WILL THE LECTURE COME BACK?

We sometimes wonder whether the lecture platform will not soon regain the popularity and influence which it had half a century ago. A reaction is due from the impersonal forms of entertainment now so common.

All these new forms of entertainment lack the personal touch. One can sit in the solitude of his room and take advantage of any or all of them. With the lack of personal contact there comes also a weakening of appeal.

Many persons carry on most of their conversation during the day over a telephone, hearing the voice but never seeing, perhaps for one year's end to another, its possessor. An increasing number of travelers ride in the isolation of automobiles, meeting hundreds and perhaps thousands on the road, but passing not a word with any of them.

BRITAIN AND EGYPT.

After a prolonged period of pulling and hauling in various directions, alternating negotiations in London and Cairo with martial law, Great Britain has decided to abandon the protectorate over Egypt, which was established during the World War as a means of throwing the Egyptian strength into the struggle on the side of the allies instead of with the lawful suzerain, Turkey.

An attempt to suppress forcibly the rising tide of nationalism followed. Some of the Egyptian leaders were deported but the agitation has not subsided.

These reservations appear to leave the door wide open for military occupation without limit whenever internal disturbance or external attack offers a pretext.

It is possible, however, that Britain may in the end agree to such restriction. Her vital interest in the Suez canal would be amply protected even if she withdrew her troops from the cities, and whoever holds the canal holds Egypt.

Britain has put the next move up to Egypt. Her puppet and helpless government must legalize actions performed under martial law before military rule will be ended, and must conclude a satisfactory agreement with the British government along the lines indicated as a preliminary to the restoration of self-government.

BREAD FROM HEAVEN. Manna from heaven should be welcome in Washington where so many hungry and thirsty citizens gather to besiege Congress for doles to relieve their pangs.

The precious substance upon which the children of Israel subsisted in the wilderness is sold for food in Syria. It falls like dew during the months of September, October and November and lodges on the leaves of oak trees where it immediately hardens and assumes the form of grain.

Manna, as described in Exodus, is like unto coriander seed, white, and the taste of it is like wafers made with honey. On that first recorded occasion the Israelites, mourning for the fishpots of Egypt, were granted a supplementary diet of quail but the cloying sweetness of the ubiquitous manna later led them to forget gratitude and the days of their hunger. They "fell a lustine" for the flesh and fish "which we did eat in Egypt freely, the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic."

It might very properly have been the life insurance companies which prevented the holding of the bull-fight scheduled for Madison Square Garden, rather than the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

NEGROES' WEALTH.

The census bureau is giving the number and value of farms owned by negroes in each of the states, showing the total value to be $2,257,625,325. That stupendous amount of property has been produced by their hands since the conclusion of the civil war, and under conditions more difficult than any that ever before confronted a branch of the human family.

1922 TO BE RECORD BREAKER

Washington—More than a billion dollars will be spent on city street and rural highway construction in 1922, according to the latest estimates of highway engineers.

ONE FOR LUMBAGO

Musterole drives pain away and sings in its place delicious, soothing comfort. Just rub it in gently.

In New York but now she is horrified. "Two weeks of travel have opened my eyes," says Margot, "and I think American prohibition abominable."

The sprightly Margot was astonished at the conduct of young girls and men, particularly at balls. They think it is quite chic to become drunk. Mrs. Asquith declares there is much less drinking in England where there are no prohibition laws because the people there find they can shoot straighter, ride better and play better cricket by not drinking.

But evidently Margot is qualified to make comparisons only in the higher reaches of society. There are quite a few in England who do not shoot, ride or play cricket. Even in two weeks she can hardly have gauged the great American pulse and there is reason to believe that what she does not know of "the lower classes" in her own country would fill a big book.

But there is a suspicion that her impression of conditions in American society circles is not wholly lacking in truth. The Anti-Saloon League says the Episcopal church in New York city has "an unusual proportion of the wealthy, influential persons who today constitute the main respectable backing of bootleggers."

It looks as if Manchester would have to levy a 17 mill tax this year whether it wants to or not. The two legal opinions, one by Judge H. O. Bowers, town counsel, and the other by Lewis Sperry, prominent Hartford attorney, both published in this issue, coincide in declaring that under the statutes of Connecticut the town must include in its budget of current expenses for this year the $80,000 deficit incurred last year.

AGUINALDO SPEAKS

From the Harrisburg (Pa.) Telegraph. An interesting commentary upon the situation in the Philippines is afforded by an official report of what transpired when Aguinaldo, former chief of insurgents, was asked to speak at a dinner recently upon the occupation of the Philippines.

FARM HORSES

Of the 19,785,933 horses on farms in the United States on January 1, 1920, 120,540, or 0.6 per cent were used as purebred, according to a report of the bureau of census. The States reporting the largest percentages of purebred horses were as follows: Illinois, 1.2 per cent; Rhode Island, 1.2 per cent; Iowa, 1.1 per cent; Massachusetts, 1 per cent; Vermont, 1 per cent; Ohio, 0.9 per cent; Kentucky, 0.9 per cent; and Kansas, 0.8 per cent. The States reporting the largest numbers of purebred horses in 1920 were Illinois, with 5,587; Iowa, with 15,450; Kansas, with 8,369; Ohio, with 7,257; Nebraska, with 5,654; North Dakota, with 5,626; South Dakota, with 5,626; and Indiana, with 5,265.

The automobile market in Mexico being seriously affected because of the vast number of machines in the United States and taken to Mexico to be sold for less than their market price.

NEW YORK LETTER

New York, March 2.—George Washington's gold watch was sold at a New York art gallery on the recent anniversary of his birth for $3,200. It was one of many personal relics belonging principally to W. Lanier Washington, a great-great-nephew, which brought a total of $19,052 at the sale.

Jeweled Stenographers

If you drop into a New York place of business and are dazed at the showing of jewelry on secretaries, stenographers and 90 per cent of the business women, don't set it down to poor taste of "this awful generation."

Cooperative Shopping

Co-operative shopping is becoming fashionable in Little Old New York. For some years past, neighborhoods have banded together to purchase staple supplies in large quantities.

Church Pews Tied Up

I have heard of business blocks and real estate being tied up in unscrupled estates so as to be useless to anyone, but I never before realized that church pews might suffer that fate.

FIRST PAVED STREET IN U. S.

Washington—Charleston, West Virginia, has the distinction of being the first city in United States to use brick for street paving.

The spring models bring us some of the finest carriages made—Whitney and Lloyd—in wonderful new finishes, mahogany, French blue, browns, frosted browns and blues and Cafe-au-Lait.

Have you registered baby for a bank account? Come in and bring your baby along and we will open the account for you by depositing $1 in the Savings Bank of Manchester.

Make it a point to come in and hear these new numbers as soon as possible. Marie Cahill, a new Victor artist, packs a laugh in every line of her new Victor record for March—"Washing Baby."

Bring one home for fun!

A BRITON IN YALE'S CHANG-SHA.

(Bertrand Russell's Travel Notes.) The busiest thirty hours I ever spent in my life were spent in Changsha, a city which is reached by traveling up to the Yangtze for three or four days from Shanghai to Hankow, and then going south for another day across a vast lake.

rick used for paving purposes today, but nevertheless they served satisfactorily for 38 years. The state museum at Charleston has on exhibition the first brick laid in the street, from which not more than one inch was worn in the generation it served. In 1894 Quarter street was paved with brick and, although 27 years old, is still in good condition to day. The brick were laid on a base of 3 inches of sand, one inch of tarred oak planks and a second 3 inch layer of sand.
