BAVARIA WILL DEFY BOTH ALLIES AND BERLIN RULERS

Minister-President Declares Country Will Maintain Stand on Question of Demobilizing Defense Associations.

Berlin, March 16.—Bavaria is determined to defy both the Berlin government and the allies on the question of demobilizing the Einwohnerwehr it was declared by Minister-President Von Kahr in an address to a Munich dispatch to the Taegliche Rundschau today.

"If half of the Germans supported orderly government as well as do the members of the Orghesch Germany would be much better off," said the Bavarian statesman.

Dr. Von Kahr alleged that French influence was at work to bring about secession of Bavaria from the German confederation and that monarchists were supporting the movement, hoping for a union with Austria.

The Bavarian courts now have the alleged royalist plots under investigation, said Dr. Von Kahr. He said that it has been shown that the royalist plot was partly directed against the Orghesch because it opposed a return of the monarchy.

Poker Game Ends Fatally

Dunkle held three aces in a poker game and thought that was enough to win the pot. Ross Wickersham, however, laid down a pat fish and raked in the winnings.

Dunkle was so enraged, a witness testified at the trial of Dunkle for the slaying of Wickersham, that he started an argument which resulted in the fatal shooting of the winner.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY REFUSES TO HAVE DAYLIGHT SAVING

Municipalities Will Have No Option in Matter if Bill Passed by House and Senate Meets Approval of Governor Lake.

Hartford, Mar. 16.—Daylight saving was completely doomed in Conn. today when the Senate by a vote of 19 to 14 concurred with the House action of last week in adopting the bill prohibiting other than standard time in the state or any of its departments or municipalities.

Hartford, Mar. 16.—Senator Treat briefly explained the bill prohibiting daylight saving in the state which was the order of the day in the Senate at noon today.

Senator Butler of Middletown moved that the bill be recommitted. Senator Drew of Ansonia pointed out that the original bill was a joke measure which ordered that the sun rise at a certain hour daily and was comparable to the "silly Rogers antam bills" in the House. He objected to recommending the bill because there was a full attendance today in the Senate. But if the bill were recommitted he said he wanted to see it to the judiciary committee because it dealt with a legal matter. Senator Butler said he occupied a forward position because he felt he had to give the city of Middletown some representation regarding the fact that much of his 33rd

RAMMED MADAWASKA COMING INTO PORT

Passenger Carrying Transport Hit by Shipping Board Steamship Inevitable Making Her Way to New York.

New York, March 16.—The United States army transport Madawaska which was badly damaged in a collision with the Shipping Board Steamship Invincible twenty miles off Atlantic City in a dense fog last night, early today was making her way to this port, according to wireless advices reaching here.

The Madawaska, inbound from Manila by way of San Francisco had 46 passengers aboard. The captain stated last night that he would transfer these passengers early today to some other ship but latest advices indicated the passengers were still aboard the transport. The Invincible tore a big hole in the Madawaska's bow and for a time it was feared that the transport would sink. Her crew succeeded in stopping up the hole however, and the captain wireless that he would be able to bring the vessel into New York.

The Invincible, which was bound from this port to Norfolk was not badly damaged in the collision and stood by the Madawaska, prepared to take off her passengers if it was necessary.

The commander of the Madawaska is Captain Robert A. Bartlett, who commanded the vessels that took Peary and Stefansson into the Arctic.

Immediately after the collision Captain Bartlett ordered his crew to the emergency station and had all the necessary life belts. Preparations were made to launch the transport's life boats.

A tug was rushed from New York to meet the transport and aid her if necessary. A revenue cutter also was sent out from Atlantic City to stand by in case the passengers were taken off.

New York, Mar. 16.—The following message was received here from Captain Bartlett this morning:

"We are proceeding at reduced speed for New York, accompanied by the Invincible. Sea good; wind fair, proceeding slowly."

Experts Amazed at Long Step Forward Taken by Cheney Bros.

"DARING" THE KEYNOTE OF LOCAL EXHIBITION

American and Foreign Manufacturers Taken by Surprise When Secret Work Was Revealed.

It is estimated that over 4,000 persons visited the silk show at Cheney Hall yesterday. In the evening the crowd was so great that it was necessary to close the doors until some of those inside had left the hall. In order that all might see the historical pageant of silk the program was given twice during the evening. Many of the visitors were from Hartford and other nearby places, and the streets in the vicinity of the hall were thronged with automobiles. As the fame of the display widens through the sounding of its praises by those who have seen it the crowds will no doubt be even larger. Tonight the silk pageant will be shown twice, at 8 o'clock and at 9. Those who see the first series of tableaux are requested to vacate the hall by 8:45 in order that the later comers may see the second series.

Color Vibrations.

The gigantic impression which overwhelms everyone who visits the show is the wealth of color. It could not be called a riot of color for a riot implies disorder and in this display the orderly arrangement of color is carried to the highest degree. While conventional ideas of color combinations have been defied, the effects produced are charming. Mr. Henry Creange, art director for Cheney Brothers, under whose personal direction the show has been built, says that colors are conveyed to the eye, as sound to the ear, by vibrations. These vibrations have been scientifically measured and charted. As in music certain notes vibrate in harmony so in optics certain colors harmonize. Guided by this principle Mr. Creange groups colors according to their vibrations and so makes a scientific harmony. In this way there can be no guess work. Discretion only is necessary in judgment of the volume of the different color tones. Some colors are helped by mass effects; others are most effective in merely suggestive quantities.

"The characteristic of this show," said Mr. Creange, "is its daring. The curse of this country is its failure to express itself. Manufacturers want to play safe; they do not cater to individuality. They hate to depart from the neutral tints and designs. In this exhibit of Cheney Brothers the firm has boldly struck out in search of the beautiful, regardless of conventional lines."

A Surprising Step Forward.

The greatest advance exemplified at Cheney Hall, and earlier at the New York show, has been in the broadened dress goods, in tinsel and plain silk. The chief examples of these fabrics will be found near the main entrance in the beautiful booth between the doors and on both sides of the south end of the hall. The completion of these fabrics has marked a long step forward in the silk industry of this country. They were undertaken, said Mr. Creange, before it was known there was to be a silk exhibit. When the New York show was planned they were hurried to completion. There was no time to experiment. The first finished fabrics were sent direct to the New York exposition. Not even the designers had seen them and the salesmen in the New York store and only heard of them. When they burst into light they took the trade by storm. French silk experts at the New York show were sure these goods were never produced in this country and were with difficulty convinced that they were fabricated in the mills at South Manchester. Domestic rivals of Cheney Brothers threw up their hands and declared that this display

Pope Benedict Utters Special Blessing on American Nation

Rome, March 16.—A special blessing for the American nation was uttered by Pope Benedict when he received Cardinal Dougherty in private audience on Tuesday. The Pontiff is deeply interested in all American affairs and the American people.

The Cardinal knelt as he entered the papal chamber but the Pope raised him up and embraced him, at the same time expressing his fatherly love for the American people.

Later the newly created Cardinal received the International News Service Correspondent at the American College.

"To say that I was delighted at the cordial reception of the Holy Father would be to understate the facts," said the Cardinal. "I was deeply moved."

On Sunday Cardinal Dougherty will take possession of his titular church in Rome symbolizing a new tie between the Old World and the new.

Disturbing Visit of Viviani to Washington

Paris Newspaper Says it is Unlikely French ex-Premier Will Discuss War Debt.

Paris, March 16.—Jules Jusserand, the French ambassador to the United States, was greatly disturbed by various reports as to the real object of the forthcoming visit of ex-Premier Viviani to the United States, said the Paris Midi today. The ambassador has sent a cablegram to the French government asking specifically why M. Viviani will visit Washington.

The Midi pointed out that it is unlikely that M. Viviani will discuss the French war debt to the United States as he will not be accompanied by financial experts. M. Viviani, himself, said the newspaper, is not sufficiently versed in international finance to discuss this great question without expert advice.

GREAT BRITAIN AND SOVIET RUSSIA SIGN TRADE PACT

TOOK OATH TO KILL TALAAT PASHA

Young Armenian Confessed to Berlin Police That He Planned Murder More Than a Year Ago.

Berlin, Mar. 16.—Talaat Pasha, former Turkish minister who was assassinated yesterday, died as the result of a murder pact entered into more than a year ago, according to a confession made to the police today by Salomon Tellirian, the young Armenian who fired the fatal shot.

"I swore a solemn oath that I would kill Talaat Pasha whom I held to be responsible for much of the suffering of my fellow people" said the assassin. "I made solemn oath to call down the bloody vengeance of heaven upon his head. I was prepared to follow him around the world. He could not escape me no matter what city he went to nor what disguise he used to cover his identity. I knew that his heart's blood belonged to me and I only waited for the sacrifice. Talaat Pasha signed a decree which resulted in a massacre of Armenians and my mother and father were killed by Turkish soldiers. Is it any wonder that I held this grudge?"

Forced Talaat to Berlin

"Talaat Pasha disappeared from Constantinople but I had my own sources of information and I learned that he was in Berlin. I secured a passport—no matter how—and I came here. I frequented the Turkish quarter and it did not take me long to find out that the old enemy of my family was living here under an assumed name. It was in January that I arrived here. I took my time and planned the murder carefully. I was not going to allow all my plans to be spoiled by one false step. Everything came out just as I ordered it."

The assassin said he was born in Salman, in Persia, on April 2, 1897.

The prisoner was badly beaten by a crowd after the shooting and sustained severe injuries in the head but will recover.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE CONCERNED OVER LEAGUE

Allied Agents Sounding Out Prominent Republicans in the Senate as to the Chances of Reviving Issue

Washington, Mar. 16.—The well nigh complete silence which the new administration and the Republicans in the Senate have observed with regard to the reopening of the League of Nations issue apparently is causing no little concern in the French and British governments. Activities noted in Washington show these governments are keenly desirous of finding out just where the League issue stands under the new regime in Washington.

While the French Foreign Office recently denied that any official overtures are being made to the new administration on the subject it was learned today that agents of both Great Britain and France have undertaken a campaign of "sounding out" prominent Republicans in the Senate to ascertain their willingness or unwillingness to reopen the League issue and particularly to find out what modifications are necessary to reconsideration.

These overtures are being made in the form of written communications marked "confidential" which have been received by a number of senators and by personal emissaries. The impression has been drawn by Republican opponents of the League that the French and British are willing to make any concessions and stand for any modifications desired by the Senate.

BOSTON RAILROAD STRIKE AVERTED

Boston, March 16.—The threatened strike of the Boston, Revere Beach and Lynn Railroad has been averted for a week, according to an announcement today by Chairman Edward Fisher of the division of conciliation and arbitration, state board of labor, and industry. Fisher stated the management of the road has agreed to his suggestion that the proposed twenty per cent. wage cut be postponed for a week and the men have agreed to remain at work during that time.

Official Announcement of Conclusion of Negotiations Which Have Been in Progress Nearly Two Years.

London, March 16.—A commercial agreement for reciprocal trading has been signed by Great Britain and Soviet Russia, it was officially announced today.

Negotiations between Russia and Great Britain have been in progress for nearly two years. Several times they have been reported broken off, but always the powerful British Labor Party brought pressure upon the government in favor of their restoration.

It was contended by officials of British trade unions that the opening of trade relations would do much to alleviate British unemployment. The negotiations were lagging when Washington D. Vanderlip, the American financier, went to Russia and secured valuable concessions for the exploitation of Siberian territory and for the exchange of manufactured goods and raw materials.

The Russo-British negotiations were speeded up and the signing of the pact quickly followed. It was claimed by officials of the Soviet government that reports of the recent anti-Red uprising at Kronstadt were exaggerated with a view to hindering the trade negotiations of the Soviet government.

should try to revive themselves by exploiting conditions of the present moment of the workers' revolution.

The Banana Peel

"I am speaking of social revolutionaries and Mensheviks, who, unable to play an independent role, are unable to obtain or maintain themselves in power. They have no stable social foundation. They are trying to be the banana peel on which the working class should slip into counter revolution against the Soviets.

"As to the rising, the Baltic fleet represents that part of our country most exposed to Europe. During the past two years the personnel of the fleet has changed greatly. The best elements were taken out and transferred to other branches of Soviet work and were supplanted by casual elements among which were many representatives of our border nationalities who regarded their service in fact as temporary work. The transitory conditions and unstable personnel of the fleet created an unfavorable atmosphere and gave opportunity for smuggling into the fleet elements that were openly hostile.

How the Rebellion Grew

"The masses of sailors formulated demands which originally did not exceed the demands presented by various groups of laborers to the Soviet government. The revolutionaries utilized these demands as a fulcrum for their lever. Behind their backs cautiously emerged the figures of revolutionary officers.

"The broad masses of the Kronstadt population kept on working without understanding the acuteness of the conflict. Kronstadt, being located upon the Gulf of Finland, stands at the gateway from which the world's highways lead to the imperialistic countries. At Revel the White Guard officers became active. The counter revolutionary agents in the Baltic at once began to establish a contact with Kronstadt. The original leaders of the movement became badly frightened and began to complain of the growing influence of the counter revolutionary military officers, but then it was too late.

Quick Action Necessary

"Quite obviously after the ice is gone from the Gulf of Finland the counter revolutionaries could remove our vessels and deliver them into the hands of the imperialists as they did in the Black Sea, if the Baltic fleet falls into the hands of the rebels.

"Knowing this we presented an ultimatum to the mutineers and then applied armed force. There is no doubt that the mutiny will have collapsed within a short time regardless of the fact that the mutineers possess heavy artillery.

"The demonstration at Kronstadt showed the garrison and the population that the insurgents were up against an armed struggle. This immediately brought about disintegration of the Kronstadt garrison. Sooner or later Kronstadt will return into the fold of the Soviet and the Soviet flag and the world imperialists will have suffered another new disappointment."

COMPOSER'S DAUGHTER IN LAW MISSING

Feared That Mrs. Clifford Victor Herbert Has Been Kidnapped or Met With Foul Play in Chicago

Chicago, Mar. 16.—Search is being made today for Mrs. Clifford Victor Herbert, daughter-in-law of Victor Herbert, noted composer, by relatives and friends who fear she may either have been kidnapped or met with foul play. Mrs. Herbert has been missing from her apartments at the Parkway Hotel since Saturday.

Diamonds and other valuables are said to have been worn by Mrs. Herbert when she left the hotel. This has given rise to the theory that she may have been the victim of robbers. Neither the police nor friends have obtained a single clue to aid them in the search.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert were married in Detroit. Herbert is connected with a firm of brokers here. Mrs. Herbert was prominent in younger social circles of the North Side and a familiar figure on the bridge paths of Lincoln Park.

Chicago, March 16.—Mrs. Clifford Victor Herbert, daughter-in-law of Victor Herbert, the composer is not missing and no search for her has been instituted, her husband declared today.

"Mrs. Herbert left Saturday to visit her mother, Mrs. Helen Maher of San Diego, Calif.," Herbert said. "The story of my having detectives searching for her is the work of enemies."

Reports published here today declared that Mrs. Herbert had disappeared last Saturday and that an exhaustive search was being made for her.

LOCAL GIRL DECORATED FOR HER BRAVERY IN WAR

Captain Myrtle Turkington Receives Salvation Army Distinguished Service Medal

The Boston Globe on Sunday carried an article on its first page which is of interest to Manchester residents. It told of the decoration of Captain Myrtle Turkington of this town by General Booth of the Salvation Army. Photographs of Miss Turkington, General Booth and the medal, illustrated the article.

The decoration is called the Salvation Army Distinguished Service Medal and the local girl is the only girl in the United States to receive it. And only one man has been so decorated, Major William Quirk, of Boston.

Miss Turkington was given the medal for her work in serving doughnuts to members of the Y D in the Toule sector when it was under shell fire. After the Armistice she came to this country and is now in the Salvation Army hospital at Roxbury, Mass.

HARVEY ACCEPTABLE TO ENGLAND

Washington, March 16.—Official notification from Great Britain that George Harvey of New York will be acceptable as the U. S. ambassador to Great Britain has been received by the State Department it was learned today.

IMPORTANT ECONOMIC LIASION COMMITTEE

War Body of Which Little Has Been Heard May Be Given Official Status and Increased Powers

Washington, Mar. 16.—While President Harding is giving consideration to plans for a "war liquidation commission" he will be urged it was learned today, to give official status and increased powers to the so-called economic liaison committee, which for two years has been playing an important part in the national government though the fact of its existence has been known to but comparatively few persons.

So effectively has this committee succeeded in its functions of coordinating the work of the various departments of the government that officials familiar with its record are said almost without exception to favor the extension of its scope of operations.

The committee was initiated by the Secretary of State in March 1919 at the suggestion, it is said of President Wilson. It is made up of two representatives from each of the ten executive departments, and it meets every Wednesday at the State Department.

Though instituted primarily with the idea of bringing about closer cooperation among the departments in matters pertaining to foreign trade, the functions of the committee have been extended gradually until they embrace a great many domestic activities as well. For example, it is said to have saved large sums to the government in the sale of surplus war materials by rendering expert advice as to when materials should be placed on the market and in other instances it has enabled the government to drive better bargains by keeping department heads informed as to the most opportune time for buying necessary materials abroad.

SHONT'S DAUGHTER ENDS ENGAGEMENT

Widowed Duchess de Chaules and Her Sutor, Duc de Crussol, Differ on Time of Marriage.

Paris, March 16.—The engagement of the Duc de Crussol and Duchess De Chaules, daughter of the late Theodore P. Shonts of New York, has been broken off because of the "cave man wooing tactics" of the ardent young sutor, it was learned today.

The young nobleman wanted the marriage to take place at once and refused to hear any arguments in favor of a postponement. The Duchess and her mother wanted the ceremony postponed for several months in order that preparations might be made for an elaborate event.

The insistence of the duke is said to have caused a scene at the palace of the duchess at Lyons. Angered by the arguments of his fiance the duke motored to Monte Carlo, vowing that he would forget everything.

It is reported from Monte Carlo that the duke has succeeded admirably in wiping out the sad memory of his blasted romance. He is a familiar figure at the Casino and is playing a prominent part at dances of the younger nobility.

There are reports that the duke has so far overcome the tragic memory that he has been making love to a Spanish beauty, accompanying her to dances and the tennis courts.

Friends of the duke are trying to patch up the affairs between him and the Duchess De Chaules and they insist that his affair with the Spanish beauty is only temporary infatuation such as he once had for Gaby Deslys when he followed her to the United States.

SUIT FOR $10,000

The suit of Mary Palmer against Frank Spencer came up for trial this morning in the superior court in Hartford. The suit is for $10,000 and is the result of an automobile accident that occurred about a year and a half ago, in which the plaintiff was seriously injured. There was a trolley car passing at the time of the accident and a number of the passengers have been called as witnesses, several from Manchester, four from Talcottville and one or two from Rockville. Judge H. O. Bowers appeared for the defendant and Olin R. Wood and Joseph Berry are the lawyers for the plaintiff.

Entries Closed for the Famous International Tennis Trophy With Twelve Nations on the List

New York, Mar. 16.—With entries closed for the Davis Cup competition and 12 nations entered the draw for the Cup ties was scheduled to be held today at the offices of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Under the rules each nation is entitled to be represented at the draw which is to be made "blind". Interest in the drawing is keen as it will indicate what Cup ties may be played in the country.

Reports of Russian Rebellion Exaggerated

American Red Cross Worker Says Petrograd Has Not Been Bombed

Paris, March 16.—Reports of the counter revolution at Petrograd were exaggerated, according to a Havas dispatch from Helsinki today. An American Red Cross worker who visited the fortress of Kronstadt to deliver food reported that there were about 50,000 insurgents in the Petrograd district but that, contrary to previous reports, Petrograd had not been bombed. The chief hope of the insurgents was that the people of Petrograd would join in insurrection.

BASEBALL OUTLOOKS

New York, March 16.—"Everybody tells me the Yankees and Cleveland will be one-two. I hope they are right, just like that."

Miller Huggins, midget manager of the New York Yankees sent hopeful comment to the International News Service today from Shreveport, La., where Babe Ruth and company are training.

"I am highly pleased with the condition of the Yankees and the way they are shaping up," Huggins continued. "I think our pitching will be better than it was last season, our batting heavier and the speed of the club as a whole greatly improved by recruits. I do not believe we will suffer by having but one left handed pitcher in Harry Harper. It is my belief that the addition of Walter Hoyt and Collins as second yearers will ever balance that."

"It is too early to say about Frank Baker who will not report until next week. However, if Baker plays third Ward will probably go to second. Fewster will be tried in the outfield.

"Ruth's work is a source of satisfaction. He is getting down to weight and hitting—well, why mention it. I may experiment with Ruth at first base. If not it will be Meusel or Pipp. If Pipp shows enough aptitude as an outfielder he may be played in the garden.

"With about a month to go before the season opens there is no chance at present to hint at what our lineup or batting order is going to be in the opening game.

"I consider Cleveland our strongest rival, now that the White Sox have been broken up. Washington and St. Louis looks pretty strong from this distance. Detroit appears to be an experiment with Cobb taking up managerial duties and it is not possible to size up the Red Sox with so many changes. The same goes for Philadelphia."

FOLLOW PRETTY ANKLES DOWN INTO CELLAR, FIND "HOOCH"

Kansas City, Mo.—Cellar sniffers are passe. They are being replaced by "ankle sniffers," following revelation of a new "stunt" by Kansas City "wets."

Policemen Jenkins and Chandler, watching the afternoon crowds on Main street, "sighted" six pairs of dainty ankles gingerly descending steps into a basement pool room.

"Wonder what kind of a game they're playing now," said one "ankle sniffer" to the other. "Let's see."

Instead of billards they found "hooch." The six dainty pairs of ankles were distributed around a cigar stand on which stood a bottle of "corn whiskey." Behind the case was a whiskey glass.

Irvin Peterson, proprietor, is now facing a Federal charge.

BOXING BENEFIT FOR IRISH STARVING

New York, Mar 16.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, was due to arrive here today from Chiffestown, Mass., to finish training for his 15 round bout with Mike O'Dowd here tomorrow night.

Tex Rickard announced today that he has matched Rocky Kansas and Willie Jackson for a 12 round bout to be one of four or five star bouts scheduled for March 21 for the benefit of the starving women and children of Ireland.

Noted Rifle Shot Visits Manchester

Virgil Richards Tells Girls Rifle Club How He is Able to Shoot So Well

The members of the Girls Rifle Club were entertained by Virgil Richards of New Haven last evening at the Barnard School building. Mr. Richards is one of the most noted rifle experts in the East and his visit to Manchester was in the interest of the club. He is the holder of many records among them one which is the ambition of every amateur rifleman. This record was made on an outdoor range. It is a perfect score with small arms.

This is by no means an easy task. The small target which measures across the bullseye exactly two inches is placed 100 yards away. Using a small rifle of .22 calibre it is made doubly harder. Mr. Richards is the first man in the United States to make this score.

In speaking about the art of handling firearms Mr. Richards said:

"My theory concerning the use of the rifle is simple. Although it is by no means my own it is a hard one to master. Relaxation and concentration are what go to make it practical. Remember that when you are shooting at a target 100 yards away the least movement means that you do not make a possible score. By possible I mean a perfect score."

Mr. Richards introduced a new model rifle intended to be used for clubs such as are here in Manchester. It is a Winchester model .22 calibre bolt action gun. The balance of the rifle seems to be nearly perfect.

For the benefit of the members he gave an exhibition with this model and placed five shots in the center of the target. They could be covered with a nickel. He explained to the instructor at the range about the lighting effects and these changes are to be made.

The visitor was surprised when he saw the Recreation Center. Having heard so much about it he was taken on an inspection trip. He told a reporter that he considered the Recreation Center the best equipped and most up-to-date building of its kind he had ever visited. He was later taken to the silk exhibit at Cheney Hall. He was well pleased with his reception in Manchester and intends to come again to help the members of the combined rifle clubs install their outdoor range.

The round trip, a distance of 864.8 miles, was covered by the Studebaker in 21 hours 23 minutes. The trip down, over the coast route, a distance of 453.7 miles, was made in 10 hours 12 minutes 30 seconds, as compared with the previous best record of 12 hours 47 minutes 50 seconds, established in 1916.

GIRLS' RIFLE CLUB

Capt. Philip Cheney Offers Silver Cup to the Best Shot. The members of the Girls' Rifle club have received a handsome silver cup from Captain Philip Cheney. The cup will be awarded to the member making the best scores on the indoor range from this week until the middle of May. This cup is similar to the one offered by Dr. D. C. Y. Moore to the South Manchester Rifle club. Miss Ama Birath turned in a perfect score at last evening's practice shoot in the Barnard School building on the State Guard range. Miss Birath scored within the small circle at 75 feet. This is considered remarkable owing to the size of the target used. The scores: Miss Birath 50, Miss Nyquist 49, Miss Bernhardt 49, Mrs. Olson 48, Miss Cadman 48, Miss Bunnell 47, Miss Beeman 47, Miss Lemerise 47, Miss Fraser 46, Miss Adams 46, Miss Hensig 45, Mrs. Kjellson 45. Practices are held every Tuesday evening. Beginning next Tuesday the member of the club who gets the highest score will have possession of the cup until the following week. The members having the cup the longest at the end of the season will be entitled to full possession. Judging by past performances the ownership of the cup will be hotly contested.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Director Clarke Plans to Play Three Nights a Week. Plans for a Twilight Baseball league are under consideration at the Recreation Center. Physical Director Clark intends to form this league inviting the different clubs around town to enter. He will mail formal requests this week to the various clubs. In speaking about the proposed league Director Clark said last evening: "There has been in years past much dispute over the teams from the different parts of the town regarding the town championship. I intend to ask the White Sox, Hudsons, Atlas, St. Mary's Young Men's Club, Rec team and the Aces of the north end to enter the league. A request will also be sent to the Army and Navy club." "As soon as we hear from these clubs a schedule will be drawn up and all of the details perfected. I believe it will be possible to have games at least three nights a week. This will be easy if Daylight Saving is put into effect." "Games will be played on Saturday afternoons, that is, if the Manchester team does not play at home. We can easily fix the schedule so that we will not interfere with the other club.

EDUCATING THE BLIND IN CONNECTICUT.

The annual reports of the state board of education of the blind for the two years ended September 30, 1920, afford some interesting information in relation to a subject of charitable endeavor which has had the world's attention from scriptural times and probably before.

The board estimates that there are 1,700 blind persons within the confines of the state, of which twelve per cent, are in actual need. That would mean that there are approximately 144 needing care.

While not giving unqualified approval to the system of pensions for the blind, now in operation in eleven states, and recognizing possibilities of abuse, the board recommends that some steps be taken in this direction to relieve the necessities of the needy blind.

The Connecticut Institute for the Blind, a private corporation without stock, is the actual agency for carrying out the work of educating the blind.

The school at Hartford always has a greater enrollment of state pupils than any other institution. It parallels largely the work of the public schools up to the first year of High school.

The board was able to locate only two cases of blindness as a result of war service and only four cases as a result of drinking liquor manufactured from wood alcohol.

THE SILK EXHIBIT AT CHENEY HALL. Only fools step in where angels fear to tread, and having some slight regard for our reputation we hesitate to make any editorial reference whatever to the quintessence of beauty that overwhelms the visitor to the silk exhibit at Cheney Hall.

We cannot describe fairy land. We can but point the way. Manchester will be depriving itself of a rich treasure if it does not make the pilgrimage to Cheney Hall once at least before the exhibition closes on Saturday night.

RECALLS TIME WHEN HARDING WAS TEACHER

Boulder, Col.—The cheery smile that greets callers at the White House in Washington these Spring days is the same that beamed upon his pupils when Warren G. Harding was a country schoolmaster in Ohio in the early 80's, according to Mrs. Sarah E. Wright, of this city, who attended district school taught by the new President of the United States.

"The school was a mile and a half from Marion, Ohio, and was known as the 'Little White School,'" Mrs. Wright said here. "But the mutations of time have wrought great changes—the schoolmaster is now President of the United States and the schoolhouse has been converted into a garage."

Mr. Harding was about eighteen years of age then," Mrs. Wright continued. "He was a handsome young fellow, tall, of erect bearing and cheerful."

"I recall that my younger sister stayed out of school one day after she had committed some breach of discipline. When we persuaded her to return the following day Mr. Harding asked her why she remained away from her lessons. She said she was afraid she would be whipped."

Mrs. Crocker of 48 Russell street lost a gold wrist watch Saturday evening between the Park theater and her home. She started a lost advertisement yesterday in the classified column of The Herald hoping to recover the watch.

WANT SEPARATE COURT FOR CHILDREN'S CASES

Connecticut One of Three States in the Union Without This, Report Says

"Juvenile Delinquents and the Probation System in Connecticut" constituting Part Two of Volume 2 of the Child's Welfare Commission's report comes from the press to-day.

In support of the Commission's contention that action by the Legislature is urgently needed, the report states that Connecticut is one of the three states in the Union which have no provision for the hearing of children's cases by a separate court.

As to conditions in the state, the Commission says that it found in its investigation the following situation: Out of twenty-five courts studied, the customary detention place for children in eleven is the lock-up, and in five others the woman's section of the lock-up.

"It appears," says the report, "that in more than half of the courts there is a lack of investigation of fundamental sources of information about the child. Without these essential facts concerning the child himself and his environment the court is almost incapable of adequately determining the type of care demanded by the child's case."

For this situation the Commission blames neither the individual court nor the probation officers, who work under a handicap, but places responsibility upon the lack of precise and definite provisions in the existing law.

LAND FOR VETERANS

Juneau, Alaska, March 16.—Veterans of the World War in Alaska prefer a land grant compensation to a cash bonus based on length of service, according to the result of a vote taken in every American Legion post in that Territory.

The area of Alaska is 590,884 square miles, which is about one-sixth of the United States proper. Although the desirable land of this large expanse of territory is small compared to the whole, not more than one hundred and fifty homesteads have been patented up to the present, despite the fact that settlement of the more desirable areas is admitted to be one of the essentials of the future of Alaska.

FOUR MILLION DOLLARS FOR STARVING CHINESE

That Means the Saving of 800,000 Lives, Says Report.

RED CROSS IN CHARGE

But Still more Money is Needed to Keep Thousands More Alive—Stamps Are Selling Fast.

New York, March 16—American contributions called to Peking for the rescue of the starving Chinese have reached a total of $4,055,000, according to a statement given out tonight by the American Committee for China Famine Fund. That sum, officials of the committee estimate, will mean the saving of 811,000 lives.

Of the money sent to China, the American Committee has forwarded 2,255,000. $800,000 has gone direct from contributors and the American Red Cross has appropriated $1,000,000 for relief work in the famine area to be expended under direct supervision of its own representatives.

At least $3,000,000 of the total amount it is estimated, has already reached the empty bowls of the Chinese in the form of grain, meaning three hundred million meals. But so severe is the famine, these meals have had to be doled out sparingly and only to those of the starving population who are strongest, and best able to last the remaining months until the next harvest. According to reports from China reaching the American Committee, a tremendously increased volume of outside help is needed if the inhabitants of the stricken provinces are to be kept in physical shape to plant their crops when the cold weather lifts. The famine has now reached its crisis.

All efforts of the Committee, which has now established branches in all states in the country, and in the principal cities, are being directed toward speeding up contributions, pointing out that a dollar cabled now, has a life-saving value of two dollars cabled a week hence.

The Committee has set up a swift system of getting funds to China and the all-American committee on the other side, handling the funds, has likewise perfected methods for converting the money into grain and getting it to the remote relief centers without an hour's unavoidable delay. The grain is purchased in Manchuria, and transported, by railroad, without charge, and by coolie-carriers, to the districts where the suffering is worst.

With the appearance, now general throughout the country, of the "China life-saving stamp" on the back of letters, the appeal in behalf of China has become the foremost philanthropic effort now being made in America. These stamps, to the number of 5,670,625 at the latest checking up, selling at three cents each, have been ordered from the American committee in forty-four states, the number daily increasing in ratio. In some cases, organizations of patriotic men and women who push the sale of government thrift stamps have taken up the work of helping China in the same manner. Oregon is leading in the sale, thus far.

Work in the churches has taken on an increasing impetus, as the seriousness of the famine is more fully revealed in messages from missionaries of the different denominations. Commercial organizations, likewise, have increased their effort, with the members of the United States Chamber of Commerce taking a leading part. Rotarians throughout the country are the latest to enlist in the campaign. Through the national Rotarian organization, all local clubs have been lined up to press the appeal for funds for the starving Chinese, and individual Rotarians urged to enlarge their contributions.

Contributions continue to reach the headquarters of the American Committee, for China Famine Fund, from housewives who have joined in the movement started by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, noted suffragist, for giving up one course of every meal and donating the amount thus saved to the Chinese cause. Mrs. Warren G. Harding has notified the committee, after saying that she wished to be enrolled among those following the plan, "the appeal to American housewives to save in order to help China's unfortunate millions will meet a generous response."

Meanwhile, at the instance of the New York Hotel Association, hotels throughout the greater city have officially joined the relief movement their help taking the form of "China Bowl" appeals. Small blue bowls have been installed in dining rooms or in corridors leading to dining rooms and grills, each with a card telling of the need. Samples of the food upon which people in the famine districts have been trying to exist—chaff, tree-bark or dead grass—have in some instances been placed about the bowls. The response of the public to this mute appeal has been generous. It is expected that the same plan will be adopted in other cities.

THE STOCK MARKET.

New York, March 16.—The stock market displayed an irregular tendency at the opening today, overnight buying orders resulting in advances in many issues while some stocks fell back under profit taking. Changes generally, however, were to higher levels.

UNIONS WILL PRESS FOR TRADE WITH RUSSIA

British and Russian Agreement Gives New Incentive to Efforts Here.

PRESSURE ON CONGRESS

Labor Will Continue to Urge on Harding Government Opening of Trade Relations With Russia.

Washington, March 16.—Signature of a commercial agreement for trading between Great Britain and Soviet Russia gives new incentive to efforts to secure a similar agreement between the United States and Russia. E. C. Davison, secretary of the international machinists union declared today.

Davison declared that the machinists union will renew their efforts to secure trade with Russia with greater vigor than ever now, in order that the "laboring people of this country" may benefit from the increased industry which would follow opening of Russian commerce.

"We have done everything within our power to call the attention of Congress and the administration to the necessity for trade with Russia. We intend to continue to exert our efforts in this direction and we will appear before the Congress at the earliest possible moment in the special session to urge the opening of trade relation with Russia. We will also seek to press the point with the administration. Some labor organizations do not hold the same view. However, trade with Russia is of most vital concern to the laboring people in order that American goods may have the benefit of this great market," said Davison.

Paper made from wood waste in veneer factories is possible, according to findings of the forest products laboratory. The cores of many kinds of veneer logs and a large part of the clippings could be turned into pulp stock for the manufacture of high grades of paper.

HUNTING OUT OF SEASON
Washington, D. C., March 16.—Apprehended for shooting four pintail ducks out of season, a Missouri hunter on March 7, 1921 was fined $200 and costs by Federal Judge Van Valkenburg, sitting at St. Joseph, upon the conviction of a hunter in New Jersey before a Federal judge by whom he was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to jail for 10 days.

The spring flight of migratory birds is at its height during April, and the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture is putting forth every effort to see that they are permitted to go north to their nesting grounds unmolested. Due to the active cooperation of Federal game wardens and State authorities, fewer violations of the Federal law are occurring this spring than formerly. Nevertheless, some unscrupulous hunters are taking a chance; arrests for shooting out of season are being made by the game wardens and convictions are being obtained in nearly all cases.

New Drug Department to be Opened at Hale's

To Open Friday—Trained Nurse to Be in Charge—Conveniently Located.

And now comes an announcement from the J. W. Hale Co. telling the public of the opening of still another new department at the big store. On Friday morning a drug department will be opened. It will be situated on the north front of the store where the new candy department formerly was situated. It will be handy for everybody as it will be just at the front door.

The new department will carry everything in active demand and ordinarily carried by department stores in the larger cities with the exceptions that there will be no prescriptions filled nor no drugs sold in bulk.

At first the department will carry only such items that the department heads think are in active demand. But a complete record will be kept of everything called for and orders will be taken for articles that can be purchased in Hartford and delivered the following day. No attempt will be made to carry all patent medicines as this alone would entail carrying 30,000 kinds.

The drug department will be in charge of Miss Anna Anderson, a trained nurse. While Miss Anderson's training did not include the experience of a drug clerk she is well able to give valuable advice to any woman who may wish to consult her confidentially.

The railways of the nation handled more coal in 1920 than in any year except 1918, when war demands called for an exceedingly large part of the country's supply.

CLARA HAMON'S FATE WITH THE JURY THIS AFTERNOON

Acquittal Expected of Girl Accused of Murdering Oklahoman Oil King and Political Autocrat.

Court Room, Ardmore, Okla., Mar. 16.—The actual trial of Clara Smith Hamon on a charge of murdering Jake L. Hamon, political autocrat and oil king of the Southwest, ended shortly after 10 o'clock today.

Both prosecution and defense rested their cases at that time and adjournment was taken until 3 o'clock for trial Judge Thomas W. Champion to prepare his instructions to the jury.

When Judge Champion has pointed out the law to the "twelve good men and true" who hold Clara's fate in their hands, attorneys for the prosecution and defense will then give final arguments. Late this afternoon the case will go to the jury.

"There will be a verdict two minutes after the jury retires to deliberate," Attorney General Freeling said as court adjourned.

Persons close to the prosecution predicted an acquittal.

"We expect acquittal after a brief deliberation by the jury," said C. A. Coakley of defense counsel.

Court Room, Ardmore, Okla., Mar. 16.—Ardmore sat on a powder keg today as the Clara Smith Hamon murder trial was resumed.

"Bad blood" starting at yesterday's demonstration for the woman accused of Jake Hamon's murder reached fever heat as court convened. Death threats have been passed. Lawyers, principals and even news correspondents had been warned to go about fully armed.

Deputy sheriffs, wearing huge guns on their hips, are stationed carelessly about the court room, but with a cool intent of having "good shooting" angles.

All of the out-of-town persons who had any connection with the trial are preparing to leave on the first train out after the verdict.

The death threats were received by Jake Hamon, 13-year-old son of the dead oil king, and the brothers of the accused woman.

"It was the hardest thing I have ever had to go through and I'm so relieved it's all over," said Clara Smith Hamon, on entering the court room. She referred to the four hours she spent on the witness stand.

Murder fans were tense with excitement when court opened.

"The love letters" of Jake Hamon to Clara were barred from evidence by Judge Thomas W. Champion this morning. Attorney General S. P. Freeling objected to their admission on the ground that the dead man could not be called as a witness to explain them.

When court opened at 9 o'clock the room was jammed as usual. The feminine part of the audience displayed the latest spring styles in millinery.

Many had been sitting in the court room since 6 o'clock and had brought their breakfasts.

On the opening of court, Sam Blair, the newspaperman who found the accused woman in Mexico, was the first witness called by the state in rebuttal.

Blair testified that on the train to Chihuahua from Juarez he asked the defendant to sign the copy of his interview before it was published. She approved the story, he said.

"What did she tell you about the discharge of the revolver?" Attorney General Freeling asked Blair.

"She told me that in the emotional stress of the scene she did not know whether the gun went off when the chair struck her arm or whether it was discharged when it fell on the floor or whether her fingers involuntarily contracted and pulled the trigger," the witness answered.

Attorney W. P. McLean for the defense, here interrupted.

"That statement, your Honor, is exactly what the defendant testified on the stand. I thought this witness was brought here for impeachment."

The defense brought out that Blair's interviews were accurate in the main.

Erwin C. Daniels, a chauffeur of Denison, Texas, testified that he drove the defendant from Denison to Dallas on her flight to Mexico.

Rosa Cannon, who attended Hamon at his death bed and a witness for the defense, was called in rebuttal by the prosecution.

"Did you tell Erret Dunlap that you were supposed to see Clara come to the hospital, that it made you nervous, that you thought she had got out of town the night before and you heard nothing of what passed between her and Hamon?" asked Attorney General Freeling.

"I did not," said the witness emphatically.

Her testimony, an earlier sensation, remained unshaken.

$12,000 in Jewelry Stolen in Subway

New York, March 16.—Mrs. Frances L. Dixon, owner of shirt-waist factories in Philadelphia and Porto Rico, reported to the police today that a handbag containing $12,000 worth of jewelry had been stolen from her on a crowded subway train last night. She offered $500 reward. Mrs. Dixon says she suspected a man who had been seated near her in the subway station and later on the train. The jewelry consisted of rings, bracelets and watches.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY REFUSES DAYLIGHT SAVING

"This very body has broadened the city home rule act and in the name of Conn. cities I ask that we be let alone," he said. "Connecticut would be sandwiched in between Boston and New York and if this legislation is good enough for New York city it is good enough for Bridgeport which is allied in a business way with New York."

Sen Seymour of Hartford declared that 99 per cent of his constituents. Those voting for the bill were: Senators Goodwin, Rosenfield, Bowers, Eno, McCahey, Treat, Clark, Graham, Bailey, Banks, Candee, Archibald, McDonald, Blake, Brooks, Rudd, Emery, Butler, Potter, and Hall.

Those opposed were: Senators Seymour, Hall of New Britain, Bakewell, Furcolo, Sanford Jr., Golden, Pickett, Drew, Costello, Brown, Garlick, Delaney, Challenger, and Kenealy.

Senators Trumbull of the fifth and J. H. MacDonald of New Haven were absent.

Senator Seymour of Hartford denounced the measure as class legislation and a product of the "rotten borough" system in the house, where Johnny Buckley and his colleague, from Union with 250 people at their backs have as much voice as Johnny Dunn and Mrs. Hooker of Hartford representing 130,000 people."

NO DEATH PENALTY FOR CLARA HAMON.

Court Room, Ardmore, Okla., March 16.—Attorney General Freeling in charge of the state's case, today confirmed the report exclusively carried by the International News Service more than a week ago, that the prosecution would not ask the death penalty in the event that Clara Smith Hamon is found guilty of murdering Jake L. Hamon, millionaire oil man.

"No, we will not ask the death penalty for Clara Smith Hamon," Attorney Freeling said.

"The state expects to finish its rebuttal evidence today. It was stated that the case probably will go to the jury tomorrow."

Sam Blair, newspaper correspondent, who found the accused woman in Mexico, probably will be the first witness today. The usual crowds were seeking entrance to the court room this morning. Many persons were standing in front of the doors before court opened.

Seventh Man Freed at Williamson

Calvin McCoy Found "Not Guilty" in Matewan Trial and Discharged.

Williamson, W. Va., March 16.—Another man was freed from the murder charge in the trigger trial just after both sides closed their case today.

He is Calvin McCoy. The state announced it had failed to find sufficient evidence to connect him with the alleged conspiracy to kill Detective Albert C. Felts.

Judge Robert D. Bailey instructed the jury to render a verdict of "not guilty" which was done.

McCoy is the seventh man to be freed from the murder charge.

LOCAL SPORT CHATTER

The Atlas basketball team will journey to Poquonock Saturday evening and play the Poquonock team. The locals have played 18 game this season and won 12. This is some record and the efforts of Captain Stowe have been fruitful in building a fast aggregation of hoop tossers.

An old-timer at the basketball game called attention to the playing of Mullens, guard for the Atlas team. This yellow haired player has played an excellent game all season for the Atlas team. Although he has never been featured in any of the contests, he lets his playing speak for him. When he made his appearance on the floor Monday evening he was greeted warmly by the fans. He gave a fine exhibition.

A bowling match of unusual merit will be bowled at the Casino alleys this evening. The Rockville team, led by Donlon, will play three games with the Casino team. Donlon is considered to be in the same class with Andy McCarthy and Fido O'Brien of Hartford.

Well it's here—baseball—bats and gloves were noticed at the North End yesterday afternoon. The sound of the ball thudding into the big mitts could be heard. Bats and balls will prevail from now on, until the pigskin chasers get busy in the fall.

The South Manchester baseball team will have its first practice Thursday afternoon. Weather permitting the squad will lumber up outdoors. In case of bad weather the team will be put through its paces in the gymnasium. Director Clark of the Recreation Center will have charge of the squad.

The Atlas baseball squad will also open their baseball season this week. The team will practice on the Main street grounds Saturday afternoon. Last year's team will respond to the coach call and several new faces will be found in the line-up.

AMERICAN RAILWAY CO. WINS

Are Victorious in Two Out of Three Matches With Chartier's All-Stars

It was a glorious victory for the American Railway Company's team last evening, when they defeated Chartier's All-Stars in the third game of a three game series by a total pinfall of 39 pins. Was it exciting? The writer will say it was.

McLaughlin, with the left wing of his, starred for the All-Stars keeping up the total pinfall. Captain Chartier who was out after the hide of his opponent, "Smiler" Schlaminger seemed to worry "Smiler" at times, but Schlaminger was determined to beat his opponent from the start, he did. When the final count was taken he had 13 more pins to the good than Chartier.

McDonald did most of the cheering for his team as he was not able to defeat his man, McLaughlin. "Smithy" was the favorite for the American Railway team pulling a double spare and a strike in the last two boxes of the last game, and rolling up high single with a score of 116. Shea for the All-Stars played a good game keeping a steady score throughout the game. This match of three games has been followed with a great deal of interest, Chartier's All-Stars having taken the second game and the American Railway Co. the first and last games. These matches were rolled on the Conran alleys, and it is rumored that another series is to be rolled off soon.

The scores of last night's game are as follows:

All-Stars
Tuck Fay	74	85 69
McLaughlin	93	88 87
Chartier	77	82 104
Shea	81	100 88
Sheehan	74	95 77
399 450 425
American Railway
Curtis	80	91 70
McDonald	78	87 86
Schlaminger	90	94 90
Smith	81	81 116
Keeney	78	92 99

Two old-time prospectors recently appeared at the county recorder's office in Denver and staked a gold claim in the heart of the city. They say they struck a rich vein in the ground beneath the City Hall, the Union Station and other portions of the business district.

MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT CAN'T LIVE ON SALARY

London—Interesting evidence on how inadequate the average Member of parliament's salary is if he without a private income was put before the select committee set up to inquire into members' expenses by Mr. Dan Irving, M. P., for Burnley.

"I reckon," said Mr. Irving, "that on an average I spend in London, after allowing for the time that I am away, $14 a week, which includes postage, street car fares, food in the house and a single room in which to live.

Mr. Irvin said the $1,500 salary is now his only regular income. He had to give up his regular occupation when he became an M. P.

Out of this he pays $420 a year for his third class railroad fare.

He has to keep two homes, one in Burnley, where his family live, and the other in London, where he himself resides.

"To keep up these two homes," he said, "with my railroad fare brings my expenses up to $1,450—not a cent for clothing, either for myself or my wife. One does not really live on the $1,500 a year; I cannot do it.

"The only possible way that I could do it at all would be to abandon going home, except at the end of the session, and to give up my railroad pass.

Struggle to Live

"I have to devote time, attention and study to other methods of increasing my income; otherwise I could not possibly live.

"I feel," went on Mr. Irving "sometimes a little sense of humiliation in mixing with my fellows, when I have to scan every item which I am called upon to spend when in company with other men of reasonable means, a sense of humiliation, because I appear to be mean when other men are. I do not say extravagant, but able to act differently."

All throughout the war he had been sitting on public bodies "raising everyone's wages except my own," he complained, "and I no sooner escape from that and come here than I am faced with the same situation myself."

After some deliberation the committee recommended:

No change in M. P.'s salaries, but that no income tax should be charged on the salary.

That M. P.'s should have free first-class railroad passes between London and their constituencies—but not their homes.

Free postage on Parliamentary letters.

NEW MEXICAN RAILROAD TO BE CONSTRUCTED BY GOVERNMENT

Mexico City.—A new railroad line between La Quenada, in the territory of Tepic, and San Marcos, State of Sinaloa, is to be constructed according to an announcement by the Government. The road will cover a distance of more than eighty kilometers and afford easy communication between Senora and Lower California. It is asserted that the new line not only will be of great benefit to the Central Northern States; but will have political value to the central government because of any future troubles in Lower California. Heretofore means of transporting troops to that territory have been lacking, except by a circuitous route or by water. In the event of a situation similar to that recently confronted by the Government through the defection of General Esteban Cantu, the new railroad will enable the Federal forces to reach and control the territory promptly, it is pointed out.

ARMY DISSATISFIED WITH BOMBING PLANS

General Mitchell Complains That Conditions of Proposed Test Are Left in Hands of Atlantic Fleet Commander.

Washington, March 15.—Brig. Gen. William Mitchell of the army air service, who believes battleships can be sunk by bombs dropped from airplanes, today forwarded to Secretary of War Weeks a report on the proposed bombing experiments to be conducted jointly by army and navy fliers against obsolete warships.

The report will indicate that air service officials are dissatisfied with the conditions of the test as set forth in the plan made public by Secretary Daniels shortly before his retirement. The feeling among army officers is that the navy proposal does not comply fully with either the letter or the spirit of the Senate joint resolution directing the Secretary of the Navy to turn over certain vessels to the army air service for experimental purposes.

The navy plan, it is asserted, contemplates leaving control of all conditions of the test in the hands of the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic Fleet and even goes so far as to specify the size of bombs to be used and the altitudes from which they shall be dropped.

The fliers also complain that the plan to conduct experiments 100 miles out at sea would place army airplanes of the type now available at a tremendous disadvantage if not actually make the test impracticable. Airplane carriers are necessary for operations at great distances from land.

Fault also is found with that part of the navy plan which contemplates the use of seaplanes in coast defense experiments. Under the act of June 30 1921, it is pointed out the army air service is given the duty of providing aerial protection for the coasts of the United States and army officers see in the navy proposal to employ naval fliers for this purpose an attempt to usurp army prerogatives. What the army wants, the report will say, is an opportunity to bomb a battleship under conditions approximating as closely as possible those of actual battle.

TEXAS MAN SWINDLED OUT OF A FORTUNE

Fort Worth, Tex.—The man hunt has ended after fourteen months of searching through eighteen states and Mexico, and J. Frank Norfleet, grim-visaged Texas plainsman, has gone home to Hale Centre, Tex., to rest. Joe Furey, the man he sought and the man who is alleged to have fleeced him out of $45,000 on a fake stock scheme is in jail here. He will go to trial before a jury in Judge George E. Hosey's District Court here early this month.

Like a Western melodrama run the details of Norfleet's search for Furey, who also is wanted in California, Florida and Washington.

Norfleet was swindled out of his life's fortune on November 10, 1919. Three men, it is alleged, did the job. Then the man hunt started. It was a month later that E. J. Ward and Charles Gerber, two of the alleged swindlers, were arrested in Los Angeles, Cal., and after a fight to prevent extradition, were returned here to stand trial. In turn, they both were given the maximum sentence of ten years each.

And while Norfleet conducted his nationwide search for Joe Furey, Charles Gerber remained in jail here where he now is awaiting a decision on his appeal to a higher court. E. J. Ward, taken to Washington to stand trial on a charge similar to the one under which he was convicted, committed suicide in the Washington jail in November, 1920.

Begins Long Chase

"It has been fourteen months since I lost my money," declares Norfleet. "But as the days went by I still had hope. I grew more determined. The folks back at Hale Centre, where I live issued a silent and stinging ultimatum that I wouldn't be a welcome neighbor if I didn't 'get' my man. I quit the ranch and became a special deputy. I was given a warrant for Furey's arrest and told that the Governor of Texas would ask for the extradition of Furey from any State in which I captured him.

"I took my son, Pete, out of a normal school to aid me in the chase. My wife managed the ranch, feeding motherless lambs from a bottle and attending to the household duties.

"Pete and me followed Furey's trail from Tia Juana Mexico, to St. Paul, going through eighteen States. We went to Minneapolis, St. Paul, Des Moines, Kansas City, Oklahoma City, El Paso, San Antonio, Dallas, San Bernardino, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Hot Springs, Birmingham, Atlanta, Mobile, Biloxi and Tampa, finding evidence of Furey's ramifications in all of those cities. We learned that he had visited England and France and knew that he was being chased.

Caught at Jacksonville "At Jacksonville, Fla., we landed him and I got extradition papers. When we arrived in Jacksonville I went to the detective bureau. They told me Furey was wanted there and that 'he's not likely to light.' But I kept on. There were eight large hotels there. I knew Furey would be stopping at one of them, for he always had plenty of money. I stationed Pete at one hotel, while I made the rounds of the others. We had arranged to meet each other every forty-five minutes. I went to the meeting place and there was Pete.

"I've found him," he said. I went immediately with him to the hotel where he had seen Furey. We trailed Furey into a cafe. As I neared the table where he was seated he raised his head. His eyes met mine. He recognized me. He jumped to his feet and started to run. I pulled my pistol and covered him. I told him I had a warrant for his arrest.

Nearly Got Away "Furey began screaming, 'Police! Robber! Bandit!' he yelled. People jumped up from their tables. As people surrounded us, Furey started to push his way out. I grabbed him by the collar—it was a death grip. By-standers grabbed me and pulled me across the room, but I clung to Furey. I tried to explain to the crowd, but with Furey yelling my explanations were drowned out. Pete drew his pistol. A policeman rushed in and started to hit him with a club. 'He's our man,' yelled Pete. 'We have a warrant for his arrest.' He held up the warrant and the police then took charge of Furey."

At Police Headquarters in Jacksonville, according to Norfleet's story, Furey offered to bribe officers in an effort to escape. He denied that he was the man Norfleet had a warrant for.

"How do you know this is the right man?" Norfleet was asked. "Because I have his picture," Norfleet answered.

And the extradition papers from the Governor of Texas honored by the Governor of Florida, Norfleet started on the home stretch eager to end the manhunt and go back to his people. But the manhunt was not over. Furey escaped later. He jumped from a fast-moving train en route from Jacksonville to Fort Worth.

Norfleet and his son stopped the train. They hired an automobile, recaptured Furey, who was injured from the fall, and caught the next train out of Jacksonville.

"It was worth the fortune I lost," Norfleet told me. "The chase was thrilling. I tricked the trickster and proved to the 'master mind' that you can't get away with anything if you pick a west Texan for a sucker."

WHY SHIP IS SHE.

Here are some answers to the question: "Why do they call a ship she?"

If you ever tried to steer one you wouldn't ask. Because it takes them so long to get ready to go anywhere. They need almost as much dolling up and painting as any woman you ever saw.

A ship's gotta have its own way or it won't go. Ships always come off the ways backwards like the members of a certain sex alighting from street cars.

It costs so much to keep one in operation. Why, they are always calling at some place or another. Because shipbuilders can't live without them.

Who ever won an argument from them? Because they were held together with steel. Because they were forever blowing off steam. Because they frequently tossed their noses in the air.—Bethlehem Ship News.

STUDENTS MAKE RECORD.

Urbana, Ill.—Twenty-eight men students at the University of Illinois were given perfect grades in all their subjects, Dean Thomas Arkie Clark announced today. The record is believed unique in American collegiate circles this year. There are over 5,000 male students enrolled at the university.

WIFE-BEATER GETS PANNING BY JUDGE

Chicago.—"Wife kickers should be stamped in the face with steel shoes," according to Judge William R. Fetzer, of the Chicago Municipal Court. The jurist's outburst was occasioned by the appearance in court of Mrs. Maryanna Zurat with a mass of bruises on her back, the result of a beating inflicted by her husband.

"The whipping post is too good for you," declared the judge in sentencing Zurat to a year in the bridewell.

ONLY ONE HAREM LEFT IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Constantinople.—There is only one harem left in Constantinople and that is owned by a Frenchman.

A French correspondent, who spent several weeks here, thought that his visit would not be complete until he had visited a harem. He asked one of his Turkish friends to arrange it.

"But there is only one harem left," replied the Turk. "It is maintained with very strict discipline and according to the best traditions. But perhaps you yourself would have a better chance of seeing it, for this last harem belongs to one of your compatriots, the Baron Durdeau Bey. The last real Turk is a Frenchman."

The women of Constantinople have been emancipated, it is true, but in the streets they wear what appears almost like a uniform. The cut of all the street costumes is almost the same, the only difference being in the colors. Many women who still have some respect for the old costumes, wear small veils to hide their faces. In the mosques and even in the street cars and railway trains special compartments with curtains are reserved for them, presenting a curious mixture of modern and ancient custom.

In spite of the many foreigners arriving here since the war, Constantinople cannot be called a gay city. The disaster which carried down the Turkish Empire has left its mark, and not even the appearance of thousands of strangers, many of them bent on a "big time," can sweep this away. A few movie shows, two or three theatres and the Russian restaurants form the city's night life.

Cabarets a la Russ. The Russian restaurants are quite remarkable. Their decorations are most bizarre; each one provides a long-haired violinist and a lightly clad dancer to provide entertainment, and the service is entrusted to women who came from wealthy Russian families, now refugees. Each table bears a card indicating the name of the waitress, and in this way a stranger learns that his zakouski or roast will be served by the Countess X or the Princess Z. They are treated with the greatest ceremony by the Russians who frequent these places, and it is not uncommon to see a Russian guest kiss the hand of a waitress before seating himself at a table.

Greeks are to be seen everywhere. When King Alexander died the entire city was covered with Greek flags draped in mourning. The tiniest shops put out pictures of the dead King and half the stores were closed the day of the funeral.

Prices are High.

An American pays about $7 to $8 a day for a room in a good hotel. A haircut, with tonic, costs 75 cents and a bottle of beer 65 cents. An automobile may be hired for $5 an hour, but all these prices fail to take into consideration tips which are abnormally high.

Like New York, Chicago, Paris and many of the other large cities of the world, Constantinople is now suffering from a "crime wave." Before the war, say the Turks, they could leave their doors open at night without serious risk. Now shootings and robberies occur every night.

PRISONERS CAN TALK ALL THEY WANT TO IN JOLIET "PEN"

Joliet, Ill.—Talking no longer is a punishable offense in the State penitentiary here. Prisoners hereafter may chat all they want to on the topics of the day and other innocuous subjects.

"In olden days when officials confined an inmate with only the view of punishing him for his crime the rule of silence was strictly adhered to," explained Judge C. H. Jinkins, director of public welfare. "In the long days of silence the mind of the prisoner turned to and dwelt on vicious subjects."

A "progressive merit" system also has been established. A board composed of the warden his assistant, a psychologist and two subordinate prison officials will determine the progress of each convict.

"Each prisoner is informed what is expected of him and what he must learn before he can be freed," said John P. Whitman, superintendent of prisons.

CAVEMAN TACTICS DON'T GO SAYS ATTORNEY

New York.—"Take the bandage off the eye of Justice and use an eyebrow pencil on her now hidden eyes to make them larger if necessary."

This is the advice of a woman attorney, Mrs. Clarice Margolies Baright, stirred to wrath by a recent court ruling.

Said ruling being: "A wife's place at night is in her home, by her husband."—By Magistrate Frank X. McQuade, in Jefferson Market Court.

And the ruling resulted from charges of disorderly conduct preferred by a woman against the husband who followed her to her mother's home, where she had gone to pass the night, and dragged her home.

"Perfectly right," said the Judge. "A wife's place is in her home with her husband. Just as his is, too. She has no right to go away for the night without telling him where she is going. Nor has he, for that matter."

"The defendant was justified," said Magistrate McQuade, and Mrs. Baright comments: "Old-fashioned and unprogressive!"

"The progressive and really womanly woman considers home her place and everyone knows it. But if I wanted to go to my mother at any time I would go."

"And I would expect my husband to come, too, provided I really went to my mother's and stayed there."

"A woman doesn't have to ask her husband where she shall go any more than he has to ask her."

"But both should want to tell each other where they are going."

"Assuming that she went to her mother's, the Judge, it seems to me, might have found a helpful way of advising her not to cause trouble by doing so, so that her domestic affairs wouldn't have to be brought into a Magistrate's Court."

"I see no justice in a man pulling his wife home by the hair of her head. And you may be sure this worried husband didn't approach his wife with a bunch of violets in his hand, but probably with angry words. I know these cases."

"We are past the stage where Justice is blind. The next step in our progress will be to take the bandage off her eyes."

"Let us pencil mark her eyes to make them larger if necessary. Give Both Sides Fair Deal."

"Let us have a fair deal for men and women, both."

"Let us not support the man who drags home his wife, degrading the mothers of our race."

"Dragged back, think of it! How long do you suppose I would remain with a man who dragged me back from my mother's home?"

"The facts speak for themselves."

"It seems to me we should not treat women in a way to make them revolt."

"Justice should be tempered with mercy."

"It seems perfectly natural for a good woman to seek out her mother if she is worried, tired, or disturbed in mind. It is a very good sign for a woman to wish to confide in her mother."

"Ladies first" being the rule in controversies of this nature, as well as in other performances in life, we now present Magistrate McQuade's side of the story. He says:

"The defendant says he searched about in wonderment and was on the verge of reporting her as missing to the police when he found her at his mother-in-law's. His action was perfectly justified."

Could it have been that the strenuous action of the cave man was an outburst of love and thankfulness at finding his errant spouse?

Or was he wrong to "drag her home?"

POTATO DOUGHNUTS.

It has been found in tests made in the Experimental Kitchen of the United States Department of Agriculture that a very soft dough absorbs more fat than a stiffer mixture in making doughnuts. Too much flour, however, makes a doughnut that is not so light and fluffy as is desirable. The addition of hot mashed potato to the recipe makes a doughnut that is light and fluffy but at the same time does not absorb so much fat. Doughnuts made by the following recipe are delicious when fresh, and also possess good keeping qualities.

- 1-2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs
1 cup hot riced potatoes
3-4 cup milk
5-1-4 cups milk
4 tablespoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1-2 teaspoon nutmeg

NEW FABRICS AT SILK SHOW MARK EPOCH IN AMERICAN INDUSTRY

marked a new epoch in silk making in America. The speedy and successful creation of this magnificent new fabric was made possible, said Mr. Creange, by the perfect organization and equipment of Cheney Brothers' manufacturing plant and by the skill of the workers who had a hand in its production. The consensus of the European visitors who visited the New York show was that these fabrics were unequalled and some of the leading manufacturers wanted to have the exhibit preserved in the New York museum as a monument to American textile achievement.

Daring Decorations.
 The spirit of daring which Mr. Creange said characterized the exhibit extends not only to the fabrication of new designs but also to the grouping of all the exhibits at the show. The casual observer knows only that the effects are pleasing. The expert will note many departures from the customary practice in blending colors and in the forms of drapery. For example the magenta which is used in large festoons over the stage arch, which is not a popular color, blends perfectly with the greens and the blues which are used in adjoining hangings.

Buyers Here.
 The little South Manchester railroad, which is a part of Cheney Brothers' plant, spread itself today when it hauled with two of its locomotives a train of eight carloads of Boston and New York buyers from Manchester to South Manchester. The train was made up of seven Pullmans and a diner. It arrived at South Manchester shortly before 1:30 and deposited its passengers almost at the door of the hall.

Friday will be Chamber of Commerce day. Each Chamber of Commerce in the state was invited to send two delegates and between 50 and 60 acceptances have already been received. The visitors will be met by a reception committee and will be entertained at lunch in Watkins Brothers' dining hall. They will then be escorted through the silk show.

The tinsel effects in silk cloths which are the leading novelty in the exhibit are produced by using a silk thread around which is wound a shaving of metal. The metal wound thread is so fine that the shaving can not be discerned by the naked eye, but under a microscope it is plainly visible. The thread is imported from France, where the method of winding it with metal was discovered.

MACHINES AT EXHIBIT ATTRACTING ATTENTION

Those in Charge of Various Processes Many Visitors Interested in Lower Floor Work.

While beauty and artistic glory reign supreme on the Main floor of Cheney Hall, system and mechanical efficiency are the foundation of the downstairs exhibit. There all the processes beginning with the baled cocoons and finishing with the machinery that has made it possible to create such wonderful fabrics are exhibited in their working order. Representatives from the different departments are in charge of their exhibit each day.

The Throwing Dept. exhibit under the supervision of Edward Taylor is attracting much attention. A large sign made of the yellow and white Japanese cocoons names the raw silk exhibit. The girls of the Throwing Dept. made the sign by basting hundreds of the cocoons on a canvas back.

The varieties of raw silk showing the difference in color and texture according to the country it comes from start the exhibit and the processes through which the silk is taken until it is reeled onto the spools are shown. A large disc of colored skeins marked Cheney Silks adds color to the exhibit.

Miss Rita Clark, Anna Logan, Alice Mathews and P. J. Ryan, Albert White and James Roach have represented the Throwing Dept. the first part of the week. Miss Frances Quish, Laura Mathison, Bertha Hoffman and Walter Tedford, Alfred Smith, Michael Sheridan and William Sheekey will be in attendance the latter part of the week.

Across the way from the Throwing Dept. exhibit a reeling and a banding machine are in operation. Emma Von Deck, Elizabeth Kennedy, Isabel McCann, Della Eganson, Ida Strong and Jessie Griggs are demonstrating the reeling. Anna Anderson, Florence Wilkie, Mary Quish, Florence Stanfield and Blanche Mason are exhibiting the banding machines.

HOSPITAL GETS MONEY.

Five years ago the South End White Way Association was formed and many of the merchants along Main street pledged a certain amount of money each year for a period of five years for the installation and upkeep of the system. This worked very well for a while and then some of the merchants began to get lax in their payments and so it drifted until it was hard for those that were left to raise enough money to pay for the lighting each year. The system was taken over by the Manchester Electric Co. about a month ago and the two side arms on each standard were immediately removed leaving only one light. The association proceeded to close up its business and every member was assessed a certain amount to pay expenses. The regular members who were left paid as usual and after the bills had been paid there was found to be a surplus of $64.72. It was voted that this amount be given to the Memorial Hospital and it has been turned over to the Manchester Trust Co. which is treasurer for the hospital.

George H. Williams has sold a Commerce truck to Ernest Jacobs of McKee street, who will use it in his milk business.

LOCAL HOOVER FUND.

The final report of the Manchester Committee, European Relief Council, is made public today.

The amount sent to local headquarters from residents here amounted to $16,231.43. Added to this was $950 sent direct to New York. The total amounts to $17,181.43.
