GERMANY STANDS PAT ON REPARATIONS PROPOSALS

Berlin Refuses Demands of Allied Commission for Interim Payment of Billion Marks — Socialists Urge Surrender.

Paris, April 30.—Germany again defied the Allies on indemnity today. The Allied reparations commission received a note from Berlin in which Germany made final refusal to pay 1,000,000,000 gold marks which the allies had demanded by March 23, the 1,000,000,000 gold marks are a part of the 12,000,000,000 gold marks the allies alleged were due by May 1.

Berlin, April 30.—With the inter-allied supreme council assembled in London to discuss further military penalties upon Germany, the German government was still standing pat today upon the indemnity proposals contained in the note to Washington.

There were persistent rumors in Wilhelmstrasse that the United States had replied formally to the German note but this was denied by Ellis Loring Dresel, the U. S. Commissioner.

Decide to Stand Pat.
The decision to stand upon the latest offer and to maintain a waiting policy for the time being was adopted at a four hour session of the German cabinet, last night. This contradicted the expectation in some quarters that the ministry would resign at the last moment, making way for a new cabinet committed to complete capitulation to the allies demands.

gloom overhanging Wilhelmstrasse was a vague and unconfirmed report from Paris that the reparations commission had decided that the question involving Germany's payment of 20,000,000,000 gold marks by May 1 does not justify further military invasion.

Socialists Urge Surrender.
Germany contends that the 20,000,000,000 gold marks have been paid in full. The reparations commission held that only 8,000,000,000 gold marks had been paid and that Germany still owed 12,000,000,000 gold marks. These figures are not included in the allied demands for 226,000,000,000 gold marks in 42 years and a 12 per cent tax upon German exports.

Majority and independent Socialist leaders, anxious over the outlook, are urging capitulation by the cabinet.

Bitter Attacks on Simons.
The Bavarian leader, Heer Selm, made a bitter attack upon foreign minister Simons, although generally speaking the hostility against the foreign minister seems to be dying down.

"Any minister who was knave enough to engage an American lawyer is impossible and must go," declared the Bavarian leader.

Boston, April 30.—Joseph Baker of Denver, Col., forgot that he left his pocketbook containing $25,000 in 1,000 bills tucked away in the blanket of a hotel room here. Anna Gill, the chambermaid, did not notice the wallet fall from the blanket when she shook it. Later, however, when she was making the bed her foot kicked the pocketbook on the floor. Anna, being an honest chambermaid, just peeked into the book, saw the money and placed it carefully under the pillow. Several hours later Baker rushed back to the hotel. When he found his missing $25,000 safe and sound he rewarded Anna with $25.

WOMAN KILLED BY THE ESSENCE OF NICOTINE

Los Angeles Doctor Gave Diphtheria as Cause of Death.

BODY LATER EXHUMED

Mysterious Elements in Sequel to Romantic Attachment of Miss Vance of Chicago.

Chicago, April 30.—Discovery of essence of nicotine in the vital organs of Miss Marie Vance, daughter of a wealthy Glencoe, Ill., dentist, who died in Los Angeles on April 4, led today to a disagreement between physicians about the cause of the death that may become an important factor in the mysterious case.

Physicians of the California board of health certified the cause of her death as diphtheria. Word received here from Los Angeles says that the physician who diagnosed the case there reported diphtheria cultures and is positive that disease caused her death.

Coroner's physician Burmeister of Chicago and coroner's chemist McNally, who made the posthumous examination of the body at the request of Coroner Hoffman, found two grains of nicotine and the coroner is confident the poison caused her death.

It was expected that Robert S. Lockhart of Covington, Va., reputed fiancé of Miss Vance, would be brought here and questioned. Dr. William V. Vance, father of the dead woman, declared he was convinced his daughter had been slain and would demand punishment of her alleged slayers. Vance and Coroner Hoffman were to confer today regarding the procedure in the case.

POSSIBLE SOLUTIONS OF GERMAN DEADLOCK

Washington Expects Developments Within The Next 48 Hours That Will Clear up Reparations Muddle.

Washington, Apr. 30.—With a momentous session of the allied supreme council beginning in London today, and with French regiments on the verge of penetrating still farther into Germany's rich industrial regions, developments are expected within the next 48 hours that will clear up the whole reparations situation.

One way or another, it is the expectation of officials here that action will be taken soon which will end the present critical uncertainty that hovers over all of Europe and has extended to the United States.

Communists Taken in New York Raids

Most Important Arrests Since Formation of American Red Party—Nationwide Round-up Predicted to Prevent May Day Outbreaks.

New York, April 30.—Arrest of Communists and Communist sympathizers throughout the United States was predicted today by agents of the Department of Justice as the result of information secured in anti-Red raids in this city during the night.

The round-up, it was explained, was undertaken to prevent Communist leaders from taking an active part in revolutionary agitations on May Day.

Important Arrests.

Arrests were made which were characterized by Charles J. Scully, head of the radical squad of the Department of Justice as the most important since the organization of the American wing of the Communist Party. The secret service men were assisted by detectives from the New York City bomb squad. Among those arrested was John E. Siebert, a Brooklyn printer, who had arrived from Pittsburgh only last night. He was seized upon a charge of criminal anarchy. He is alleged to have come to this city to attend a secret meeting of the "underground section" of the Communist Party on Sunday.

The detectives said that the most important data was seized when two men were arrested at No. 170 Bleeker Street on the East Side. They gave the names of Abraham Jackira and Israel Amster. The Bleeker Street apartment in which these men were arrested was said to have been rented by Mrs. Helen Ware.

According to Scully and James J. Gegan, head of the police bomb squad, two of the men arrested were shown to have been in communication with Moscow. The authorities said that there was evidence to show that the prisoners were closely connected with the American branch of the Third Internationale.

FRANCE ON MARCH AS SUPREME COUNCIL MEETS

The interallied supreme council met in London this afternoon, to work out a final decision on German indemnity. As the allied statesmen gathered it was semi-officially reported that Great Britain favored a seven day ultimatum to Berlin demanding more satisfactory indemnity proposals upon penalty of further occupation of Germany territory by allied troops.

This suggestion was opposed by the French who insist upon immediate occupation of the Ruhr.

This was the last day of the time period granted Germany to pay the 20,000,000,000 gold marks demanded by the allies under the Versailles treaty, which was to be the initial installment of Germany's total reparations. Instead of taking steps to pay the 12,000,000,000 gold marks which the allies claim is the balance due on the 20,000,000,000 Germany sent two notes to Paris. One offered to pay one billion gold marks of this amount (a payment demanded by the allies before March 23) within three months. The other note protested against the reparations commission's war damage bill of 132,000,000,000 gold marks.

Some confusion was entailed by conflicting despatches from Berlin and Paris upon Germany's attitude toward payment of the one billion gold marks in question. A Paris cablegram said that the Germans had sent a note refusing to pay this sum but this despatch was later interpreted as meaning that the Germans refused to make immediate payment. Berlin's version of the note was that Germany offered 150,000,000,000 gold marks now and the balance in the three months.

The purchaser of a stolen automobile, even though an innocent party, is not its owner, according to the Supreme court of New York, and the car can be taken whenever found.

questions can be treated out with police in the Ruhr as well as it can be with police sitting along the Rhine. The French occupation of the rich German territory will not necessarily mean that all hope of mediation and compromise has flown. While officials of this government held out little hope today of anything halting the French march, they were still decidedly hopeful that the reparations discussions can be resumed on a basis acceptable to all concerned.

Possible Solutions.

As viewed by officials here, the situation has reached the stage today where the following solutions appear open.

1 Germany can capitulate completely to the allied demands and accept the allied figures, thus forestalling the French occupation.

2 Modification of the present German proposals can be made which would offer the allied powers an acceptable basis to renewed discussion.

3 The U. S. can forward the German proposals to the allied nations with a covering note to the effect that Washington believes they contain a proper basis for discussion.

4 The U. S. can return the German proposals to Berlin with a covering note that they are not acceptable to the allies as affording a suitable basis for discussion and then wash its hands of the entire matter leaving Germany and our late allies to fight it out among themselves.

Difficulties In The Way.

Either avenue presents difficulties. The U. S. is not willing to wash its hands completely nor yet is the State Department willing to transmit the German offer in the light of manifested disapproval. While the veil of secrecy which has hung over the moves of this government all this week was not lifted, the impression prevailed today that one of the first two solutions would be found either Germany must capitulate entirely to the allied demands or she must make eleventh hour additions to what she already has proposed.

The only other alternative Germany has is to sit down stubbornly and accept the allied occupation. This officials believe, she is not willing to do.

and her sister, Emily. En route she became acquainted with Lockhart and a romance developed. Miss Vance soon told the Emerys they were engaged. Lockhart is said to have purchased a bungalow in Los Angeles and fitted it up as the "love nest" to which he was to take his bride.

Later Lockhart brought his two daughters from Virginia, it is said, and Miss Vance went to live with them in the bungalow. Miss Vance afterward became ill and an operation was performed on March 28 last. Lockhart, it is alleged, left Los Angeles on March 10, the eve of the day set for their wedding.

It was reported here today that Lockhart was at present at his former home in Covington, Va. "There is no doubt," Coroner Hoffman said today, "that Miss Vance was killed by nicotine taken through the mouth. This may have been accidental or suicide. It may have been murder. The facts warrant the fullest investigation."

NO AMERICANS AT MEETING OF ALLIES

Washington, Apr. 30.—The United States government is not represented at the momentous session of the allied supreme council in London today, it was officially announced at the State Department here. No one it was said, has been authorized to present the views of the United States either officially or unofficially, nor are there any American observers present.

Charles of Hapsburg Will Settle Down

Former Emperor of Austria Consents to all The Conditions Laid Down by Swiss Government.

Geneva, Apr. 30.—Former Emperor Charles whose attempt to re-establish the Hapsburg monarchy in Hungary failed, has accepted all the conditions on which the Swiss government will allow him to live in this country and is now seeking a villa near Lucerne. The main conditions of Switzerland were that Charles cease all political intrigues and that if he decides to leave the country he give 48 hours notice to Bern.

Lloyd George Suggests Giving Germany One More Week to Make New Offer

France Has at its Disposal the Greatest Army in Europe

Paris, Apr. 30.—Not since the days of Napoleon has France's military strength in peace time been so powerful as it is today. Marshal Foch has at his beck and call the greatest army in Europe. It is estimated that France has nearly 1,000,000 men under arms while it is reliably reported that other classes will be called to the colors. France has a powerful ally in Poland, lying on the eastern side of Germany. Poland's armed strength is put at 600,000 bayonets.

British Premier Proposes Time Ultimatum to Berlin Before Moving Troops into the Ruhr District.

London, Apr. 30.—At a conference of the British and French prime ministers a few hours before the opening of the supreme council meeting today Premier Lloyd George suggested that an ultimatum be sent to Germany giving her one week to make new indemnity proposals before the allies move troops into the Ruhr district. It was learned this afternoon. The conference was held at Mr. Lloyd-George's official residence at 10 Downing street last night.

Premier Briand was accompanied by M. Berthelot, representing the French Foreign Office.

London, Apr. 30.—Although there is absolute unity and accord among the allies French insistence is expected to dominate the meeting of the supreme council which is to determine definitely whether or not the German Ruhr district is to be occupied to compel Germany to meet her indemnity obligations and other military penalties are to be put into effect by Marshal Foch.

A momentous event. The present meeting of the supreme council is a momentous event not only for Germany but for all allies.

Attorney General Daugherty Raps the Shoe Profiteers

Washington, April 30.—Attorney General Daugherty rapped the shoe profiteers today.

With producers selling hides and calf skins at starvation figures shoe dealers keep rolling up war time profits, he said.

"It is time for them to stop this profiteering," said Daugherty. "I paid $12 for shoes that formerly sold at $16 and yet that same dealer raked off a greater margin of profit than during the fat war years."

"It's time to call a halt to this sort of thing not only in shoes but in other extortions in sales of foods and clothing of all kinds."

GREAT MARINE STRIKE DUE TO GO IN EFFECT TO-NIGHT

Union Leaders Say Vessel Leaving Ports—Eleventh Hour Appeal to President.

Washington, April 30.—President Harding today took a hand in the threatened strike of American ship workers, which if called at midnight tonight, as planned, would tie up America's merchant marine in ports on all seaboard.

The President summoned to the White House shortly after 11 o'clock, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Secretary of Labor Davis, two members of the cabinet who have been successful before in finding satisfactory solutions of difficult labor problems.

Heads of the marine unions declared they would accept a commission of three fair-minded men appointed by the President to settle the dispute. They so informed Secretary of Labor Davis and requested him to convey this suggestion to the President.

Washington, Apr. 30.—Unless something happens today to change the situation the strike of marine workers will go into effect at midnight tonight, according to union officials here today.

Union leaders asserted that the strike would tie up every deep sea and ocean going vessel in American ports.

W. S. Brown head of the Marine engineers, and Andrew Furuseth, head of the Int. Seaman's Union, were waiting for word from the White House as to whether President Harding will see them in a final last minute attempt to avert threatened walkout.

This action by the President followed his refusal earlier in the day to receive the heads of the unions involved, W. S. Brown, head of the marine engineers; Andrew Furuseth, head of the international seamen's union, and B. Boeckman, head of the united radio telegraphers' association. They called at the White House at 10 o'clock and were informed by the President's secretary that the President would not see them until he had gone over the situation with Hoover and Davis.

From the White House the union leaders went to the Labor Department where they laid their case before Secretary Davis.

MYSTERY STILL DEEP IN THE RUDELL CASE

Little Light Thrown on Disappearance at the Inquest Held in Middletown.

Little light was thrown on the mystery which attended the tragic death of Clarence A. Ruddell of this town at the inquest yesterday afternoon in Middletown. The young man disappeared from a sanatorium in Cromwell on February 4 and his body was found in the Connecticut river on April 21. Coroner Stephen B. Davis, who conducted the inquest, said he would hand down the result of his findings in a few days.

Some witnesses offered little light as to whether Ruddell was actually on the ice of the river at the time. Footprints were discovered several days after his mysterious disappearance, along the sandy banks of the river, but no trace of footprints could be found on the ice or marks of any kind, the witness said.

Dr. Frank K. Hallock of Cromwell Hall sanatorium was the first witness called. He told of Ruddell coming there on January 31 and of finding him gone from his room on the morning of February 4. In discussing Ruddell's disposition and actions, Dr. Hallock said that he was a quiet, semi-depressed individual. "He was very suspicious of the actions of others," the doctor testified. The doctor told of giving him his daily routine of exercise and food, but said that they were not carried out by Ruddell. Dr. Hallock said that he believed that Ruddell's going away was an act of impulse and that he had made no threats to go away. He often talked of wanting to go home said the doctor. In closing his testimony Dr. Hallock said that he did not look upon Ruddell as a man who would commit suicide and that so far as he knew, Ruddell had no purpose to take his life.

Mrs. Isabella Pugsley, a nurse at the sanatorium, told of discovering Ruddell's absence from his room. She said that he had never made any threats to commit suicide.

James J. Spooner of Saybrook Point told of finding the body in the river. Medical Examiner Irving Grandis of Saybrook testified as to the condition the body was in when he viewed it.

Constable Charles D. Watrous of Cromwell told of talking with Mrs. Fillmore in Cromwell and Cornelius Martin also of that town. He said that these two persons told him several days after Ruddell's disappearance that they had seen a young man answering Ruddell's description walking along the railroad tracks on the morning of February 4 around 9 o'clock in the morning. Constable Watrous said that he worked on the case for a number of days and that he had discovered footprints in the sand at "Blowhole" Cromwell, which corresponds to Ruddell's shoes.

WOMAN BADLY HURT WHEN CAR STRIKES POLE

In Turning Out to Avoid Car, Mrs. Davis Strikes Pole—Suffers Fracture of Ribs.

As a result of driving her automobile into a large pole at the junction of Adams and Center street yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Byron Davis of Lygallville is suffering a possible fracture of two ribs. The pole which was about 30 feet high was broken off about two feet from the ground. The injured woman was taken to a nearby house and Dr. N. A. Burr was called. He thought there was a fracture of two ribs. Mrs. Davis was in a highly nervous condition after the crash. She was alone at the time.

The autoist was driving towards Hartford on Center street and when she drew near to where Adams street joins Center, she noticed a car backing into the side of the road. Apparently she lost control of the car she was driving for she turned to one side and crashed into one of the Connecticut Company's poles. The impact splintered and broke the pole about two feet from the ground. Witnesses assert that the car was travelling about 20 miles an hour.

People living nearby hearing the crash hurried out of doors and assisted the injured woman to a house where she was attended by Dr. Burr.

The car was badly damaged. The radiator is a total loss, the front axle badly bent and the right headlight torn and twisted out of shape. The car was towed to a garage for repair.

Shortly after the accident the Connecticut Company repair gang arrived and shifted the guy wires onto a tree nearby and let the pole fall to the ground. The wires kept the pole from crashing to the ground.

Traffic officer William Barron investigated the accident but made no arrests.

THIS WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Brings a Ray of Hope to Childless Women

One of the most intensely dramatic photodramas that it has been our pleasure to see for some time will be shown at the Circle tonight where William Russell in "The Iron Rider," produced by William Fox from a story by Frank L. Packard, is being shown.

The suspense grips one at the very outset and increases in tenacity as the picture progresses. In our view this photodrama contains enough interesting entanglements to make half a dozen ordinary pictures. Russell's leading woman is pretty Viola Vale.

The picture concerns a young lumber company foreman in a lawless town, who takes the oath of the Iron Rider band, organized thirty years before by his father, in order to put down lawlessness. His difficulties and perils are serious, and the girl he loves is the daughter

Park Theater

James Oliver Curwood has more than repeated—he has surpassed the mastery he achieved in "Back to God's Country" and has given the lovers of the cinema art perhaps the greatest animal and human interest story it has ever had in the latest Associated First National feature, "Nomads of the North," which opened an engagement at the Park Theatre last evening. The extraordinary spectacles projected in this picture, certainly beggar description—the remarkable performance of a bear and a dog, acting more human than brute, and the realistic forest fire constituting two high spots which one could never forget. Another outstanding feature of this production is the quite unequal photography, many of the scenes being undoubtedly the zenith of pictorial perfection.

Lop Chaney and Betty Blythe, in the two leading characters, share honors and each gives a performance in which high silent art dominates. Lewis Stone runs the leading duo a close second race by giving one of the best character studies of the law in regions where it is difficult for the law to reach. The animal actors in the picture deserve profuse praise and it is a foregone conclusion they make this play one of the foremost matinee hits of the season since its appeal to women and children is so great.

"The Deep Purple" is the first of R. A. Walsh's independent productions, presented by Mayflower. This picture is interpreted by an all star cast including Miriam Cooper, best known for her work in "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance" and "The Honor System;" Vincent Serrano, Helen Ware, the popular legitimate stage star, Stuart Sage, William B. Mack, Bird Millman, world's foremost aerial performer and many others equally well known to the stage and screen. "The Deep Purple," released through Realart, may be seen at the Park Theatre, beginning on Monday and Tuesday.

In "Nobody's Kid," the Robertson-Cole production, which will be shown at the Park Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, delightful Mae Marsh is seen as a little orphan girl, whose quaint personality finds expression in the writing of a diary which she calls a "book for the consolation and the relief of the soul."

HARDING'S COMPASS.

Reminiscent of oldtime virile Americanism, a genuine return to the traditions of the men who raised the United States to its pinnacle of greatness...

A long line of great Americans from Patrick Henry, Hancock and Washington down to Cleveland, McKinley and Roosevelt spoke in that splendid sentence. The setback which American foreign policy received under the Wilson administration is being rapidly repaired under Harding and Hughes.

President Harding is not aggressive except in defense of plain American rights. With him the splendid old phrase rings true: "Millions for defence, but not one cent for tribute."

"I wish you might never be called upon to fire a gun again," he told the officers of the fleet. "If every government was inspired by the same motives as ours there would always be peace, but I would not rest." There is freedom in the compass in the treacherous waters of foreign politics and we shall say that it does not represent the American spirit and American convictions.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE AND THE GERMAN COMEBACK. A sharp falling off in the foreign trade of the United States is curiously coincident with a remarkable increase in our trade with Germany.

A trade summary just issued by the Department of Commerce shows that both exports to and imports from Europe, South America and the Orient declined considerably in March as compared with the corresponding month a year ago. Germany is the only country with which our trade increased.

Facing the two periods of nine months ended with March, 1920, and March, 1921, exports to Europe fell from $3,319,995,482 to $2,881,925,352. Imports fell from $857,590,631 to $753,306,291. The excess of exports continues though at a lessening rate and the favorable balance of trade continues to pile up.

Slightly different conditions are observable in our trade with South America. Although exports were less in March than in the corresponding month a year ago, still, comparing the two nine months' periods, exports to South America increased from $339,391,749 to $467,205,369. Imports, however, declined from $640,365,745 to $411,711,586.

Two factors tend to explain the fall in our exports to Europe. The nations of that continent are finding it increasingly difficult to pay for the American goods they need, and to a constantly increasing extent they are supplying their own imperative wants.

Meanwhile, surplus American products, especially foodstuffs and cotton are frozen on this side for lack of credit to enable European purchasers to take them off our hands.

The condition is in a fair way to be remedied through the operation of both government and private financing agencies. Europe needs our foodstuffs and raw materials and if she can produce securities that will procure her American credit she will be enabled to go ahead with her industrial rehabilitation.

So far as South America is concerned there is no doubt that credit conditions have improved there. Long term credits are a tradition down there and American exporters are beginning to learn and act upon that fact. In recent years, also, Americans and American goods have been better appreciated in the southern republics and there is a strong feeling of mutual friendship growing up which cannot fail to be reflected in trade.

The surprise, of course, is Germany. German shipments to us in the last nine months amounted to $80,000,000, an increase of nearly 300 per cent. over the nine months ended March, 1920. In March alone imports were $7,867,780.

American shipments to Germany in the nine months amounted to $312,000,000 as compared with $138,000,000 in the same period last year. In March the exports were $300,000,000, an increase of $10,000,000 over March, 1920.

German exports to us in the order of their total values were: fertilizer materials, chemicals, including coal tar dyestuffs, beet sugar, cotton manufactures, toys, furs, silk and artificial goods, beads and spangles, aluminum articles and other lesser important items.

Charles M. Schwab, the steel magnate, just back from a tour of Europe, attributes this industrial recovery of Germany to the economy and sacrifice of her working people. Where the powerful labor unions of other nations are determinedly blocking the road to industrial recovery and progress by their insistence on the retention of the war standard of wages, the German workers have settled down to real production.

"Germany can put a ton of steel in England at a price $20 a ton cheaper than England can make it," says Mr. Schwab. "She is selling pneumatic tools in Detroit where formerly we shipped such machinery to Germany and sold it cheaper than she could make it."

There is a very forcible lesson for Mr. Gompers and his associates. If Germany can undersell us in our own and other markets there will be less work for the American workman and less money to pay him wages, whether war wages or not.

"It is solely a matter of labor costs," says Mr. Schwab and few can question his conclusion with sincerity. No one will, except the professional leaders of labor who and to their advantage to obscure and distort the real economics of the industrial readjustment.

GET-TOGETHER BANQUET.

With a good speaker, good entertainment, and a fine baked shad supper, the Get-together Club had one of the most interesting meetings of the year Thursday evening at Cheney Hall.

The Machine Shop and Electrical Dept. had charge of the supper and they put forth a fine bill of fare. The quality was not only good but the quantity was remarkable. The menu was:—

During the supper, the Victor orchestra played. Tom McGill and Harry White gave vocal solos and Charles Glasko gave a strong man's exhibition with heavy dumb bells and bars.

GIRL SCOUTS HIKE.

With their blankets on their backs and filled lunch baskets the Girl Scouts of Cheney Brothers will hike to Glastonbury to spend the week end at Mrs. C. H. Cheney's cabin. Miss B. Cotteral, captain, and Miss Ruth Clarke, Lieutenant, will be in charge of the group.

The scouts have invited some of their friends and the party will number between fifteen and twenty girls. They planned to leave the Recreation Center at 2.30 this afternoon and return Sunday evening.

This is the first overnight trip for most of the girls and they are all very enthusiastic about it. The cabin is an ideal place for such a trip. It is a little log structure built up in the hills.

ANOTHER FORD POEM.

A local resident wishing to sell his car has sent to his friends the following poem:

For Sale.
One Ford car with a piston ring,
Two rear wheels and one front spring,

Has no fenders, seat made of plank,
Burns lots of gas and hard to crank,
Carburetor busted half way through,
Engine missing, hits on two;

Three years old, four in the Spring,
Has shock absorbers 'neverything';
Ten spokes missing, front axle bent,
Tires all punctured—not worth a cent.

Got lots of speed runs like the deuce,
Burns either oil or tobacco juice.
If you want this car inquire within,
Helluva good car for the fix it's in.

RETRIBUTION VIA CONTRIBUTION

Boston.—A contribution to the "conscience fund" was made to Commissioner of Corporations and Taxations Henry F. Long. He received $6.42, the forty-two cents being in stamps. Commissioner Long said this is the first contribution of its kind in the history of the office. The letter was mailed in Quincy, Mass., and contained only the money and the inscription, "For the conscience fund." Commissioner Long turned the money over to the State Treasurer.

NON SUPPORT CASE UP IN THE POLICE COURT

Wife Says Husband Yells at Her—Court Suggests That They Settle Their Difficulties.

A long drawn out non-support case had the attention of the police court this morning for upwards of an hour. The case was that of Earle Gardner and his wife, who came to Manchester from Hartford about a year ago and lived on Strant street.

The young couple have been married for about five or six years and during the greater part of that time there has been more or less trouble between them. They have one child. Gardner pleaded not guilty to the charges of non-support and was represented by Attorney John Bonee of Hartford. In her testimony Mrs. Gardner told the court that her husband had abused her and that he swore and yelled at her, and that she was in such a nervous condition now that she looked forward to his homecoming with fear. By mutual agreement Mr. and Mrs. Gardner decided to separate last December and the husband agreed to pay $6.00 a week for the support of the child and $9.00 for that of his wife. This agreement was to terminate at the end of four weeks. After the first of February, Mr. Gardner refused to give any more money to his wife as he said she had flatly refused to live with him. Mrs. Gardner was apparently a very nervous woman and while giving her testimony she completely broke down and was scarcely able to tell her side of the story.

Prosecuting Attorney Hathaway said that there was no doubt that the husband had neglected his wife and that he ought to continue her support, and the facts of the case were that he had not done so since the first of February.

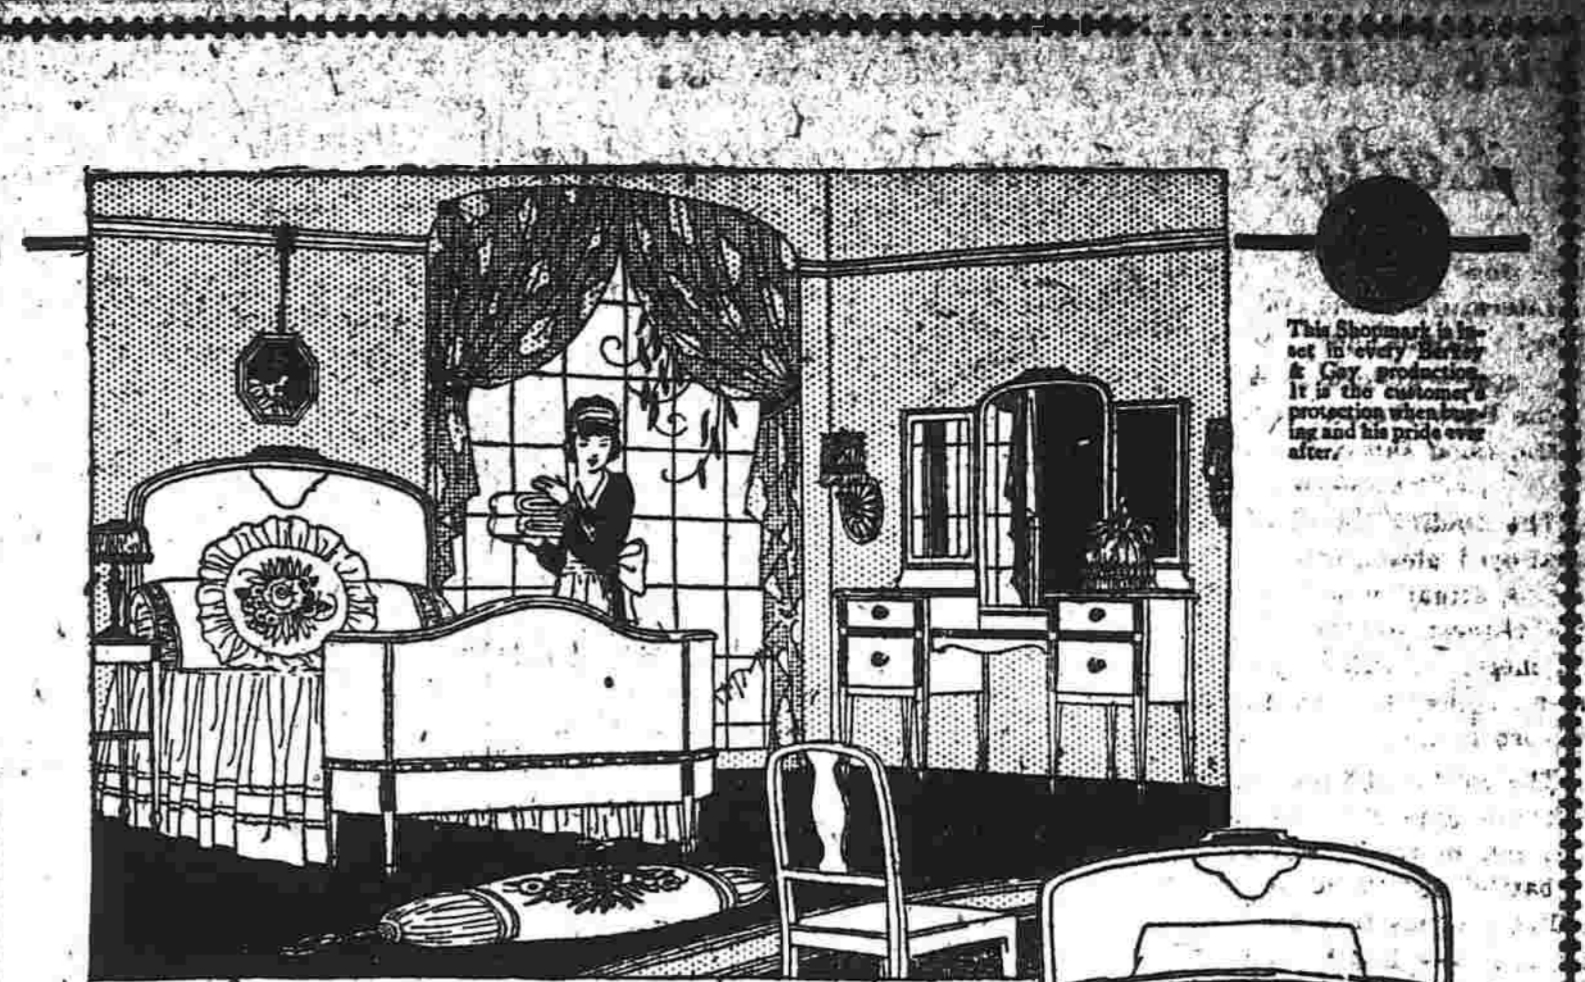

Mr. Gardner told Judge Carney that he would give her a good home and would support her provided that she go with him to Hartford to live. He is a traveling salesman and is on the road the greater part of the time, but usually gets home at the week end. After listening to all the testimony Judge Carney was of the opinion that the young couple should get together and settle their differences, and in order to give them an opportunity to do so he continued the case until May.

George Waterman, while driving his Ford delivery truck past the Center yesterday, neglected to notice that both the Green and Cross Town cars, which were at the Center, were discharging passengers and ran past both cars without stopping. Chief Gordon ordered him to appear in court. The chief admitted that the man was driving at not more than about six miles an hour when he passed the trolleys, and Judge Carney thought the man had been punished to some extent by being forced to appear in court. He imposed a minimum fine of $10 and remitted $5 of the fine.

Henry O. Weir of South Main street pleaded guilty to the charge of driving a horse and team after dark without the proper lights attached to the wagon. He figured in an accident on April 17th, when he was run into by an automobile. He was at the hospital for a couple of days and his wagon was smashed, so Judge Carney thought he had been punished enough. In this case he again imposed a minimum fine of $10 and remitted the fine on condition that Weir pay the costs.

Jersey City, April 30.—The first opposition to holding the Dempsey-Carpentier fight here came today from the ministers of 50 Protestant churches. Following a meeting at which a resolution was adopted calling upon all "high-minded citizens to join with us to protest against this shameful humiliation of our city," the ministers began a campaign to have the permit for the fight revoked.

MILK CAMPAIGN HELD IN HEART OF DAIRY DISTRICT

Though the consumption of milk per capita in Madison, Wis.—the heart of a highly developed dairy district—was more than that of the average city, it was found desirable to conduct a milk campaign there. This campaign was held under the supervision of milk specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture co-operating with the Wisconsin College of Agriculture and local civic and welfare associations. To insure form every man, woman and child in Madison of the food value of milk the goal set by the local committee. That this goal was attained, or nearly so, was conceded when it was found that at the end of the week's campaign more than 5,500 school children had been reached directly, nearly every important meeting had been addressed, and the message of milk for health had been carried to practically every resident in the city through newspaper notices, window exhibits, and posters.

Customs and Incidents of Early Days in Manchester

The Joys of the Reading Class—Literature Which Inspired Youthful Ambitions—Visiting the Corps—Moderns Who Belittle the Boys' Heroes—Prose Tales for the Good Little Boys.

The reading class was an affair of unalloyed pleasure to us. Our wandering attention would be halted by the request to "Tell me ye bloody butchers; ye villains high and low" or an appeal for "Only three grains of corn mother."

The Psalm of Life seemed prosaic but the phrases "muffled drums," "funeral march," "world's wide field of battle" and "bivouac of life" were military terms that charmed our attention. New England's Dead puzzled us, we having a vague idea that that section of the U. S. was dead. We enjoyed the fine scorn exhibited when certain people were condemned because they "cowered down into beasts when they might have stood men."

Some years ago there was staged a burlesque play entitled "The Suicide Club." One character was named "Die at Intervals." His task was to die and come to life at intervals. Marco Bozzarri played that role in our school and frequently "fell bleeding at every vein."

As the member of the labor union today listens with apparent pleasure for the appeal of his leader to strike, so with pleasure we listened to the appeal of Bozzarri a century ago to his followers to "Strike till the last aroused foe expires. Strike!" etc.

The feat of the boy who stood on the burning deck was held up to us as an example of devotion to duty. We are inclined to the belief that the modern boy in the same circumstance would have made a quick getaway before the flames reached the magazine.

The engineer of past days, meeting death on the rail, died at his post, hand on the throttle. The engineer of today facing the same predicament, shuts off steam, slams on the air and jumps. The theory of the Irishman that a live coward is better than a dead hero is finding many adherents.

With modern railway equipment the havoc caused by the man who with a call down by the train crew. "Up from the meadows rich with corn" sounded rural to us; but we stiffened to attention when "Up the street came the rebel tread" and listened with tense expectancy for the sharp command to "Halt!" and our joy was unconfined at the loud order to "Fire!"

The man who takes candy from a baby may be justified in so doing. It is a good thing sometimes to deprive baby of his candy; and as we grow older we do not mind being robbed of Santa Claus; but we have little fellow feeling for the iconoclasts who state that on every occasion Stonewall Jackson wore a fatigue cap and that the episode of Barbara Fritchie never occurred, or who rob the speech of Major Stark to his men of its terseness by saying his wife's name was Elizabeth; or who throw discredit upon the boy who in Independence Hall on July 4th, 1776, when the Declaration was signed shouted to his grandfather stationed in the belfry to "Ring, Grandpa, Ring!"; by stating the cold-blooded facts that the Declaration was signed on the 2nd, ratified on the 3rd and given to the people on the 4th.

They are on a par with the Honorable Board of Selectmen of certain towns who, forgetting that in their boyhood days, from 6 o'clock p. m. July 3rd, until midnight of the following night they endeavored to "bust the town wide open," at the present day will not even permit the small boy to touch off a "sisser."

We juveniles had one gruesome custom in the old days; whenever a person died, whether we ever knew him or not, it was customary for us after school to visit the house in a body and view the remains of the late departed. No one considered it improper or out of the ordinary.

"Ay, tear her tattered ensign down" was a thriller, although few of us knew what an ensign was. The Soldier of the Legion who "lay dying in Algiers" won our sympathy. Then, as now, we were in hearty accord with the appeal to the Woodman to spare that tree.

On one occasion a teacher was grilling a boy on Kosciusko's Address. Repeated efforts failed to elicit the proper amount of pep and energy. At last, driven to desperation, the boy read "Freedom Calls You. Quick, be ready!" then concentrating all his energies in one final effort, he shrieked, "Reeowawse ye in the name of God!" It roused us, teacher and all, and on many creations afterwards when that boy would be out on the playground, some urchin would stick his head around the corner of the schoolhouse and shrill, "Rouse ye in the name of God!" and beat it for safety.

The younger children were regaled with prose tales. "The Little Boy With a Big Heart" which one youth pronounced as a big head. "The Good Boy Who Retrieved the Fallen Cane" and returned it to the Kind Old Gentleman; and the usual stock collection of Thos. Tough and Chas. Good tales. There was one boy whose middle name was work and he followed that delightful occupation every moment of the day while his idle companions spent their spare time with a bent pin, a piece of string and a worm in catching fish. Finally this youth became a millionaire; a picture of his residence appearing on the page of the reader.

We have never experienced the sensation of possessing a million, or the least fractional part of it; but we have known the pleasure of watching a cork attached to a fish line, bob up and down in the water and we have experienced the thrills one feels while engaged in the task of persuading a reluctant fish to leave its happy home.

AUTOMATIC BEACONS. London.—The ancient figure of romance, the lighthouse keeper, is soon to be replaced by automatic machinery.

Some of the more famous light-houses are already equipped so automatically that they will work themselves and can be left unattended for twelve months.

The new system is claimed to be more reliable than even the keepers, and it is said that even if one of the acetylene gas mantles gives out or becomes damaged another moves automatically into position.

The "sun-valve," now to be installed, is an apparatus sensitive to light. As soon as daylight gives place to dusk this valve is actuated and the lights come on; in the morning, by a reverse action, the light sensitive valve duly turns them off.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES. The Tigers used Sutherland, a recruit, in taming the Browns. The youngster fanned Slater twice. Faber was best in a pitchers' duel against Bagby of the Champion Indians, the White Sox taking the game 1 to 0.

The Pirate's continued their winning streak by defeating the "Cubs. Barber's one handed catch against the left field fence was the feature. The Senators and Athletics staged a ten inning game to a 3-3 draw when Darkness interfered.

Rain prevented games between the Giants-Boston and Phillies-Brooklyn. Roger Horeby was presented with an automobile but the Cards lost to the Reds when Sherbell weakened in the ninth inning.

Grounded Steamer Still Fast on Rocks

Passengers Taken Off Portuguese Vessel Stranded on Block Island.

Block Island, Apr. 30.—Attempts to float the Portuguese passenger steamer Mormugao, stranded on the rocks off this island, failed today. Two hundred passengers from the leaking liner were taken off last night and 148 more were transferred to government vessels. Today all were taken to New Bedford, Mass.

Work of removing the cargo was under way and another attempt will be made to float the steamer at the next high tide.

One hundred and sixty passengers transferred to the United States destroyer McCall were fog bound off the coast all night.

One of the holds of the Mormugao was full of water. Unless heavy weather sets in, however, her position was not regarded as dangerous. The steamer's cargo consists largely of livestock, including cows, oxen and goats.

A fleet of tugs, government vessels and life saving boats were standing by the disabled vessel. A thick fog hung over the spot.

Life boats and power launches were used in transferring the 448 passengers from the Mormugao to the government ships. Captain Vidinko, who is ill, and his crew of 100 men remained aboard.

Not Enough Hudsons

Super-Six Still Holds Exclusive Position

Hudson shortage is a fact. Buyers know it. Instead of immediate deliveries an increasing number find they must wait.

Total stocks of Hudsons, everywhere in the country, average less than two cars per dealer.

Our own spring demand must be met from such small stocks as we had the foresight to get during the slack season past.

Note What You Save

Now we see better than ever before what hold Hudson quality has among motor car users.

The present market is selective. Hence the emphasis of Hudson value. Its cost advantage gives $1000 or more saving against any car to which you compare Hudson quality, reliability and performance.

Perhaps you hold Hudson the greatest of all cars. Surely, in many respects, you acknowledge this is so.

For instance the Super-Six motor. It is exclusive to Hudson. For five years it has been the master type. No other has been developed to match its efficiency and endurance. It practically annuls vibration. The smoothness which results is appreciated not only in riding ease. It means absence of strain, and friction. Repair freedom and a long life car results. It accounts for Hudson's five years of sales leadership.

And if you plan to buy soon, bear in mind that deliveries are already difficult and stocks must be even more limited as the season progresses.

LOCAL SPORT CHATTER

Three ball games tomorrow. The Manchesters play the Rosebuds at Nebo, the Atlas journey to Rockville while the West Side A. C. open their season in New Britain.

Here's a tip. Watch Gallagher, the southpaw, who will appear in a Manchester uniform to-morrow. Those who have seen him in action say that he has a world of stuff and what's more he can handle himself.

The fans are asking whether it will be Fay, Brennan or Wilkie on first. All three men are considered real ball players and no one envies Munson's job of picking a regular. Brennan and Fay have played consistent ball while Wilkie has not indulged in the national pastime in last company for a couple of years. Oh Boy! He sure was a dandy man on the first sack.

Many are wondering if the operation that Massey recently underwent will slow him up this year. "Sammy" is a whirlwind on second, and handles the old pill from any angle. He and Dwyer sure will make a great pair around the keystone sack this year. Both are heady fielders and know baseball. Neither of them have got the whip Wilson has. "Breck" sure can whip them across the diamond. He also led the club with the willow last year.

Pithy comment on the game Sunday will be featured in Sport Chatter Monday evening. All local baseball scores will be announced in the Herald. Watch for them.

WETHERSFIELD CLUB WINS SERIES WITH LOCALS

Giorgetti and Root Tied for High Marks With Scores of 99—Locals Meet Bristol Next Week.

The Wethersfield Rifle Club cleaned up the series with the South Manchester Rifle Club last evening, when they took the second match from the local club by 17 points. Last week the local club lost to the Wethersfield club by seven points. Giorgetti and Root were tied for high marks each man getting a total of 99 for the match. Following the match a supper was served for the visiting team.

Next week the South Manchester Rifle Club will meet the Bristol team at Bristol. Four new Winchester rifles have been purchased for the locals, but last evening the rifles had not been set right. There are seven rifles connected with the club and two are the regulation .30-.36 model which will be used on the outdoor range. The scores of last evening's match:

THE COTTON MARKET.
New York, April 30.—The cotton market opened unchanged to five points higher today.

FIRST GAME TOMORROW. Manchesters Will Line Up Against the Rosebuds of Bridgeport.

If the weather is favorable tomorrow afternoon the Manchester baseball team will open its season against the Rosebuds of Bridgeport in the first game of the season at Mt. Nebo. The game is to be called at 3:30, day-light saving time. A record-breaking crowd is expected to attend the opening game. Much curiosity has already been aroused and the fans are anxious to see the new coach, Eddie Munson.

The grounds have been put into first-class condition for the game tomorrow and everything is in readiness for the well-known call, "Play Ball" by His Honor the "Ump." Wing Murphy and Mul McCarthy will handle the indicator.

Just who Munson will use in tomorrow's game is known only to himself. He has made no predictions regarding the line-up. A pretty battle is being waged for the initial sack between Fay, Brennan and Munson. Just who will get the assignment has not been made known. All three candidates are good first sackers and it is going to be a hard job to choose. Massey will start at second, Billy Dwyer at short and Breck Wilson has been moved over to the dizzy corner where he has played prior to last year.

The outfield is another problem that Coach Munson has on his hands. Sipples will no doubt start the game at left with Warnock, Kotch and Edgar ready for the other outfield berths. This quartet is rated as being the best that has showed up for tryouts this year and each man has an exceptionally good whip. Batting at opportune times last year, Sipples endeared himself to the fans and Kotch is a reliable man in a pinch. This leaves apparently a battle for centerfield between Warnock and Edgar.

The backstop position will be taken care of by Punk Lamprecht and Smith. Lamprecht has the call over Smith owing to the showing he made last year. He was a wonderful whip and very few visiting teams took liberties with it in the past. Smith, who played left field part of last year, also has a chance to land a position as he too has a great whip to the midway sack.

The twirlers are "Art" Johnson and Gallagher. Johnson has shown his wares to the local fans on a number of occasions last year and his pitching against Rockville won him a home in Manchester. The newcomer Gallagher is touted as having a world of stuff and is ready to take his turn in the box at a moment's notice. Whether Hyman, last year's pitching ace, will sign with the local team could not be learned as Business Manager Tom Chambers has received no word from him regarding his intentions.

The probable lineup of both teams in tomorrow's battle:

Manchester: Lamprecht or Smith, catch; Johnson or Gallagher, pitch; Fay, Brennan or Munson, first base; Massey, second base; Dwyer, shortstop; Wilson, third base; Edgar, Sipples, Warnock, Kotch, Schieldege, outfield.

YALE AND COLUMBIA ON THE HOUSATONIC

Senior and Junior Varsity Eights Prepare For Hard Struggle Over The Old Two Mile Course.

Derby, Conn., Apr. 30.—With rain threatening and skies heavily overcast the senior and junior varsity eights of Yale and Columbia, the respective products of coaches Guy Nickalls and Jim Rice, prepared this morning for their struggle for a lead over the two mile course on the Housatonic. The race of the senior varsity eights is a crucial one for each. Yale wishes to recoup after the loss of her opening race to Penn. and her exceptionally slow time, while the Columbia oarsmen are hoping to open their season with a victory to lay the basis for future success.

Since the Pennsylvania race Yale's crew has been generously hit, stroke Leslie replacing Heminway and changes in the boat adding almost ten pounds per man to the shell. Coach Nickalls believes the heavier weight and improved stroke will cause the Brit outfit to give a better account of themselves, although the Columbia crews ruled a favorite in today's events.

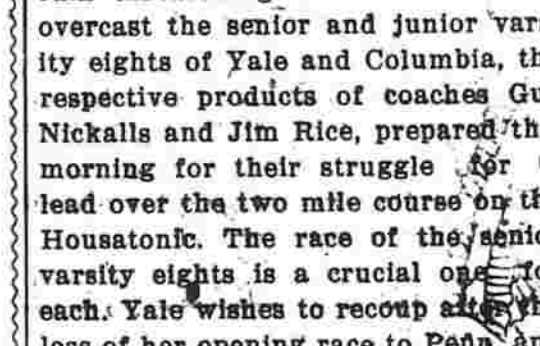

Jenckes and Haldeman changed places in the Yale junior crew yesterday.

The Crews.
The junior eights will start at 4:26 and the senior crews at 5:15 daylight saving time. The crews are boated as follows:
Yale first varsity—stroke, Leslie; 7, Mall; 6, Palsen; 5, Gibson; 4, Hord (Capt.); 3, Carman, bow; Whitney; Cox, Carson.
Columbia senior varsity—Stroke, Brodli; 7, Van Houten (Capt.); 6, Gallico; 5, Sinburne; 4, Cooper; 3, Thees 2, Scovill; bow Ruffalo; Cox, Brush.
Yale junior varsity—Stroke, Cheney; 7, Spencer; 6, Martin; 5, Jenckes; 4, Boocock; 3, Haldeman; 2, Pelt; bow, Heamer; Cox, Haldeman.

WARREN TAYLOR IS DEAD, WELL KNOWN RESIDENT

Probably One of the Oldest Residents of the Town—Took Great Interest in Municipal Affairs.

Warren Taylor, 81 years of age, and one of the oldest, if not the oldest lifelong resident of Manchester passed away at his home, 144 South Main street, yesterday afternoon after an illness which lasted for several months.

Mr. Taylor was the son of Lewis Taylor and was born on March 12th, 1840, on a farm on South Main street, a half mile below his present home which now forms a part of the grounds of the Country Club. He was of genuine Connecticut ancestry, his grandfather Junius Taylor and his father, Lewis Taylor, both being natives of the neighboring town of Glasbury. He was the last surviving member of a family of eight children, all of whom spent their entire lives here, and who in the years past have been active participants in the mercantile and municipal affairs of this town. He was educated in the common schools of this section and in early life assisted his father on the farm and in conducting the meat market on Charter Oak street known for so many years as Lewis Taylor & Sons which in those days, supplied most of the families in town.

At the age of twenty-six Mr. Taylor purchased a farm for himself across the street from his father and resided there until 1888. Aside from his activities as a farmer during these years he was an extensive dealer in horses, making trips to Canada and the West bringing home many parloads of horses which were disposed of in this and the surrounding towns. He was considered an expert judge of horses and many of the best mated teams in town of those days were selected by him on orders from our most prominent citizens. One of his greatest delights was to relate the experiences of those days, and trace down through the years the careers of the fine blooded stock which he brought home not one of which ever escaped his memory or ceased to be a source of interest to him.

Mr. Taylor was a keen observer and early saw the opportunities in the real estate field and decided in 1888 to dispose of his farm and enter this line of business. He first purchased the property on which his present home is located, built a substantial residence for himself and developed the remainder of the property by building houses to rent. Three years later he purchased a tract across the street consisting of forty acres and known as the Abel Lewis farm. This tract included what is commonly known as Mt. Nebo and the present baseball grounds, the back land being later sold to Frank Cheney, Sr., and that nearer the street used for building lots on which he erected several houses which were at first rented and later sold, largely to the tenants.

In 1913 he purchased what was known as the George Day property on Charter Oak street and this he also improved and added to making of it a profitable renting property and disposing of it about two years ago.

In all of his real estate improvements and developments Mr. Taylor was the architect, builder and principal workman, a very capable man both with his brains and his hands. He seldom let his work out to contract, preferring to hire his men by the day and superintend the work himself. He was a man naturally endowed with a strong body and keen and active mind, essentially a family man who enjoyed most his own home and fireside.

In politics he was by birth a staunch Democrat, a firm believer in the principles, and active worker for the success of that party until the advent of Prohibition. However when the temperance question became a prominent issue he firmly believed in the justice and ultimate success of this cause, and by his vote and influence and loyal support did all in his power to bring it about.

His earliest participation in town affairs was as keeper of the town poor. In those days the contract for the care of the town's unfortunate was let out to the lowest bidder and they were taken care of at the home of the keeper, and under this system he and his wife cared for this needy class of our town's citizens.

It was the practice years ago for the town's highways to be cared for by a commissioner. Under this system Mr. Taylor personally supervised their building and upkeep. He also served the town in the offices of selectman, assessor and tax collector and was probably as conversant with town affairs as any man of his time.

Mr. Taylor married on May 2nd, 1866 to Mary Halpin, a singular coincidence in connection with the date being that the funeral of the deceased is to be held on the fifty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Besides his widow he is survived by three children and nine grandchildren. The children are Blanche, the wife of George E. Keith, Howard, who served the town as selectman for seven years, and is now employed at Cheney Brothers' main office, and Fred who is engaged in the trucking business.

The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. George G. Scribner, pastor of the South Methodist church, from Mr. Taylor's home on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock (daylight time.) Burial will be in the family lot in the East cemetery. Friends are requested to kindly omit flowers.

SCOTTISH CLAN ORGANIZED.

A Scottish Clan has been formally organized here and named Clan McLean. Officers have been elected and a date set for the installation. For the past two months local Scottish people have been busy organizing the clan. Many meetings have been held and everything is in readiness now for the local clan to begin work.

Sentiment, the motive principle of the organization, is the love of Auld Scotia, the land of the mountains, the glens, the heroes on which the order is founded; and it is this strong base of noble sentiment upon which its practical side has been so well built.

Next Thursday evening the Clan McLean will hold a concert in Odd Fellows' Hall at the Center. Already a large number of tickets have been sold.

The following officers have been chosen for the ensuing year:

- Chief—Charles Findlay. Tanist—Alex Marshall. Secretary—J. W. Sutherland. Financial Secretary—Samuel Little. Treasurer—John Munroe. Seneschal—James Findlay. Senior Henchman—Samuel Mason. Junior Henchman—Alec Ferguson.

COMMUNITY SING

A real old fashioned time has been planned for next Thursday evening at the Recreation Center. Maurice E. Wallen of Hartford will lead the community sing which will be held in the big gymnasium. Mr. Wallen is said to have a way with him that makes everybody want to sing.

Moving pictures will also be included in the program. A dandy two reel comedy is promised. After this program dancing will be enjoyed. No admission will be charged for this big evening of fun and the public is cordially invited to attend.

Festivities will start at 8 o'clock and the community sing will be in keeping with those held in the past.

Husbands, Wives, and Wills MANY women who take a keen interest in their husbands' business problems and co-operate in solving them, seem to consider the very important business matter of making a will too solemn a subject to discuss. Yet here a woman misses a great opportunity to help her husband. This is one of the things about her husband's business that a woman should make her business. A wife should know that, if her husband dies without having made a will, the laws governing in such a case must take their course, and their impersonal operation may not take into consideration the particular circumstances in which she and her children may find themselves; and that the disposition of the property may be entirely different from that which her husband would have intended. A wife should know that the law permits her husband by making a will to provide for her future comfort, to relieve her of many legal problems, and to prevent annoyances and disappointments. She should know, too, that through his will, her husband can create a trust, protecting her against ill-advised investments, freeing her from the responsibilities of management, insuring the preservation of the property, and securing to her the fullest benefit from the estate. She should know that the modern Trust Company offers a confidential and perpetual service in carrying out the provisions of a will, rendering this service under the supervision of strict laws and in accord with sound business principles. Having in mind her children and the protection which only a will affords, it is a wife's duty, as much as her husband's, to see that a proper will is made. A wife should encourage her husband to make his will, to name a Trust Company as the executor and trustee under his will, and—to do these things NOW.
