SECRETARY REDFIELD WILL QUIT CABINET LAST OF NEXT MONTH

Department of Commerce Chief Denies He Has Had a Row.

IS SAID TO FEEL HURT OVER RECONSTRUCTION

Resents Action of Walter D. Hines in Killing Industrial Board.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Secretary of Commerce Redfield will resign the latter part of October, he admitted today.

At the same time the Secretary emphatically stated that his resignation was prompted only by the necessity that he resume his private business. He denied that there was any friction between him and the heads of other government departments, as stated in reports forecasting his resignation.

It is understood that Mr. Redfield has told the President of his purpose and will not change his mind.

While Mr. Redfield assigns business reasons for retiring, it is known here that he felt hurt when Walker D. Hines killed the Industrial Board he launched while the President was abroad by refusing to accept the prices on steel rails agreed to by that board.

Much of the work that naturally fell under Mr. Redfield's department was turned over to other persons. Bernard Baruch took care of some of it during the war. The State Department is looking after some of it now. It is said by friends of the Secretary that he dislikes the position he has been forced into in the reconstruction work. His pet plans have not been received with enthusiasm.

VANDERBILT JR., LIVING ON $25 A WEEK IN N. Y.

Won't Go to College So He Must Work—Is a Reporter On News- paper Learning the Game.

New York, Sept. 5.—Financial problems are worrying Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., these days. And the problem is not how to dispose of his unearned increment from his family's vast fortune, but how to stretch $25 a week over the necessities of life.

Against the wishes of his family young Cornelius has flatly refused to go to Yale and has taken up newspaper work on a New York paper. He is "cubbing" for $25 a week. His father informed him that no more allowance would be forthcoming but that he might have his room at home and drop around occasionally for a meal.

Then the family went to Europe, closing up the house, and the scion of the Vanderbilts is sleeping on a small boat which is his own, down on Long Island to save room rent, and eats—when he can—at places where $25 is looked upon as real money. And there aren't many of such in New York now.

GERMANS MOBILIZING.

Paderewski Protests Against Mas- sing of Troops in Poland.

Paris Sept. 5.—Premier Paderewski, of Poland, who arrived unexpectedly in Paris yesterday, declared today that a serious situation has developed in the east as a result of the massing of German troops in upper Silesia.

M. Paderewski said he had hurried to Paris from Warsaw to protest to the peace conference against the concentration of German forces against the Poles in upper Silesia and against the continued atrocities by German residents of that district. He denied reports of Jewish pogroms in Poland.

The Premier will remain in Paris until the Austrian treaty is signed. More than 5 per cent. of all the convicts in English prisons are women.

IF PRESIDENT FAILS TO ACT AT ONCE, WORKERS WILL QUIT

Union Leaders Say That Men Can Hardly Be Held Back—Send Tele- gram to Wilson at St. Louis— Final Decision to Be Made Next Tuesday.

Washington, Sept. 5.—President Wilson was today expected to give his "prompt attention" to the steel line issue in an attempt to prevent a general strike in that industry.

In a telegram sent to the chief executive at St. Louis the sub-committee charged with securing a conference with E. H. Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, stated that "we cannot now affirm how much longer we shall be able to prevail upon the men not to engage in a general strike. If the men can no longer be restrained it is impossible to foretell what the future may hold in store."

The telegram set forth that "the steel men rely on their case as it was presented to you last week and your earnest declaration to bring about a conference for the attempted adjustment of the controversy."

A meeting of the presidents of the 24 international unions with which the steel workers are affiliated will be held in Washington on September 9 "to take such action as is deemed necessary" the President was informed. And the request was made that he communicate on or before that date whether in his opinion a conference with Gary is possible.

CHINA BEARS NO GRUDGE AGAINST UNITED STATES

No Resentment Because of Shantung Matter—Was Settled By Great Britain, France and Japan.

Boston, Sept. 5.—There is no trace of resentment in China against this country because of the Shantung matter, according to Charles Sumner Leblang, for the past ten years judge of the United States court at Shanghai and now a delegate to the American Bar Association convention here.

"The Chinese public seem agreed," he says, "that Great Britain, France and Japan had practically settled that before the United States entered the discussion at all. "Business opportunities for Americans in China are wonderful just now. Had we enough ship bottoms we could have practically monopolized China's trade during the war and probably held it for a long time to come."

PERSHING'S HONOR GUARD COMPOSED OF 6 FOOTERS

To Be Escorted By Composite Regi- ment Which is Returning With Him—General to Ride War Horse.

New York, Sept. 5.—The composite regiment, which is returning home with General Pershing on the transport Leviathan, composed of all picked men, nearly all of whom are more than six feet in height will act as special guard of honor to the commander in chief of the A. E. F. during the great parade down Fifth Avenue next Wednesday.

General Pershing will ride his own sorrel charger "Kidron" followed immediately by a flag bearer carrying a banner with four white stars denoting the general's rank. Then will come the composite regiment which became known through France as "Pershing's Own." Men were picked from all of the seven regular army overseas divisions to make up this regiment, numbering 3,600 men. Veterans who have been discharged from the service and wish to return to their units and march in the pageant have been ordered to report for temporary duty and equipment by Monday morning.

The remainder of the First Division reached here today on five transports. The transport Freedom docked early with 771 members of the Sixteenth Infantry. Four other transports brought approximately 5,000 officers and men.

PARIS TRAIN WRECK.

Paris, Sept. 5.—Several persons were killed and many hurt in a train wreck near Toulouse today.

COMMISSION SUGGESTS POLICING FIUME CITY

Also the Reduction of Italian Military Contingent Sta- tioned There.

ELIMINATE NAVAL BASE

Four Allied Generals Sent to Invest- igate Conditions Make Five Rec- ommendations.

Milan, Sept. 5.—The inter-allied commission of four generals, which was sent to Fiume to investigate the rival territorial claims of the Italians and Jugo Slavs is about to report and will recommend the appointment of an allied mission to administer the affairs of the city, the Secolo stated today.

According to the Secolo the commission will make the following recommendations, in addition:

- 1—Dissolution of the national council to be replaced by a representative council elected under the supervision of the peace conference in Paris.
- 2—Disbanding of the Fiume volunteers league.
- 3—Reduction of the Italian military contingent.
- 4—Suppression of the French naval base at Fiume.
- 5—Appointment of an Anglo-American police force to insure order at Fiume.

LABOR HATES TO STRIKE SAYS BROTHERHOOD HEAD

Last Thing to Do—No Matter What the Outcome, Both Sides Lose.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 5.—"The last thing labor wants to do is to strike. Unfortunately that is the last thing labor has to do. No matter what the outcome, both sides are licked."

Addressing the manufacturing and employment managers of the Chamber of Commerce here, Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, made this declaration. He was speaking on "what is the matter with labor?" The high cost of living is "what is the matter with labor," Mr. Stone declared.

"Our present economic system is practically a failure, because it can no longer feed the people. A solution must be found and found quickly."

One element of the present unrest, he charges, is due to the work of agitators paid by German and Russian money.

FORMER CITY TREASURER OF STAMFORD ARRESTED

Charged With Appropriating $7,210 of the City's Cash—Was Bank Cashier.

Stamford, Sept. 5.—William N. Travis, former city treasurer of the City of Stamford, and former cashier of the Stamford National Bank, was arrested here today for alleged unlawful appropriation of $7,210 from the city of Stamford. He was released in ball of $7,000 and will have a hearing on Monday.

Mr. Travis had been indicted in the federal court for this district last March for alleged embezzlement of funds of the Stamford National Bank of which he was cashier from February, 1917, until he was arrested last December. He was city treasurer from 1901 until this year. His arrest for alleged embezzlement of the city's funds followed an examination of his accounts as city treasurer by a firm of accountants.

MEXICANS ARRESTED.

Laredo, Texas, Sept. 5.—Two Mexican officers and two private soldiers, all of Carranza's army, have been arrested near Tampico and formally charged with the murder of John W. Correll, last June. Correll, an American citizen, was killed on his ranch near Tampico. Official announcement of the arrests were made today by Mexican government officials.

AMERICAN IS KILLED BY THE BOLSHEVISTS?

Washington, Sept. 5.—An agent of the American state department has been executed by the Bolsheviks in Petrograd. State Department this afternoon received Russian advices that an agent who had attempted to investigate a rumored violation of the American embassy premises at Petrograd, had been shot.

The agent, whose name was not announced, was not an American, however, the Department stated.

MOVEMENT TOWARD LOWER PRICES IS NOW IN PROGRESS

Federal Reserve Board Makes Public Its Report for August.

NO MIDSUMMER LULL AND PLENTY OF WORK

Demand for Watches and Jewelry Continues Very Heavy—Lessening of Demand for Shoes and Clothing.

Washington, Sept. 5.—A movement toward lower prices seems to be in progress, and there is a feeling throughout the country that a satisfactory solution of the price and wage problems will be reached, according to a report on business and financial conditions for August, made public by the Federal Reserve Board today.

The actual volume of business transacted continues at an extremely high level for the season of the year, agents of the board found, although transportation difficulties and shortage of labor have been hampering factors in certain lines. It was found, however, that, on the whole the agricultural outlook was "distinctly less favorable" than it was a month ago, although the large acreage sown in certain cases will compensate for the decreased yield per acre.

Business is Good. "The general business situation," the report states, "while presenting some disquieting features, is, however, at bottom strong. Barring industrial conflicts, the customary swell in the volume of business during the fall months is probable."

Referring to the industrial situation, the report stated:

"As corollary to the price problem and the cost of living there is the feeling of labor unrest which is marked at the present time and which has given impetus to the agitation concerning prices. Reports from the majority of districts designate the labor situation as 'unsettled' although from Chicago it is stated that 'the labor crisis which was giving general alarm a fortnight ago appears to have passed,' while several other districts report such conditions as fairly satisfactory."

"The strike of the railroad shopmen," the report states, "has been far-reaching in its effects and has resulted in material embarrassment to trade."

In certain districts, the report sets forth, there has been found a "decreasing efficiency of labor," which the board ascribes to relaxation from war-time pressure for maximum production.

Plenty of Work. "At the same time," the report adds, "additional demands made by the workers have been granted, in large part due to the general shortage of labor, skilled and unskilled, which exists in many sections. In many districts it is reported that no one who wishes to work need be idle, and actual surplus of labor which are reported are few and scattered."

Federal reserve board agents found that retail trade continues "exceedingly active, and in many sections little of the mid-summer lull is noted." A significant statement is that "the demand for watches and jewelry continues very heavy, while in some districts a lessening of the demand for shoes and clothing is perceptible."

Americans Must Eliminate Party Feeling In Choosing Pact, Says the President

London Magazine Says Girl Shows Are Nothing But Touring Harems

London, Sept. 5.—The theatrical world palpitated with excitement today over the sensational printed charge that certain travelling theatrical companies with "girl shows" are actually nothing but "touring harems."

The magazine "Actor" the official organ of the theatrical people enlightens the situation with the allegation that some disreputable managers of revues, now touring Great Britain,

"I Would be Ashamed of My- self 'If I Discussed This Great Matter as a Demo- crat," He Declares in St. Louis—Is Resting Today— To Make Another Address Tonight.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—Admittedly highly pleased with his reception in Indianapolis last night, President Wilson came to St. Louis today to carry on his fight to gain public sentiment in favor of the Treaty of Versailles.

The President's special train reached St. Louis shortly after 4 o'clock this morning and it was shunted to a siding in the Park section so the chief executive could enjoy a few hours extra sleep.

The schedule today called for two speeches here. It was on the cards that the President would reply sharply to senior senator from Missouri, Senator James Reed, who has been campaigning throughout the country in opposition to the treaty.

Senator Reed, a member of the President's own political party has been outspoken in his criticisms of the treaty. It was no secret that the President expected to answer several of the arguments of Senator Reed here, in the chief city of his home state. The President was also expected to sound the argument of the proponents of the treaty who will participate in the special referendum arranged by the state committees of the two political parties.

A Wilson Statement.

The attitude of the President in his present tour was outlined by him today in the following statement:

"We have now to make the most critical choice we ever made as a nation and it ought to be made in all soberness and without the slightest tinge of party feeling in it. I would be ashamed of myself if I discussed this great matter as a Democrat and not as an American."

That was to be the attitude throughout the trip. The President explained he expected the opponents of the treaty would take a position in opposition to this line of argument and he was prepared to accept battle on these same lines.

Today's Program.

Arrangements for today's stay in St. Louis included an automobile parade through the residential section to the hotel where the President was to rest until luncheon. Then he was to continue his speeches. The afternoon was to be held free, and in the evening he was to make an address in the Coliseum, in which, by the way, he was nominated for re-election in 1916.

Must Read Whole Treaty.

The President insisted that it was impossible to read the League covenant without also reading with it the treaty as a whole. He also flatly made it plain that so far as the opposition to Article 10 of the League covenant was concerned, in his opinion it was unwarranted. Article 10, he said, will prevent future wars because it will protect national rights.

One thing that has been apparent on this trip is that the entire country is none too much interested in the treaty of Versailles. The President very plainly realized this when he stated that he wanted people to read the treaty or to "accept the interpretation of the men who wrote it."

VERSAILLES TREATY AS NOW AMENDED WILL BE READY WITHIN NEXT TEN DAYS

BITES OFF GIRL'S NOSE IN A FIT OF JEALOUSY

Physicians Now Trying to Graft Nose Back in Waterbury Hospital—Man Held By Police.

Waterbury, Sept. 5.—In a fit of jealousy George Navikow, of this city seized Lena Arnitav in an East Main street restaurant and bit her nose off completely. It developed at the session of the city court today when Navikow was arraigned on the charge of mayhem.

Following the act, the woman's nose fell to the floor and was picked up by a spectator. Physicians are now trying to graft the nose back on at a local hospital.

Navikow will be held until Miss Arnitav is able to testify in court.

SEA LORD REITERATES DECLARATION TO TIMES

Again Says British Navy Will Be Ob- solete in Few Years—Predicted Lusitania's Fate.

London, Sept. 5.—Baron Fisher, of Killybegs, former first sea lord of the admiralty, in another letter to the Times today reiterated his declaration that the British Navy will be obsolete for war purposes in a few years.

"I do not write to argue for only damned fools argue," said the Baron in blunt sailor fashion, adding in a postscript: "Can't you trust me?"

The economies of the Admiralty, said the writer, is like using an elephant's trunk to pick up a pin one minute and to uproot an oak tree the next.

Baron Fisher claims he described the sinking of the Lusitania seven months before the war and pointed to his predictions about turbine driven submarines.

GERMANS' REPLY.

Protest Against Clause Providing for Austrian Representation.

London, Sept. 5.—The German government has replied to the amendment note of the peace conference protesting against the clause of the German constitution providing for Austrian representation in the German Reichsrath by saying that "Germany is unable to maintain her attitude on this question," said a News Agency dispatch from Berlin today.

The German government points out, however, that there is no necessity to amend the constitution. The German answer says, furthermore, "if the allies extend their occupation of Germany this step will be regarded as a deplorable act of violence."

But few people are able to recognize bear meat after it has been dressed.

ITALIANS HEAR JUDGE ON AMERICANIZATION

Well Attended Meeting Held at Recreation Center—Music by Italian Players.

Americanization was the keynote of a speech delivered by Judge Francis A. Pallotti of Hartford at the Recreation Center last evening. The occasion was Italian Night and the large auditorium was well filled with the Italian residents of Manchester.

In introducing Judge Pallotti, Mrs. Florence Hillsburg, local Director of Americanization, spoke briefly on the schedule of class work for the winter season. She also told them that Cheney Brothers had made an announcement to the effect that all foreign people in Manchester who showed an inclination to better themselves, would be promoted in their work at the mills.

Judge Pallotti's speech was in Italian. During his talk he urged those present to grasp the opportunity to better their working and living conditions and improve their standing in the community. His definition of Americanization, what it meant and what it stood for, made a decided impression. At times the speaker was forced to wait until the applause died down.

A social session followed the lecture. The visitors were given an opportunity to inspect the Recreation Center. Folk dancing and singing was enjoyed in the auditorium. Sebastiano Scuder's singing was the feature of the program. Music for the occasion was furnished by the Italian Stringed orchestra and an orchestra from the American Band.

SHERMAN RAPS WILSON.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Public officials have been impeached for less," Senator Sherman, of Illinois, declared in the Senate this afternoon, referring to President Wilson's declaration in Columbus yesterday that the labor conference provided by the treaty of Versailles will be called, whether the treaty is ratified or not.

FORGET ALL PARTY FEELING, SAYS WILSON

Callers have declared that so far as the people are concerned they ended the war with the signing of the armistice and the object of the President he told the people who talked with him today, is to actually have the people accept the treaty as their own business and settle it their own way.

President Slept Well. The Presidential party slept late and it was well after eight o'clock before President and Mrs. Wilson breakfasted. The train remained side-tracked in Forest Park while a guard of policemen and soldiers kept the crowd at a distance. The weather conditions were perfect. The early morning was a trifle chilly but the sun speedily dispelled the mists and long before the President started for his hotel conditions were perfect.

To Rest Today. A reception committee made up of representative citizens and headed by James E. Smith, was an early arrival. The committee men explained to the President's secretary, Joseph P. Tumulty, that as far as possible the President would be allowed to rest during the day, his chief public functions being the address at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon and the formal speech at the convention hall in the evening.

The President left his car promptly on the dot at 9:30 and entering a flag bedecked automobile, headed a procession that took him through the chief residential section and terminated at the hotel Statler.

MORE FUNDS NEEDED.

Washington, Sept. 5.—The coming of peace will place a heavy additional burden on the State Department, according to a special report sent to the House today by Secretary Lansing, with a request for $457,000 additional funds with which to properly equip the Department to handle the business.

"There will be a vast number of new questions growing out of the treaty of peace and thousands of claims arising under it," the secretary wrote, "and the State Department has not the force of trained men to handle these matters."

TOWN

A ten pound baby boy was born this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Fiske of Bigelow street. Miss Jennie Smith, secretary to Robert J. Smith is enjoying a two weeks' vacation in Newburg, N. Y. Robert J. Smith has sold for Richard Manning, a twelve room house on Laurel street. The new owner is Albert Fay, superintendent of the textile department of the State Trade School.

At the home of Miss Ethel Faulkner on Summit street there will be a gathering of the Sons of Temperance this evening. The gymnasium at the Recreation Center is now open. Instructors will be on hand for conferences relative to the classes for the winter months. The first class opens the first week in October.

Patrick Gorman and a force of men started this morning to move the warehouse in the rear of the Ferris building. This property was purchased recently by Angelo Bosco and Robert J. Smith. The building will be moved to the vacant lot on the corner of Cottage and Oak streets and will be converted into a business block.

Lance Harding, publicity manager of Watkins Brothers, left this morning on a two weeks' vacation to be spent in Vermont. Two hundred and fifty jacks will be used in moving the Ferris Building. It is estimated that the building weighs 700 tons.

HOSTILE SENATE COMMITTEE NARROWS PEACE TREATY RESERVATIONS TO FOUR

Senators Vote to Report Treaty With Many Amendments and Reservations Covering Monroe Doctrine, Withdrawal from League, Article 10 and Domestic Questions—Vote Shatters Party Lines.

Washington, Sept. 5.—At a late hour yesterday the Foreign Relations Committee voted to report the treaty of peace with Germany to the Senate.

As it leaves the hands of the Committee the treaty bears about forty amendments and the League of Nations covenant is accompanied with four reservations.

Although the vote on the reservations was not strictly according to party lines it is expected that the Democrats will present a minority report objecting to the decisions of the majority under the leadership of Senator Lodge. This report is due within the next ten days and it is predicted that the Senate will begin the actual debate of the treaty about the 15th of this month.

Conclusions of the committee's work after nearly two months came somewhat unexpectedly today at a special executive session of three-hours' stormy debate, which divided both the Republican and Democratic membership.

The Four Reservations.

The four reservations to the League of Nations covenant, which were sponsored by Chairman Lodge and written into a resolution providing for conditional ratification of the treaty, provide:

1. For "unconditional" withdrawal of the United States from the League.

2. Refusal of this nation to assume any foreign territorial guarantees under article 10 of the League covenant or mandates, without action by Congress.

3. Exclusive action by the United States on domestic affairs.

4. Interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine solely by this nation.

"On all four reservations the party line-up of the committee was shattered. Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, voted with the Democrats in opposition to those dealing with article 10 and the withdrawal provision, but joined his colleagues in supporting those provisions affecting the Monroe Doctrine and domestic affairs. Senator Shields, Democrat, of Tennessee, joined the Republicans in supporting all of the reservations except that concerning territorial guarantee, on which he withheld his vote. The other six Democrats of the committee voted solidly against all reservations.

After the vote on the resolution of ratification and the reservations the treaty, as amended, was ordered reported without a record vote.

Text of Resolution.

The ratification resolution and reservations follow:

"Resolved (two-thirds of the senators present concurring therein,) that the Senate advise and consent to the ratification of a treaty of peace with Germany signed by the plenipotentiaries of the United States and Germany, and by the plenipotentiaries of the 27 allied and associated powers at Versailles, on June 28, 1919, with the following reservations and understandings to be made a part and a condition of such ratification, which ratification is not to take effect or bind the United States until the said following reservations and undertakings have been accepted as a part of and a condition of said instrument of ratification by at least three of the four principal allied and associated powers, to wit: Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

"One—That the United States reserves to itself the unconditional right to withdraw from the League of Nations upon the notice provided in article 1 of said treaty of peace with Germany.

"Two—That the United States declines to assume, under the provisions of article 10, or under any other article, any obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere in controversies between other nations members of the League or not, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States in such controversies, or to adopt economic measures, for the protection of any other country, whether a member of the League or not, against external aggression or for the purpose of coercing any other country, or for the purpose of intervention in the internal conflicts or other controversies which may arise in any other country and no mandate shall be accepted by the United States under article 21, part 1, of the treaty of peace with Germany, except by action of Congress of the United States.

"Three—The United States reserves to itself exclusively the right to decide what questions are within its domestic jurisdiction and declares that all domestic and political questions relating to its affairs, including immigration, coastwise traffic, the tariff, commerce, and all other domestic questions are solely within the jurisdiction of the United States and are not under this treaty submitted in any way either to arbitration or to the consideration of the council or of the assembly of the League of Nations, or to the decision or recommendation of any other power.

"Four—The United States declines to submit for arbitration or inquiry by the assembly or the council of the League of Nations provided for in said treaty of peace any question which in the judgment of the United States depends upon or relates to its long-established policy, commonly known as the Monroe Doctrine; said Doctrine is to be interpreted by the United States alone and is hereby declared to be wholly outside the jurisdiction of said League of Nations and entirely unaffected by any provision contained in the said treaty of peace with Germany."

McCumber Opposed.

The reservations were offered by Chairman Lodge and were regarded as representing the views of the Republicans advocating drastic reservations. Senator McCumber's opposition was said to have been based on the belief that they were too drastic. It was announced that he would not file a separate minority report, but would offer a substitute ratification resolution in the Senate presenting views of the so-called "mild" reservationists. Senator Lodge said the reservations were the composite work only of Republican senators advocating "strong" reservations.

The Amendments.

The treaty as amended and incorporating about 40 amendments adopted recently by the majority will be reprinted for the Senate deliberations. The amendments, briefly, provide:

For return of Shantung to China, under the amendment of Senator Lodge to substitute "China" for "Japan" in the Shantung section.

For withdrawal of the United States from representation on the numerous international commissions. (This amendment was by Senator Fall of New Mexico and involves about 35 textual changes).

For limitation on the authority of American representatives on the reparations commission to act without direction of their government except on shipping questions.

For equal voting power in the League council and assembly of the United States and Great Britain.

For a prohibition against British colonies voting in League deliberations on questions between Great Britain and the United States.

Senator Fall did not press his amendment proposing elimination of the provision for an international labor body.

LAUREL PARK.

In conformance with the wish of its numerous patrons the management of Laurel Park has decided to keep all amusements at the beautiful resort open until October 1. There will be dancing at the pavilion every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evening during September, Hatch's orchestra playing the accompaniments at all sessions. The regular amusement enterprises will all be doing business as usual. There is a band concert at the park every Sunday afternoon and moving pictures, with orchestral selections, every Sunday evening.

Miss Dorothy M. Crane of Akron, Ohio, arrived this morning at the Recreation Center where she will assist in girls' and ladies' recreational work during the winter season. Miss Crane is a graduate of Dr. Arnold's Normal School of Gymnastics at New Haven.

Who Is Aitken?

To summarize, JAMES A. AITKEN is a lifelong resident of Manchester. He becomes a candidate for the office of selectman at the earnest solicitation of a large number of men who recognize his ability; not through the actions of a few politicians and not against his own wishes. He will be a tool for no one. Mr. Aitken worked in the local silk mills to earn money to further his education at a Hartford business college and since leaving that institution he has made good in the office of the state highway commissioner, with the H. Wales Lines Building Company of Meriden, in charge of a department of the Aetna Insurance company and is now an auditor for the company. Every position he has held better fitted him to be a selectman.

Who Is Johnson?

Why, Aaron Johnson is the man who made good in his own business ventures and is now willing to give practically all of his time to the town for a salary of $100 a year. He has been tried many times as a public official and was never found wanting.

Who Is Rogers?

Willard B. Rogers? He's the fellow who secured cheaper electric light rates for the town. He has done many other things of importance to the whole town. Like the other members of the so-called "Big Four" he is an independent thinker.

Who Is Weldon?

Does anyone ask who and what the name "Doc" Weldon stands for? "Doc" Weldon is a friend of all the people, one of the ablest men ever elected to a town office in Manchester and as considerate of the town's poor as he is of the town's wealthiest.

ALL INDEPENDENT VOTERS

will go to the polls at the town hall Tuesday and pull down the pointer over the names of Four Independent Men, to wit:

GETTING ON.

As though moved by the main-spring of human progress itself the Treaty and the League are steadily nearing that happy day when they shall become an actual part of the fabric of international law.

Already most of the dark schemes which were at first proposed to thwart this noble project have been relegated to that dismal oblivion—the land of things that ought never to have been.

Within the past forty-eight hours this has had striking and undeniable vindication: first in the remarkable attitude of the thousands who heard the President expound the treaty and again in the vote of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate.

It was to be taken for granted that the President would speak to crowded houses. Thousands would come to hear him on any subject simply out of a spirit of idle curiosity and would cheer him in thoughtless, mob enthusiasm. But it could not have been so safely predicted that his route would be lined with hundreds anxious to testify that, even though they could only stand and wait, they also were serving the great cause of the Treaty and the League. It could not have been so certainly foretold that men who had lost their sons on the battlefield would crowd to the car steps to wish God speed to the Treaty.

The throngs which greeted the President were actuated by no political motives for he spoke in a territory which is controlled by the Republican party. He addressed citizens who stand ready to vote against him or his candidate in the next presidential elections. But the Treaty and League are not party matters to the great mass of plain American citizens, no matter what they may be to the sanhedrims of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

So far as the President's exposition of the situation is concerned it need only be said that he was speaking of a thing with which he is exceptionally qualified to deal and that his heart is in the cause. Mr. Wilson is still something of the professor and both at Columbus and Indianapolis he was engaged in the elucidation of a complicated problem to a willing and eager class.

His address has made one important fact plain even to those far beyond the sound of his voice and that is that he is going to push the fight for the Treaty to a finish.

Casting his thought into street parlance he declared, "I should say to the people who are criticizing this Treaty, 'It is time to put up or shut up.'" As if in answer to this challenge the Senate Foreign Relations Committee—that Committee which ex-President Taft has said was deliberately packed for the express purpose of defeating the Treaty—voted with slim majorities to report the Treaty to the Senate with four reservations and about two score amendments.

The amendments express the determination which still lurks in the hearts of the Senate Battalion of Death to slay the Treaty. The reservations are a sop which will be snatched up by these same Senators in case their own designs are frustrated. Against explanatory reservations the friends of the Treaty have no objection. Whatever can be said by the Senate to make the position of this country more clear and thus avoid misunderstandings ought to be said now. That is one of the functions of the Senate under the Constitution. That however, is not the purpose of the Committee.

Rather than have the Senate knife the Treaty in the back by adopting the forty or less amendments, the country would have it come out into the open, line up with Senator Knox of Pennsylvania and reject the pact altogether. Better a public execution than back door assassination. As things look today we shall be spared from both for the Treaty and the League are surely on the road which ends in victory.

There are eight Smiths in Congress.

STATE SAVED $63,264 IN JULY THROUGH W. S. S.

Pomfret Leads Towns of Connecticut in Saving by Means of War Savings Stamps.

Sales of Thrift and War Savings Stamps in Connecticut during the month of July amounted to $63,264.30. The Connecticut War Savings Committee today gave out figures for 148 communities throughout the state both for the month of July and for the 7 months ended August 1. The statement said that the sales were satisfactory, considering that the schools were closed and that industrial unrest had, in some instances interrupted the work among factories.

For July, the 15 leading towns on a per capita basis were Pomfret, Col umbia, Madison, Windham, Old Lyme, Lyme, Winsted, Washington, East Hampton Sharon Thompson, Stafford, Ansonia, Torrington, and Canterbury in the order named. These towns were surpassed, of course, by the larger communities in actual sales.

Up to July 1, Hartford had led the state, but fell to third place that month, the sales being only $6,925.03. New Haven was first in July with total sales of $7,337.33 and Bridgeport was second with sales of $7,000.84. Waterbury's sales for the month was $1,321.98.

The principal cities stood as follows for the seven-months ended August 1: Hartford, $170,055.06, New Haven, $110,296.26, Bridgeport $78,842.39, Waterbury, $38,424.82. Miss Irene O'Brien, acting State Director, stated that the committee felt it was gradually making some headway against the prevailing extravagance by inducing the people to continue the habits of thrift learned during the war. Not only sales of Thrift and War Savings but bank deposits and other investments showed a substantial increase in Connecticut she said. Nevertheless, it was the committee's aim to bring its campaign home to thousands of other people who were still spending recklessly every cent they earned, and by inducing them to buy only what they can afford, both in luxuries and necessities to assist in bringing down the high cost of living. Miss O'Brien said that the committee had received pledges of co-operation from most of the women's organizations in the state and through them would endeavor to make popular a system of home budget making, whereby each family would be urged to set aside a certain portion of its income for savings and divide the rest up for sensible spending.

RATIFY THE TREATY.

Until the treaty has been ratified "the foundations of the world's peace will not have been laid, and the speedy restoration of that peace is our first object. We make no pretence that we regard either instrument as perfect. We have ourselves freely commented upon some of their defects. But until peace has been ratified the storms which are raging in the east of Europe and in some countries of Asia and the heavy ground-swell which disturbs ordinary conditions of national life, not on this side of the Atlantic alone, will not subside.

"We want the treaty because we want peace and believe that it is the only thing that can give us peace within a reasonable time. We do not care in the least what man or what party persuades America that it is her duty to herself and the world, and that it will be to her advantage morally and materially not to delay the peace for which the world craves. We refuse to know anything of Republican or Democrat in the matter. We will welcome peace from either, but we shall not look upon either as anything more than the channel through which the American people proclaim their will."

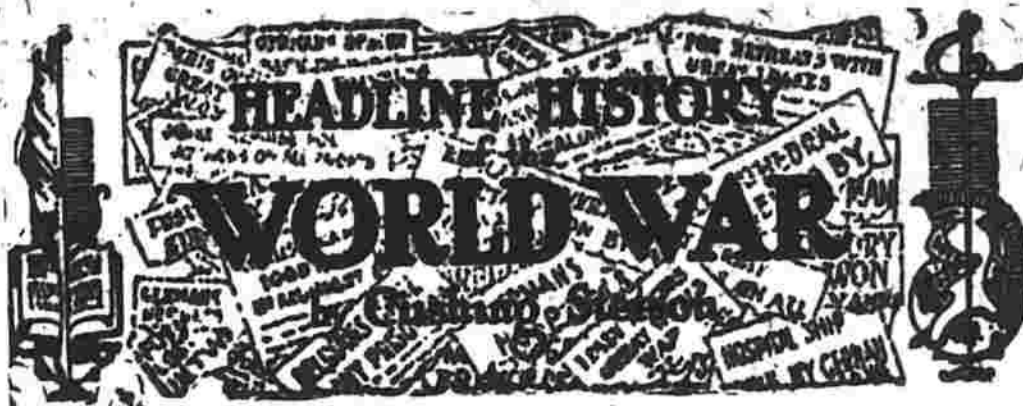

LAWSON PLANE ARRIVES.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 4.—The Lawson airplane which left Buffalo early this morning arrived at Bethka Field here at 10.25. On board were ten passengers, one a woman. In landing on the soft, rough field the plane was damaged about its nose. No one was injured. The accident probably will delay the plane here for two days for repairs.

YANKS TO GO TO SILESIA.

London, Sept. 5.—The Berlin press states that allied troops will occupy Upper Silesia, where fighting has been in progress between Germans and the Poles, said a news agency dispatch from Berlin today.

Before leaving Paris Herbert Hoover emphasized the importance of restoring order in upper Silesia in order to increase the coal production from the rich mines in that district.

REV. F. B. BARTLETT COMING.

Is Chairman of Episcopal Nation Wide Campaign—Comes to Visit Mother Here.

Rev. F. B. Bartlett, formerly of this town but now living in Aberdeen South Dakota, is coming to town to spend a few days with his mother, Mrs. B. J. Bartlett, of Pine street.

Mr. Bartlett is coming east on a speaking tour as chairman of the Nation-Wide Campaign of the Protestant Episcopal church. He will attend a conference in New York city which opens Sept. 10 and from there will continue his speaking tour back west.

He is an orator of ability and it is expected that he will have an opportunity to speak here on the work of the Nation-Wide Campaign. As chairman of the campaign committee he is, of course, an authority on the subject.

WHAT BOYS LIKE BEST ABOUT THEIR MOTHERS

The boy gnawed at the end of his pencil. He hooked his feet round the legs of his chair and stared at the paper in front of him. "What one thing do you like best about your Mother?" he read. His face took on a puzzled frown.

"Johnny", came a feminine voice from the next room, "Johnny, if you hurry here you can lick the molasses spoon."

Johnny unhooked his feet. Molasses was better than the end of a pencil. He was off his chair in a flash. He went into the kitchen.

"Gee, that's good", he exclaimed as he put down the spoon. He went back to paper, pencil and thought.

"What one thing do I like best about my Mother?" he asked himself for the hundredth time. And after a moment he wrote:

"I like the way she lets me lick the molasses spoon."

Johnny surveyed the answer for a moment; then he ran his pencil through it. And he wrote:

"I like her because she looks after me when I am sick and well." Again he considered the answer and weighed it in his mind and again he crossed it out. Then he wrote: "I like best her love of home."

Johnny read and re-read his answer. He hooked and unhooked his feet. But the contortions of his body were as nothing to the contortions of his mind. At last an inspiration struck him. He sat bolt upright. He rescued his pencil just as it was disappearing down his gullet and wrote:

"There is no one best thing about my Mother."

Johnny smiled a smile of deep satisfaction. He was one of a group of boys with whom the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, a laymen's organization of the Episcopal Church, was conducting an intensive campaign and the question he had answered had been propounded by the man in Philadelphia. Mr. Reese's campaign is over now but through the Nation-Wide Campaign of the Episcopal Church it is proposed to conduct similar work among boys in other cities, for the Nation-Wide Campaign comes to continue and increase the work of the Episcopal Church.

Of the forty-six answers Mr. Reese received from boys most of them said that they liked best about their Mother was her sympathy. "She shows me when I am wrong and puts me on the right track", one boy wrote. Another said: "I like her best because she is ambitious and has taught me that anyone who is lazy will never get along very well in the world." A third replied: "I like best her sincere whole-hearted interest in the things I am interested in and a desire to help me in my problems."

One boy liked "Her purity", another "Her love" still another "Her kindness". With a frank recognition of his own weakness one lad answered that he liked her because she made him obey. "There are no secrets between us" wrote another, while yet another said: "I like best her simple punishments that make a feller change his mind."

TO REOPEN PLAYHOUSES DESPITE ACTORS' STRIKE

Green Stage Hands Being Drilled to Take the Place of Those Who Quit.

New York, Sept. 5.—Because the Actors' Equity Association rejected a new contract giving the managers "reasonable guarantees against the closed shop and future strikes, the drama war surged up and down the Rialto with more vigor than ever today.

The producing Managers' Association offered the actors a contract, which, the managers, said, was better than anything the strikers had ever asked for. It provided however, that an association of neither the managers nor the players could cause members of a cast to break their individual contracts. For this reason it was rejected.

The Actors' Equity Association accepted its rejection with the announcement that it would not object to its members being seen on the stage with non union, but declared the right of collective bargaining must be recognized.

The managers reiterated their determination to reopen the 25 closed theaters here regardless of the Equity Action. Green stage hands are being drilled to take the places of those who are out in sympathy with the actors.

HUNGARIAN ELECTIONS.

To Be Held on Sept. 29—To Form New Ministry.

London, Sept. 5.—A general election will be held in Hungary, Sept. 23 said an exchange Telegraph dispatch from Vienna today quoting a statement made by a member of the Hungarian cabinet at Budapest. A new ministry will be formed by the majority in the Hungarian National Assembly. A special plebescite will be held to determine the future form of the Hungarian government, it was said.

The dispatch stated that the Roumanian military authorities are continuing to requisition goods in Hungary, hampering the efforts of officials to restore normal conditions.

SKELTON OF MAMMOTH WHALE ON EXHIBITION.

Waycross, Ga., Sept. 5.—The skeleton of a mammoth whale washed ashore several months ago near Pablo Beach is now on exhibition here. The whale when captured weighed 31,000 pounds, and was forty-nine feet long. The jawbones are twelve feet long and the capacity of the mouth was about twenty bushels. It is estimated the whale was two hundred and thirty years old. The skeleton weighs over two tons. An Indiana truck of special construction brought the skeleton to Waycross.

Good For Manchester In 1840 But Far Too Small At Present

Town Hall Which Served Population of 6,000 is Not Large Enough for Present Number of Citizens—Ancient Building First Place of "Publick Worship"—Would Make Splendid Library.

In 1879—just forty years ago—the Ecclesiastical Society, which, when formed, included the Orford Parish, sold to the Town of Manchester the old meeting house which had been built in 1840, more than three-quarters of a century ago. When this society sold their meeting house there existed in the village 6,462 people who were to form the nucleus of the thriving Town of Manchester. Now the old meeting house stands at the Center doing feeble duty as a Town Hall to a community that has tripled in size.

Sufficient Unto the Needs of '79. Although it is certain that the men of '79 had no greater interest in the government of the nation, state and town than do their sons of 1913, it is to be doubted that the ancient Town Hall was ever so taxed to its capacity by that old generation as it is now. Even the anticipation of a heated and perhaps violent discussion of a building line could not call out more than two hundred eligible and active voters. For the needs of 1879 the meeting house Town Hall was sufficient. But the old grey bearded building, hoary with the storms and usage of almost a century cannot meet the demands of 1913 and twenty thousand people. That fact has been demonstrated frequently in recent years.

Every election shows the inadequacy of the Town Hall for a transaction in which many Manchester people are to take part. Every town meeting crowds the auditorium to the doors. Even a district fire meeting of ordinary interest attracts more men than can get into the hall and be comfortable. In 1879 a building forty-five feet by sixty was sufficient and more than sufficient for the most part for all the needs of the little town. But since 1879 Manchester has grown beyond all bounds and dreams of that day. Since the first meeting was held in the basement of the present building the population has doubled and doubled again.

Town Meeting Held in Churches. "Since the beginning of the history of municipal affairs in Manchester, town meetings have been held in the meeting houses of the Ecclesiastical Society, or, better known in this day as the Center Congregational Church, and early town history is linked with that of the church. This society was established in 1772 by an act of the General Court and the first action of the society was a vote to build a "meeting house for publick worship," and to raise for this object three pence on the pound on the list in money and nine pence on the pound in grain or labor to be paid in 1773.

There was considerable difficulty in determining the location for this house of "publick" worship. The county court decided on one place and the society having another in mind refused to accept. In the May session of the 1773 General Assembly, Messrs. Timothy Deane, Richard Pitkin and Wm. Woodbridge, agents for the Orford Society, presented this quaintly worded memorial.

"In a Disgusting Place." "Their Honors, in tender regard for the happiness and welfare of the memorialists, were pleased to establish them as an Ecclesiastical Society, and that they soon agreed in due form to build a meeting house, and apply to the county court for a committee to affix a place for that purpose; that said committee came out and affixed a place without motive to the east part of the society, and that they fixed on the side hill in a very inconvenient and very disgusting place; praying that the stake may be stuck further east, at or near the point where the four roads come together."

Revolutionary War Impending. And this request, so naively put, won over the General Assembly, so that the new meeting house for publick worship was placed near the site of the present church. But the obstacles in the way of building were even more formidable. The War of the Revolution was about to break out and the early settlers of Manchester began to feel uneasy. "Rev. S. W. Robbins, at one time pastor of the Center Church describes these days in the Memorial History of Hartford.

Eighteen in Congregation. In 1777 the first grant had not all been paid, and the frame, which had just been raised, remained for a considerable time without being enclosed. In 1779 it was voted to raise one shilling on the pound to be laid out in covering the meeting house. This house with only its board covering and its rough slab or plank seats, with no provisions for heating, was the Sabbath home of the church, which was organized on the 29th of July, with eighteen members—sixteen men and two women.

Further progress toward completing the house was delayed for several years. This was the darkest period of the war. About this time New Haven and East Haven were plundered by the British, and Fairfield, Norwalk, and Green's Farms were wantonly burned. Nothing was decisive in military affairs, and everything pertaining to the final result of the great struggle seemed to hang in doubt.

Finished After Twenty-one Years. It was a time of great financial embarrassment. Continental money had depreciated in value till one dollar in silver was worth sixteen cents in currency, and six months later one dollar in silver was worth forty in currency. About this time the sum of one thousand three hundred pounds was raised by the society as the yearly outlay on the highways, and the allowance to each man for labor thereon was twenty dollars.

After long delay, however, the matter of finishing the meeting house was again taken up; eighty-nine persons subscribed for the purpose sums varying from one pound to thirteen pounds and on May 20th, 1794, twenty-one years after the Assembly's committee had set the stake, it was "Voted, That the Society is satisfied with the repairing and finishing of the meeting house in the Parish of Orford as per instructions given to the Committee to finish said house, provided the pew doors are well hung and the red paint covered the front side of said house."

A Model of Discomfort. This was the house which the Rev. Mr. Northrup referred to thirty-six years ago as having been "finished after the approved models of ancient inconvenience and discomfort." It had its high pulpit, broad sounding board, lofty galleries, and square, high-backed pews, the true conception of which was suggested to a five year old lad when taken for the first time to Sunday School. Becoming restless during the exercises, he went into the aisle, saying to his attendant, who thought that he had started for home, "I'm only going into the next pen."

This house was occupied until 1826. A new one was then erected on nearly the same ground, of better architecture, but like the former in its internal order as to pulpit, galleries, and pews. In 1840 the latter house was reconstructed within, and raised so as to admit of a basement corresponding in size with the audience room above. It has an open portico, with stone steps along the entire front. In consideration of five hundred dollars paid by the town, the basement was used thereafter for the transaction of public business. Prior to 1826 the Town Meetings were held in the old church. From 1826 to 1840 they were held for some years in the Methodist Meeting House, and occasionally at the house of George Rich.

In 1879 the society sold the meeting house to the town; it was removed about eight rods west, and put in good order for public use. The same year another house of worship was built.

A Fine Memorial of Other Days. Such is the history of municipal meeting places of Manchester and such is the way in which the present Town Hall was acquired. Built in 1840 to be a place of "publick" worship of the Ecclesiastical Society and sold in 1879 to the town as a place for political meetings. The fine old building is one of the landmarks of the town. Rich in the varied history of the past it stands, shaded by great old trees and surrounded by a rich lawn. The hall that has heard doctrines of theology, theories of worship, condemnation of heretics, as well as the passing controversies of politics—sometimes weighty but more often laughable, is now for the most part silent. DOCKET OF VIOLATION CASES. Macon, Ga., Sept. 5.—King Barleycorn has virtually been dethroned in Bibb County so far as the State courts are concerned. The criminal calendar for the September term of the City Court is remarkable for the small number of violating-the-prohibition-law cases. Usually between 75 and 100 cases are set. This term there are only twenty-four and most of them are old.

GAME WARDENS REPORT

BIG INCREASE IN DEER.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 5.—A big increase in the number of deer in Routt, Mineral, Eagle, Grand and other big game counties in this State, is reported by game wardens. Last year 10,000 deer-hunting licenses were issued but only 600 bucks were killed. This year when the season opens on October 1 and remains open four days, the hunters expect to do very much better.

GLARING HEADLIGHTS

DON'T GO IN ST. LOUIS.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—City Judge Mix has started a little campaign all his own to put an end to glaring headlights on automobiles. He has just fired the opening gun in court when he fined J. M. Mulkey, $100 on such a charge. "I have seen numbers of glaring violations of this law," said the Court, "and have asked Chief of Police O'Brien to order the arrest of all autoists not observing the law."

It's Harder To Get Out Of Germany Than During War

Berlin, Sept. 5.—The camel trying to squeeze through the eye of a needle had an easy assignment compared to the German who would get by the passport officials and Allied authorities to spend a holiday abroad. The camel and needle trick might be possible, provided the camel were small enough and the needle big enough. But the German traveler who would cross the frontier throws his hands up in despair and mutters: "It can't be done."

Texas Will Try Whites For Lynching Negro

Dallas, ex., Sept. 5.—Within the next few weeks, probably during the first of October, two murder cases which are destined to attract nationwide attention will be tried here. These are the cases of A. B. Boyd and Tracey Flannigan, indicted by the Upper County Grand Jury in connection with the lynching of Chilton Jennings, at Gilmer, on July 24, and transferred here on the motion of District Judge Warren of that district to insure a fair and impartial trial. These are the first cases in the South where white men have been charged with murder in connection with a lynching where a negro was accused of criminally assaulting a white woman, and during the trial, because of the precedent set, the judicial eyes of the nation will be focused on Dallas.

good conduct and the tax collector's permission to go abroad, he may apply to the registrar of dwellings for a statement officially certifying that the address given the police and tax collector is correct. Thus equipped he proceeds to the passport office at police headquarters. If the would-be traveler has no urgent reason for going abroad his application is rejected on the spot. Ill health is not considered a good reason. It must be urgent business. If the passport official can be coaxed into taking the application under advisement at all, the applicant, who by this time, is older in years and experience than when he started, is told to get a batch of references and recommendations from business men and well-known citizens to support his declaration that the journey is for urgent business purposes. If these references and recommendations can be supplied he has a chance of getting the passport. But by the time he gets it the purpose of the journey usually has been relegated to ancient history. Some neutral probably has stepped in and corralled the business he was after. Furthermore, after he ultimately has obtained his German passport he must proceed to the legation of the country he intends to visit, and apply for permission to enter, an undertaking that requires additional examinations, telegraphing and other inconveniences. Some German newspapers have lately protested against the passport obstacles thrown into the path of German business men by their own government, but all appeals have been in vain.

CATTLEMEN FOR PACKERS.

Washington, Sept. 4.—Lee Russell, one of the largest cattle producers in Texas, appearing before the Senate Agricultural Committee today to oppose bills to regulate and license the packing industry, said that curtailed production, with higher prices that accompany such a condition was "threatened by radicalism and unfair agitation in the Senate against the largest and most important industry in the United States."

Circle Theater

Francis Cured's "The Savage Woman" adapted for the screen by Kathryn Stuart will be shown at the Circle Theatre again tonight. It is presented on this screen by Clara Kimball Young and her own company. Renee (Clara Kimball Young), daughter of a derelict trader, now dead, is mistaken by a native prince for the reincarnated spirit of the queen who once dwelt within the ruined palace where he first catches sight of the girl. Frightened, she prevents her capture by flashing a mirror in his eyes and making her escape. She flees through the forest and is mistaken again by another man, this time for an animal, and he fires at her, wounding her slightly as she turns again to flee. Lerie bathes the wound and commands the girl, whom he sees is afraid of him, to lead him out of the forest. When Lerie returns to Paris, Renee goes with him, and is happy until she understands that a marriage ceremony is desirable and that Lerie is wearying of her and returning to his former love, Aimee Ducharme. Aimee has given him a precious stone for his collection; this Renee destroys in a fury and then returns to Abyssinia to find another to take its place. Lerie also goes back to the spot where he found Renee, but this time is captured by the fanatic prince who prepares to offer him as a sacrifice to the spirit of the queen. Renee appears just in time to save him, which she does without knowing what is happening, by kneeling to her lord. The natives, who mistake her again for the spirit of the queen, flee in terror. Here is a real sensation. Come tonight and see it. Hundreds praised it last evening and standing room will be at a premium tonight, we wager.

Park Theater

Unique and replete with touches of originality is the description given of "A Man and His Money," the new Goldwyn Picture, in which Tom Moore will be seen at the Park Theatre tonight. It is a comedy-drama of society life, with a background of polo matches, country clubs, fashionable drawing-rooms and mountain lodges. By no means a light play in spite of its delicate character drawing and satire. "A Man and His Money" tells the story of a young man who is made aware of the futility of his life when his fiancée breaks their engagement. Promptly he gives up his luxurious bachelor quarters, assigns his income to an attorney, and resolves to make his own living. Naturally his larger adventures begin at this point. Forced by necessity, he becomes caretaker of a wealthy woman's four dogs, thereby earning the added contempt of the girl he still loves when she sees him at his lowly tasks. Unknown to both, the girl is on the brink of a great danger through the attentions of another man. The plot involving her is unconsciously furthered by Harry Lathrop (Tom Moore), who, when he realizes what is about to befall her, makes a powerful effort to avert a catastrophe. How he succeeds—and at what cost—is splendidly told in the succeeding scenes. Other shorter subjects will be shown on the same bill. Remember folks, Charlie Chaplin in "Sunnyside" will be shown in the Park next Tuesday and Wednesday.

SALESMANSHIP FOR NEWSBOYS. By J. H. Millar, Director Boys' and Girls' Newspaper Service. According to the American Magazine, Mose Jacobs of Des Moines is the richest newsboy in America. His success is due to his tactful ways of accommodating people. For example, whenever any man of prominence comes to his city, Mose is at the train to hand him the latest copy of his home paper as soon as he gets off. This one original trick has earned wide-spread fame. More boys earn money outside of school by selling papers than by any

WHY DO THE GEARS CLASH WHEN MA DRIVES THE CAR? By Grant M. Hyde Associate Professor of Journalism The University of Wisconsin. other way. It would pay them well to learn how to be real salesmen like Mose, and not just ordinary "news-les."

It pays—in business, not in tips—to be accommodating. At Monroe and Wells streets, Chicago, a courteous, business-like boy has a stand by a mail-box. He opens the flap of that mail-box for everybody that has a letter to mail there. His business is good.

A boy with a smile has a dollar sign right on his face. Last winter at Columbus Circle in New York, there was a newsstand with a heavy curtain to keep out the cold. All the customer ever saw was a hand thrust forth from the darkness to get his pennies. Men have walked a block to avoid buying a paper there. It would pay the dealer well to clad himself in a warm overcoat and a warmer smile, and look the public squarely in the eye. After all, smiles are not very common on the street; this is why the newsboy that has one is so quickly noticed.

It pays a newsboy, just as it pays any other salesman, to be clean and neat. Many a man has walked across the street to buy a paper from a clean, manly, quite boy, although right by him there was some dirty urchin shouting at the top of his voice the headlines of his finger-marked sheets. These hints are simply little things, but they are salesmanship. They mean money. (This series comes every Friday. Read it and make money on Saturday. Next week: "Profits from a Cellar Factory.") FATHER AND SON HOLD SAME OFFICE 48 YEARS.

Macon, Ga., Sept. 5.—With the election of Robert C. Berckmans, of Macon, as president of the Georgia State Horticultural Society at Cornelia last week closed the forty-third year that father and son had held the position with but a single break. It was the incumbent's sixth consecutive election. He was chosen nine years ago as the successor of his father, the late P. C. Berckmans, who was president of the society for thirty-four years. The long service rendered by the Berckmans is perhaps without a parallel.

TAD'S TID-BITS

THE GREATEST FIGHTER HE EVER SAW.

We are about to run a series on this page about fighters. Of course we all have our greatest fighter. There are arguments every day about the star pugilist. Here on this page we will give you the views of different fighters, managers and promoters.

Sam Langford, himself one of the greatest fighters that ever pulled on a glove, was the first we interviewed as to his greatest fighter.

Sam picks Jack Johnson. He came with a natural. He didn't hesitate at all. We met him at Jack Dempsey's camp in Toledo the day before the big bout, and Sam was very strong for Johnson. He said that no man could lick Willard because Willard had licked the greatest man that ever lived.

"Didn't you say that Jeffries would lick Johnson?" we asked for a kid.

"Yes, yes, I did say that, but I was sore at Johnson then," said Sam. "You know he gave me quite a licking a long time ago in Boston, and when he got to be champion he never would talk about me again. I was sore at him, but all the time, way down in my heart I knew that he was a great man. The day I saw him beat Jeffries made me sorer. Jeffries was in good shape that day. He never could have taken the licking he did if he wasn't in great form. You know he was just as fast as ever, but he was like a baby when he boxed Johnson. I tell you that Johnson was so big, so strong, so clever. He had everything. He was never hurt, never had a black eye on a cut, and never broke a hand, and he beat the best in the world. I call that considerable going."

"He was never even tired in a fight. He just fought his own way, went about it in a business-like way and made the other fellow look foolish. Hit? Yes, sir! I never hit the floor harder in my life than I did the night he hit me. I thought I'd go right through the floor that night."

"Nobody ever knocked Johnson down. I know he kidded with Ketchikan and slipped with Sandy Ferguson, but he was never there on the floor while the referee counted."

"Great man, that Johnson. I think that Gans was another great man, but Johnson, to me, was the best man that ever boxed in a ring."

JESS WILLARD SAYS—

All the world loves a winner—with the exception of the loser.

AN ENGLISH REFEREE CHIRPS—

Mr. Eugene Corri, the famous referee of the National Sporting Club, in London, gave his views on decisions to a newspaper a week or so ago, and this is what he said: "One man has been winning handsomely all along the line to the twentieth round, in a specified twenty-round contest. In the last round, let it be argued that the man who has figured so splendidly is suddenly knocked down by a chance blow and counted out. The rules of the National Sporting Club would, in such a case as that, justify a referee in giving the fight to the man who had so conspicuously proved his superiority on points."

Well, just suppose that Bat Nelson had done all of his fighting in London. You know Bat was a notorious trailer in most of his fights. He fought Eddie Hanlon in Frisco and for sixteen rounds Eddie slaughtered him. In the nineteenth, however, Bat connected with Eddie's chin and the birds began to sing. Well, that was a twenty-round thing. According to Mr. Corri, when half the fight was over and he had run second all the way, Nelson might just as well have thrown up his hands and quit, saying: "I can't win. Why go further?"

Jim Jeffries might have done the same thing in his twenty-five round go with Jim Corbett. At the end of the thirteenth round, when he was cut and bleeding, and looked like a sparring partner, he should have quit, because his opponent had all the better of the go. As it turned out, however, he flattened Corbett in the twenty-third round.

That stuff might go in bally old London, but we'll let ours go here.

NINE-YEAR-OLD HAD GREAT TIME ON VISITOR'S $15.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Anna Johnson, of Silkeston, Mo., who is visiting here, reported to the police that her purse, containing $15 had disappeared. Detectives were sent to investigate.

The nine-year-old son of Mrs. Rose Dill, with whom Mrs. Johnson is staying, looked prosperous and came under suspicion. He confessed that he and a companion had found the purse.

He had bought a wrist watch, toys, two bathing suits, ice cream cones and buried the rest in Lyon Park. No arrest was made.

BOLTON

William R. French and Charles R. Warner have been drawn for jurors from Bolton.

Miss Elizabeth Daly has returned from a week stay in New London, and gone to Tolland to open her school.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Dewey and children of New Britain, Walter O. Dewey of Goshen and Carl P. Dewey of Burnside were visiting Bolton friends the first of the week. Messrs. Dewey were Bolton boys and were welcome visitors in town.

Walter Dewey has recently purchased an automobile and is soon to get his license.

Keeney Hutchinson of this place and Miss Lillian Deer of West Hoken, N. J., were married in that place last Saturday afternoon.

Maxwell Hutchinson brother of the groom attended the wedding, also Mrs. Thomas D. Daly an aunt of the bride, and her cousins Mrs. Emily Calhoun, Joseph Mack, Thomas Daly and Miss Catherine Daly.

Miss Anna Shlosky has returned from Southington where she visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Shlosky.

Frank Hart has returned to New Haven after a week spent at R. Kneeland Jones'.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Finley and three children are to return to New York today, after spending the season at their summer home in South Bolton.

Miss Annie M. Alford has returned from a visit in New York with Mrs. Hattie Johnson Strong.

Burdette Hollister of New London was recent guest of his aunt Mrs. W. Jane Finley.

LIGHTNING DESTROYS OIL TANKS.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 5.—Irregular price movements marked the opening of the stock market today with the steel stocks showing weakness and other issues making fair advances. After the start of selling declines developed practically the entire list.

Crucible Steel sold off 10 points to 170 and Baldwin Locomotive after opening 1-2 higher at 123 1-2, dropped to 122. Steel Common shaded off 1-2 to 106 and Bethlehem Steel B was off 1 3-8 to 92. Mexican Petroleum after opening up 2 1-2 to 148 dropped to 196.

CURIOSITY, PLEASANT STRANGER; NET LOSS $35.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 5.—When Clyde Smith, of Rose City, Mich., stopped here to see the sights, on his way to Oklahoma, he met an affable stranger at Union Station. "Let's go over to the Merchants' Exchange and see what's doing," the stranger suggested. Smith agreed.

"Lend me $55. I've got a tip on the market that will clean up a fortune for us," the stranger said.

Smith produced the money and at the stranger's direction went to Union Station to wait for him. He waited several hours, then decided to report the affair to the police.

ADMIRAL TO RESIGN.

Paris, Sept. 5.—The Duke of Abruzzi, who is well known in the United States has notified King Victor Emmanuel that he will resign as an admiral in the Italian army when the Austrian peace treaty is signed and will leave on an exploring expedition in the Benadir Coast in Africa.

NOTED SPEAKERS HERE WILL TEACH METHODS OF AMERICANIZATION

Mrs. Hillsburg Has Secured Men and Women Who Have Succeeded.

TRAINING INSTITUTE BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

Classes in High School Will Continue One Week—All Interested in Americanization Work Are Welcome

Americanization work in Manchester will begin its active campaign of the year Monday with the Institute of training for evening school teachers and Americanization workers. Mrs. Florence Hillsburg, who is in charge of the work in town, has been fortunate in procuring for the Institute the leading exponents and experts of teaching non-English speaking people in this country. Meetings are to be held in the High School.

Although it was at first planned to have the Institute to continue for two weeks, it was found necessary to have only one week because of the many demands that have been made on the speakers. However, very little has been eliminated from the program and the instruction will be made intensive, if not extensive.

One of the best known men who will speak at the Institute is W. C. Smith, Director of Emigrant Education, State Board of Education, Albany, N. Y. He will deliver the first lecture Monday evening at 8.15 in the Assembly Hall on "Methods of Teaching Foreigners." This lecture was given at the Washington Conference where it won very favorable comment and proved his thorough knowledge of his subject. Mr. Smith has a foundation for his theories in practical experience of many years with the foreign elements of New York City. He is able to indicate the value of Americanization work from a national point of view. Those who wish to know the character of the work that has been done and contemplated will find an inspiration in this lecture.

Connecticut Side of Work.

Wednesday evening, R. C. Deming, who is the state director of Americanization work and is a member of the State Board of Education, will deliver the second lecture concerning the general plan of the work in Connecticut. Just as Mr. Smith will show the need and value of the campaign in the nation, Mr. Deming will point out the special application of the principles to this state. He has been especially engaged lately in opening new districts in the state and consequently is well informed regarding the development of the work in Connecticut.

Perhaps the most interesting, as well as instructive part of the program will be the model class teaching by Samuel J. Brown, instructor of Evening School Teachers. The class will be composed of pupils gathered by Mrs. Hillsburg from many of the non-English peoples of the town. The teaching of this class will begin at seven o'clock Monday and will be continued on the four nights following. The demonstration will be held in one of the classrooms of the High School, second floor. Mr. Brown has gained a national reputation for the success of his methods and because of his experience he will be able to show Manchester workers the latest practicable methods for teaching foreigners.

Round Table Talk.

Because of the necessity of getting everything into the program, Mr. Brown will be unable to discuss the model class teaching immediately after each demonstration. Instead he will meet all those who are interested on the following afternoon for round table discussion. At these meetings the details of the teaching will be taken up, and explained. In this way workers may receive the benefit of Mr. Brown's theories.

Mrs. Hillsburg has again been fortunate in procuring for the Institute the services of Miss Harriet Dow of the Yorkville Neighborhood Association. Miss Dow is in charge of the famous Neighborhood House which is perhaps, in importance of achievement one of the most valuable of settlement centers in New York City. Miss Dow will speak at the Institute Friday evening at 8.15.

There are no fixed requirements for admission to this Institute. Any person who is interested in the work is welcome and no admission will be charged. Mrs. Hillsburg urges that all who wish to know the procedure of Americanization work in this state and town be present at the sessions of the Institute. The question is one that concerns everyone vitally and as she says, "To be good Americans to say nothing of progressive citizens, no one should be without a knowledge of what is being done and what should be done in making better Americans."

WILL JOHNSON STAGES GREATEST COMEBACK

San Francisco Flash Regains National Lawn Tennis Singles Championship—Played Wonderful Game.

New York, Sept. 5.—William M. Johnston, the San Francisco flash, has today regained the national lawn tennis singles championship as a result of one of the greatest comebacks ever staged in any branch of sport.

Weighing only 130 pounds and frail in appearance, this product of the California courts has exhibited the fastest tennis ever seen in this or any other country, and his victory in the final round of the 3th annual tournament at Forest Hills gives him rank as the world's best tennis player.

In fighting his way to the championship Johnston waded through the toughest part of the draw and did it with a snap and vigor that left no doubt as to his class. His claim on world supremacy in tennis is based on the fact that he defeated Gerald Patterson, the Australian star, who won the British title at Wimbledon from a field that embraced the best talent other foreign countries could produce.

How He Won.

A perusal of the records of the present tourney shows how Johnston mowed down all opposition in his pathway. How he swept Gerald Patterson, British champion, R. L. Murray, American champion, Wallace F. Johnson and William T. Tilden, II, from his pathway makes brilliant tennis history. His comeback is all the more imposing because he regained the title after a lapse of three years, a feat which many a champion in other branches of sport has tried and failed to accomplish.

But Johnston has the weapons. He is, first of all, the greatest tournament player in the game—the greatest "money" player as they say in baseball. And he had everything else. A terrific service, a wonderful ground stroke, uncanny forehand and backhand control of his racket force to his volleying and accuracy to his placements.

Beat All Comers.

In addition he outmaneuvered and outgeneraled all comers. Johnston's victory over Tilden was popular. He is one of the best liked players in the game and the surprise he gave the tennis world, which had expected to see him fall before Tilden's terrific service, was complete.

The tennis stars were still fixed in the firmament at Forest Hills today, with the Australian-American matches scheduled as the attraction. Today's schedule, starting at 1 p. m., calls for the following matches:

- Randolph Lycett, Australia, vs. Wallace Johnson, America.
- R. V. Thomas, Australia, vs. R. N. Williams, America.
- Norman E. Brooks, and Gerald Patterson, Australia, vs. William M. Johnston and William T. Tilden, II, America.

GRAVEYARD DEPRECIATIONS.

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 5.—Indignant that the graves of veterans of the Revolutionary War should be desecrated by vandals in Frye Cemetery, Methuen, members of Samuel Adams Chapter, D. A. R., have applied to Mayor Samuel Rushton, of Methuen, to stop the practice.

The graveyard has been visited of late by persons who have chipped off letters from the tombstones maliciously, and inscriptions of a scurrilous nature have been placed on some of the stones. The cemetery has been in existence since 1738 and for fifty-nine years was the only cemetery in and about Lawrence.

ARRIVES IN TIME FOR GOLF VIA AIRPLANE.

Cohasset, Mass., Sept. 5.—Charting a hydroplane, H. E. Ames, a Chicago millionaire summering here, was able to fly from Pemberton to Manchester-by-the-Sea, and avoid being late for a golf match. Jumping from the flying boat at the Manchester-by-the-Sea Yacht Club, landing twenty minutes after leaving Pemberton, Mr. Ames ran to a waiting automobile and sped away to Beverly Farms, arriving at the links a minute ahead of time.

HALF MILLION FOR SCHOOLS.

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 5.—Chatham County will vote October 7 on an issue of $500,000 worth of bonds with which to build public schools.

SILK SOX ARE COMING IN ALL THEIR GLORY

Contest With Industrial All Stars Expected to Produce Some First Class Baseball at West Side Playground.

What promises to be the most exciting game of the Industrial League season will be played on the west side playground between the Silk Sox of New York, a team from Cheney Brothers' New York office and the Industrial All Stars, on Saturday afternoon, September 6th.

The Silk Sox have been defeated but once this season and the "All Stars" will have to go some to get their scalps. They are bringing a number of rooters with them and all the noise making devices that can be found in New York, including some of the big gongs from captured German submarines.

A glance at the following will show the caliber of the Silk Sox:

Gannon, McCready and Gsell with a batting average of .400, followed closely by Munson, Hoffman, Mahoney and Jones. Bredder with catch and Davis or Smith pitch. The other members of the team are Mack, Griffiths, Connors and McAfee.

Captain "Sammy" Kotch will use the following line-up:

Lamprecht, Crockett, "Jerry" Fay, "King" Phillips, Phil Smith, H. Metcalf Jr., Dowd, Wright and White. Warnock or "Old Man Bill" Cotter will pitch.

It is rumored that old "Jupe Pluvius" will suspend operations for the day. In addition to the ball game a tug of war between the various departments will be held; also a one mile relay race. The "Silk Sox" have also entered teams for these events.

MANCHESTER MEN WHO MAY EXPECT JURY DUTY

Commissioners of Hartford County Announce List—Terms for One Year From Sept. 1.

Judge L. P. Waldo Marvin and Joseph W. Alsop, jury commissioners of this county, with George A. Conant, clerk of the superior court, have selected electors from the twenty-nine towns of Hartford county, who are qualified for jury service in the courts for one year from September.

The list has been made public at Mr. Conant's office.

The officials of the towns whose duty it is, as designed by statute, return to the jury commissioners the names of twice as many electors as the town is, by statute, entitled to, of electors for jury service. The commissioners select for jury service the names of one-half of the number of the electors whose names are returned.

Those selected for jury service from Manchester are: Joseph Alblston, William E. Alvord, William M. Arnett, Lorenzo Bentley, Samuel Burgess, W. H. Card, John M. Carney, George Davidson, Ellery M. Dutton, Alvin W. Green, Arthur D. Hale, E. L. G. Hohensthal, David Husband, Fayette B. Clark, Arthur Cook, Alexander Rogers, J. J. Strickland, John M. Williams, J. D. Henderson, Sr., James Rogers, A.
