SENATE LEADERS SAY BONUS CAN BE BACKED BY TREASURY CERTIFICATES

Lodge and Colleagues Do Not Believe that Additional Issues in Anticipation of British Interest Payments Would Seriously Hamper Government Finances.

Washington, April 28.—Senator Lodge and other Republican leaders are of the opinion that whatever soldiers' bonus bill plan is adopted finally can be readily financed without imposing a serious drain upon the Treasury. It was ascertained from official sources today.

The out of $3,250,000,000 which it was said had been made in the national debt since 1919 has left them convinced, that the deficit of $250,000,000 or even $500,000,000 Secretary Mellon stated recently was threatening the country should not stand as an argument that the government cannot afford to take care of the bonus.

The Lodge Method

They believe that the bonus can easily be provided for by the issuance of additional certificates of indebtedness, for which the Treasury was given ample authorization by the Liberty Bond and Victory note acts, until such time as interest payments on the British debt become available.

It was predicted that this method of financing the bonus would be adopted eventually, Senator Lodge and other senators were not at all favorably impressed by Mellon's last letter on the bonus to Senator McCumber of North Dakota, chairman of the Senate financial committee, in which he again warned that the condition of the nation's finances was not such as to permit the assumption of a new debt.

Lodge's bonus is that Mellon ought to experience no difficulty in finding market for additional certificates, as the market for securities was never better than it is now and as he recently demonstrated that money

Mystery Envelops Fate of Girl Found Dead in Basement of Vacant Parsonage

Authorities of Illinois Town Puzzled by Strange Case—No Marks of Violence on Body—Girl was Abnormal Mentally and Would Have Become a Mother Had She Lived.

Hopkston, Ill., April 28.—Discovery of the body of Miss Gertrude Hanna, 25, lying on a narrow ledge in the basement of the vacant United Presbyterian parsonage, had shaken this town to its foundations today and provided the authorities with a mystery that may prove difficult of solution.

Whether Miss Hanna was murdered or ended her own life has not been determined. Whether she met her death in the basement of the parsonage or was brought there after being slain is another puzzling angle of the mystery. The length of time she has been dead, whether she died by poison or through some other means and the reason for her slaying or suicide are other phases that future developments must answer.

Would Have Become Mother.

But toppling all of these puzzling questions came the revelation that the girl, had she lived, would have become a mother. This fact is the outstanding feature of the case that has caused a sensation here.

Miss Hanna's body was found late yesterday by a carpenter who was engaged in preparing the parsonage for the occupancy of a new pastor. Workmen had been engaged in the upper part of the house several days but not until yesterday did any of them have occasion to go to the basement. J. C. McKibben, in charge of the carpenters, went to the basement and noticed what appeared to be a bundle of clothing lying on a ledge. Investigation proved it to be the body of Miss Hanna.

Sheriff Charles Knox and Coroner John Cole were notified. An autopsy revealed the girl's condition.

THREATENED AVIATORS WILL BE RETAINED

Congress Intends to Transfer to Naval Reserve Birdmen Who Failed Naval Examinations.

Washington, April 28.—Scores of naval reserve aviators, who formed the "backbone" of the navy's air forces ever since the war, will be retained in the regular navy by congressional action, it was learned today.

The reserve birdmen now face loss of rank and dismissal from the service because of failures in "routine" examinations. Their plight, discovered by Senator Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, led to a Senate investigation which, it was said, will result in action to transfer the reserves into the navy's regular service at their old ranks.

Action by Congress to prevent the wholesale dismissals it was learned will result from the investigation conducted by a Senate naval affairs sub-committee. At the hearings it was discovered that the reserve birdmen failed in examinations based on seamanship, navigation and similar subjects.

Among the reserves, facing loss of rank or dismissal, are flight and squadron commanders and the leading technical experts of naval aviation. Practically all of them participated in navy bombing raids during the war or on the flight maneuvers off the Atlantic coast last year.

These manoeuvres, it was contended by the reserves, were to blame for their "failures" as the examinations were held shortly after they returned from the bombing tests in which several captured German warships were sunk. The reserves declared that they had not been given sufficient time to prepare for the examinations.

Three Non-Union Miners Blown to Pieces by Bomb in the Night

Apollo, Penn., April 28.—Three non-union miners were killed, one seriously injured and two others slightly hurt when a bunkhouse near the Patterson mine of the Klak Valley Coal Company at West Apollo was dynamited early today. A bomb was hurled through a window of the bunkhouse, a small frame structure containing one room. Seven men were sleeping in the room at the time.

The dead are: Stanley Melike, 30, leaves widow and four children; Andrew Berniak, 25; leaves widow and three children; Frank Ridgisi, 50; leaves widow and seven children.

The seriously injured are: Frank Cogaski, 40; splinter of steel from bomb in head, married. Since the strike began efforts have been made to operate the Patterson mine by non-union miners and about fifteen were employed.

Threatened With Violence.

For the past week the non-union men had been accosted several times by union pickets stationed around the mine. The non-union miners said that they had been threatened with violence if they did not cease working. The company arranged the new bunkhouse and the men were occupying it for the first time last night.

After the bomb was tossed into the room the sputtering fuse attracted the attention of Melike, who grabbed the infernal machine and attempted to throw it out of the window. It exploded before he could do so and his body was terribly mangled. Other occupants of the bunkhouse huddled about Melike and two of them were killed by the explosion.

The state constabulary at Lechburg was hastily summoned and bloodhounds have been secured.

JACKSON MURDER CONTINUES MYSTERY

No Outside Trace of the Deadly Poison that Killed Couple in New York Hotel.

New York, April 28.—Admittedly perplexed, but nevertheless convinced that Freemont M. Jackson, wealthy retired carpet man, and his wife, were murdered by "some strange subtle poison" the authorities redoubled their efforts today to unravel the tangled skein of mystery that surrounds the death of the aged pair in their apartment.

The first step in unravelling the mystery is to determine the nature of the poison which caused death. Experts familiar with the usual poison agencies that cause death have been baffled by substances disclosed in the autopsy. Some advanced the theory that it was an opium product, others that it was heroin.

But whatever poison it was that killed the aged couple there were no evidences of it to be found in the luxurious apartment which they had occupied since returning from Palm Beach a few weeks ago.

There was no bottle or vial and this led authorities to believe that whatever the nature of the deadly stuff, it must have been taken in food.

Had the deaths been caused by ordinary poman poisoning the authorities believe the action would not have been quick enough to prevent one of them from summoning aid by phone. The telephone was untouched so far as has been discovered, although the bodies fully clothed were found in the bathroom only a short distance from the instrument.

The theory of suicide was discounted today by friends of the couple, Edward S. Clinch, attorney for Jackson for twenty-five years, declared it was impossible for Jackson to have committed suicide. His financial affairs were in excellent shape, Clinch said, and the couple were France Blocks Proposed Meeting of Signatories of Versailles Treaty—Barthou Going to Paris to Report and May Not Return—Lloyd George Expected to Fail in Latest Peace Effort.

Rome, April 28.—The first concrete sign of the break up of the Genoa conference was contained in information received this afternoon. M. Barthou, chief of the French delegation at Genoa, was reported to have announced that he will go to Paris to report to the French cabinet which is in disagreement over Premier Poincare's refusal to attend the Versailles signatories meeting.

NEW TOWN HALL NOT NEEDED IS OPINION

Chairman Cheney Thinks Enlargement of Hall of Records is Practicable.

Chairman William C. Cheney of the board of selectmen is one of those who have reached the conclusion that the time is near at hand when the town's business will be transacted by a small representative body, and therefore it will not be necessary to maintain a large town hall for town meetings. He believes that the Hall of Records building could be enlarged to meet the need of the town for some time to come at an expense much less than the cost of a new town hall building. An architect has examined the Hall of Records and declares it is perfectly practicable to enlarge this building to give the additional room needed for housing the various town departments.

MYSTERY ENVELOPS FATE OF GIRL FOUND DEAD

No Marks of Violence. No marks of violence were found upon the body. Impressions in the flesh of the wrists indicated that her hands might have been bound for some time with a leash of some description, but otherwise, the body was unmarked.

Inquest into the case has been postponed pending an examination by expert chemists of the stomach and other vital organs of the girl. This examination will reveal whether death resulted from poisoning.

Miss Hanna had been missing from her home for four weeks. She had left home late one evening and had not returned. Search for her had been unavailing. The body when found, was clothed in the garments the girl wore when she left home.

Vacant For Months. The parsonage where the body was found had been vacant for three months, the Rev. J. T. Meloy, former pastor of the church, having moved to Evanston, Ill. It was located about two blocks from the home of Miss Hanna's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hanna.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanna declared that they knew of no reason why their daughter should end her life. Several years ago the girl became afflicted with a mental disorder and for a time was confined in a sanitarium. She later was discharged as cured. For a time after that she worked in Chicago but was forced to return to her home when her health again failed. Although regarded as abnormal mentally, the girl had no enemies here so far as had been learned nor had she been friendly or intimate with anyone so the knowledge

FACES INEVITABLE FAILURE

But this, important as it is, is dwarfed in the minds of the scores of delegates and hundreds of diplomatic, financial and journalistic observers by the parlous state of the life of the conference itself.

Facing Inevitable Failure. Of the three great struggles toward world peace launched here, two seem to be facing inevitable failure and a third appears impossible if the others fail.

European construction and recovery through opening Russia to contact with the world was a dominant aim. The Soviet, through a statement of M. Tchitcherin, foreign minister, today had served notice that Russia will not jeopardize nor compromise its communistic principles to gain a treaty with the world. The allied delegates hold that this blocks reopening of trade. The Russian solution of the bankrupt state of Europe stands blocked, though the note now being written is a last attempt to pull it through.

France Rejects Conference. The summoning of a new conference of the signatories of Versailles, a second world peace conference, to consider sanctions against Germany has been rejected by France, the nation chiefly concerned. Lloyd George had believed that removing the constant menace of warlike moves along the Rhine would constitute an economic tonic for Europe. The third world stabilizing project is Lloyd George's plan for a "gentle man's agreement" against aggression. Various nations started whitewashing this scheme to suit their own particular ambitions, thus precipitating a competition for national gains. And today the threatened collapse of the two concrete peace moves makes the outlook for any grandiose scheme of obtaining mutual agreement among all the nations of Europe seem very dark indeed.

Situation Extremely Grave. Berlin, April 28.—Foreign diplomats in Berlin consider the situation created by the ostensible preparations of France for military operations, as extremely grave, the Neue Berliner Zeitung, which ranks as a "neutral" among the political organs of Berlin, declared today.

"They believe," the newspaper continues, "that Europe is on the eve not only of the break up of the Geneva economic conference, but of events of immeasurable consequence to the future of Europe."

RESOLUTIONS. At a meeting of the Manchester Medical Association on April 27, 1922, the following resolutions were passed:

Whereas, Almighty God in His infinite wisdom and mercy has seen fit to remove our worthy colleague and professional brother, Francis H. Whitton, from his earthly toil and suffering to a haven of peace and rest.

We, the Manchester Medical Association, of which he was a highly respected member, desire to pause and pay homage to his memory. We recall with pride his professional ability, his genial personality and his public spirit. His dignified bearing, his independence of thought and action, and his vigorous speech all tended to inspire a remarkable confidence among a large circle of patients and friends. He was ever zealous to maintain the dignity of our noble profession.

We desire also to extend herewith, expressions of sympathy to those who have sustained a far deeper and more intimate loss.

mediately for the bonus as much as possible and to provide a bonus plan that would interfere the least with the Treasury's funding operations next year, it was said. By restricting the cash bonus to those entitled to the bill, it was estimated that but $16,000,000 would be needed for that purpose while under the new McCumber provision, it was figured that not more than $100,000,000 annually would be required, and none of it before next year.

TORRINGTON WIDOW KILLS HERSELF

Torrington, Conn., April 28.—Mrs. Hattie Hasbrouch, 49, a widow, and her 11 year old daughter, Anna May, were found dead in the bedroom of their home here today of gas poisoning. The mother was dependent over the death of her husband, she connected a gas tube with a gas jet after her daughter had retired and stopped up the cracks in the door, and took her own life and that of her daughter by gas asphyxiation. The bodies were found by a boarder who had lived in the home since the death of Jacob Hasbrouch, the woman's husband, a year ago.

Mrs. Hasbrouch left a note in which she stated she was tired of living alone and in which she gave instructions for the burial of herself and daughter, telling what clothing she wished used and directing that markers be erected over their graves. She had packed up her things yesterday in anticipation of going to New York with her daughter today to live with a son who resides in that city.

RADIO RAMBLES

A Westinghouse two stage amplifier could not be obtained for the use of the Radio Club last night, but the weather was good, and everything else seemed to be in readiness, so with the help of Howe's Flivver, George Hahn of Ridge street took his apparatus to the Bee and connected it in. His set consists of a Clapp-Eastman tuner and detector in one cabinet and two stages of amplification in another. He also uses a Baldwin loud speaking phone in conjunction with an old graphophone horn. With this equipment Mr. Hahn has received an indoor aerial from all over the western parts of the country and with the loud speaker he gets music from the nearby broadcasting stations as loud and clear as that from a victrola.

The results at the club last night, however, did not compare with the work Mr. Hahn has done at home. This was not the fault of his apparatus by any means for the growing connections were used as net satisfactorily. Also the aerial was not well insulated. Nevertheless, the aerial will be improved and an excellent ground connection made.

Park Theater

One of the strongest and most beautiful pictures in which Thomas Meighan, the well known Paramount star, has been seen this season is "Cappy Ricks," which was shown with considerable success at the Park Theatre last night. Mr. Meighan, is seen as a seaman in the story which is colorful, dramatic and at times quite thrilling. It is a picture of Peter B. Kyne's stories of the same title.

Matt Peasley, a sailor's mate, falls in love with Florrie, daughter of Cappy Ricks, owner of a fleet of yachts, and the latter objects to the match. The story takes one to the South Seas and every scene following the murder of Matt's captain, his thrashing of a burly Swede and his triumphant return home to Florrie, is filled with genuine drama. The action is rapid and the love appeal most charming. Agnes Ayres has the leading feminine role while Charles Abbe gives an artistic portrayal of Cappy.

The picture was admirably directed by Tom Forman, while the photography by Harry Perry is unusually fine. The picture is well worth seeing. It will be shown for the last time to-night.

The special attraction for Saturday in Frank Mayo in "Across the Deadline."

Circle Theater

It seems almost clear that the picture comes from a picture of every detail of the introduction of the character right down through the story to THE END. And it is only after you have viewed a picture and know ever released by the company for such a remark is found.

"Our Mutual Friend," the screen version of Dickens' last and greatest novel, is said by many of the foremost critics of the country to be one of the most perfectly acted pictures ever released by any company.

The clarity with which each exciting episode explains itself in this simple visualization of a long story is a powerful tribute to the producers of "Our Mutual Friend."

It is a classic in character, portrayal, and wonderfully interesting as a story, simple, human and delightful, and yet comes under the head of "Literature visualized." Truly here is a perfect "movie" from a classic.

LASKER'S RATE WAR

Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board has a controversy with the British steamship line of Lamport and Holt which is of the utmost significance and importance to the future destiny of the American merchant marine. From the correspondence that has passed it would appear that up to a recent date the vessels operated by the Shipping Board to South America were inferior to those of the British line operating on the same routes. There was no talk then of making differential rates favoring slower vessels, an admitted and approved practice in steamship circles. But when the Shipping Board recently placed steamers on the South America routes which were equal to the best of the British, Lamport and Holt not only cut their passenger rates radically on their slower boats but also on their best ships and with only twenty-four hours notice, a period, according to Mr. Lasker, "totally inadequate for practical friendly co-operation and out of keeping with usual custom". Not only that but the British firm has withdrawn its ships from temporarily unprofitable routes leaving the American ships to shoulder the burden of loss on the maintenance of a regular service.

Mr. Lasker responded with a notice of reduction of passenger rates on American ships which brought forth from Lamport and Holt a laborious defense which the chairman of the Shipping Board bluntly says "does not square with the facts."

The British line disavowed any intention of an attempt to cripple the American merchant marine but Mr. Lasker says in his reply "you have shown no evidence in connection with cargo rates in the past and now in connection with passenger rates to in any way co-operate with us as the otherwise friendly personal relations between us would have suggested."

Mr. Lasker declines further communication on the subject unless Lamport and Holt sincerely desire to meet the Americans in a spirit of co-operation. At the same time he informs the British line very emphatically that the United States is determined to keep the flag on the South American run. If Lamport and Holt want a rate war let them go to it. Lasker simply declares that the Shipping Board will not submit to unfair practices without a fight.

If there is any part of the world where the United States should maintain a merchant marine at any cost it is on the South American run. The total export and import trade of South America with the United States exceeds half of the total foreign trade of the southern continent and our share is growing. To maintain our increasing trade importance there we must provide adequate transportation and not be dependent on foreign steamship lines that will run to suit their own national trade. If anywhere, there should be American ships on American routes.

The American merchant marine has for some time been subject to insidious foreign attack. The Lamport and Holt incident is typical of other underhand endeavors to sweep the American commercial flag from the seas. "We cannot feel," Mr. Lasker told the Lamport and Holt line, "that you had anything else in mind save to make our showing to South America so poor as to discourage the taxpayers of the United States with the operations of a line of vessels under its own flag between one of its home ports and South America." That restrained summing up embodies the complaint of the United States against the hostile foreign influence which seeks the destruction of our shipping and has its agents powerfully entrenched in this country, even in the lobbies of Congress.

Our World war marine will meet with the disastrous fate of our civil war shipping unless we have the courage and the foresight to defeat determined attacks of which the Lamport and Holt episode is but a symbol and a warning. The defeat of President Harding's ship subsidy bill would amount to a pusillanimous failure to defend what is ours and a virtual surrender to a "hands up" order.

RIFTS IN THE LUTE.

Oh! My! and also Oh! Fie! These professional women politicians are in grave danger of taking politics too seriously. Here is the League of Women Voters, which is supposedly and avowedly non-partisan, split to the core because some of the worshipping Democratic members desired to pay their respects to Mr. Wilson at his Washington home and on top of it are going to engineer a formal League of Nations dinner. Presumably the principal dishes will consist of Apples of Sodom and Dead Sea fruit. But at any rate the League of Women Voters is very much in disorder. Some of the members can be compared only to Germany and Russia in presenting an astonishing accomplished fact to their bewildered and angry sisters. One of the leading Democrats of the convention at Baltimore telegraphed unofficially to Mr. Wilson requesting him to receive a delegation and Mrs. Wilson naturally told them to come along. Then the fat was in the fire. The Republican sisters are sharpening their axes and it is possible that the great convention may end like Donnybrook Fair.

But the worst is yet to come. "A large, firm woman," from the robust state of Oklahoma, has her knife out for kindly "Aunt Alice" Robertson, the congresswoman from her state. The Oklahoma delegation in Congress received the women delegates when they visited Washington but "the large, firm woman," on behalf of her co-delegates, had announced their intention not "to greet that woman" nor to "break bread" with her. "She's a traitor to her sex," sniffed "the large, firm woman"—"playing with men all the time." A scandalized reporter asked if she meant that Aunt Alice is a vamp, but it seems she is not that kind. "She's the kind of creature who caters to men all the time," said the firm lady indignantly. "She believes women should smoke but not vote." And that Oklahoma delegation has got a mysterious candidate groomed and ready to defeat Aunt Alice at the next election. Perhaps it is the firm woman, perhaps not. But, at any rate, Aunt Alice was not born yesterday and she has displayed qualities since she went to Congress that have increased her standing with the people.

Still, it is a pity that birds in their little nests cannot agree. It is difficult to see, in the light of current events, how we can hope that the advent of women in politics will bring peace and purity and an atmosphere of courteous dignity to our platforms, caucuses, conventions and legislative halls.

A DRIFT TOWARD CONSOLIDATION

At length symptoms of a desire to consolidate some of Manchester's scattered units into a compact whole are beginning to crop out. The increasing disadvantages of our old-fashioned form of town government are beginning to come to the surface and make themselves evident to taxpayers. The argument most frequently put forth against the adoption of the city form of government, so universally followed by places of this size, has been that it would increase taxes. Well, we still have the town form of government and how about the taxes? With town taxes, school district taxes and fire district taxes we seem to be pretty well up in the city class already. The longer we continue to maintain these independent units, wheels within a wheel, the more uneconomical our administrations will be. The more we consolidate these units under one central head the more economical will be our local government.

Take the fire department for example. In these days of motor equipment, a piece of fire apparatus can get to a fire in any part of the town within five or ten minutes after it gets started. With a reasonable extension of the fire alarm telegraph, the apparatus we have now would be ample to protect the entire town. It is absurd for a town the size of Manchester to maintain two fire departments. Yet there is even talk of establishing a third at Manchester Green. In theory consolidation of fire departments under town management is, beyond argument, the economical thing to do. The difficulty lies in the working out of the details. The longer the change is postponed and the more fixed the community grows in its old fashioned methods, the harder it will be to wipe out the lines of division.

Two fire departments, five post offices, nine school districts all help to keep Manchester divided and to split its strength into comparatively weak divisions. The Herald has been advocating closer union and united effort for about 40 years and its editor hopes to live to see its final accomplishment.

Those clocks which by edict of state or national government must remain unchanged during the summer will be worse than useless. Wise people will ignore them and will go by watches or clocks set to summer time. The ignorant will doubtless be misled by them to their own confusion and inconvenience. The movement for daylight saving time is so general and its popularity is so widespread that the restriction laws will no doubt be repealed at the next opportunity.

The Open Forum

NORTH ENDER FAVORS CONSOLIDATION

Editor of The Herald: The lack of sufficient pressure behind the streams yesterday noon, when the home of the Sullivan estate on Woodland street was badly damaged by fire has caused property owners at the North End to think seriously of the question of consolidation. The lack of pressure was not the only reason, as the work of overzealous volunteers and the lack of orderly combat of the flames also came in for full share of consideration.

When the Manchester fire department arrived on the scene shortly after the alarm sounded many neighbors were busy taking articles of furniture from the burning house. This was perfectly all right but when the doors and windows were taken from the front part of the structure it caused a laugh from outsiders. Children were under the feet of the firemen and no attempt was made to keep them outside the danger zone. Consolidation would bring to the residents of the North End the added protection of fire police working under the orders of the police department. The immediate vicinity of the fire would be free from the efforts of willing but bothersome help. The fact that the Manchester Fire Department had only one stream on the blaze also caused much comment. Had the fire been in a more thickly settled place help would have had to be summoned. The high wind from the northwest alone would have made this necessary.

The work of the Manchester Fire Department was not criticised. It was efficient, despite the lack of suitable equipment. The department was handicapped by lack of pressure and many of the members work in the silk mills and have no means of getting to a daytime fire at the North End. The stream yesterday did not reach from the ground to the roof and it was necessary for the firemen to climb ladders to fight the blaze.

What the people of the North End would receive in exchange for the consolidation idea is enormous. They would have at their disposal a hook and ladder truck with a pump combined, a hose cart, maybe two, with the same equipment as to pumps and extra lines of hose in case it were needed. If the combined companies of 2, 3 and 4 were called to a general alarm fire at the North End, the stream yesterday did not reach from the ground to the roof and it was necessary for the firemen to climb ladders to fight the blaze.

NORTH ENDER.

TURNING IN ALARM

Person Called Bon Ami Office Instead Of Boiler Room and Time Was Lost

When the fire alarm was sent in yesterday the same mistake was made as has been made on previous occasions. The man who sent in the alarm called up the Bon Ami office when he should have called 212. The district has a private wire which runs directly to the engine room at the Bon Ami factory, and the call is 212. The Bon Ami company keeps a man on duty there all the time, and just as soon as the alarm comes in, he answers and blows the whistle accordingly.

Yesterday the alarm was sent in during the noon hour. The call went to the Bon Ami office and unfortunately there was no one in the office. Finally some one stepped in and heard the phone ring and answered it. The young lady who answered the call had to go all the way through the factory to the engine room to inform the engineer that there was a fire. Had the person who sent in the alarm, done as the instructions on the fire alarm card told him to do, he would have called directly to the engine room and the response would have been much quicker. Some time ago, the Eighth District furnished each house which had a telephone in the district, with a card of instructions. On this card is stated plainly just what to do.

In case of fire be sure and call 212, giving the name of the street from which you are calling and you will get results.

TO NUMBER HIGHWAYS

To simplify touring by automobile, the Automobile Club of America has adopted the plan of numbering the main through lines and will place along the several routes signs giving the numbers. They will be of uniform type on a yellow background surrounded by a black border with black numerals in the center. The uniform symbols will be printed on the telegraph and telephone poles along the roadways. Interstate and international routes will bear the numbers from one to 99 inclusive, and state routes will be numbered from 100 upwards.

NEW YORK LETTER

New York, April 28.—If there are any lingering doubts in the minds of this generation as to the wide scope of women's activities, just let him—for we'll assume it would be a "him"—come to the exhibition to be held here in the near future of the New York League of Business and Professional Women. It is for the purpose of showing what women have done and are doing these past few years in the way of commerce, profession, and industry, and its revelations will be pretty nearly amazing to some of the conservative lookers-on at woman's world. Mining, engineering, road building, plumbing, banking, well, practically every occupation will be represented there. It will be the first exhibition of the kind to have been held in any country.

Bobbed Hair

The time is past when we can speak of the bobbed hair "fad". It's like the sport suit "fad" or the "fad" for jade ornaments. That is, it is a matter of several years, maybe a generation, and now, at the time when the sceptics expected it to be well on the wane, it is more popular than at any time in the past. No longer is it confined to motion picture actresses and young school girls. More than half the girls and women I know under the age of forty seem to have had their hair cut and waved and several years taken of their ages in consequence. Of course straight bobbed hair is pretty bad; but who wears it straight? Just as short skirts made attractive hosiery essential, so has the bob converted everyone to the permanent wave. Mr. Nastie, of 12 East 49th street, the permanent wave authority of the country, told me the other day that aside from the thousands who have the wave put in by experts, it has become a regular home industry. The permanent wave outfit is parked in the bathroom along with the electric flatiron and the iron bag. "We have sold over 10,000 outfits for home use in the past year," he said, "and the number is growing every day. Now that the wave can be put in without any danger of injury to the hair it is becoming an accepted necessity of life."

Chickens In Jail

Sheriff Wagner, down on Long Island, is a patient and long-suffering man, but it seems as though fate and his job had been unusually unkind to him these last few days. They have forced him to locking up in his jail 900 innocent little chickens. REAL chickens, Judge Humphrey issued an order ousting Mrs. C. J. Cone, alleged to be a squatter, from property at Richmond Hill, Long Island, the other day. Now Mrs. Cone has a flock of chickens, 900 strong, which she had ordered Sheriff Wagner to take charge of. The sheriff hasn't any place of his own where he can keep them. He mustn't kill them. There was nothing for him to do but put them in jail, so he did it.

The Bronx Express

The "Bronx Express", the new play produced by Mr. and Mrs. Coburn, at the Astor Theatre, is the story of a dream—the dream of a man who wanted to work for beauty rather than for money. It has one remarkably vivid and arresting scene in the Bronx express subway train, and there are interesting episodes and reactions throughout. The Coburns are both in the cast.

Cost Of Perfumery and Soap

After all the terrible indictments against us as a sex and as a nation for overwhelming amounts of money spent on cosmetics and the like, I feel quite relieved to read the statement made by the Manufacturing Perfumers' Association, in convention here. Hadn't you got an idea that just about half our savings—or what we ought to be saving—was being tossed over the counter for rouges and beauty lotions of various kinds? Well, it isn't so. Just seventy-five cents is spent by the average person in one whole year for toilet preparations, perfumeries, etc. I should say that is about as modest as could be expected of anybody. We're more given to cleanliness than to the artificial aids to beauty, too. For against that seventy-five cents, each one of us spends a dollar a year for soap!

A centennial oak from Grant's farm near St. Louis has been planted near Grant's tomb on Riverside drive, by the American Forestry Association of Washington, to mark the 100th anniversary of his birth.

Dr. Samuel Reinhardt, of 230 Keep street, Brooklyn, has offered his stolen Ford sedan as a reward to the person who stole it if he will return the bag of surgical instruments and an account book left in the car. He ought to have a good chance of getting back his prized possessions under that condition, unless perchance it was a patient whose name is down in the account book who did the stealing.

SILK MILL NEWS

MAIN OFFICE-OLD MILL SQUAD NUMBERS 22 MEN

Much Enthusiasm This Year Over Baseball—Bill Lucy to Manage the Team.

The Main Office-Old Mill baseball squad already numbers twenty-two men. There isn't any league ruling limiting the number of men that can be carried on a team so the Office team is still looking for prospects. There is more enthusiasm around the Office and Old Mill over a baseball team than has been shown in many years back. The manager of the squad was elected last evening and Bill Lucy of the Engineering Department was entrusted with the handling of the team. Bill has been a faithful player on the Office team for the past three years and will handle the team well. It is safe to predict that the Main Office-Old Mill team will be the fighting aggregation of the Inter-Mill ball league this summer. On the squad appear some mighty dependable ball players. Bill Lucy heads the squad and will probably take an infield position upon himself. Then there is Jerry Fay who can be counted upon to hold down the first sack. Harry Benson and John Thornton are good players and assert themselves as willing to play for the honor of the office. Frank Garner, Herb Stevenson and Joe Dillon are new recruits of this year and all three are promising players. Theodore Anderson is out to play good ball this season and will make a good man in the outer garden. Gil Wright, last season's stellar twirler, is anxious to beat all comers and will be with the Office team the whole season. Ray Bidwell is to be brought into the game after a year's absence and the team from the Office is depending a great deal upon Ray's pitching. Biddle had pitched some fine ball in the Inter-Mill League and without him the Office will have hard work winning. Another welcome player on the squad is Bob Finnegan, who was one of the best players the local High school turned out. Bob is a fine pitcher and an excellent man at an infield position. Two fellows on the office payroll and employed at the freight station will play this year. They are Bill and Paul Carlson. Pete Hansen will be with the squad as usual and will without a doubt play an outer garden position. Bill Stevenson makes a good catcher for the club and will be out for the team again this year. Percy DeHann, who is a star among the younger town teams, will play with the Office. Lonnie Hansen will play with the Office as he is on the Office payroll. George Hunt is on the squad, too, and will make good material for either the infield or outfield. U. J. Lupien played quite a few games last season and proved himself a hard hitter. Arthur Lashinske can also be depended upon to be valuable to the team. Fred Lorch of the Traffic Department rounds out the big squad so far listed and will play the outfield. There are others yet to be spoken to and it may be that the squad will grow even larger before the season opens. Tom Weir is arranging the season's schedule.

On Monday night, Manager Lucy wants every man of his squad to report for practice at the West Side grounds. The grounds have been secured for the evening and each player named above and any others not mentioned are urged to be at the West Side for practice at 5:15.

VOLLEY BALL LEAGUE.

Girls' volley ball got started at the Recreation Center on School street last evening and two very good games were played. The Main Office is out for championship honors and proved it last night by taking three straight from the Old Mill. The Spinning Girls took two games from the Weaving and the Velvet 2 team forfeited to the Velvet 1.

The standing at the beginning of the season is:

Velvet 1	3
Main Office	3
Spinning	2
Weaving	2

The season's schedule, a short one, follows:

May 4—Weaving vs. Velvet No. 1, 7.00.
Old Mill vs. Velvet No. 2, 7.30.
Main Office vs. Spinning, 8.00.
May 11—Spinning vs. Velvet No. 2, 7.00.
Main Office vs. Weaving, 7.30.
Old Mill vs. Velvet No. 1, 8.00.
May 18—Old Mill vs. Weaving, 7.00.
Velvet No. 1 vs. Spinning, 7.30.
Velvet No. 2 vs. Main Office, 8.00.
May 25—Main Office vs. Velvet No. 1, 7.00.
Old Mill vs. Spinning, 7.30.
Velvet No. 2 vs. Weaving, 8.00.

SAMMY MASSEY TO PLAY WITH HAL JUSTIN'S TEAM

Star Performer of Manchester Club Not to Appear in a Local Uniform This Season.

Although it has not been officially announced, it is said to be certain that Sammy Massey, known wherever Manchester has ever played ball, as one of the best of the town has ever turned out in the national sport, will not play the game locally. Massey is said to have signed to play with Hal Justin's team at Pool Field, East Hartford. It was stated on the best authority this morning that Massey was given a good offer last evening by Justin and that the second sacker of the local squad practically accepted. At least, Massey is to play with Justin's team next Sunday. He has not reported for practice with the Manchester team this year. Sam, who is employed as timekeeper in the Folding Department, is well known as a ball player and needs no eulogy for his playing speaks for itself. It is regrettable that he cannot be seen locally again this year but in playing with Justin's squad, Massey will be with some fast men. Such players as Chet Waite, Roche, Fred Smith, Beady, Whalen and Justin will play "over east."

LESSONS IN BASEBALL

By J. B. SHERIDAN
AUTHOR OF "BASEBALL FOR BEGINNERS"

LESSON NO. 24

BACKING UP THROWS AND COVERING BASES.

Pitcher covering first base and taking throw from first baseman. It is the business of all pitchers to back up bases to which outfielders may throw and to cover any base, especially first base, when the proper guardian of that base cannot cover it.

Pitchers should always run towards first base when the ball is hit to right field or when they know that there may be a throw to first base. Also third base when a throw may go there. The pitcher must back up home plate whenever there is a possibility of a throw to that place.

Very often the pitcher must cover first base and take a throw when the batter is hitting the ball. The pitcher should be in the habit of backing up first base. It is a good habit to have.

Pitchers should also practice taking the throw from the first baseman to first base while on the run. This is a very difficult play to make and must be practiced assiduously by the pitcher and by the first baseman.

Delivering the ball to the batter is the most important function of the pitcher, but not by any means his only function. The pitcher who can field his position well, who can cover the bases and who is active in backing up plays adds greatly to his value to his team.

Be alive on the rubber. Get the habit of getting into all plays that need you. Cover first base, back all possible throws. Get the reputation of being a "fifth infielder." Be a real ball player, not merely an automatic pitching machine.

SPORT CALENDAR FOR SATURDAY.

Manchester vs. Aetna Insurance At Mt. Nebo 8:30.

Atlas vs. Rockville, West Side Playgrounds 8:30 Sharp.

High School vs. Willimantic High At Willimantic.

The first real games of the season will be played tomorrow. Two local teams are going to pry the lid off the semi-pro season at home. The High school nine will play at Willimantic. The Rosebuds of Rockville meet the Atlas at the West Side playgrounds while Manchester will indulge in a practice session with the Aetna Insurance team at Mt. Nebo. The High school classes will hold an inter-class meet at the West Side playgrounds in the morning.

Tonight the Atlas basketball team will wind up its season playing the Wapping Y. M. C. A. quintet. The Wapping hoop shooters have not sustained a single defeat on their home floor during the past season and the Atlas are out to cop this honor.

Baseball fans will have an opportunity to see the Atlas baseball team in action tomorrow afternoon at the Four Acre lot on the west side. The local team will line-up against the strong Rosebuds of Rockville in the first of a three game series. The game is scheduled to start promptly at 3 o'clock. Cervini will start on the mound for the locals and either Menzel or Markley for the Windy City. Captain Stevenson of the Atlas announced the following line-up for the game last evening: W. Stevenson, c; Stowe, 2b; Edgar, ss; H. Stevenson, 3b; Partons, 1b; Wiganowski, cf; Baby, lf; Stevenson, rf. Rockville will pick from: Moorhouse, c; Smith, Lippman, Markley, and Menzell, p; Miller or Pitkin, 1b; Neff, 2b; St. Louis ss; Lehrmitt, 3b; Zwingelstein, lf; Smith, of Talcoittville, cf; Sumner, rf.

WITH THE KIDDIES. The Cubs will play the Migdets of the West Side on Saturday afternoon at the Mill lot. The game will start at 2:30, and this will be printed in Monday's issue of The Herald.

This week-end will mark the second game for a great many teams in town. Nearly every juvenile team has a game scheduled and tomorrow all the diamonds in town will be occupied and on some of them the young teams are planning to play of a game before the bigger ones get started.

Tonight at 6:30 the Buds will hold a meeting at the South End Herald office for the purpose of electing officers and to get matters straightened out for the coming season.

Everyone in the juvenile class is all fussed up over the league which was formed Wednesday night. All the kiddies have resolved to do their best in the league and win one of the many prizes offered by The Herald. The schedule of games to be played will be published some time next week and the officers elected to do this work are busy these nights composing the program. The first games will start May 3, and the teams will use Mt. Nebo, West Side, Mill lots, Golf lots, and the Main street diamonds for playing.

TOMORROW'S GAME.

Mt. Nebo will be the mecca for local baseball fans who will turn out in force tomorrow afternoon to watch the Manchester team in action for the first time this year. The Aetna Insurance Company of Hartford will take the field against Billy Dwyer's charges in a practice tilt. No admission will be charged.

It is probable that the same infield which represented Manchester last season will take the field. Fay at first base; second, Dwyer at short, with Breck Wilson holding down the dizzy corner. The outfield will have Scheldge in left, Sipples in center and Kotsch guarding right.

It is not known whether any new men are trying for the team. New blood would probably increase the curiosity of the fans. There are many young fellows in town who would welcome a chance but seem to be afraid to report for practice. Last year there were at least five men trying for berths but they were not signed up.

The game will start promptly at 3.30. Just who will handle the indicator was not known last night. The formal opening of the local season for the club will be against the Forayther Tap and Die team of New Haven, Sunday, May 7.

SPORT BRIEFS

WRESTLERS USE FISTS. Chicago, April 28.—Johnny Meyers, middleweight champion and Heinie Ensel, of Dubuque, Iowa, wrestled to a draw here last night. The bout was rough and at the finish the men started fighting with their fists, a near riot resulting.

ROLLER SKATING RECORD. Chicago, April 28.—Skating against time, Roland Ciomi, world's professional champion, set a new world's record roller skating record for the quarter mile when he made the distance in 42 2-5 seconds at the Grand American roller skating derby being held here.

MORVICH TRIAL. New York, April 28.—Conditions being favorable, Morvich will get his big test in preparation for the $50,000 Kentucky Derby on May 13, at Jamaica today. A high wind prevented a severe test yesterday but a furious route in 2:02. Morvich carried 126 pounds.

TRACEY AND BRENNAN. New York, April 28.—It was reported here today that the first bout Jim Tracey, the Australian heavyweight champion touted as Dempsey's successor, will engage in here will be one with Bill Brennan. Tracey and Brennan are expected to sign articles for a bout in Madison Square Garden on May 18.

CLASSIC BRITISH RACE. London, April 28.—Silver Urn today won the 1,000 guineas stakes at Newmarket, the second big fixture of the flat racing season in England. Sobriquet was second, and Marshall Field's Golden Corn third.

PENNSYLVANIA RELAY CARNIVAL BEGINS

Philadelphia, April 28.—Outside of the fact that the turf on Franklin Field looks like the back of a mangy cur everything is in readiness for the annual Pennsylvania relay carnival beginning here today. The track is in grand condition and if there is a record breaking performance concealed among the hundreds of more or less prominent entries the fact will be made known before nightfall tomorrow.

Only the fact that the hurdles will be run off on that turfless turf precludes the possibility of a record being made in this event, as Earl Thomson, of Dartmouth, the world's record holder, figures to get more competition than a traveling salesman.

Events of importance today include a sprint and distance medley, the quarter and half mile relay championships and the pentathlon. Only a miracle, it is believed, can intervene between Bob Legendre of Georgetown and the all-round championship. Hamilton and Bradley, the western pair, are entered but up until a reasonable hour today nothing had been seen of them, although Franklin Field and the opposition is that they will turn up missing when the first event of the pentathlon is called.

From present indications the games appear to be devoid of stars. Track and field men here are unanimous in prediction that the meet will be dominated by well balanced teams and not by individuals. This is borne out by the fact that Tom Campbell, of Yale, will not be a competitor in the relays, it is said, and that Larry Shields, of Penn State also is believed to be in such poor physical condition that he will be unable to start.

This would seem to assure Pennsylvania of the two mile championship as Penn State and Yale were the strongest rivals of the Red and Blue. It is conceded that neither Yale nor Penn State can muster a substitute for Campbell and Shields fast enough to strike an even balance in their teams.

The new races on the program, the quarter and half mile championships are a toss up with Penn. Princeton, Cornell, Syracuse, Yale and others favored.

The day dawned cool and bright. As they say in the race track results its a case of "weather clear, track fast." If the class of competition approaches that of former years a new series of relay records may be born by nightfall.

There is no foreign entry this year for the first time since 1920, and the good word has gone out that the sale of tickets has suffered accordingly. However, there was no sign of deflation in the box office business as athletes for the first event were called to their marks.

BELFAST HOTEL WRECKED BY BOMB. London, April 28.—The ground floor of the Hotel Barries in Belfast was wrecked today by a bomb, according to a Central News dispatch. There were no casualties.

BRUSH FIRE.

North End Volunteers Have Difficult Time Saving Houses Nearby.

The brush fire yesterday afternoon clearly showed the need of equipment for fighting fires of this kind. The blaze was located in the dense underbrush east of the Connecticut Company's lines on Oakland street back of Bissell's Switch. Had it not been for volunteers starting a back fire there is no telling where the flames might have spread.

A call was sent in at 3 o'clock which called the Manchester Fire department out for the second time in two hours. Owing to the lack of water there was little that the department could do outside of using the chemicals to save a pigsty and a deserted house. Fire Warden James Foley took charge of the work when he arrived and pressed into service a number of men and boys. He was unable to get help as the pay is not enough to induce men to gain their clothes fighting forest fires.

The equipment the warden was forced to work with was ancient. He used steel brushes with wooden handles. It was noticed that when the brushes were used for the first time the steel part became separated from the handles. Meanwhile Former Deputy Fire Warden Robert E. Carney gathered together a force of volunteers armed with pine or fir branches and gained control of the blaze nearest the houses. The warden soon had the flames under control before they had gained the thicker woods which would have made the work harder. Recall for the department was sounded about four o'clock.

FIRE HOUSE LEAKED.

New Equipment Ordered for Alms-house—Wood to Cover Cement Floor in Kitchen.

Proper fire fighting facilities, a new floor in the kitchen and hammer out other things for the almshouse have been ordered by the Charity Committee of the Board of Selectmen working with Town Treasurer George H. Waddell and Fred Shippee, superintendent of the institution. An investigation recently made by the Town Fathers disclosed the fact that the fire hose used in a case of emergency was not in a fit condition. It leaked and was badly worn.

George H. Waddell called the attention of the selectmen to the conditions which exist at the almshouse at the last meeting of the board. He was given power to work with the charity committee and the superintendent to furnish the necessary things to bring the place back into shape. Mr. Waddell told the selectmen that he personally inspected the place and found that the fire hose needed attention. He instructed the superintendent to try the new hose which was purchased, at least twice a month to see that it is in proper working condition.

The kitchen floor in the basement is of cement and works hardships on the cooks. It was thought that the floor should be covered over with wood. This matter was left with the committee.

New dishes are needed and many other smaller articles to bring the institution up to the proper standard. This will be done and the place put in first class condition at once.

More than $4,000 was earned during the last year by 44 farm pupils in the course of vocational agriculture, conducted in six high schools of Westmoreland county, Pa., while carrying on their studies.

The largest telescope in the world is to be installed at the observatory of Harvard College. The instrument with a lens of 60 inches, will be utilized for special investigations of the stars and planets.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Recently the idea of making small newspapers was developed by some freshmen and there are four pairs working together to see which can make the best example of a real newspaper. Some of the papers have been published already and they show real talent on the part of the boys who are competing for honors. As to the weather, the paper contains everything that a daily news would have. This work is entirely apart from school work and will probably furnish good experience for future positions.

The report cards for the marking period which closed on last Friday were given out yesterday noon when the pupils were excused for lunch, instead of Wednesday night as expected. On account of the absence of Mr. Knapp on Tuesday afternoon cards were delayed for a half day. The Honor Roll was posted in each of the rooms and it shows a decided improvement. There is also a new plan put into use this year, that of posting the room averages, to see which room has the best marks and this honor has shifted in all three of the past marking periods. This time Room 28, of which Miss Spaford is teacher, attained first place and Room 26 with Miss Ackley as teacher took second place. Posters are given to the two winning rooms. Room 28 had an average of 83.3 and Room 26 had 63. The pupils on the Honor Roll are as follows:

Seniors A. Essie Frink, Eva

Schreiber, Margaret Sundman.

Seniors B. Beulah Brown, Stanley Clulow, Gerald Richter, Doris Robshaw, Marjorie Burr, Hazel Chambers, Esther Noren, Anna Scheiffenputz, Mary Shea, Beatrice Underhill, and Rose Woodhouse.

Junior A. Astrid Johnson and Ethel Robb.

Freshmen A. Robert Boyce, Gertrude Angell, Edna Johnson and Viola Johnson.

As announced before, the dancing class will hold a social and the date has been announced as Friday night, May 5. The parents of the pupils who have been taking lessons are invited to attend the social and they will be admitted free. All pupils now attending the High School and also all those who have attended the school are invited but an admission fee will be charged them. The latter may bring a friend who is or is not attending the school.

The second team squad has been picked by Mr. Knapp, the coach, and it is progressing well in the practices and also the games which they have played. This afternoon they will play the second team from Hartford which is supposed to be one of the fastest teams in the state for a High school second team. Monday night the local team played the Varsity team of the local school and they lost by two runs which were made on two errors. On Wednesday and Thursday it practiced hard in anticipation of winning the game to-day. The following men have been posted as members of the team:

- Kerr Strange
- Mullens Stavitzky
- Lutz Robb
- Cosen Phillip
- Reid Smith
- Massey Seelert

Yesterday afternoon the dancing class held a short meeting in Assembly at 1:00, to complete arrangements for the Social which they will give on May 5.

At 3:15 there was a rehearsal of the pupils who are in the three one act play. The students are working hard to put good entertainment on the program when they present the plays. Miss Lola Goding is having some notices printed by the art students of the school and these will be placed in various store windows about town.

A number of students are planning to go to the West Side playgrounds to-morrow morning to the interclass track meet which will start at 10 o'clock. Several dashes and the high jumps and running jump will furnish part of the program. All those who are out for the track team intend to enter the meet and those who win a point or more will perhaps make the regular track team to represent the school.

The first team will hold its last practice this afternoon before the game to-morrow afternoon at Willimantic. All the places in the bus which will take the team, the coach and officers are filled and several students were unable to go. There was also several pupils who got together and hired automobiles to make the trip.

Commencing Monday morning the Manchester Trust Company will open and close its offices an hour earlier to conform with daylight saving time.

A large crowd attended the dance at K. of C. hall last evening. It was the first dance since war times at reduced prices. Many out of town people attended.

Thomas Shaw of North Elm street left this morning to attend the meeting of the Norwich District Stewards, which are being held in the Methodist church at Willimantic.

A block of seats has been reserved for the members of the Manchester Press Club tonight at the Park theater by Manager Foy. The feature picture will be "Cappy Ricks." The author, Peter B. Kynes is a charter member of the Manchester Press Club.

It is expected that the cleanup at the North End will be completed by tonight. G. E. Willis, the truckman, had the job of carting the rubbish to the dump and he had a large auto truck and a force of men working on the job all day yesterday and today. The cleanup was considered a success from every point of view.

Traffic on the lines of the Connecticut Company was interrupted last night when the overhead wire west of Love Lane fell. The fact that the wires dropped on the rails instead of the ground caused the trouble. It was necessary to cut the wire to restore the current to the line. After the power was restored the passengers were transferred around the break. The schedule was in good shape by eleven o'clock.

Parcel post mails these days are full of live stock. Flat pasteboard boxes containing newly hatched chickens pass through the Hartford transfer point by the score every day. It is needless to say that they are not placed in mail bags. The postal employees keep them right side of them with care and handle them very tenderly. The young chicks stand the journey very well and usually reach their destination full of life.

ARE YOUR TAXES PAID?

With only two more days left for the collection of town taxes, Collector George H. Howe says that returns up to today fully equal those of any previous year at the same time. Many of the largest tax payers take advantage of the 30 days grace which expires next Monday, so that the receipts for the remaining time will be heavy. The tax collector is anticipating greater difficulty in collecting the supplementary three mill tax, not so much because people will object to paying it, but because the amount will be so small, in many instances, that tax payers will overlook it.
