

CHENEY BROTHERS ARE PLANNING TO RAISE WAGES NEXT MONTH

Notices Posted in Mills Today Tell of Increase.

"ABNORMAL CONDITIONS" GIVEN AS THE REASON

General Increase to Begin August 4 —Men on Salary Not Included in Advance.

On August 4th, a general wage increase will go into effect at Cheney Brothers' plant. Employees of every department of this great manufacturing industry, with the exception of salaried persons, will benefit by this increase. Notices to this effect were posted around the mills this morning. The raise is granted by the firm to employees to enable them to combat the present high cost of living. The notice as posted reads as follows:

"In view of the present abnormal conditions, the question of readjustment of wages is under careful consideration. Studies which have been carried on for a number of weeks are nearly completed.

"The employees of Cheney Brothers' Mills are assured that their compensation will be readjusted promptly, and changes affecting all employees, except those on salary, will be put in force to date from August fourth."

(Signed) Cheney Brothers.

ONLY 12 OUT OF 2,500 STRIKERS BACK TO WORK

Bridgeport Corset Factory Then Closes Up Again—Strike May Soon Be Settled.

Bridgeport, July 23.—The lock-out at Warner Brothers' Corset factory became a strike this morning, with excellent prospects that the corset factory situation will be cleared up before the end of the week. Warner Brothers reopened the plant today, inviting the employees to return, but only 12 of the 2,500 workers appeared and the plant was closed again until tomorrow. An almost complete agreement has been reached between Warner Brothers and the union. The 44 hour week will be referred to arbitration and instead of the "closed shop" the "protocol of peace" which is in effect in garment factories in New York, Boston and other places, will be used. Under this agreement the company can employ non-union help for two weeks, after which period the question of joining the union goes to arbitration.

A strike at the Bryant Electric Company, that started late yesterday had spread so far today that only 300 of the 2,000 employees were skilled at work. The Bryant men and women want the 44 hour week and an increase of 25 per cent. in wages, the same as is demanded in other factories here.

THINK FLOOD DANGER IS PAST IN MIDDLE SOUTH

Rains Have Ceased and Mountain Streams May Rise No Higher.

Washington, July 23.—As a result of the rains which began in the mountain regions of southwest Virginia, the Carolinas and Georgia on July 15, moderate to heavy floods are now passing down the streams on the mountains of those states, according to a bulletin issued by the weather bureau today.

"In the last 24 hours," the bulletin adds, "the rains have practically ceased in the mountains and it is believed that the danger of severe and continued floods has passed."

WAR TIME "DRY" ACT IS UPHOLD BY COURT.

New York, July 23.—The constitutionality of the war time prohibition act was upheld today by United States Judge Thomas I. Chatfield, who, sitting recently, in New Haven, Conn., in place of federal Judge Edwin S. Thomas, heard a test case brought by the Liquor Dealers' Association of Connecticut, through Stephen A. Minery.

Minery opened a saloon in Meriden, Conn., with the backing of the liquor association, to test the law. He was arraigned before Judge Chatfield on the charge that on or about July 7 he sold intoxicating liquor, "unlawfully and knowingly before the termination of demobilization, the date of which is to be determined by the President."

Minery was defended by Arnon A. Alling, state prosecutor of Connecticut, who demurred to the charge on the ground that the law was unconstitutional, and, that, as peace had been restored, it was not a war time measure.

BLIMP THAT KILLED 12 PILOTED BY ASSISTANT

Chief Knew Dirigible Was Out of Order at Time of Flight.

TWO MORE MEN MAY DIE

Mechanic and Bank Employee Dy- ing—Accident Caused by Ex- plosion—Grand Jury Probing.

Chicago, July 23.—The alleged "inside" story of the dirigible balloon disaster Monday in which twelve persons were killed and more than two dozen injured, will be told to the coroner's jury today by Captain Benjamin P. Lipsner, former superintendent of the government aerial mail service. Lipsner asserts the story was told him by Harry Wacker, of Cleveland, Ohio, mechanic of the Blimp whose death from injuries he received in the fall.

Caused by Explosion.

Wacker charges, according to Captain Lipsner, that the disaster was caused by an explosion in the rotary engine on the port side of the dirigible, flames from a backfire being communicated to the gas bag.

He also alleges that the dirigible was out of order and that the crew had discussed it before starting the fatal voyage. Wacker declares that Carl Weaver, mechanic who was killed, had imperfect knowledge of aerial engines and fed too rich a mixture to the motor.

Chief Pilot Kraft, Wacker says, realized that the motors were not functioning properly and declined to continue the flight, turning the Blimp over to John Boettner, his assistant, who, Wacker asserts, did not know the city nor the peculiarities of the machine. Boettner, Wacker says, gave no warning of the explosion although he was the first to leap to safety and the only member of the crew who escaped injury.

Grand Jury to Probe.

A grand jury probe of the disaster is to be made in addition to the coroner's inquiry now in progress, according to announcement made by State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne.

"If indictments are justified they will be voted," Hoyne declared.

W. C. Young, Goodyear Rubber Company manager and assistant pilot Boettner have refused to testify before the coroner's jury.

May Be 14 Dead.

The death list from the disaster may be increased to fourteen, physicians said today, as mechanic Wacker and Marcus C. Callopy, an employee of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank where the Blimp alighted, are reported to be in a serious condition from their injuries. Other victims of the disaster are expected to recover.

LOOKING FOR OUTFIELDERS.

New York, July 23.—Manager Pat Moran of the Cincinnati Reds, is combing the minor leagues for an outfielder. He is now dickering with the Rochester internationals for George Kelly, the hard hitting first baseman and outfielder, it became known today.

"TIGER" STILL STEERS FRENCH SHIP OF STATE; GREAT POLITICAL BATTLE IS NOT YET ENDED

Paris, July 23.—Premier Clemenceau stands firmly at the helm of the French ship of state today, the Chamber of Deputies having given his ministry a vote of confidence by 272 to 181 ballots, but the great political battle is not yet ended.

Independent newspapers, commenting upon the historic scenes in the chamber yesterday, declare that the Premier routed his adversaries by the threat to go before the people in a new election and to allow them to vote on the government's policies. This was a thing that the Premier's opponents most feared.

That M. Clemenceau is going to fight to remain in power until his work of concluding peace is fully completed was indicated by his speech.

Deputy Loucheur, during debate on the high cost of necessities, attributed the excessive price of coal and its scarcity to Great Britain making her coal market free. France had already protested diplomatically, said M. Loucheur, but must look to the United States for a solution of the problem.

All war offenders save those guilty of gravest crimes will be liberated under an amnesty act introduced in the Chamber by the Government. Unofficially it is estimated that 50,000 men will be affected by this measure.

RACE HATRED FLAME FLICKERS OUT; WASHINGTON, D. C., IS QUIET AGAIN

FEAR AMERICA FAVORS EASY BULGARIAN TERMS.

Paris, July 23.—Opposition to America's participation in the framing of the Bulgarian peace treaty, as revealed in the European press, is due to the belief that the American delegates will favor lenient terms for the Bulgars.

The American delegates are known to favor permitting Bulgaria to retain western Thrace to give her access to the sea. This, it is stated in American conference circles is not in the interest of leniency but rather to safeguard the peace of the Balkans.

"We believe Bulgaria should pay for the wrongs she has committed," said an authority close to the American delegation. "We insist upon this, but at the same time we do not want to create a situation in the Balkans that may lead to another war a few years hence."

Home Guard Killed Last Night, Another Seriously Wounded—Murderer at Large—Only Desultory Rioting During Night— Rain and Police Scatter Crowds as Quickly as Formed.

Washington, July 23.—That the flame of race hatred in the national capital had about flickered out, was the belief today of both local and federal authorities.

When the metropolitan and military police, together with two thousand federal troops who had re-enforced them, relaxed their vigilance early today, there had been only desultory rioting, in which one man had been killed and one seriously injured, both having been shot by the same negro who still was at large. The situation was in striking contrast to that of the preceding night when four were slain and scores wounded in clashes so frequent that they were practically continuous.

ARBITRATION TO END RHODE ISLAND STRIKE

Receivers of Company Get Order from Governor.

UNIONS AGREE TO PLAN

Chance That Controversy Which Has Tied Street Railways of State Will End Soon.

Providence, R. I., July 23.—Arthur H. Cushing, town solicitor of North Providence, acting under the direction of Governor Beekman, today was granted a court order requiring the receivers of the Rhode Island Company to submit the labor controversy to arbitration.

Since the carmen went on strike Friday, tying up the street railway transportation of virtually the entire state, the union men have agreed to submit their demands to arbitration. The receivers have maintained that they did not have the necessary authority to permit them to go to the Superior Court and ask for the appointment of an arbitrator because this power had not been delegated to them when they were appointed. The receivers today addressed a letter to Governor Beekman in which they pointed out their position. On receipt of their communication the governor acted.

LOOKS LIKE TRAGEDY.

Salem, Mass., July 23.—What is believed to be a tragedy of the sea came to light here today with the sighting in outer Salem harbor of a sail boat, all sails set, fishing lines over the side, the small cabin giving signs of recent occupancy and not a soul aboard. The boat was half filled with water. The "mystery sloop" had no name and the articles of clothing aboard were not marked. The sloop was found between Whale's Light and Missetry Island by the lobster boat Rowan.

As a consequence, it is charged, of wilful misstatement of ages, the number of women in the British census groups are 20 to 25 to 30, are disproportionately high.

Rain Aided Police.

Many of them, tired of dodging both rain and police, went home.

Late in the evening only scattered knots of white men in the neighborhood of Ninth and Seventh Streets between Pennsylvania Avenue and H Street, and scattered groups of negroes along Seventh Street north of H Street, were demanding the attention of the soldiers and the police.

Riot Calls Come In.

Kittery, Me., July 23.—After a chase extending from New Haven, Conn., Mrs. Abbie Munroe, wife of George S. Munroe, of that city and William Custer, also of New Haven, were arrested at South Elliot early today in a raid by Sheriff Maurice S. Leach. Arraigned in the municipal court here today before Judge J. H. Shaw they were held in $500 bonds each for the superior court at Alfred.

Munroe accompanied Sheriff Leach when the arrest was made. Mrs. Munroe and Custer, who also is married, left New Haven some weeks ago, each deserting a family of several small children. ## President Plans to Meet All Republican Senators Before His Speaking Tour

Ex-Kaiser May Not Leave Holland; Officials Refuse His Request to Move

The Hague, July 23.—The Dutch Foreign Office has refused to grant permission to the ex-Kaiser to move from Amerongen, though he himself desired to move, Count Bentinck desired to get rid of him, and the former German emperor's friends had found a suitable residence elsewhere.

Legally Free to Leave.

The ex-Kaiser is legally free to leave Holland, it is said here, but a significant statement obtained from the Foreign Office today, declined to say what would happen if he tried to leave.

William's so-called "freedom" consists of being guarded by gendarmes, who limit his movements to Lorrsum and Amerongen. His entourage has been reduced to chamberlain, adjutant and valet for himself and one lady-in-waiting and two maids for the ex-Kaiserin. Both his visitors and his mail are subject to Dutch censorship. Only a few days ago the Dutch refused to permit an American correspondent to talk to the former emperor.

Germans Visit Him.

However, there is a constant pilgrimage of visitors from Germany who keep William Hohenzollern well informed of doings inside Germany. They advise him that the movement for his extradition by the allies has strengthened the hand of the monarchists but that his flight has alienated many of his strongest supporters and that should a monarchy be re-established, the choice of ruler would most likely fall upon the Crown Prince.

England's Striking Miners Connected With I. W. W.'S

Industrial Triple Alliance Meets in London to Discuss Situa- tion Which Has Become Serious—Strike May Extend to Railways and Ships—Miners Demand Nationalization— Papers Say Laborites Made a Grave Mistake.

London, July 23.—The "Industrial Triple Alliance" meets today to discuss the possible extension of the coal strike to the railways and the transport workers, according to the Daily Express.

It is declared by the Daily Express that the extremist leaders of the striking miners in the Yorkshire Fields are in constant communication with the industrial workers of that world, the stormy petrels of the American industrial centers.

A meeting of the miners' executive committee will be held tomorrow to canvass the situation.

To Save on Fuel.

Towns supplied by the Yorkshire Fields have received official warning from the government to curtail their consumption of coal, gas, electricity and water. Railway service is to be reduced also.

The Morning Post makes the startling suggestion that the real cause of the strike is a long and carefully concerted plan to overturn the existing order of things and place the whole nation at the mercy of one section.

Daily Mail's View.

The Daily Mail attributes the un### rest to inactivity of the Laborites in Parliament. If they had given ex- pression to strong views in the House of Commons, more frankly uttered, there would be less clamor on the part of local agitators, argued this Northcliffe organ. The news- paper expresses the belief further- more that government inaction may be due to the lack of a settled coal field policy on the part of the gov- ernment. Premier Lloyd George is charged with "moving away from nationalization of mines." There are strong rumors that Edward Shortt, home secretary is opposed to the miners' demand for national- ization.

Keen Interest in Meeting.

Keen interest is felt everywhere over the meeting of the Triple Alliance—officials of the mine, railway and transport workers. They will then discuss the advisability of direct action, a threat that has already been made. As they control about two million workers their decision will be of great weight in the industrial situation.

By direct action the officials mean widespread strikes to enforce their demands.

Only One Refused.

With the appearance of Page, Sterling, McLean and Newberry at the White House the President's original list of fifteen Republican Senators to whom he extended invitations to call upon him was exhausted. Of the fifteen only one—Senator Norris, of Nebraska—declined to see the President.

A Springtime Thaw

By ANNA REDFERN

glance. There seemed no graceful way of escape. So Bill threw back the long French window and stood bravely waiting for events to happen.

"Irene, this is my nephew, Bill Sheldon, from the East," called Auntie Bascom from the other room.

Bill gravely acknowledged the introduction with a bow, striving meantime to down the rising reserve which was always intensified by a meeting with a stranger.

"I'm pleased to meet you," Irene's full-throated voice rang out pleasantly as she extended her firm white hand and raised her blue, blue eyes to his. She waited for no reserve to melt. In fact, she neither felt nor noticed any such thing.

"Do you play tennis?" she inquired, with a glance toward the racket in her hand.

Then Bill surprised himself. "Just try me," he answered, "when you finish your errand."

Auntie Bascom heaved a sigh of relief as they walked off together. "Irene'll keep him amused for a little while," she ejaculated, "although I know he won't approve of her romping ways."

Somehow there was not any more talk of going home, and somehow Bill began to take an interest in his visit. Never did Aunt Della attribute this change to the lively Irene, for there was always a crowd of young people together. Her enlightenment came suddenly and unintentionally.

Bill had gone away for the evening. The dishes had been carefully washed and dried. The soft evening breeze blew by the open door with a pulling force. Throwing a shawl about her shoulders, Aunt Della started across the garden path to her neighbor's, Mrs. Roberts, for a chat. It was a walk that she loved. The moonlight was soft and scented. Her thoughts turned fondly back to the time when she had not walked this path alone. Passing slowly along, she stopped for a moment by the summer house. Her attention was caught by a familiar voice:

"But, Irene, are you sure that you can put up with an old stupid like me?"

Then a tremulously happy voice replied:

"Oh, Bill, are you sure you will never call me a tomboy?"

Aunt Della wanted to pass quietly along, but her astonishment held her rooted to the spot. Bill sensing the presence of an outsider discovered her. He drew the gentle Irene out into the soft glow of the moonlight.

"You may kiss Irene, auntie," he generously offered in bold confidence. "You may have known her ever since she was a baby, but I shall even that up, for I expect to know and love her for the rest of her lifetime."

Murderer's Oversight.

Perhaps the smallest creature that ever unrolled the curtain from before an unsuspected murderer was that which convicted the murderer of Mr. and Mrs. Newtown in 1898. A stationmaster sold a ticket at a small station and received a silver coin dated 1898, rather oddly marked. He put the coin in his pocket and placed another in the till, and that afternoon showed it to some of his friends. A man recognized it immediately as one that Newtown had kept for some time as a pocketpiece and lucky coin, and this was the first hint gained by the detectives as to where they should look for the murderer, who was subsequently apprehended and convicted. It was a minute trifle, this handing over a coin, but it brought the murderer to the just punishment which his crime deserved. Had he chanced on any other piece of money in his pocket—and it was afterwards known that he had a pocketful of money—he would in all probability have remained undiscovered.—London Mail.

If Your Eyes Are Tired.

Seat yourself on one side of the room, facing the wall opposite. Hold the head still and raise the eyes slowly until you are looking as nearly as possible at the ceiling above you. Now lower the eyes, looking at the floor before you. Take care, when looking down, not to focus the eyes on the nose, but on the floor at your feet. Repeat this ten times, but take care not to over-weary the eyes.

Now look as far to the right as possible, then slowly shift the gaze to the left. Repeat as before.

For a final exercise, imagine a huge circle in the air before you, and without moving the head, follow the outlines of this circle with your eyes, beginning at the left, and going to the right for ten times, then beginning at the right and moving toward the left.

When your exercises are over, bathe the eyes in warm water to which you have added a pinch of boric acid, then close them and rest for five minutes.

Telling Fortunes With Oil.

Among the Kherias of India a very curious marriage ceremony is reported. Taking a portion of the hair of the bride and bridegroom in turn from the center of the forehead, the priest draws it down onto the bridge of the nose. Then pointing off on the head, he watches it carefully as it trickles down the portion of hair. If the oil runs straight onto the tip of their nose their future will be fortunate, but if it spreads over the forehead or trickles off on either side of the nose, ill luck is sure to follow. Their fortunes told, generally to their own satisfaction, the final part of the ceremony takes place. Standing up side by side, but with faces strictly averted, the bride and bridegroom mark each other's forehead with "sindur" (vermillion).

CLEVELAND INDIANS OFFER TURNED DOWN

Bid of $12,500 for Pitcher Leonard Is Refused.

Manager Miller Huggins Turns Former Boston Red Sox Hurler Over to Tigers for $2,500 Less Than Jim Dunn Offered.

Can you imagine a ball club disposing of a pitcher for $2,500 less than the highest bid? Well, such a thing probably wouldn't happen in any business other than baseball, but such is the case of "Dutch" Leonard. President Dunn of Cleveland wanted the services of "Dutch" Leonard for the Indians. When it became known that New York was willing to dispose of Leonard the Cleveland magnate at once started to angle for the services of the star southpaw. Dunn realizes that the one and only weak spot on his ball club is his pitching staff. It has been said that a pennant-winning club must have a crack southpaw. Working on that theory, Dunn set out to do business with the New York club.

Now, it so happens, that Miller Huggins of the New York Yankees is hopeful of winning an American league pennant for Gotham this year. Huggins is a wise old owl and full well realizes that Cleveland and Chicago loom up as the strongest contenders, with the Boston Red Sox as still a possibility, despite the bad start of that club. No one knew any better than Huggins what the coming of Leonard would do for the Cleveland club. It would have just about made Cleveland the one best bet in the American league. Huggins realized that he could not afford to so strengthen the Cleveland club and thereby jeopardize to a great extent the chances of his team.

It is a matter of record that Jim Dunn was willing to pay $12,500 for the services of Leonard. He knew that "Dutch" would get him back several times that amount at the gate made the Indians a stronger pennant contender, if not a winner.

Yet Frank Navin of the Detroit club bought Leonard for $10,000, an even $2,500 less than Cleveland was willing to pay. The Detroit club at the time the deal was made was going poorly. The pitching staff of the Tigers was in far worse shape than that of the Indians. New York realized it could sell Leonard to Detroit, strengthening that team, yet in no way lessen the chances of the New York club to win. A mere matter of $2,500 in such a case meant nothing to the millionaire owners of the Yankees.

Such is the tale of why Leonard was lost to Jim Dunn, even though he was willing to raise the ante of Frank Navin.

CONSISTENCY A JEWEL

The New York Sun pertinently remarks: "When Chris Mathewson and Branch Rickey played ball each had clauses put in their contracts that they would be exempted from Sunday ball games. Matty coached on Sunday, but Rickey does not go that far. He won't even manage a team on Sunday. But suppose all his players took the same attitude? What, then? Seems to be a conscientious objector on the question of Sunday ball and yet not averse to profiting therefrom. To be entirely consistent Mr. Rickey should have no connection whatever with any organization that aids and abets Sunday baseball for profit."

President of Vernon Team to Use Players in Babe Ruth Picture—Has Good Talent.

President Fatty Arbuckle of the Vernon club is going to use his players for something else besides stunts on the diamond. He is framing up a feature baseball picture, in which the Vernon players are to be assigned roles. Arbuckle says there is a lot of good movie talent in his Tiger team, but that may be just ball to coax them into the picture.

HOPES WILSON WILL AID ALLIES LIQUIDATE DEBTS

French Writer Thinks That President Will Ask Congress to Extend Long Time Credits.

Paris, July 23.—Writing in Figaro today Louis Aubert, famous French financial expert, forecast that President Wilson will send a message to the American Congress recommending plans that will enable the allies to liquidate their debts to the United States and secure further credits from that country.

M. Aubert's important statements on international finance followed an interview he had with J. P. Morgan. Although the French expert did not mention Mr. Morgan's name it was intimated that some of the American bankers views were set forth in the article.

President Wilson's reported plan will likely take the form of extending the scope of the War Finance Corporation which will back long term credits granted by American experts to European importers, according to M. Aubert. The writer reveals the object of Mr. Morgan's trip by stating that French, British and Italian financiers and the French finance ministry had formed a committee of seven bankers to meet Edward Stettinius, a Morgan representative, with a view to arranging French financial and industrial revival. Similar action is to be taken in Italy, it is said.

PRESIDENT PLANS TO MEET ALL REPUBLICAN SENATORS

Not even a surmise as to when the President was likely to set forth on his contemplated speech-making tour was forthcoming from the White House today. It was pointed out that if all of the thirty-four Republican Senators he has not yet received accepted his invitation to call upon him several weeks might elapse before he finished discussing the treaty with them.

Today, or thirteen days after the committee actually began consideration of the document, the "reading" of it had only proceeded as far as the first half. With the other half still to be disposed of, nearly two weeks might elapse before the committee really "got down to business" it was pointed out.

VETERANS TELL SOME REAL LIVE STORIES

How Kid Gleason Used to Be Cut Up With Spikes.

Davy Jones, Then With Chicago Cubs, Tried to Put Peppery Manager of Chicago White Sox Out of Business, but Failed.

There was some great fanning at the baseball meetings in New York. One bunch of yarn spinners were talking about how Kid Gleason used to be cut up with the spikes of base runners because he refused to give any ground to them at second base and the Kid was an interested listener to his own "obituary."

"Yes," he put in, "sometimes they did slash me up, and sometimes they didn't. I remember once when Davy Jones was with the Cubs. Early in the game he tried to steal and I tagged him pretty roughly. He warned me that the next time he got on he was coming down and was going to cut me down. Sure enough he got on again, but as we had the Cubs beaten, 8 to 1, I tipped King off to make a high throw. Down came Davy with one leg swinging high so as to spike me. Of course, I paid no attention to the ball, which went to center field. All I did was to grab that leg, give it a twist and cause Davy to plop up the infield with his face. When Davy finally escaped there was no skin left on his nose, and what made him even madder was that the ball was thrown back to me in time to put him out before he got back on the bag."

"That reminds me of a game," remarked Johnny Evers, "in which, with Slagle on third and Schulte on first and only one out, Schulte was told to go into second standing up if the ball was hit on the ground. Chance not wanting a double play to prevent Slagle from scoring, Schulte, of course, obeyed orders, and when the shortstop, after taking the toss from the second baseman, went to wheel the ball to first he hit Schulte between the eyes."

"Down went Schulte as if hit with a hammer. He was up in less than a minute and turning toward the grand stand, yelled majestically: 'They told me to stand up and then they knock me down.'"

"And the worst of it was that Slagle forgot all about scoring, but when he was half way home he cut across to second to see if Schulte was hurt."

STOCK MARKET

New York, July 23.—The stock market opened strong today. Opening gains of from one to three points were recorded. U. S. Steel Common rose nearly one point to 110 5-8 while Crucible showed a gain of over six points at 140 1-2 and Baldwin Locomotive was 3 1-8 higher at 114 1-2.

Experiments are being made in Trinidad, British West Indies, with a mineral oil substitute for coal fuel in the railways. Washington, July 23.—Federal regulation of the navigation of the air is provided in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Senator Sherman of Illinois.

Senator Sherman, in a brief statement, declared that navigation of the air must be regulated. He declared that the recent "blimp" tragedy in Chicago indicates the necessity for a code of aerial navigation laws.

5,000,000 BOOKS WERE DISTRIBUTED BY Y. M. C. A.

American Soldiers Had Enormous Amount of Reading Matter—28,000,000 Magazines.

Paris, July 12.—(By Mail.)—If it is true that armies travel on their stomachs, then the American Expeditionary Forces included literature in their diets. The Y. M. C. A. distributed more than 5,000,000 bound volumes throughout the American units abroad during the months of the war. For a number of months more than 300,000 magazines were distributed monthly without cost to the soldier.

More than 28,000,000 copies were distributed during the period of the war at a monthly cost of $85,000. Ninety per cent of these were given away. More than 1,000,000 volumes of text books were printed or bought by the association for educational work, all of them eventually being taken over by the army along with the Y. M. C. A. educational work. A million and a half copies of "Popular Songs of the A. E. F.", a 96 page song book, were printed by the "Y" and distributed free of charge to the doughboys, while 633,000 other volumes of musical works and sheet works were given away. There was also a free distribution of more than 2,000,000 pieces of religious literature.

Before the American Library Association arrived in France to carry on its enormous work the task of furnishing all literature fell upon the "Y", and at times because of difficulties attendant on shipping the association was forced to advertise in Paris papers for gifts of reading matter printed in English in order to be able to carry on its work.

EXPECT MINE SWEEPING FINISHED BY DECEMBER.

London, July 23.—The final grand mine sweep is being made in the North Sea. One hundred thousand mines remain to be swept up from the great barrage extending from the tip of Scotland to Norway and down along the German coast, and the work is being done equally by British and American naval forces. The work is expected to be completed by December, although "strays" which have broken from their moorings may continue to menace shipping for several years more.

Some 400 British mine sweepers are busy every day the weather permits—and that's most every day now—in the North Sea. The personnel comprises 15,000.

The base of the American mine sweepers is off the Orkneys.

The light of the sun exerts a pressure of 70,000 tons on the earth, according to a British scientist.

Baroness Works As Maid To Learn True Spirit Of American Democracy

San Francisco, July 23.—There is mourning in the home of R. B. Burmeister. The "perfect servant" has gone—returned to her two beautiful children, her big castle, her jewels and motors and friends.

While the police along the entire Pacific coast were searching for Baroness Hommel Mackay, wife of Baron Daniel Mackay, wealthy Dutch shipowner, now chief Dutch official at Medan, Sumatra, a plainly dressed matron, decidedly good looking, applied at the Burmeister home for employment as "second maid." She was employed.

For four months "Ella," as the new maid was called, did her work wonderfully well. She seemed to know by instinct just what to do and how to do it. Then as suddenly as she came she went away. And the story came out.

Ella Hommel was the daughter of well-to-do Swiss parents. She married Baron Daniel Mackay of Holland. They lived in splendor in Van Ophemert Castle and everything apparently was going along well. Two children came. But the Baroness wasn't happy. When her husband went to Sumatra she accompanied him. The children were left behind. Early last Spring she left Sumatra to return to Holland and her children. She reached San Francisco and disappeared. Detectives scoured the Coast for her, but they never found her.

So well had she disguised herself as a servant girl that for months she worked in the Burmeister home as a mental and later in the Overton family without her identity being discovered.

Then the Baroness thought she had learned enough of American life and she decided to return to her home. A cablegram to the effect that her children now aged nine and twelve needed her caused her to announce who she really was.

She sailed from New York two weeks ago to return to Holland.

PLAN NO EARLY ACTION ON MEXICAN BORDER

Congress Leaves Matter in Hands of State Department—Treaty to be Deposed of First.

Washington, July 23.—Congress will take no early action with respect to the Mexican situation.

While sentiment seemed to be crystallizing for decisive measures to end outrages against American citizens in Mexico, and many members were demanding use of the armed forces of the United States in a general cleanup, the leaders in Congress, it was learned today, have decided to follow for a while longer the lead of the State Department.

Sent to Another Committee.

There was to be continued investigation of the Mexican situation, however, but action was to be shifted from the rules committee to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. This decision was reached by the Rules Committee following notice from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that it could not join with the House Foreign Affairs Committee in any joint investigation. Senator Lodge said the Senate committee was too busy with the peace treaty to take on other work until that document had been finally disposed of by the Senate.

To Substitute Resolution.

As a result, Representative Stephen Porter, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, today had secured a pledge from the Rules Committee to substitute for the Gould resolution, which required an investigation by a joint House and Senate Committee, a resolution for the investigation by the House Foreign Affairs Committee of all matters set forth in the Gould resolution together with an inquiry into the attitude of Mexico towards Germany and Austria-Hungary during the war.

Matter is at Standstill.

With this decision reached congressional action in connection with Mexican matters came to a standstill in the House today. Representative Porter had left for his home in Pittsburgh, and no meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee will be held before next week.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee is said to be pledged under Secretary of State Polk "to take no hasty step" in connection with Mexican questions. Recently, when Polk went before the committee, he outlined the Mexican situation and the plans of the State Department and promised additional reports from time to time as matters should develop in connection with the turbulent republic.

MUST PLAY OUT GAME.

New York, July 23.—The Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates must play out their game of July 6, cut short by agreement and protested by Manager McGraw of the Giants, according to a modified ruling handed down by the board of directors of the National League this morning. President John A. Heydler, in announcing his modified ruling, warned the club officials and managers that a repetition of the occurrence would result in heavy financial penalties.

Park Theater

Suppose a beautiful and refined woman, with romance as one of the compelling motives of her life; a husband who is immersed in business, unintentionally neglected and inclined to carelessness.

Then imagine a handsome, debonaire, romantic and convincing young man who appreciates the situation and is overwhelmed by his admiration for the wife.

Suppose the wife, swayed by the fine speeches and the result of odious comparisons, leaving her husband and marrying the interloper, who is at best, a trifler.

Then consider her position when the second spouse proves selfish, is inclined to stray—while, meantime, the first husband reforms, becomes as neat as a pin and saves her from a disgraceful situation as the result of another woman's entrance into No. 2's affections.

What would the wife do? Go back to No. 1? To find the answer to this question, the public is referred to Cecil B. DeMille's newest special Artercraft picture, "Don't Change Your Husband", by Jeanie Macpherson, which will be shown again tonight at the Park Theater. It went over big last evening.

This is one of the best psychological photoplays which Mr. DeMille ever produced. Although it is in no sense a sequel to Mr. DeMille's "Old Wives for New", the two may be regarded as companion pictures and "Don't Change Your Husband" forms a sort of answer from the woman's point of view to the problem contained in "Old Wives for New."

Tomorrow "Bare Fisted Gallagher" now making a hit in Hartford will be the feature.

Circle Theater

A combination of realism and romance is offered in Vivian Martin's new Paramount picture, "Jane Goes-a-Wooing", which will be presented at the Circle theater tonight. Vivian is seen as a courageous little Irish girl who is left with the care of her twin sisters when her father, who is an irresponsible vagabond, deserts and leaves his three children destitute.

Mickey Donovan, who runs the White House lunch cart, wants Jane to marry him, but Jane does not care enough for Mickey. She sets out to make a living herself and she succeeds, and also falls in love with a rich man. But the rich young man, who seems the ideal lover at first, soon shows Jane that his qualities are not the best, and she can't help but compare him to Mickey, to the latter's favor. In the end we see Jane and Mickey happily united.

Vivian Martin is a vivacious and appealing Jane. This is announced as one of the strongest and most dramatic stories little Miss Martin has had in some time. Niles Welch plays the rich young man and Casson Ferguson is Mickey Donovan. Both are young actors of splendid ability.

Spottiswoode Aitken portrays an elderly playwright and Herbert Standing is Derondo, a theatrical manager. Others who are reported to do excellent work are Helen Dunbar, Byrdine Zuber, Clyde Benson, and the McKenzie twins.

A new release comedy is on the same bill.

ALONG MEXICAN BORDER

Governor of Texas Says Conditions Are No Worse Than They Have Been for Two Years.

Austin, Tex., July 23.—Conditions on the Texas border are no worse than they have been for the past two years but there is still need for more adequate protection of American citizens and property, according to a statement made here today by Governor W. P. Hobby of Texas.

Governor Hobby declared he had nothing further to add to the representations he made to the federal government some time ago regarding conditions along the Rio Grande. At that time he offered the services of the Texas National Guard for border protection, and this offer, the governor said, still holds good.

The governor added he does not contemplate any action unless the situation becomes more serious.

Need More Soldiers.

"United States troops," said Governor Hobby, "are scattered along the entire length of the river from El Paso to Brownsville and they must be given credit for keeping raids of Mexican bandits to a minimum. Additional protection would give better security, however."

Governor Hobby believes that with the establishment of an airplane patrol along the border by the War Department still better service in the matter of protection will be afforded.

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product MORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

WAGES AND PRICES.

A striking illustration of the close union of high wages with high prices is shown in the settlement of the Boston carmen's strike.

The money to meet the demands for high wages must come from somewhere. The employer must pass the increase in his expense to his customers and then back the burden falls upon upon the wage earner.

ENGLAND MOVES FORWARD.

The conduct of foreign affairs seems to have been made safe for democracy by this war whether the same be true of the world or not.

In this country the Constitution provides that Congress shall declare war but as a matter of fact the President can himself precipitate a conflict if he so desires and practically force Congress to make the formal declaration.

There has been no such arrangement in England, and even today a treaty may be concluded without the consent or knowledge of Parliament.

It is not likely that England will ever go back to the old system after such an outstanding precedent has been established. The British constitution is but the history of the political life of that Empire and it is enlarged and modified as the spirit of liberalism, of progress and democracy becomes established in the realm.

THE IRISH QUESTION.

Reader Thinks Letter in New York World Expresses His Viewpoint on Irish in America.

South Manchester, July 22, '19.

Editor Herald, Manchester, Conn.

Dear Sir:

Enclosed please find a clipping taken from today's issue of the New York World; sent to that paper by one Albert Haas of Texas, which I would be pleased to have you re-print in your paper.

Respectfully, A. E.

The Letter.

To the Editor of The World: It is very gratifying to many of us that you have exposed in inconsistencies of a certain Senator in connection with the "Irish question" and the League of Nations.

We have no more use in this country for hyphenated Americans with an Irish hyphen than for those with a German hyphen.

There are thousands upon thousands of real, loyal United States citizens who were Germans bred and born or of German descent, and the writer is himself one of these.

We have fathers, brothers, uncles and nephews galore in the old country, corresponding women folk included. But what matter? We are now Americans. Our duties and obligations, as well as our ideals and privileges, are here, and we should not raise a finger to assist in any political move, must less meddle in international affairs, to secure, for instance, independence, partial or complete, for the Rhineland, nor did any of our Senators become troubled over the failure of this independence to take practical form.

And all things considered, how little trouble the War Department had with men of German blood drafted for war service against Germany! They did not strike in a body as did the Irish in Ireland—born British subjects—when Great Britain needed men to protect Ireland as well as England against German aggression.

Very many must be the lives of Allied and American soldiers sacrificed because of Ireland shrinking in the hour of greatest need during the latter part of the war.

At this time it does not appear that America has very much cause for being grateful to the Irish.

It would therefore seem that we can expect citizens of Irish blood to abstain from meddling with the affairs of their old country with the same right with which it is expected of citizens of German blood.

Further, there is a distinct parallel between the case of the Irish and that of the Rhinelanders.

The former are of a type distinct from the English and the Scotch, speak the same language and have a grievance against the Government of Great Britain, of which they are a part.

The latter are of a type distinct from the Prussians and the South Germans, speak the same language and have a grievance against the German Government, of which they are a part.

The Louisiana people as a type are distinct from Pennsylvanians and New Yorkers, but that nor any other reason would induce our Government to let Louisiana secede, did she propose to do so.

Hence the Rhineland remains a part of the German Empire, Louisiana a part of the American empire, and Ireland can remain a part of the British Empire for all that we should worry.

The trouble with us Americans is that we are prone to consider the Irish factor in this country as a predominating if not ruling force which we must recognize, acknowledge and submit to no less volens.

This is the result of Irish politics, Tammany Hall bossism in many of our cities and of the aggressive action in politics by men of Irish blood. We should stagger in astonishment if the Bavarian flag were raised on City Hall, New York, on the anniversary of the Bavarian patron saint. Then why should we not experience similar emotions on seeing the Irish flag hoisted by the same halyard?

Bavaria is a subdivision of the German Empire and Ireland of the British, and it is still so. Why the difference, the discrimination?

Just a few days ago a Czechoslovak organization of one of our greatest Texas cities petitioned the Mayor for leave to hoist the flag of their new-born republic below our national flag on City Hall. They were refused, but next St. Patrick's Day the green flag will be there as usual, you bet, possibly topmost, with the Stars and Stripes in hiding for that day.

League of Nations Covenant Puts No Limits on Congress

Taft Holds that No Constitutional Right is Taken Away or Limited by Pact—Government Possesses Ample Power to Contract to Carry Out League Obligations.

BY WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT. Copyright, 1919, by Public Ledger Co.

Some objectors to the league contend that the United States cannot by treaty agree to do anything which it is the function of Congress to do under the Constitution, and, therefore, that it cannot agree to declare and make war, to levy an embargo or to limit its armament in the future on the happening of conditions, as provided in the covenant.

No Conflict of Power. The treaty-making power and Congress are agencies of the same government. Indeed, in their functional capacity they are the government. The government promises, through the one and performs through the other. It promises to pay money by treaty. It performs it by Congressional appropriation.

The power to promise and legally bind oneself is the faculty of a freeman. The disability in this regard of a minor interferes with his business activities and his usefulness, and it is imposed on the theory that he cannot be safely trusted to deal with his own affairs or make contracts in respect to them.

Effect of Article Ten. One of the very common treaty obligations between nations is that to declare and make war and, on the other hand, that to refrain from making war. It is, therefore, clearly within the scope of the treaty-making power of the United States, as described by the Supreme Court, to agree to make war in the future or to refrain from it.

The Only Limitations. Nothing in the Constitution warrants such a view. Our fundamental law gives our government the treaty-making power without express limitation, and vests its exercise in the President and two-thirds of the Senate.

It is a mistake to say that a promise in a treaty by our Government to do something which it is the business of Congress under the Constitution to do conflicts with Congressional authority. Indeed, a treaty is, under our Constitution, a part of the law of the land, so that if provisions of the treaty are in form legislative and of present operation, they have the same effect as a statute of Congress.

Let us have the same laws and rules and the same courtesy and treatment for all the varied humanity in this big melting-pot, and for those who have not yet come to these shores the same aloofness. This would be fair play and be apt to keep us out of trouble.

consistent acts of Congress previously enacted. In turn, an act of Congress can repeal such provisions of a treaty so far as they have legal effect in this country.

The treaty-making power and Congress are agencies of the same government. Indeed, in their functional capacity they are the government. The government promises, through the one and performs through the other.

There is no other way. It agrees to make war in the future on the happening of a condition. It performs the promise by a Congressional declaration of war and preparation for the struggle. If Congress refuses to perform the promise, either to pay the money or make the war, as it has the arbitrary power to do, then it and the government, in whose name it acts, merely violate that governments lawful promise.

There is no attempted delegation to any other body to declare or make war for the United States. If war is to be declared or entered on, Congress must do it. Congress, though legally and honorably bound, may dishonorably and arbitrarily refuse to do and then war will not be made.

Foreign nations realize that under the Covenant it is for Congress, when the occasion arises, in good faith first to determine that there is an obligation; second, what its extent is, and, third, how it shall be performed. It is the final judge of the United States in such a matter under the covenant.

AEROPLANE FLIVVER HAN

SUCCESSFUL TRIAL SPIN.

Stockholm, July 23.—At the Paalson aeroplane factory at Malmoe, in the presence of various experts, a trial flight has been made of a new small type of aeroplane weighing only 700 pounds and capable of carrying another 400 pounds.

The machine was designed by M. Paalson. The trial flight was a complete success; the machine carried out a series of manoeuvres with accuracy, and a very neat landing was made, the aeroplane stopping within 100 yards after reaching the ground.

2,300 VOLTS ONLY BURN; 65-FOOT FALL, NO INJURY. Kansas City, Mo., July 23.—Only slight burns and bruises were sustained by H. L. Johnson, thirty-six, a lineman employed by the K. C. Light and Power Company, who fell sixty-five feet from a pole on a viaduct while repairing some wires.

While working on the pole his arm came in contact with a feed wire and 2,300 volts of electricity went through him. He fell to the cinder ballast of a railroad track, sixty-five feet below.

"Neither Dempsey nor Willard seems to be in a class with John L. Sullivan," mused Lansing. "The heavyweights of today aren't like the old boys."

"DRYS" AGAIN TRIUMPH AS ENFORCEMENT BILL PASSES HOUSE 287-100

Overcome All Opposition As They Adopt Most Drastic Bill.

"WETS" SEE FAINT HOPE IN VETO POSSIBILITY

Measure Now Goes to Senate Where It May Be Toned Down—Loneragan Opposes.

Washington, July 23.—By a vote of 287 to 100 the 'dry' forces in Congress once more demonstrated that they are in unquestionable authority when it comes to legislation regarding the enforcement of the prohibition laws. Yesterday a bill was passed with provisions so drastic that it was predicted that it meant an end to the liquor traffic in this country.

Forty-two Democrats and forty-eight Republicans refused to support the measure. Among those voting against it was Congressman Lonergan.

Just as the triumph of the 'drys' was being officially announced a tiny girl, who was far too young to realize what it was all about, leaned from the gallery and waved a small American flag. The House broke into applause.

Some Hope for Veto.

A broad smile spread over the faces of the prohibition leaders, for their work in the House was ended and the measure was ready for the Senate, where many of its restrictions may be modified or stricken out. The cloak room rumor persisted that all of this legislative effort might end on the shoal of a presidential veto, although the general view was that it would be signed as passed.

Before the House put the bill on its passage one final but feeble hand was reached forth to strike it down and put in its place a briefer and more liberal measure. This took the form of a three paragraph bill by Mr. Igoe, dem., Missouri, introduced some days ago, and offered today in the form of a motion to recommit, which meant its substitution for the general enforcement measure, if the House saw fit. But the House did not. Mr. Igoe's motion was defeated 255 to 136, and this vote analyzed meant that at least thirty-six members who favored a more liberal bill took the more drastic one later when there was no other choice.

There were no unexpected reversals in the individual vote. Mr. Husted, republican, New York, who voted as a member of the judiciary committee, to report out the bill, was recorded against it, while Mr. Clason, republican, of Wisconsin, who signed the minority report, was recorded for it. Mr. Pou, democrat, of North Carolina, an ardent prohibitionist, voted against the bill, after having pointed out that a law so severe as not to permit a farmer's wife to make a bottle of blackberry wine for her own use never could be enforced.

How They Voted.

The following members voted against the bill:

Democrats—Babka, Bee, Blackmon, Buchanan, Carey, Casey, Cleary Coady, Cullen, Dent, Dewart, Donovan, Dooling, Dupre, Eagan, Fitzgerald, Gallagher, Gallivan, Ganly, Gard, Goldfogle, Griffin, Humphreys, Igoe, Johnston, Lazaro, Lea, Linthicum, Lonergan, McAndrews, McGlennon, McKiniry, McLane, Martin, Mead, Minahan, Mooney, O'Connell, O'Connor, Pell, Phelan, Pou, John W. Rainey of Illinois, Riordan, Rowan, Sabath, Sherwood, Small, Smith of New York, Steele and Sullivan. Total 52.

Republicans—Bacharach, Britten, Burdick, Burke, Curry, Dyer, Edmonds, Freeman, Garland, Glynn, Haskell, Hull, Husted, Jeffries, Juul, Kahn, Kennedy, Kleczka, LaGuardia, Lambert, Lehpach, Lougworth, McArthur, MacCrate, Madden, Mann, Merritt, Moore, Morin, Mudd, Newton, Nolan, Ogden, Porter, Radcliffe, Ramsey, Reber, Rodenberg, Sanford, Siegel, Snyder, Stephens, Tinkham, Vane, Voigt, Walsh, Ward and Watson. Total 48.

AERO COMPANY ORGANIZED.

Trenton, N. J., July 23.—The garage company, organized for the purpose of operating aeroplanes and construction of hangars, has been incorporated here for $125,000.

WOULD PLACE TROLLEYS UNDER MUNICIPALITIES

New York Banker Sees Public Ownership as Best Way Out of Problem.

Washington, July 22.—Municipal ownership of street railways today received for the first time the approval of a witness appearing before the federal electric railways commission. Samuel R. Bertrom of New York, who said his banking firm had financed about fifty street railway properties including those of Buffalo, New Orleans, Memphis and Birmingham, declared his belief that traction properties owned by a municipality would be operated efficiently and not be subject to the political and other evils ordinarily ascribed to that form of management.

Situation Critical.

Mr. Bertrom agreed with J. E. Hedges, counsel for the New York Railways Company, and J. K. Newman, representing traction interests in New Orleans, St. Louis and other cities, who also were heard, that unless something was done quickly, preferably increases in rates for temporary relief, the plight of the street railways throughout the country would be serious. Mr. Hedges said that the companies might "go out" entirely and cease to be a part of community life.

Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, expressed the opinion that the financial situation of the street railways was the most acute internal problem now facing the country. The present need, he said, was an increased fare. He declined to suggest a permanent solution until a committee appointed by the chamber at its last convention had studied the situation and reported.

GREAT LABOR SHORTAGE IN THE MOTOR INDUSTRY

Skilled Men Scarce—Many Who Learned Craft in Army Got Good Jobs.

There is an acute scarcity of skilled labor in the motor trade throughout the United States and particularly in Chicago, it is reported today to Colonel Arthur Woods, Assistant to the Secretary of War. There are therefore excellent opportunities for skilled labor, along any line connected with the motor industry, for finding satisfactory employment.

This offers an attractive field to discharged service men, a great many of whom received a thorough training in the handling of motors during their service in the Army. The motor industry, it is further reported, has utilized the services of discharged soldiers and sailors to the fullest extent. Practically all of the men returned from the service who before enlisting were in the motor industry or trade, have been reemployed. In addition, a great many men who have been trained along motor lines while in the service, have also found employment.

On account of the labor unrest in practically all skilled labor lines, however, and on account of the falling off of immigration and apprenticeship during the period of the war, there are still a number of excellent opportunities open to ex-service men who before the war were members of the motor industry, or who during the war acquired skill in the motor trade.

PANKHURST FAMILY IS SPLIT BY BOLSHEVISM.

London, July 23.—Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, daughter of the now becalmed Mrs. Pankhurst, of militant fame, is trying to found an English Bolshevik party in order to make it clear it stands with the Russian communists.

No one in England has any doubt where Sylvia stands, or that her mother and her sister Christabel are entirely out of sympathy with the intensely anarchistic and communistic type of firebrand theories spouted by Sylvia. In fact Miss Christabel and her mother are doing all they can to combat Sylvia's propaganda, and Sylvia no longer has anything to do with the recognized woman's party movement which her mother founded and which Christabel is now leading.

"LEMON."

St. Louis, Mo., July 23.—Charging that her husband called her a "lemon," Mrs. Erielle Droege Fuld has filed suit for divorce from her husband, Dr. Joseph H. Fuld, of this city. The couple have been married just eighteen days. She charges.

He told her he thought when he married her that her family had money, "but he sure got # lemon."

Piquant Frocks for Little Girls

Manufacturers of children's clothes have certainly anticipated every need of the little girl, and of the flapper, too, this season. At the beginning, practical cotton frocks revealed that neatness was to be the dominant note in styles for the youthful and, with the advance of the season, sheer midsummer dresses reflected this quality. Designers delight in beautifully finished, simply constructed frocks, not much adorned, but showing careful needlework and, above all, little unexpected and clever touches in making.

Of course there are exceptions to all rules, and the frock for a girl of six, shown at the left of the picture above, is one of those that departs from the rule of utmost simplicity. It has a plaited skirt set to a plain bodice, with turn-over collar and tie and serves as a good background for a novel and pretty little sleeveless coat, which may be made of flowered silk or wide, fancy ribbon, or of plain colored organdie. The coat is cut into points at the bottom and fastens with one large button at the front, and when a plain fabric is used for making it, simple embroidered designs finish the tabs.

A gingham frock for a girl of eleven, or somewhere near it, shown at the right of the group, is one of many in which white percale or plain chambray are used with gingham, to the advantage of the dress. In this case the collar and cuffs are white, with a finish of fancy stitching in a color. The skirt has plaits at front and back, and a bib and pockets are cut on the bias of the plaid, as in nearly all this season's models. The small cravat tie must not be overlooked, for ties are fifty little items in children's clothes that help give them character. This one is plain and neat and very little-girlish.

FIRST HOLIDAY IN 350 YEARS.

London, July 23.—The girls of King Edward's School, Southwark, are having a Summer holiday for the first time in the school's history, which dates back to the reign of Edward VI., 350 years.

From their admission, until leaving at the age of sixteen, the children up to now have remained at the school, the idea being that risk of infection was minimized and the children did not become a burden to their parents.

DEMPEY OFFERED FIGHT.

London, July 23.—Jack Callaghan, fight promoter, declared today he is prepared to offer $175,000 to Jack Dempsey if he will meet the winner of the Carpentier-Beckett bout here September 2. Callaghan said he has secured a building to seat 22,000 spectators and would deposit the money as soon as Dempsey signed articles. C. B. Cochran had previously offered $125,000 for a championship bout between Dempsey and the winner of the Carpentier-Beckett match.

BRITISH EQUIP AIRPLANES WITH SAFETY PARACHUTES.

London, July 23.—All aeroplanes used by the Royal Air Force soon will be equipped with life-saving parachutes. Whether this procedure will be ordered for all commercial aircraft is yet to be decided, but it is regarded as certain that all training aeroplanes will be compelled to carry some form of life saving appliance.

Extensive experiments have shown the value of parachutes in saving life from machines that catch afire in mid-air or some defect arises which makes a safe landing impossible. The parachute is attached to the aeroplane so that a person—even a pilot—can jump from either side of the machine without entangling the parachute cordage.

THE "HONEY HANGOVER."

Hornell, N. Y., July 23.—Nature laughs at lawmakers.

Until those at Washington find some way to legislate the fermentation out of nature's processes there always will be something with a little more than 2.75 per cent. kick in it.

The simplest of all concoctions has been discovered here.

Simply take a few pounds of honey throw them into a jar of rain water and wait. In a few weeks you will have, those who have tried it say, a nectar fit for angels' lips, and which has sufficient kick to make it interesting.

KNOWLEDGE WAS LIGHT.

Topeka, Kan., July 23.—Fifty young dentists were pulling teeth as a part of a State examination by the State Dental Board, when a woman entered the room.

"Why under the sun don't you have electric fans going?" demanded the woman of a student.

"Madam," replied the dentist as he pulled a tooth with one hand, they might blow our knowledge away."

FLY TO FISH.

Ithaca, N. Y., July 23.—Just as the motor truck is opening up the commercial lanes of untrodden or sparsely settled sections of the world so is the aeroplane planned to serve as a means of reaching obscure fishing spots in Canada and other places where the finny species abound. Time will be "eaten up" in these trips.

A programme is being outlined by a plane manufacturer to make an early morning start, stop en route and pick up a friend, fly to a Canadian lake where bass run well, make a good catch, and return home at night.

According to results obtained in experiments at the university of Illinois, one thirty-second of an inch of scale in boiler tubes may reduce efficiency by 9 per cent., while one-ninth of an inch may reduce it 16 per cent.

DANVERS MYSTERY GIRL IDENTIFIED BY PARENTS

Was Divorced from Roy Forsythe, Hartford Man, and Worked as Waitress in Brookline.

Danvers, Mass., July 23.—Frances Grover Bartlett, the pretty Westfield young woman who was taken to the Lynn hospital Monday when the automobile in which she was riding with Edward T. Larkin, Boston broker, was wrecked after it struck several telegraph poles and tore down fifty feet of fence, was today in the Danvers Insane Asylum for observation.

The victim of the accident became a "mystery woman" when efforts to identify her failed. Larkin, who was only slightly injured, said he saw her at the Wakefield railroad station and offered her a ride to Boston and did not know her name.

Yesterday, however, her parents came here from Westfield and identified their daughter. Today it was learned that she worked for a time as a milliner in Springfield and was married to Roy Forsythe, a Hartford, Conn., man. She made her home in Hartford until she secured a divorce. Later she went to Boston to live with her sister. For a time she solicited magazine subscriptions and then was employed in a Brookline restaurant, near Larkin's home as a waitress.

LONDON PUG TO GET SEAT IN PARLIAMENT?

London, July 23.—"From the Prize Ring to Parliament" may be the title of the next breezy short story or serial emanating from Great Britain. Recent dispatches say that "Jimmy" Wilde, the pugilist, "already the lion of the lobbies," probably will accept a Parliamentary seat from a Welsh constituency where he ranks as a national hero, "not far below Lloyd George himself." Wilde was recently given a decision over Pat Moore, the American, in a twenty-round bout.

Pitiful Scenes As Health Officials Bring Fight Against Secret Drugs Into Open--Addicts Are Registered

New York, July 23.—A long line of men and women stretched away for blocks before an unimposing looking door in Prince street a few days ago. Some of them were in rags, some were moderately well dressed, evidently clerks and salaried people, and some wore furs and silks while their motors were waiting for them around the block.

There were some characteristics common to them all—the saffron tints of their skins, the dull, lack-lustre eyes, the nervous twitching of the lips and nostrils, the hands that never remained still.

One by one they disappeared into the door. They emerged a short time later. Their heads were high, their shoulders thrown back, there was a light in their eyes, vim and energy marked their every movement as they hurried away, some to work, some to the park benches and the slums, and some to where their purring motors were waiting to carry them back to their comfortable homes.

In this drama, staged in an uninviting street and hardly arresting the attention of the passerby, New York rung up the curtain on its fight to bring the drug habit into the open.

self to examination by medical officials. If no progress has been made the same amount is allowed for the next two months. If there are indications that things are going better, that the grains can be cut down without physical suffering and mental unbalance, the card for the next two months calls for smaller injections.

In this manner New York hopes to gradually eradicate the drug fiend by effecting cures.

Officials estimate that in Greater New York there are anywhere from 100,000 to 200,000 known drug users, persons who habitually take morphine, cocaine, heroin and other forms of drugs. There must be, they declare, other thousands who manage it so covertly that they not been discovered.

Three thousand addicts registered at the Prince street house the first day. Officials declared this a small percentage. Just as soon as their present supply is exhausted and the invisible talons begin to clutch at their nerves and bodies, officials declare, the users will be driven to the registration places—or the river.

DEWDROP STORIES FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

THE FAIRY WITH THE PINK VEST.

(Written for the United States School Garden Army.)

"Hello," he said.

Dolly looked up, for the voice seemed to come from a place near the top of her head. He was sitting on the fence. He was the largest of all the Dewdrop Fairies she had seen. He wore a dark-green coat and his trousers were the same color. His vest was the loveliest shade of pink—deep and bright—with large black buttons down the front. Dolly thought it a very handsome suit.

"I don't live in your garden," he said; "but the Fairies have told me so much about you that I thought I would pay you a little call this morning."

"I'm very glad you did," said Dolly. She was noticing that his face was almost as pink as his vest.

"Well, I think it is a fine thing for little girls and boys to have gardens, and as you seem to want to know all about the things that grow in your garden I thought perhaps I could tell you a few things."

"Oh, I wish you would. But I don't even know your name. Did you say that you don't grow in our garden? Why don't you?"

"No; I grow on the other side of the fence. You see, your garden is a very nice garden, but you have hardly enough ground to raise my plants. We take a great deal of room. We have been called greedy."

"I don't know why. They say we don't get along with other plants except our own family. Well, we are pretty big. Of course, we have to have plenty of room because some of us weigh more than a good-sized baby."

"I can't think what you can be," said Dolly, much puzzled.

"Just look over the fence and see if you know me," said the Fairy with the pink vest.

Dolly carefully put her foot upon the crosspiece at the bottom of the board fence and peeped over. The ground on the other side of the fence was covered with big vines that seemed to grow in many directions. The leaves were big and rather open looking, as though they had been cut into fancy patterns with a pair of scissors.

In among the leaves she saw a lot of large, green objects shaped like eggs, only ever so much bigger.

"Oh, I know!" she cried. "You are the Fairy of the Watermelon Vine."

"Exactly," said the Fairy with the pink vest. Now you see why you haven't any of my family on this side of the fence. You couldn't raise watermelons except in a big place. Pumpkins, too—they have to have a great deal of room to run about in."

"Do pumpkins run?" cried Dolly.

"Do they run? I should say—why, don't you remember Cinderella's Pumpkin Coach? Didn't it run?"

"Oh, but the mice pulled it," said Dolly, wisely. "It didn't run by itself."

"Anyway, pumpkins do run—at least the vines do—and so do watermelons. You see, we grow so fast that many of our family are—well, you might say 'removed'—while they are quite young."

"You don't mean killed?" said Dolly, quite shocked.

"I wouldn't go so far as to say that," said the Fairy, "but we know that very few of our plants are allowed to live to grow up. We like a warm climate best, and it takes us quite a long time to grow, although we do grow so fast. The plants that you see here are the kind that ripen early. Farther South they raise those big, sweet ones that you like so much in the middle of the summer. Our seeds must be planted in hills quite a long distance apart to give us room to spread out. Some of us are a solid dark green and some of us have stripes of different shades of green. Do you know that one kind is called 'The Georgia Rattlesnake' because it is striped like that?"

"I think that is a horrid name for a pretty nice fruit like a watermelon," said Dolly.

"Oh, we don't mind, because we know that people like us whatever we may be called. All the melon family is popular. I am sure you like muskmelons. And then the cucumber is a distant relative of ours, too—you like cucumber pickles, I know—all little girls do."

"I think I like all your family," said Dolly. "But I am sure I like your own brothers and sisters best of all. It does seem dreadful to eat your friends, though, doesn't it?"

"Not at all—not at all. That's what we grow for. Well, good-by. Look over your fence once in a while and 'watch us grow.'"

FJIS LIKE SHIRTS.

London, July 23.—"Shirts are gradually gaining popularity among the Fijians," states R. W. Dalton in his report on the trade of the Fiji Islands. "These shirts are usually worn for 'dressy' occasions."

Dalton adds that there is also a large demand for umbrellas.

WILLIAM I. KICK KICKS

SELF INTO JAIL—HE KICKED YOUNG KICKS

Dallas, Texas, July 23.—Will I Kick did kick. So did Mary Kick, Martha Kick and all the little Kicks. So did the cop on the beat. In fact, there was so much kicking until Will I. found himself kicking behind the bars of the county astle. He is still kicking and so are the others. It all started when Will I. Kick kicked about the Kick supper one evening. He raised such a kick that Mary Kick kicked him out of the Kick home and told him to stay out. This was too much for Kick. He went to a neighboring store and got some elder with a kick in it. When the apple juice had kicked him, Will I. returned to the Kick home and began to kick. There was a kick for Mary Kick, Martha Kick and all the little Kicks—real kicks. There was a mighty howl from the house as Will I. Kick was kicking about. The coppers came and kicked Will Kick. Mary, Will I. Kick's wife, wanted to kick, so did Martha, his daughter, but the cops said Kick Kick no more for every kick Kick is kicked some one will suffer. Then they took Kick away while he continued Kicking. Will I. now kicks because he is charged with disturbing the peace and assault and battery. "Let Will I. Kick kick," said the jailer. "Will I. Kick? I'll say he will."

For Morning Hours and Country Wear

If the female of the species longs to know in what sort of dress she is most fatal to the peace of mind of man, let her ask a few husbands; adroitly, of course, and not with a bald question. If you ask him what sort of dress he likes best the chances are he can't tell you, but if you ask him what sort of dress his wife wore when he met her or when he fell in love with her, his answer will be enlightening. Gentle lady, the chances are that she was dressed in gingham and doing some useful thing—like sewing on buttons, or dusting the furniture, when she first looked good to him. Or maybe she was walking along a country road or gathering cherries. So here's the simple morning dress, may it continue to flourish!

Two sweet dresses of the simple but effective kind just referred to keep one another company in the picture above. One of them is a smart little gingham, a one-piece frock with straight skirt slightly full to the bodice. It has pockets with an upper portion turned back and fastened down with a button, sleeves that end in a simple band at the wrist and a demure surplice that crosses and has ends that are looped over in the back. This surplice is overlaid with a collar of white bastiste edged with narrow crochet or other strong lace.

The dress at the left of the picture employs striped and plain cotton in its conspiracy to be crisp and becoming in order to fit in with bright mornings and country ways. The wide girde and front panel, with the lower part of the rounded pockets are all of the plain material. There are any number of striped and plain cottons in lovely colors that are made to go together in these morning frocks. The bodice is fastened with snap fasteners at the left of the panel and with three large buttons at the left side of the girde.

LEE FOHL, AS BACKSTOP, REMEMBERS AT LEAST ONE BONE PLAY BY GRANNEY

Manager of Cleveland American League Team.

Lee Fohl is one who remembers when Jack Graney was a pitcher. Lee was catching for Columbus when Graney, then a hurler, was farmed out to that club by Cleveland. Lee caught him in his first game there, and tells the story this way:
Gave Block a High One.
"Jack had Milwaukee 1 to 0 in the ninth, with a man on second and two out, and Catcher Block at bat. I walked out and told Jack under no conditions to give Block a high one, and returned to my position. But what does Johnny do but pitch Block one right in his groove, and the score was tied. It was called in the eleventh."

"Well," said Graney, who was a listener, "I never will forget the first game I played as an outfielder in Cleveland. Joe Birmingham was unable to play and I went to centerfield. Ty Cobb hit me to center.
Fans Roasted Him.
"I thought it was going to drop back of second, and ran up on it, but the blamed thing kept rising and rising, and as I turned toward the fence how that crowd in the centerfield bleachers did roast me! There wasn't a thing they overlooked."

LITTLE PICKUPS OF SPORT

Alaska will revive its twilight baseball league.
Old Bob Messenger goes on forever. He is leading the Pittsfield team at bat.
Hartford has taken on Outfielder Lester Simmons, released by Springfield.
Walter Hammond, who has been coaching Colgate College, has joined Pittsfield.
The veteran Eddie Sabrie is a late addition to the umpire staff of the South Atlantic league.
Ray Kennedy, Little Rock catcher, arrived recently from France and is at his home in Pittsburgh.
Old Bill Kay is still hitting them. A two-ply hit by the veteran won a game for Springfield the other day.
Pitcher Coffindaffer has been released from the army and is ready to twirl for Birmingham again.
Third Baseman Fred Brainerd, who quit the Providence team to fight the Germans, is back from France.
Jimmy Cerney has found a new berth for the moment. He is playing the infield for the Peoria Three I team.
Brooklyn has been using Ray Schmandt, a natural born first-baseman, on third and he has been getting away with it, just as he did at second base.

Tom Clark is not depending altogether on veterans for his Columbia team. He has two college boys in Dick Burrus and Red Johnson who look good.
President Tom Watkins of the Memphis club has been doing a lot of traveling lately in an effort to get some ball players to build up his wobbly Chicks.
Manager Tom Clark of the Columbia team boasts three players besides himself who have big league records. They are Ad Brennan, Lee Gooch and Lynn Scroggins.
Zelder has signed up a new infielder, Tod Miller, who was given a try with the Giants. Zelder plans to use him at second and put Kalsley back in the outfield.
Jimmy Burns, well known in baseball in past years in the New England section, but who dropped out to become a college coach, is back again playing second base for Hartford.

MUFFS FIRST FLY IN TWELVE YEARS

Those fans who saw Larry Doyle set himself squarely under a pop fly from the bat of Casey Stengel in the first inning of a recent game between the Giants and Pirates, get the ball in his hands and allow it to slip through his clutching fingers to the ground, are hereby informed that they witnessed a very rare thing. To be specific, Doyle had not made an error of just that sort for twelve long years—that is, he had not muffed a fly ball under which he had time to settle himself for the catch. He blamed his recent defection on the fact that he had not yet fully recovered from the injury to his head. His head, he says, fairly swam as he scrambled backward to get under the looping pellet, and he was so dizzy that he could barely get his hands on the ball, to say nothing of holding it firmly.

JACK QUINN IS "COME BACK"

Pitcher, Who was Failure With Yankees Some Years Ago; Now Regarded as Winner.
Jack Quinn, who was a failure with the New York Yankees nine years ago, is shaping up now as one of the best mound prospects Miller Huggins has for the 1919 campaign. Quinn used to have only a splitter, and not much of one at that. Now he is a giant, weighing 210 pounds, and has developed a murderous fast ball which enabled him to win half a dozen games for the White Sox toward the end of last season. Quinn is a veteran on the diamond. His experience should prove a great aid to him.

JEWISH WAR ORPHANS MAY FIND U. S. HOMES

Relief Committee Hopes to Bring Destitute Ones Here.

MANY WITHOUT FOOD

Terrible Conditions in Poland—Orphanages There Are More Than Filled.

New York, July 23.—Jewish bachelors all over the United States may soon become the adopted "daddies" of several scores of Jewish war orphans, straight from Poland, if arrangements can be made with the immigration authorities.
They will be real "daddies", too; for this is to be no half-hearted proxy parent plan, by which one writes a check to care for one child for one year, an lets it go at that. Long distance parenthood is a makeshift thing. If the new plan goes through, it will be the genuine, first-hand adoption of real kids, who sometimes eat green apples, and wake folks up o' nights.
The American Jewish Relief Committee, which is fostering the idea is considering the possibility of bringing to America a large number of the parentless lads of Eastern Europe, after homes have been secured for them in advance here Jacob Billikopf, who has just returned to New York after several months in Poland, Lithuania, and other countries of eastern Europe, as a representative of the American Jewish Relief work, started the movement by his adoption of a five-year old Jewish girl in Cracow.
Adoption of these children would remove them from the conditions of terrible destitution in these countries, Mr. Billikopf says. In Poland, if one comes upon a hungry child sleeping in the streets, he cannot put the youngster in an orphanage. These are already overcrowded, in all the countries of Eastern Europe, and there is not enough food for the children now in them.
Terrible Conditions of Life.
The circumstances under which Mr. Billikopf adopted his little girl are significant of the conditions under which the children of these countries are living today.
"In my work for the American Jewish Relief Committee, I had gone to a wretched tenement in the hungriest section of Cracow, where starvation is a commonplace", Mr. Billikopf states, "An old man lay on a heap of rags dying, with an old woman, a mere wisp of skin and bones at his side. A little girl was playing in the room. Over there, where there is so much hunger and suffering, the children seldom have vitality enough to play, and we noticed her at once. She looked up and smiled at us,—another unusual thing among the starving children of Eastern Europe.
"Her father and mother were dead, and her grandmother, who knew that she could live only a short time, was willing to let me adopt the child. I had the papers made out, and put her in a private home, until such time as it will be possible for her to get to America."
The little girl will come to New York as soon as her immigration papers can be obtained from the authorities, and it is hoped that she may be the first of a number of children from Poland who may find homes here.
Chairs of aeronautics have been established at the universities of Cambridge and London.

KID LEWIS CONFIDENT HE CAN WHIP BRITTON

Says He Will Be New Welterweight Champion After the Fight On Next Monday.

Long Branch, N. J., July 23.—Ted (Kid) Lewis declared today there will be a new welterweight champion after he meets Jack Britton next Monday night.
The ex-king of the welters is training here for his bout with Britton under the experienced eye of Jimmy DeForrest, who whipped Jack Dempsey into such marvelous condition for his battle with Willard. Lewis figures himself the winner because he has youth on his side. He points to the recent heavyweight championship battle as an example.
"There is something like seven years difference in our ages and that margin means much in my favor," Lewis said. "Besides, I've met Britton many times before and this time I'm going to be right."
Lewis added: "Jack Dempsey recently demonstrated what youth can do."

JITNEYS NO GOOD.

New York, July 23.—Nickels might as well be taken out of circulation so far as they go in buying something to eat in any eating house in New York these days.
Even the white front restaurants, dairy lunches, etc., have refused to honor the nickel by having it appear on their bills. Coffee, the last commodity which the jitney would buy, has gone to ten cents. Likewise "sinkers" rolls, etc.

HOARDED PENNIES GIVE HUN RESPECTABLE BURIAL.

Kankakee, Ill., July 23.—While an inmate of the State Insane Asylum here for twelve years Herman Holzer, aged sixty-eight, saved every penny. He did it so he could have a respectable burial when he died. And he got his wish. When he died recently he had enough money to provide a private interment. More than a hundred asylum friends were present at the grave.

PILE SUFFERERS! CLEVER OHIO CHEMIST SAYS THIS GREAT PRESCRIPTION TAKEN INTERNALLY HAS NEVER FAILED

Even chronic cases of 20 to 30 years standing, with profuse bleeding, have been completely cured in from three to ten days.
It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days at most, even in cases with profuse bleeding that have resisted all known treatments and operation, really wonderful results have been accomplished.
The author of this amazing discovery desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Miro Pile Remedy distinctly conquers even in the worst cases and he has instructed druggists all over the country to guarantee it in every case of blind, bleeding or protruding piles.
IMPORTANT—What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word, although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription.
"If your druggist cannot supply you we will gladly send either of the above mail charges paid in receipt of war tax 6c. Ointment 50c. War tax 2c extra." Internal treatment, $1.50. Guaranteed Remedies Co., Elgin, Ohio.
