out in bold relief the sharp cleavage between the Root-Roosevelt Republican tradition and the tradition which Wilson would now impose upon America. For example, the American tradition, which has come down from the Root-Roosevelt foreign policy, has been a tradition of hands-off in the territorial and political disputes of South America. South America is full at this moment of possible disputes, some of which may be rather easily revived. It has been the policy of the United States not to take sides in these disputes. If we now take sides with our Allies under Article X, shall we not at once have the whole of South America solidly united against us? Is not the older tradition of our foreign policy safer for America and safer for democracy?

And in Europe, if we undertake beyond a reasonable period of readjustment and reconstruction to preserve against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing independence of all members of the League, and mingle, as a full and permanent partner in the Alliance, with the petty quarrels of the Old World, do we not risk the loss of the moral leadership which our unbiased and altruistic helpfulness has brought within our grasp? Is America fitted by her own purposes, her own rational detached position of physical and moral greatness, her own experience, to match wits as an all-the-year-round partner at the "gaming-table of the Allied Council"? Is there not some modification of the wise and traditional policy of American aloofness in South America, in Europe, which will make her relation to the League of Nations more flexible than Article X makes it, and which would leave her in a position of far greater efficiency to enforce the peace of the world?

Discussion Needed. In the next few weeks the American people ought to discuss these questions from sea to sea. They are vital to our National as well as to our international welfare. We are not to assume that President Wilson is not bringing home from Europe many provisions of great value, but we must remember that they are not his provisions. For the most part his ideas did not prevail. And even if they had prevailed, they should have been subjected to the frankest and profoundest criticism as soon as they were released from the semi-darkness that has overspread Versailles. The League Covenant represents the mind of General Smuts, of South Africa, more than that of any other man. The dangerous Article X was never in the Smuts plan. And General Smuts, who emerges from Versailles as almost enlightened and open-minded personality, himself signed with the reservation that he did not consider it a satisfactory document, and the only ground on which he would agree to it as it stands was that it closed the chapters of the war and the armistice. Inspired by this great authority, the American people may well consider what reservations they may determine upon in the interest of the National welfare and the world, which may still make it possible to close the unsettling and ruinous chapters of the war and the armistice.

Thinks President Has Failed. There is no proof of it competent in a court of justice, but there is a widespread belief in the world, which is reinforced by the testimony of the Liberal Smuts, that our President has not succeeded in his mission to obtain the letter and the spirit of a permanent and genuine peace. There is a widespread suspicion that the exigencies and intrigues of world diplomacy have entangled and imprisoned his idealism. All the more is it incumbent upon America to scrutinize seriously and deeply the work of the Versailles Conference. May not America and the Republican Senate preserve the League of Nations and all of its benefits, which cannot be changed without affirmative action of amendment, and yet not be a party to the riveting upon the neck of the world of the chains of the status quo?

Plea for Reservations. Are not reservations to which no objection is offered in accordance with long-established precedent? Has not America again and again made reservations in the Hague conventions? Does not the Republican leadership in the Senate and the Republican party in the country owe it to America to make an intelligent and critical stand against the stampeding of public opinion on the most critical issue of our generation? Is there any reason to doubt that in the end the Allies will offer no objection to any reasonable reservation which we may make? Are we not still, and shall we not continue to be, the hope and stay of our allies? Is not the power ours, and not theirs? And is there not for them and for the world far greater potency in the reasonable aloofness of America from the congested intrigues of Europe than from a complete and mechanical partnership of alliance and action that will might weaken the position which America occupies as the keystone of the arch of moral leadership?

1815 to 1821, or King's House, the residence of the late General Cronje, whom Lord Roberts captured at Paardeberg. Longwood, though a rambling building, is the more spacious and imposing; King's House is the more modern and comfortable. Longwood is situated on a large plateau three miles southeast of Jamestown, the only town and port. Until Napoleon's tenancy of Longwood it was the home of the Governor.
The French Emperor's tomb is in a wooded glen half a mile away. His body was disinterred and sent to France for reburial in 1840. Another possible residence is Longwood New House, in the vicinity, so called to distinguish it from the old Longwood.
QUITS LAW; SHE'S HAPPY. London, July 16.—At a meeting of the International Council of Women, Miss E. C. Van Dorp, a Netherlands representative, herself solicitor and barrister, said she had been happier since giving up practice. Further, although many people went to a woman solicitor for advice, her experience showed that they all liked a man barrister to fight their case.
Cook — "What's happened?" "Why, the misus was singing a lullaby, and everybody went to sleep and apt the baby."—Life.

SCRAPS OF HUMOR

Clever.
Johnson and Timson were discussing Jackson.
"He's an ideal clerk."
"Is he?"
"Knows more about the business than the boss."
"Yes?"
"And without letting the boss suspect it, too."—London Answers.

Through a Glass Easily.
The Optician—You need spectacles, sir. You are farsighted. Just sit down and we'll—
The Prospect—Hold on, here. The man across the street said I was near-sighted, so I came over here.
The Optician—Exactly. You are farsighted in passing him up and coming to me.

The Scholarly Cut.
"You did not speak to him?"
"No," replied the scholarly girl.
"When I passed him I gave him the geological survey."
"The geological survey?"
"Yes. What is commonly known as the stony stare."—Lehigh Burr.

Too Anxious.
"Jaggs told me his wife had met with an accident, and he was so afraid she would attempt to be active with her injury too soon."
"What was her injury?"
"She fractured her jaw."

How He Did It.
"Did you hear that our friend Jones got caught in a copper corner?"
"Was he investing heavily?"
"No, took a little too much hilarity aboard, and ran into a bunch of policemen just around the corner."

Affinity.
"A friend of mine has a small son who asked him the other day why they took up church collections in pews."
"What did he tell him?"
"That it was the natural thing to take a pan to get the dough."

HE EXPLAINS.
"Doctor, why don't you cure more people with your advice?"
"Because a lot of them don't follow it, my friend."

Finishing Advice.
The nurse to the baby, crooning, so softly sings, "By-low, by-low."
While the baby's business pa doth cry, "That's right, buy low, but, son, sell high."

Her Side of It.
She—Perseverance always wins in the end.
He—Then you'll marry me?
She—No, I was just wondering how much longer I'd have to say "No."—Dartmouth Jack o' Lantern.

Always With Him.
"Come out with us tonight, old chap, and we'll give you a howling time of it."
"Thanks, boys, but the baby attends to that."

Absolutely Veracious.
"Mayme says she's twenty-five. Do you believe that?"
"Of course I do, for to my certain knowledge she was that ten years ago."

The Reason.
"Why did Maud want to go into the garden, ma?"
"Maybe it was because she thought she would find Sweet William there."

The Difference.
"I'm glad I'm not Mrs. Brown's husband. He's always in a pickle."
"I wish I were Mrs. Robinson's husband. He looks so well preserved."

Accounted for.
"Why do they always speak of veesels as in the feminine gender?"
"Maybe one reason is that they're generally trimming their sails."

The Reason of It.
"Your friend has a very peculiar habit."
"It ought to be a very natural one, for he's always on the fence."
Homeopathic Treatment.
"Why do you keep blowing that awful horn in your apartment and deafening the other tenants?"
"Just to keep the baby quiet."

BIG FISH STORY STARTS GOVERNOR OFF ON TRIP

Executive, With Buckley, Stoeckel, Eaton and Roraback Visit State Hatchery.

Hartford, July 16.—Upon the receipt this afternoon of information that salmon weighing four and a quarter pounds had been caught near Torrington and in other parts of Litchfield County Governor Marcus H. Holcomb, Major John Buckley, executive secretary to the Governor, Motor Vehicle Commissioner Robbins B. Stoeckel, State Treasurer Harold Gilpatrick, Colonel Robert O. Eaton, administrator of the department of State Agencies and Institutions and J. Henry Roraback left for the state farm of the Fisheries and Game Commission at Madison, with Superintendent John M. Crampton of the Department of Fisheries and Game, to investigate the result of a hatchery campaign on the part of the commission to increase the number of salmon and lobsters in Connecticut waters.

Attorney General Frank E. Healy was to have made the trip, but was obliged to decline the invitation because of a previous engagement.

OTTAWA STRIKE THREATENS.

Ottawa, Ont., July 16.—Ottawa is threatened with a general strike such as paralyzed industry in Winnipeg for several weeks. Negotiations between striking street railway employees and the company have reached a deadlock, the company having refused the men's offer that all strikers be permitted to return to work pending arbitration. The allied trades and labor council today announced that it will call a sympathy strike in every trade unless the company accepts the offer.

BARE LEGS BARRED.

New York, July 16.—Following an encounter with one stocking-less miss, who had been reading all about the latest Paris fashions, a New York roof garden today displayed the following sign: "Bare-legged ladies, with or without escort, are not permitted on this roof."

It has been found that the experience gained by the students attending the army balloon school on the very summit of Mount Wilson, Cal., is of great value in cultivating the eye to discern objects on the surface thousands of feet below.

STOCK MARKET

DICK CROCKER'S CHILDREN SAY MOTHER'S A JEWESS

Second Wife of Tammany Chieftain is Not An Indian Princess, They Allege.

New York, July 16.—Charges that Mrs. Richard Croker, sr., beautiful young second wife of the former Tammany chieftain, is not a Cherokee Princess but was born in Oklahoma of Hebrew parentage, have been made by Croker's two sons, Richard, jr., Howard, and his daughter Ethel, it was learned today.

The dark eyed beauty, who was known here as the princess Keetaw Kelantucky Sequoah and was frequently photographed in Indian costumes, possesses no Indian blood at all and was a cabaret singer and Hippodrome chorus girl, when the white-haired Tammany boss fell in love with her, Croker's children allege.

Talcottville

Miss Anna Moore left Monday for Orono, Maine, where she will spend a short vacation among friends.

All married women of Talcottville are requested to meet at Talcott Hall, Wednesday evening at 7.45 o'clock to make arrangements for Welcome Home Day, July 26.

Miss Eliza Duart has returned to her home after enjoying a vacation at the shore.

THE LATEST—BEER TESTS.

Waterbury, July 16.—The beer test is the latest in Waterbury. Policemen here are reported to be going into saloons of the city themselves for the purpose of ascertaining whether the liquor men are keeping within the law or not. They walk up to the bar and ask for whatever is being sold. If they think it is near beer, well and good; but if they have a suspicion that it is 2.75 per cent or better they ask for a sample. Sometimes they take a second glass to be sure.

YOUNG COUPLE MISSING.

Pawtucket, R. I., July 16.—Frank L. Kempton and his young bride, both employed at a theater here, are missing following an evening trip in a motor launch on the Pawtucket River. Relatives of the couple became worried over their absence and went in search of them, and the launch was found overturned.

DIES OF INJURIES.

Stamford, July 16.—Mrs. Anna Winslow, 62, stopping at the hotel Hazelton here, is dead today from injuries received last night when an automobile operated by W. C. McClellan backed against her on the hotel premises. Mrs. Winslow was companion to Mrs. Arthur Evans, of Vermont, a visitor at the hotel.

ENEMY ALIENS RELEASED FROM FORT OGLETHORPE

More Than 200 Freed Today—Son-in-Law of Louis F. Swift Among Those Allowed to Go.

Chicago, July 16.—The gates of Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., will swing outward today to release more than 200 enemy aliens from Chicago who were interned for the duration of the war. Notice of their release has been received here by the United States Marshal's office.

Most prominent among those to be given their freedom is Count James Minotto, son-in-law of Louis F. Swift. Count Minotto has been at liberty on parole since he was taken from Fort Oglethorpe to give testimony by deposition in the Bala Pasha case. He will now be given his unconditional freedom.

Among others to be released are Count Albrecht Montgelas, Count Arpold E. von Dillmont and Max Breitung, wealthy Chicagoan who is declared to have purchased several German ships in order to prevent their being confiscated by the allies.

Suing Their Father.

The sons and daughter of Croker are suing their father for a partition of the estate of their mother, his first wife, which is valued at more than $320,000. They allege that their beautiful young stepmother has influenced Croker to decline to fulfill a contract, calling for a division of the estate.

Croker's first wife died in September, 1914. A month later he married again and the newspapers were full of pictures of the former chieftain of Tammany's wigwam and the young "Cherokee Princess."

The couple spent their honeymoon at Palm Beach, Fla., and later went to Croker's estate near Dublin, Ireland, where they now reside.

The new Mrs. Croker, the Croker children assert, was in reality Bula Edmonston, a cabaret singer who made her New York debut at Churchill's restaurant and later she was in the chorus at the Hippodrome, where she was known as little Bula. They say she met their father through a financial acquaintance and that he became infatuated with her and married her without their knowledge.

Recently Flew 90 Miles in Plane—Made Trip in One Hour.

Mr. Lester Hohenthal is spending the week at the home of his father on Center street. He is now located at Falmouth, Mass., as head mechanic for the Baystate Airplane Co., which is doing passenger carrying and giving instruction in the art of flying. In company with Lt. James D. RALPH DE PALMA, NOTED RACER, SAYS SPEEDING IN AIRPLANE LACKS THRILLS

De Palma Prefers Motoring to Flying.

Ralph De Palma thinks there are more thrills in auto racing than in flying in an airplane. One day last fall, while De Palma was serving as director of flying at McCook field, near Dayton, O., an aviation officer invited him to take a trip in his plane. The motor star accepted. He was somewhat new at flying then, and also dubious. But a director of flying is supposed to fly.

conviction that it beats aviation for thrills. "Flying seemed monotonous compared with motor racing," he said in speaking of his air trip. Lonesome Work. "On a trip of several hundred miles you may be making speeds which would be terrific in an auto—140 miles an hour. But at the height of a mile or more you have no realization of speed, and sitting up there in the wind and noise is lonesome work. The stunts are more exciting, of course—but there is no competition, no audience, no applause. Hurdling over the ground at Daytona Beach in a racing car at two and one-half miles per minute, with 50-foot leaps from the ground, or whirling around the Indianapolis Motor Speedway track in the 500-mile race, with competitors contesting every lap—that's very different stuff! Every minute has its problem and its thrill. I prefer to be down on the ground, smelling the gas, eating the dirt, in contact with my rivals and the crowd."

OIL CRANK-PINS OF AUTO ENGINE

Chief Reason Why Bearings Wear Fast is That They Are Not Lubricated Properly.

GOOD SYSTEM IS DESCRIBED

Has Given Excellent Results and Eliminated Most of Connecting-Rod Bearing Trouble—Study Interior of Engine.

The adjustment of the connecting rod bearings is one of the most common repair jobs on an automobile engine. Probably the chief reason why these bearings wear faster than the others is that they are not lubricated properly under all conditions. The system described below has given very good results and has almost eliminated connecting-rod bearing trouble.

Most of the oil delivered to the main bearings escapes the ends and flows along the crank webs, and is finally thrown off by centrifugal force. If small scuppers are placed at the ends of the crank-pins this oil will be caught and may be carried through the pin to the bearing.

Connecting-Rod Bearing Adjustment is One of the Most Common Yet Complicated Jobs About the Automobile Engine.

It connects with the radial hole. The smallest drills possible should be used; probably an 1/8-in. radial hole and a 3/16-in. lead will work out best in the average engine. In very large engines a slightly larger hole would probably give better results. In a case where the crank-pins are hollow, the scupper placed over each end and over the radial hole is all that will be necessary.

The other illustration shows a design for a scupper that is well adapted

The Ethiopian

By DORA H. MOLLAN

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The Ethiopian lives over the kitchen range in the basement of 46 Darrow street, New York city. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lee reside on a ranch near Cody, Wyo. Every year they journey over the intervening space on a swift limited and make their obeisance to the grinning slave.

Ebony black, with an orange smile, he stands ever patiently bearing aloft on his flattened palms a woven basket of gorgeously colored tropical fruits. Quivering heat waves rise around his stalwart form, but to such a temperature he inherits immunity. The dark city kitchen with its dismal outlook steals something of the spirit of the "Thousand and One Nights" from his colorful presence.

For three years now have Mr. and Mrs. Lee made the pilgrimage to this shrine. And just four years and two months ago the events took place, grateful memory of which brings them back.

In those days Mrs. Stanley was Evelyn Brooks, fashion artist for the Standardized Pattern company, and Stanley was making his first ranchman's business trip East. He not only belonged to the West, but looked it, for he was tall and broad, with the keenly interested eyes of the plainsman, and his sartorial preferences ran to corduroy, soft shirts and the like. So he was dressed at nine o'clock on this morning as he ran down the two flights of stairs which led from his aunt's apartment to the basement kitchen in the house on Darrow street.

Aunt Mag was all right and a good sport, Stanley was thinking on the way down, even if she had horrified the Cody folk last summer, driving to town dressed in a queer, shapeless garment of bright green, with sandaled feet and floppy hat, embroidered with impossible flowers. He grinned as he recalled the commotion she had caused in the post office. But all the same, this way of living got his goat—staying up most of the night and sleeping until noon, like a bat.

Four hours after his usual breakfast time, and not a sound from his aunt's room! Her last words before bidding him good night had been: "Stan, dear, if you get hungry before I'm up in the morning, just run down stairs and cook yourself something. There is a community kitchen down in the basement and you'll find my help on a shelf labeled with my name. Things yourself."

Stan didn't exactly like the idea of fussing around in some one else's house, but he was desperately hungry; so he tried a door that looked as if it might open into a kitchen. It did, but the room was so gloomily dark that he lighted the gas. Just then the door bell rang.

Stanley stood still and listened, but there was no sound of steps along the bare floor of the hall, and again it rang. So he ran up the basement stairs and opened the door. On the steps stood a girl. She was quite good to look upon, dressed in an unusual shade of blue-green, with hat to match, trimmed with small flowers of many colors.

The young woman appeared perhaps a bit surprised when this big young man opened the door, but remarked in a quite ordinary tone of voice: "I came to paint over the kitchen stove." Now, Stanley knew enough, from his short experience of this casual, bohemian life his aunt led, to be prepared for the unexpected, but at this strange announcement his mouth half opened and he looked quite idiotic, for no words came from it. In the first place it was Sunday morning, and in the second the girl was not only well, but expensively dressed.

Handsome young women in costly clothes coming around on the Sabbath to do a job of house painting were utterly outside his experience.

Stan's thoughts were becoming even more hopelessly muddled when the girl spoke again: "I left my materials at the basement door and I will go and proceed to remove her hat and coat. When he returned with the ladder the girl stood on the far side of the room gazing at the painted area of wall directly above the set-in range.

"You see," she said, "these walls are such a horrible, gloomy color, and the agent just won't do another thing to the house. Miss Sanderson can't afford to do them over herself, so I offered to paint something colorful up there. Don't you think fruit would be nice?"

"But that's rather tame," she continued speculatively; then, her face illuminated by a sudden idea, she exclaimed: "Oh, I know!" and betook herself to the top of the ladder with the agility of a squirrel.

Though Stanley Lee's tongue had been idle, his eyes had refused to go on a sympathetic strike, and what he saw was a slight, almost boyish figure, with a mop of short black hair, clad in a becoming smock of bright orange. Then he spoke—actually spoke.

"Wouldn't my fussing around here bother you any? You see, my aunt, whom I am visiting, isn't up yet, and I'm nearly starved."

The lady of the pigments, absorbed in her work, replied that it would not—not at all. But she did not add what she was thinking, that this was quite the handsomest man she had seen for some time. Under her facile brush the bright colors took shape, and in Stanley Lee's mind an intention took shape—not to leave on the next day as he had intended, but to stay a while and cultivate this girl's acquaintance. Perhaps she would go to some shows with him.

Even so, she did. Even Aunt Margaret appeared opportunist and got together some breakfast and insisted on Evelyn's participation in it, and Stanley took his courage in hand and suggested that "show" idea; and they went to the show, and more shows; and not only to the theater, but once to the opera and to a concert and hunted up several queer and interesting places to dine together—and for a week the Ethiopian over the kitchen range remained blind as a mole for want of eyes, and it wasn't till Sunday again that Evelyn got her breath and insisted that the Ethiopian must be finished.

So again she came with her brushes and paints, and this time Stanley was on the alert and let her in at the basement door in a jiffy. But he was stiff and silent, while the artist girl busied herself with her preparations and quite forgot to lead her hand as she climbed the stepladder. For many minutes he watched the deft hand giving sight and life to the blazing picture of the slave. Then he blurted:

"You've made a man of him; a regular, breathing, living man. But he won't even say 'thank you, ma'am.' You can do as much for me, Miss Evelyn, if you will, and I'll be a heap sight more willing slave to you than that chap up there, happy as he looks. Here you're just doing things for dead walls—come out to Wyoming and fill with warmth and color a human life!"

Evelyn looked down at him from the ladder for a long minute. Then she climbed down and said: "Stan, that's the biggest commission I ever had. I'll undertake it."

Do you wonder that they love the Ethiopian and come back every year for a little fling in New York under his grinning chaperonage?

Great Wealth in Ivory.

To the northeast of the mouth of the Lena—which is one of the great rivers of the world, rising in eastern Siberia and flowing northward to the Arctic ocean—is a group of islands which must formerly have been connected with the mainland. There an American naval expedition, which sought survivors of the ill-fated Jeannette, found deposits of mammoth tusks that were literal ivory mines.

The frozen soil of the islands was so crowded with mammoth skeletons as to suggest that the mighty pachyderms must have had there a "dying place," to which, through thousands of years, they resorted when death approached. Lieutenant Schuetze, who was a member of the expedition, told the writer that there was a big fortune to be gained by a few adventurous men who should take a stanch vessel through Bering strait at the opening of the arctic summer, dig for ivory and return in half a dozen weeks. They would encounter perils, however, for the coast is most inhospitable and almost uninhabited.

The Art of Talking.

The art of talking is rare, but if one has the least spark of talent it may be improved. Time, thought, and constant practice are necessary to develop any faculty. We cannot hope to learn music, painting, or tennis without practice, and so it is with conversation. We cannot expect to talk well in society if we are dull, silent, taciturn at home. We must read the best books to learn the fluent use of language; we must learn to think and to remember, to observe carefully; we must keep in touch with the events of the day, not merely within a narrow circle but in the wide world. General knowledge is necessary. Books, magazines and newspapers are within the reach of every one. An ideal conversationalist is a conscientious listener, the first to see merit, the last to censure faults. A very earnest talker is not always popular because of heaviness; to be able to talk about nothing in a way to make that airy subject interesting is a talent. Small talk is valuable socially.

Latin Words in Use.

Many Latin words crept into our language through Rome's military conquests. For instance, castra was the Latin word for camp, becoming Chester in English. So Colchester, Dorchester, Winchester, and similar names indicate English cities which were once Roman camps. When the Pilgrims came to America, they gave to many new settlements the names of English towns which they still loved. You will find other equally interesting words which have come into English directly from Latin. And even now you may like to know that there is a real, though long-drawn-out connection between our mother tongue and the Latin language of the old Romans—Christian Science Monitor.

Historic London Tower, Possibly Kaiser's Prison

General view of the historic tower of London, showing the many buildings that make up England's famous old prison and fortress and which may yet prove to be the future "home" of ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, of Germany, who now faces possible banishment to the historic tower. The insert on the lower left is that of the block and axe used in the execution of many prisoners. On the lower right is an exceptionally good likeness of the ex-Kaiser.

New York, July 16.—William Hohenzollern, who set out to overcome the world, is now facing the prospect of imprisonment in the Tower of London, that famous old prison and fortress built in 1078 by William the Conqueror. France does not wish the former Kaiser to be sent to London for imprisonment and trial because she fears he may be treated too kindly there, since he is related to King George. But a glance over the history of London Tower and its roll of distinguished prisoners might dispel that doubt.

places of great historic interest. Their gray walls hold gloomy secrets and tales of horror. In this tower is the cell where Sir Walter Raleigh lived ten years. He was released to go on a South American expedition for the King and being unsuccessful returned only to be beheaded.

by their uncle, Richard Earl of Gloucester. The prince was the children of his dead brother, and Richard desired their death in order to gain the throne for himself.

LIFE-SIZE SOLDIER STONES FOR THOSE KILLED IN WAR.
Springfield, Ill., July 16.—Stone soldier monuments, life-size, are the latest thing in tombstones. Two have arrived in Springfield. They are carved from solid rock by an Indiana concern. The figure displays as soldier in uniform, hat, coat, puttees and everything. A gun is carried. It adds a realistic touch to the figure. Not a single flaw can be found in the make-up. The designers even went so far as to give the coat the usual wrinkles. A face likeness may be had if desired. Each monument costs about $500.

DUNDEE GETS DECISION.
Boston, July 16.—Johnny Dundee, lightweight, was awarded the decision at the end of a 12-round bout with Benny Valger, before six thousand spectators at Mechanics Building last night. Valger knocked Dundee down in the second round.

RECREATIONS ATTRACT THOUSANDS DURING WEEK

Playgrounds, Swimming Pools, Tennis Courts and Ball Games Well Attended.

Over 5,000 people old and young enjoyed recreation activities in Manchester the week of July 7th. This number includes, of course, attendance at all the local centers which are under the supervision of the "Rec". The largest attendance was at the West Side playgrounds which are under the direction of Mr. Weber and Miss Pearl Dougan. The attendance here for the previous week was 2,004, an average of 400 per day. The Cottage street playgrounds in charge of Mr. Olson and Miss Donnie Cotteral attracted the east side youngsters to the extent of 1,610 for the week, an average of 322 per day.

Globe Hollow swimming pool is still the center for juvenile aquatic enthusiasts. The attendance here was 547, an average of 91 per day. Despite the hot weather the Recreation Building is well patronized. Miss Bonnie Cotteral in charge of the girl's department reports an attendance of 248 for the week, a daily average of 49, while the ladies' department was patronized by 190. The total attendance in both departments for the week was 438. The men, however, seem to have an inclination for the open. Ward Taylor in charge of this department reports an attendance for the week of 95. This however is for three days only, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The baseball games at the West Side playgrounds on Monday and Wednesday, drew 685 people, an average of 342 for each game. Of the two tennis courts, the High School courts still lead in popularity with a playing list of 52 for the week as against the West Side court's list of 42. The entire attendance list follows:

ATHLETICS TO SCALP HENDEE TRIBE SUNDAY

Locals Will Make Strong Effort to Wipe Out Former Defeat Received from Fast Chicopee Falls Team.

An exceptionally fast game is promised at the Mount Nebo grounds on Sunday afternoon when the crack Hendee team of Chicopee Fall will oppose the Athletics on the second game of the series. The latter team which is considered a dangerous aspirant for Western Massachusetts championship honors, trimmed the locals by a narrow margin of 4 to 2 at the Nebo diamond a few weeks ago. Manager Dowd has been besieged by local fans with inquiries regarding a return game with the Indians and in response booked the visitors for an early visit.

Manager Daley of the Bay state club has informed the Athletic management that same team will face the locals. This means that Gaudette, former pitching sensation of the Colonial and Federal Leagues will again appear on the mound for the Hendees. The visitors are an exceptionally fast bunch, their lineup includes such stars as Dorry Miller, first base; Chet Waite, center field; Ronch, third base; Denault, one of the best high school players in Massachusetts, on short; Finn of Fordham and others.

The Athletics will probably take the field in the following order: Scheildge, left field; Massey, second base; Sipples, shortstop; Wilson, third base; Fay, first base; Kotch, right field; Warnock or O'Connell, pitcher; Crockett or Lamprocht, catch and "Pop" Edgar, dean of local stars in center field. "Pop" has been playing ball in France as a member of the A. E. F. team and is in excellent condition.

Throwing and Weaving Departments to Have Big Day at Marlborough Saturday—Games and Large Chow.

Plans are under way for an outing at Marlborough on Saturday, to be held by the employees of the Throwing and Weaving departments and the office force and foremen of these various departments at Cheney Brothers' plant. Those who are to attend, about 150 in number, will leave the grounds on Saturday noon, making the trip by auto.

The feature of the afternoon program, which is an elaborate one, is a baseball game between a ladies team and a men's team. A chicken dinner is another subject worthy of mention. John H. Bissell, chairman of the general outing committee has appointed aides who are vying with each other in the arrangement of plans.

Edward Taylor is chairman of the entertainment committee; Fred Bendall heads the transportation committee; Ike Cole will have charge of athletics; Mr. Bissell and Austin Cheney will look after the commissary end.
