

LEAGUE MUST STOP WAR; BIG COAL STRIKE IS ON

Post Office Affairs In Bad Shape Locally

More Money Needed to Con- tinue Parcel Post Deliv- ery — Larger Quarters Needed Badly at South Manchester Office.

The conditions under which the postmaster of the South Manchester post office, Oliver F. Toop, conducts the affairs of the postal department are in a sad state of affairs. Postmaster Toop does not make any comment on the fact that it was uncovered in the past few days that the postal department is in a sad state of affairs. It is necessary to put the postal department into order to handle the increasing volume of business.

The paramount handicap, under which the clerks, carriers and postmaster labor is cramped quarters. For the past five years this has been the chief complaint according to those familiar with conditions. Former Postmaster Thomas J. Quinn advocated bigger quarters during his term but little if any attention was paid to the request. It was understood some time ago that the government was to build a new building for the postal department in the city.

It is not, at the present time enough on hand to continue delivery of parcel post matter for the month of September. This pinch policy is advocated from Washington, works hardships on the force. It entails much extra work that under the present conditions is not finished because of a shortage of funds.

At present there is some controversy regarding the lease of the building. The owner of the building naturally wants more money for a new term and since last February the rent has not been paid. The facilities always limited even before the office reached a first class rating are now in a worse condition than before.

At least two extra carriers are needed to cover the increasing sections which are outgrowing the delivery service. Postmaster Toop has sent a request for additional carrier service to Washington but as yet has received no word from that source.

There seems to be a large amount of red tape attached to the routine, far more than any business of concern in the country would stand for. And much of this red tape, according to past postmasters, is due to office experts unfamiliar with local conditions, not alone in Manchester, but elsewhere.

Of the 20,000 people living in Manchester today, at least 14,000 are served through the South Manchester office. This includes the rural free delivery service which delivers mail matter to the outskirts of the town.

HARRIS-CAIRNS.

Word was received here today, of the marriage of Miss Anna Cairns formerly of this town, but now living in Santa Ana, California, to Jefferson Davis Harris, son of the late General William F. Harris, at Empalme, Sonora, Mexico. The ceremony took place on August 17. Miss Cairns is the daughter of the late John Cairns and is well known here.

WARD TRIAL DELAYED.

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Wagner today postponed the trial of Walter S. Ward until September eighth. September fourth was the original date set for the trial of the millionaire baker's son on a charge of murdering Clarence Peters as the outgrowth of an alleged blackmail plot.

The postponement was made to allow Justice Wagner time to consider evidence in the motion of Ward's attorneys to dismiss the indictment.

Jury Commissioner Paul Vabes notified the 150 talesmen summoned for next Tuesday that the trial had been postponed.

Klansmen Are Attacked At Open Air Initiation

Wilmington, Del., Sept. 1.—Order had been restored today at Newcastle, near here, following a night of wild rioting when a mob of nearly 1,000 consisting of negroes and whites, attacked five hundred Ku Klux Klansmen during an open air initiation. Fifty persons were injured, two of them seriously.

Hundreds of shots were fired in the fighting, knives were freely used and bricks and other missiles thrown.

MINERS QUIT TASK WHEN CONFERENCE ENDS IN DEADLOCK

Both Sides to Gather Again on Wednesday But in the Meantime Not an Ounce

The Klansmen rented a field at Newcastle and announced they were going to stage the initiation. A large crowd gathered to witness the ceremony. Just as the torch was being applied to the fiery cross, the mob started for the Klansmen, the robes from the masked figures and started beating them. Four Klansmen in an auto charged into the invaders. Pistols, knives and stones were brought into use. The injured were treated at local hospitals.

of the mine workers stayed at their homes, except the maintenance men who are privileged to work under a special contract giving them an eight hour day.

The strike was inaugurated without the slightest disorder. Some of the breakers were worked until nearly midnight to clear the road for the anthracite.

No disorder of any sort has occurred. State troopers and the sheriff's anthracite committees are ready for any emergency.

A large number of deputy sheriffs has been sworn in, but they have not yet been put to work.

Union leaders are urging the strikers in general to resist them orderly to follow Lewis in this controversy and not to help any coals on the fire by outbreaks of any character. The men were told to stay at their homes, or at any rate away from company property.

The miners are determined to follow Lewis to the end. They had not anticipated a struggle on the verge of winter and they were not prepared for it. Now that it has come they declare they will fight to the bitter end in defense of their leaders and their union.

Most miners got their tool boxes and supplies out of the mines to places of safety. Mules are being brought to the surface in some places indicating that some of the companies look for a long siege.

There is but little coal on the rails. It will be moved as fast as possible. When the last cars are gone, railroad crews will be laid off. The demand for coal is heavy, but there is nothing in reserve.

Labor Day will be observed with mass meetings. Philip Murray, Thomas Kennedy and Rinaldo Cappellini are scheduled to speak here Monday afternoon.

CONTRACTOR COMPLETES RESURFACING NEW WALL

Retaining Wall on West Side of Main Street Finished This Afternoon — Work Started Over Month Ago.

The new retaining wall on the west side of Main street between St. James and Forest streets will be finished up this afternoon. The finishing touches are being put on the top of the wall and this is being rounded off.

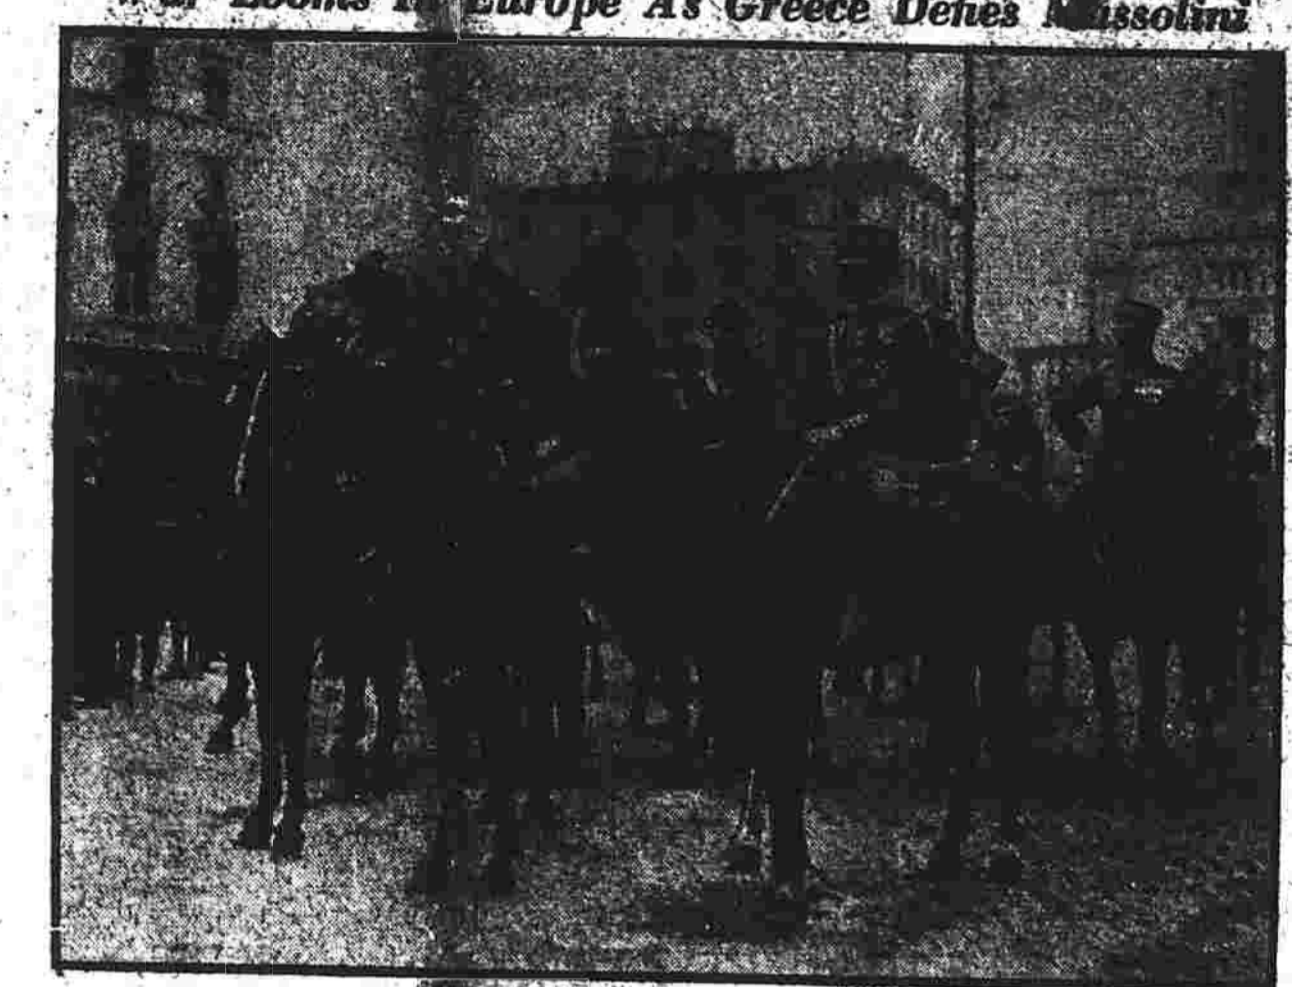

The wall was built by town workers under the supervision of Henry Bradley, who, it will be remembered, built the dam at the Center Springs Park. At that time it was said that the wall would have been finished up and the McGovern Granite Co. of Hartford was given the contract.

The wall was built in the first place, at the request of the owners of the Olcott property which it adjoins. The owners said that they would give the land necessary to widen that part of Main street, on condition that a wall be built to hold up the bank which would be cut somewhat to allow for the widening.

It is estimated that the total cost of the construction of the wall and its finishing will run about $50,000.

Pleasant View is the new lot development on Mather street, near Woodbridge St. 110 minutes from Main street. Be sure to look it over — lots for sale soon, city water.

LARGE JAPANESE CITY RUINED BY EARTHQUAKE

Yokohama, Japan, was almost totally destroyed by fire which followed one of the most severe earthquakes in the history of Japan. Many lives were lost in the quake and fire. Advices stated that the casualties were "numerous." No estimate of the loss of life could be obtained, however.

First reports of the early quake and fire were received here from the Iwaki station, the Radio Corporation station at Tamioke. It is in an isolated spot in the Japanese empire and an eight hours' train ride from Tokyo.

The radio advices indicated that the entire empire was shaken by the earthquake. Casualties were reported only from the Port of Yokohama. The Commercial Cable Company announced today that cable communication to Yokohama was interrupted. The disturbance was due to the earthquake which centered in the Bay at Yokohama.

Japanese land telegraph and telephone lines were put out of commission, advices said.

ENCAMPMENT OF INDIANS NEAR SO. METHODIST CHURCH

A new location for the encampment of the Passamaquoddy Indians, who are to be in Manchester during the Centennial period has been suggested, and will receive careful consideration from the Executive Committee next week.

The new location is a site on the grounds of the South Methodist Church property at the south trolley terminus, corner of Main and Charter Oak streets. It is being pointed out that this site has advantages over the other sites suggested in that it is right on Main street, in full view of every passing automobile, trolley car, or vehicle, or pedestrian. It is also adjacent to the Recreation Building on School street, in which the industrial exhibit will be held and possibly the educational and historical exhibit.

The sites previously considered for the encampment of the Indians were those of the Center Park and the Center Park Springs. Regarding the first mentioned, site, the Center Park, it is thought that the erecting of wigwam and army tents, the establishing of out-of-door ovens, cooking appliances, etc. for an encampment of thirty or more people for a week, also the tramping around of thousands and thousands of people, would inflict serious damage on the grounds. Regarding the Center Springs, the Hyland's condition. Saratoga Springs, Sept. 1.—Not much improvement was noted in Mayor Hyland's condition this morning, although he had a good night's rest, according to John F. Sinnott, the mayor's son-in-law.

"He doesn't seem so peppery this morning," said Mr. Sinnott, "although his general condition is about the same. His temperature is 101 and pulse normal." Mr. Sinnott added that the mayor seemed tired in spite of his rest last night.

GREECE ASKS POWERS TO PROTECT HER LAND

Italy Shells Corfu—Death List Ranges from 12 to 20—No Americans Killed —British Warships Are Rushed to Scene—Italians Say There is No War as Yet.

Athens, Sept. 1.—"We have referred the Italian matter to the League of Nations and will await its decision," said Premier Gontatas today. "We will make no hostile move, but will comply entirely with the decisions of the League."

There is high feeling in Jugoslavia against the seizure of Corfu by the Italians. If Italy holds Corfu it will close the Adriatic, giving Italy complete control and shut off Jugoslavia from free maritime intercourse with the outside world.

London, Sept. 1.—An unconfirmed report received at noon today that the British government is calling up two divisions of the army.

Up to 10:30 this morning, the secretary of the League of Nations had not received the protest reported to have been sent from Athens against Italian seizure of Corfu.

The Greek minister to Switzerland was in conference with the League secretary for an hour after which it was announced that Greece has not yet taken any definite steps.

Paris, Sept. 1.—So far as known today, no Americans were killed in the Italian bombardment of this city prior to occupation. Admiral Solari commanding the Italian warships (which seized Corfu) posted a proclamation announcing that the island is now under Italian administration. Premier Mussolini's name was signed to the manifesto.

The exact number of casualties has not been officially announced but the dead are believed to be between 12 and 20, and the wounded between 20 and 30.

Geneva, Sept. 1.—Greece formally protested to the League of Nations against Italian seizure of Corfu, at 11 o'clock this morning.

At the opening of today's session of the League of Nations Council Chairman Ishii announced that an appeal for protection had been received from Greece.

Athens asked that the League intervene.

SITUATION OF CORFU.

Corfu, the Greek island seized by Italy in retaliation for the killing of Italian citizens on the Albanian frontier, lies in the Mediterranean off the northwestern coast of Greece. It is a member of the Ionian group.

It has an area of 277 square miles and a population of about 91,000. Relief stations for Armenian orphans sent from Turkey were established there by the Near East relief administration.

Permanent occupation of Corfu would give Italy complete control of the Adriatic.

According to the foreign office officials, France will remain aloofly impartial, maintaining a policy of "watchful waiting." However, if Italy becomes too aggressive, France will join England in bringing pressure upon Rome for moderation.

Rome, Sept. 1.—Admittedly, the Italian government has formally reported the occupation of Corfu today. The communication made no reference to the fact that the island was under Italian administration.

The British foreign office has a copy of the report. The Earl of Sainsbury is an indication of the eastern coast of the island of Sphacteria.

The Greek-Italian quarrel over the killing of Italian citizens on Greek soil rests with the League of Nations today. Greece has claimed protection from the League of Nations meanwhile protesting to the powers against the bombardment of Corfu and the occupation of the island.

Greece has officially proclaimed the occupation of Corfu but made no mention of casualties resulting from the shelling. It is reported that the dead range from 12 to 20 with about three times that number wounded.

Athens claims that the Italian warships bombarded unarmed forts that were occupied by Armenian orphans under the protection of the Near East Relief administration, an American charitable organization. No Americans were killed or injured, so far as known.

The Italian delegate to the League of Nations at Geneva, was quoted as saying that no danger of war existed and that Italy sought only moral reparations.

LOCAL GIRL MARRIES HARTFORD PHYSICIAN

Mildred Pierce of Oakland Weds Dr. Laitinen of Hartford at Second Congregational Church This Afternoon.

Miss Mildred Allee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Pierce of Oakland, and Dr. Edwin Laitinen of Hartford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Laitinen of Norfolk, were married at the Second Congregational church this afternoon by Rev. Raymond A. Beardlee, the pastor, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

The church was artistically decorated with palms, ferns, asters and gladioli. Mrs. R. K. Anderson, the organist, gave a short recital of selections, and as the bridal party entered she played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

The bride was attired in white satin with pearl trimmings. She wore a veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white Killarney roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace, and to his attendants gold cuff pins set with amethysts.

An informal reception was held at the church following the ceremony. The young couple later departed on a two weeks' automobile trip. On their return they will reside at No. 9 Lenox street, Hartford, where they are to be at home to their friends after December first.

STEAMERS IN RACE

New York, Sept. 1.—A premature start in the September "immigration stakes" today resulted in the detention at Ellis Island of 5,000 immigrants on five ships.

The liners Commissioner Henry Curran ruled, came into quarantine before midnight last night, and their passengers, therefore, technically came in under the August quota.

The matter was referred for decision on to the immigration authorities at Washington.

The ships which best the story, the Empress, which was anchored at quarantine, was released before midnight; the Empress, which was anchored at quarantine, was released before midnight; the Empress, which was anchored at quarantine, was released before midnight.

Paris, Sept. 1.—The Inter-Alled Council of Ambassadors met at noon to take steps to avert war between Italy and Greece. Up to that time no reply had been received to the note sent to Athens suggesting a joint inquiry into the killing of Italian citizens.

London, Sept. 1.—In addition to appealing to the League of Nations, Greece has protested to the powers against Italian occupation of Corfu, said a dispatch from Athens this afternoon.

Italy's action was called a breach of international law and amity.

CHEMIST CALMLY EATS MYSTERIOUS BLOODY BREAD.

Chicago, Sept. 1.—A bread baker who was assailed by a customer "for trying to poison" him with a loaf of red stalin bread to the laboratory of the American Institute of Baking here.
"What could the scientist say about this red stalin?" he asked.
"Was it poison? Was it dangerous? Why should a customer say it was poison? Was it his fault the red stalin grew upon the bread?"
Harold Turley, one of the Institute chemists, answered him by breaking off a patch of the red stalin and eating it.
Then he explained that here was one of the important conquests of science over superstition. Once when people found this curious red stain on the family bread, or on the bolus potatoes, they cried out that it was "wunderblut" or miracle blood. When the waters used for sacramental purposes developed this red stain, devout religionists of the Middle Ages were sure they were in the presence of a great miracle. Religious processions were formed to celebrate its appearance.
The fame of "wunderblut" became world-wide and when it was the fashion to burn witches some were burned on the grounds that they had bewitched the bread so that it gave forth the wonderblut. Even New England joined in the persecution of "witches" on this charge.
"Until Louis Pasteur and his associates worked out the bacterial theory of disease," Mr. Turley said today, "outbreaks of red stains on bread always overawed the populace. At Padua they had an outbreak that lasted a whole week and many thought that indeed here was blood from heaven, raining down upon the people's bread. Much praying was done. Then came Ehrenberg, the famous bacteriologist. He found that each little red spot was a colony of bacteria that instead of being green or black, like molds, was red colored. The bacteria were isolated and named bacilli prodigiosus. They were found to be as harmless as mold on cheese, so I did not hesitate a moment to eat the once mysterious plants. Since science took the wonder out of wunderblut, they have controlled it so that outbreaks are now very rare."

Audrey Munson, "Queen of the Artists' Studios," the most famous, most gifted and most versatile of the many illustrious beauties whose faces and forms have inspired the world's masterpieces of art, has at last been captured by the movies.
The world-famous artist's model is the star of a super-photodrama, "Heedless Moths," which depicts the absolute faithfulness the absorbing, fascinating story of her own life in the innermost shrines of art's realm and her associations and experiences with the world's most noted artists.
The life-drama of Miss Munson whose far-famed beautiful body has been immortalized in bronze, marble and oil by nearly every famous sculptor and painter of the world, is a remarkable and colorful story, due to the imaginative efforts of the most brilliant writer for the screen.

PREPARING A MEAL IN A HURRY

When getting up an emergency meal in the shortest possible order, keep in mind that thinly-sliced raw potatoes can be stewed tender in salted boiling water, drained, covered with milk, and a little thickening and chopped parsley added—just about as quickly as left-over cooked ones could be prepared. Only remember that the thin slices take up the salt from the water in a most unexpected fashion, and don't salt your cream dressing until the potatoes have cooked in it for a minute and have been tasted. If the kettle isn't boiling when you start it, put the potatoes on in the hottest water you have, just enough to cover them, and put more water on in a broad bottomed pan, which you can pour in over the potatoes as soon as it begins to boil.

This will be the last chance the patrons of the Park theatre will have to see the big double feature bill manager Fox picked for his patrons this week. "Only a Shop Girl" pleased one of the largest audiences the Park theatre has seen this summer. "Don Quixote of the Rio Grande" is a western that is well liked by many and the "Eagle's Talons" is making many friends in Manchester. The comedy was really funny.
"There with the wallop," as the ringsters say, "Only a Shop Girl" is certainly a winner among screen plays.
The audience at the Park theatre last night registered complete approval of the pictureized version of Charles E. Blaney's old stage success, "Only a Shop Girl." If thrills, laughter, heart interest and suspense make for success this picture is due for a long run.
The mystery which runs through to the final scene is well sustained and the star cast of nine screen

1924 MODEL

THE STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX FIVE-PASSENGER TOURING CAR $995

130,000 Owners Know the Value of this Studebaker

Every unit in the new 1924 Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car has proved its dependability in public use.
There are refinements and improvements, of course, but the underlying principles of design and construction which have made enthusiasts of 130,000 purchasers of this model in three years' time, are not radically changed.
In our opinion, the 1924 Light-Six stands out as the greatest value and closest approach to mechanical perfection in moderate priced cars yet produced.
It is practically free from vibration. Studebaker accomplishes this largely by machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. This requires 61 precision operations. It is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price—and is found only on a few other cars—and they're priced above $2500.
Absence of vibration prolongs car life, causes slower depreciation, reduces the cost of operation and adds to the enjoyment of driving.
The Light-Six motor embodies the most advanced design known to automobile construction. It represents an achievement in the manufacture of quality cars in big volume.
Aside from its mechanical excellence, the Light-Six is handsome in design, extremely comfortable, sturdy and economical to operate just as it is in initial cost. It is powerful, speedy, has a pick-up range that is seldom taxed and never exhausted, is easy to handle, and convenient to park.
Its enameled all-steel body, one-piece, rain-proof windshield, ten-inch cushions upholstered in genuine leather, and cowl lamps are among many features heretofore to be had only in higher priced cars.
For 71 years the name Studebaker has stood for unflinching integrity, quality and value.
New all-steel body of striking beauty. One-piece, rain-proof windshield with attractive cowling lights set in base. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Door curtains, bound on three sides by steel rods, open with doors. Removable upholstery in tonneau. Door pocket flaps with weights hold them in shape. Upholstered in genuine leather. Large rectangular window in rear seat. Thief-proof transmission lock. Standard non-skid cord tires, front and rear.

LABOR DAY.

Were it not for the coal trouble Labor Day this year would find the people of the United States with little on the horizon to dim a picture of material comfort and well-being that has not been matched in history.

There are at present no indications of any early break in the good times that the United States is now enjoying.

The farmer represents the main weakness in the economic situation. He sells low and buys high.

We hate no one; we hate nothing that belongs to another. If there is a cloud on our friendship with any of the nations of the world it is of the kind that is amenable to the persistent exercise of justice and good will.

The active disintegrating forces within the nation constitute the chief danger. The alarming spread of mob violence, the increasing disrespect for law, the tendency to array class against class, race against race, religion against religion—these are portents of menace that can be dispelled only by the return to law and the constitution.

On this day which labor claims for its own there should be recognition of the brotherhood of all honest workers in the nation, of the fact that, no matter what our occupation, we are all Americans, sincerely loyal to the nation that provides us with greater opportunities for true happiness than were dreamt of by the greatest sages and leaders of the past.

THE STATE FAIR.

All roads will lead to Hartford on Monday, the first day of the fair week. In name as well as in fact the event becomes the Connecticut State Fair for the first time, by virtue of the merging of the Connecticut Fair Association with the Connecticut State Agricultural Society.

For many, of course, the Grand Circuit race meeting, which opens Monday and ends Friday, will furnish the chief attraction. On Thursday, the famous Charter Oak Purse of $10,000, "the oldest fixture for matured horses on the American turf, will be run, and on Saturday an automobile race meeting will be held.

A general system of liberal premiums has brought out large lists of entries in cattle, sheep, swine, poultry, flowers, fruit, vegetables.

grains and potatoes. It is to be noted that four herds of beef cattle will be on exhibition, in addition to the usual dairy herds.

The new exposition hall will be an object of attention to most visitors. It will house the automobile show and the industrial exhibits.

Then, of course, there will be the principal delight of young and old alike, the Midway—"no fakes, no gambling, no immoral shows."

All the usual side shows will be present and then some. The free events have been increased largely and will include various important performances that will interest everyone.

A modest description of "Mystic China," the great two-hour fireworks spectacle that will feature every evening of the fair suggests a thought that the crowds will not leave before dark.

Of such are those God fearing men of the sea who, according to Professor Alfred M. Hitchcock of the Hartford High, make up the majority of the crews of the vessels in the Atlantic rum trade today.

We have seen the fishery of Charles Kingsley's fishers waded and often in vain. For men must work and women must weep though the harbor bar be moaning and prohibition agents ever so vigilant.

Professor Hitchcock says the sailors on rum runners feel they are earning as legitimate and honest a living as if they were engaged in their former occupation of fishing.

But, there is another and a sadder side to the pleasant story. The money has been good hitherto, but more and more vessels are entering the game and the profits are decreasing.

MUSSOLINI AT TANGIER.

Mussolini is certainly getting busy if, as is reported, Italian forces have been landed at Tangier, ostensibly to protect the Italian colony.

WESTPORT'S DRAWBRIDGE.

Westport has one of the existing antique draw bridges in the state, and in fact in the country. The bridge crosses the Saugatuck river in the town of Saugatuck.

Whenever a boat comes up or down the river, the bridge tender gets the signal and he summons a few workmen nearby to help him work the old-fashioned turnkey which turns the bridge on its base.

The town had some hopes of securing a better and more modern structure when the shore road was completed, but state engineers who made examination of the site, favored a new location below the railroad bridge.

NEWS and VIEWS

OF TIMELY THINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD

London, Sept. 1.—The urgent demand of American impresarios to enlist the services of British artists is said to be causing a shortage of genuine theatrical stars in London.

Edward Laurillard, who has recently been trying to find "magnets" for the leading parts in "The Coward from Nowhere" and "Lovers' Lane," complains pathetically of the "famine."

Among the best-known British players now proceeding to New York are Gertrude Lawrence, Beatrice Lillie, Marie Blanche and Morris Harvey.

If Rudolph Valentino could comply with all the requests from lady correspondents for locks of his hair, during his stay in London, he would be as bald as Jim Fitzsimmons himself within a week.

Valentino keeps a special lady secretary to open these missives. Nearly all begin, "Please excuse me for troubling you," and some are marked "strictly private" and express a hope that the letter will not be dealt with by a secretary.

Twenty-three people have written asking Valentino to pay their passages to the United States, and altogether his postbag becomes more varied and more interesting every day.

London traffic has reached a state of congestion that measures in miles. The volume of traffic, and in some of the main streets like the Strand, Piccadilly and Oxford street the long lines of vehicles frequently are at a standstill for 15 or 20 minutes at a time.

London was not planned like a modern city. Its original narrow lanes, some of them in the main streets, followed the winding ways of the Thames and other streams that ran through the original site.

While it is impossible to re-plan London the authorities are going as far as they humanly can to do away with the present congestion. The Strand—the main artery—is rapidly being widened, and in two or three years the Strand will be a fine wide road.

People who have electric dish washers and plenty of dishes usually make one job of the work each day. Others without this convenience soak the supper dishes in the pan and do them the next morning.

It probably isn't necessary to give a recipe for succotash, almost every housekeeper makes it according to her own ideas, but here is one that may be a guide to young housekeepers:

VENUS NEAR SUN DURING ECLIPSE

By Isabel M. Lewis, of U. S. Naval Observatory (By Science Service) Washington—By far the most interesting and striking feature of today during the eclipse of Sept. 10 aside from the appearance of the brilliant Venus almost in conjunction with the sun...

There is a lesson in this, perhaps an especial one for women, and particularly for mothers. We knew an old lady who, if there was a pie on the table, insisted that it should all be eaten; all had to take more when they had been satisfied...

THE ART OF QUITTING

We heard of a mother say the other day that if her husband was working in the garden, she stopped as soon as it ceased to be a pleasure to him, and went to do something else or took a rest. But she added that she had never learned how and when to quit her work; that she had driven beyond it through by whatever she undertook. Her husband would say, "Stop awhile; leave something for tomorrow; change to something else."

It should be remembered that by intelligent planning and by a little work on any matter at regular times, the particular task can be gradually carried on to its completion as well, or better, than by forcing it through impatiently. The worker cannot finish large things in a day; it is furrow by furrow the field is plowed.

Effectively means that the "over-work" today means diminished capacity for tomorrow. The stretch and strain tell, and the next day sees poorer work, less of it, and so time is really lost.

The mother needs to learn to drop things abruptly. The usual plan is for a few minutes more, and then more and so on, until it is some what satisfying to the exacting mind to follow the clock and obey it; this gives the feeling at least of decision and rule.

Ship Leaves Cleveland For Europe; Cargo Will Not Be Broken On Trip

Cleveland.—Products of the Middle West landed in London, Liverpool and Manchester without breaking cargo! Wheat threshed from the golden harvest fields of the Dakota and Minnesota; fabricated steel products made in the steel plants of Ohio, Indiana and Illinois; automobiles from Michigan and Ohio—these are but a few of the things in the cargo of the freighter Vespa, which slipped from her pier at the Cleveland docks September 1, bound on a long voyage down Lakes Erie and Ontario, the Welland Canal and the St. Lawrence River, and then across the Atlantic for the ports of Britain.

Shipments of products by the all-water route, without breaking cargo, has long been the dream of Mid-Western statesmen and economists. To this end plans for the St. Lawrence-Ontario Canal, greatly increasing the present draft of the Welland Canal beyond its present 14-foot restriction, have been formulated. That his link eventually will be built is considered certain.

LEAVE IT TO THE DOG

New York, Aug. 31.—Luxurious homes may mean considerable to human beings but they don't count much against affection with a dog. Louis Amato has spent most of his vacation so far looking for his Boston bull, named "Ritzie." The other day he vowed he had found him, although Peter Haslin explained the dog was his, that its name was "Nickle," and that he had paid ten dollars for him.

Sticks became so common an accessories of woman's costume that the novelty seekers have abandoned them in favor of an attenuated H made of light wood, upon the cross-section of which sits their pet parakeet or cockatoo. I saw one on Fifth avenue yesterday and it was impressive even if a bit cumbersome in crowded traffic.

The Nugent family has held the theatrical boards for years; first as vaudeville players, then in the legitimate, but slow in no uncertain way as writers. "Kempy" was their successful product last year. Their next offering, written and in the main acted by the family, will be "The Dumb-Bell." No agreement can be reached by the family as to just which one or ones wrote the latest play, but sufficient that it involves J. C. Nugent, the father, Elliott, a nice young son, and the two daughters, Norma and Ruth. Their long experience has taught them what the public wants, and fenced in "Kempy." Hence the interest in the new one.

When the thirty-five ticket sellers of Luna Park, Coney Island, went to their dressing rooms one night recently, they found "Tillie," the elephant, had made a meal of all their straw hats. Tillie has been reading the breakfast food ads.

THE ROAD AHEAD.

From the Kansas City Star. A traveler stopped in the dusty road And rested from his heavy load; He saw an old man passing near And asked: "What sort of road runs here?"

"For all day long I've trudged away And oft grown weary of the day As 'neath my feet the rocks up-turned And o'er my head the hot sun burned."

The old man said: "Just as you came You'll find that yonder road's the same."

"And, oh, the birds sang merrily While 'e'en the wild flowers smiled at me, And perfumed breezes cooled the way. So how is yonder road, I pray?"

Deciding Tilt With Fisk Red Tops and Hopetuls Sunday Play Willimantic Aggregation Double Bill on Labor Day

RICHARDS COMING BACK TOMORROW SEEKING REVENGE FOR LAST WEEK'S DEFEAT WITH A FASTER AND STRONGER TEAM TO HELP HIM

Willimantic Here Labor Day Morning and Locals Will Return Visit in Afternoon—Neal Ball, Famous Big Leaguer, to Play Second for Manchester.

NEAL HALL, former big leaguer will cover second base for Manchester over the week end. This is welcome news to the local baseball fans. Ball was at one time the best all-around player in the big time circuit. He is at present living in Bridgeport and the local club feels elated over securing his services.

Tomorrow afternoon, the Manchester baseball club will stack up against the Fisk Red Tops of Chicopee, Mass., in the third and final game of the series at the New Park on McKee street. Lefty Thompson will be sent out for mound duty and will have for an opponent none other than the famous "Rube" Richards.

The series between these two teams are equal as tottering Art Johnson, former hero of the silk town, managed to wiggle through nine frames of the National League and emerge a winner in the first set to some time ago. Rube Richards (himself) lost a nice ball game here last Sunday.

The Hopetuls will lineup as usual, with Hall at second. Sipples will pasture in center field and probably pitch the Labor Day morning tilt against the Thread City aggregation.

Thompson Due to Repeat.

Thompson is due to repeat his performance tomorrow morning. The hurler who has been out of luck lately is out of his funk and near his native city that he's "back in the saddle" never again.

Official statement can be obtained from the local press. It is rumored about here that the locals are out to start a long delayed drive for the state honor. In this drive the participation of the New Depart is included. That means, if the rumor is correct that the fans are due for some real baseball.

Play Willimantic Monday.

Monday morning the Hopetuls will line up against the Thread City aggregation at the New Park in the second of the series. The team has hopes of taking both games and wind up the series.

Good might be asked to take the mound in one of the games Monday. He has pitched but one game this season, Fourth of July at Bristol and turned in a mighty fine game despite the fact that Patton had tossed the tilt to the hostiles.

The Thread City team is reported to be strengthened up considerably for the pair of battles with Manchester. Pete Wilson will not suit against Manchester according to advice received here. Instead a couple of good flingers with more or less of reputation will endeavor to put a crimp in the title aspirations Hopetuls.

In the past Willimantic could always be counted upon to furnish some strenuous battles against the silk town title. But in the past two years, since Bader departed, the Thread City gang has remained unusually quiet. All this seems destined to be scattered Monday.

The morning game was arranged here because of the State Fair at Charter Oak park in the afternoon and it will also allow the fans of the Thread City an opportunity of watching the Hopetuls before the big Elks' fair in the evening.

Local Sport Chatter

Manchester can enjoy itself at many forms of sports over the week end. All the exciting baseball teams in town with the exception of the Atlas are playing either Sunday or Monday.

The All-Italian Stars are playing the Park A. C. at the Heights diamond tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Maybe Rube Richards is coming here for revenge tomorrow and maybe he won't get it. Thompson will be out there doing the heating for the Hopetuls.

Sipples might get a chance to hurl against the Thread City team Monday. He has one victory stored away against them already and hopes to repeat it.

The meeting for the Centennial Relay Race team and all those who wish to take part in it is scheduled for the West Side Rec. next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Giorgetti is going to do the hurling for the Pirates against Highland Park Monday morning.

Any local football, baseball or basketball team managers wishing to get news on the Herald sport page are requested to hand their stuff in to the South Herald office on Oak street between 7 and 9 o'clock in the evening. Or telephone 545.

Those who are interested in forming a football team will meet again next Thursday evening. The outlook for a fast semi-pro team is bright.

here this fall is very bright at the present time. There are living right here at present, some of the best players in Hartford County. Then the added inducement of collecting a bit of loose change ought to furnish a stronger appeal.

Pretty soon the soccer teams are going to get underway with the fall schedule. As Manchester has the champion club of them all, the prospects are exceedingly bright this year. It must hurt some of the down state aggregations to refer to Manchester as the champs.

Plans are underway to give the boxing fans of this town a chance to witness some fast boxing before the cold weather sets in. When a card of over thirty rounds of boxing is announced, and the fact that the contestants are amateurs that is about enough. These boys set the world on fire when it comes to giving the public their full return for the price paid. And they do it for nothing.

Little whispers around town indicate that the Thread City aggregation are going to take a series of real battles against the Hopetuls. Well old Pete Wilson didn't do so bad had the invaders been able to connect with Sipples' slants.

Then comes the prize struggle of the fall next Saturday when Eddie Goodridge, champion goat getter of the world and his clan of New Depart come here for the second of the five game series.

Puzzle—

GREB ANNOUNCES TO WORLD THAT HE IS READY AT ANY TIME TO DEFEND TITLE

New York, Sept. 1.—Harry Greb, newly crowned middleweight champion of the world, announced today that he would be "a fighting champion."

Happy as a schoolboy over his victory over Johnny Wilson, the Boston titleholder last night before 12,000 persons at the Polo Grounds, Greb smilingly asserted this morning that he would give all legitimate challengers a chance at the title.

It is the second title Greb has held. He won the American light heavyweight crown from Gene Tunney in May 1922, only to lose it back to Tunney before a year had elapsed.

His victory over Wilson last night, was by virtue of the judges' decision, given after Greb and Wilson had battled fifteen hard rounds—thirteen of which were Greb's.

Wilson, slow and awkward, was bewildered by the challenger's wiry attack. He was a big, heavy first and last rounds. In the final round he waded in, regardless of the flurry of blows thrown at him by Greb. It was a desperate bid to terminate the contest by a knockout, the only way Wilson could win the fight.

The fight itself was not conducive of anything thrilling. At times the combatants grew irksome and the referee was forced to warn them to greater efforts. Both men were cautioned by the referee for infractions of the rules. Greb for holding and hitting and using his thumb in the clinches, Wilson for hitting low at times.

Greb fought his characteristic, unorthodox style, swarming all over Wilson and punching from all angles, forcing the ex-champion around the ring under a barrage of lefts and rights to the jaw and body.

Wagner Hurls East Side Kids to Easy Win Over West Side

The East Side kiddies with Wagner hurling fine ball had little trouble with the youngsters from the West Side. Gustafson was hit hard for a total of 15 hits that produced 16 runs. Errors played a large part in the victory. The summary:

GRID CANDIDATES AT U. OF P. START DRILL ON TUESDAY

Ambitious Warriors at Work Now—Prospects Considerably Brighter—Lieut. Gaston Coming from Fort Sill to Help.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 1.—The task of developing a representative football team at the University of Pennsylvania begins in earnest next Tuesday, when fifty candidates accompany Head Coach Louis A. Young and his assistants to Cape May for three weeks of preliminary drill. The squad cannot return to Franklin Field until two days before the opening of the university on September 28. This enforced absence is caused by the fact that new turf is being grown on the Franklin Field gridiron and cannot be used even for practice prior to the opening game with Franklin and Marshall on September 29.

For the last week the candidates have been drifting into town. Unable to resist the urge to join work, six men, five quarterbacks and one center, went to Cape May on Thursday as the guests of Bert Bell for a little extra work. But the main squad will arrive for the shore Tuesday noon, and the men will have their first workout Wednesday morning. For the first week Trainer Lawson Robertson has ordered that there be no practice daily. The headquarters of the squad at Cape May will be Stockton Villa and the practice will be held on an adjoining field.

Although the squad which goes to the shore is one of the largest on record and contains many experienced players, there is no undue optimism among the coaches. They realize that this is a critical year for Pennsylvania and that a good team is expected to win the national championship.

Lieut. Gaston, U. S. Army, will be in charge of the line. Lieut. Gaston has obtained leave of absence from the commanding officer at Fort Sill, where he is attached to the artillery service. Lieut. Gaston was considered to have been the principal factor in the development of the Pennsylvania line last year, and with so much veteran material back he ought to have an even better line this fall. He will be assisted by "Lead" Wray, center on the 1916-17 and '19 teams, who will devote himself to the center.

Bert Bell, quarterback and captain in 1919, will be chiefly responsible for the quarterbacks. With the graduation of ex-captain Miller, there is no man of varsity experience in sight for this job. There are five promising candidates out for it, however. Four are members of last year's freshman squad. They include Thomas, of the Shippery Rock Normal School, and Eddy, of Spokane, Wash., who alternated in the development of the Pennsylvania line last year, and with so much veteran material back he ought to have an even better line this fall. He will be assisted by "Lead" Wray, center on the 1916-17 and '19 teams, who will devote himself to the center.

While Coach Young's greatest concern is the backfield, with quarterback worrying him most, he is anxious to work out his candidates for halfback. With Capt. Hamer assured of the fullback post, there are some promising men for the two positions at halfback. McGraw has the inside track for one halfback, with Craig, Woodard and Wither, all experienced men, ready to fight it out for the other position.

Of the line positions it is assumed that last year's veterans will be the first choice of the coaches. These veterans, all of whom will be on hand at the start, include Fairchild at one end, Sutherland at tackle, Papworth at guard and Dera at center. The missing veterans are Erntevag at end, Thurman at tackle and Kelly at guard. The coaches, however, will have a big selection for these vacancies.

Among the more prominent candidates for line honors are Caldwell and Stevens at end, Robinson at center, Coleman and Dewhurst at tackle and Retners at guard. At the end of the first week there will be two practices daily, with light scrimmages at the end of two days. The coaches expect to have their candidates pretty well lined up by the time the squad returns to Philadelphia.

PITTSBURGH TO PART WITH MARAVILLE

New York, Sept. 1.—A report was current in local baseball circles today that Rabbit Maraville and Charley Schmidt, shortstop and catcher respectively of the Pittsburgh Pirates, are soon to be traded with Charley Hollocher, the Cub shortstop, going to the Pirates. Schmidt is said to be expected to figure in a deal with the Maraville's destination, it was not divulged.

SHAMROCKS TO PLAY BROAD BROOK SUNDAY

Open Series With Farmer Boys in That Town Tomorrow—Farrand or McLaughlin to Pitch.

The Shamrocks will play the Broad Brook team in that place Sunday afternoon the truck leaving Depot Square at 1:30 o'clock. Either McLaughlin or Farrand will pitch.

The north end aggregation is still going along in fine shape despite the fact that it was defeated by the amateur town champion by the Pirates. This is the first game of the series with Broad Brook and the team has every hope of returning home a winner.

Farrand, who twirled such exciting games against the Pirates and Atlas will probably get the assignment against the farmer boys. If he gets any breaks at all he ought to breeze under the wire a winner. In case he goes wrong, McLaughlin is ready to jump in at any time.

This afternoon the Shamrocks are playing in East Glastonbury, having won the first game here returning home with the bacon.

Just Like a Derby Winner

Willie Spencer, bike champion of America, received all the fixings of a winner when he clinched his title for another year at Newark, N. J. Velodrom.

WOMEN VOTERS WILL MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Manchester League Will Hold Session in the Auditorium of the Recreation Center.

The first meeting of the Fall by the League of Women Voters will be held next Tuesday afternoon in the auditorium of the Recreation Center.

The principal speaker for the afternoon will be Mrs. Ethel Stowe, of West Hartford, the Executive Chairman of the Juvenile Commission of West Hartford. Mrs. Stowe is also probation officer in charge of women, boys and girls, and her talk should prove enlightening and interesting to the members, who are urged to attend as far as possible. Her subject will be "Town Management and Community Form."

Plans on current events will be presented by Mrs. Richard Tinker, Jr., and Mrs. Henry A. Nettleton. Mrs. E. A. Lettuey and Mrs. F. T. Bligh attended the luncheon given Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Harvey Williams in Wallingford, and will submit a report.

CHILD KILLED BY TRUCK. Norwalk, Conn., Sept. 1.—Jack Creagh, aged 4, was instantly killed near his home on Chapel street today when a heavy truck driven by Louis Berger, of Norwalk, ran over the boy's head as he fell beneath it. Witnesses declared the child ran directly into the side of the truck, the gross weight of which is said to have been over 15,000 pounds. Berger is being held in $2,500 on a charge of manslaughter, pending the coroner's hearing here today.

MUST DISMANTLE CAFES. Ansonia, Conn., Sept. 1.—Saloon keepers here were today given until September 10th to dismantle their places of business or face action by the state's attorney. Notices were served on forty saloon owners by local officials. The action follows a conference between Arthur R. McOrmond, local prosecutor, and State's Attorney Aaron A. Ailing and his assistant, Walter Pickett, at New Haven.

Classroom lectures on history will soon be broadcast by radio from the University of Washington.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES

Newsy Items Gathered from the Local Dealers.

George H. Williams finds it hard to get away from the Hudson-Exeter line. Although he and G. L. Betts recently dissolved partnership in the Manchester Hudson-Exeter Co., Mr. Williams has become an associate dealer and is driving a new Essex coach.

G. L. Betts of the Manchester Hudson-Exeter Co. received a carload of Essex coaches this week and has another carload coming in. He delivered a coach today to L. Stager of Lyndale street and the coach recently purchased by the Boosters club to be given away to them is to be delivered next Tuesday.

James Shearer has been attracting considerable attention on the street this week with the new model Buick touring car that he is driving. The new lines and improvements on this model are finding favor with Buick admirers and Mr. Shearer has already received several orders for new cars for early delivery.

W. R. Tinker, Jr., has delivered Chevrolet touring cars during the past week to William Morrison of Center street, Hiram Bodreau of West street and Monaco's Garage in Gastonbury; also a sedan to John Gharman of Manchester. The opening of two new Chevrolet factories at Buffalo and Cincinnati has resulted in largely increased production and Mr. Tinker is now able to offer, for the first time in months, cars of nearly all models for immediate delivery.

B. T. Abel, proprietor of Abel's Service Station at the corner of Oak and Cottage streets now has the local agency for the Gardner, the guaranteed car. The Gardner is built in five different models. Mr. Abel says that he is planning to push the sales of this car this fall and that he has numerous prospects in town at the present time.

STILL IN PRISON

Boston, Mass., Sept. 1.—Officials of the county prison on Deer Island were today investigating the finding of three gallons still and three gallons of alcohol in the plumbing shop connected with the workhouse. The still was made of copper urn and copper tubing. A plumber's torch was apparently used to furnish heat. It is thought the prisoners used prunes and other prison fare, vegetables and seepage from a corn silo in the manufacture of their moonshine. The still was discovered after a released prisoner had declared liquor could be obtained on the island if a prisoner had the cash.

Spanish Cabinet may resign owing to the Moroccan situation. Spanish Socialists held a mass meeting at Casa Poble to protest against the Spanish war in Morocco. Social deputies made violent speeches which were applauded.
