"NO COMPROMISE, NO ARBITRATION," SAYS GOVERNOR TO 'HUB' STRIKERS

Only Miracle Can Stop the Steel Strike, Is Information Reaching the President

"LEAGUE IS THOROUGHLY BAD," LANSING TOLD W. M. BULLITT

LET POLITICS ALONE.
PERSHING TELLS BOYS.
New York, Sept. 12.—General Pershing's last word to 8,000 of the men who had helped him mop up the German army was an appeal to "let politics alone." His remarks were made during an address at Madison Square Garden, where he was the guest of the American legion.

"I should deplore the thought that the American legion might become a tool in the hands of political aspirants," he said. "I am glad to give encouragement to the American legion as long as it stands for sturdy Americanism, as long as it keeps its skirts free of petty politics."

Sensational Statement Made by Former Attaché to American Peace Conference Before Senate Committee in Washington.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The League of Nations covenant was declared by Secretary Lansing to be "thoroughly bad" and "entirely useless" William M. Bullitt, of Philadelphia, former attaché to the American peace conference, testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee this afternoon.

Bullitt asserted that Lansing made this declaration in the course of conversation, "I had with the Secretary of State at 2.30 o'clock on the afternoon of May 19 last."

"Will Be Defeated."
"If the Senate and the American people understand all that the treaty lets them in for, it will unquestionably be defeated," Bullitt quoted Lansing as having said to him.

"Mr. Knox, (Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania), will probably understand the treaty better than any one else in America and so will Mr. Lodge, (Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts) but Mr. Lodge's position will probably become purely political, while Mr. Knox is more likely to instruct the American people in the real meaning of it," Bullitt also said Lansing told him.

Wilson Wrote Article 10.
The only proposal of the President which remains in the covenant of the League of Nations as it was adopted, is article 10, Bullitt said.

Was Sent to Russia.
Bullitt said he was sent to Russia by order of Secretary Lansing to investigate political and economic conditions. He read a memorandum which he had sent to Colonel House recommending the withdrawal of the American troops, declaring that they no longer served any useful purpose and that they were in danger of disaster.

"They only increase the cynicism regarding all our movements and serve to act as a stimulus for recruiting the Red forces," Bullitt's memorandum said. The memorandum urged immediate withdrawal of troops "which appear to have been abandoned by their government."

President Wilson proposed in the council of ten a conference in Salomika with all of the representatives of the various governments in Russia, including the soviet representatives, Bullitt testified. Clemenceau opposed any conference with the Bolsheviks.

Bullitt said he was ordered to Russia to obtain from the Soviet government an exact statement of their proposals to stop fighting. He declared that Colonel House had told him the Americans would accept an armistice with the Bolsheviks and would try to secure the same action from other allied governments.

CUNARD LINE PLANS.
London, Sept. 12.—The Cunard Line is preparing for the construction of more than 500,000 tons of new shipping to compete with the United States, the Daily Mail announced today. The new ships will average 20,000 tons in size and be equipped with fuel oil engines instead of coal burners.

"ALLIES WANT GERMANY TO BECOME MONARCHY."
London, Sept. 12.—Phillip Scheidemann, German majority socialist leader and former minister of finance, in the German cabinet, made the charge in a speech at Cassel that "Monarchist Danger to Germany comes from the side of the Entente," according to a news agency dispatch from Cassel today.

"However, Germany will remain a republic," Herr Scheidemann was quoted as saying.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT RATIFIES PEACE PACT

Liberals Try for Reservations
But Are Defeated
102-70.

PASSED UNANIMOUSLY

Debate On Whether League Had Power to Order Troops Out of the Dominion.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 12.—The Canadian parliament at an early hour today passed unanimously a resolution approving ratification of the peace treaty. The Hon. S. Fielding moved on behalf of the Liberals a reservation.

Liberals Defeated.
The League of Nations should not interfere with the authority of the Canadian parliament over the Canadian army. The reservation was defeated 102 to 70 and the Liberals then voted for the resolution ratifying the treaty.

Minister of Justice C. M. Doherty took the floor in opposing the Liberals' first effort for a reservation denying the League of Nations the right to order the Canadian army from the Dominion. Such action would be superfluous, he said, because the supreme council of the League has not the authority under its constitution to order any troops from Canada without the consent of the Canadian parliament.

Major Powers of Quebec, who saw active service on the western front and but recently returned from France, strongly denounced the treaty because, he claimed, Ireland was not given an opportunity to present her grievances to the Peace Congress.

IN ENGLAND.
London, Sept. 12.—David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, in a speech to be delivered in the Guildhall on Oct. 1 on behalf of the League of Nations Union, will inaugurate a campaign which is to be carried on throughout the country during the Autumn, ending Nov. 11, with demonstrations in every town and city in the United Kingdom.

It is expected by the promoters that the movement will extend to other countries, and that Nov. 11 will be made "League of Nations Day," which also is "Armistice Day." Those who will take part in the campaign in the British Isles are Lord Robert Cecil, Sir Robert Ashton Lister, Sir William H. Seager, and other members of Parliament.

SUPPRESSING SINN FEINERS.

London, Sept. 12.—The entire police force and several hundred soldiers are engaged in the movement for the suppression of the Sinn Feiners at Londonderry and Donegal, said an Exchange Telegraph dispatch today. The exact scope of the suppressive measures was not revealed.

Wilson Thinks Walkout Would Be Fully as Disastrous as a General Railway Strike—
Views With Grave Concern
Industrial Unrest—Capital and Labor Must Come to an Agreement, He Believes.

Rathdrum, Idaho, Sept. 12.—President Wilson, in the home state of Senator William E. Borah, his chief opponent on ratification of the treaty, while still expounding his reasons why the document should be ratified immediately, is devoting more and more time to his discussion of industrial unrest.

He urged the need of labor and capital reaching the common ground of understanding. The information reaching the President is most disquieting. Only a miracle, it now appears, can prevent a strike in the steel industry. The President believes that in some respects a strike in the steel industry would be fully as disastrous as would a general railway strike. "And there hangs" over the nation the danger of a railway tie up inasmuch as there are demands by various organizations hanging fire that might at any time come to a head.

The Boston Strike.
Then the strike of the Boston police came as a very disagreeable surprise to the President, especially as it was accompanied by the very disorder that has been predicted when the idea of policemen forming unions was first broached.

The President naturally views with concern all this unrest. He uses it as an argument that the Peace Treaty should be gotten out of the way in order that the business of the world could know what it was to expect.

Next Month's Conference.
But it is now no secret to the men in the confidence of the President that he believes it is necessary to supplement the influence of the treaty by reaching an agreement between capital and labor whereby labor would be speeded up and increased production while capital would give labor more and more an actual partnership in the product of its hands. That is the big compelling reason for next month's conference. It also is what lies immediately behind the President's declaration that "the only way to keep men from agitating against grievance is to remove the grievances."

"Removing Noxious Growths."
There has been much comment throughout the country on the President's declaration favoring radicalism so long as the men who agitate "do so in an orderly fashion," and "remove noxious growths without cutting up by the roots." The reaction from that declaration was reaching the President's party today. It was very plain that public opinion was turning against his statement, but momentum of the party in a position to know that a very grave mistake would be made should any one get the impression that he advocated what is known as "I. W. W." Attention was called to his denunciation of Lenin and Trotsky and of the efforts on their behalf by certain American agents. The President's intentions, according to the members of his party who are in a position to know his mind, is to serve notice on the radicals of both labor and capital, that they must work to remove griev-

EX-HARVARD PRODIGY
GOING BACK TO RUSSIA.
Boston, Sept. 12.—Willie Sidis, former Harvard prodigy and during the last year, teacher of Bolshevistic tendencies to Boston children yearns for the time when he can shake the dust of America off his shoes and return to his beloved Russia. Sidis is 100 per cent Soviet and when he has returned to the land of Trotsky, is prepared to teach the Russian peasantry, etc. the way to better things via the religion of mathematics. Furthermore, Willie has just jotted down the instance of his seven-tenish proposal. It was from a Bolshevik maid and "citizen," Sidis spared the offer. "I hope the Boston policemen win their strike," he said. "They are right and should get more wages. Everybody should get more wages."

HUB'S OFFICIAL ACTION IS LEADING TO ANARCHY

So Says Samuel Gompers,
Head of the Labor Federation.

ENCOURAGES BOLSHEVISM

Authorities Should Have Allowed Policemen to Organize and There'd Be No Trouble.

New York, Sept. 12.—The attitude of the authorities at Boston in the police strike is encouraging and leading to anarchy, and Bolshevism in the opinion of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who voiced his sentiments here in a statement on the situation.

"The situation in Boston," said Gompers, "is leading to anarchy. The authorities should withdraw their order, (referring to the order against the police affiliating with the American Federation of Labor) and the men should return to work and let there be a status quo. Now they are getting nowhere."

"The present attitude of the authorities is only encouraging Bolshevism."

Took Dangerous Step.
"In prohibiting the men their right to join, not a revolutionary body but the American federation of labor which surely is one of the most conservative organizations in existence, they are taking a dangerous attitude. Whenever there is an attempt at a dictatorship or autocracy there is always reaction, as this situation shows."

LITTLE RHODY AWAITS COMING OF DE VALERA

Providence Will Welcome "President" of Irish Republic This Afternoon—To Go to Newport.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 12.—Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish Republic will be given an enthusiastic reception when he arrives in this city at five p. m., today from New York. He will be welcomed by a committee of 100 prominent citizens and large delegations from various organizations.

In spite of opposition in certain political and social circles, city and state will welcome the former school master with open arms.

At 10 a. m., tomorrow President de Valera will be officially welcomed on behalf of the state of Rhode Island and by Governor Beekman, at the state house and at city hall by Mayor Gainer.

Mrs. John Hanan, of Narragansett Pier and Newport, has donated the use of her palatial yacht to carry the de Valera party from this city to Newport tomorrow.

HUB BREATHES EASIER TODAY; DEATH TOLL NOW IS SEVEN

Six Thousand State Guard Troops Have Situation Well in Hand—Another Man Killed Last Night, Three More Wounded—Soldier Every Six Feet in Downtown Districts
—Both Army and Navy Ready to Help if Necessary.

Boston, Sept. 12.—There will be no compromise, no arbitration in the police strike and no reinstatement of men who have "deserted their posts," Governor Calvin Coolidge announced today, when he learned that union officials had planned to confer with him and that some of the strikers had asked to be taken back.

Policemen Classed as Deserters.
The Governor, now in full charge of the situation, said he would rely on the state guard to maintain law and order now and would call on federal troops if necessary. He refused to consider the policemen as on strike but classed them as deserters.

BOSTON BREATHES EASIER.
Boston, Sept. 12.—With the menace of a general strike postponed at least and the 6,000 state guard troops seeming to have the situation well in hand Boston breathed easier today than it has since the strike of police started a reign of terror Tuesday night.

Death Toll Now Seven.
Last night was comparatively quiet except for a disturbance in Jamaica Plain when another name was added to the list of dead, making a total of seven killed since the strike started.

Henry Grote, a youth, was shot dead by a state guardsman when he refused to halt after a crap game had been broken up. Three other young men were wounded by the volley fired at them as they fled.

A Sympathetic Strike.
The Central Labor Union, which was in session until early this morning, voted on a sympathetic strike, but the vote was not announced. Instead it was declared that all affiliated unions that have not yet voted on a sympathetic strike were asked to do so at once and advise the central body. This is expected to take probably two or three days at least and it is hoped that the situation may be adjusted in the meantime.

Soldier Every Six Feet.
In the principal downtown streets normal order was maintained by a heavy guard of soldiers armed with sabres and bayoneted rifles. At Scollay Square, the seat of much of the disturbances of the past two days, a guardsman was stationed every six feet and people were not allowed to linger.

South Boston was quiet last night, following the dispatch of machine guns to the police stations in that district. Brigadier General John H. Sherburne and other officers back from overseas service patrolled the streets on horseback wearing their army uniforms and trench helmets. Other mounted soldiers circulated through the city in pairs, making frequent excursions onto the Common to prevent crap-games or crowds of any size from gathering.

The situation was today in the hands of Governor Calvin Coolidge, who assumed control by virtue of his authority as commander in chief of the state guard.

Pledges Co-operation.
Mayor Peters, who had previously taken charge in the inability of Police Commissioner Curtis to furnish police protection, pledged the governor his "loyal co-operation." The police commissioner is appointed by the governor.

Both the army and navy were prepared today to furnish aid to the governor should he desire it but it was believed that the worst has passed.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK FAILS. Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Another "national bank" has failed. Mrs. Beale Graver, of Akron, says she had $346 all stored away in a silk stocking and that the money is gone. She believes that she threw the stockings "into the dirty clothes" and that it went to the washerwoman. At any rate she has asked the Akron police to aid her in the recovery of the money. She isn't worried about what became of the "bank." Nearly 800 automobiles are stolen in New York city every month.

The West side playground led all other departments in attendance in attendance with a record of 21,396 for the summer season. The Cottage street playground nosed into second place with a total attendance of 11,661, with the Globe Hollow pool trailing close with a record of 10,675. STIFFEN LOCOMOBILE CO. FOR ATHLETIC GAME HERE

Bridgeport Team Will Put Best Foot Forward When Game is Called Next Sunday.

The Locomobile Company team of Bridgeport will be strengthened Sunday when it meets the Athletics on the Mt. Nebo grounds, and the home club will have to play its best to win. Warnock or Sipples will be in the box for the Athletics with Crockett or Lamprecht behind the bat, while Mulreanan, one of the best pitchers in the Eastern League will probably do mound duty for the visitors.

The Singers of Bridgeport will be brought back to Manchester Sunday, September 21st at the largest guarantee paid to any club which has appeared here this summer. Mr. Andres, manager of the Singer team, announces that he may pitch Earl Champion in this game, Connecticut's leading south paw, as this will perhaps be the last game of the season for the Singer team. In the event the Fish Red Tops cannot play here Sunday, September 28th, the Athletics will open a series of games with the White Sox on that day, and will play the remaining games on Saturday afternoons as football will no doubt be played on Nebo starting the first Sunday in October.

TURKISH PROBLEM UP.

Paris, Sept. 12.—With the German and Austrian treaties out of the way and the Bulgarian pact ready for presentation the Turkish problem is now occupying the attention of the peace delegates. The Americans are insisting that they can do nothing until the Senate acts but at the same time they admit that Europe cannot be expected to be kept waiting indefinitely for America to make up her mind as to acceptance of a mandate for Turkey. Unless some action is taken before October first the situation may compel Europe to step in and slice up the former Ottoman Empire at her own convenience, it was declared today.

The song, "God Save the King," is said to have been composed by John Bull in 1806 for a dinner given to James I at Merchant Taylor's hall. Others ascribe it to Henry Carey, author of "Bally in Our Alley," who died in 1743.

ASK FOR COMMISSION TO REGULATE PRICES

Farmers Draw Up Bill Establishing Board Similar to the I. C. C.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Establishment of a commission similar to the Interstate Commerce Commission, for the regulation of food production and manufacture, is the plan incorporated in a bill drawn by the officials of a number of farm organizations and submitted to members of Congress today. Efforts are being made to have the bill introduced in both the Senate and the House.

Under the provisions of the proposed bill the commission would have quasi-judicial functions and would be given authority to act in determination of profits to be made in the production of food products. The bill proposes that the commission be made up of representatives of the farmers, manufacturers, consumers and shippers and that all of its sessions be held in public.

HOTEL-BANDITS.

Hold Up Patrons in Three Hostleries—Get But $300.

New York, Sept. 12.—Daring bandits held up three large hotels in the very heart of Manhattan early today and made their escape in taxicabs. The robbers who worked in three separate gangs got less than $300 for their trouble. The hotels were the Sherman Square, the St. Paul and the Madison. So quietly did the bandits work that telephone operators, just behind the clerks did not hear what was going on. They leveled revolvers at guests and employers and one proceeded to frisk the cash drawers and the few guests remaining in the lobby.

EUROPE'S FUEL SITUATION.

Paris, Sept. 12.—The European fuel situation is still dark and menacing but a faint ray of hope was contained in reports from upper Silesia today. According to news reaching the peace conference order is being restored in the Silesian coal fields and the men are returning to work but production is still from 60 to 70 below normal. If the mines can be kept going they will do much to relieve the suffering of millions in middle Europe this winter.

THE KAISER IS FAILING UNDER THE MENTAL TORTURE OF BEING FORGOTTEN BY THE WORLD

London, Sept. 12.—Among the most universally known faces Charlie Chaplin is an easy first. Bohaparte, George Washington, John Bull, and others who "also ran" and are running yet, are in the van of a big field which the Kaiser leads for second place. The wondrous mustache, the wavy brown hair, the stern, imperious look from the side-lifted head, is the picture the world knows as William.

But the world would not recognize him as he looks today, the double-high walls surrounding the doublemoated castle of Amerongen.
The village itself boasts of 2,500 orthodox pro-German souls. The Godard-Bentneck family and three subdued citizens are the only pro-ally inhabitants there. I met a man yesterday who had just arrived in London after a seven months' residence in Amerongen, endured for a specific purpose that did not come off. I know of no one—outside the Bentneck family—who knows so much about the Kaiser's looks and life as the man who imparted to me this information.

"I saw the Emperor from about fifty yards away. He walks every afternoon between 3 and 4 round the inner moat, sometimes with the Empress, and oftener with two officers of his suite. He wore a gray, rather summy lounge suit, and a light felt hat. One officer walked about fifty feet ahead of him and inspected the shrubs and flowers for bombthrowers, although they would not hide a rat.

"The ex-Governor of Metz, who followed the ex-Emperor—as he insists on being called—into exile, and acted as his major-domo, has left and gone to Berlin—he was either fired or got fed up, as the Kaiser has grown (to put it mildly) petulant.
The same old staff, comprising cook, doctor, valet and officers—sixteen all told—are still the same as you saw them there before Christmas."

"By the way, you remember the old chap with the frock coat and slouch hat that you said looked like a retired actor or an American Congressman—the one you played billiards with, and thought he was as barless as a rabbit? Eh? Well, he turned out to be no less a personage than the protecting seuth of the Kaiser, who was sizing you up, as he did me. He is the slickest detective the secret service cradles of Bismarck and Steiber ever incubated, and he has about fifty of the same ilk distributed so well about the district that no one can approach Am-erongen without being spotted."

"As for you, if you return to Amerongen, you'll be guillotined, as they've got your history from the time you used red ink and gall in writing the massacres of the Meuse.
And, again, you remember the lad of the Empress' suite who gave you the midnight meeting and done about what the Kaiser ate and drank?

Well, heaven knows how the detectives knew it, but the boy was fired across the German border the day after you left."

"How does the Kaiser look?" I asked.

"Oh, he's aged ten years since Christmas. And then he looked ten years older than he really was. He hasn't passed the castle gates since last December. Undoubtedly fear keeps him inside. One would not recognize him in the street. In six months I have seen him changed as gradually as a sunset changes to a winter frost.

"No patent medicine before and after pictures ever showed such a difference. He bends over now, and walks slowly, like a man over seventy. His hair has grown nearly as white above the neck as it is above his ears.

"A very thin growth of white scraggly beard covers his sallow, rather flat cheeks and throat and ends four inches from his chin in rather an artistic Van Dyck goatee.
All the men in the Utrecht district wear the same style of whiskers
now. He dresses like a country gentleman, except at dinner, when he always wears the uniform of a Prussian general, and exacts that all the formalities of the Potsdam Court are strictly observed.

"He saw wood in the morning for an hour, and it's a fact that he does saw wood. Some Holland papers asked how a man with only one good arm could saw wood. One of the Bentnecks replied that no man could use a hand saw by using two hands."

"What about his mental condition?" I asked.

"The mental torture of falling out of the firmament, like Lucifer, and being forgotten and unnoticed by the world is gradually gnawing him away, and today he is practically undergoing sentence in the mil-square confines of a Dutch moat.
Often—so I heard from one who knows—he sits alone with his lower jaw hanging heavy under an open mouth, gazing into space. He reads the Bible every night—sometimes aloud to the Empress and the Bentnecks. There is a sleek old monk from the Zeiss Mission (the German colony nine miles away) who comes over to the castle for regular Sunday service. It is always held in the upper hall of the castle."

"What is the Kaiser thinking of when he stares into space? His coming trial or the one hereafter?" I asked.

"Such small worries don't trouble him a bit," he answered. "The omnipresent chronic thought of being a forgotten thing—a something the cat brought in and laid under the stove

—punishes him more than any sentence a high or low court could impose. Besides, in my opinion, he will never face a trial."

"SISSY" TURKEY GOBLER, HATCHING OUT HEN EGGS.

Smith Centre, Kan., Sept. 12.—
"Sissy" inclinations of a big turkey gobbler on the farm of Mrs. John Bell are exciting the interest of the entire neighborhood. A month ago he showed all the inclinations to
"set," and repeated attempts to
"break" him failed.

Finally, Mrs. Bell placed seventeen hen eggs under him and for nearly two weeks he stuck faithfully at the job of keeping them warm and turning them over at regular intervals.

Mrs. Bell is confident he will bring off nearly a full hatch, but what he will do with the brood remains to be seen. She believes the heat and long dry spell have made the gobbler a trifle daffy.

LANDLORD PRESENTS OLD TENANT WITH HOUSE.

Boston, Sept. 12.—Profiteering landlords who raise rents and refuse repairs may profit by the example of F. T. Fuller, of Wakefield, who has made a present of a house to Victor Cote, who has lived in it for the past twenty-six years.

Recently Cote received from his landlord a cordial letter and a free and clear deed to the house. Fuller wrote that he gave Cote the house because of the long time Cote has been a tenant and because of the pleasant relations that always have existed between them.

Thomas Hayes has moved into the house purchased recently by him

THE THREATENED STRIKE

The officers of the steel workers union who have declared for a strike September 22 must be planning to throw the nation into a state of industrial turmoil almost as great as that which threatened it at the time the railroad strike was impending. Other nations have been, and are now, more or less upset by labor troubles but it would seem that we are having more than our share of actual and threatened violence in vital industries like railroads and steel manufacturing.

The present situation has grown out of the refusal of the United States Steel Corporation to treat with the leaders of the American Federation of Labor but it is interesting to note the lengths to which the Union workers are willing to go to supply some other reason for their action. Intolerable hardships have been claimed and charges of brutal murders at the hands of professional gunmen have been made. The steel union leaders know well that there will be little sympathy with a strike of such serious import as they threaten if it is based simply on the issue of the open versus the closed shop. They are trying to awaken something of that popular sympathy and support which used to be with organized labor when it first opposed itself to predatory wealth.

But in the case of steel workers, the plea of hardship and oppression will hardly impress an informed public. Steel workers are generally regarded as a group especially favored in our industrial scheme of things. Most of them are paid excellent wages and they have always been regarded as working partners by the Corporation against which they are now determined to strike.

The principle of collective bargaining is one which labor may be expected to guard as its most treasured possession and the history of industry would make any other view seem extremely unwise. Nevertheless, the declaration of a steel strike at this time can not be justified on any grounds of labor policy.

The economic common sense of the workers must tell them that this is a perilous time for such action. The world is balancing between a new order of international co-operation and a plunge back into the period of militarism and mutual suspicion. Labor leaders should be well aware that if things turn to this latter condition their progress will end and their slightest threat of violence will be greeted with the rattle of rifles and bayonets. Whatever is done at this time to increase the unrest of the country helps to push things along toward just such a state. If their patriotism as American citizens does not counsel the steel workers to stop this impending strike they should at least give some thought to their own responsibility as members of society. We do not believe that they will relish the future which is created by unreasonable and untimely strikes such as they are threatening.

President Wilson has requested Mr. Compers to exert every possible influence to bring the steel workers to a more temperate consideration of the situation and unionized labor everywhere will be doing patriotic work to co-operate in this effort.

CHARLES SCHWAB "BROKE." Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 12.—Charles Schwab, the millionaire steel magnate, found himself virtually in "hock" late yesterday when he could not pay a barber for a shave.

"I came to town without a cent", he explained later, "but forgot that I was broke when I entered the barber shop. I waited nearly half an hour before some one came in who knew me. Then I borrowed enough money to pay the barber and got out of 'hock.'"

ATHLETICS PROUD OF RECORD

Their Manager Warmly Defends Team in Answer to "West Side Fan"—Ready to Play Series.

Editor, Herald, Manchester Conn.

Dear Sir: I noted with interest the letter appearing in last night's issue of the Herald in regard to a series of games between the Athletics and the White Sox, and in reply thereto would say that the Athletics are willing to meet the White Sox best two out three games, the games to be played the first two Saturday in October and if a third game is necessary to be played the second Sunday in October.

In regard to a "West Side Fan's" statement that we have not got a full schedule for the remainder of the season, would say that the only Sunday we have open is September 28th, and I am negotiating with John Martin, manager of the Fisk Red Taps, semi-pro champions of New England to bring the Red Taps here on that day. On Sunday September 14th we play the Locomobile team of Bridgeport and on the following Sunday the crack Singer team of the same city.

I have received no request from the fans for a series of games between my team and the White Sox. In fact I have been requested to bring the Singer team back here again and the Fisk Red Taps, and in regard to the fan's retort about giving the town fast baseball I believe I have fulfilled my promise, and I certainly could not have brought any faster teams here than the New Departure of Bristol, Fisk Red Taps, Singers of Bridgeport, Hendee Indians, American Chain, Comstock-Cheney and some of the other teams which have played on Nebo unless I brought professional ball clubs, which is an impossibility, and especially so during the league season.

In the event the Fisk Red Taps can not play here Sunday, September 28th, I am willing to start a series with the White Sox on that day and agree to use my regular players and the White Sox must agree to do the same, and insofar as the grounds are concerned, Mr. Fan, Mr. Daoust and I will agree upon that, but I have already told Mr. Daoust that if we play on Sunday that games must be played on the Mt. Nebo grounds—the Athletics are still town champions and the champion in any sport dictates the terms.

Now Mr. West Side Fan—but I believe you are really connected with the White Sox seeing that you know so much about business which has already transpired—if you can give the town any faster baseball than I have this year, perhaps the players on the Athletic team will consider you for manager of the team next year, for I believe it is quite generally known among the players that I am not a candidate for the job next season.

Yours truly, W. H. Dowd, Jr. Manager Athletics of Manchester.

INJURED SOLDIERS ARE LEARNING NEW JOBS AT THE TRADE SCHOOL

Director Warren Announces How Government Will Use School Here.

PLACE CONSIDERED ONE OF BEST IN THE STATE

Rules Providing for Training of Ex-Service Men Have Been Simplified Allotments Now Paid More Promptly.

Director Alexander Warren of the State Trade School has announced that the school here will be used by the government for training of ex-service men who have been incapacitated for their former occupations through injuries received while in the service. Four such men have already been assigned to the school and Mr. Warren expects that more will be sent soon.

The Manchester Trade School is considered by the State officials in charge of vocational training for soldiers as an exceptional place for the education and recuperation of soldiers and as one of the best in the state of Connecticut—a state, as one remarked, where good schools are the rule.

Because of a radical change in rules governing the provisions for training ex-service men, it will now be much easier for incapacitated soldiers and sailors to apply for such training and to have their requests acted upon. When the first plans for the vocational training were arranged it was decided that before permission for training might be granted the man would first have to be allowed compensation. If he was not entitled to compensation he was not entitled to free training. As a consequence of this order the program of detailing injured men worked very slowly and only a few men were put in the schools. There are about 300,000 ex-soldiers applying for compensation at the War Risk Department and the confusion resulting has been responsible for the delay in giving vocational education, al training in deserving cases. However, by a recent revision of the rules governing vocational training, an ex-service man may make direct application for such training and his case will be acted upon independently and on its separate merits. The Vocation Committee maintains its own examining physicians to determine whether a man is entitled to training and it carries on its own investigation.

May Pick Own School. After an ex-service man has filed his application for training, he is interviewed by Joseph C. O'Kane who is the District Vocational Agent in Hartford and if the application receives favorable action the wishes of the applicant are determined and he is sent to the school where he thinks he will receive the best training. An effort is usually made to place the man at a school near his home and friends but all the educational facilities of the country are at his disposal.

In addition to the regular compensation awarded by the War Risk, each soldier who is admitted to a school receives in addition eighty dollars a month and the tuition is free. Another improvement that has been made has been the establishment of some regularity in the payment of the monthly allotment. The ex-service man at school now receives his forty dollars on the first and fifteenth of every month while formerly the payments were often held up because of the confusion at the War Risk insurance offices.

The term of the regular course, said Mr. Warren of the trade school is for four years, but a man may take less than that if he wishes. The ex-service men who are at the school here were injured by high explosives or were gassed. They were discharged from treatment at hospitals and they will receive a thorough industrial training at the school. The returned men are showing considerable interest in drafting and architectural work. The work that these men are doing at the Trade School indicates that they are taking unusual interest and are making remarkable progress.

Composed of the 25 district presidents, this committee will begin at once to prepare the new contract to be presented to the operators at Buffalo, September 25. The vote of endorsement given to the recommendations of President John L. Lewis calling for a six hour day, a five day week and 60 per cent increase in wages by the convention late yesterday was accepted as instructions by the committee.

SENATOR JOHNSON ASSAILS WILSON; WILSON URGES TREATY AND LEAGUE

Californian Flays President — Says He is to Blame for High Cost of Living—Declares Article Ten Makes U. S. Underwrite Wrongs Done by Powers of Europe.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 12.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California continuing his campaign in the middle West in opposition to the ratification of the League of Nations covenant, in an address here tonight declared that if responsibility for the high cost of living rests upon any agency or man, it rests upon the present national administration and Woodrow Wilson.

"President Wilson adds to his fearsome harsh names, appeals to our material interests and even taxes the two months that the league and treaty have been before the American people and Senate with the high cost of living," said Senator Johnson. "He conveniently forgets the eight months he spent abroad, secretly pledging our resources and our man power to European and Asiatic governments. The two months of discussion by our people and our Senate in the open of what he discussed secretly for eight months has had of course no bearing upon and the reasonable discussion in the future cannot possibly affect the high cost of living.

Lays H. C. L. to Wilson. "If any single individual can be charged with responsibility for the high cost of living, that man is Woodrow Wilson." The living costs in December and January last were substantially what they are today. Mr. Wilson then had exactly the same laws as he now invokes. He had neither time nor inclination to deal with a problem then practically as acute as it is now. He never even touched the subject, except patronizingly and as an ephemeral ill of no consequence or importance. He makes its solution depend now upon the immediate ratification of his treaty. He covers his own dereliction by the unfounded countercharge. Remember his address to Congress December 2, last:—

"The moment we knew the armistice to have been signed, we took the harness off. It is surprising how fast the process of return to a peace footing has moved in the three weeks since the fighting stopped. "His idea of reconstruction then was it will not be easy to direct it any better than it will direct itself. When he had ample time for action last December and might have prevented the subsequent continuance of high prices, these are his words: "Our people do not wait to be coached and led. Any leading strings we might seek to put them in would speedily become hopelessly entangled, because they would pay no attention to them and go their own way."

Article Ten. Speaking of article 10 of the covenant of the league, Senator Johnson, after quoting President Wilson's interpretation of the section said:— "It makes America underwrite every territorial grab of every other nation, every wrong and injustice done peoples, every bargain by which human beings have been handed about from the sovereignty to another, every violation of natural right and self-determination, every oppression of the strong over the weak. Naively, the president remarks that secret treaties hampered him at the peace conference and embarrassed the whole settlement. Inferentially, he concedes the wickedness of those secret treaties, but he was neither hampered nor embarrassed to such a degree as to cause him to stand manfully and courageously for his oft-expressed principles. Not only did he abandon his principles and abjectly surrender his idealism, but he became a part of the secret treaties he denounced when he united in making them the basis of action at Paris."

LOUIN PRAISE OF "REDS", BUT NOT THE SOVIET BREED. Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Standing on a street corner a fellow waxed so warm in his support and praise of the "reds" that passers-by were about to call a "cop". The crowd listened and finally it was seen that there were others who were "red" sympathizers in the crowd. But it was of the Cincinnati variety that they were talking about and that's popular down this way.

WANTED TO DIE, BUT COLD WATER CHANGES HIS MIND. St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—Patrick Patton wanted to die. So he jumped into the Mississippi River. The water was cold; it took Patton's breath and his desire to end his life, so when John Spies and Charles Pabst held out long poles to him he grasped them and was pulled ashore. Patton, who gave his address as Decatur, Ill., was taken to City Hospital.

LOS OF SIGHT BY VACCINATION. Springfield, Ill., Sept. 12.—Vaccination is causing Raphael Montague to lose his eyesight, according to eye specialists. As a result Mr. Montague, the child's father, is asking damages from the city, charging improper treatment in the application of the vaccine on Raphael while he was a student in the school. City officials are investigating.

China has an area larger than that of the United States, and a population four times as great, yet it has only 8,500 miles of railways, as compared to America's 265,000.

President Says Germany Must Pay for Crime Against Humanity—Declares Senators Have Reversed Attitude—Were First Pitiless, Are Now Pitiful—Pleads for Peace at Once.

Billings, Mont., Sept. 11.—President Wilson spoke here in part as follows:

"My fellow citizens, Germany tried to commit a crime against civilization and this treaty is justified as a memorandum to make Germany pay for the crime ordered up to her full capability for payment."

"Some of the very gentlemen who now are characterizing this treaty as harsh are the same men who less than 12 months ago were criticizing the administration at Washington in the fear that we would compound the crime.

"They were pitiless then—they are pitiful now.

"It is meet, my fellow citizens, that we should not forget what this war meant. I am amazed at the indications that we are forgetting what we went through. There are some indications that on the other side of the water they are about to forget what they went through. I venture to say that there are thousands of parents, fathers, mothers, wives, sisters, sweethearts, who are never going to forget what they went through. Thousands of our gallant youth lie buried in France. Buried how? For the protection of America? America was not directly attacked. For the salvation of mankind everywhere and not alone for the salvation of America. Mighty Good Treaty.

"This is the best treaty that can possibly be gotten and in my judgment it is a mighty good treaty, if it has justice or an attempt at justice, at any rate, at the heart of it.

"Don't you think some insurance is better than none at all? And the security obtained by this treaty at its minimum, as it is, is a great deal better than no security at all.

"The leisureliness of some of the debate creates the impression in my mind that some men think there is leisure. There is no leisure in the world, with regard to the reform of the conditions under which men live. The Labor Conference.

"I desire to say that as many of you know, I have called a conference to sit in Washington the first week of next month; a conference of men in the habit of managing business and of men engaged in manual labor; what we generally call employers and employees; and I have called them together for the sake of getting their minds together; getting them to look at the factor of our life at the same time, in the same light and from the same angle so that they can see the things that ought to be done. I am trying to apply here what is applied and in a degree covered by the league of nations; if there is any trouble the thing to do is not to fight, but sit around the table and talk it over.

Discussion, Not Fight.

"The league of nations substitutes discussion for fighting. Without discussion there will be fighting. One of the great difficulties we have been through in the past is getting men to understand that fundamental thing. The conference is the healing influence of civilization and the real difficulty between classes when a country is unfortunate enough to have classes, if they do not understand one another. I, myself, think the real barriers in life are the barriers of caste.

"It is the absence of the ability to get at the point of view and look through the eye of the person with whom you are not accustomed to dealing. In order therefore, to straighten out the affairs of America; in order to calm and correct the ways of the world, the first and important requisite is peace and it is an important requisite that cannot wait. It is not wise to wait.

EXPECT A SETTLEMENT OF ADRIATIC PROBLEM

Italy Finally Forced to Accept the Internationalization of Fiume, It Report.

Paris, Sept. 12.—With the arrival of Colonel E. M. House and Premier Lloyd George the next few days are expected to result in a speedy settlement of the long deferred Adriatic problem.

American delegates are optimistic over the new plan which has been under discussion for several weeks, it was learned today. The details have not yet been given out.

The Italians, it is understood, have finally been forced to accept the internationalization of Fiume as the only possible solution. What they lose there will be made up in the way of economic concessions in other quarters. These concessions will supply needed materials and rights to prevent the country from drifting into financial chaos.

AN EASY JOB. Cleveland, O., Sept. 12.—Gomer Davis, Odin, Ill., delegate to the United Mine Workers' convention, has a big job on his hands today. Yesterday Davis caused a stir in the convention denouncing the union's organizers as "lounge lizards" and "loafers."

Today President John L. Lewis handed him an appointment as organizer with instructions to enter the Guyan Valley, West Virginia and organize that district. Only 300 armed guards patrol the district in auto trucks to keep organizers out, C. F. Keeney, Charleston, W. Va., told Davis.

OUR AVIATORS FORBIDDEN TO FLY OVER MEXICO. San Antonio, Sept. 12.—American aviators are forbidden to fly across the international boundary into Mexico under any circumstances by orders issued today from the headquarters of Major General Dickman, commanding the border district.

Today's orders followed conferences between the Mexican officials and army officers. The Mexicans claimed that aviators flying over the border constituted a violation of Mexican sovereignty.

WASHINGTON TO WELCOME PERSHING AND HIS MEN

When General Arrives He Will Be Greeted By a Salute of Seventeen Guns.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Washington today was prepared to give General Pershing a rousing welcome.

Celebrities, as a rule, meant but little in the life of the national capital, but there were indications early today that the commander in chief of the American Expeditionary Forces would furnish an exception.

General Pershing's train was scheduled to pull in at the union station at 4 o'clock this afternoon and its arrival will be heralded by a salute of seventeen guns, fired by the First Division battery. The general will be received in the President's waiting room by a War Department reception committee, headed by Secretary Baker and General March, chief of staff, and by other committees representing the civilian and official life of the capital. General Pershing then will be escorted over Pennsylvania Avenue to the Shoreham hotel.

Scores of grandstands have been erected along the avenue, the scene of many historic processions, for the parade of the First Division next Wednesday and thousands of Washingtonians were preparing to invade them at vantage points from which to get a glimpse of the General this afternoon.

MANCHESTER REALTY CO. STOCKHOLDERS TO MEET

Will Vote on Proposition to Increase Stock from $50,000 to $100,000.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Manchester Realty Company, will be held at the Recreation Center on Thursday evening, September 18, at 7:30 o'clock.

At this time action will be taken to increase the capital stock from $50,000 to $100,000. At a recent meeting the directors of the company recommended an increase in the stock. Under the by-laws of the company, a 2-3 vote of the outstanding stock is necessary to make the change.

The Manchester Realty Company was organized last month. There was very little trouble in disposing of the stock. It seems to be the opinion of many, that if the stock is increased, it will find a ready market.

TO DEFINE INTOXICATION TOO MUCH FOR THIS LAWYER.

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Frank J. Rockwell is one of Akron's leading attorneys and is an expert cross-examiner, but a witness he was examining caused him to "pass the buck" to Congress.

"Was the man intoxicated?" asked Rockwell.

"I hardly know," was the witness's reply. "If you will tell me just what a state of intoxication is I will try and answer your question," said the witness.

"Ah, young man," said Rockwell, "you have asked a hard question. To define what constitutes intoxication has engaged the attention of men of wisdom for ages, and today it is a much mooted and discussed question. No less an august body than the Congress of the United States is now engaged in an effort to solve the problem of what constitutes intoxication and with all the United States Senators and Representatives to handle the problem, why pick on me? We will pass on to another subject."

somewhat hotly and at once hung up the receiver.

Nothing was heard or said of the matter until a few days ago when Captain Campbell was notified to appear before the commissioners.

When interviewed by a Herald man in regard to the charges brought against him, Captain Campbell said: "I have been engaged in police work for over ten years and this is the first time that I have been brought up on the carpet to face charges of insubordination."

"On the evening of the conversation, I went to the box and released the signal and proceeded toward the south end where I lit the light on the dummy cop."

The light in question is an oil light. A town by-law requires that it be lighted each evening.

By unanimous decision the Police Commissioners have agreed not to discuss the affair for publication until after tonight's meeting.

PROSECUTOR WANTS SPEEDERS TO STAY WITH VICTIMS.

Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 12.—A novel plan for curbing speeding has been recommended by Police Prosecutor Lewis here.

He styles it "the morgue cure." Under this plan the speed maniac and reckless driver, in the event of the death of his victim, would have to sit beside the dead body in the morgue for at least twenty-four hours.

In cases of serious injury, he would have to stay by the bedside of the injured one until such time as the court discharged him from watch.

"I believe that the mental anguish which the procedure would arouse would tend to diminish the risk to which the average pedestrian is subjected," said the prosecutor.

NEW YORK SETTLEMENT WORKER SPEAKS TONIGHT

Manchester people will have the privilege of hearing tonight at the High School Hall a woman of more than usual ability and reputation.

This is Miss Harriet Dow of the Yorkville Neighborhood Association, who is in charge of the Neighborhood House in New York City—perhaps the most famous settlement house in that city and the one which, since the destruction of the old Five Point Mission has been the laboratory of settlement work of the city.

The Neighborhood House was founded by Jacob A. Riis who won a world reputation by his co-operation with Theodore Roosevelt in cleaning up vice and reducing misery when Roosevelt was Police Commissioner of New York.

Miss Dow will tell something of the work done among the foreign elements in New York and will describe the successful methods of establishing contact with them.

S. J. Brown will hold his demonstration class as usual at seven and everyone is invited to observe. The foreign speaking pupils who have contributed their services toward making these classes a success have shown enthusiasm and splendid co-operation.

BUSH HIDES HOLLAND'S HILL

But Even at That, the Mound is Justly Appreciated in That Flat Country.

It seems absurd to speak of a hill in Holland, but if the best guessers are right the name of the country is from our word "hollow," meaning a depression in the land.

"But where is it?" he asked, looking around the interminable plain. "I can see no hill."

The American ascended this fine hill, which proved to be an artificial mound not 20 feet in height, but the natives are very proud of it and speak of it as if it were some huge mountain.

"But to do this eminence justice it must be admitted that the hill is beyond dispute above the level of the sea.—Exchange.

The Buddhist Hymnal.

Yamanka was a strong Buddhist and a leader in the movement to revive and reform Buddhism and establish it as a bulwark against the rapid encroachment of Christianity.

He decided an excellent way to do this was to found a high school for girls which would be more attractive than the Christian women's. So he erected fine buildings and installed modern methods.

RICHEST OF GUNMEN TO PLEAD IN HARTFORD

Francis Murphy Will Come Before Superior Court During Fall Term.

Francis Murphy of Hoboken, N. J., indicted for murder in the first degree for the killing of Captain William Madden, head of the Cheney Mill police, on the night of January 30, will probably be put to plea in the Superior Court of Hartford county, which opens Tuesday.

The fact that Murphy plotted in the murder and robbery prompted the Grand Jury, of which Judge William S. Hyde of this town was foreman, to indict him on a charge of murder in the first degree. If Murphy should plead "not guilty" to this charge, a date will be set for his trial.

Murphy, it will be remembered, put up a strenuous battle against extradition proceedings. He was finally brought to this state for trial and bound over for the coming session. He is the youngest of the New Jersey gang of gunmen and is unmarried. He is the owner of a large Stutz touring car and although he does not work, he has ample means. Hoboken officials stated that he was a professional gambler.

Murphy became implicated in the murder of Captain Madden when he drove the "investigating car" to Manchester two days previous to the crime. On this trip he was accompanied by Miller. It was Murphy who located the warehouse at the Cheney Mills where the silk was stored as he later testified at a hearing. Palmer Willard, of Hartford, also testified that it was Murphy who directed to East Hampton and also New Jersey. Murphy disregarded the salesman's instructions however and disappeared in the opposite direction.

Murphy was not in Manchester on the night of the murder as on the evening previous he was arrested in a general round-up in Hoboken.

The other gunmen who were sentenced to life imprisonment, having been found guilty of murder in the second degree, have taken an appeal, to the Supreme court.

Don't Close Factories. Since the present trip was begun information has been conveyed to the President that a certain group of employers have taken the position that if strikes are inaugurated in their plants they will close them down indefinitely.

Shortage of Material. With admitted shortage of all materials in the country, concerted action by employers along such a line "to teach the workers a lesson," would certainly result in most serious trouble.

WHY DOESN'T MAE ELECTRIC IRON BLOW OUT THE FUSE? By Grant M. Hyde

"Because when she uses the iron, she sometimes uses too many lights at the same time and puts too much of a load on the wires. If it weren't for the fuse, she might set the house afire."

"How does she put a load on the wires?" "Well, sonny, it's like this. The electric wires outside our house carry much more electrically than the wires inside the house can stand. The volume of current we allow to get through the house wires depends on the number of lights we turn on. It is measured in amperes and watts."

"If you turn on one light, you let in perhaps one-fourth an ampere, and about twenty-five watts go over the wire in one hour. If you turn on two lights, you let in twice as much. If you were to turn on more than, say twenty lights, so much current would come over the wires that it might set the house afire."

"Electric flatirons and other devices use more current than lights do. Sometimes a short circuit lets a great volume rush through. To protect our house, we have fuses that cannot stand as much current as the wires. They are made of metal that melts instantly if overloaded. And when the current that the flatiron uses, or a short circuit or something else overloads the wires, instead of setting the house on fire, it blows out the fuse and thus stops the current by completely breaking the circuit."

"But we have more than twenty lights, Dad."

"Yes, that is because we have several circuits plitting off the main wire where it enters the house. Your mother's flatiron simply overloads the kitchen and dining room circuit and blows that fuse. It doesn't affect other circuits. We have three circuits; some houses have more, some less."

JEALOUS HUBBY BURNS AUTO. Whitehall, Ill., Sept. 12.—"Hell hath no fury like the 'man' scorned!"

George Mayberry was suspicious of his wife and William Arnold. He said they went automobile riding in Arnold's car frequently. One day Mayberry followed his wife and Arnold on a little trip. The couple left the car on the roadside. When Mayberry came upon the abandoned machine, he hauled out a quantity of straw, stacked it under the car and set fire to the automobile, according to allegations made by Arnold's court, who had Mayberry arrested on an arson charge.

15-YEAR-OLD BOY HELD ON CHARGE OF WHITE SLAVERY. Tulsa, Okla., Sept. 12.—Harry Richardson, who claims to be but fifteen years of age, was held to the Federal Court for trial here on a charge of white slavery recently by United States Commissioner J. H. Wilkins.

He was released under $1,000 bond and is the youngest person to face such a charge in Oklahoma, it is said.

and about twenty-five watts go over the wire in one hour. If you turn on two lights, you let in twice as much. If you were to turn on more than, say twenty lights, so much current would come over the wires that it might set the house afire.

Electric flatirons and other devices use more current than lights do. Sometimes a short circuit lets a great volume rush through. To protect our house, we have fuses that cannot stand as much current as the wires. They are made of metal that melts instantly if overloaded. And when the current that the flatiron uses, or a short circuit or something else overloads the wires, instead of setting the house on fire, it blows out the fuse and thus stops the current by completely breaking the circuit.

But we have more than twenty lights, Dad. Yes, that is because we have several circuits plitting off the main wire where it enters the house. Your mother's flatiron simply overloads the kitchen and dining room circuit and blows that fuse. It doesn't affect other circuits. We have three circuits; some houses have more, some less.

VISITS KANSAS CITY IN HUNT FOR OASIS—LOSS $60. Kansas City, Sept. 12.—A. McRea, seventy years old, of Herington, Kan., heard that Kansas City was the one oasis on the vast prohibition desert. This morning he stepped from an incoming train and with an empty suitcase walked up Main street in search of whiskey.

He met two obliging citizens who agreed to get him a case of the desired beverage. McRea gave the men $60 and the empty suitcase, which they were to fill with "bottled in bond."

Three hours later McRea was still marooned in the desert of prohibition as far as the two newly made friends were concerned. He reported the matter to the police, who are still searching for the "obliging ones."

TAD'S TID-BITS

You know Eddie Graney, of San Francisco, of course. Eddie is the honest blacksmith who was official tryout man for the Old California Club in the palmy days. No new man ever boxed at that select club without being tried out, and Graney was the man to do the work. He tried out both Fitzsimmons and Young Griffo when they arrived from Australia. He said O. K. both times and was glad to be over with it twice. But back to the greatest fighter. Graney says that Jim Corbett stood out over the rest of the fistie fraternity as a searchlight would over a flivver tail light.

"Corbett standing six feet one inch, wearing an 18 inch collar and sporting a chest like a dry goods box, was something to look at," says Graney.

"I'm talking about the Corbett of 1889. The Corbett who was twenty-three years of age. That was about the time he knocked Choynski out on the barge. Choynski was a great fighter, wasn't he? Corbett beat him three out of four times.

"Peter Jackson was a great man, wasn't he? John L. Sullivan refused to fight him. Fitzsimmons offered to fight any man in the world but Jackson, didn't he?

"Corbett took Jackson on when others were afraid to be on the same street with him. They fought sixty-one rounds. Cagey fighters the pair of them. There was no winner, and Corbett at that time was but a kid.

"He knocked out John L. Sullivan when the odds were 100 to 20 that he would lose.

"It's all over now, of course, and they knock this fight and that fight; but Corbett was a consistent winner, wasn't he?

"He had more brains than a car-load of the greatest fighters that ever lived. He fought as you'd play checkers. He did certain things for a reason. He could outfight the greatest lightweights we have today. His footwork was immense, and his ducking reminds me of Griffo.

"People had an idea that Corbett couldn't hit. They don't know. He was a great hitter. That wasn't his style, though. He usually made a monkey out of the man who faced him—that's what he usually tried to do. Tommy Ryan knows that Corbett could hit. He knows that Corbett was a master fighter, too. Ask Bob Armstrong if he could hit.

"When you saw Corbett fight you saw the kingpin of the ring. Today there isn't a mark on him, and he fought the best that ever stepped into a ring."

MR. BARTFIELD SPEAKS.
Soldier Bartfield can tell you why he didn't win from Benny Leonard. He told Dan McKetrick last night. Here's the way he figures it out:

"You know, in the army I was a champ bayonet fighter. I could spear a gonnef with my bayonet because he didn't hop around like a grass-hopper all the time. With Leonard I could land a knockout, too, if he'd stand still, but he won't. He keeps moving, and that makes me miss him don't you see? I'm a hard puncher. I have those muscles like iron, but what is the good of muscle when that gonnef Leonard won't stop still for me to hit him?"

CHOYNSKI HURT SHARKEY.
Jim Coffroth blew down to Sheeps-head Bay the other day for a breath of salt air and bumped into that jolly old tar, Tom Sharkey. They hollered one another and Coffroth got down to the old fight gags.

"Who hit you the hardest punch you ever received?" Jim asked the tar.

Sharkey thought a minute and piped:

"Joe Choynski, he socked me harder than anyone that I ever fought."

"Well," chirped Coffroth, "Bob Fitzsimmons hit you so hard that he knocked you out, didn't he, Tom?"

Sharkey pulled down the peak of his cap and bowed: "Yes, he did, but I didn't feel that one."

WHITE SOX SEEK SCALP OF HENDEE INDIAN NINE

Will Play Fast Springfield Team at Pleasant Street Grounds Sunday Afternoon—To Have New Pitcher.

The Hendee Indians of Springfield will be seen in Manchester on Sunday afternoon. But not against the Athletics. Confident that his team can beat this snappy aggregation of ball tossers from the Bay State, Manager Dauter of the White Sox has hurried a dett into the camp of the Red Skins. The challenge has been accepted. The game will be played on the Pleasant street grounds at the west side.

It is a well known fact that there is considerable rivalry between the Athletics and White Sox for the baseball supremacy of Manchester. Manager Dauter of the Sox is of the opinion that he can give Manager Dowd's team a run for their money. In order to prove his contention, he is willing to send the Sox up against a team that has defeated the Athletics four times.

The White Sox will use the same line-up that they have used all season, with the exception of a twirler. A new man will be seen in this department on Sunday. The Hendees will also use their same line-up, with either "Babe" Steere or "Speed" Flinn on the mound. "Mull" McCarthy has been engaged to umpire the game.

CHIEF BENDER TO DON HIS WAR PAINT AGAIN

Veteran Chippewa to Sit On Bench to Solve Signals of Opposing Team.

New York, Sept. 11.—Old Chief Bender will don his world's series war paint for the sixth time next month.

The veteran Chippewa, who served 12 seasons and went through five world's series with the once-great Athletics, is wearing the regalia of the Cincinnati Reds today and will be Pat Moran's right bower in the coming clash with the White Sox.

Bender joined the Reds a few days ago to become a member of the board of strategy. He came back to the major league from Richmond, of the Virginia state league, where he managed the team and served as its star pitcher this season. Out of twenty-eight games in which he worked for Richmond the weather-beaten flinger won twenty-six, among which were seven shut outs and several double headers.

Knows Signals.
Although he will not be eligible to pitch for the Reds, Bender will do his bit from a seat on the bench where he will watch every move made by the Sox and endeavor to solve their signals. His uncanny ability to steal signals is historic. As a member of the old Athletics he was a constant source of worry to opposing clubs, and rival managers were often forced to change signals every day to baffle the keen-eyed Aborigine.

To Foll Chief.
Kid Gleason is well aware of Bender's ability. He does not have to be told how quickly the old chief can steal signals. So Gleason and Eddie Collins, his first lieutenant, will undoubtedly use a new set of signals every day.

Bender has not pitched against American League batters since 1914, but he has forgotten more about batters and their weaknesses than many pitchers ever learn.

TAGGING THE BASES

Lefty Williams showed a flash of his real class by holding the Senators to two hits. Washington won half of the double bill when the Doc Shaw gave up but four hits in the first game.

"Hippe" Hasty, Giant right hander secured by the Mackmen from Atlanta, made a wild pitch in the first inning and a miff of a throw to first in the fifth enabling Detroit to win.

The Giants said farewell to Chicago for the season by driving Alexander to cover in five minutes.

The Red Sox, with Pennock and Russell in form, administered a double dose of white wash to the Browns.

SEEKING DIVORCE.
Claiming $2,500 as alimony, Mrs. Joseph Wright of Oak street, has brought suit against her husband, J. J. Wright for divorce. Mrs. Wright is represented by a Hartford attorney.

Yesterday afternoon papers were served by Deputy Sheriff John F. Sheridan, attaching two houses in which the husband and wife have an equal interest.

Circle Theater

"It's quite true," said Edward Joss, who directed the production of "Her Silent Sacrifice" which will appear at the Circle theater again tonight "that there are no sluggards in the motion picture; but even at that, Miss Brady can give cards and spades to most of the film actresses whom I have met. Where the average actress will often waste precious daylight hours making me go over the scenario with her, Miss Brady and I always hold these conferences in advance during the evenings at her house.

"But what is far more interesting and important is that Alice Brady's wonderful adaptability, versatility, and readiness to grasp the situation permits me to work with her in a speedy, frictionless, and efficient manner. edious repetitive rehearsals are unnecessary for this remarkable girl—for that's all she really is, a young charming miss—we go over the action once and then proceed to film it. The uninterrupted development of the main character and the smooth unrolling of the story which result, go far to explain the artistic finish of all of Miss Brady's productions."

This is very high praise, indeed, and will undoubtedly gratify Miss Brady hugely when it comes to her ears. For Mr. Joss stands high in the ranks of the foremost directors in the motion picture field. And the man who achieved such successes with "Poppy" and "The Moth" maintains, with real enthusiasm, that Alice Brady will add to her renown with the series of pictures she is making for the Select Star Series, of which "Her Silent Sacrifice" is her first production.

This feature caused a great sensation when it was shown last evening. See it tonight if you enjoy a good picture.

Park Theater

Goldwyn Pictures aim to embody novelties of photography, of story telling, of characterization on the part of the players—wherever, in fact, a departure from the conventional is permissible. "Daughter of Mine," the new comedy-drama by Hugo Ballin in which Madge Kennedy comes to the Park theater, bristles with novelties. No sooner does the Goldwyn lion fade on the screen than the first is apparent. It comes with the introduction.

First two cats are seen in violent argument on the edge of a roof, then the eye moves down to the cornice of the building, later to look into an open window where a woman is observed in the midst of her toilette. At this point it is known that the building is a tenement. The all-seeing lens then descends and another open window is explored, where children are quarrelling over a bag of popcorn. The bag has burst and in their grabbing not one of them is aware that its precious contents is dropping onto the head of the person on the floor below. But the camera lets us see this detail of the comedy, and the head is one every one knows—the smoothly drawn back hair of Madge Kennedy as little Rosie Mendelsohn.

In true tenement style her elbows rest on a pillow and she is leaning far out of the window watching the ebb and flow of the human tide in Ludlow street. Not until the popcorn lodges in her hair does she change her position, but when she lifts her head to look up at the cause of the annoyance her big brown eyes are enjoyed for a moment until the camera looks down at the doorway of the building around which pushcarts cluster and women bargain for fish on the same bill.

Tomorrow's feature will be "Venues of the East."

GOMPERS WON'T TALK

New York, Sept. 11.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declined to state today what action will be taken on President Wilson's telegraphed request that he use his efforts to avert a nation wide strike in the steel industries.

"We are all desirous of aiding President Wilson in his efforts to bring about industrial peace," said Gompers, "but before I answer this telegram I will have to give it more serious thought."

SOLDIER, TWICE REPORTED KILLED, RETURNS HOME

Altoona, Pa., Sept. 12.—Reported lost at sea when the Tuscania was sunk in February, 1918, and later reported killed in action in the Argonne offensive, Francis A. McEnaney calmly walked in on his friends here several days ago. While he admits that he does not have as many lives as a cat, he says he has at least three and that he is going to make the best of the third.

The Altoona man became a soldier in the air service and after several months training on Kelly Field, Texas, he went overseas with the 168th Aero Squadron, sailing on the ill-fated Tuscania, which was sunk in Irish waters on February 5, 1918.

McEnaney jumped into the water just before the big ship finally settled and was afloat four hours before being rescued by an English tug. He cannot explain how he happened to be reported "killed" in the Argonne drive.

Kansas City, Sept. 12.—William T. Julian, a track laborer for the street railways company, admitted in North Side Court here today that he stole a coaster wagon from his own five-year-old son and sold it to another boy for $2.

The son, who was one of the witnesses against his father, offered a bit of testimony in answering a question by Justice Sheppard.

"Did your father steal your coaster?" queried the justice.

The son, with a sidelong glance at his parent, peeped:

"Yeah, he sure looked it."

Julian was assessed a fine of $100.

TRAIN BRAKEMAN HAS REMARKABLE MEMORY

El Reno, Okla., Sept. 12.—L. B. Throop, a brakeman for the Frisco between Enid and Thomas, was put through a remarkable memory test at Thomas Saturday. Motor cars were lined up in the main street and Throop was led up one side of the street and down the other, taking mental note of the license tag, number and make of each car. He then wrote a list of license numbers in the order in which the cars were parked.

Fellow railroad men say Throop has been known to duplicate as many as 6,000 records from memory.

The number of men who made application to the registrars is 308 and the number of women 28. In addition there are at least a dozen names to be restored to the list. These restored names are of men who formerly voted in this town and who have come back here to live. By far the large majority of the new applicants are of American birth many of them young men who have just reached the required age of 21. When it is considered that this is an off year in politics, that there is nothing more than town officers to be elected at the fall election, the number of new voters promises to be much larger than on any previous year in the history of the town.

The selectmen with the town clerk and registrars will be in session in the Hall of Records on Saturday, September 20, from nine o'clock in the morning until eight o'clock in the evening for the purpose of making voters of all the applicants who qualify. It is absolutely necessary for every person whose name is on the list to appear in person before the board in order to get their names on the voting list. There is only one day allowed for making voters this year. The women have to appear before the board and answer the same questions as the men in order to be made voters.

JUVENILE TEAMS WILL PLAY FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Atlas and Crescent Nines to Meet Sunday and Settle Long Standing Rivalry.

The juvenile championship of the town will be settled Sunday afternoon when the Atlas A. C. meet their old rivals, the Crescents on the Main street diamond. Both teams have very good records and judging from the past contests between these two teams, Sunday's game should be a fast one.

The series between the Atlas nine and the Crescents is even. The Atlas boys won the first game 3-2 in an overtime game while the Crescents came back strong capturing the second game with a score of 2-0.

The Crescents have put the Aces out of the running by defeating them twice, while the Atlas team has beaten the Cubs, Blue Ribbons, and the Heights nine. The line-ups of the Atlas A. C. and the Crescents will be announced later.

CHURCH BELLS WILL WARN IF BABIES CAN'T PARADE

Center and North Congregational Churches Will Announce News if Weather is Too Bad.

In case of inclement weather, the baby show at Center Park, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, will be cancelled. The committee in charge announced this morning that if the affair is postponed, arrangements have been made to have the Center Congregational and North Congregational church bells rung at 1.15 o'clock.

NORTH END MEN'S CLUB.

The Men's Club of the M. E. church will hold its first fall meeting in the vestry of the church next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The business of organization will continue. Dr. LeVerne Holmes will make an address on "In Camp and Hospital," and Arthur Holmes will speak on "Hiking Through Hun Land." Those interested are invited to be present. Light refreshments will be served.

A SUPERB EXHIBITION OF THE NEWEST SUITS

One would have been forgiven for thinking in the beginning of the season that the difficulties besetting manufacturers would exert an influence on Fall and Winter styles. But from our present showing it is quite clear that preparations for the season's exhibit lacks nothing!

The styles are novel, beautiful and varied—and above all they are PRACTICAL. We have carefully selected fashions that we know will appeal to you and we offer them now in an intensely interesting display at moderate prices.

Charming Assemblages Of New Millinery

As if to compensate for the severity which prevails in some lines of women's garments, millinery styles are more varied and more novel in design than they have been in several years. Some of the hats we are now showing are designed along comparatively simple lines, but the majority are more ornamental. At all events, here are hats that will please every woman because of their artistic charm and becomingness. All are priced on a basis of their real worth.
