"LET A REVOLUTION COME NOW" DECLARES G. O. P. ASSOCIATION

"Then We Can Determine Whether Government by Majority is to Survive," Continues Statement—Or- ganized Labor Constitutes But 15 Per Cent of Our People—"Use Force With- out Stint."

Washington, Aug. 12.—"If we must have revolution let it come now and determine at once whether government by the majority is to survive."

This is the closing paragraph of a statement issued today by the Republican publicity association in which it is asserted that "the threat of a general tieup of the entire railway system of the country looms ominously," unless the demands of the railroad unions for higher wages and enactment of the Plumb plan are promptly complied with.

"The country," the statement says "has never experienced a general strike on its railroads, hence has little comprehension of the catastrophe that would follow such an action on the part of the railroad operators. The stoppage of rail transportation means almost instant collapse of practically every activity, immediate suffering from lack of food followed by actual starvation and universal riot by desperate individuals fighting for the very existence of themselves and their loved ones. Such a catastrophe would be infinitely worse than anything the Huns could have inflicted upon us. But we used 'force without stint' against them. Shall it be said that the people are not as ready to fight for the perpetuation of the nation and the rights of individuals against this monster that is gnawing at our vitals?"

"The railroad employees constitute only a part of organized labor, but organized labor itself is only about fifteen per cent of our people. Are the other 85 per cent to permit themselves to be held up at the point of a pistol and told that the organization of the whole country must be accommodated to the demands of the few?"

"If we must have revolution let it come now and determine at once whether government by the majority is to survive."

The Republican Publicity Association, which is conducted by former Senator Johnathan Bourne, Jr., of Massachusetts, is not recognized as an official party bureau and its statements are not accepted as reflecting the views of the Republican organization. It is financed by an independent group of Republican Senators and Representatives.

"DEVIL DOGS" REVIEWED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

8,000 Heroes of Belleau Woods, Chateau Thierry and Mont Blanc On Parade.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Washington today told it to the Marines! Fifty thousand Washingtonians lined along both sides of historic and holiday at the Pennsylvania Avenue, in lusty cheers that rang without a break for nearly an hour, told 8,000 "devil dogs" of the Fifth and Sixth Regiments of Marines and the Sixth Machine Gun Battalion, of the famous Second Division, that the national capital as representative of the nation, was proud of them—the heroes of Belleau Wood, Chateau Thierry and Mont Blanc.

And as the 8,000 men who were "first to fight" wearing their steel trench helmets, with their light combat packs strapped over their backs, and their fixed bayonets flashing clean in the sunlight, passed the reviewing stand in front of the White House, they were told the same story by the head of the nation, although President Wilson was a little less demonstrative, but just as enthusiastic, as those in the bleachers.

PRICES DROP IN CHICAGO AS ARMY FOOD ARRIVES

Residents Save 80 Per Cent. in Canned Goods—Potato Prices Tumble $1.00 Per 100 Pounds.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—First effects of the nation's fight against the high cost of living have been felt here. The first blow against profiteers was struck when an order was issued setting twelve cents as a fair price for a pound of sugar and the second blow was the sale of sixty thousand cans of vegetables, the first Chicago sale of government foods at two loop department stores. Those who purchased the goods saved eight cents on each can, or about 80 per cent.

Prices asked for fruits and produce along "commission row" went tumbling, potatoes leading the downward trend. They fell from 50 cents to a dollar per hundred pounds. Arrival of many peaches from southern and western states caused a drop in prices.

While prices are dropping federal government agencies are continuing gathering evidence for prosecution of food hoarders and profiteers. Evidence which has been gathered against sugar hoarders will be presented to the grand jury soon.

AMERICAN GENERAL LEFT BEHIND BY THE ALLIES

French Bitter Over Our Attitude in Austria—Doing Everything to Bother Our Representatives.

Paris, Aug. 12.—It was learned today that General Bandholtz, American member of the allied mission to Budapest, was prevented by the French from accompanying the other members of the mission from going to the Hungarian capital on the special train run by the French.

At the last moment General Bandholtz was notified that there was no room on board for him. The Americans overlooked the incident and immediately secured a special train from the Austrians at Vienna, beating the allied special into Budapest.

So bitter is the French attitude in Austria and Hungary against the Americans because of the American stand on the question of forcing the Roumanians out of Budapest that everything possible has been thrown in their way. The treatment accorded General Bandholtz is said to be but a single instance.

Swallow the Insults.
The Americans, realizing their helplessness, have had to swallow the slights and do the best they could in the fact of difficulties.

Because of its diplomatic delicacy no mention was made of the Bandholtz affair. In an effort to accomplish something, despite great opposition the Americans are willing to stand for anything. American peace conference officials refuse to discuss the Bandholtz incident.

Roumania's reply to the Entente's note threatening to break off the alliance with the Balkan country unless Bucharest obeys the peace conference's mandate, has been received by wireless. Parts of the note were lost in transmission.

Assurances are given by the Echo de Paris that the supreme council will recognize Roumania as fast as the Roumanian military authorities comply with the allied note. The American delegates are said to have taken a more conciliatory attitude on the matter.

"LABOR SITUATION IN U. S. NEEDS CAREFUL HANDLING"

Paris, Aug. 12.—"The labor situation in America is one requiring careful handling", it was declared today by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor when asked for his opinion on industrial unrest in the United States.

WAR TIME PROHIBITION WILL NOT END EARLIER THAN LAST OF OCTOBER

First Definite Statement on Demobilization Comes from Baker.

STILL MUCH CLERICAL WORK MUST BE DONE

Many Officers and Men Still Needed to Arrange Details—Where Division Will Be Mustered Out.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The actual demobilization of the American army, insofar as the combatant troops are concerned, will be practically completed by the last of October, Secretary of War Baker announced today.

The annulling of war time prohibition, designed only to last through the period of demobilization, will therefore be entirely within the province of President Wilson before November 1, it was thought among officials here.

First Definite Statement.

This is the most definite statement that has yet come from the Secretary of War as to when complete demobilization may be expected.

Details as to care and disposition of army property and permanent records will continue to require the time and work of many officers and men, Secretary Baker said.

Home Headquarters.

The home headquarters of the following combatant divisions were announced by the Secretary as follows:
First Division—Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky.
Second Division—Camp Travis, San Antonio, Tex.
Third Division—Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.
Fourth Division—Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa.
Fifth Division—Camp Gordon, Atlantic, Ga.
Sixth Division—Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill.
Seventh Division—Camp Funston, Fort Riley, Kansas.

IRELAND DEPENDS ON U. S. TO GAIN INDEPENDENCE

"Irish Embassy" to be Continued in Paris to Watch Developments of League of Nations.

Paris, Aug. 12.—Ireland is looking now to League of Nations and the United States as the two chief agencies through which she hopes to secure her independence, declared John A. Murphy, Irish-American commissioner, today.

Mr. Murphy, who will leave for the United States next week, said that Ireland's cause has been positively advanced by the commission's work in Paris.

The "Irish Embassy" will be continued in Paris to watch developments in connection with the League of Nations hoping, through this channel, to get effective action later. At the same time Mr. Murphy declared, Ireland is depending mainly upon strong, persistent American help.

Irish-American endeavors to enlist French sympathy to the cause of Irish independence has been a failure.

SHORE LINE RAILROAD TO SELL POWER RIGHTS

Purchase By Eastern Connecticut Company Approved By Public Utilities Commission.

Hartford, Aug. 12.—The Public Utilities Commission today approved the sale of the power rights of the Shore Line Electric Railroad Company to The Eastern Connecticut Company. Permission to sell the power system of the company was asked of the commission several days ago.

BELIEVE R. R. SHOPMEN HAVE VOTED TO RETURN

Result of Balloting Will Not Be Made Known Until Thursday.

ALL PLEDGED TO SECRECY

Rumor Current Today That 2,200 Men in New Haven District Voted to Go Back to Work.

New Haven, Aug. 12.—While officers of the various crafts involved in the strike of shopmen on the New Haven Road refuse to discuss the result of the vote on the question of returning to work, which has been going on in this district since yesterday, many of the men were strongly of the opinion that the vote of the 2,000 to 2,200 men affiliated with the six crafts on strike in this city, Bridgeport, Stamford, Danbury, Waterbury, East Hartford and Middletown, would be recorded in favor of returning to work. All the local men have voted except the blacksmiths, who will ballot tonight. The result of the vote is sent to Robert E. Henderson, secretary of the New Haven System Federation at Roslin, Mass., and he in turn will turn the results over to the adjourned meeting of the System Federation here on Thursday. The federation will canvass the vote at their meeting here and the result will not be definitely known until this time.

BLAME FLOUR PROFITEERS

Declare That When Government Fixed the Price of Wheat it Did Not Benefit the Growers.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The American farmer is not to blame for the high cost of living.

This was the message to be sent to the nation today by strong farm organizations, with senatorial aid. The agriculture committee of the Senate was called to meet today to absolve the American farmer from any suspicion of profiteering and to present to Congress the views of the farmer upon the suggested remedy for the prevailing high prices.

Senator Gronna of North Dakota, chairman of the agriculture committee, has been working for several days upon a statement of the farmers' side and was to present it today to the committee for endorsement.

Middlemen to Blame.

Large profits for middlemen are largely responsible for the high cost of living, according to Senator Gronna. Particularly in the flour situation is the middleman gaining big profits, he believes. The wheat situation is causing a considerable commotion among farmers, because the government's fixed price has not benefitted the growers and while the price of $2.26 was intended by Congress to be a minimum price for wheat it has been used by the United States Grain Corporation as a maximum price and has been used to force the wheat market down, he says. Senator Curtis, of Kansas, who agrees with this contention, indicated today he was in favor of action that would restrict the operation of the grain corporation in the future to methods which would give the farmer more profit and the middleman less.

Pledged to Secrecy.

The men and officials of the various organizations have all been pledged to secrecy as to the results of the vote and I doubt if many of them are able even to tell how the man next to them voted. It is true that there was a general sentiment at one time in favor of returning to work and it is quite probable that prediction that the vote will be favorable to return will prove true. But an accurate forecast of the result now is impossible.

BREAK IN STRIKE.

Boston, Aug. 12.—The first break in the strike of 35,000 New England Railroad shopmen materialized today when the repairmen in the shops at Manchester and Nashua, N. H., returned to work in a body. The car inspectors at Manchester also agreed to return.

However, local leaders stated positively today that there was no possibility of the strike being ended before Saturday.

Delegates from the striking locals on all three leading railroads agreed at a closed meeting to act in concert. Each local will take a vote of the membership and forward the result to strike headquarters here Friday.

Meanwhile suburban passenger service remains at a standstill. A turn for the better developed today when the New Haven lifted its embargo on freight to include besides food for human consumption, feed for livestock and when specifically authorized, ice, livestock and the newspaper.

GO BACK TO WORK.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 12.—Machinists, helpers, carpenters and inspectors in the local shops of the Boston and Albany Railroads, went back to work this morning, pursuant to the request of President Wilson and union president Jewell, in Washington.

SHOPMEN RETURN.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 12.—Railroad shopmen here, who went on strike last Thursday and Friday, are returning to work today. They return to work, according to union officials, pending the result of a vote being taken among the members of the international union of railroad men regarding demands for higher wages.

Cold Storage Problem.

The House Agriculture Committee today continued its work on the cold storage problem, with indication that the taxing powers of the federal government would be invoked to force supplies from the storage warehouses onto the markets ahead of the time fixed by the owners of these supplies—that time being when there was a shortage on the market and highest prices could be obtained.

The Anti-Hoarding Law.

As soon as he can secure the attendance of the majority of the judiciary committee, Chairman Volstead will take up the anti-hoarding law with a view to its strengthening by providing severe penalties for violations, and also will begin consideration of a bill, introduced some weeks ago, by Representative Steele of Pennsylvania, providing for the licensing of corporations engaging in the anti-hoarding law.

Washington, Aug. 12.—President Wilson today sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, widow of the dead philanthropist.

"May I not express my deep sympathy at the loss of your distinguished husband?" the President wrote. "His death constitutes a very serious loss to the forces of humanity and enlightened public services, and takes out of the world a force which it could ill afford to spare."

SERVICES VERY SIMPLE AT CARNEGIE FUNERAL

Only Members of the Family and Household to be Present.

BURIED ON THURSDAY

Interment to be in Country Grave- yard of Sleepy Hollow Made Famous by Washington Irving.

CARNEGIE'S OWN EPITAPH.

"Here lies a man who knew how to enlist in his service better men than himself."—Carnegie's suggestion for an epitaph for his own tomb.

Lenox, Mass., Aug. 12.—Funeral services for the late Andrew Carnegie will be held at Shadow Brook, the iron master's summer home here on Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. This announcement was made at Shadow Brook today. The services will be simple and attended only by members of the family and household. There will be no church services. Rev. Benson J. Wyman, pastor of the Lenox Congregational Church and Rev. William Pierson Merrill, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church of New York, of which Mr. Carnegie was a member, will officiate at the burial.

The body will be taken by special train to Sleepy Hollow, Tarrytown, N. Y., where the "Laird of Skibo" years ago bought a lot and where he always desired to be buried.

Mr. Carnegie's son-in-law, Roswell Miller and the Iron Master Private Secretary A. C. Barrows were in New York today completing arrangements for the burial.

SLEEPY HOLLOW CEMETERY.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Aug. 12.—In the country graveyard of Sleepy Hollow, made famous by the tales of Washington Irving, the body of Andrew Carnegie, steel king and the world's greatest philanthropist, will be laid to rest, following funeral services at his summer home in Massachusetts, Thursday morning.

The Sleepy Hollow cemetery, at the southern end of Tarrytown, lies near the road along which the terrifying "headless horseman" of Irving's story pursued the school master, Ichabod Crane. The little brook that found its way into the story goes tumbling through the graveyard beneath the shade of great trees.

The Carnegie plot of land was purchased only a few years ago. It is in what is called the "new part" of the cemetery to distinguish it from the old section that contains the remains of many notables of the revolutionary days as well as some later day kings of finance. The bodies of John D. Archbold, the Standard Oil President and Carl Schurz, the German-American leader, are buried in Sleepy Hollow and William Rockefeller and many other persons of prominence have burial plots there.

LONDON PAYS TRIBUTE.

London, Aug. 12.—London newspapers today united in paying tribute to Andrew Carnegie, the dead American steel master and Philanthropist.

MESSAGE FROM WILSON.

Washington, Aug. 12.—President Wilson today sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, widow of the dead philanthropist.

"May I not express my deep sympathy at the loss of your distinguished husband?" the President wrote. "His death constitutes a very serious loss to the forces of humanity and enlightened public services, and takes out of the world a force which it could ill afford to spare."

Let Us Beware How We Palter With Our Independence," Declares Senator— U. S. Can Stand Alone and Owes No Debt to Any Nation Except France— Leave America Free.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Renewing his attack upon the League of Nations in the Senate this afternoon, Senator Lodge, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee declared that "no blacker care ever sat behind any rider than we shall find in this covenant of doubtful and disputed interpretation as it now perches upon the treaty of peace."

Reiterating his assertion that under the League America would sacrifice her sovereignty in important respects, become involved "almost without limit" in the affairs of other nations and yield up policies and rights she always has maintained, Senator Lodge said he had little fear that it would break the heart of the world if the League is not accepted just as it stands.

World Would Not Worry.

"I fear that the hearts of the vast army of mankind", he declared, "would beat on strongly and steadily and without any quickening if the league were to perish altogether. If it should be effectively and beneficently changed, the people who would lie awake in sorrow for a single night could be easily gathered in one not very large room; but those who would draw a long breath of relief would reach to the millions."

"No doubt", he continued, "many excellent and patriotic people see a coming fulfillment of noble ideals in the words 'League for Peace.' We all respect and share these aspirations and desires, but some of us see no hope; but rather defeat, for them in this murky covenant."

U. S. Can Stand Alone.

"Let us beware how we palter with our independence. We have not reached the great position from which we were able to come down into the field of battle and help to save the world from tyranny, by being guided by others. Our vast power was built up and gathered by ourselves alone. We forced ourselves upward from the days of the revolution, through a world often hostile and always indifferent. We owe no debt to any one except to France in our revolution and those rights upon which our power has been founded should never be lessened or weakened. It will be no service to the world to do so and it will be of intolerable injury to the United States. We will do our share. We are ready and anxious to help in all ways to preserve the world's peace. But we can do it best by not crippling ourselves."

Leave America Free.

"The United States is the world's best hope, but if you fetter her in the interests and quarrels of other nations, if you tangle her in the intrigues of Europe you will destroy her power for good and endanger her very existence. Leave her to march freely through the centuries to come as in the years that have gone. Strong, generous and confident, she has nobly served mankind. Beware how you trifle with her marvellous inheritance, this great land of ordered liberty, for if we stumble and fall, freedom and civilization everywhere will go down in ruin."

Senator Lodge declared that, taken altogether, the provisions in the league covenant for war presented what, in his mind, was the gravest objection to the league in its present form.

Let Congress Declare War.

"We are told that, of course, nothing will be done in the way of warlike acts without the assent of Congress," he continued. "If that is true let us say so in the covenant."

The fire started in a clothes closet on the second floor. The clothes in the closet were burned and the house was damaged to the extent of about $50.

NEW SERGEANT AT ARMS AT A. AND N. CLUBHOUSE

Frank Blanchard Succeeds Frank Chamberlain as Post—Will Have Charge of Hut and Canteen

Frank Blanchard, an ex-member of Company G, has succeeded Frank Chamberlain as Sergeant at Arms at the Army and Navy Club. The latter resigned last Saturday evening and Mr. Blanchard started on his new duties yesterday. He will have charge of the hut and will also look after the canteen.

Because the club is composed entirely of ex-service men the members thought it would be fitting to have a World War veteran in charge. In order to forestall any ill feeling or controversy on the point, Mr. Chamberlain resigned the position in favor of a man who had seen service.

AT LAUREL PARK.

Attendance records were smashed at Laurel park last week during the series of special dances, but the indications are that there will be even larger gatherings at the park Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings of this week, when Jack Sheridan's minstrels will give performances, each to be followed by dancing, for which Hatch's celebrated orchestra plays. Mr. Sheridan is a popular musical comedy star. In organizing his minstrels he engaged numerous Connecticut favorites, including George Sutherland, Lew Levy, Jack Russell, Jack Barry, T. Dolan, N. Demars, the juggling comedian, Black and Brown, M. Lidstid, Nelson Willys, and Tony, the dancing violinist. Remember, the opening performance of the minstrels will take place tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

GRANDSTAND DESTROYED.

Meriden, Aug. 12.—Fire about 3.30 this morning destroyed the grandstand of the baseball field at Hanover Park. Adjoining property was saved by the South Meriden volunteer company and a company from the Meriden department. The field was used for years for state league ball and in late years for amateur and semi-professional baseball and last night fans from all over the state attended boxing bouts there held under the auspices of the Lenox A. C. Last winter the club lost its home when Pulaski Hall was burned. Hanover Park is owned by the Connecticut Company.

SERVICE MEN NOT ASKED TO AID WAR BUREAU FUND

Those Who Have Received Appeals Are Requested to Disregard Them—Mistake Due to Rush of Work at Bureau.

It has been rumored that a number of ex-service men resent the fact that they have received postal cards from the local War Bureau requesting them to subscribe to the $11,000 drive which is now on.

A statement from the War Bureau this morning indicates that no injustice was intended towards the ex-service men. In fact the bureau did not intend that the soldiers should subscribe to this fund. Those who have received cards for subscriptions are urged to pay no attention to them.

In conducting the mail campaign the clerks were forced to resort to the mailing list. It was necessary to augment the office force in order to complete the vast task of mailing. It is very probable that a number of the clerks unintentionally mailed out appeals to men whom they did not realize were in the service.

These errors are much regretted by the Bureau and ex-service men may be assured that it is not the intention of the Bureau to direct any appeals for funds toward them. This fund is being raised for their benefit and it is thought that the public will appreciate the services rendered with a generous response.

GAS MASKS TO BE USED BY MANCHESTER FIREMEN

Meeting at Hose Company No. 1 Decides to Order Four Masks for Try Out of New Invention.

Gas masks for fire-fighting purposes are to be used by members of the South Manchester Fire Department. At a meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners held at the headquarters of Hose Co. No. 1 last evening it was decided to give these masks a try out. An order for four has been placed with the La France Company of New York city and should these prove their worth, more will be ordered. The device was invented by a man who has charge of the gas operations of the United States Army overseas.

In addition to the transaction of routine business last evening, the call for the annual meeting of the fire department was prepared. The date of this meeting has been set for August 21st. A number of important matters are to come up at this time and a new slate of officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

BOSTON HONORS SOLDIERS

AT OUTING PARTY TODAY.
Boston, Aug. 12.—The Third Pioneer Infantry, many of whose members were members of the "Dandy Fifth" Regiment of the Massachusetts National Guard, were given a big welcome home reception at Nantasket today. It was an all day outing with dinner, sports and dancing in the evening.

The pioneers got home several weeks ago, but many were sent West for demobilization, and it was not until today that the returning soldiers could be gotten together for the welcome.

VINCENT ASTOR, "ANGEL" FOR 750 CHORUS GIRLS

He and Mortimer Schiff to Back Striking Actresses in New York.

New York, Aug. 12.—The spotlight in the actors strike shifted suddenly and found Vincent Astor, New York's youngest multi-millionaire, blinking and quite evidently embarrassed at his unexpected injection into the theatrical world, standing right in the center of the stage. For young Astor and Mortimer Schiff, if the actor's plans do not go astray, are to be the "angels" who will tide 750 chorus girls, not to mention a whole host of other stage beauties and male stars, over any possible financial difficulties while the strike is on.

The word has reached the chorus ladies that Astor sympathizes with them in their struggle against the high cost of silk stockings and face powder and has hinted that he will be glad to help. Barney Bernard and Ed. Wynn were to see the young multi-millionaire and Schiff today and try to get financial backing for a series of co-operative theatrical enterprises to be backed by the strikers while they wait for the managers to surrender.

Wynn himself promised to place his theatrical earnings—and they amount to $1,000 a week—at the disposal of stranded actors during the strike and invited any "busted" actors or actresses to make themselves at home in his six spare bedrooms.

"So help me Hannah," said the comedian, addressing the greatest collection of beauties ever assembled in one spot since Solomon called his wives to dinner, "I don't care if I never play on the stage again so long as we win this strike."

NEW LABOR SITUATION.

London, Aug. 12.—Should the government formally reject the demand for nationalization of the coal mines a new labor situation, resulting in the solidarity of the whole trade union movement in Great Britain is likely to arise, said the Daily Express today. The Triple Alliance, (coal miners, railway workers and dock workers), probably will appeal to the Trade Union Congress at a special meeting to order a general strike to enforce all their previous demands.

Premier Lloyd George has promised to make a statement on the industrial situation on August 21.

SIX-YEAR-OLD HIRED AS SNAKE CHARMER.

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 11.—A strange violation of the Child Labor law was revealed here, when four owners of a carnival company were charged with employing six-year-old Verna Warnby as a snake charmer. Witnesses testified that the child was placed in a pit with snakes, where, with a stick, she beat them away.

THE DOUGHBOY AS ANTIQUARY.

(The Christian Science Monitor.)

The second battalion of the thirty-sixth division of the American expeditionary force in France have had an experience quite unlike that of any other American unit on French soil; one which will long be treasured in their memory. Many of the soldiers are now returning to America, and, among other things, are carrying with them a collection of Roman coins and pottery of great numismatic value, which carries their thought back to an older civilization than that of France. At the same time this experience bridges a gap of nearly two thousand years, and connects their occupation during the past war with that of the Roman legions during the first centuries of the Christian era.

Just before the armistice, the thirty-sixth division found itself in one of the back areas east and south of Paris in the Department of Yonne. The second battalion of the one hundred and forty-second infantry was billeted in the towns of Carisay and Villiers-Vineux. In the period of comparative relaxation after the armistice, time seemed to be a commodity of which there was plenty, but for which there was little demand. After several months of monotonous waiting for something to turn up, an event occurred which gave new direction to the thought of the second battalion and furnished it with employment right up to the time of its departure for Le Mans, en route for home.

In Villiers-Vineux lived an old Frenchman who interested himself in the American soldiers. From him it was learned that the Romans had occupied all the countryside with large forces for several centuries. He pointed out to his new-found American friends the old Roman road, running in a straight line from the good-sized town of Tonnerre to a point about four kilometers south of St. Florentin, where it was lost and covered with the dust and debris of centuries. He told them of the great Roman camp that was situated near this road, and of a Roman pottery where it was believed that there still remained many specimens of Roman skill. In proof of his statements he produced the results of his own investigations for many years, a collection of coins, pottery, and bronze, with which he hoped to enrich the treasures of some public museum.

The doughboy saw and listened, and the result was immediate action. The Roman camp and pottery works repaid his first efforts; and in a week's time antiquarian research was the chief occupation of the soldiers of the second battalion. The Roman road and the mounds which faintly marked the site of the pottery kilns and Roman camps became objects of untiring solicitude on the part of the American soldier. Scores of Americans suddenly appeared subjecting each bit of earth to the most careful scrutiny, while the country people looked on with curious astonishment and considerable amusement.

Coins dating from the first century, B. C., to the year 250, A. D., were unearthed by the hundreds. One of the battalion officers, who found nearly a hundred good specimens, estimated that more than 4,000 coins were found by the men, besides many rare specimens of pottery and bronze. Many of the coins were in excellent condition, and were pronounced by experts to have considerable value. In some instances whole urns were found partially or nearly full of coins, some Roman soldier's treasure chest. Some bore clear evidences of having gone through fire, and furnished some corroboration to the local tradition concerning this fortified Roman settlement.

According to this tradition, the Roman legions, during the last days of their occupation, were in continual danger from the attacks of the northern tribes, who, a century later, overran Europe and overthrew the old order. During these periods of peril, the Roman soldier buried his treasure in earthen vessels from the hear-by pottery, and hid his possessions in the ground. This particular camp was finally overwhelmed and put to the sword, and the works of their hands were razed to the ground and burned, laying untouched for centuries.

The coins which were found bore the imprint of nearly all the emperors of Rome for 300 years. The most common specimens were issued during the reign of Antoninus Pius (86 A. D.), Marcus Aurelius Antoninus (121 A. D.), Elms (135 A. D.), Commodus (161 A. D.), Trajan (53 A. D.), and Hadrian (76 A. D.). As a stimulus to research in Roman history, there are few occupations which excel that of delving for Roman coins on a battlefield of centuries ago. When the second battalion left the Department of Yonne they took with them a lively interest in Roman history, as well as a collection of coins of great numismatic value. A thousand American homes are to be enriched with mementos of an interesting chapter of the experience of their sons in France.

SCOTS IN FRIENDLY SUIT.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 11.—Scotchmen in a friendly lawsuit for $15,000 may sound a bit odd, but—

A verdict was entered here for $15,195 in favor of the Niles Rock, Sand and Gravel Company against R. C. Storrie and R. B. Muir, comprising the firm of R. C. Storrie & Co., for gravel delivered during the construction of a tunnel.

During 118 days of trial both sides gave dinners to the other, held friendly gatherings and Storrie more than once offered to settle the case by a flip of a coin. "Scotchmen should get along together," he said. The other side declined on the ground they never gambled.

All parties to the suit, including attorneys, are Scotchmen.

TAGGING THE BASES

The Pirates grabbed a ball game in one stanza, the fourth, by scoring five tallies while the Dodgers indulged in some wild heaving.

Bodie, Pipp, Lewis and Smith poled a circuit wallop, a piece fit the Yankee-Cleveland slugging bee, the Indians winning, 15 to 9.

While the Giants were idle the Phillies cut down the lead of the Reds. Paulette's homer, Blackburne's triple, a single by Luderus and two passes in the seventh gave the Quakers all their runs and the game.

Three successive free tickets to first, donated by Sothorn, gave the Red Sox a lone and winning tally, while Pennock blanked the Browns, allowing only four scattered bingles. Jacobson's consecutive hitting streak, which had reached 16, was broken when he failed to reach Pennock's delivery.

VACCINE FOR POULTRY.

Members of the Connecticut Poultry Association who attended the session of the society during Farmers' Week at Storrs, August 4-7, were much interested in a talk made by Professor Harry R. Lewis of the New Jersey Agricultural College on the possible use of vaccines in the cure of poultry diseases and the prevention of the same.

Prof. Lewis told of trying out a vaccine on hens afflicted with chicken pox and roup and of successful results. Although the test was made on a comparatively small scale, its success aroused considerable hope as to the permanent value of the vaccine method. Prof. Lewis believes that other diseases may be treated by the vaccine plan.

The next step at the New Jersey station will be an effort to immunize pullets against chicken pox or roup by vaccinating while young and before they have been exposed to the disease. The use of vaccines, of course, has been used with established success in the prevention of certain diseases of hogs and cattle.

TWO POSTMASTERS IN THIS TOWN—NEITHER WILL QUIT.

Randolph, Mass., Aug. 11.—There are two postmasters in Randolph—one in active possession, Walter L. Hickey, who says he is going to stay right in the office, and the other, Andrew Maguire, appointed by the President and just confirmed by the Senate.

As both men are Republicans the town committee sent a protest to Senator Lodge asking that the confirmation of Maguire be held up. The Senator replied that as Maguire ranked highest in the Civil Service list he thought he was entitled to the office.

Hickey, however, claims the job is his by rules of the Civil Service Commission and has appealed to that body for a certified copy of the results of the examinations.

BERKSHIRE MAN 49 TIMES BEFORE COURT IN 19 YEARS.

Pittsfield, Mass., Aug. 11.—Robert Bailey, the South Berkshire "outlaw", charged with breaking and entering and larceny of sixteen fowls from Charles Ellis, of New Marlboro, was found guilty and Judge Brown sentenced him to seven months.

Bailey, who is thirty-nine years old, has been before the Great Barrington Court forty-three times in nineteen years and six times before the Superior Court.

STRIKE TO BE SETTLED.

Boston, Aug. 11.—The fishermen's strike which has been on at Boston, Provincetown, and Gloucester since August 3 is on the verge of a settlement today by the vessel owners and the fishermen's union agreeing to submit their grievances to a board of arbitration composed of the following men: Henry J. Skellington, Commissioner of Immigration, J. Walter Mullin, State Board of Arbitration, Edward F. McGlennen, special assistant to the United States Attorney General.

"BEST BRAKEMAN" ENTERS MINISTRY.

Lexington, Mass., Aug. 11.—The Rev. John S. Buffum, formerly a brakeman on the Southern Division of the Boston and Maine Railroad, has begun his duties as pastor of the North Parish Congregational Church, Haverhill. Acquaintances say that there was no better brakeman on the Southern Division.

HANDSHAKE CRIPPLED HIM; ASKS $5,000 DAMAGES.

Wheeling, W. Va., Aug. 11.—John A. Tennyson in a suit filed in the Circuit Court here, says that he has been a cripple for life as the result of a handshake. He asks $5,000 damages of Riley Briggs, a former policeman, who, he says, fractured one of the bones of his hand.

VALUE OF MILK.
Following the installation of a milk station in one of the poorer sections of Hartford, Conn., health authorities estimated that infant mortality had been reduced fifty per cent by the increased use of milk. A health survey last year showed 20 per cent of the children in fair health, 10 per cent at a standstill and 70 per cent undernourished. This year the survey shows 70 per cent in fair health, 10 per cent at a standstill and 20 per cent undernourished. Milk stations, where milk is sold at cost to needy families, are coming to be recognized as life saving agencies.

RUSH FOR SUGAR.
Boston, Aug. 12.—Thousands of Boston citizens, eager to reduce the high cost of living besieged the 28 distributing stations opened today throughout the city for the sale of surplus army foodstuffs at cost prices. Great inroads were made in the four carloads of canned meats and vegetables. Each customer was limited to one case of each kind of goods but was allowed to purchase in smaller quantities if they desired, except bacon, which is limited to four pound strips.

THE BEST OF THE THREE.

In the passing of Andrew Carnegie the world reads the closing chapter in another of those myth-like stories of success for which this country has become famous.

Sent with his brother to this country from Scotland at great sacrifice by his parents who thought "it would be better for our boys" the future magnate began to earn his living as a bobbin boy at $1.20 a week.

His early poverty and hard struggle upward left its mark upon him and he grew to be one of our foremost exponents of strict frugality as the surest means to prosperity.

He made a hard fight for his own start and remained the most aggressive figure in our industrial world as long as he took an active interest in his business.

He was at one time on the point of challenging all the steel interests in the world to a bitter fight for supremacy, and this in spite of the fact that among his foes would be included such formidable enemies as the Rockefellers and the Pennsylvania Railroad.

His own fight from the first and was always a staunch believer that the Lord helps those who help themselves. He had little use for intrigue and none whatever for modern combinations of big business.

This individualistic strain in the man also made him rather intolerant of combinations of labor and it is perhaps just as well that he withdrew from personal supervision of his vast establishments before the relations of capital and labor became organized on their present basis.

Still Andrew Carnegie was keenly aware that the greatest foe of mankind is ignorance and he was ever ready to do what he could to assist in works of education. "The instinct which led the slaveholder to keep his slave in ignorance was a true one," he is reported as having said. "Educate man and his shackles fall."

To this generation three names have stood at the pinnacle of success so far as attainment of this world's goods is concerned; Morgan, Carnegie and Rockefeller. By far the most lovable, human, and generous of these three characters passed away yesterday.

Thomas Leahy of Norfolk, a returned soldier, has been reported dead three times and this week received his death certificate from the government. It's about time he got busy and collected his life insurance.

Prohibition has reduced the number of prisoners in the Hartford jail from over 400 to 108 and some of the 108 are long time prisoners who were serving terms before prohibition became effective. It is well that the county did not decide to build a new jail when the project was discussed last winter. From present indications the old jail will be far too large within another year.

Army bacon of excellent quality is selling in Hartford at nearly fifty per cent. below current retail prices. Manchester could have secured a consignment of this bacon from the government had the selectmen been on their job.

By next year at this time we shall know the exact population of Manchester. The government takes the census every ten years and 1920 is the census year. The census will be taken in June. In 1910 Manchester had a population, according to the government census, of 13,641. Since then the growth has been estimated from year to year according to the school census, the voting list and the directory names. Before we entered the war the population was estimated at 16,000. More than 1,000 left town to enter the service. Some of these were replaced by workers from out of town. The ma-majority of them have been discharged from the service and most of the discharged men have relocated here. We should not be surprised to find the population of the town by the next census close to 20,000.

PLUMB AND HIS PLAN

A Brief Sketch of the Man Whose Plan for Public Ownership of Railways is Now Before the Public and an Outline of the Plan Itself as Its Advocates Would Have It Appear.

Glenn E. Plumb was comparatively unknown until he announced his plan for the public ownership of railroads. He has figured in several anti-corporation suits in the Middle West and for fifteen years has been working on various schemes for the nationalization of railroads. He took no part in the establishment of the Adamson law in 1916 when the brotherhoods threatened to tie up the transportation systems of the nation.

Mr. Plumb is five feet eight inches in height, and weighs about 180 pounds. He has gray hair and blue eyes. His personality is engaging. Mr. Plumb now lives at Chevy Chase, having moved there from Chicago when the plans were completed to stage the fight for the Plumb plan for railroads. He has a son, who is a Corporal in Battery B of the 83d Field Artillery.

Mr. Plumb is about 50 years old. He was graduated from Oberlin College in 1891 and from the Harvard Law School. Soon after being admitted to the bar he became a member of the Chicago law firm of which Merritt Starr was head, and there obtained his first extensive and practical introduction to corporation laws.

Mr. Plumb devoted several years to an exhaustive study of railway legislation and operation, including charter law, from the time of the organization of the first American railway system. He was retained by States Attorney Hoyne of Chicago in the action against the street railway systems there as far back as 1906.

Four years ago he first was employed by the railroad brotherhood to present an argument before the Interstate Commerce Commission, and his work attracted much attention. He is now general counsel for the organized railway employees of America, which includes the four brotherhoods and ten affiliated railway organizations.

The Plumb Plan.

Editor's Note: The following series of questions and answers are the work of the Plumb Plan League, an organization which is advocating the public ownership of railroads. The Herald feels that this propaganda neglects many important objections to the Plumb plan and it in no way endorses the project as here in set forth. We print the following as representative of the views of those who are actively supporting the plan.

"What is the Plumb Plan? It is a plan for the public ownership and the democracy in the control of the railroads.

"Who has endorsed it? The two million organized railroad employees of America; and the American Federation of Labor, approving the principle of government ownership, has instructed its executive committee to co-operate with the officers of the railroad international in their effort. It also has been endorsed by several farmers' organizations.

"Does this mean government operation? By issuing government bonds with which to pay for the legitimate private interests in the railroad industry.

"How does it propose to operate the roads? By a board of fifteen directors, five named by the President, to represent the public; five elected by the operating officers; five elected by the classified employees.

"Does this mean government operation? No; it is operation by a board in which those having the responsibility have also the authority. It is superior to government operation because it prevents control by an inefficient bureaucracy; and is true democracy since it gives the men engaged in the industry a voice in its management.

"What becomes of the surplus? After operating expenses are paid, and fixed charges are met, including the interest on outstanding government securities, the surplus is divided equally between the Government and the men. The employee's portion to be divided between the managerial and classified employees, the former receiving double the rate received by the latter class. This is not a profit, since the corporation has no capital. What the men receive is a dividend on efficiency.

"Is this a bonus system? No, it is giving those who increase production a share of the results their increased effort has produced; and this share is theirs for as long as they are actually in the service, and is not forfeitable.

"Why do operating officials receive the larger rate of dividend? Because it serves as a greater stimulus to the group with the most responsibility. And since the operating officials would lose dividends if wages were increased it acts automatically to prevent collusion between labor directors and the operating directors to outvote the public's directors in raising wages beyond a reasonable level. The chief argument against the plan is that the public loses control of its own property, and that the men in charge cannot be prevented from combining to pay themselves extortionate wages. This method of sharing dividends sets up a natural barrier against collusion.

"Is this the only protection for the public? No, the rate-making power remains with the Interstate Commerce Commission, and if wages were raised so high that rates had to be increased, the Commission could refuse to change them, and shippers might appeal to the courts for redress. If the operation by the directors results in a deficit Congress can revoke their charter.

"Does this difference in dividends create hostility between officials and men? No, because without harmony between them neither group can earn dividends. An official in working for his own dividend is working for the dividend of his subordinates, for one cannot gain unless all gain.

"Does the plan assure a decrease in rates? It provides that when the Government's share of the surplus is 5 per cent or more of the gross operating revenue, rates shall be reduced accordingly to absorb the amount the government receives. For instance: If the entire surplus one year is $500,000,000, and this is 10 per cent of the gross operating revenue, the Government receives $250,000,000. And because this is 5 per cent. rates are decreased 5 per cent. See what follows. Without new economies or new business the profits the next year would be only $250,000,000, and the employees and the Government would receive only half the amount of the year before. But decreased rates mean more business; and also, the reduction in dividends would stimulate the employees to improve their operation by applying better methods. So the tendency is to assure constantly decreasing rates to add to the volume of business, and to give the most efficient service human ingenuity and devotion can provide. Decreased rates mean cheaper commodities; and so, through the effectiveness of the railroads, the purchasing power of money is increased, not only for the railroad man, but for every wage-earner and every purchaser.

"What does the Government do with its share of the surplus? It invests it in improvements and extensions, thus adding to the value of the railroads without adding to the fixed charges. It retires the outstanding bonds, thus reducing the fixed charges. Ultimately the public has its railroad service at cost.

"Does the Government pay for all extensions? No, the community benefited must pay if it can; if it is able to pay all, the building of the extension is obligatory. If it only pays part, the Government pays the remainder, but only makes the extension as it deems wise. And where the general public and not a local community would be benefited, the Government pays the whole bill.

"How are disputes between officials and men adjusted? By boards, to which the operating officials elect five members and the men, five members. In case of failure to reach an adjustment, the case is appealed to the directors.

He has had experience, and Michael says you can believe him when he says that experience is a dear instructor. Michael appeared at City Hall the other day, bringing on his arm Mrs. Anna Paulsen, who blushing admitted she was seventy-three. They took out a license and were married and lived—but that's getting too fast. "You can marry a young 'un if you want to and then teach her how to keep house," said Michael, "but not for me. I was married once before."

STORRS LETS DOWN BARS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Will Not Require Soldiers and Sailors to Take Entrance Examinations This Fall.

Customary entrance requirements will be waived next September in the case of former soldiers and sailors who desire to enter Connecticut Agricultural College, by the terms of a resolution recently adopted by the faculty. This action was taken especially for the benefit of young men whose courses in high schools or preparatory schools were interrupted by the war and who do not care to return to these institutions. Instead of demanding of these men the usual requirement of standard high school training before entrance to the college, the faculty will admit former soldiers and sailors on the basis of intelligence tests similar to those employed at the officers' training camps. In addition the candidate must present three recommendations from responsible persons, relative to fitness as a student.

In providing for relief from the established entrance requirements, the college authorities take the position that army training has to some degree taken the place of preparatory courses. It is considered that the discipline and application to duty acquired in the army have tended to mature the minds of these youngsters and added to their mental alertness.

Although entrance is permitted to the regular four-year courses leading to a degree, it amounts, practically, to a probation period of one year. If at the end of that time the student has established his ability to continue the work he will be considered as a regular student, with privilege of continuing his studies with the same degrees, upon graduation, as other students.

THIRD SLUGS IN AUTOMAT; DINES IN THE COUNTY JAIL.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 12.—"Everything from soup to nuts" must have been the slogan of John Brekke when he entered an automat restaurant with a handful of slugs. After he had dropped numerous slugs into the food slots the manager called policeman Brekke begged to be given another chance, saying he did not have enough money to buy breakfast. "He was served breakfast in the county jail."

THE PARABLE OF THE CHERRY PIE.

(Congregationalist.)
 Two kinds of women are in the world. And besides these two there is Keturah. The one kind maketh a Cherry Pie and taketh out none of the Stones. The other kind taketh out all of the Stones save one. Now I climbed the Cherry Tree, I and the Robins, and the Robins climbed higher than I, and got at it earlier and stayed at it later, and I was hard put to it to get any of the Cherries. But some of them I gathered, and I brought them in a Basket, and Keturah put the Kettle on, and certain of them she did Can. But some of them she took, and she made thereof a Cherry Pie. And the Crust thereof was made so that it did melt in my mouth, and the Cherries were rich with their own juice and with Sugar. And there were plenty of them between the Crusts; for after this manner doth Keturah make Cherry Pie. And in all the Pie there was not one Cherry Stone. And I know that it would be so, for Keturah made it. Now there be women who make Cherry Pie for their husbands, and they say unto them, Behold, here is a Cherry Pie with the Stones in; thou hast more time to Pluck them out than I have; and it is lucky for thee that thou get a Cherry Pie, even with the Stones in; and if thou likest it not, thou canst leave it. And the other kind say, Behold here is a Cherry Pie, and the Stones thereof have I taken out. But presently her husband biteth hard upon a Stone, and breaketh a Tooth, or crowdeth out a Filling so that it costeth him Four Dollars to Replace it. And when he chideth his wife, she breaketh into tears, and she said, Thou art a Cruel Man. For thou givest me no credit for the Stones which I took out, and thou blamest me for the one Stone which I overlooked.

Now the Lord hath mercifully spared me that I married neither of those women, but if I had to choose between them, I would take the woman who removeth no Stones from the Cherries, and biddeth her husband to beware, rather than her who professeth to have removed them all, but who leaveth one Stone to insure his weeping and gnashing of teeth. And the same is true of life, that men can meet bravely many trials when they have reason to expect them, but he is no friend who promiseth Security when there is one hard bump that a man must come up against, and be unprepared for it. But take it from me, when Keturah maketh a Cherry Pie, it is some Pie.

SMALL PERCENTAGE OF 'Y' WORKERS CONVICTED

Of 8,000 Men 67 Were Convicted of Various Offenses—Women Better Behaved.

Among those who arrived on the steamship Patria, Saturday, was John Garland Pollard, former Attorney-General of Virginia, who has been chairman of the board of discipline of the Y. M. C. A. since January 1, and who made a frank statement in regard to workers who have been charged with various offenses during the last six months. Out of the 8,000 "Y" workers in France, Mr. Pollard said, sixty-seven male workers have been convicted of various offenses. Sixty were sent home with dishonorable discharges and seven were turned over to the army authorities for punishment. Some of the latter were charged with embezzlement and one with bigamy. The sentences imposed varied from sixty days to fifteen years. The morale of the women workers was higher than that of the men, he said, probably because there was a wider range of choice in selecting the latter. Of the 2,500 women workers only five were brought to trial, Mr. Pollard said. Of these, four were acquitted and one was dishonorably discharged.

HOW OLD ARE YOUR CHIN WHISKERS?

Pomona, Cal., Aug. 12.—"Who's got the oldest chin whiskers?" is the latest indoor and outdoor sport here.

S. N. Felton, pioneer, claims he is "king of the whisker growers" with a "crop" sixty-one years old. J. N. Endicott and L. Ballou each claim a place on the roll of honor for facial adornment beyond the half century mark. Each admits he has not had a shave in fifty-five years. There are other contenders, including S. J. Bromley, aged eighty-two, who has lived with the same whiskers fifty-four years, while M. F. Skinner, not so old, sadly admits that while he is far outclassed by Felton, he has "cultivated" the same "crop" with a "little pruning now and then," for fifty years. Men with aged whiskers came forward with their boasts to pale in insignificance the alleged record mustache of John L. Forkner, Mayor of Anderson, Ind., who, according to a press dispatch, shaved his mustache off after forty-six years of devotion.

BANK BURGLARS PROVE NOTHING BUT SHADOWS.

Gettysburg, Pa., Aug. 12.—Mysterious shadows in the main room of the Gettysburg National Bank and the noise of an explosion, reported by several persons recently, gave rise to the rumor that the institution was being robbed. State police stationed nearby were summoned, county officers and the borough force were called to the scene. After an investigation it developed that the mysterious shadows seen in the bank were projected from a club which is located on the second floor of the adjoining building. The explosion was explained later when it was learned that a large can of tomatoes in the cellar of a nearby hotel had exploded.

HAD FIVE-YEAR SUPPLY OF CLOTHING—ARRESTED.

Pottsville, Pa., Aug. 12.—Miss Frances Poulk, a pretty Frackville girl, is being held under $300 bail charged with swindling several Philadelphia business houses. Valentine Schoenberg, postal inspector of this city, upon investigation found that the girl, who is only nineteen years old, had a five years' supply of clothing, shoes and feminine accessories laid away in her home, which it is alleged, she secured by sending bogus checks to the Philadelphia houses. She will be tried at the October session of the United States District Court at Philadelphia.

PORTLAND CLANS UP RUSSIAN SECTION.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 12.—The rainbow of Bolshevik rule in Russia must have tipped its end in Portland, but no pot of gold was discovered. Instead, in the Russian section here police and health department officials found such a deplorable state of affairs that they ordered a cleanup. Filth, chaos and disorder reigned supreme, and under penalty of arrest the Russians were told to "straighten their house." The action followed an investigation of the district for many days.

FORMER POOL ACREAGE FOR OIL DRILLING.

Mound Ridge, Kan., Aug. 12.—Contrary to the usual methods of farmers, who oppose all oil drilling and prefer to lease a dozen farmers living southeast of town have pooled their acreage—5,000 acres—and are offering it to any individual, group or corporation, that will drill. They offer an undivided half interest.

NEW VICTORY MEDALS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Can Be Obtained at U. S. Recruiting Office in Hartford—War Bureau Here Has Book of Facts for Veterans.

A war service medal, to be known as the Victory Medal, will be awarded to all officers and enlisted men who served on active duty in the Army of the United States at any time between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, and whose service was honorable. This information is contained in a little booklet entitled: "Where Do We Go From Here," prepared by William Brown Meloney, late Major F. A. United States Army, and which is now being issued by the Manchester War Bureau. These booklets may be obtained upon application at headquarters on Main street.

A number of ex-service men are now wearing these Victory Medals. They can be obtained at the U. S. Army Recruiting office at the corner of Union Place and Asylum street in Hartford. It is necessary for the applicant to present his discharge papers. Silver medals will be awarded for those wounded in action, and bronze medals for service.

The medals are about the size of a ten cent piece and are very attractive. The letters U. S. are set in the center of a star which is surrounded by a wreath. The device was made by the designer of the new dimes, quarters, and half dollars. Further information may be obtained at the local War Bureau.

Get the Book. "If you get stuck about anything," adds the booklet, "if you feel, after waiting a reasonable time, that some department of the Government has overlooked you, or is unjustly impatient with you, do not hesitate to write Col. Arthur Woods, War Department, Washington, D. C."

The little booklet is a veritable "Handy Andy" and contains useful tips for ex-servicemen. Its single purpose is to bring to them in the simplest, quickest, and most accurate form the things which every man who has served in the Great War must know to put him in touch with God's Country.

If the soldier or sailor wishes to know just where to send his War Risk Insurance premiums each month or how and when to swing or convert the policy at the proper time, or perhaps get hold of those Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 12.—Mrs. H. B. Harrison, of Washington, thinks it is an outrage that Atlantic City should force bathing girls to wear stockings and she writes the beach censor all about it.

This comes under the head of, "The Money End of It;" "Monthly Premiums for Each $1,000 of Insurance;" "Disability;" "Compensation;" "Private Insurance;" "That Bonus;" "Back Pay;" and many others. It should be in the hands of every ex-service man and can be obtained at the local War Bureau for the asking.

An Assisted Fate

By ARTHUR W. BEER

Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Erastus Spake was a bashful young bachelor who dwelt in a suburban village somewhere in the United States. He was in love with a charming girl of the neighborhood, but if she knew anything about the state of his feelings it could not have been due to any successful effort on the part of Erastus to make his heart throbbings manifest.

He had a good position in the adjacent city, fine prospects, and all he wanted to complete his cycle of happiness was Drusie Clifford for his own little wife, but—

Well, I have said that Erastus was bashful. He was all of that. When it came to dealings with the fair sex he was possessed of diffidence raised to the nth power. And of course that rendered the pathway of true love extremely rugged for him.

Nearly all our writers of fiction, who it must be assumed have made a thorough study of the game, unite in hammering home the fact that a girl wants her wooer to be bold and fearless, and to introduce into his courtship some of the rough and ready tactics of the caveman. And whatever a far cry may be, it certainly was one from the caveman to Erastus.

With the price of white paper so high, I shall not spoil a lot of it by narrating the many expedients adopted by Erastus to get his message across by wireless, as it were, and which all signally and deservedly failed in their purpose. Rather shall I proceed at once to a denouement and reveal how Fate kindly took a hand and smoothed out things for our ultra-modest and retiring hero.

Erastus had boarded the 5:10 one evening when he observed Drusie entering the car. Every seat seemed to be filled but the one he occupied, and she did exactly what he at once hoped and feared she would do—came and sat down beside him.

But—perversity of bashfulness!—no sooner did he see her coming, and without giving her a chance to recognize him, than he unfurled the evening paper and buried his face in its inky folds. He happened to open the news sheet at a double page spread ad. of women's intimate apparel. And doubtless the folk in the seat behind must have marveled why he found that page of alleged bargains so absorbingly interesting, for he was afraid to turn the page lest his presence be detected by her whom he secretly adored.

When it seemed that hours must have passed, however, and the tips of his blushing ears in contact with the sheltering newspaper threatened to start a conflagration, he felt that he just had to have a peep at his fair neighbor, whose propinquity both delighted and alarmed him.

So he warily turned his head until just the fall of his eye cleared the edge of the lingerie ad., and blast if he didn't discover that the poor girl was fast asleep! Yes, sir and madam, he had noticed for some time a slight relaxation of her slim form against his own, which had afforded him a thrilly sensation and incited him to take that observation. Poor tired child!—What need for her to toil in an office when he earned plenty for both?

"Well, you know how it is with a person who is endeavoring to sleep sitting up. Drusie's pretty head swayed uncertainly this way and that until—oh, rapture!—it found its haven of rest.

The appreciative grins of the passengers who observed the little comedy distressed Erastus considerably, but the sweet consciousness of Drusie's presence served to sustain him, and before long he boldly stretched his arm over the back of the seat, and—

Erastus was roused by the conductor's hoarse cry, "End of the route!" It awakened Drusie, too, and never before was there such a scene of pretty confusion as when she discovered her plight.

There was no car back to the station which they had unwittingly passed for

FOLKS OF NEWFOUNDLAND HONOR PRINCE OF WALES

Arrives at St. Johns at Noon and is Given a Wonderful Reception—Business Suspended.

St. Johns, N. F., Aug. 12.—The Prince of Wales arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning aboard the cruiser Dragan, escorted by the cruiser Dauntless, the battleship Renown, on which he crossed the Atlantic, proceeding on to Halifax.

The Prince came ashore at noon and was greeted by practically every citizen of St. Johns, as well as thousands from small Newfoundland villages.

Business was suspended for three hours and a cheering crowd lined the route of the procession in which the young prince made his way to the government house.

The ceremony as the prince came ashore was very formal. Addresses of welcome were delivered by representatives of the municipality, the Board of Trade and the Newfoundland legislature.

The Royal party then entered automobiles and were driven beneath quaint triumphal arches, some of them constructed of rufed logs and intertwined with branches of fir trees and others of spars of fishing vessels, indicative of Newfoundland's principal industry.

A luncheon in honor of the prince this afternoon was attended by officials of the city of St. Johns.

ENGINEER TO BLAME

Bridgeport, Aug. 12.—Gross negligence in failing to observe the signals that were set against them was responsible for the death of Henry Brickley and Gates B. Rusk, engineers of the motor locomotive that was drawing the freight train that crashed into a stalled freight ahead on the same track in East Portchester a week ago, according to the finding filed today by Coroner John J. Phelan.

11,000 REDS CAPTURED

London, Aug. 12.—Eleven thousand and Bolshevik prisoners and much booty have been captured at Kamishin by General Denikin's army on the South Russian front, said official dispatches from General Denikin's headquarters today. Two Bolshevik divisions were shattered. General Denikin's army has now formed a junction with Admiral Kolchak's Siberian army on the Ural Mountain front.

What an Idea!

HEART OF WORLD WONT BREAK IF LEAGUE IS REJECTED, SAYS LODGE

But as it stands there is no doubt whatever in my mind that American troops and American ships may be ordered to any part of the world by nations other than the United States and that is a proposition to which I for one can never assent. It must be made perfectly clear that no American soldiers, not even a corporal's guard, that no American sailors, not even the crew of a submarine, can ever be engaged in war or ordered anywhere except by the constitutional authorities of the United States. To Congress is granted by the constitution the right to declare war, and nothing that would take the troops out of the country at the bidding or demand of other nations should ever be permitted except through congressional action. The lives of Americans must never be sacrificed except by the will of the American people expressed through their chosen representatives in Congress. This is a point upon which no doubt can be permitted."

A bill of $8,000 from the New Haven General Hospital was approved.

Bridgeport, Aug. 12.—The 150 men on strike from the railroad shops here have voted almost unanimously to return to work, provided only that the men from the Readville, Mass., shops take the same action. The Bridgeport men, it is said, will be guided completely by the action of the Readville strikers.

Newark, N. J., Aug. 12.—Fearing that her five children were going to starve, Mrs. Catherine Wohlfhardy took poison and is in a dying condition at City Hospital today. Neighbors asserted the high cost of living prompted the woman to try to end her life.

"I can hardly keep my children alive," she told them. "I don't know what people are going to do if things keep going up."

KOLCHAK ARMY BEATEN

Washington, Aug. 12.—Not only is the Kolchak army being forced to give ground before the onslaught of Bolshevik forces, but the Kolchak all-Russian government at Omsk is gradually weakening and apparently falling into disfavor with the people, according to advices reaching official circles here this afternoon.

TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

Paris, Aug. 12.—Despite additional reports from Armenia that the withdrawal of British troops would be certain to result in a slaughter of innocents by the Turks, the British officials insisted today that they would have to withdraw for domestic reasons. It was learned from an authoritative source.

The peace conference put the question up to the British delegates hoping to induce them to keep troops in Armenia for the protection of the population by explaining conditions there.

Park Theater

"The Heart of Humanity," to be seen tonight at the Park theater, limns on the gray background of the last days of the conflict, a tender and appealing romance of loyal love and unswerving devotion. The whole production, from beginning to end, is fraught with the spirit of those great days when an anxious world hung breathlessly upon word from the seething battle front in Flanders. It reflects the hush that fell upon civilization when the forces of humanity came to final grip with the ruthless might of autocracy, and it echoes the great cry of joy that sounded round the world when the Hun line crumbled before the Allied attack and fled backward toward the sheltering frontiers of Germany to sue for peace.

Into the midst of these stirring scenes of immeasurable portents, there makes its way the gentle romance of Nanette, an American girl reared in the northwood of Canada, and of her Canadian lover, John Patricia. Joined as war is begun, as war progresses they are separated—to meet again where the giant guns thunder their challenge on the fields of France. Thither John goes as an officer in the Royal Flying Corps and there Nanette, hearkening to the cries of the homeless and motherless children, follows in the garb of the Red Cross.

There comes the last great Hun attack—the last terrifying drive toward Paris, when Chateau Thierry became another Verdun and the might of America, thrown into the balance, staved the enemy, halted him and finally drove him back, until his retreat became a rout and he cried aloud for peace. Graphically, all the hopes, the prayers, the tears, the faith that stirred the heart of humanity in those days of vast import are reflected in the Allen Hollar romance of the war.

In the confusion and chaos of attack and counter-attack, John and Nanette, servants of the great cause, drawn by their love, are once more brought together and the scenes shift from the fields of Flanders back to the Canadian lands of the whispering pines where the benediction of the world peace finds them reunited in their love.

Remember there will be an augmented orchestra and special effects. The feature will be started promptly at 8.20, so be around in time to see the very beginning.

Circle Theater

Two clever film actors, a fast, snappy story and fine staging were seen yesterday at the Circle theater when "Married in Haste" was shown for the first time. The star, Albert Ray, and the leading lady, Elinor Fair, are clever young people who have just been engaged by William Fox, and they were given a hearty welcome. Their comedy drew hearty laughter continuously from the audience, and by the time the picture faded away they seemed almost like friends. They will be welcome visitors whenever they return. The picture was excellently staged by Arthur Rosson, who also is new to the William Fox forces.

This feature will be shown again this evening with a comedy, the Pathe News and another episode of "The Perils of Thunder Mountain."

Tomorrow's feature will be Vivian Marton in "Her Country First" a Paramount.

PROHIBITION TAKES PROFIT OUT OF TAXI BUSINESS

Boston, Aug. 12.—Joy riding in taxicabs has come to an end with prohibition. A canvass of the various taxi companies in the Greater City showed that the loss to the companies was about 50 per cent, with a resultant loss of positions to approximately 400 chauffeurs and the placing in the market of about 600 taxicabs for sale. Taxi companies having stands near the hotels and in the theater district have been the greatest sufferers. Some taxi men figure that other amusements will eventually appeal to people who formerly patronized hotels and cafes and flew back and forth from bar to bar in a taxi.

POLICE CHIEF TRIES OUT NEW "FLIVVER" HE'S SORRY

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 12.—Harry Auzpits, chief of police of River Forest, decided he would learn to run the new police "flivver."

He started out alone. Everything went well until he was in Oak Park, when the "flivver" decided it was better running on the sidewalk than in the street. Chief Auzpits started for a tree he departed, "toot sweet," and struck the ground just as the car struck the tree.

Chief Auzpits was a "regular flivver" driver to bring in the car.

USE WIRELESS PHONE TO FIGHT FOREST FIRES

Portland, Ore., Aug. 11.—The wireless telephone may prevent the dangerous forest fires which yearly destroy many of the Government's preserves in the Northwest.

C. M. Allen, telephone engineer of the Forest Service here, has been making tests with the wireless phone and announces a clear and distinct conversation at a distance of eight miles. It was said that the voices heard were better than when transmitted over the ordinary wires.

The wireless phone would be invaluable in forest service. Often people are unable to reach a telephone until a fire has gained such headway that it practically destroys a district.

SPIDER BITE FATAL

Kane, Pa., Aug. 11.—Several days after she had been bitten on the chin by a spider Miss Anna Bloomquist, of this place, aged sixteen years, died at the Kane Summit Hospital.

Immediately after the child had been bitten her parents applied some home remedies, but all efforts to check the spread of the poison proved futile. Even an operation at the hospital proved of no avail.

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 12.—Evansville's police booze motor boat, useless since July 1, has been given to the Navy Recruiting Station here. The motor boat, used for several months to run down liquor law violators on the Ohio River, is now being used in recruiting at towns along the stream.

W. B. ROGERS INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Representative Severely Cut About Face and Throat.

IS NOW IN HOSPITAL

Jugular Vein Nearly Cut—Accident Occurred on Road Near Middletown Last Night.

Representative Willard B. Rogers is in St. Francis' Hospital as the result of serious injuries received last night when his automobile was crashed into by a heavy car driven at a high rate of speed by Bernard Faymonville, Jr. of Middletown.

The accident occurred at 8.30 on the Middlefield road where Mr. Rogers was returning to Manchester from Meriden. He was sitting in the front seat of the car in company with Sherman Fuller of Hartford who was driving.

As he saw the car approaching, Mr. Fuller did his best to get out of the road far enough to allow it to safely pass but was struck head on by the Middletown man's car.

Mr. Rogers was bruised and severely cut about the face and throat.

He was carried to the office of a nearby physician and a phone call was sent in for Dr. D. C. Y. Moore who left immediately for the scene of the accident. Dr. Moore found that the flying glass had just missed cutting Mr. Rogers' jugular vein. He was bleeding profusely from his other cuts and was hardly able to speak when friends arrived from this town.

Dr. Moore brought him to St. Francis' Hospital where he is reported to be resting as comfortably as can be expected.

Mr. Fuller was somewhat shaken up but suffered no serious injury. A front wheel of Mr. Rogers' car was broken off and it was otherwise badly damaged.

FREIGHT AT STANDSTILL ON MANCHESTER TRACKS

No Change in Shipping Conditions—Parcel Post Shipments Increase Slightly.

There has been no change in local shipping conditions. This word comes from the offices of the Manchester branch and the American Railway Express Company. The managements of both offices state that conditions are just about the same and no official word has been received on the situation in regard to relief.

No shipments are being sent out from the express offices and incoming express being received spasmodically, most of this coming from Western points. Freight conditions are about at a standstill and there is practically nothing in this line going out of coming in. It is rumored that there is a possibility of a change before the end of the week.

An indication that things are loosening up somewhere along the line is seen in the fact that the average daily shipments to this town last week were 20 cars while yesterday 32 were received. However, at twenty-three today indications were that this record would not be repeated and it is thought that the week's average may be about the same as during the previous seven days.

At the South end postoffice the parcel post shipments are increasing although the office force as yet, not found any difficulty in handling the extra amount of mail matter. Moving picture films are now being received by parcel post.

Theatrical men state that films are also being shipped from Boston by truck via Springfield and Hartford. The charges on these shipments are a great deal more than express rates. Grocers are fortunate in that many of the Hartford wholesale houses maintain their own trucks and as long as the wholesale supply lasts they have no cause to worry.

FISHERMEN'S STRIKE IS NOT YET SETTLED

4,000 Men Still Out in Boston—Refuse to Ratify the Agreement.

Boston, Aug. 12.—The strike of 4,000 Massachusetts union fishermen believed to have been settled by the signing of an agreement to arbitrate, was still on today as a result of the refusal of some of the men to ratify the agreement. This refusal took place at a meeting of the Fishermen's Union of the Atlantic when it became known that the Gorton-Pew Company of Gloucester and the Boston Fish Pier Corporation had failed to sign the agreement. These two firms are members of the so-called "Big Four," the others who signed being the Bay State Fishing Company and the East Coast Fisheries Company.

Fishermen Obdurate. The striking fishermen asserted they would not return to work until the finding of the arbitration board was made and not then if it were unsatisfactory.

The officers of the union succeeded in postponing a vote until a meeting today. A number of vessel owners were prepared today to send out their craft for quick trips to the fishing banks but were unable to do so.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Aug. 12.—The stock market was generally unsettled at the opening today and many stocks showed losses of from one to two points. Steel common fell one point to 102 3/4 and a number of specialties, including Industrial Alcohol, dropped over two points. Baldwin was one of the most active features, and was exceptionally strong, although it dropped 1 1/4 at the opening to 105. The stock however, quickly rallied to 108 1/2.

Crucible Steel fell 1 1/4 to 132 3/4, but quickly recovered this loss. Mexican Petroleum sold off 1 7/8 to 173 7/8 and Pan American Petroleum 1 1/2 to 104. Sinclair Oil held strong in the first few minutes but later declined from 54 5/8 to 53 7/8. The rail issues were heavy, Southern Pacific falling 1 1/4 to 96 and Union Pacific one point to 124.

A strong tone developed during the forenoon but the room traders continued bearish and offered large blocks of stocks which again caused fractional recessions towards noon. Baldwin Locomotive advanced from 105 1/2 to 109 7/8; American Locomotive nearly three points to 89 1/8; Pan American Petroleum from 104 rose to 106; Mexican Petroleum from 173 7/8 to 175 1/4, and American Inter 1 3/8 to 99 1/4. The rails made fractional advances.

TWENTY TONS OF SUGAR IN MANCHESTER TODAY

But That Will Hardly Furnish Sweetening Enough to Go Round—Is Being Distributed Among All the Dealers.

A car bearing twenty tons of much needed sugar arrived in Manchester at 11.30 today.

This will offer a slight relief in the sugar famine which the town has been undergoing but as the twenty tons are being distributed among all the merchants there will not be much for any one dealer.

Indications are that there will be further shipments in the near future but no hope of a permanent ending of the shortage is offered. Not only is the railway situation blocking shipments but the refiners say that their output is greatly reduced by a strike at the factories.

The Central Market received the largest consignment from the car which arrived today. It was owned by Blake & Backes.

FORD, EDISON, BURROUGHS ROUGHING IT THIS WEEK

Traveling Through the White Mountains and Camping Out of Doors at Night.

Tilton, N. H., Aug. 12.—Henry Ford, with Thomas A. Edison, and other friends are touring the White Mountains today. The members of the party, which includes John Burroughs and Harvey A. Firestone, are the guests of Mr. Ford. The party is traveling in automobiles and camping out wherever the night overtakes them. They spent last night in a local hotel here and according to Mr. Ford, this was the first time they have slept in any building or made an overnight stop in any village since they left Albany two weeks ago.

When word of the distinguished visitors' presence got about town, hundreds of residents flocked to the hotel to see them. Mr. Ford and Mr. Edison appeared to enjoy the experience and talked freely with all comers.

Adams, of this city and next week he and Mrs. Adams will set out to tour the United States, having all the comforts of home enroute. In the large room there are beds, tables, window seats and other household equipment. Window seats extend over the fenders. There is a front piazza over the radiator.

IN ABSOLUTE ACCORD. Paris, Aug. 12.—The British and American peace conference delegates are in absolute accord in handling the Roumanian situation, it was stated in American official circles here today. Certain newspaper attempts to align the British with the plans for the restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy in Hungary were characterized by the same sources as purely inspired propaganda.

WILSON WON'T SUBMIT GENERAL BLISS' LETTER

Says Letter Was Not One of Protest Against the Shantung Settlement.

Washington, Aug. 11.—President Wilson in a communication this afternoon to the Senate, declined to submit to the Foreign Relations Committee the text of the letter written to him by General Bliss with reference to the Shantung settlement at the peace conference.

The letter "could not be properly described as one of protest," the President declared, adding that he has received no written protest from any member of the peace commission with reference to the Shantung settlement. His reason for withholding the communication, he said, was because in it were references to other governments, which, while proper in a personal letter to the President, he felt General Bliss would not care to have made public. The letter was written by General Bliss in behalf of himself, Secretary of State Lansing and Henry White, all American peace delegates. The communication, which was in response to a resolution, adopted by the committee, also stated that the President had no knowledge of any secret treaty having been entered into between Japan and Germany.

In answer to the request of the Senate for any memorandum or other information with reference to an attempt of Japan or her peace delegates, to intimidate the Chinese delegates, the President said that he had no such memorandum or information.

HERO IN BUSINESS HARNESS. Colonel A. C. Read, Inspector general, asked General Liggett to write letters of highest praise for the heroic conduct of Private Oscar Zwald, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

By rushing fearlessly into a burning freight car loaded with live shells and extinguishing the fire at great risk, he saved scores of lives and possibly nearly a million dollars' worth of munition stores for Uncle Sam at the Mulheim munitions store yard, near Coblenz.

If the fire had not been promptly subdued it would have resulted in blowing up a whole trainload of shells, to which the burning car was attached, together with, possibly, many nearby buildings filled with high explosives, stored there for emergencies.

This is the type of man returning to us now from abroad. Fearless, courageous, and ready to do the right thing at the right moment. All may not have received the D. S. C., but each one of them is a valuable addition to any factory, office or workshop. They return to us now in great numbers. About 300,000 are discharged from the service every month.

EIGHTY-TWO PER CENT OF HOOSIER COUPLES HAPPY. Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 12.—Eighty-two and one-tenth per cent of Hoosier married couples are happy, it is indicated by divorce statistics covering a period of nine years just compiled. Reefs and shoals and craggy rocks beset the other 17.9 per cent who attempted to navigate matrimony's treacherous seas. More rolling pins were thrown in Vermillion County than in any other in the state, the figures show. The county's divorce percentage is given as 33.6.

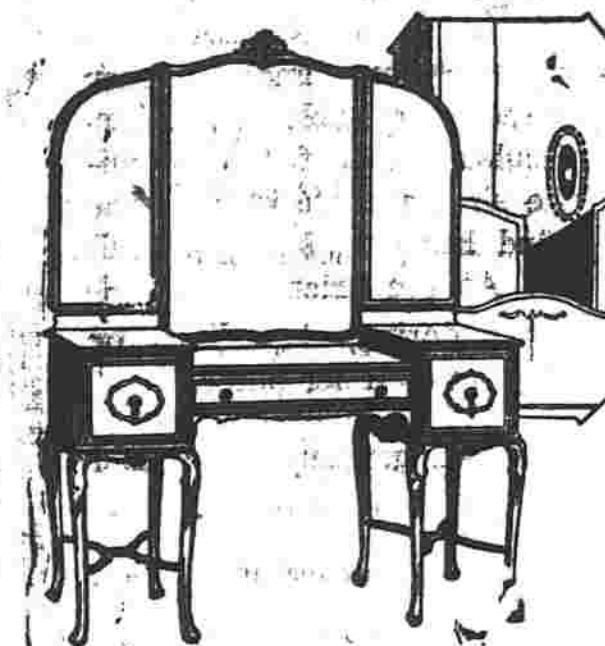

Clarke County's marriage bonds stayed tied best, for statistics give the county a divorce record of only 2 per cent. Out of all the 289,922 couples in the state who embarked upon the lifelong voyage only 50,891 found recourse in the divorce court.

BOY AT SIX YEARS WEIGHS 106 POUNDS—STILL GROWING. Richmond, Mo., Aug. 12.—John Franklin Marvel, living north of this city, is a "marvel" indeed, as well as in name. He is the biggest boy for his age in Ray County. He is six years of age, weighs 106 pounds, and was raised on the bottle. Manufacturers of malted milk, or condensed milk, however, can claim no credit, for he was raised on milk from his parents' cows.

PLAN TO ILLUMINATE 75 MILES OF COLORADO ROAD. According to the chairman of the commission, it will be the only one of its kind in the world.

Trucks and other road-building equipment recently secured from the War Department will be used in making the improvements.
