GOVERNMENT WILL EXTEND FINANCIAL AID TO FARMERS

Greater Banking Support Has Been Decided Upon to Save Farmers from Threatened Ruin Through Abnormal Price Drops.

Washington, April 23.—The government has taken a decisive step to relieve the credit dangers that menace farmers, officials explained today. Greater banking support for the producers is assured as a result of the administration's firm purpose to bring more liberal accommodations, through the banking system, to branches of agriculture.

Substantial and immediate financial aid to the farmers, therefore, through the more or less elastic rules of the banking system, and with the approval of those in control of their policies, has been terminated upon. The question of further credit relief has been the subject of earnest discussion between the President and the cabinet for several days.

The problems of saving the farmers from threatened ruin through abnormal price drops, and inability to meet their obligations at the banks has also been subjected to careful study by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, officials of the Federal Reserve Board and members of the War Finance Corporation.

Comptroller of the Currency Crisinger's new policy, it is announced, will be to stimulate bankers' credits to agricultural purposes and to bring about a more liberal attitude upon the part of bankers in granting re-arrangement of outstanding obligations as a means of enabling the producers to ride themselves over the present emergency.

Plans for relief of the farming industry are said not to have gone to the point of requiring any changes by the Federal Reserve Board in its established rules.

The word has gone forth to bankers everywhere that the farms must be saved through banking help and through a more generous measure of credit aid, which it is possible for bankers generally to offer in the form of renewals of loans.

At the office of the Comptroller of the Currency the records offer proof of the ability of the banks of the country to divert enormous credits to the farmers. Hundreds of banks throughout the country, it was said, will find it possible to divert a tremendous amount of money to the producers from speculative channels, where money is tied up, under the lure of high interest rates.

The attitude of the leading officials today is that interior bankers in the big crop growing sections of the country must recognize it as their first duty now to sustain the industries, on which the banks themselves primarily depend. Official records offer proof, officials said, that huge sums of depositors' funds, instead of being loaned to alleviate the plight of home industries, has found its way to highly speculative uses, and that much money is so being employed at the time. Release of such credits, it is expected will help solve some of the financial troubles of the producers.

NOMINATIONS TO COMMERCE COMMISSION

Washington, April 23.—Joseph B. Campbell of Spokane, Wash., will probably be named a member of the I. C. C. on Monday it was indicated at the White House today. The name of the other nominees is not known.

GERMANY WILL SEND REPLY TO UNITED STATES TO-DAY

German Statesmen Work Hard on New Reparations Offer Which Harding Will Forward to the Allies.

Berlin, April 23.—Germany's reply to President Harding's note is expected to be dispatched to Washington at noon today.

Dr. Walter Simons, the Foreign Minister, and Chancellor Fehrenbach are scheduled to meet the party leaders shortly afterwards to inform them of the text of the document.

New Reparations Offer.

The general forecast is that Germany will comply with President Harding's suggestion to submit a new reparations offer.

Germany's leading statesmen worked throughout the night over the note, thoroughly aware that its text and tenor is bound to have a decisive effect not only upon the reparations question but upon the whole future of the republic and indirectly of all Europe. Dr. Simons and his colleagues in the cabinet bent their energies in herculean efforts to map out a proposition which President Harding will feel justified in forwarding to the allies.

Target for Attack.

The Foreign Minister is expected to read the reply to the American President in the course of his address in the Reichstag this afternoon. He continued today to be the target for violent attacks in the Conservative press which is showering epithets upon him ranging from "weakening" to "traitor."

The Liberal organs, on the other hand, are frantically appealing to all Germans to rally solidly behind the Foreign Minister and the government as a whole in this, Germany's greatest crisis since the pre-armistice days.

Stupid Obstinacy.

"Of all our mistakes in the reparations question," says the Berliner Tageblatt, "the refusal to co-operate with Dr. Simons at this moment is the most stupid. It cannot fail to impress the world with Germany's obstinacy and a stubbornness."

Some of the organs of reaction, with their defiant uncompromising editorials give the neutral reader the impression that they think Germany is still master of the western front and in possession of Belgium as in 1917 instead of being, as she actually is, threatened with immediate military measures by France and her allies which if carried out would strike at her very existence.

HELD FOR $260,000 DIAMOND ROBBERY

Chicago Diamond Broker Who Figured as a Victim Yesterday is Under Arrest Today.

Chicago, April 23.—Julius J. Reingold, who yesterday figured as one of the victims of a $260,000 diamond robbery, today was held at police headquarters as one of the instigators of the robbery. His brother, Leo Reingold, also was held. The two were to be grilled by detectives today.

The robbery occurred in Julius Reingold's office. LeRoy Present, a diamond salesman of Rochester, N. Y., was displaying to Reingold his stock of diamonds. Robbers entered and bound Present and Reingold and made off with the jewels.

Circumstances surrounding the robbery, chiefly the ease and smoothness with which it was executed, aroused the suspicion of the police and Reingold and his brother were taken into custody.

Chief of Detectives Hughes declared today he believed the robbery to have been a "frame up."

Present was held innocent.

HUNDREDS PAY TRIBUTE TO E. W. POST'S MEMORY

One of the Largest Funerals Ever Held in This Town.

5,000 VIEWED THE BODY

Brave Fireman Who Gave His Life for His Duty is Laid in His Final Resting Place.

One of the largest funerals ever held in Manchester was that of Edward Post this morning at 9:30 o'clock from St. James' Church. Rev. William J. McGurk celebrated the solemn reburial mass, assisted by Rev. C. T. McCann of St. Bridget's Church and Father Timmins, curate of St. James' Church.

The funeral cortege started from the undertaking rooms of Watkins Brothers on Oak street and reached for nearly a half mile. The procession was headed by the Fire Commissioners of the South Manchester Fire Department, followed by the members of Hose Co. No. 3 of the S. M. F. D. Next came the delegation from the State firemen and Chief John Limerick of the Manchester Fire Department.

Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, attended in a body and were led by Grand Knight Edward Harrington. A delegation from the Foresters followed by the state, county and local Undertakers' Association. The Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus brought up the rear.

The procession lined up from St. James street to the church doors. The body was borne between the men as they stood with bared heads. As the body was borne into church the choir sang, "Nearer My God to Thee." During the mass, James Campbell sang, "When Evening Comes" and the body was carried to the church, "Aristide's Home on High."

Forming outside the church the various delegations followed the body to St. James' Cemetery where the burial took place. The funeral procession reached from St. James street to Pearl street. Business places along Main street drew their curtains out of respect to the deceased for a period of two hours.

Oak street early this morning was crowded with people anxious to pay their respects. Despite the rain men stood with heads uncovered as the body was taken from the parlors of Watkins Brothers and placed in the hearse. It is estimated that nearly 5,000 persons viewed the body as it lay in state since Thursday morning.

Rich and poor, old and young, gathered within St. James' Church this morning to pay their respects to one of the most popular of Manchester citizens. As early as 8:30 the church was crowded. Reservations had been made for the various delegations that attended the funeral in a body. Main street was densely packed as the funeral procession started and men of all walks of life stood with bared heads as the hearse passed.

The Bearers.

The bearers were members of the Knights of Columbus and Hose Co. No. 3. They were: Edward F. Taylor, Patrick J. Hutchinson, Jeremiah Sweeney, James Fontaine, Robert J. Campbell, Jr., and James H. Quinn.

The floral tributes were many and wonderful. It was said to be one of the largest tendered a local man in years. The Park Hill Flower Shop which made up most of the pieces has been busy since Thursday morning and Manager Pentland had to have extra help. A description of some of the floral pieces follows:

A beautiful large standing shower wreath of roses, violets and lilies of the valley and Easter lilies from Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus; Campbell Council, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, a standing shower wreath of roses, Easter lilies and sweet peas; a large wreath of roses from Hose & Ladder Co. No. 4; a beautiful five-foot floral piece, "Gates Ajar," of roses, Easter lilies, sweet peas and carnations from the members of Hose Co. No. 3 of which he was foreman; a large wreath of roses from Court Manchester, For-

ANOTHER WOMAN IN WAKEFIELD MYSTERY

Elsie Willgren Questioned in Connection With Murder of Patrolman for Which Clarence Loud is Held Without Bail.

Boston, April 23.—Still another woman has been grilled by the authorities in connection with the investigation of the murder of Patrolman James A. Preston of the Wakefield police, it became known today. She is Elsie Willgren, 23, a cook, employed at the Hotel Kenmore.

Owing to confusion in police records the name Elsie Willgren was reported previously to have been the maiden name of Mrs. Mary Gibson, another woman questioned in the mystery who has disappeared from her lodging house in the South End. It was established today that Mary Gibson and Elsie Willgren were different women.

In Boston police circles today confidence was expressed that Mrs. Gibson could be located when the prosecution desired to confer with her again in connection with the case.

She was charged with the murder of the note means America's entrance into the allied councils.

Some of the leading Paris journals urged the government to insist upon its proposed coercive measures at all costs unless Germany fully meets the reparations demands on May 1.

"We are glad," says the Echo de Paris, "that Germany shows the same interest in the problems of peace as she did in those of war, but new German propositions will not suffice to cause the suspension of the execution of the measures upon which France has decided."

Marcel Hutin quotes an official of the Foreign Office as saying that "if on May 1 Germany has not accepted to pay the total agreed upon at the Paris conference and giving the surest guarantees of payment, France is determined to go the utmost limit in the exercise of her rights."

"Germany has thrown down her last card and it was not a trump," says Le Journal.

Le Matin declares "the note means America will be represented at the reparations discussions. Words, however, are useless, acts alone can save Germany."

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY AT BRIDGEPORT

Bandit Blackjacks Messenger With $4,000 Payroll But Fails to Get The Money.

Bridgeport, April 23.—Cecil Campbell, 20, of Stratford, a messenger, returning from a local bank to the factory office of the Wolverine Motor Co. on Union avenue, with $4,000, mostly in bills, for the payroll of the factory, was blackjacked by a lone bandit at the corner of Union avenue and Blackstone street, about a block from the factory at 9 o'clock this forenoon, in an attempt to rob him of the money. The robber struck the youth twice, once over the head and again on the left arm. Campbell, however, escaped and ran to the factory where he delivered the money to Louis I. Snyder, secretary of the Wolverine Company, and then collapsed on the floor. He was sent to the Aetna Life Insurance Company's hospital where it is said he is either suffering from concussion or a fractured skull. The bandit escaped and the police are looking for him.

The bandit is said to have been hanging about the factory this morning. He was seen by a stenographer in the office who declares that he had not been employed at the factory and was a total stranger so far as she can determine.

The description given of the bandit is that of a man, 5 feet 8 inches in height. He wore a brown overcoat.

Mason sent for Rinehart. Rinehart came. He and Mrs. Mason left together for Indianapolis. That was three weeks ago. This week the girl wrote Mason asking him to take her back. Mason answered by instituting suit for divorce.

BRITISH AND FRENCH HEADS IN MOMENTOUS CONFERENCE

GERMAN OFFER WILL BE VARIABLE TOTAL

Will Propose That Payments be Decided From Year to Year by an International Appraisal Board.

Berlin, Apr. 23.—An "elastic" reparations total, to be decided from year to year by an international board of appraisal" will be suggested in Germany's reply to President Harding which is to be despatched to Washington at noon today and to be announced in the Reichstag this afternoon.

The Int. News Service learns that this is the outstanding feature of the new proposals finally agreed upon by the leading German statesmen after conferences which lasted throughout the night and well into this morning.

In the meantime the tentative total which Germany will offer to pay is understood to be far from the total demand at the Paris conference but much larger than that which was fixed at the recent London conference.

The offer of this tentative total is believed will be amplified by a clause providing that the total be made a "variable factor," Germany agreeing to pay a sum to be decided annually by the judgment of an international appraisal board in accordance with the progress of Germany's industrial recovery.

At a meeting of party leaders the demand of the reactionaries for the immediate ousting of Dr. Simons was rejected. The leaders agreed to give him two weeks in which to settle the crisis.

German government circles are known to have derived considerable comfort during the last few critical days from the fact that the British note means America's entrance into the allied councils.

Some of the leading Paris journals urged the government to insist upon its proposed coercive measures at all costs unless Germany fully meets the reparations demands on May 1.

"We are glad," says the Echo de Paris, "that Germany shows the same interest in the problems of peace as she did in those of war, but new German propositions will not suffice to cause the suspension of the execution of the measures upon which France has decided."

Marcel Hutin quotes an official of the Foreign Office as saying that "if on May 1 Germany has not accepted to pay the total agreed upon at the Paris conference and giving the surest guarantees of payment, France is determined to go the utmost limit in the exercise of her rights."

"Germany has thrown down her last card and it was not a trump," says Le Journal.

Le Matin declares "the note means America will be represented at the reparations discussions. Words, however, are useless, acts alone can save Germany."

RECONSTRUCTION OF DEVASTATED FRANCE

French Government Considers New German Proposals Insufficient and Unacceptable.

Paris, April 23.—The new German proposals for the reconstruction of the devastated regions of Northern France are considered insufficient and unacceptable by the French government, the Int. News Service was reliably informed this afternoon.

Premier Briand expected to tell Premier Lloyd-George so at the conference at Hythe this afternoon.

The eyes of all France are eagerly fixed upon the old Kentish town where the two premiers are to thrash out the whole complex reparations and arrive at a decision.

It is now clear that three conflicting emotions dominate French feeling, namely:

- 1.—Satisfaction that the American President refuses to be the umpire in the reparations question.
- 2.—Disappointment that he did not categorically refuse to have any dealings whatever with Germany.
- 3.—Anxiety that the note means America's entrance into the allied councils.

PROMINENT NORWALK MAN DIES

Norwalk, April 23.—Henry F. Coleburn, senior member of the well known firm of Coleburn & Lauder of this city, died at his home today in his 60th year. He is survived by a wife and two children and one brother, Dr. Arthur C. Coleburn, formerly of Middletown and now of this city.

D'Annunzio Wants Republic of Italy

In reply to a telegram from Trieste veterans, the poet wrote that "parliament shall be destroyed, the Rappallo treaty with Jugo-Slavia shall be cancelled and Italy's constitution shall be made the same as that which I gave to Fiume."

This is only part of a well defined movement launched by D'Annunzio to win the support of the common people as well as of the Fascist and Nationalists.

It is a movement that is looked upon with unconcealed indignation in military and political circles and the government is known to be watching it closely.

D'Annunzio, ostensibly living in retirement at his villa in Goro, is really in constant touch with his officers at Fiume who in turn are now allied with the Fascist leaders in the principal cities of Italy including Rome.

Firebrand of Fiume Gathering Support for a New Adventure.

Rome, Apr. 23.—Is a "Republic of Italy" the latest dream of Gabriele D'Annunzio and does he aspire to be its first president?

There are increasing signs that such is the case. The poet-warrior's attitude toward Italian national life, and particularly toward national elections, is regarded as having all the earmarks of far reaching ambitions on his part. He has refused to stand as a candidate in the elections at Zara and in other districts where he could have been easily elected. The general impression is that he is "out for bigger game." Has he lost in popularity? On the contrary, support is steadily coming to him from quarters formerly hostile to his policies.

Gathering Support.

At the celebration of the birthday of Rome, for instance, Fascisti (Conservatives) and Nationalists joined his own followers in cheering "D'Annunzio's Republic" and there were even shouts expressing the wish that he enter the Quirinal Palace.

Daughter of Joaquin Miller Weds

Weird and Dramatic Ceremony Was Conducted According to Old Druid Customs.

Oakland, Cal., April 23.—"Circles are circles from White Heaven to Hell. Perfection is knowledge that all is well, but the heart of him is good enough for me."

With these words on her lips as "Juan" slipped a gold band on her finger, Juanita Miller, daughter of the famous California bard Joaquin Miller, was wedded to a young man at her home, "The Heights."

The ceremony was conducted according to the old Druid customs, a glamorous outdoor party, weird and dramatic. There was no best man and the bridesmaids were Indian dancing "maids." Juanita had originally planned the wedding for midnight in the glow of a full moon but recently discovered that Indians worshipped the sun rather than the moon. Hence the little ceremony was changed.

The scene of the wedding at "The Heights" which overlooks Oakland, five counties and seven cities, ideally seclusive, was in the woods surrounding her home. The air was brisk. A huge Indian blanket draped from the shoulders of Juanita.

The affair had attracted wide attention and was attended by 500 guests. The ceremony this afternoon was a confirmation of a legal ceremony which took place three months ago when Juan and Juanita were married by a justice of the peace at Red Wood City.

Juanita, when a baby, related in poetry her life was destined to be a cycle of "color" periods. She has experienced every period except the White episode which she began today following her wedding. All of the other periods including the "Red" episode of an unsuccessful marriage three years ago which resulted in divorce, have been complete failures.

The material side of the wedding, required by civilized laws was gone through months ago and the affair today united them in the sight of the pagan gods, in accordance with Juanita's plan of life.

STOCK MARKET CLOSINGS.

New York, April 23.—The stock market closed strong today. The feature of the trading in the last hour was the development of strength in some of the leading railroad shares. Northern Pacific was most prominent moving up 2 points to 75 1-2, while Great Northern rose nearly 3 points to 72 1-2 and Reading moved over 2 points to 71 3-4.

U. S. Steel was in large demand, advancing over 1 point to 83 1-2 and Baldwin made a gain of over 3 points to 89 1-2. American Woolen was another strong feature touching 77 1-2, an upturn of nearly 4 points. Mexican Petroleum made a new high of 151 3-4 in the last few minutes while Studebaker rallied from 85 5-8 to 86 7-8.

Government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

RECEPTION IS TENDERED NORTH METHODIST PASTOR

The reception to Rev. Dr. E. A. Blake, pastor of the North Methodist church, was attended by a gathering which completely filled the church vestry last evening. The room had been decorated by the members of the Ladies' Aid and Epworth League and presented a very attractive appearance, and festoons of electric lights were used with pleasing effect.

The Salvation Army orchestra of six pieces rendered a number of selections during the evening and five of the members sang two male chorus numbers with excellent effect. A piano solo by Miss Swartz and a vocal duet by Misses Beatrice and Irene Lydall completed the musical part of the program.

ABOUT TOWN

The Carlyle-Johnson Machine Co. of the north end has notified its employees that it will work on the new daylight saving plan on Monday.

The Connecticut Co. will not work on daylight saving time but the men will go to work an hour earlier in the morning to keep right with the daylight saving time.

In an account published yesterday of a dog biting a child on Kenney Court it was said that Dog Warden Horton killed the animal. That was not the case. He must keep it for twelve or fourteen days to see if it develops rabies so that the child could be sent immediately to a Pasteur Institute for treatment. At the end of the observation period, the canine will be destroyed.

50 CARPENTERS STRIKE; WILL NOT ACCEPT CUT

Refuse to Accept 87 1-2 Cents an Hour—Want One Dollar—Won't Discuss Situation

It is estimated that about fifty union carpenters in Manchester are out on strike. The break came yesterday when the men employed on the West side school quit work. This was followed by the carpenters of the Manchester Construction Co. laying down their tools and smaller contractors today reported that their men have also struck.

The carpenters, in a notice published earlier in the week, said they had agreed to hold out for $1 an hour, their usual scale. The contractors offered them 87 1-2 cents, a reduction of 12 1-2 per cent. They refused to take it and the strike is the result.

Officials of the Manchester Construction Co. said today that the carpenters were about three weeks ahead with the work on the Spruce street school so they are not worrying yet. It is not known how the strike will affect the West side school. The carpenters will not discuss the situation.

esters of America; a large floral piece representing a fireman's trumpet from the Fire Commissioners of the South Manchester Fire Department; a large floral piece from the Dewey-Richman Co. composed of roses, violets and sweet peas; a beautiful large cross, six feet high, of white roses, lavender sweet peas with a large cluster of Easter lilies from the Manchester undertakers; the schoolmates of Mr. Post's two sons sent a beautiful wreath of galax leaves with a large cluster of Mrs. Shauer pink roses and sweet peas.

One of the most beautiful of all the floral pieces was that from Hose Co. No. 2 representing the fire alarm box from which the fatal alarm was rung. This piece stood six feet high with a box of solid red larnations. The words "His Last Call" and Box 64 are inscribed upon it. The base was made of Easter lilies and white Killarney roses.

Besides these floral offerings there were close to a hundred more large wreaths and sprays. It was necessary to have two additional trucks to carry the offerings to the grave.

Campbell Council, Knights of Columbus, last evening went to Watkins Brothers' undertakings rooms on Main street in a body. At that time the rites of that order were observed. After the ritual service was held the members marched back to their rooms on Main street.

The Accident.

Edward W. Post met his death last Wednesday morning about 11 o'clock when he was hurrying to answer a fire alarm rung in from Box 64. At the time the alarm was sounded Mr. Post was at Smith's Garage on Bisell street and in order that no time should be lost he hailed a passing truck. As he neared the street where No. 3 is housed he had the driver of the truck slow down. He jumped off the truck and darted around it only to be struck down by a Buick touring car owned by Cheney Brothers. He was picked up and taken to the Memorial Hospital where he died a short time afterwards. His death has been the topic of conversation along the street for the past three days.

THE MERCHANT MARINE.

President Harding in his first message to Congress declared that the American merchant marine was here to stay and that no steps would be neglected to maintain it in unimpaired strength.

American shipping will decline unless something is done to equalize costs, including labor, construction and insurance, in each of which the United States is placed at a serious disadvantage with other countries.

That America is once again seizing upon her former ocean heritage and consciously seeking her former high place in sea annals is evident from a statement of Admiral Benson, chairman of the United States Shipping Board.

There can be no success upon the sea unless the young men of the country turn to seafaring as naturally and enthusiastically as did their forefathers.

FARMS FOR IMMIGRANTS. Co-operation in effort and co-ordination of methods have been strikingly evident in the work of the Harding administration.

The flow of immigration to the cities has been a difficult puzzle in the past, having effects that were economically injurious.

There are lands in the West now being opened for entry on a large scale, swamp lands in the South that can be drained, and abandoned farms in the East that give opportunity for the settlement of immigrants on millions of small farms.

The majority of immigrants are peasants, natural farmers, and if the proposed farms are made small enough they will snap at the chance of owning land.

The plan does not contemplate foreign ghettos in the country as well as in the city. There will be grouping but only so far as association brings better economic results by bringing these immigrant farmers within the reach of the expert agricultural and home demonstrations which it is proposed the Department of Agriculture will undertake.

does Secretary Wallace. He has devoted a lifetime to the subject and if anyone can devise a means of curing an acknowledged evil he can be trusted with the job.

One aspect of the proposition should not be overlooked. The Red agitator finds his pabulum in the congested foreign centers of the cities. The alien on the farm, properly treated and sympathetically helped, will prove a powerful antidote to radical irresponsibility and recklessness of thought and action.

LANDLORDS AND CHILDREN.

A bill just made law by the signature of Governor Miller of New York state has a national as well as a state interest, even a universal interest.

For years the question has been a fruitful source of discussion both in this country and in Europe and many efforts have been made to give statutory effect to the widespread feeling against a condition that encourages race suicide and penalizes the raising of children.

Whether the New York enactment will stand the test of constitutionality or not remains to be seen but a beginning has been made in an important reform and it is likely to overcome all obstacles on the road to complete victory.

GOD'S TIME NOT STANDARD TIME

(Springfield Republican) Opponents of daylight-saving have been eloquent in demanding adherence to "God's time." But whatever "God's time" may be, standard time was not known until 1882.

If we were to insist on God's time, we should have to go back to the sundial. For that alone follows nature. With mean sun time noon occurs four minutes later for every degree of longitude toward the west.

This has nothing to do with the question whether daylight-saving should be abolished in Massachusetts. But it shows us that all methods of measuring time which are dictated by practical convenience are artificial affairs.

Saturday Night

In the old days when Manchester had no fire department and no apparatus it was the practice whenever there was a fire to ring the bells and to run through the streets crying "Fire." The object was to assemble as many workers as possible at the scene of the fire to man the hand buckets and rescue the contents of the burning building.

Today fires are handled differently. With a well organized fire department and fast and high powered motor apparatus, outside volunteers are not often needed at a fire. On the contrary a crowd is a hindrance rather than a help to the firemen.

Under the present conditions it would be better if all vehicles in the fire district were drawn to the curb and stopped, giving the use of the streets to the firemen until they have made their getaway.

The successful clergyman of the present day ministers not only to the sectarian parish which he serves but also to the community at large.

"In your constant and effective support of our country's cause during the war, as a ready worker and leader in all efforts for the public welfare, and notably by the energy and wisdom with which you have led the movement for a Bristol hospital, you have won the universal respect, admiration and affection of the people of Bristol."

Manchester has an opening for just such a man as Dr. Dorchester. The pastor of its leading protestant church has been vacant for nearly a year and the loss of the community during that time has been estimable.

Now that Hartford has only two daily papers it is hard for their readers to obtain from them an unbiased opinion on any subject. Of course it is to be expected that the two papers should be opposed to each other on political matters as the Courant has been republican and the Times democratic for many years.

Spring breezes, that reach even the most sluggish of city hearts, drifted into a class-room on the lower East Side the other day, where for four hours daily a young and spring-loving teacher struggles to teach English to adult foreigners.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeannie Price

New York, April 22.—The most interesting events in New York, if one only has time to stick through them, are the pawnbrokers' auction sales, held annually, down on the Bowery. EASY FOR BOY TO MASTER

MOTORCYCLE

It is probably safe to say that the ambition is harbored in the breast of every older, red-blooded American boy to own a motorcycle. It is probably also a fact that many of the rising generation consider the motorcycle a complicated piece of mechanism. The contrary I strive. The thirtieth continental congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution has been held in Washington this week.

The Connecticut Daughters of the American Revolution have had high standards to live up to during the past year.

Our expenditure on all lines of work has amounted to $16,994.54.

We have added one new chapter (Calchester) making a total of fifty-one, and our total membership March 1st, 1921, was 54,457.

Our chief effort has been directed toward raising our state quota of 60 cents per member for the three national undertakings recommended by the president general.

Other outstanding activities have included contributions to the endowment and current expense funds of our D. A. R. state property.

Our chapters have also pledged $1,000 toward the Jonathan Trumbull Memorial Fellowship of American Women.

We have bound the military records of the World War, which we presented last year to the National Society at the congress in a binding uniform with that of our state files.

Three tablets have been erected and unveiled, one by Anne Brewster Fanning chapter of Jewett City, in memory of World War soldiers.

New Year's Day marked the completion of the work of restoration of the historic Bullfinch State House in Hartford and the opening of the building to the public.

Our chapters have been active as usual in their regular care of old cemeteries and the locating, marking and care of Revolutionary soldiers' graves.

Thirty-six chapters observed the Pilgrim Ter-centenary in many and varied ways, also Constitution Day and our national holidays.

Finally, the Connecticut D. A. R. have pledged themselves to assume the cost of furnishing the rooms of the president general, three in number, in the proposed office building.

Chicago Court Sets Aside Will Result Will be to Make Clarence and Josephine Laster $1,000,000 Richer.

Chicago, April 23.—A strange legal precedent, by which Clarence and Josephine Laster have been made approximately $1,000,000 richer, has been established by the Supreme court today.

Laster and his sister are the grand nephew and niece of Charles C. Haynes who died July 24, 1914.

On March 7, 1887, Haynes had made a will leaving all his property to his mother and her heirs.

On January 13, 1907, he made another will directing that his mother should receive his property but that upon her death two-thirds of it go to the Mercy Hospital and one-third to the board of education of St. Charles.

Middletown Wins Debate at Local High School Last Night By Two Thirds Decision.

After a lively exchange of arguments and facts, the judges, Professor Charles Rogers of Trinity, Clarence G. Gould of the Hartford High School and Anson B. Handy, principal of the Stafford Springs High school handed in a two-thirds decision in favor of the negative.

Two Kinds of Women

WE know a woman, who when she needs to purchase necessary things for the home or the family puts on her shopping costume, dabs a bit of powder on her nose and sallies forth.

She shops here and there and down another hunting and h-u-n-t-i-n-g. When she gets home she is j z y and j-a-d-e-d. She feels all mused up mentally and physically.

We know another person who has learned the art of reading the advertisements before she starts out. She finds out what she wants and where to get it. Then she goes straight down town and right to the store that has IT.

In this way she saves time, money and effort and comes home fresh as a daisy and ready to get friend husband a good dinner instead of taking him to the cafeteria.

Simpler and More Liberal Divorce Laws Aim of Women

New York—Is the uniform divorce law approaching?

Recent legal proceedings in several well-known families have made the need of a Federal divorce law seem imperative.

The National League of Women Voters, now in convention in Cleveland, has recognized the necessity for such legislation. Part of the programme of the convention includes discussion of the divorce problem and the adoption of resolutions to liberalize and simplify the laws surrounding it.

Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, one of the New York members of the organization, announced to-day that not only divorce, but kindred subjects, pertaining to the protection of women and children, such as child labor laws, will be discussed at the convention.

"I thoroughly believe," she said to-day, "in a programme for liberalizing and unifying divorce laws.

"Part of our general plan for the codification of laws, and their unification, includes not only consideration of divorce laws, but those which affect children.

"This is a necessity now, as never before, in the United States. Every section of this country is closely bound by interconnections and our laws should be more uniform.

"Laws governing divorce should have dignity and humanity incorporated in them."

Further approval of the league's programme was expressed by a young woman lawyer, Miss Lucille Pugh, who agrees that the present system of marriage and divorce is inadequate and unjust.

"I believe that marriage should be looked upon as a civil contract which can be dissolved or abrogated when conditions change and when it is proper and right to do so," she said.

"The happiness of two people is the one thing on which the State must depend for its existence.

"And that happiness should be guarded. It is the State's duty to protect it.

"By standing in the way of more liberal divorce laws the State is not doing its duty. It is cutting its own throats thereby.

"But I would not be too lax. Such grounds as cruelty are often interpreted too leniently. A woman may say it is cruel if her husband does not kiss her when he leaves for business in the morning.

"Such a reason for divorce, if ever made one of the grounds, should be carefully defined.

"Divorce should be granted when two people find it impossible to be a help to each other. That is the whole idea.

"The State should not make it an obligation on either party to the unhappy marriage to resort to collusion.

"How could the laws be unified? I think if a constitutional amendment could be passed, making the law uniform, but leaving the enforcement of it to the State, it would be very satisfactory. Then people wouldn't have to go to a Federal court for a divorce, but to the State courts as usual. This would be a great protection to women and to children as well.

"I don't know how it would work out—if it would be easy to adjust or not. If not, then we ought to find some efficient way.

"One report, which may be incorrect, has it that the League of Women Voters would place two years as the period between marriage and divorce. This is too long. If people can't get along for two years it is a serious thing. I don't know whether that means that they want a woman to wait two years to get a divorce, or two years till she may re-marry after being divorced. In either case, it is too long.

Hard to Define Cruelty

"Many people, if cruelly made a ground, would say that incompatibility should be synonymous. It's easy to say that so many things represent cruelty.

"The point should be that if two can't honestly get along together the State that married them should give them relief.

"Women should have the custody of their children, I believe. That is woman's natural vocation anyway, the one she started out with.

"When a divorce is given to the father the child—if of tender years—is given to the mother. That is only right and just. Circumstances have so much to do with every case, though. If a woman is wholly bad the child is better away from her, no matter how young.

"Let us be honest and fair and have sensible legislation.

"Health certificates with marriage licenses are a good idea. We should make marriage hard to achieve. Now it's hard only to be divorced, not to be married. The very young don't know their own minds and rush into disastrous marriages. They should be protected.

"But what good is to the State or to any individual to keep two people together who want to be apart?

"It's hypocrisy, nothing else!

"Our laws are not for the strong, but for the weak. And women should always be protected."

Distinguishing Lamb From Mutton Is Explained by the Experts

Unless the housewife knows the difference between lamb and mutton, which few housewives do, she is apt to get mutton when she thinks she is purchasing lamb, say marketing experts of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture. Not only will she get meat of inferior quality, but she may pay lamb prices for the carcasses of yearlings and sheep, the wholesale prices of which are considerably lower than for lamb.

On March 24, lambs weighing from 84 pounds down sold on the Chicago market for $9 to $10.85 per 100 pounds; yearlings $7.50, to $9.50, wethers $6 to $7.25, ewes $4.75 to $6.50. These figures show an average difference of $1.42 per 100 pounds between the price of lambs and yearlings, a difference of $2.36 between mature sheep and yearlings, and a difference of $3.78 between mature sheep and lambs. On the same date good dressed lamb sold on the New York wholesale meat market for 18 to 21 cents per pound, good dressed yearlings for 16 to 18 cents, and good mutton for 13 to 14 cents. In other words, the average wholesale price of good lamb was 2 1/2 cents per pound higher than for good yearlings, and 6 cents higher than good mutton.

With such a difference in price between mutton and lamb it is vastly to the financial interest of the housewife to be able to recognize the various kinds of meat, and the following points by Bureau of Markets dressed meat experts may help her to do so.

Distinctive Points

Generally speaking, a mutton carcass is heavier than one of lamb. The color of the meat is one of the best indications of age. The lean meat of lamb ranges from pink to light red, but as the animal grows older the color of the meat turns to a deeper red. This is also true of the thin strips of lean meat covering certain portions of the outside of the carcass. The bones in lamb are smaller in proportion to the meat and usually present a reddish appearance. The bones in a mutton sheep are not only larger but whiter and more flinty both in appearance and texture. If the whole carcass can be seen the ribs in a mutton sheep will show a much more pronounced spring or bow, whereas those of a lamb are straighter, giving the side of the carcass a more compact and less distended appearance.

One of the standard methods of distinguishing lamb from mutton is to inspect the first or ankle joint of the front leg. In dressing a lamb the knuckle, or end of the shank bone, is broken off and the end of the bone presents a ridged and porous appearance. This is soft and moist to the touch and carries a decidedly bone color. As the animal grows older the bone becomes harder and whiter and the knuckle becomes more firmly attached to the bone. This is the condition during the yearling stage. The knuckle still breaks off but when this occurs the end of the shank bone presents a hard, rough appearance and has lost much of its red color.

When the lamb has passed through the yearling stage and has become a sheep the bone has become so ossified or hardened that the knuckle no longer breaks off the end of the bone and separation of the foot from the shank is made at the ankle joint. Thereafter the knuckle normally forms the extreme end of the foreleg, and presents a hard, smooth, white surface with two prominent polished ridges. In the case of mutton the knuckle is frequently broken off by mechanical means in order to give the carcass a resemblance to yearling or lamb, but in these instances the bones are decidedly jagged and splintered and lack the redness which is characteristic of lamb and yearling carcasses.

It requires some study and application to learn to distinguish the various classes and grades of dressed meats, but everyone whose duty it is to provide wholesome, nutritious meat for family consumption and to provide it economically should be able to distinguish good meat from that of medium or inferior quality, whether it is seen in the packing house cooler, on the butcher's block, or in the home.

PROHIBITION CHANGES

Washington, Apr. 22.—Early confirmation of the President's appointment of David H. Blair of Winston, Salem, N. C., as commissioner of internal revenue, was predicted at the Treasury Department today. A mass of revenue and prohibition problems are waiting for his consideration of the new commissioner. Sec. Mellon indicated that there must be early action upon beer and wine regulations. One of the first problems will be to rebuild the prohibition unit of the Treasury Dept. This will involve the appointment of about fifty state prohibition directors and about a dozen federal prohibition supervisors-agents.

Reorganization of the prohibition unit also will be made with a view to transferring eventually some of its present functions to the Department of Justice. In the end the bureau will preserve merely those features of a purely administrative character, and will be relieved of all phases of law enforcement, which it is now settled by the administration must be taken over by the Department of Justice.

Since she first won success as an author with The Leavenworth Case, Anna Katherine Greene, now in her seventy-fifth year, has written thirty novels and more than 400 short stories, all dealing with mysterious crimes.

LONDON PRESS ON AMERICAN REPLY

Consider Reply to Germany's Reparations Note as "Curt Advice to Germans to Pay."

London, April 22.—This afternoon leading London newspapers, while refraining from editorial comment on President Harding's refusal to fix a reparations total for Germany, indicated through their headlines that they interpreted the American President's reply as a snub to Germany. The general "headline view" appears to be that the reply is "a curt advice to the Germans to pay."

FRENCH PLEASED WITH HARDING NOTE

Paris Officials Believe United States Will be Represented in Any Further Negotiations on German Reparations.

Paris, April 22.—The Foreign Office let it be known this afternoon that the French government is pleased with President Harding's reply to Germany's mediation appeal, though it was added that France had hoped for a categorical refusal instead of a qualified rejection which invited a new German offer and leaves the door open to American mediation.

Official France interprets Mr. Harding's answer to Berlin as meaning that Germany must resume negotiations directly with the allies. It is presumed that in the event of further negotiations between the allies and Germany the United States will be represented, which is strongly desired by French official circles.

Memorial Tree for John Burroughs

American Forestry Association Plants Live Oak in the City of Pasadena.

Washington, April 22.—The honor of planting the first memorial tree for John Burroughs goes to the city of Pasadena, the American Forestry Association announced today. Application for recognition on the association's national honor roll was made by John J. Hamilton, commissioner of public parks and buildings of Pasadena. The memorial tree, a live oak, would be one of a memorial row of six trees another of which will be planted in honor of John Muir. The trees will be planted April 30 in New Washington Park at Pasadena.

One Hundred Men Held Up in Club

Five Masked Bandits Get Away With $10,000 in Cash and Jewelry in Buffalo.

Buffalo, April 22.—One hundred men, who were in the Chauffeurs' Club, were lined up with their backs to the wall by five masked bandits, each of whom wielded two menacing revolvers, early today, and forced to relinquish their cash and jewelry, which totalled $10,000 in value.

The hold-up staged in daring story book style, moved like clockwork. Suddenly the 100 men in the club, located on the fourth floor of a building at 16 West Eagle street, found themselves staring into the muzzles of 10 revolvers. The bandits worked rapidly, threatened to shoot anyone who made an outcry, and quietly departed by means of a waiting auto with their swag.

On the street below there were a score of men standing about a hotel and others sitting in autos across the way, but they did not suspect anything amiss until the dazed hold-up victims came tumbling down the stairs crying for the police to help them. The bandits had disappeared in the darkness. No arrests were made.

WAR MEAT BOUGHT FOR 34 SELLS FOR 6 1/2 CENTS.

Washington, Apr. 23.—The War Department has sold to Thomas Roberts and Company of Philadelphia for $5,315,000 the army stock of war surplus canned meats, members of Congress were informed today. There were about 81,000,000 pounds of meats of various kinds involved. The sales price indicates this meat was disposed of at about 6 1/2 cents per pound. The cost price averages 34 cents per pound and the average market price now is about 24 cents per pound.

New England had a thriving industry in the manufacture of wooden shoe pegs that was destroyed when the shoe cobbler adopted the plan of using nails.

HAYWOOD EXPECTED TO RETURN HERE

Bondsman of I. W. W. Leader Says Big Bill Will Come Back From Russia And Serve His Sentence.

Chicago, Apr. 22.—Federal officials were "counting noses" today on the various I. W. W. who are under sentence to Fort Leavenworth prison for espionage to learn if any others than William D. (Big Bill) Haywood can be listed among the missing. One report said that all but six have been accounted for.

No official confirmation of the report that Haywood is in Russia has been received but the report is generally accepted as true. Officials are endeavoring to learn how Haywood evaded the passport regulations in leaving the U. S.

William Bros Lloyd, millionaire Socialist who is Haywood's chief bondsman, declared he believes Haywood will take the next boat back when he hears the Supreme Court has refused a hearing of his case. Lloyd said that Haywood had not expected the ruling of the Supreme Court to come so soon, otherwise he would not have left the country.

Word from the American civil liberties union of New York says that Haywood is on his way to Moscow to attend the conference of the federation of trade unions in July but will return later and serve his sentence.

Yonkers Man Shoots Down Family

Joseph Verica Kills Wife, Wounds Fatally Two Stepdaughters and Kills Himself.

Yonkers, N. Y., April 21.—After shooting his wife to death and wounding his two stepdaughters, probably fatally, Joseph Verica, today shot himself in the head, dying within an hour. The shootings took place in the Verica home and were witnessed by Joseph Cabaret, 16, a stepson, who ran into the street for help after seeing his mother and two sisters shot down.

The boy told Coroner Engle he heard his mother and stepfather quarrelling in a bedroom, rushed in and saw Verica holding Mrs. Verica by the throat. Verica then placed the gun at her head and fired, Cabaret said. Another shot was fired into her body.

As the shots were fired the two stepdaughters, Urs. Antonetta Van Holck, 19, and Miss Matilda Cabaret, 11, tried to wrest the revolver from Verica, but he turned the weapons upon them.

CONGRESS OF D. A. R. AT WASHINGTON.

Washington, Apr. 22.—Efforts for the release of Captain Emmett Kilpatrick of the Red Cross, who is held prisoner after capture by the Bolsheviks, was demanded today by the Congress of the D. A. R.

Acting at the request of representatives of women's patriotic organizations of Mobile, Ala., the D. A. R., will appeal to Congress to take immediate steps leading to Kilpatrick's release.

Reforms at Ellis Island were demanded by the D. A. R. in a resolution adopted today. The resolution urges an appropriation to install new sanitary plumbing and water supplies around the island and demands adequate facilities for women with babies, to wash and dry clothes.

Deploping the tendency to cause confusion in public gatherings during singing and playing of the Star Spangled Banner by donning wraps the D. A. R. adopted a resolution protesting against this apparent irreverence. The organization also endorsed the bill before Congress to make the Star Spangled Banner the national anthem.

President Harding's Pan-American policy is endorsed and the President congratulated on the ratification of the Colombian treaty in another resolution.

DIVORCES AT BRIDGEPORT

Bridgeport, Apr. 22.—Sarah Wilcox Knapp Green of Greenwich was today granted a divorce from Edward R. Green of this city, with custody of her 9 year old daughter, Dora and $100 a month alimony. The case was uncontested and cruelly was alleged, it being asserted by Mrs. Green that her husband struck her on their wedding trip in 1910.

Two other uncontested divorces were granted today, Mary E. Sant of Stamford being freed from Leslie L. Sant of South Norwalk on ground of desertion with custody of two children and Jennie D. Davis of Norwalk being given a decree from Eugene W. Davis of Norwalk on ground of desertion.

LEGISLATIVE PROBE IN MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, April 22.—Taking the stand today before the special legislative committee investigating charges of stock gambling in connection with street railway legislation in 1918, Edwin T. McKnight, former president of the Senate, branded Representative Martin N. Lomasney, largely instrumental in bringing about the probe, as a falsifier.

"What Martin Lomasney said about me on the floor of the House was a falsehood," declared McKnight who was vice-president of the Fidelity Trust Company. Through loans totalling more than $350,000 were made to legislators in 1918 with which to buy Massachusetts Electric and Boston Elevated stock. "He knew it was a falsehood, for he deals in falsehoods."

Sitting in the rear of the committee room Lomasney rose three times from his chair as if about to hurl back a reply but each time regained his self control and reseated himself.

"I am more than willing to aid this committee in any way in my power," declared McKnight. "I call upon the public to decide on my legislative record if I'm a coward."

He said he thought Lomasney had attacked him on the floor of the House because Lomasney was "trying to get me because while I was president of the Senate I would not allow him to dictate to me on committee appointments."

Referring to the charge made by Lomasney that he "had been walking about the floor of the Senate with $100,000 in his pockets which he got from a shipyard for the Fidelity Trust Company as a bonus," McKnight said:

"If Martin Lomasney or any of his henchmen had anything on me that would stick they would have had out a warrant for my arrest long ago.

"I never got a cent of that $100,000. The Fidelity Trust Company got it but not as a bonus."

He called on the committee to summon Bank Commissioner Allen, Committee Auditor Edwin L. Pride and Mr. Strout, treasurer of the Fidelity Trust Company, "to corroborate his statements."

McKnight denied he had been offered any "inducements" to influence his vote on street railway matters before the legislature. Asked if he had purchased railway stock while legislation was pending, he replied that he "undoubtedly had done so." He was unable to tell just when or how much, saying that he had not bought any for himself anyway but for institutions.

Astronomers Watch Eclipse of Moon

This Morning's Eclipse Afforded Scientists Remarkable Opportunity to Make Observations.

Low Observatory, Mount Lowe, Cal., April 22.—Visible to half of the inhabitants of the globe in case they had been inclined to observe it, a total eclipse of the moon, remarkable for the opportunity it afforded scientists in the United States and in South America to make observations, occurred late last night and early this morning.

To the average person an eclipse of the moon is merely an event of passing interest. To astronomers, who, in the case of the present eclipse, have known for four years the exact minute it was due, it was an incident of great scientific moment.

Seated beside Edgar Lucian Larkin, director of Lowe Observatory, the correspondent spent several hours watching the moon, or mass of what is supposed to be barren rock, two thousand, one hundred and sixty miles in diameter. The earth's shadow saw it totally obscured, then merge with a radiance that gave it an appearance of having had a bath.

The cause of the eclipse, was the earth attaining a position directly between the sun and the moon. As a consequence the sun's light to the lunar body was obstructed.

SCHOOLBOY SOVIETS.

London.—Among the astonishing medley of new theories being attempted at English schools is a sort of setting up of a Soviet in the class. In the coeducational school the boys and girls are instructed to decide for themselves just how they shall be marked by their master and how and what they shall study. More than this, they are at liberty to criticize their master. The argument is that all children are likely to obey rules of their own making. It is said the girls take more kindly than boys to the new idea.

AMERICAN BUSINESS IN GERMAN CRISIS

Attorneys Representing American Cotton Growers, Bankers and Holders of Raw Materials Persuaded Germany to Address Harding. Berlin, Apr. 23.—The mammoth shadow of American business loomed up as the guiding spirit that prompted the German appeal to President Harding.

The International News Service is able to disclose the substance of the mysterious negotiations that resulted in Germany's dramatic action in directly soliciting the mediation of the President of a country with which she is still technically at war.

A group of American attorneys representing American cotton growers, bankers and holders of vast supplies of raw materials first completed financial arrangements for credit amounting to $1,500,000,000, and then came to Germany confronted by serious danger of a fresh French invasion. They heard of vague threats of allied confiscation of any goods shipped into Germany from any where as part of a scheme to coerce the Germans.

These conferences directly led to the appeal to President Harding. The American say they are here on a strictly business mission, and that they took a hand in the political arena only because of the necessity of securing guarantees for their big industrial group. That group is representative mainly of financiers in the South and on the Pacific Coast. The attorneys are: L. H. Defries, international lawyer with offices in New York and London.

A strong movement to postpone the meeting scheduled for Monday gained ground about the object of these who favor this postponement is to give Dr. Simons two days additional in which to weather, if possible the crisis of general opposition against him. There were many in responsible quarters who feared a Reichstag meeting today might precipitate the overthrow of the cabinet or at any rate provoke scenes that would create a bad impression abroad specially in America and thus hinder the hoped for negotiations through Harding.

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women. Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizziness spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and I thought I would give it a trial. I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."

John Hand has sold his property on corner of Oak and Cottage street to Morris Tulin of Hartford. This is the most desirable piece of property on Oak Street. The price paid for the property was not made public.

LOCAL SPORT CHATTER

The Atlas baseball team will play the Alpines of West Hartford at that place tomorrow afternoon. This is the second game of the season for the local club. They were defeated by the Pastimes of Hartford 2 to 1 on the Main street grounds in the first encounter.

Babe Ruth hit his 4th homer yesterday. He has started on his annual rampage by the looks. He is now ahead of his record last year. The "King of Swat" has sure put the New York Yankees on their way to the top of the heap.

According to reports Bronkie's Mobile team has started the season with a bang. To date he has won his first three games. "Bronk" is second in the batting order, the same position he occupied here last year.

The West Side A. C. is trying to get into the County League. This surely would be a good move on the part of the West Side team, as they would draw good crowds if they affiliated with the County League.

The first game of the season for the Manchester Baseball team will be played on the Mt. Nebo grounds one week from tomorrow. The Rosebuds of Bridgeport will be the opponents of the locals.

Boxing is popular in Manchester. Good bouts conducted in a clean manner would find instant favor among the fans. It has been suggested that some stage an outdoor boxing match. With little or hardly any expense, a ring could be erected on Mt. Nebo where a large crowd could be accommodated.

The passing of the present basketball season surely indicates that the fans who follow this popular indoor sport will demand a larger floor space next year. The Recreation Center has an excellent floor, but it is hardly large enough to take care of a big crowd comfortably. At the game between the Skinner Girls and the "Ree" Girls, there was not one inch of space in the big gymnasium which was not filled.

"The Heart of Maryland," Love Story Interwoven With Civil War Incidents. The heart of a girl and the heart of a state furnish material and locale for a dramatic story in "The Heart of Maryland," which is at the Capitol for these last three days of the week. The struggle to keep apart love and choice of side in the Civil war is the theme on which the story is based, and typical families divided on the great question of 1861-65 are presented, the thrilling story being interwoven with love tales and introducing such characters as Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee. As a play, "The Heart of Maryland" was a tremendous stage success and a favorite stock production. Catherine Calvert is supported by an all-star cast.

NATIONAL FARMERS UNION CONVENTION

Washington, Apr. 22.—High freight rates, waste and extravagance in railway management, gambling in food and clothing and manipulation of credits were condemned today in resolutions adopted by the convention of the National Farmers Union to be responsible for the high cost of living.

The convention denounced the Esch-Cummins Transportation Act and called for unified government control, the report on the railroads being submitted by S. W. Brookheart, a delegate from Iowa, who opposed Senator Cummins for the Republican nomination in the last election. The report declared that the farmers received only 38 per cent. of the money which their products bring in the ultimate market, while labor gets less than 35 per cent. of what it actually produces. Co-operative markets plans were approved by the convention.

Park Theater

There is a strong appeal in Marshall Neilan's mile-a-minute melodrama of newspaper life, "Go and Get It" for overseas men who have or are contemplating returning to civil life in the adventures of the hero Kirk Connelly. During the war Connelly's task—much against his will—was that of cook. But he found time between meals to do some real hero stuff and get wounded. On his return to private life Connelly gets a job on the editorial staff of a big daily newspaper in the hope of becoming a reporter. But to his great disgust the managing editor sets him to writing cooking recipes. But fortunately for the young veteran this condition does not last long. He is eventually assigned to a story and it leads to one of the most amazing assignments a reporter has ever had fall to his lot. And the ex-cook book editor acquires himself in a most creditable manner and "gets the story" and a "scoop." But you will have to see this picture at the Park this evening in order to appreciate how truly big it is. It is a First National Attraction and is considered by them as one of their best releases.

Cynical readers may not believe it, nevertheless, "Breezy" Eason, the four year old Universal actor who is one of the chief features of "Two Kinds of Love" which will be shown at the Park Theatre on Sunday is one of Universal City's pistol experts.

Almost a year ago "Hoot Gibson, the cowboy star, who is one of "Breezy's" best pals, gave the youngster a small caliber revolver and took command of a course in instruction for the lad. As a result "Breezy" is one of the most proficient marksmen on the "lot" and is continually seen "totin'" his gun. A white horse made her a star. Yes, this is the real background of the rise of Bebe Daniels whose first Realart stellar picture, "You Never Can Tell," will open at the theatre, for two days beginning Monday.

Poli's Capitol

"The Heart of Maryland," Love Story Interwoven With Civil War Incidents. The heart of a girl and the heart of a state furnish material and locale for a dramatic story in "The Heart of Maryland," which is at the Capitol for these last three days of the week. The struggle to keep apart love and choice of side in the Civil war is the theme on which the story is based, and typical families divided on the great question of 1861-65 are presented, the thrilling story being interwoven with love tales and introducing such characters as Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee. As a play, "The Heart of Maryland" was a tremendous stage success and a favorite stock production. Catherine Calvert is supported by an all-star cast.

"The best minds of both countries are adverse to internationally unimportant subjects being the cause of breaking the peace," said the Baron. "I hope that a solution of this question will be found which will not compromise the stand taken by either nation. Internationalization of Yap is not so distasteful to Japan but I think Japan distrusts the American motives."

SYMPTOMS WOMEN DREAD

Mrs. Wilson's Letter Should Be Read by All Women. Clearfield, Pa.—"After my last child was born last September I was unable to do all of my own work. I had severe pains in my left side every month and had fever and sick dizziness spells and such pains during my periods, which lasted two weeks. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing others so much good and I thought I would give it a trial. I feel much stronger and do all of my work. I tell my friends when they ask me what helped me, and they think it must be a grand medicine. And it is. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish."

The experience and testimony of such women as Mrs. Wilson prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct such troubles by removing the cause and restoring the system to a healthy normal condition. When such symptoms develop as backaches, bearing-down pains, displacements, nervousness and "the blues" a woman cannot act too promptly in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound if she values her future comfort and happiness.

SIR GALAHAD CLUB WILL STAGE THREE ACT COMEDY

"A Scrap of Paper" to be Presented at Cheney Hall Monday Evening.

Did you ever attempt the hiding of a scrap of paper? If you have, you know how difficult a problem it is. If you haven't, you may find out by attending the interesting and delightful comedy, "A Scrap of Paper," to be given next Monday evening, April 25th at Cheney Hall, by the Sir Galahad club of the St. Mary's church.

Miss Evelyn McCaughey, in the title role of Mlle. Suzanne de Ruseville, is a clever amateur actress, interpreting the character in a manner almost professional. Miss Mabel Robb plays Louise de la Glacier, the nervous, anxious wife of a jealous husband. Russell Potterton, as the husband, is exceptionally good. Miss Nellie Cockerham plays the part of Mathilde, sister to Louise, and nothing but the word charming describes her. Margaret Harrison as Mlle. Zenoble, is another of the shining lights, in one of the best character parts. Albert Harrison plays the leading male role as Prosper Couramout, the jilted lover who has "tossed about more or less on the stormy brine for three years," but who, upon his return home, is compelled to find a wife within six months or lose his fortune. There are several others just as good as the above mentioned young people, ready to give you a splendid entertainment on Monday evening.

The program will start at eight o'clock, Daylight Saving time. Dancing will follow the entertainment.

PASSES THROUGH LINES FOR THE NEWSPAPER MEN

Police Commissioners and Fire Board Favor It—To Prevent Similar Accident Which Caused Post Death.

At the last meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners of the South End the land for No. 3's new house was purchased.

The important topic of the meeting was the death of Edward W. Post. His accidental death involves a violation of the special laws concerning traffic when there is a fire, passed at a special town meeting held the first of March, 1915. It was voted to have these laws enforced and vigorous action will be taken as soon as possible to prevent a repetition of last Wednesday's tragedy.

The law passed at the special town meeting says that all traffic shall drive up to the curb and stop in event of the sounding of the fire alarm. Only those that are firemen shall be allowed to respond to a fire. After the fire companies have responded to the alarm other traffic may follow but not at such breakneck speed as has been practiced in the past.

Another question concerning the situation was the matter of issuing passes to accredited newspaper reporters in order that they may ride on the fire trucks or in some conveyance. This was reported favorably by the Board and it was recommended to the Board of Police Commissioners to issue the passes if they concurred with the Board of Fire Commissioners.

In an interview with the chairman of the Board of Police Commissioners, Henry Nettleton, he said that he was very much in favor of the rigid enforcement of the traffic laws and that the matter of issuing passes to the reporters also was favorable to him.

The Board of Fire Commissioners have asked in a letter received by Mr. Nettleton for plans for the enforcement of the traffic laws here. It is expected that this joint meeting will be held in the near future.

S. M. R. C. ANNUAL DANCE.

It is expected that a large crowd will attend the dance, as there has already been a very favorable advance sale of tickets.

Just what would be done about the new time schedule after that he was not in a position to state. He is of the opinion that the time question will cause a lot of confusion and that the change ought to be made universal.

BRUSH FIRE

For a Time Dwellings on Hilliard Street Were in Danger

Fire Warden James Foley was called upon yesterday afternoon to check a brush fire on Hilliard street on the E. J. Holl tract. The fire burned over an area of about twenty five acres before the fighters could get it under control.

The first warning of the fire was telephoned to Warden Foley from residents of Hilliard street about noon. Three dwelling houses were in danger from the flames. Hastily gathering a few men Warden Foley hurried to the scene. The area where the fire broke out is covered with underbrush which was about waist high and made the efforts of the fighters futile. After two hours of the hardest kind of work, the volunteers succeeded in getting the flames under control.

A back fire was started that helped considerably. The fire was under control about 5:30 last evening and only a few embers were burning so thoroughly did the men extinguish the blaze.

When Inherited Wealth Is A Doubtful Blessing

"REMEMBER," said Benjamin Franklin, "that money is of a prolific, generating nature." But one of the things that money can generate, if unwisely handled, is trouble and that is why thoughtful husbands and fathers should consider what will be done with the money they leave.

"The will which simply leaves money or other property in bulk to a woman who has never even had her own checking account, or to children utterly unskilled in business affairs, or even to the guardianship of a good friend who is busy with his own interests, is in most instances a doubtful blessing," says a well-known writer.

The answer to the problem is simple and easy. Money and property may be left in trust. Let one of our personal trust officers tell you of the business advantages of a trust in your will and how you may plan it.
