USE ARMY BALLOONS OVER CITY OF OMAHA TO WATCH FOR FIRES

Machine Guns Also Stationed in Streets to Stop Fur- ther Riots.

NO FURTHER BLOODSHED FEARED BY OFFICIALS

1,500 Federal Troops Patrol Streets
—Mayor Smith Still in Hospital
—Is Now Out of Danger—Negro
Prisoners Removed From Jail.

Omaha, Sept. 30.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, acting under orders from Secretary of War Baker, arrived in Omaha early today and immediately took command of military forces sent here by the government to suppress lawlessness and establish order after the riotous outbreak of Sunday night. Gov. McKelvie also is in Omaha today to begin an investigation of the riots.

No outbreak of any kind has taken place since Sunday night. Predictions that there would be further rioting and bloodshed and that mobs were planning an attack upon negroes in their homes have not been fulfilled. Apparently the militia is in complete control of the situation.

Machine Guns in Streets.
Although the city is quiet, machine guns command every important street intersection today and machine guns mounted on trucks are in readiness for instant use if needed. The city hall, opposite the court house where the rioting centered, has been surrounded with a temporary barrier where weapons and ammunition of the federal troops are stored.

Using Balloons.
Floating above the city are army balloons from which lookouts are watching all parts of the city to spy out incendiary fires or other signs of violence. Throughout last night searchlights were played over the negro district.

The 700 federal soldiers from Forts Omaha and Crook were augmented today by the arrival of the 500 soldiers from Camp Grant. Additional troops from Camp Funston also are expected here today and by night it is expected Maj. Gen. Wood will have at least 1,500 soldiers on duty in Omaha.

Mayor Smith Better.
Mayor Ed P. Smith, who narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the mob when he refused to turn over to them the negro prisoner, Wm. Brown, who later was taken from the sheriff and lynched by the mob, is still confined to the Ford hospital but is recovering. Physicians said today that there is not danger of the mayor's injuries proving fatal.

Colored Prisoners Removed.
Fearing that further attacks might be made to harm negro prisoners in the county jail, the authorities have removed all colored prisoners to the state penitentiary at Lincoln.

With the probability of further violence greatly lessened city and state authorities turned their attention today to plans for the punishment of those guilty of participating in Sunday's reign of terror. It is likely that grave charges, including arson and assault to do bodily harm, will be lodged against many members of the mob.

PREACHER BASEBALL FAN REQUESTS THE LORD TO AID "REDS" IN SERIES.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Cincinnati has one real preacher baseball fan.

He is Rev. E. M. McMullin, of the First Presbyterian Church, and has asked all loyal Cincinnati fans to join him in a prayer in which the Lord is requested to grant "speed, control and deceptive curves to the pitchers, frequent and timely hits to the batters, blessings to Pat Moran, the manager, and good health and safety from accidents to all the players."

Rev. McMullin was a former college star and frequently practices with the Reds.

English Strikers Attempt To Wreck Train in London; Railway Service Improving

Minor Acts of Sabotage Re- ported Today—Rumors of Sympathetic Strike Contin- ue to be Passed About— Lloyd George to Appeal to Mayors to Organize Food Relief Services.

London, Sept. 30.—An attempt to wreck trains in the railway strike was reported in an official statement given out at the Premier's official residence in Downing street today. "Some minor acts of sabotage were reported," the announcement said.

The railway service is improving. Service is improving.

The text of the official communique follows:
"Railway service is improving. Yesterday's schedules prepared by the railway companies is now exceeded."

"Some minor acts of sabotage were reported."
"There was one case during the night where red and green signals were altered. Fortunately there was no loss of life."

"The distribution of food continues satisfactory, largely due to the spirit of the volunteer workers."

The following official statement was given out by the ministry of transport:
"The railway services are much improved. Numbers of men are reporting for duty all over the country. The bus and tram workers may strike but if they do the government is empowered to commandeer the lines."

LLOYD GEORGE TO APPEAL TO MAYORS TO ORGANIZE FOOD RELIEF SERVICES.

London, Sept. 30.—The prediction that the transport workers would strike today in sympathy with the railway strikers was made by the Central News. The transport workers' organization forms one of the arms of labor's powerful "Triple Alliance", and a walkout by this union would paralyze work in the ports.

Robert Smillie, head of the coal miners' union, the second branch of the "Triple Alliance", estimated in a statement made in Glasgow that the national rail tie-up will throw 90 per cent of the coal miners into idleness within three days even if they do not join the strike. Already about 100,000 miners are idle.

Traffic Paralyzed.
Traffic on the railway lines in England, Scotland and Wales is stagnated but officials of the government claim that volunteers have offered their services in such numbers that better service probably would be given during the next 24 hours.

Premier Lloyd George is planning patriotic appeals to the Mayors of cities and other civic heads to organize food relief services.

At the same time Sir Eric Geddes, minister of transport, expressed the opinion that the government would soon be able to establish "swift, through trains."

No Soldiers Used.
There have been movements of soldiers and sailors, but so far no effort has been made to man trains with military men.

Efforts are being made by the strike leaders to extend the movement. According to the Daily News the bus and street car operatives in London may be called out before night.

As a precautionary measure Sir Eric Geddes has removed some of the members of the Electrical Trade Union from the Chelsea power station, filling their places with boys from the Westminster School for naval training. The foremen of the power houses in London met during the morning to consider the advisability of striking in sympathy.

Airplanes Being Used.
A new era for commercial aviation has been opened by the strike. Mails are being carried to France, Belgium and Holland while a regular passenger traffic has been opened to

FARMERS AFTER NEGRO WHO ATTACKED WOMAN

Black is Hiding in Swamps—His Victim is Still Under Physician's Care.

Merchandise, N. J., Sept. 30.—One hundred farmers, muttering threats of lynching today surrounded a swamp eight miles east of Merchandise in which a negro farmer, who is wanted for an alleged attack upon a white woman is believed to be hiding. The swamp is large and is penetrated by a deep, swift stream.

The victim of the attack, Mrs. Mary Motzer, is 31 years old and the mother of five children. She is still under a physician's care, but is expected to recover.

TAKE WOUNDED NEGRO FROM BED TO LYNCH HIM

Third Lynching Within 24 Hours in Montgomery—Black Had Shot Footman.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 30.—Will Temple, a negro, charged with shooting Patrolman J. B. Barbaree when the officer attempted to quell a disturbance in the negro section, was taken from his bed in the Hales infirmary early today by a body of six men and lynched. The negro had been wounded in a pistol battle with Patrolman Barbaree.

The lynching of Temple followed the slaying late yesterday of Robert Cragg and Relius Pifer, two negroes accused of attacks on white women.

Croskey and Pifer were taken from an automobile at Hughes Ferry, after they had been committed to the circuit court for a preliminary hearing, by a mob of fifty masked men and their bodies riddled with bullets. Croskey lived five hours, the mob leaving him lying on the ground in a dying condition.

U. S. SHIPYARD WORKERS
MAY BE NEXT TO STRIKE

Men May Postpone Action Until After Wilson's Big Industrial Conference, Oct. 6.

Washington, Sept. 30.—A strike of shipyard workers is "inevitable" unless the navy department and the shipping board show a disposition to rescind their order prohibiting wage increases in yards constructing tonnage for the government.

This was asserted today by Jas. L. O'Connell, president of the Metal Trades Section of the American Federation of Labor, following a meeting of the presidents of the 15 international unions with which the men are affiliated, and preceding a conference with Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt and Director General Ackerson of the Emergency Fleet Corporation of the Shipping Board.

May Defer Action.
It is possible that the men might listen to an appeal that they defer action until after the President's industrial conference on October 6. O'Connell said, but it was doubtful.

"Everything hinges on the tone of the government officials," he asserted. The strike, if it was called, would be unique in two respects. The employers and the employees are in accord, the Pacific coast workers having an agreement with the yards for a raise of 8 cents an hour, while the yards on the Great Lakes and the Atlantic and Gulf coast are willing to grant the same increase if the government agencies will rescind their order. In the second place, it would be the first time that technical employees of the yards would be involved in the strike. The International Federation of Technical Engineers and Architects is one of the unions involved, and 75 per cent of the 5,100 members would be called out.

The world only requires of liars that their work be artistic.

TO PROBE STRIKERS' CHARGE OF TERRORISM; STEEL OPERATORS CONTINUE TO MAKE GAINS

E. L. G. HOHENTHAL URGES SELECTMEN TO CONSOLIDATE THE TOWN SCHOOLS

ATTACKS GIRL CLERK, THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Proprietor of Southington Grocery Store Commits Suicide When Rescuers Break in Door.

Southington, Conn., Sept. 30.—After making a murderous attack upon Miss Lillian O'Leary, 26, a clerk in his store in Plantsville, about 9.30 this morning, F. D. Carver, proprietor of a grocery, shot and killed himself just as two men had broken in to the rear door to rescue the young woman. Miss O'Leary was taken to her home where she is in a serious condition from the assault but will probably recover.

Beat Her With Blackjack.
Carver, who is about 60 years of age, was beating Miss O'Leary over the head with a blackjack in a rear room of the store when her screams attracted the attention of John Wheeler, of New Haven, a traveling salesman who was passing in his automobile. Wheeler ran to the back door of the store, tore away a screen and smashed the glass. As he gained entrance he was joined by John Simpson, clerk in a nearby drug store, who had also been attracted by the young woman's screams.

As the two men entered Carver ceased his attack on Miss O'Leary and seized a 32 calibre revolver fired one shot through his temple. When Constable Thompson and Dr. Paul Plummer arrived, in response to a call a few moments later Carver was dead.

WILSON WILL NOT LIFT
WAR TIME PROHIBITION

Insistent Reports That Saloons Will Soon Be Allowed to Reopen, Are Denied by Officials.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Insistent reports that President Wilson soon will lift war time prohibition by proclaiming the army demobilized, while arousing considerable interest in official circles this afternoon, were without verification.

At both the White House and the Department of Justice officials stated that the situation was unchanged, and that no hint as to when any such action would be taken had been given.

It was pointed out that the latest figures issued from the War Department showed that the emergency army was 90 per cent demobilized.

At the same time it was pointed out that Attorney General Palmer has let it be known that it is his informal opinion that no matter what the demobilization on figures may indicate, demobilization cannot be technically completed until the treaty has been ratified and the proclamation of peace issued.

"ITALY MUST BE FIRM."

Paris, Sept. 30.—The Homme Libre Premier Clemenceau's newspaper, stated today that the latest telegrams from President Wilson "show that it would be easy to reach an accord on Fiume, acceptable to the world, if the Italian government would act firmly."

It is hinted that a general election in Italian or punishment of the insurgents under Gabriele d'Annunzio's forces at Fiume could not stand out against armed action by the Jugo-Slavs for more than two days, but adds: "Happily such a thing is still avoidable."

SUB-TREASURY GAINS.
New York, Sept. 30.—The sub-treasury gained $1,506,000 from the banks on Monday, making the cash net gain since Friday $1,765,000.

Also Suggests That High School be Owned by Man- chester—Objects to Name "South Manchester"

The consolidation of Manchester's schools and also the erection of a high school to be owned and supported by the Town of Manchester was urged by Emil L. G. Hohenthal at a meeting of the selectmen at the Hall of Records last evening. Although the meeting had been called for the purpose of preparing the call for the annual town meeting, the discussion of Mr. Hohenthal's suggestion was the principal feature of the session.

Mr. Hohenthal referred to the annual report of the Ninth District School Committee and pointed out that Chairman Howell Cheney in his report had said, "We should also work toward the development of a plan under which we might conduct a high school as a town school." Mr. Hohenthal further stated that it was no other to the Ninth District or any other district to run the High school as it is.

For a Town High School.
"A town high school," said Mr. Hohenthal, "would take care of our school population. It should be centrally located and should belong to the town of Manchester. Pupils that go out from this town to colleges should go out from the Manchester high school instead of the South Manchester high school. The management of such a school should be equally assumed by the voters as a whole and the control should be by the town and not by the Ninth district." Speaking of the present high school, Mr. Hohenthal said, "If Cheney Brothers own and control the South Manchester high school for the Ninth District, they could do the same thing for the town."

Mr. Hohenthal said that the selectmen should incorporate a clause in the warning to the effect that the Town of Manchester assume the duties and responsibilities of the present high school or build a new one. Acting on the suggestion later in the evening the selectmen voted to recommend to the voters at the annual town meeting, the consideration of a town high school to be supported by the entire taxpayers of the town, to be centrally located and known as the Manchester High school.

Advocates Town Hall.
Another matter brought before the selectmen by Mr. Hohenthal, although he admitted it was quite remote, was that the town meeting should appoint a committee to begin plans for the centennial celebration of Manchester which will take place in 1923. Mr. Hohenthal was of the opinion that the town should take steps to erect a suitable town hall by that time. It appeared from the outset that the majority of the selectmen present were in favor of both the town hall and high school propositions.

The board got down to official business at 3.45 o'clock with five members present. E. L. G. Hohenthal called the attention of the board to the condition of West Center street in the vicinity of his residence during the rainy periods. The present drain he said was not large enough to carry away the surplus water and he suggested that a larger drain pipe be laid. The present drain is laid of eight inch pipe. The board promised to look into the matter.

Rebates on Liquor Licenses.
A communication was received from the O. J. Gude Company of New York asking that the selectmen

ALL AROUND THE WORLD IN TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Boston, Sept. 30.—A one-day airplane trip around the world will soon be possible if the plans made by Bleriot and other French aviators develop successfully, declares Lieut. Commander A. C. Read of the famous transatlantic seaplane NC-4. Read said that Bleriot told him that with the aid of French inventions now being worked out at a speed of 1000 miles an hour and an altitude of 60,000 feet could be maintained.

PRESIDENT RESTS WELL CONDITION IMPROVING

Enjoys First Night's Sleep Since His Breakdown on Friday.

Must Remain Quiet

Yet Chief Executive is Interested in Senate Battle Over Treaty and Sends Out Statement.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The President had a good night's rest and is improving.

This official bulletin issued today by Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson was the second within 12 hours that told of an improvement in President Wilson's condition, and the Admiral was manifestly pleased with the progress his patient is making.

First Night's Sleep.
It is understood that last night was the first time that the President has had any sleep that was refreshing since his breakdown last Friday.

As a result he was up in his room early today, and was reported to be greatly refreshed. Dr. Grayson believes that with a few more nights of good sleep and with perfect rest and as much fresh air as he can get, the President soon will start regaining his lost energy.

Must Remain Quiet.
Dr. Grayson's program of absolute rest and quiet for a few days will be strictly adhered to despite Mr. Wilson's desire to resume the fight for the treaty and League of Nations. Thus far the President's friends have responded gracefully to Dr. Grayson's demand for quiet and the White House since the President's return has been kept free from visitors other than to the executive offices. Expressions of regret and flowers have been received in great numbers, but the President personally is in retreat.

Interested in Senate Fight.
Although the President is taking as complete a rest as possible, he is interested in the Senate battle over the peace treaty, and was informed by Secretary Tumulty last night that the prospects for early ratification "appeared much better than they have at any time during the past ten days."

It was said in White House circles that administration leaders do not fear that any reservations so drastic as to send the treaty back will be adopted, and it was reiterated that President Wilson's position is not in opposition to "clarifying reservations". The stand was taken that if opponents of the treaty had enough votes to defeat it, they would endeavor to bring it to a vote at the earliest possible moment.

WILSON'S NOMINATIONS.
Washington, Sept. 30.—The President this afternoon sent the following nominations to the Senate.

To be ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary to Belgium: Brand Whitlock of Ohio, now minister to Belgium.

To be Chief of Naval Operations in the Department of the Navy, with the rank of Admiral, for a term of four years: Rear Admiral Robert H. Coontz, U. S. Navy.

Ninth Day Shows Little Change in General Situation—At Waukegan, Ill., Strikers Clash With Deputies—In Middle West Majority of Plants Remain Closed—In Pennsylvania Conditions Approaching Normal

Washington, Sept. 30.—The Senate will carry its investigation of the steel strike directly into the troubled ridden Pittsburgh district next Friday.

Senator William S. Kenyon, chairman of the Education and Labor committee of the Senate, announced today that unless the League of Nations situation in the Senate interferes, his committee, which is conducting the investigation of the strike, will reopen its investigation Friday in Pittsburgh, and continue it for three days, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

To Probe "Terrorism."
While Senator Kenyon announced that the committee would visit "the Pittsburgh district," the committee undoubtedly will carry its investigation into such surrounding steel centers as McKeesport and other towns where John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the steel strikers' national committee, charged there had been "attempts against the safety of Pennsylvania state constabulary, steel mill guards. Senator Kenyon's announcement followed closely the receipt of an invitation to the committee to come to Pittsburgh from the McKeesport Chamber of Commerce, which stated that "aspirations" had been cast against that city by the steel strikers.

The visit of the Senate labor committee to the Pittsburgh district will not interfere with the hearing tomorrow of Judge Gary, head of the U. S. Steel Corporation, against which the strike is principally aimed, on the corporation's side of the steel strike.

Also, on Thursday, the Senate Labor Committee will hear the testimony of William Z. Foster, secretary of the steel strikers national committee and characterized as the leader of the strike, and of M. F. Tighe, president of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of America, the union principally involved in the strike. Foster will be questioned about the radical book "Syndicalism," which he wrote several years ago.

TROOPS ARE READY.
Columbus, O., Sept. 30.—Two companies of the Ohio National Guard, located in Akron, are being held in readiness today for possible trouble in the eastern Ohio strike area. Others were demobilized last night by order of Governor Cox.

MAY CALL TROOPS.
Chicago, Sept. 30.—Authorities of Waukegan, the North Shore suburb where the plant of the American Steel and Wire Company is located are holding themselves in readiness today to call for troops to suppress disorder, if the present threatening aspect of the strike of steel workers there results in further outbreaks.

Adjutant General Dickson of the Illinois National Guard, is prepared to dispatch troops at once if they are needed.

The action of the Waukegan authorities will be determined by developments which may follow today in the wake of an outbreak late yesterday when 2,000 strikers attacked 300 special deputy sheriffs, most of them business men of Waukegan, who were stationed at the American steel and wire company's plant to protect non-union men as they left the factory after their day's work.

Signed the Deputies.
The strikers it is declared, rebuffed the deputies with stones, tore their badges off and threatened them with further violence if they returned.

H. I. TAYLOR ATTENDS LAST MEETING OF BOARD

After Seven Years of Active, Conscientious Work, He Retires From Board of Selectmen.

Seven consecutive years of town service as a member of the board of selectmen is the record of Howard I. Taylor who made his final appearance last evening in public session.

In the seven years that he has served as a selectman, Mr. Taylor has missed but two meetings. He was absent at one of these meetings because of illness. He was elected a selectman in 1912, serving during that year as secretary of the board. He was also chairman of the board in 1913, '14, '15, '16 and '17.

As chairman of the board he served on all the committees appointed to supervise town affairs and his wide range of town affairs had made him a valuable official. Quite frequently in sessions the advice of Mr. Taylor has been sought on perplexing problems.

That his absence will be keenly regretted is emphasized by a statement made by Selectman William C. Cheney recently that the town was losing a valuable and highly efficient servant in Mr. Taylor. Taking into consideration the great amount of work done by Mr. Taylor it can be easily seen that he has been interested in the town from a conscientious standpoint and not because of the paltry compensation.

James Johnston leaving. James H. Johnston of the "Big 4" is another man who leaves the board. He has been a member of the board for three consecutive years and has been very active in town affairs. Even amidst the pressure of business he has always found time to aid his colleagues in solving town matters. Mr. Johnston's business interests demand his entire attention and for this reason he did not run for the board and his absence will also be felt.

An inventor has patented a device in two sections that can be taken apart without danger of breaking its contents.

RED CROSS CHAPTER PLANS FINE PROGRAM

Distinguished War Veterans and Excellent Singers Will Be Heard—Admission by Ticket.

The annual meeting of the Manchester Chapter American Red Cross will be held in Cheney Hall, Thursday evening, October 9, at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be of unusual interest to every member of the Chapter.

A brief but complete synopsis of the work of the local Chapter during the war will be given, followed by an interesting description of the distribution of the garments and surgical dressings, produced by our women, when the goods actually arrived in France.

Lieutenant Colonel C. C. Burlingame, just returned from active Red Cross work overseas, will speak about the medical side of the work. Dr. C. E. Hesselgrave will describe how the sweaters, socks, etc., eventually reached our boys in the front line trenches.

Another interesting feature of the evening's program will be some songs by Mrs. Wankowski, formerly Maude Reese Daytes. Mrs. Wankowski has been heard in town once or twice by a favored few during the last few months. These few who have heard her have been very anxious to get her to sing for a larger audience before she finally returns to her home in California. Therefore, through the efforts of Mrs. Crowell, Mrs. Wankowski has agreed to come up from New York with her accompanist and sing anything anybody wants during the evening.

The Unity Quartet of Hartford, of which Mr. F. J. Bendall is the bass, will also give one or two selections. After the evening's program, light refreshments will be served at the expense of the members of the executive committee. All members of the Red Cross are invited to attend this meeting.

In order that the committee may know in advance how many to provide for, admission will be by ticket. These tickets are entirely free and are to be distributed by the auxiliaries or may be obtained at the War Bureau, at Watkins Brothers, at Packard's Drug Store or at Balch & Brown's.

Sen. Bowers Says Governor Errs—Amendment Was Never Defeated
 Withdrawn During Last Session Because of Defective Wording on Advice of Ex-Governor Baldwin—Explores Connecticut's Position as Unfair—Stands Alone in All New England.

Senator A. E. Bowers contends that Governor Marcus H. Holcomb is in error when he maintains that the General Assembly of 1919 defeated the amendment to allow the women of Connecticut equal suffrage. This statement was made by the governor in a letter sent to all the representatives and senators who petitioned for a special session a week ago today.

"Governor Wrong."
 "The Governor is in error," said Senator Bowers this morning, "when he says the amendment was defeated in the last session of legislature. It was never brought up. In 1917 the bill providing that the women of Connecticut should vote and that the constitution of the state should be so amended, was introduced in the House. At that time it was passed with a majority of thirty or forty votes. According to law the bill had to wait for the next session, which was held this year, and then if after a reintroduction it passed both Houses with a two-thirds majority it could be referred to the people for the final decision."

Never Brought Up.
 "As I said, the bill passed the House in 1917. But it was not brought up again in 1919. And the reason was that ex-Governor Baldwin whose authority cannot be questioned, declared that because of the wording of the proposed amendment it was defective and even if acted upon and adopted could never be made effective. The advice of ex-Governor Baldwin was accepted. The bill was withdrawn and the General Assembly never had a chance to vote on it."

Senator Bowers thought that Connecticut was being placed in a peculiar position. He did not think the attitude of the Governor fair, or that the people of the state were receiving just treatment. He indicated that the attitude taken by the Governor was against the wishes of the majority of the legislators as well as of the people of the state.

The Governor's Letter.
 To Senator A. E. Bowers, Manchester, Connecticut.
 At the hearings on September twenty-third on applications to call a special session of the General Assembly, several reasons were urged. One was to act on the trolley situation and other matters which were considered at the last regular session. Our constitution provides that "The General Assembly shall adjourn sine die not later than the first Wednesday after the first Monday in June following its organization." If a special session may be called to act upon matters considered at the regular session it would be possible to have practically a continuous session which would conflict with our constitution.

Another, and the principal reason urged, was to permit the present members of the General Assembly to ratify the Federal Suffrage Amendment; and in aid of this, petitions were presented signed by a considerable majority of each branch of the General Assembly, a few requesting the calling of a special session "to consider" but a clear majority "to ratify" the Federal Suffrage Amendment. It is doubtful if those favoring woman suffrage would have requested the calling of a special session if it had appeared that a majority of the present members of the General Assembly were opposed to woman suffrage; and it is obvious that the opponents to woman suffrage would not be convinced they had their "day in court," when a majority of the members of the court had announced in advance that the decision would be against them.

There is a sharp division in sentiment in this state upon the question of woman suffrage which should be decided by a vote of the people of the state. This would have been possible if the amendment to our constitution relating thereto had been passed. The General Assembly of 1919 defeated this amendment. Now, the nearest approach to an expression of the sentiment of the people upon the question would be by a vote of a General Assembly whose members were elected knowing they were to act upon it. This was not the case when the present members were elected.

 A further reason urged was that woman suffrage was sure to come by the vote of other states, whatever action this state might take; and that it would be wise to be with the majority, or as it is sometimes expressed "get into the band wagon." It will hardly be claimed, that this creates the "special emergency" mentioned in our constitution which authorizes the governor to call a special session.

Another reason urged was that the Republican and Democratic parties in National Convention assembled adopted platforms favoring woman suffrage. This is true, but neither of them advocated its adoption except by a vote of the people of the states. The National Republican platform favored the extension of suffrage to women "but recognizes the right of each state to settle the question for itself;" and the National Democratic platform favored it with this provision: "We recommend the extension of the franchise to the women of the country by the states upon the same terms as to men."

I am of the opinion that none of the reasons urged create the "special emergency" mentioned in our constitution which is the only authority given the governor to call a special session. I, therefore, decline to call one.

(Signed)
 MARCUS H. HOLCOMB,
 Governor.

Hartford, Sept. 29, 1919.
 Commenting on this letter, Senator Bowers decried the position in which Connecticut was being placed, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island—all of the New England states except Connecticut, have given the women the right to vote. The great empire state of New York on our western boundary has given the women this right. Yet, here is Connecticut, alone in all the territory, that will hold out until the necessary thirty-eight states ratify, which I feel sure they will do before the presidential elections.
 "I mean," he continued, "that Connecticut will be lined up with a few retrogressive southern states and these few will stand against the will of the nation."

MINERS MAY DISAGREE.
 Washington, Sept. 30.—Possibilities of a disagreement between coal miners and coal operators were serious considered by the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today when it reopened its investigation of the coal situation.
 Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, chairman of the investigating committee, had evidence before him to show what the effects would be upon the nation if the operators and the miners are unable to agree upon the demands which have been made by the miners.

THE WAR'S AFTERMATH

We cannot recall a time when reading the news of the world has had as depressing an effect as it has now.

But now we are confronted by a spread of lawlessness among the victorious nations which blackens the pages of the daily papers far worse than the deeds of legitimate warfare.

England is on the verge of a revolution through the ruthless strike of the railway men which deprives people of food, which ties up mills by lack of material and is daily adding to the thousands who, though willing to work, cannot.

But the steel strike is only one of many deplorable things which blot the news. Boston's policemen forsake their posts and turn the city over to looters and gunmen.

CIDER DAYS

Golden September cider will take the place this year of the traditional brown October ale.

Those who say they have long gone dry with prohibition may yet find themselves with something akin to the old familiar juice.

What autumn road is not familiar with the sight of farmer driving to town with his barrel and bags of apples?

For in the barrel is the relish of a mediocre meal, the comfort of a drab hour and the path that leads away from the daily round of duties.

The most rabid of ants cannot but regard the substitute from the cider press with an easy tolerance.

The sermon by Rev. E. F. Studley on Church Going, a synopsis of which we printed yesterday, was timely.

The World's series ball games will take place this year at Cincinnati.

THE CASE OF OMAHA

Omaha, which calls itself an American city, has a population of some 225,000, enjoying the usual American advantages of public schools, libraries, and a regularly established government.

Yet Omaha, putting the torch to its public buildings, turning its public prisoners over to the butchery of a ferocious mob attacking the murder of its chief executive, burns into a state of savagery comparable with Petrograd.

It makes one wonder how firmly civilization anywhere holds its seat; what volcansoes of passion and fury surge beneath us everywhere!

The psychologists may be able to trace some connection between the murderous brutality of war and these hideous outbreaks in widely separated quarters of the world.

The potentialities which made Omaha hideous lurk in other cities. But we may be thankful that they find their expression only through a minority of the citizens.

Neither in Omaha nor anywhere else is this a country for brutes and cave men.

A Variety of Classes. The evening schools will open on Monday evening, October 13th, with a splendid variety of study courses.

Eleven courses will be offered this year. These included classes for 6th grade pupils, 7th grade pupils, 8th grade pupils; bookkeeping, commercial arithmetic and practice, typewriting, stenography—Gregg system, timekeeping, time study, plain sewing, dressmaking and cooking.

BOLTON YIELDS CROP OF GRAPES AND WALNUTS

Wild Vines and Nut Trees Combine to Recompense Farmer for Loss in Potato Fields—Personal.

(Special to the Evening Herald.) Bolton, Sept. 30.—Hardly a wild grape vine in the vicinity of Bolton that is not bearing a generous crop this year. Old fences and trees that support the arbors are purple with the fruit. Quantities are being gathered by the local housewives for grape juice, jellies, jams and preserves. It is said that the wild grape adds, also, a fine flavor and peculiar tang to the otherwise ordinary cider.

It has been customary for the grape and walnut crops to alternate. But the past few years have been poor in both. This year, however, the grape vines and the walnut trees have been laden and the farmers are looking forward to the unexpected revenue that they may derive from these sources. It is a relief to know, after seeing his potato crop cut in half or worse from rot, that grapes will bring two dollars a bushel and walnuts six dollars a bushel. And he does not welcome the automobile parties that deprive him of any part.

Elderberry bushes are also doing their bit and they are supplying more than enough berries for the available amount of sugar that is necessary to convert them into preserves or wine.

The apple crop is below normal and the fruit that is obtained is not of the best quality. But all that can be gathered are carted to the cider-mill to be made into the popular Juice against the day when the fields are hidden in snow banks.

The New Coats & Wraps

run largely to coats and coat-wraps. The new coats are full and loose with the line of the shoulder and arm-hole ample and free. Large pockets, choker collars, and frequently down the front seam of the coat, fur trimming is largely shown. Indicating a richness to the new coats which will please the woman who seeks for a regal elegance in her fall attire.

The Newly Designed Dresses

though a slight change is noted in the silhouette of the fall styles, suggested by draped effects at the hips, strictly speaking there is no radical departure from the straight lines of the familiar American model. Simplicity in cut is contrasted by a perfect riot of richness in brodered, braided and buttoned novelties in trimming, while a slight departure to French ideas is seen in the lines of the returning coat dress. But as will be noted in the scores of models we show, endless variety of design most becomingly overtakes the unity of figure line in new dress fashions for fall.

Prices Range $14.95 to $39.50

Family Button Bag
By MOLLIE PRICE COOK
To make a family button bag you will need: a strip of checked gingham (of any attractive color) 18" long and 8 1/2" wide; 1 pearl fish-eye button 3/4" in diameter; 1 pearl fish-eye button 1/2" in diameter; 1 pearl fish-eye button 3/8" in diameter; 2 ordinary bone buttons 1/2" in diameter; 1 small bone button 3/8" in diameter. (Choose buttons with two holes.) Sew heavy mercerized black-crochet cotton; an embroidery or darning needle.

How to Proceed
1. Bring ends of cloth together. The crosswise fold they made forms the bottom of bag. Crease the fold. Three inches above this fold and three inches from left edge, sew the largest fish-eye button. Use ordinary white thread. Sew firmly, making stitches vertical with length of bag. This forms the body of a figure. Just above this button, and in the center, sew one of the 1/2" bone buttons, making stitches horizontal. This makes the head.
2. Two inches to the right, and one square of the gingham down, sew the next largest fish-eye button. Above this, as previously, sew the other 1/2" bone button for a head. This makes a smaller body for another figure.
3. In the center between the four buttons already sewed and about five squares below the biggest button, sew the third fish-eye button. Above this sew the smallest bone button.

4. Now thread the large-eyed embroidery or darning needle with the black mercerized thread, and with an ordinary back stitch run the outline of arms, legs and feet, as shown in the illustration. This completes the figure.
5. Recrease the strip of gingham so the material will be wrong side out. Stitch each side firmly with half-inch seams.

6. Fold back top edge of bag one inch. Turn under a 1/4" hem and baste.
7. Beginning at the right side run gathering stitch around top hem. Cut thread, allowing two or three inches of thread. Run another gathering stitch beginning at the left side, just above the previous stitching. Cut thread as before.

8. This makes a gathering string at each side of the bag. Tie the loose ends of the strings in a firm knot, and the bag is finished. (It is best to use double thread for this, so the drawing-string will be strong.)

How to Make a Boat Sail Itself
By GRANT M. HYDE
"Racing toy sailboats on the pond was all the rage when I was a boy," said Uncle Bob. "All they'd do, though, was sail before the wind, or with the rudder tied over, make a big circle and drift back. Watching them gave me an idea and I figured out a rig that would sail itself against the wind; just like a real boat."
"How did you do it?"
"Well, I whittled the hull of a toy cat out of a flat pine board about one-half inch thick, 9 inches wide and 30 inches long (see drawing). To this I fastened a keel made of 1/2-inch board, 6 inches wide, and ballasted with some old lead pipe. (Drawing gives dimensions of mast, boom, gaff and sail.) The rudder and rudderpost were whittled out of one piece, 1/2-inch thick, fastened to the keel with staples hooked together, and with the rudderpost sticking through a hole in the deck. The tiller, fastened on with some brass pointed back parallel to the rudder.

The secret of automatic tacking was a string running from the tiller to the boom. It was fixed so that the sail swinging to one side, would pull the tiller and rudder over to the same side. Another string from the boom to a staple in the deck kept the sail from swinging too far out—just enough to clear the rudder.
"The rig would tuck only in a puffy wind. I'd start it out diagonally to the wind, and the wind would swing the sail out and carry the tiller and rudder over. It took some tinkering to make the string just the right length so that the rudder would just counteract the pull of the sail and keep her in a straight course. She'd keep the tack until the puff of wind died out, and then the rudder would bring her around so that the next puff would send her on the opposite tack. To steady her I hitched a piece of stowewood on behind, towed by a cord. It took some experimenting to get everything right, but it worked."

De Moines, Ia., Sept. 30.—Prohibition will drive many foreigners from the United States according to Peter Dapionis, well-known Italian and president of the Italian Importing Company.

WAR DEPARTMENT REPUSES TO BELIEVE HE'S ALIVE
SO WIFE ASKES $10,000.
Milford, Mass., Sept. 30.—Ernest H. Johnson, a Milford war veteran, is having a difficult time persuading the War Department that he is, in fact, not dead, as the department's records show. Despite the fact that he has sent several letters, endorsed by town officials to show that he is alive, the department has not corrected its mistake.
The latest development in the situation is a letter from the War Department directing Johnson's wife to return all allotment money she received after November 4, 1918, which, according to the department, her husband died. "Ting of the controversy as to his vital status, Johnson had his wife write back that she would return the allotment money as soon as the department sent her the $10,000 war risk insurance she took out when he entered the service."
The rest was carried from India and Peru to England in 1781, by which had made its way to France and thence spread throughout Europe.

TAD'S TID-BITS

Tom Mulvey, of San Francisco, who has been associated in the boxing game with Jim Coffroth since both wore Nolan's $3 shoes, declares Joe Gans to be his choice for the greatest man that ever wore fighting shoes.
"Was there ever a prettier boxer to watch than Gans?" asked Mulvey as he got heated up about his man. "They say that Larry Lajotte made everything look easy at second base. You never saw Gans ruffled very much did you, and he took them all the way up to middleweights. The sobriquet 'Old Master' suited him nicely. That was a monicker for your life."
"You must remember that Gans, too, was sort of an old man when he lost his title. He'd been in the ring seventeen years up to that time, and he was thirty-four years old. Battling Nelson on that day was tougher than any lightweight that ever lived. I mean that he could take more punishment and still come back with a great deal. Gans, sick and old, went seventeen rounds with him at that, and quit only when nature left him flat."
"He had fought hundreds and hundreds of battles, long and short, with clever men and hard hitters. He was in the game when a tough gang was around, too. He had to beat such fellows as 'Dad' Hawkins, Young Gatto, Elbows McFadden, Kid McParland, Jack Blackburn, Willie Fitzgerald, Bobby Dobby, Frank Erns, and so on. Later he beat Britt, Urholz, Nelson and Rufe Turner. He fought a draw too with Joe Walcott, who was then welter weight champion."
"I liked his style, though. It was so easy going. A master at blocking and a terrific man with a punch when he hit he HIT! He wasn't a spitting man. Everything was timed with Gans, and everything went like clockwork. Taken all in all, I don't really believe that such a master in ring craft will ever live again."

EIGHTH DIST. VOTES TO USE $19,000 TO BUILD HOSE HOUSE

Contract Awarded William Knofla Whose Bid is $17,225.

MAJORITY OF VOTERS DECIDE AGAINST DELAY

North End Men Do Not Think There Will Be a Decrease in Building Material Costs.

The voters and taxpayers of the Eighth School and Utilities District at the special meeting held last night voted almost unanimously to appropriate the sum of $19,000 for the erection and furnishing of the new hose house at the corner of Main and Hilliard street.

William Knofla of Henry street, the well known contractor and builder was awarded the contract as he was the lowest bidder in competition with two other local contractors. His bid was $17,225, and he promises to have the fire house completed by December 15 of this year.

The meeting was attended by about 50 voters. Dr. F. A. Sweet presided. He called upon the building committee for its report. W. S. Hyde reported for the committee. He explained to the meeting that it had been necessary to extend the time for closing the bids and that three bids had been received.

Those who favored the appropriation and spoke in behalf of the construction of the building at this time were Scott Simon and George H. Williams. They were of the opinion that the present time would be as good as any time within the next five years to erect the new hose house.

Proposes Delay. Judge H. O. Bowers while not opposed to the erection of a good hose house, was of the opinion that it was not good business at the present time to go to the expense when the cost would be twice what it would be under ordinary circumstances.

This is National Blanket Week Sept 29th to Oct. 4th

During this week we are making a special showing of BEACON BLANKETS

Inexpensive in price, they are unusually warm. Read what the U. S. Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., has to say about Beacon Blankets.

Customers, when they feel the thickness and softness of Beacon Blankets, surprised to learn that they are cotton, often ask: "Are they as warm as wool?" The reply may best be taken from the report of the U. S. Department of Commerce Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C., made after exacting tests of Beacon Blankets.

We do not wish to convey the impression that Beacon Blankets are more satisfactory than wool blankets under all circumstances, but they are much warmer than wool weight for weight, as shown by the Government report, in which the 5-lb. wool blanket is 25 per cent heavier than the heaviest of the Beacon Blankets in the test. Even the 2 3-4 lb. Beacon Blanket tests 30 per cent warmer than the 5-lb. wool blankets.

The results as shown by the Government report are undoubtedly due to the fact that the Beacon Blankets are much thicker than wool blankets of the same weight and form a better protecting "air cushion."

We believe that this information, especially authentic, is of value to intending purchasers of Beacon Blankets. Excerpts from the U.S. report are presented on the next page.

Vote Unanimous. The meeting was apparently out to vote the appropriation as asked for and when the chairman put the question to the meeting it was almost unanimous.

At the meeting last night Charles B. Loomis was chosen to take his place.

A. E. Fiske, the local architect who drew the plans for the building will have the oversight of the construction of the building and will see that his plans are carried out.

ODD FELLOWS TO STAGE A GLITTERING FANTASIA

Unusually Large and Unusually Beautiful Production On Which Most of Manchester's Talent is Working Now.

Unquestionably the most ambitious affair ever undertaken by a local organization in this town is that announced to take place at the Park theatre October 3 and 10 when the musical show, "Glittering Fantasia," with a cast of two hundred will be presented under the combined auspices of King Avid Lodge, Odd Fellows and Sunset Rebekah Lodge.

Although presented by local talent, "Glittering Fantasia," is not an amateur entertainment, in the common sense but an extraordinary spectacle of massive scenes, gorgeous costumes and beautiful lighting and mechanical effects, that were so popular on Broadway. In fact, the ap-
