Labor Protest Strike Against Militarism of Both Factions Suspends all Normal Activities—All Telegraph Service Discontinued—Reports of Truce Between Loyalists and Rebels Are Still Unconfirmed.

London, April 24.—Ireland today was cut off from all communication with the outside world, the result of a general strike in all industries proclaimed by the Irish Labor Party in protest against military tactics being employed by both loyal and mutinous sections of the Irish Republic's Army. All normal activities were suspended at six o'clock this morning, and will not be resumed until nine o'clock tonight.

Just before telegraph service to the Emerald Isle was discontinued there were unconfirmed reports from Dublin that Michael Collins had made a speech yesterday at Tralee in which he had declared that he had planned demonstrations today and tomorrow in all parts of the country, in protest against militarism. Government leaders were taking extreme measures to prevent actual attack upon headquarters of the mutineers by the Labor Party.

The Others Pay Fines of $7 and Costs Each—Sportsmen from Six States Were in Attendance When State Police Swooped Down on Biggest Main Staged in this State in Recent Years.

Wallingford, Conn., April 24.—Fourteen of the forty men who were arrested when the state police swooped down on a cock fight in progress at Pond Hill Park here late yesterday forfeited $25 bonds each in the borough court here today. Twenty others paid fines of $7 and costs each. A number of other cases were temporarily put over and will come up later. The fighting birds are all held by the police, having been confiscated at the time of the raid.

MISSING NEW JERSEY CHILD FOUND DEAD

Camden Police Think It Impossible Girl Could Have Walked to Creek Where Body Lay.

Camden, N. J., April 24.—Police officials investigating the death of Ida Kramer, seven years old Woodbury girl who disappeared from her home on March 25 and whose body was found yesterday in a pond near here today, had virtually abandoned the theory of accidental death.

The body was found lying face downward in Newton Creek at Woodlynne, a mile outside the limits of this city. The corpse was covered with mud and one eye missing. It had been in the water about a month, the medical examiner said. The body was identified by Isadore Kramer, the father of the girl.

Detectives now are unanimous in their opinion that it would have been impossible for the child to have walked from her home to the place where her body was found. They are especially interested in locating a woman with whom the girl was seen on a trolley car the night she disappeared.

The conductor said the woman got off near Newton Creek.

Camden, N. J., April 24.—Miss Esther Tannebaum, 28 years old traveling saleswoman, was arrested today following the discovery yesterday of the body of seven-year-old Ida Kramer in Newton Creek, near here. Miss Tannebaum is a cousin of Isadore Kramer, the father of the dead girl, who was kidnapped from her home in Woodbury on the evening of March 25.

On the day after the child was seen with the missing girl two hours after the kidnapping. Later Miss Tannebaum presented an alibi and was released.

It developed today that Miss Tannebaum and Kramer were acquainted and that she was about five miles from the Kramer home.

Some of those who say they are "tired of life" make others even more tired of it.

At 3:30 three fire calls came from Kirbyville. The Lexington Hotel was discovered by a taxi driver to be afire in three places. ### $80,000 Liquor Swindle

New Haven, Conn., April 24.—In the police court today the case of Robert White, of 114 Canner street this city, charged with larceny, and held in connection with an alleged swindle of F. J. Stapleton of Waterbury out of $80,000 in a bogus liquor deal, was continued until Saturday under bonds of $10,000 which White was unable to furnish.

In the meantime the police with the assistance of the New York police are attempting to locate a man named Lawlor said to have posed as a friend of Stapleton and two other men who gave the names of J. J. Bradley and Morris Lynes, who are alleged to have been the principals in the deal.

According to the police the men induced Stapleton to draw $80,000 out of a bank and hand it over to Lynes in a local hotel Saturday, as payment for 75 barrels of liquor, which was to be turned over to him by an agreement. Negotiations for the transfer of the liquor according to Stapleton had been going on since last February and it was represented to Stapleton that the liquor was being obtained through "government of officials" in New York.

White disclaimed all knowledge of the alleged swindle.

FUEL SHORTAGE HOLDS UP NAVAL ACTIVITIES

Annual Cruise of Annapolis Midshipmen May Have to Be Postponed.

ATLANTIC FLEET CHECKED

Battleships Restricted to Three Days Sailing Each Month and Gunnery Practice May Have to Be Abandoned.

Washington, April 24.—The policy which will govern the navy's activities until July first because of the fuel restrictions imposed by Congress was worked out today at a conference between Secretary of the Navy Denby, Admiral Hilary P. Jones, commander of the Atlantic fleet; Admiral Robert E. Coontz, chief of operations, and Rear Admiral Henry B. Wilson, commander of the Naval Academy.

Among the questions to be decided is the time for the annual cruise of the midshipmen at the Academy. The cruise is ordinarily taken in June, but it was indicated at the Navy Department today that it might be postponed until after July first when additional appropriations for fuel will be authorized.

Secretary Denby and his aides also discussed the future activities of the Atlantic fleet, which left Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, on Saturday and is due to arrive at the southern drill grounds on Thursday.

The fleet is scheduled to engage in gunnery practice with the radio controlled Iowa, but this feature of the work may be called off because of the fuel shortage.

The Iowa tests under the tentative program are to be held on May first and second, off the Virginia Capes. For some time, movements of ships have been restricted to military necessity, the battleships, for instance, being permitted only three days sailing each month.

Secretary Denby and his aides also discussed the future activities of the Atlantic fleet, which left Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, on Saturday and is due to arrive at the southern drill grounds on Thursday.

Largest Gathering in History of Organization Assembles in Annual Convention.

New York, April 24.—The annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association which is expected to bring together the largest gathering of newspaper representatives in the history of the organization got under way at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel today with numerous committee and directors' meetings. The convention goes into full session on Wednesday and comes to a close on Friday. More than 600 publishers or their representatives are registered at hotels for the meeting.

Labor problems loom up as the biggest point of discussion in the convention. The international arbitration contract which has been in force for years between the association and the printing trades union will soon expire and, according to indications and opinions expressed in the lobby of the Waldorf, will not be renewed. It was rumored that a labor defense fund will be formed and changes made in the special standing committee on labor.

Other matters to come up for discussion are news print, taxation, postal matters, advertising rates and mechanical problems.

The International and Daily Press Association, the Pacific Northwestern Newspaper Association and the Southern Newspaper Association, affiliated with the A. N. P. A., will hold informal labor conferences.

A new president is likely to be elected at the election of officers this week. It is generally expected that T. H. Williams of the Pittsburgh Press, who is now completing his second term as president of the association, will be succeeded by Paul Patterson of the Baltimore Sun, the present vice-president.

Wednesday night, a dinner is to be tendered to former Postmaster Will H. Hays.

That was the story he told police chief Katscha of Woodbridge, where the slaying took place after he calmly walked into police headquarters and offered to "tell a good story" for quantity supplied of the high cost of maintaining two homes.

MINERS TRIALS OPEN IN WEST VIRGINIA

Charleston, W. Va., April 24.—With the reputation of this little town swelled to more than double its normal proportions and almost every home entertaining a "paying guest," the stage is set for one of the greatest industrial trials in the history of the long warfare between organized labor and capital, which opens here today, when the first of more than 100 cases, in which treason, murder, conspiracy and lesser crimes are charged, is called in the circuit court.

Frank Keeny, of Charleston, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and said by the state to have been responsible for the armed march.

In Fireating Speech French Premier Declares He Will Withdraw Delegation if Any Concessions are Made to Germany or Russia—Will March Alone on Germany if Allies Do Not Consent to Proposed Penalties—Paris Newspapers See War Ahead and Demand Occupation of Berlin.

Bar Le Duc, France, April 24.—Premier Poincare, speaking to his constituents here today, openly threatened withdrawal of the French delegation from the Genoa economic conference.

"Our remaining at Genoa," he declared, "certainly is conditional only upon no concessions being made either to Germany or Russia. We stand firmly by the decisions of the Cannes conference."

The French premier recently accused by inference in statements by Premier Lloyd George of England, of seeking to wreck the Genoa conference, launched forth his program for France in emphatic terms. He made the misunderstanding and crisis of the last few days of the Genoa conference the basis of a new defense of France's military policy.

A Velled Threat.

Following a veiled threat of another French "solo" march upon the Rhine, Poincare said:

"What would have happened if we had disarmed too quickly is understandable today, after the impudence of Rapallo. The facts of the present situation demonstrate that the French cabinet was justified in insisting upon the eighteen months military service plan."

Patriotic Fervor.

"France must remain united," Poincare declared, working toward a climax of patriotic fervor of the sort that moves the Gallic

"The realities appear less clear today, as through an enveloping haze, but the danger is unchanged."

"France," said Poincare, "has an ungrateful role to play at Genoa. It is that of defending the Cannes resolutions (dealing with German reparations payments and sanctions) and at the same time preventing a rupture of the conference."

Attacks Rapallo Treaty.

The French premier attacked the "Treaty of Rapallo as threatening the Cannes decisions which were France's 'last word' in the way of concessions from the strict letter of the law of the Versailles treaty.

"The Treaty of Rapallo," he declared, "is a direct menace to Poland and stands as an indirect menace against France. Rapallo compromises and threatens to overthrow European equilibrium."

Demands Occupation of Berlin.

Paris, April 24.—The newspaper Action Francaise today demanded that Berlin be occupied by France. The Temps and Figaro professed to see war and "the grim sound of cavalry and arms" in the Russian treaty with Germany.

These bits of revelation of political sentiment and pressure are typical of the situation Premier Poincare faced as he spoke to his constituents at Bar Le Duc today. An aggregation of parliamentary blocs said to be almost, if not quite, powerful enough to overthrow Poincare is becoming restive and drawing together. Their aim is forcing through an uncompromising military sanctions policy against Germany.

Situation at Genoa.

Genoa, April 24.—The controversy over the Rapallo-Genoa treaty, which for days threatened to wreck the Genoa conference, today apparently had subsided leaving the delegates an opportunity of continuing their deliberations systematically until another crisis arises.

"Backdoor" diplomacy, guided by Lloyd George, is believed to have resulted in concluding the exchange of notes between France and Germany and the allies and Germany.

It is understood that request was made by the British premier, or on his suggestion, that Germany make no reply to the last French note. This view was put forward officially, indirectly, in a memorandum signed by the allies, which corrected certain German "misunderstandings" and contained the significant phrase "the incident may now be regarded as closed."

The only loophole for reopening the Russian treaty question is a notification to Germany that the allies reserve the right to cancel provisions of the treaty with Russia that conflict with the Treaty of Versailles. This is at once a sop to French public opinion and a safeguard in the

On the heels of a tightening of tension at Genoa, Premier Poincare in a speech here today, sounded a keynote of French independence in the question of dealing with Germany.

Addressing his constituents he declared that France insists that execution of the Versailles treaty is being seriously damaged by the Treaty of Rapallo.

"If the allies do not agree to the proposed sanctions, if it is necessary to make them operative May 31, France will act alone in complete independence."

Paris forecasts had predicted opposition to the Rapallo treaty, and the strong language used by the French premier is believed to constitute another setback for the co-operative efforts being made at Genoa.

Russia Bitter Against France.

Moscow, April 24.—The Soviet press, commenting editorially on the Genoa economic conference, is very bitter against France, declaring that the French delegation is trying to break up the conference.

The Izvestia today says the influence of the United States is the only factor that can save the party. The paper prints numerous statements from prominent persons, attacking the London experts' proposals as "an attempt to usurp the sovereignty of Russia."

LEN SMALL TRIAL MAY BE DELAYED

General Belief that Haste is Not Necessary Now That Illinois Primaries Are Over.

Courthouse, Waukegan, Ill., April 24.—An air of uncertainty pervaded this city, scene of the trial of Len Small, Illinois governor, charged with having conspired to embezzle state funds, as the hour for calling of the trial drew near today. Those who ventured predictions were of almost unanimous belief that the trial will again be delayed.

Those who are willing to venture a conjecture that the trial will start base their belief on the fact that both primaries and the state political conventions are now over. Both sides, they argue, are now free to go ahead with the trial without danger of losing political prestige through failure to be on the ground during the elections, and during the recent convention at Springfield.

COAL STRIKE VIEWS.

An interesting public debate on the coal strike was held in New York the other evening at which representatives of the three parties to the controversy—operators, miners and public—presented views that are not without value.

Phillip Murray, vice-president of the United Mine Workers, said the strike would be called off if President Harding called a nation-wide conference of operators and miners and Congress applied the bituminous coal commission's award of 1920 to all soft coal operations in union and non-union fields alike.

This action by Congress, said Mr. Murray, would remove from the union operators "the menace of the vicious competition of non-union operators and bring about uniformity in wages and working conditions." How kind Mr. Murray is and how thoughtful for the union operators who have been clubbed by his organization into agreement to working conditions and wage standards that have raised the price of coal to an unprecedented figure. His demand suggests that there may be something after all in the alleged conspiracy between operators and miners in the union fields which resulted in the scores of indictments now pending at Indianapolis. With uniformity of wages and working standards throughout the soft coal industry, the United Mine Workers would be able to force their control over the non-union fields, a much desired object which they have found it impossible to secure even with rifles and machine guns. Then their power over the country would be complete.

Naturally Thomas H. Watkins of the Pennsylvania Coal and Coke Company, said that the United Mine Workers' demand for a 50 per cent increase in wages, said Mr. Watkins, has broken down temporarily the principle of collective bargaining. Their autocratic and coercive methods in the organized fields aroused the stubborn resistance of both miners and operators in the non-union fields. In West Virginia they resorted to armed rebellion against the nation to compel organization and both non-union miners and operators fought back their armies until government troops had time to reach the scene.

Now, it becomes increasingly evident that the United Mine Workers are striving to obtain by Congressional action what they failed to secure by both peaceful organization methods and force of arms. The non-union fields, however, men and masters, are showing definitely that they have no intention of submitting to the dictation of the Molly Maguires of Pennsylvania. The success of the miners in the present strike would place the country at their mercy and the country is beginning to realize it.

Mr. Watkins was right when he declared that collective bargaining had supplanted collective bargaining. The miners come to the conference table with a sandbag in their hands, the threat of the authorized strike if their full demands are not granted. Years ago labor fought valiantly and successfully to establish the principle of collective bargaining; today labor is fighting to destroy that principle.

Under present conditions the public is helpless. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College and national coal administrator during the war, who represented the public interest, contended that this basic commodity of coal is denied to the consumer without his having a say in the matter. The whole burden of fair profits, excessive wages, unnecessarily large freight charges and commissions is laid upon him without the power to prevent or the opportunity to be heard.

Mr. Garfield does not favor public ownership of the mines but declares roundly that it is the business of the government to preserve and guarantee the right of the consumer to a full supply of coal at a fair price. Government intervention may yet be necessary to compel production. Mr. Gompers says no. But the only basis he has for his confident prediction is the assertion that in a week or so the miners will have won along the line.

In any event Mr. Gompers' position is camouflage for the real desire of the miners, which is government intervention and control, something the American people do not want. The present congressional inquiry may lead to a permanent and satisfactory solution. At any rate it should be able to establish the facts. But there can be no solution satisfactory to the public which compels uniformity of wages and working conditions in good and bad mining regions, in sections of the country where the cost of living is above the present standard and in parts where living costs are lower.

MOVIES FOR CHILDREN.

Children under fourteen years of age are not allowed to attend motion picture performances in Connecticut without adult guardians. This restriction has been and is being enforced. An interesting suggestion by Will H. Hays, head of the motion picture industry, now raises the question whether the law in the matter should not be modified or amended.

Mr. Hays would like to see the producers turn out more pictures for the small boy. He would be glad to have these films shown free or at very low prices on Saturday mornings in as many theaters as possible.

With the voluntary censorship that Mr. Hays is doing his best to encourage the necessity for a general ban against the youngsters will not be so evident. There has been good reason in many places for regulating the attendance of the children but gradually the silent drama is being cleansed of its questionable features.

On the other hand there always will be plays that, while breaking no code of decency, will be too strong meat for the children. A general abandonment of the regulation in question might not be altogether wise.

But it is difficult to uphold its value or desirability in the case of plays specially produced and specially performed for children. Mr. Hays' suggestion seems to be an excellent one.

Several years ago the very thing he is advocating was introduced in several parts of the country and met with astonishing success, notably in some of the cities of New York state. On Saturday mornings the children crowded the theaters to the doors and hugely enjoyed really splendid productions of the old nursery rhymes and other stories. The experiment was abandoned. Its revival would be welcomed generally and could be made of great value, even from a strictly educational point of view.

SCHOOL EXPENSES.

Editor, The Evening Herald:
The communication in your issue of Thursday evening, April 19th, signed by "Justice," and your editorial on School Expenses, of April 20th, present two fairly definite issues.

"Justice in his plea for a reduction of teachers' wages can hardly have taken into account the facts which are published on Page 12 of the School Report of the Ninth School District for the year 1920-21. A study of the report is due, in justice to the pupils as well as to the teachers, on the part of those who feel that there should be a reduction in teachers' wages." In the space of this communication it is only possible to quote a brief portion of it, and it should be remembered that this refers only to the Ninth School District.

"The average salary per week for the whole force, including principals and supervisors, has increased from $22.39 per week in the year 1917-18 to $40.66 in the year 1920-21, or 81 per cent. A more just comparison, however, can be arrived at by comparing the average wages of the teachers in the grades, which, for the four years in question, were as follows:

1917-18.....$19.40 per week
1918-19.....$22.21 per week
1919-20.....$30.32 per week
1920-21.....$36.94 per week
"Here the increase of 1920-21 over 1917-18 is 93 per cent. This, with the 5 per cent. additional for the next year will bring the 1921-22 rates to approximately 98 per cent. over those of the year 1917-18.

"When it is considered that commercial and industrial wages increased during this period in many cases from 150 per cent. to 200 per cent., it can hardly be claimed that the advances to teachers are unreasonable."

It will be seen from the above that the advances which were made to the teachers in the Ninth School District, on the basis of contracts made with them a year ago last April, not in the fall as stated by your correspondent, brought their wages approximately up to a point of 98 per cent. above those of 1917-18. There are few who are aware of the conditions that have existed in the large bulk of commercial and in-

DR. FRANCIS H. WHITON ENDS USEFUL CAREER

Dean of Manchester Physicians Died Yesterday Morning After Long Illness.

Dr. Francis Henry Whiton, the dean of the Manchester Medical profession, died at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. He had been ill for many weeks with an affection of the heart which, at intervals, gave him great pain and prostration. Between these attacks he was able to sit up and read and enjoy conversation with his friends, but he had not been able to leave his room and get downstairs for about four months. Being a physician himself, he realized the gravity of these periodical attacks and knew that one would soon come from which he would not recover. With this knowledge he had made complete preparations for the end and awaited it serenely.

Dr. Whiton was born on a farm in Mansfield, this state, May 16, 1846, the son of Chester and Philura Brown Whiton. In childhood he showed a fondness for study and with the aid of the public schools and of private tutors had prepared himself at the age of seventeen to teach school. He followed this occupation for six years, meantime continuing his studies. At the age of twenty he had decided to enter the medical profession, and began preliminary study with local physicians. In 1868 he entered Harvard university and in 1871 began his course at Dartmouth College. After graduation from Dartmouth, he took a post-graduate course in New York hospitals and began practice in Manchester in 1874. His skill soon became known and he gradually built up a large practice. He remarked to the writer a few days before his death, "I have never had to look for patients." On the contrary during his declining years, he found it difficult to keep them away. Even during his last illness he received almost daily calls from those who insisted they must see him, but in the interest of his own health, he was obliged to turn them all away. For many years, he was the local physician for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and in that capacity, had all cases resulting from accidents on this part of the line. He was highly regarded in the Oakland and Talcottville districts and for years had practically all the medical practice in those communities. It is recalled that after the great blizzard in 1888, he was the first physician to make his way across the flats to Talcottville.

He was a member of the Manchester Medical Association, the Hartford Connecticut Medical Society, and the American Medical Association. Early in Dr. Whiton's residence in Manchester, he became interested in public affairs. His voice was frequently heard in school district and town meetings. He was a life-long Republican and became active in the political councils of his party. He represented Manchester in the House of Representatives at the sessions of 1895 and 1897. It was through his efforts that the Manchester town court was established. During his long residence in Manchester, Dr. Whiton was affiliated with the North Congregational church and was especially interested in the work of the Ever Ready Circle of the King's Daughters, in which he held an honorary membership.

Dr. Whiton was married May 17, 1876, to Mrs. Mary Buckland, daughter of J. N. Loomis, of Portsmouth, N. H. He leaves no children. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. Maynard W. Beardslee. The bearers will be members of the Manchester Medical Association. The burial will be in Waterbury where Mrs. Whiton has a family lot, in which her first husband, Dr. Buckland, and her daughter are interred. The funeral party will go to Waterbury by automobile.

ustrial plants but that would consider this below the average ruling increase in wages. It is always necessary to bear in mind that the weekly earnings referred to cover only thirty-eight weeks of the year, instead of fifty-two weeks as is the case with all commercial and industrial occupations. It is true that some teachers can and are able to supplement their earnings by working for a brief period of from six to eight weeks during the summer vacation, but even if they are so fortunate as to be able to secure such temporary employment, it is obvious that under the most favorable circumstances, their earnings for forty-five weeks must be compared with the earnings of industrial workers over fifty to fifty-two weeks.

Even after all of these adjustments have been made, it is still true that teachers are starting to teach today at the average wage of a day laborer and can look forward in this community, at a maximum, to about the weekly wage of a good weaver.

We think The Herald is correct in stating that the great majority of our voters and taxpayers would be opposed to any backward step which tended to still further reduce the compensation of teachers below that of day laborers and good weavers. The Herald, in its editorial, discusses the very pertinent and entirely legitimate question as to whether the schools expend the money allotted to them economically or extravagantly and further raises the question as to whether the voters have sufficient information to arrive at a basis of judgment as to the scale of school expenditures until they have been completed.

The expenditures for school purposes are placed before the Board of Apportionment of School Expenses in the June preceding the September in which they are to go into effect. These are published in our newspapers about the third week in June. These estimates are confirmed the first week in October and, as a rule, almost no change in the estimates as submitted has been made, so that it is true that the voters have the opportunity of knowing the proposed expenditures for their schools a year in advance of their completion. It is not a correct statement that the "Voters have no way of knowing how fast they are spending it or what they are doing with it until the end of the year."

The expenditures which we propose to make next year will be published to the voters the coming June. They will be confirmed next October, and the requisitions against the expenditures are already published monthly in the reports of the Board of Selectmen, so it would appear that the voters know a year in advance as to what the expenditures are to be and know monthly the amount of the requisitions against these expenditures.

I believe I am correct in stating that our expenditures for the last ten years have in every case kept within the appropriations made.

The Herald is also acting under a misapprehension, which the School Committee certainly does not share, if it considers that any proceedings of the Board are in the nature of "private" business.

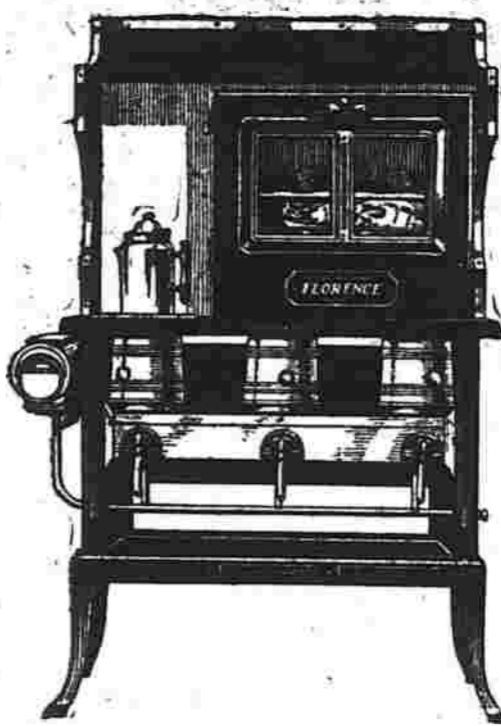

All of the books of the district, including the minutes of the meetings and the treasurer's accounts, as well as the meetings of the Board itself are open to any one who has a direct interest.

In addition to this the Superintendent has worked very conscientiously and very successfully in soliciting the interest and intimate knowledge on the part of the public and parents of the work of the schools. It is most encouraging that in response to his invitation last week, there were 1,100 visitors in our schools on Friday morning and afternoon.

It would be exceedingly unfortunate for any public official to assume that the public's business was in any sense private business and if there is any possible way in which we can bring the public into a closer and more intimate knowledge of what our schools are doing, of the policies that are directing them, and of the costs attending their support, we ought not to neglect any opportunity of doing so. There is nothing that is more legitimately the public's business than the conduct of its schools.

The communication signed by "Justice" refers especially to "Gingerbread additions in recreation." Without specifications it is not practicable to discuss the point as to what is superfluous and what is necessary. It is well, however, to remind the public that the last legislature passed a law making it compulsory upon School Boards to provide two and one-half hours a week of instruction for every pupil in physical training and instruction in health. We are not yet fully complying with this restriction which does not become mandatory until next fall, but which nonetheless expresses the judgment of the State Legislature as to the minimum requirements.

Yours truly,
HOWELL CHENEY,
Chairman, Ninth District School Committee.
April 24, 1922.

BLACKSTONE VALLEY MILLS MAKE OFFER

Lonsdale Company is Ready to Confer With Textile Strikers on Basis of 48 Hours.

Providence, R. I., April 24.—Former Governor I. F. G. Garvan present state senator from Cumberland, who has been active in behalf of the striking textile workers, today announced to the Blackstone Valley workers, that the Lonsdale Company, with mills in Cumberland and Lincoln, has always been and is now ready to confer with their employees. He declares that the mills have no intention of increasing the working week over 48 hours. He suggests that the operatives appoint a committee to meet mill officials for the purpose of compromising on the wage decrease. Officials of the united textile workers will consider the proposition today. Judge Tucker discharged the woman picket arrested because she carried a club. Judge Tucker ruled that the club was not a weapon and she could not be held under the concealed weapon statute. High Sheriff H. N. Andrews, however, is continuing to force from pickets their weapons armed with clubs.

GIRLS' BREAKFAST HIKE AN ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

Walked to Buckingham in Early Morning — Had Breakfast Alongside the Highway.

It was a lively bunch of girls that went on yesterday's Breakfast Hike to Buckingham. The idea is a new one for Silk Mill girls and those who hiked yesterday were well pleased and will be good boosters for any future affair like yesterday's.

The girls met at the School Street Recreation Center and started the hike at 7:30. An automobile carried ahead most of the supplies with which breakfast was to be cooked. A good pace was set and all during the hike good time was made. While walking the girls sang and made merry and at many places along the way they stopped to take pictures.

About a mile this side of Buckingham the party stopped and made breakfast. Stones were gathered and a fire built. The coffee kettle was sizzled and the girls took turns at broiling ham, frying the bacon and eggs and preparing the other supplies. The breakfast was a welcome sight to the hikers who were hungry after the walk. The meal consisted of broiled ham, bacon, eggs, rolls, coffee, and apples.

These were two mascots on the hike. These were the two collies owned by Rebecca Leggett and Edith Wilson. Miss Leggett's dog proved itself somewhat of a different collie by bawling two or three apples.

Following the breakfast the girls hiked another mile and gathered trailing vegetation. They were fortunate in getting plenty of the arbutus. The group arrived back in Manchester at 12:15. Those who made the hike were:

Florence Sheekey, Gertrude Crawford, May Grimeson, Marie Dempsey, Esther Robinson, Charbel Pirie, Marguerite Childs, Hilda Kessman, Hilda Dillworth, Rebecca Leggett, Elsie Dowd, Anna Swanson, Lucy Donaghy, Irene McKinney, Emily Pillard, Mary Steiner, Edith Wilson, Margery Alden, Donnie Cotteral, Bonnie Cotteral, Sarah Weir, Myrtle Russell.

INTER MILL B. B. LEAGUE.

As soon as it is learned whether or not Daylight Saving will be adopted locally, Vice President Cole will start plans for the baseball season of the Inter Mill league. Unless time is changed it will be impossible to conduct a league after hours. There should be lots of pep in this year's league for the lay-offs and curtailings of help have opened out some of the teams so that there will be no run-aways in the league. Just as soon as Vice President Cole learns of the decision to adopt daylight saving meeting will be called to organize the league.

ANNUAL MEETING TONIGHT.

Girls' Athletic Association to Elect Officers—Radio Concert, the Feature.

Tonight the Girls' Athletic Association will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers. A good entertainment has been planned and refreshments will be served. The meeting will be called at 7:30 in Cheney hall. The president, vice president of tract, vice president of bowling and recording secretary will be named. Ballots will be cast for the directorships of the various mills but this vote will not be determined this evening because some of the voting is being done through the plant mail service. Tomorrow night will end the voting for directors. All ballots must be sent by that time. Girls who attend tonight's meeting should bring their ballots with them or else mail them to Miss Bonnie Cotteral.

The entertainment will be furnished by a radio set furnished by Watkins Brothers. It is expected that the concert will be a successful one for the weather today is favorable for receiving messages. The concert by radio-phonograph will follow immediately after the annual meeting. An employee of Watkins Brothers' Hartford store will have charge of the phone and he will be assisted in installing the machine by John Reinartz of Cheney Brothers' Electrical Department.

Refreshments consisting of fresh strawberries, ice cream and cakes will be served the girls.

It is hoped that there will be a large gathering of the girls for summer activities will be given a boost through this meeting. Various matters pertaining to the plans of the association for the summer will be taken up.

UNIONTOWN WOMEN STRIKERS THROW PEPPER

Uniontown, Penn., April 24.—Four hundred strikers, headed by a dozen women, the latter armed with clubs, stones, pokers and red pepper, marched to the Newcomer mines of the Amond Coal Company early today and attempted to turn back several employees who were still at work. The male portion of the mixed army was a passive bunch but the women were not. The female contingent did all the fighting and hurled rocks

HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED BY NEW BRITAIN TEAM

First Game of the Season Before Fair Sized Crowd—Some Classy Plays Feature the Contest.

On Saturday afternoon the S. M. H. S. baseball team was defeated by the team from New Britain before a fair sized crowd by the score of 5 to 2. Several classy plays and hits featured.

Both teams scored two runs in the first inning and neither scored in the second but New Britain got one run in the third and two in the fourth which ended the scoring for both teams. During this time Manchester had some chances to tie the score but inability to hit with men on bases, lost the game. This was the first game for the High school but they made a good showing in the field and also at the bat getting 10 hits and completing a double play. Regan, the left fielder for the locals made a wonderful one hand catch that saved New Britain from scoring another run. The fly was a short hit but Rogers was off at the crack of the bat and just caught the ball by holding out his hand, after a few seconds the game progressed both sides tightened up and gave a good exhibition of baseball.

New Britain brought seventeen men and when they took the field it looked as if they had two teams. The crowd attending the game consisted mainly of High school pupils but there were others on hand to see the first game and they took a hand in the cheering for the local nine. Bobby Crockett, the well-known basketball player of the Mountains, handled the game in fine manner. Towards the end of the contest it got a little cold but the fans did not mind it.

The closing of the game came quite sudden as Dixie Griffin, the second sacker for the outsiders, made an unassisted double play, by spearing Thornton's hit for a good hit over second base and then catching Zwick—who was running to second, on the play. The High school team looked somewhat like the Manchester club with a left handed pitcher representing Sammie Hymat and Zwick, the small second sacker representing Sammy Massey. There was a likeness in Sammie Thornton also to Billy Dwyer as he showed some classy stops and handled himself with the quickness that makes Dwyer such a fine shortstop. The summary:

MILITANT MOTHERS WANT ADEQUATE ARMY

Washington, April 24.—A message from the "militant mothers of America" pleading for a "peace army of 150,000 men to maintain an adequate national defense," was delivered to the Senate army appropriations committee today by Miss Mary G. Kilbreth, of Baltimore.

Miss Kilbreth attacked the "peace-pleas" of the Pan-American conference of women now meeting in Baltimore, as "Bolshevism in principle" and seeking to undermine the national defense of the United States. She presented resolutions adopted by women's organizations in Baltimore and Boston which upheld her stand.

MARY GARDEN RESIGNS AS OPERA OPERATOR

Will Remain as Singer Though She Ends Her Stormy Career as Head of Chicago Opera Company.

Chicago, April 24.—With the stormy career of Mary Garden as director of the Chicago Opera Company at an end through her resignation, speculation today turned as to who her successor will be. Announcement as to the new head of the company was keenly awaited.

Miss Garden, in a formal statement, announced her retirement as director of the company but intimated her intention of remaining as a singer. The announcement said she had declined to accept re-election as head of the company.

"My fighting spirit tells me to stay but my reason tells me to go," said a sentence in Miss Garden's announcement. After issuing her statement Miss Garden secluded herself and would make no amplifying remarks.

Director, Sammie Hymat, head of the organization of citizens supporting the opera company, declared, however, that no consideration has yet been given to Miss Garden's successor. Aside from Polacco no one has been suggested as yet as a probable successor to the diva.

Miss Garden's career as head of the opera company has been tempestuous. Soon after she became director, Madame Ganna Walska, quit the company and reports were rife that her departure was due to an aversion to appearing under Miss Garden's direction.

During the season recently ended opera affairs were enlivened by a controversy between Miss Garden and Lucien Muratore, leading tenor of the company. Muratore was quoted as expressing vast admiration for Miss Garden as an artist and considerable disgust over her methods of handling the affairs of the company. The latest development in the Muratore-Garden controversy occurred at Wichita, Kansas, last week, where the company ended its "harmstorming" tour of the west. Miss Garden was quoted as stating Muratore was a "sloppy enemy" and unworthy of her further notice.

Friction between the American and foreign artists in the company is understood to have been frequent during Miss Garden's regime with the diva standing firm as the supporter of the American faction.

SURE AND SIMPLE SUICIDE. Any ambitious prize fighter who needs a sparring partner, and doesn't mind dying suddenly, should apply to the Keeper of the Sells Zoo, Los Angeles, for a match with this "clouded" leopard. This boxing leopard swings a wicked paw in regular "square circle" style, and his claws are guaranteed to bring the player. In fact, he is a regular "spit" and a blow to the solar plexus is reason, in his animal mind, for homicide. (Int'l News Reel)

LARGE AMOUNT OF PAINTING IS DONE BY THE MORIARTY'S

This Firm Decorated Some of the Most Beautiful Buildings in Manchester—Manager Predicts a Great Building Boom.

Around Manchester the name "Moriarty" is well known as a group of first class painters who have done and are doing a great deal of painting and decorating. This firm has been established quite a number of years and was started by John Moriarty, senior member of the firm. In the Spring of 1919 Edward F. Moriarty became general manager of the company. Since that time Joseph J. Moriarty has become connected with the firm.

During the past three years the firm has seen a rapid growth and it has expanded in every way. They have increased their facilities so that the year able to cope with any job and with any problem. Their part in the construction of any building whether public or private certainly is of much importance as their part is the finish that stands inside and out day after day. In view of this fact the contracts for the painting of many of Manchester's largest buildings have been awarded to this firm.

In recent years they have done the exterior and interior painting of the North End fire department's hose house in the Selwitz Block and the Park Building are two other Main street buildings they have painted and decorated. The contract for the painting and decorating of the recently completed Nathan Hale School on Spruce street was awarded to this firm. This building certainly is a credit to them. The new K. of C. Hall, on Bissell street was painted and decorated under trying conditions as most of the work was done there during the winter but it was finished as nicely as any other job. The hall floor is one of the smoothest in town. They have also done the exterior painting on St. James' Parochial school on Park street.

In an interview with Edward F. Moriarty, general manager of the firm, he says that he is confident that conditions are going to improve steadily and that they will have a large amount of work. They have already submitted estimates on a large number of jobs and have a great deal of work on hand.

BUILDING PERMITS.

The building permits for the past week totaled $3,485. It is divided into small jobs but nevertheless it provides work for carpenters and other tradesmen and helps to swell the total for the month which is now well over $75,000. Although there has been no exceptionally large jobs listed this year as yet there has been a steady stream of housing construction. Following are the permits:

Mary Cheney, 15 Hackmatack street, addition . . .	$600.00
G. E. Willis & Son addition to office . . .	300.00
Waulf Marchutt, Autumn street, barn . . .	150.00
William J. Gabbey, No. street, oil station . . .	500.00
Robert Tanner, 15 Delmont street, hen house . . .	75.00
George Barnard, 24 Lyness street, hen house . . .	180.00
Karl Marke, 136 Summer street, hen house . . .	250.00
Moses Powers, 182 School street, garage . . .	150.00
Frank Cheney Jr., Hartford Road, tool house . . .	800.00
Robert H. Grimason, 31 Cambridge street, garage . . .	200.00
J. Twannite, 34 Spruce street, Veranda . . .	130.00

WAPPING

The school children's entertainment Saturday evening was one of the best attended functions held in many months, there being about 175 present. In spite of several handicaps such as the illness of Evelyn Gear and Dorothy Frink, and the non-appearance of the minstrel masks, the program went off very smoothly with the tiny tots drawing the greatest applause. The play which opened the entertainment was exceptionally well memorized and rendered although because of the size of the crowd and the shuffle of placing additional seats in the back of the room, all could not hear distinctly. The songs sung were those issued in a health pamphlet prepared by the state board of education. Many from Manchester and surrounding towns were present at the dance, for which Shearer's orchestra furnished the music.

Rev. Truman Woodward and Sidney Stoughton returned Saturday night from the Y. M. C. A. Older Boys' Conference in Bristol to which they were delegates. They reported the conference a great success with a capacity crowd. One generous hostess with a large home entertained 11 boys Friday night.

BULLDOGS WIN.
The Bulldogs of the North End played their first baseball game of the season Saturday afternoon when they defeated the White Stars by the score of 26 to 17. Gordon Reid, captain of the Bulldogs, managed his bunch in good shape. He is looking for others teams to play whose ages average 14 or 15 years.

THE COTTON MARKET.

New York, April 24.—The cotton market opened in its temporary quarters at No. 10 Wall Street today without a hitch. Because of selling by New Orleans and spot houses May contracts opened two points lower, while later months, influenced by rains in the southeast and by buying by commission houses, started three to eleven points higher. Later dealings increased and prices advanced about three points above initial levels.

Those who have done the least for others and are of least consequence in the world, generally demand most of others and of the world. The darkest hours are just before the dawn of the month.

One of the most sensible and satisfactory garments we ever offered was the SLEEVELESS LEATHER COAT. These were originally made for army use and when we first offered them, two years ago, we sold 300 of them. We have just received another lot. They are made of good leather, blanket lined and are a bargain at $4.50. Come quick if you want one.
