TOWN OFFICIALS WANT INCREASE; BUILDING INSPECTOR AND SEALER CLAIM SALARY IS FAR TOO SMALL

Board of Selectmen Hold Busy Session Last Night—Park Street Bridge to Be Repaired—Middle Turnpike Property Owners Want Sidewalks—John Proctor Has a Grievance—Florence Street Residents Want Street Accepted—30 Minute Parking Around Odd Fellows Block.

The first monthly meeting of the new board of selectmen was held last night at the Hall of Records. The first business was passing on the numerous bills that have been presented to the town. John Proctor, with half a dozen residents of West Center street, appeared before the board and reported the condition of the new Hartford road that has just been built in that section. The shoulders of the new road are very incomplete and make it bad for the property owners. It is impossible for some of them to get in and out of their own yard. It is apparent that storm water sewers are needed in that section. The matter was referred to the highway committee to take up with the state authorities. Peter Schoen and several men from Florence street appeared before the board to complain about the condition of that street. A year or so ago the property owners were given to understand that if the street was brought to state, an extension would be made. They have the assurance that the extension of Federal and State Highway

A NATIONAL CODE TO ENFORCE DRY LAW

That is the Object of President's Call for a Conference of Governors—To Take Up Dope Traffic Also.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Adoption of a sweeping national code for the enforcement of the dry law is the chief suggestion which the Coolidge administration will advance at the governors' conference at the White House on October 20. It was learned here today.

SELECTMEN NAME MEMBERS OF NEW PARK COMMISSION

Important Body for Development of Manchester's Parks is Headed by William C. Cheney.

Manchester's new Park Commission was named by the Board of Selectmen at the monthly meeting last night. The appointment of the members of the board was left over from the last meeting. The new members are as follows: William C. Cheney, five years; H. O. Bowers, four years; W. W. Robertson, three years; Mrs. Maytie Case Crowell, two years; P. J. O'Leary, one year.

It was through the efforts of Ex-Selectman William C. Cheney that the law giving the town the authority to name a Park Commission was passed in the last legislature. He has always shown a keen interest in Manchester's parks and, naturally, he was the first person thought of for the board. Judge H. O. Bowers, who without doubt, is one of the best authorities on parks and trees in

New York, Oct. 12.—While there were over 45,000 fans at the Grounds yesterday afternoon, teams lost considerable money so many foul balls were knocked to the grand stands that profit went to the sporting companies. Huggins buys his baseball bat but McGowan gets them away whooping. There was no foul ball until the second inning when borrowed one of McGowan's bats and then Huggins ran into the left field bleachers. And the Yankees are getting home runs and rapping out of cigarettes. Mr. Ruth also

CASEY STENGEL'S BAT AGAIN HELPS THE GIANTS IN PINCH

WITT MAKES MARVELOUS RUNNING CATCH IN FIRST—PITCHERS' BATTLE FEATURES EARLY STAGE OF CONTEST—MIGHTY BABE ONLY GETS SINGLE IN FIRST INNING—NO SCORE UNTIL SEVENTH WHEN STENGEL RAPS OUT HOMER—PIPP INJURES ANKLE AND IS REPLACED BY RUTH AT FIRST.

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 12.—Casey Stengel's mighty bat, which won the first game for the Giants in the first game of the World's Series, again carried McGraw's men to victory in the game today. The contest was without thrills until the seventh inning when Stengel smashed out his homer. Otherwise it was a pitchers' battle from start to finish, all of the hurlers exhibiting gilt edged wares. Ruth, who covered himself with glory in yesterday's game, had little chance in today's game as he was deliberately passed several times which caused much indignation among the fans.

Yankee Stadium, Oct. 12.—Four hundred and thirty-one years ago to the day, Columbus discovered America and this afternoon at the Yankee Stadium, New York, discovered that it had two ball clubs running a dead heat in the world series for the supremacy of all baseball and the gate receipts. New York conducted itself accordingly, more than 22,000 citizens hastened with in the enclosure to take advantage of the holiday, the mild weather and the pleasant fact that only

BANDITS KILL TRAIN CREW; ESCAPE WITH VALUABLES

Most Daring Robbery Occurs in Oregon—Mail Coach
 Dynamited— Passengers
 Are Unmolested— Four Killed.

Ashland, Ore., Oct. 12.—The greatest man hunt in the history of Oregon and California was in progress today bent on the capture of bandits who yesterday afternoon held up the Southern Pacific "San Francisco Express" and shot and killed four members of the crew.

It was the boldest train robbery
 since the days of the Old West.
 Open threats were made that summary justice will be meted out to the bandits if they are caught.
 To guard against lynching, a company of the Oregon militia has been called out in uniform and is taking an active part in the search through the mountains.

The Dead.

The dead: Sidney Bates, engineer; Marvin Seng, fireman; C. O.
 Johnson, brakeman; Elvyn E.
 Dougherty, mail clerk.
 No trace of the bandits has been found early today by posses led by bloodhounds searching the dense forest in the Siskiyou mountains.

The bold train robbery occurred at the southern portal of the long tunnel known as No. 14 when the passenger train was south-bound from Portland to San Francisco.

Passengers Unmolested.
 Passengers on the train were unmolested by the bandits, the number of whom are unknown but about a score suffered minor face and scalp injuries when the robbers dynamited the mail car.

The Recommendations.
 Chief recommendations for the formation of the code are:

1. That the "Padlock system" be used extensively to close up establishments violating the prohibition law.
2. That state authorities assume

GREENWICH MYSTERY PUZZLES THE POLICE

Stamford, Conn., Oct. 12.—While police of Greenwich and Stamford are seeking clues in a puzzling mystery, Milton A. Maas, 45, a member of the manufacturing chemist firm of Maas & Walgestein, 45 John street, New York, is in a critical condition in Stamford hospital following an operation by which a bullet was removed from his abdomen.
 Maas declares he was shot by one of a band of three young men who invaded the home of Mrs. Ida M.
 Leslie, Ledge Road, Sound Beach, early last evening and assaulted the woman before shooting him.

Mrs. Leslie, the authorities say, tells of taking her pet dog out for an airing on the grounds of her home, which is on the edge of Long Island Sound, just after seven last night. She was set upon by one of three young men who sprang from behind a hedge and knocked her down and warned her to keep quiet. While one of the three remained on guard over her, the others ran to the house where they were confronted by Maas.

Instantly and without warning, Maas was shot down, one bullet striking his right shoulders and another entering his abdomen. As Maas fell, the three men fled, supposedly in an auto.

Mrs. Leslie, pointing to the fact that jewelry she was wearing was not touched, believes robbery was not the motive. Catherine Johnson, a maid in the house, was taken to the office of James F. Walsh, Greenwich, town prosecutor, and

Legal Divorce Suit— To Look Up Wife's Early Life.

New York, Oct. 12.—The curtain was down today on Broadway's sensational divorce drama—
 "Stokes vs. Stokes."

Scene shifters in the "Theater of Justice" were changing the "set" from the Fifth avenue "love nest" where William Earl Dodge Stokes, 73 year old millionaire, bullet-scarred veteran of woman's hate, charges his beautiful young wife, Helen Elwood Stokes, visited Edgar T. Wallace, San Francisco oil man, to the rustic stretch of Main street in Bunceon, Mo.
 The four acts of the Stokes drama so far presented in the Supreme Court here has been a picture of mad Manhattan—"The Avenue" and Broadway; summer homes, town houses, and "love cotes;" peeping servants; the story of youth and beauty—age and wealth.

Legal Holiday.

Today, a legal holiday in New York courts, the picture fades as a commission, under appointment of Supreme Court Justice Jeremiah T. Mahoney, trial judge arrived at Bunceon's "Commercial House" to begin the taking of depositions there.

Stokes through two witnesses—
 Mrs. Alice Mills and Miss Katherine Kramer, both of Kansas City, but once members of "the younger set" in tiny Bunceon, has charged his wife spent weeks in the Main street town nineteen years ago.
 Wallace, the co-respondent, was
 with her, he charges.

It is to offset this testimony the Supreme Court commission has gone to Bunceon.

Nine Years Ago.

The picture of Helen Elwood,
 the "cut back" in the film dates back nine years before she met Stokes, is a girl in ruffled organdies, standing in front of the village post office, the peak of Bun-ceon's daily adventure. She was "sweet sixteen." Yet the husband seeks to paint her then in deepest crimson—the playmate of men even in childhood.

Mrs. Stokes will personally accompany the commission. She will appear before all of the nine hundred inhabitants of the little town who wish to see her, asking all of them if they ever saw her before. Her visit to Bunceon will prevent her presence at the trial before Wednesday of next week.

Other chapters of the story were in the writing in New York while Main street held the spotlight of interest.

Counter Charges.

Charges and counter charges of perjury, bribery, use of the illegal attorney's office, further

ELECTRIC DISPLAY AT THE CENTENNIAL MUCH APPRECIATED

W. W. Robertson Writes L. N. Heebner That in All His Travels He Never Saw Anything Better—Electric Co. Furnished Power Free.

What has been in the minds of thousands of people since the Centennial celebration was well expressed today in a letter by W. W. Robertson to Chairman L. N. Heebner, of the Centennial decorations committee.

Mr. Robertson's business in connection with his firm carries him into many states and into Canada on frequent trips, and he is in a position to see the efforts of many cities in the matter of street decorations and illuminations.

Upon finding the Manchester Centennial decorations the best he has seen anywhere in twenty years, he promptly set down and said so in a cordial letter of appreciation to Chairman Heebner.

The Letter, Manchester, Conn., October 8, 1923. Mr. L. N. Heebner, Chairman, Fireworks Committee, South Manchester, Conn.

My Dear Mr. Heebner:— I wish to express to you my appreciation of the lights with which you decorated Manchester for the Centennial celebration.

I certainly appreciate the way Depot Square was decorated. I do not believe that any one who had the pleasure of seeing your streets lighted up in the evening will ever forget them.

I fully appreciate that these lights represented a tremendous amount of work, they were worth it.

Yours respectfully, W. W. ROBERTSON, 6,500 Massachusetts Avenue, Cambridgeport, Mass.

the appearance of the streets, particularly at night. Over 6,500 incandescent lamps were used, and the amount of wire exceeded five miles.

Gave Power Free. The expense of providing power for so many lights so many evenings was very heavy. Yet with the spirit of co-operation which so splendidly characterized the town during the Centennial, the Manchester Electric Company furnished the power absolutely free of cost.

The illuminations and decorations were under the charge of Chairman Heebner and his assistant, Edward F. Dwyer, and the other members of the decorations committee were, David Heatley, Miss Ednah Cheney, Mrs. C. W. Holman, Mrs. L. W. Case, Miss Helen Chapman, Mrs. William Foulds, Jr., John Olson and Samuel J. Massey.

MARLBOROUGH

A large number of people from this place enjoyed the celebration at Manchester the past week.

Pupils of the North School who had perfect attendance for September are Micklens Montaneri, Louise Flenke, Albert Flenke, Ernest Flenke and Arthur Isleib.

Frank W. Fuller has been spending a few days in Manchester with Mrs. C. M. Strickland, and the Mrs. G. W. Buell of this place and her sister Miss Cora Lord of Washington, D. C. have been the recent guests of relatives in Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour West and young son of East Hampton have been the recent guests of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Schaefer.

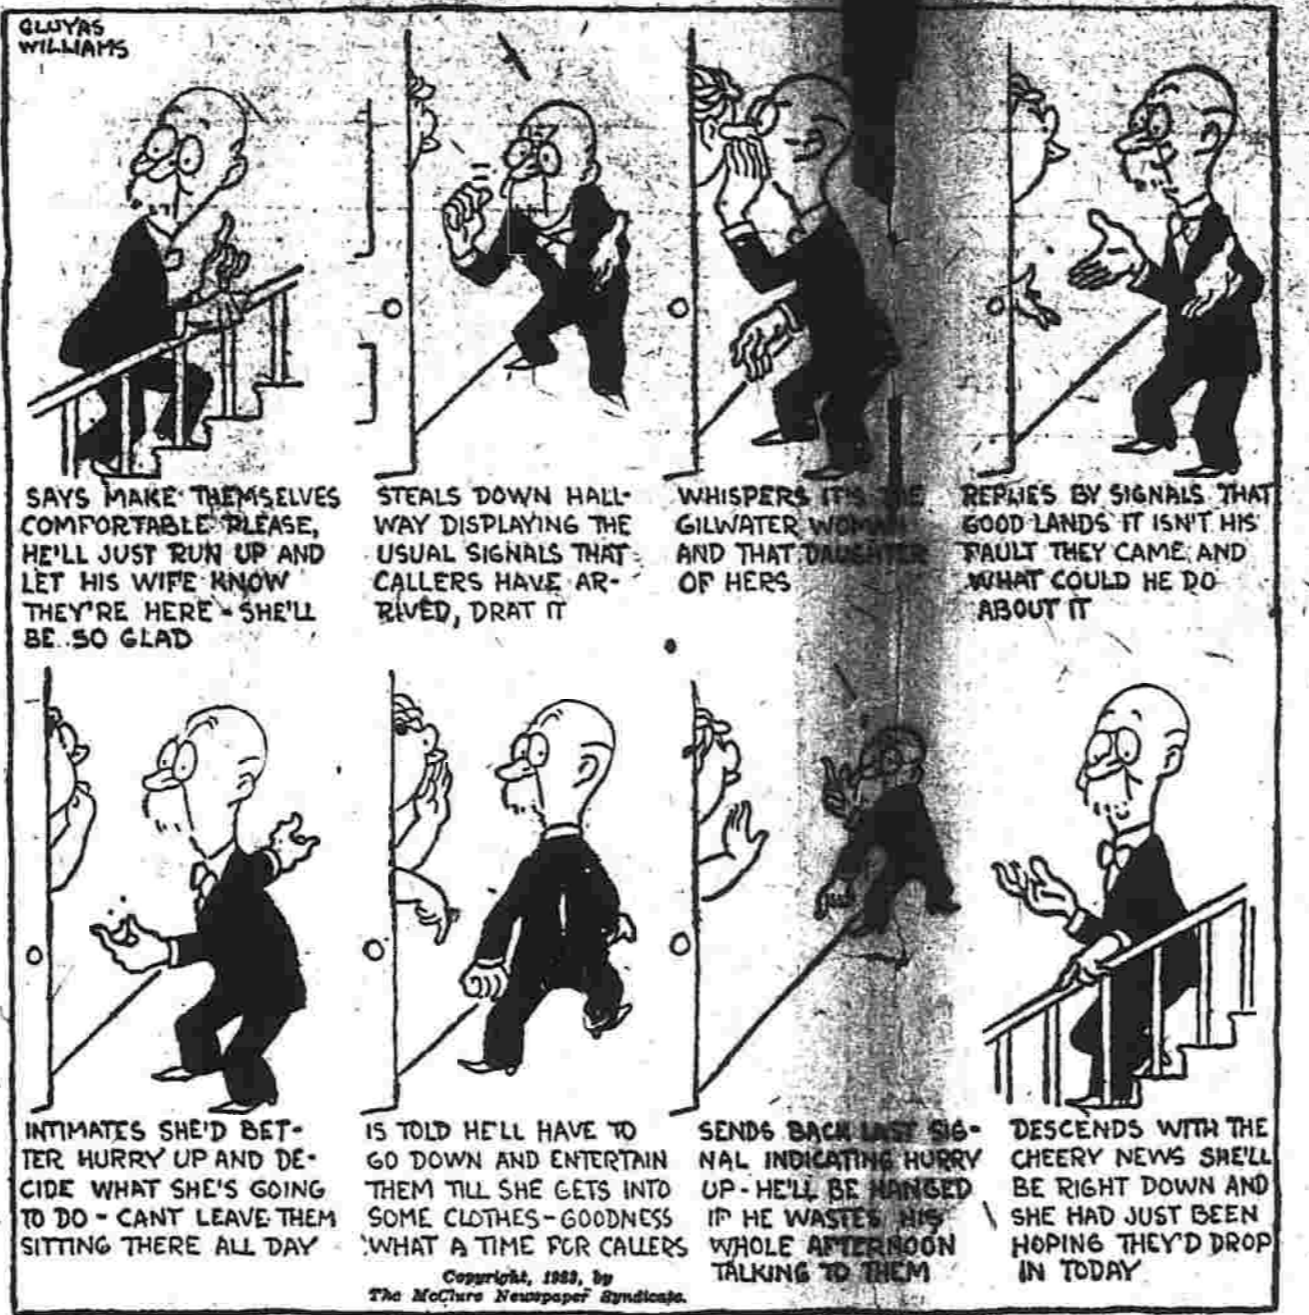

The teacher's from this place attended a Teachers' Institute at Waterford Monday.

G. A. Flenke was in Manchester on business Tuesday.

Ralph G. Sellow of East Hampton is operating a steam saw mill on a lot owned by George W. Buell for R. A. Ryan.

WIELANDT-HANSEN.

Miss Katharine Elizabeth Hansen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hansen of Middle Turnpike East, and Charles Wielandt of Long Island, N. Y. were united in marriage this afternoon at 2:30 at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. P. J. O. Cornell, pastor of the Swedish Evangelical Lutheran Church.

The bride was attended by Miss Signe Anderson as bridesmaid, and little Miss Clara Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhardt Johnson of Hartford, as flower girl.

The best man was John Kaufmann of New York.

The bride was attired in a gown of white georgette. She wore a veil caught with orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley.

The force of the explosion was so great as to entirely demolish the small car which immediately took fire following the blast.

It is believed the bandits were frustrated in their attempt to loot the mail car, the explosion having damaged the car which burned.

The body of Dougherty was found burned to a crisp. The dynamite was either thrown into the car through a window or placed underneath, officers on the scene stated today.

Postal and railroad authorities and detectives are enroute from San Francisco and Portland to the scene of the crime to aid in the hunt.

Delay of Three Hours: Because nearly three hours elapsed before members of the train crew and passengers were able to reach the mail car which had been derailed from the train by the terrific blast, officers believe the bandits were able to cover a considerable distance in the mountains, but declared that with the aid of bloodhounds their chances of overtaking the murderers seemed good.

A pitched battle is expected if the bandits are cornered, as the shooting at the tunnel, indicated they were heavily armed.

GREEK RELEASED.

Antwerp, Oct. 11.—Nicholas Apostolico, a Greek, who was arrested on suspicion of stealing a painting from the New York gallery of J. P. Morgan valued at nearly a quarter of a million dollars, was released today. No formal charge was made against him. He contended he brought the painting to Europe for appraisal by experts.

Circle Theatre

A thrilling and romantic love story that defied the centuries is told in the Disjunctive photoplay, distributed by Goldwyn, "Backbone," from the pen of Clarence Budington Kelland, which was screened at the Circle theater last night and which will be shown again this evening.

The magnitude and power of the great love story he has drawn, Mr. Kelland has risen to new heights as a writer of fiction. And Director Edward Slioman has taken advantage of every ounce of drama and thrill that the original story possessed.

"Backbone" deals with the fulfillment in the Twentieth Century, in northern Maine, of a love story of two young persons who lived hundreds of years ago in France. It is so different from the usual screen story that we do not intend to take away from your enjoyment of the story itself by detailing the plot. It is a picture you must see.

One of the most realistic fights ever screened was staged for "Smashing Barriers," the William Duncan feature which will be shown here tomorrow as one of the features of the continuous show. Duncan and Joe Ryan, whom all fans remember as the

FERRY ROBBSHAW

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Robshaw of 17 Spring street this morning when their daughter, Mildred, was united in marriage to Lawrence B. Perry of Concord, New Hampshire, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Watson Woodruff, pastor of the Central Congregational church. The young couple were unattended and the bride was attired in a traveling suit with hat to match. The Robshaw home was prettily decorated for the occasion by a local florist. Following the ceremony, a reception was held, attended only by intimate friends and relatives.

Miss Robshaw has been employed as assistant bookkeeper at Watkins Brothers for the past three years and Mr. Perry is a graduate of the University of Concord. After a short wedding trip the young couple will reside in Concord, N. H.

BOOK REVIEWS

(By Charles Chipman)

The Marquis de Beaugrevat believed that he had discovered the secret of life. He also believed that he had the secret of suspended animation. So, in July, 1721, he put himself to sleep, leaving behind him instructions for his tombment and for his resurrection in July, 1721. How his descendants gathered at the secret tomb on the appointed day, and what they found, are told by Maurice Le Blanc in "The Secret Tomb" (The Macaulay Co.). The heroine, a charming young lady of twenty-one, Yolande Isabel Dorothy, Princess of Argonne, is proprietor of a small travelling circus and as astute a detective as the cleverest of them all. The Marquis de Beaugrevat, expecting to rise from the grave in July, 1721, had thoughtfully provided for his temporal needs by secreting a fortune in diamonds near his tomb. An adventurer, d'Estreicher, attempts to forestall the rightful heirs in securing the gems, but Dorothy is able to frustrate his plans and save the diamonds for the heirs. This is much better than the average detective story.

A bishop whose zeal for organized Christianity has driven the true Christian spirit from his life; his nephew, an attractive rascal; his no scruples; an insane scholar; his domineering, moody son; a little blind girl who possesses the gift of second sight; and Frances Thorold, secretary to the bishop—these are the principal characters in Ethel M. Dell's latest story, "Tetherstones" (G. P. Putnam's Sons). The book takes its title from the ancient stones of sacrifice which still stand on the moor above the farm where Arthur Dermot and his insane father live and which cast a sinister shadow over the tale. Frances Thorold, driven relentlessly by the bishop until her health gives way from overwork, is offered the friendship and assistance of the bishop's nephew, Montague Rotherby. Circumstances make Frances the involuntary guest of the Dermots at Tetherstones. Blind Ruth acts as her guardian angel on more than one occasion, while surly Arthur Dermot makes love to her in his rough way, and Rotherby seeks to force her into marriage. Frances hardly knows her own mind, but in the end chooses Dermot.

One need not agree with Gilbert Chesterton's point of view in order to enjoy his writings. They are excellent mental whetstones and help one to see the other side of any subject which Chesterton chooses to discuss. His newest book, "Veritas Fada" (Dodd, Mead & Co.), contains some thirty papers of varying length which touch upon some of the most important subjects of the day.

Another lively bit is entitled "Is Darwin Dead?" which is quite as likely to produce results as any of Bryan's more ponderous attacks on evolution. In "The Myth of the Mayflower" Mr. Chesterton does what many other persons have done although that makes it no more excusable in his case—he has confused the Pilgrims with the Puritans and has committed quite as grave an error as the one he fulminates against. But the book will well repay a careful reading despite this mistake.

Was Richard Aylmer, late Flight Commander in the British army a "psychic"? were Rosamund and Lady Betty, Signor Cellini and Lord Francis Grosmont, and Richard himself, living again in reincarnation the drama of long ago; or, was it all hallucination due to Aylmer's unbalanced mental state which in turn had been caused by his accident? If it was the latter, how is one to account for Aylmer's intimate knowledge of Montfort Castle? Whatever answer one gives to these questions, the story of Aylmer's tramping trip through England as told by Louis Tracy in "The Turn-

EUROPE ARMS AGAIN WARNS LLOYD GEORGE.

"And still the task of the British Empire is a great one. It is still the task of keeping watch and ward. It is to teach the world to keep out of war. Will there be another war? I wish I could say no. I wish I could. But you cannot tell. I had hoped that this war would have put an end to it. But now you observe him again taking strong liquor, you know another catastrophe may come."

"So when Europe hobbled into the Sals, Des Glaces at Versailles, terribly injured, terribly torn, she signed a pledge of no more war. And now she is filling herself with the most deadly of explosives. And the next war will not be like the last. All the energies of science in many lands are turned to the development of engines of destruction more terrible than any we ever knew. The next war may destroy civilization."

The former British premier said it was about time the European nations who are arming save a word of recognition to the fact that had it not been for the efforts of the British Empire and the British fleet in particular, they now would be vassal states. He described the British Empire as the only effective league of nations and served warning on the world that what the British Empire had done for liberty she could and would do again. "What would have happened had the British fleet stopped at home? What would have happened if the fleet had stayed in its own harbors for a year or even a half year? What would have happened had the fleet stayed in harbor for even six weeks? France would have been completely isolated, and her African army, which was a very gallant one and fought very well, could never have landed on the shores of France to aid that country. "But for the British fleet the combative power of France would have collapsed in the first few weeks of the war.

MORE THAN TWO BILLION PASSENGERS CARRIED BY NEW ENGLAND STREET RAILWAYS IN 1922.

The following figures were given out at the American Electric Railway Association Convention at Atlantic City today by President C. D. Simmons. The Census Bureau at Washington has just completed a survey of the electric railway operations for 1922 and made possible a preliminary report of its findings for the association members assembled here in convention. Although there were approximately 12,000,000 automobiles in the United States last year, the electric railways of the country carried more passengers in 1922 than ever before in the history of the United States Census Bureau. The total number was 15,317,687, 531.

The largest number of passengers carried previous to 1922 in any one year was 14,506,914,573, carried in 1917. Thus, 1922 shows an increase of about 5 per cent. The report for 1922 also showed that electric railways operating buses carried about 15,000,000 passengers. This number has been greatly increased during 1923 by additional bus service controlled by electric railway companies. Passengers carried in New England in 1922 were as follows: Maine . . . . . 55,575,075 New Hampshire . . . . . 22,270,122 Vermont . . . . . 7,372,195 Massachusetts . . . . . 1,058,708,495 Rhode Island . . . . . 144,980,937 Connecticut . . . . . 209,129,163 The other states in the Union besides Massachusetts in which more than a billion passengers were carried in 1922 were: New York . . . . . 3,311,252,940 Illinois . . . . . 1,753,505,547 Pennsylvania . . . . . 1,662,796,825

First Meeting of New American Child Health Association Arouses Interest of All Nation's Experts

Miss Ella Phillips Crandall, assistant general executive, and Miss Julia W. Abbott, associate director of health education, who will have charge of the activities for the children of pre-school age.

The American Child Health Association, of which Herbert Hoover is the president, was organized in 1917 by the merging of two organizations which for years had been devoted to child health efforts. They were the American Child Hygiene Association and the Child Health Organization of America. The purpose of the American Child Health Association is to provide a central distributing point for the dissemination of useful and timely information on child health subjects. These latter deal not only with children of pre-school and school age, but also with pre-natal care for mothers. The Association has its administrative offices at 370 Seventh Avenue, New York City, while national headquarters is maintained at 532 Seventeenth Street, Washington, D. C. Before accepting her present office with the Association Miss Crandall was for eight years the director of the National Organization for Public Health Nursing. Miss Abbott is a specialist in his or her own field, will be heard and general discussions will be held at round table conferences each day. Two of the most active officials of the Association are shown above. They are Miss Ella Phillips Crandall, assistant general executive, and Miss Julia W. Abbott, associate director of health education, who will have charge of the activities for the children of pre-school age. "Part of France, her grain producing provinces, were cut off and devastated. France had to get food from overseas. Why, even if she had not collapsed without the

NIGHT TRUCK TRAFFIC BECOMES A NUISANCE

Residents Along the Post Road Between New York and Bridgeport Appeal for Relief.

Night motor truck traffic on the Boston Post Road between Bridgeport and New York has become so heavy as to cause some of the residents on that highway to appeal to the state motor vehicle department for relief from motor noises which interfere with their sleep. Not long ago, H. Allen Barton, a Greenwich lawyer, proposed that the local board of health prohibit truck traffic on the Post Road from 11 P. M. to 6 A. M. on the ground that the loss of sleep to residents was injurious to public health.

This resulted in a communication from William S. Wright, counsel for the town, to the motor vehicle department, inquiring as to possible procedure. The reply of the department was that the situation was an enforcement proposition and that the offended citizens should have the protection of their local police by the rigid enforcement of the muffler law. The state law makes unlawful the operation on the public highway at any hour of a motor vehicle with an internal combustion engine not provided with a muffler or other suitable device sufficient to silence the exhaust of the engine so that individual explosions cannot be heard at a distance of 150 feet from the car. The use of muffler valves or other devices to trap the exhaust is specifically prohibited. Acting under this law, the Greenwich authorities have made about thirty arrests within the past two months and, in this way, have succeeded in somewhat silencing the nuisance. The Greenwich board of health was recently advised by the town counsel that the town lacked authority under the law to close the Post Road to truck traffic at any time of the day or night.

NEW LONDON POOR HUNT FOR FUEL

The return of cold weather so clearly indicated in the early morning activities of North Bank street and the small side streets in the vicinity of the New Haven railroad yards. With the need of starting up kitchen ranges and stoves, the women of the very poor families, many of foreign extraction roam the streets near the warehouses seeking stray boxes and bits of kindling wood. Of an early hour these women, with shawls thrown over their heads, and looking as woe begone as a Macbeth witch, wander through the mean streets gathering up kindling and carrying it home. Today one elderly woman pulled a large drygoods box along North Bank street at the end of a rope. The box was too heavy to carry and the poor woman, feeling the need of getting the lumber home, attached the rope and dragged the box after her, peasant fashion. Small children, too, may be seen bringing home kindling. —New London Day.

THE CHAOS MAKERS.

A doctor, an architect and a bolshevik were discussing as to the priority of their occupations. The doctor said: "When Adam's side was opened and a rib removed to make woman, there was a surgical operation—medicine was the oldest trade." The architect said: "Yes, but when the earth was made, out of chaos, there was the building process, the use of materials according to a plan. The architect is still older." The bolshevik smiled and said: "But who supplied the chaos?" —Farm Life.

COLUMBUS DAY.

Columbus Day, October 12, is a legal holiday in 33 states, among them being Connecticut. Finding its inauguration in the worthy desire of American Italians to do honor to a great hero of their race and to commemorate his most outstanding achievement, the celebration soon became popular among Americans of a different racial strain with the result that its observance was recognized officially in many states where the population of Italian birth or descent was scanty or non-existent.

Why the people of the United States had not previously recognized the claims of the great explorer and discoverer to an annual festival in his honor does not appear to have been due to any lack of appreciation of his wonderful work and of his courageous battles against adversity. The District of Columbia proclaims that fact as does the city of Columbus, Ohio, and other evidences of Columbian nomenclature. The inaction probably was due to the national distaste for too many holidays.

Naturally, Italians still are the most prominent attendants at and participants in the exercises and gatherings held on Columbus Day in centers where the Italian element is strong but the celebration is becoming yearly more of a purely American observance. And there is no reason why all Americans should not unite in giving him the meed of credit to the intrepid seaman and scientist who held firm to his dream until it became fact and who was the first to break the news of a wondrous western hemisphere to an astonished world.

Many competent historians have held that the Italian whose first ing it to be that of Columbus, was in reality that of his son Diego. Modern authorities seem inclined to support the Santo Domingo claim.

But, no matter where he was born or where he rests, there is no reason why all Americans should not join today in doing homage to the genius and courage of the great man who refused to be confounded by adversity, who triumphed over all obstacles and whose inspiring slogan was "Sail On."

JAIL FOR BOTTLEGGERS.

With the growing tendency of courts to impose jail sentences for violations of the Volstead act an increasing number of men who are not familiar with the interior of jails are learning how it seems to be confined. Up to date it hasn't been as bad as it might be. Most of the jails in the state are pleasantly located and are surrounded by attractive grounds upon which trusty prisoners are permitted to exercise. As to the interior of the county jails we are not so well posted but we presume that the country jails, at least, are fairly roomy and clean.

As long as rum running and bootlegging provide most of the inmates, birds of a feather will be found together and with card playing, story telling and smoking the hours pass agreeably. They can have superior food sent in at their own expense. Evidently they get special service for we read recently how a group of departing bootleggers presented souvenirs to jail attendants and a pleasant time was had by all before the waiting automobiles whisked the distinguished guests to their homes.

But notwithstanding the gleeful air with which the returned prisoners greeted their friends and the tales they told of the happy homes in jail they will not, we assume, care to repeat the experience. Forced absence from one's accustomed haunts is not agreeable even when one is confined to a sickroom with every care and comfort. It must be even more tedious when passed behind the iron bars of a prison. A cot in a cell cannot be as comfortable as a bed at home. And no matter how comfortable money and "pull" can make the serving of a jail sentence no one is really proud to have it known that he has been locked up with thieves and bums in the county jail. One dose of that sort will be enough for most men.

need of social welfare work among the negroes and an organized endeavor to teach them to live their lives to the greater benefit of both themselves and the city. We have arraigned the South for its treatment of the negro; we should not be ready to admit defeat easily in our own handling of the grave racial problem involved.

ALIENS CAN NOT HUNT. One of the features that differentiates this year's hunting season from all others is the denial of hunting licenses in Connecticut to aliens. An act of the 1923 session of the General Assembly declares that no alien resident in the State shall be licensed to hunt.

of the dispute with its endless re-primations is a bad thing for the institution and for all immediately concerned. A decision would end the continued rushing into prison of Mrs. Rogers, the minority member of the board of directors, and the consequent repiles of her opponents. "The trial of the case in the newspapers has proceeded quite long enough. It would seem that the department of public welfare and the governor have had ample opportunity and time to make their minds as to the best way to deal with the subject. The state will be glad when the matter is settled in some way that will end the dispute."

marked decline in the number of horses. In many centers there has been a change from ebb to flow, indicating that the horse is still far from having outlived his usefulness in certain branches of business activity, even where economy of operation is the deciding factor.

NEGROES IN THE NORTH. While the migration northward of southern negroes has been mainly to industrial centers farther west, Connecticut has been getting a substantial share of the influx. The big reduction in immigration from abroad owing to the drastic restrictions imposed by the present quota law has created an unsatisfied demand for labor in this state that apparently can be supplied under existing conditions only by the negro workmen who have been deserting their jobs in the South for several years past.

They are still coming north, bringing with them problems that must be faced and solved if they are to live with benefit to themselves and the community. Speakers at a recent meeting of the Hartford central council of social agencies showed that there are now 6,500 negroes in Hartford, an increase of 2,500 since 1920. The result has been congested housing conditions in the older residential parts of the city.

The speakers urged the pressing

Sense and Nonsense

Playing Safe. The dear old lady entered a local drug store and looked doubtfully at the youthful clerk behind the counter. "I suppose," she began "that you are a properly qualified pharmacist?" "Yes, madame." "You have passed all the examinations?" "Certainly." "Never poisoned anybody by mistake?" "Not to my knowledge." "Very well then," she replied, "having a slight relief and laying out for the counter. 'You may have some of the best of our'

WAS PAUL REVERE'S HORSE A BAY OR A BLACK? America doesn't know the color of its best known horse, the one ridden by Paul Revere when he made his famous ride to Lexington and Concord to warn the Colonists. Because of such inaccuracy in historical records, the motion picture industry has taken steps for the foundation of an independent historical research bureau, under the direction of Will H. Hays.

Correct this sentence: Yes, he is our child, boasted the mother, and he is absolutely unspooled. We heard a minister say the other day that if you put a barbed wire fence on each side of it you couldn't keep some men in the straight and narrow path. It's often a grave mistake to ignore "Safety First."

One thing that America should make at home and not import is her population. Behind him lay the gray Asores, Behind the Gates of Hercules; Before him not the ghost of shores, Before him only shoreless seas. The good mate said: "Now must we pray." For lo! the very stars are gone. Brave Admiral, speak, what shall I say? "Why, say 'Sail on! sail on! and on!'" "My men grow mutinous day by day; to be a... the discovery of Lief the Lucky was of no benefit to mankind until Columbus, five centuries later, blazed a pathway across the still unknown Atlantic and sent adventurers, priests and dreamers surging westward to the El Dorado of fabulous wealth their fancies pictured. The time was not ripe in the days of the vikings; the newborn European civilization was still in its swaddling clothes. When Columbus sailed, a civilized world was afe with dreams of a vast wealth of the Indies and his return, with practical proofs of his discovery, sent the galleons of Spain forth to the subjugation of still unknown empires in a treasure house so vast and so rich as to transcend their wildest imaginings.

Columbus went to sea at the age of fourteen and in a few years became a hardy and skilled mariner and fighter in days when no ship at any time was free from danger of attack. He was a life long student, we are told, of Latin, higher mathematics, astronomy, nautical science and cosmography. He had convinced himself that the world was round and that by sailing westward he would eventually reach the Indies, the present Orient and eastern Asia, tales of whose wealth already had reached the Mediterranean through the medium of travelers and overland caravan traders.

His struggles to obtain financial backing to fit out a fleet have been told and retold as well as his final success at the court of Ferdinand and Isabella of Spain. His courage was unmistakable. In spite of all obstacles he persevered. His success raised up many enemies against him and he was brought home in chains from the governorship of Hispaniola.

Sixteen towns in Italy claim to be his birthplace but the great navigator always claimed Genoa as his natal city. The final resting place of his mortal remains has been in dispute, Spain claiming that he rests in the Cathedral of Seville. Santo Domingo, however, contends that his body was buried in the cathedral on that island and is planning to erect a splendid lighthouse in honor of its discoverer. A recent Spanish authority upholds the Santo Domingo position, asserting that when the Spaniards were driven from the island by the English in 1495 the leader carried with them, suppos-

Harris made public at Boston that "it is just as much the duty of the courts to hold any over zealous or untrained prohibition agent within the law as to see that the bootlegger is punished" is pertinent and timely. If the hasty critics who feel that it is a disgrace that prohibition is not made immediately and fully effective and condemn the courts for not imposing long jail sentences "would but read the law they might see that the punishments are in express terms limited."

The Eighteenth Amendment is a part of the Constitution, but only a part, and "it has to be read and administered together with other parts, namely the fourth and fifth amendments, which set just as specific and just as binding." The Volstead Act is law but neither the courts nor the prosecuting officers have any power to go beyond its terms.

Those persons who are willing to strain or smash other laws in order that one law in which they are particularly interested may be enforced at any cost must share the responsibility for the present widespread and universally deplored disregard of all law. Two wrongs never will make one right, more especially when one of those wrongs consist in ignoring the plain guarantees of the bill of rights.

While the migration northward of southern negroes has been mainly to industrial centers farther west, Connecticut has been getting a substantial share of the influx. The big reduction in immigration from abroad owing to the drastic restrictions imposed by the present quota law has created an unsatisfied demand for labor in this state that apparently can be supplied under existing conditions only by the negro workmen who have been deserting their jobs in the South for several years past.

They are still coming north, bringing with them problems that must be faced and solved if they are to live with benefit to themselves and the community. Speakers at a recent meeting of the Hartford central council of social agencies showed that there are now 6,500 negroes in Hartford, an increase of 2,500 since 1920. The result has been congested housing conditions in the older residential parts of the city.

Previously hunting licenses had been issued to aliens at a largely enhanced fee. The total prohibition has been a step in the right direction. In the past, citizenship has been regarded too often as more of a right than a privilege. Aliens have neglected to become naturalized, some because they had and have no intention of remaining in this country beyond the time necessary to accumulate enough money to keep them in comfort in their homelands, others because they were careless of the advantages and not sufficiently impressed with the value of the privileges conferred by naturalization and still others who had never had their disabilities brought before them in concrete fashion. The amended hunting law is one of the valuable levers which bring home to the alien the material consequences of his neglect or of his contempt.

Not all large cities show such a marked decline in the number of horses. In many centers there has been a change from ebb to flow, indicating that the horse is still far from having outlived his usefulness in certain branches of business activity, even where economy of operation is the deciding factor.

My men grow ghastly wan, and weak. The stout mate thought of home; a spray Of salt water washed his swarthy cheek. "What shall I say, brave Admiral, say, If we sight naught but seas at dawn?" "Why, you shall say at break of day, 'Sail on! sail on! sail on! and on!'" They called and sailed, as winds might blow. Until at last the blanched mate said: "Why, not even God would know Should I and all my men fall dead. These very winds forget their way, For God from these dread seas is gone. Now speak, brave Admiral, speak and say—" He said: "Sail on! sail on! and on!" They sailed. They sailed. Then spake the mate: "This mad sea shows his teeth tonight. ### Park Theatre

Today is the last showing of the Park theater of "Environment" and Lloyd Hamilton in "F. O. B." These two pictures are well worth a long trip to see. "Environment" was written by Harvey Gates, an experienced writer for the silent drama, and the picture is characterized by tense scenes, excellent acting and beautiful photography. The story is one that holds the attention from beginning to end without resorting to impossible or false situations. This production by Mr. Cummings, is a worthy addition to his large list of famous pictures. "Environment" is a drama of the city's underworld and the healthy atmosphere of the country. The locale of the story is Chicago and a small community some miles distant. The action Eighteen—perhaps twenty—husky young men, students of the South Manchester High School will endeavor to make the name of the school resound from one end of this tight little state to the other tomorrow afternoon when they, as a football team, the first in twenty-five years to play East Hartford High varsity in the first struggle of the season for the locals. A real fighting machine has been welded together by Head Coach Clarke and from present indications the squad is going to give the neighbors a real tussle.

Captain Carlson confident that his team is ready. He said: "We are not looking for a large score this game, I believe that the team will acquit itself in a commendable manner. Most of the members are going into their first game and the East Hartford team will enjoy the advantage only; we are going to win!"

Coch Clarke when interviewed said: "The boys are all in excellent shape for the first game. I realize that the team must get the stage fright stage, and when it does, East Hartford is going to be entertained in a forcible manner. I believe the boys will

Guessing Football Signals Almost Impossible Against Any Modern College Outfit

There is considerable consternation at Columbia University over the suspicion that the Amherst football players guessed the Columbia signals during the game last Saturday. The Columbia signals have been changed as a result of these suspicions. Of course, the Columbia would not insinuate that the Amherst young men came into possession of their signals by any unfair means. Such things happen only in the moving pictures and in college fiction, which uniformly is literary junk.

If the Amherst football players guessed the Columbia signals during the game they are the most nimble witted young men who ever capered across a gridiron. William J. Burns had better look to Amherst graduates as possible members of his secret service. Any young men who can compute figures and arrive at results in the heat of a football game are born to be natural gumbush men.

The belief that the Amherst men knew more than they were supposed to know about the Columbia signals is based on the fact that the Amherst line seemed strangely quick to smear some of the plays prepared by Percy Haughton, Columbia coach, and one of the recognized football strategists. But could not this have been because the Amherst men had some theories of their own and some notion of the Columbia plan of battle based upon their own training?

To the minds of many the advantages of guessing the other team's signals is negligible. One of the greatest of the football coaches was once asked if his team ever tried to figure out the signals of their opponents.

"Hell, no," he said with considerable emphasis. "If I had the other team's signals the night before a football game I would tear them up and forget about them. They have enough trouble as it is."

When the opposing players hear the signals given in the Yiddish tongue they are thrown into utter confusion. The variety turns the tables. The gambler is caught in the bucket shop drag net, and here marries the beautiful daughter of the Yiddish prof and

Local Sport Chatter

More the Herald gives ser- 1925 home start Sunday and expect a big crowd to watch the game. Soccer is fast gaining in popularity in this neck of the woods.

First hand information on the clash between the faculties of the High school and Trade school are given in tonight's Herald, due to the hard work done by Kid Judatz, staff correspondent, who announced the results from Station BYD immediately after the game.

The crowd around the Herald office on Oak street yesterday was bigger than ever but there was only one woman in it. Of course, as in other years, women are most interested in the world's series, according to the number of phone calls that come to the office. The women outnumber the men in phone calls about three to one.

And the force in the office worked like a bunch of "naysurs" all through the game, giving the plays just as soon as they were made, direct through Barstow's radio from the Polo Grounds.

Also, the extra, which was out soon after the game, told the story in toto, inning by inning and all that.

FICKLE FORTUNE FAVORS YANKS WITH BETTING ODDS ON OUTCOME OF TODAY'S BATTLE

Silk Town Team After Scalps of Hartford Swedes

In 2 starts, just one team that is playing soccer in this state, has been able to down the Manchester team and that is the Scandia A. C. of Hartford. On Saturday afternoon the local tribe will wander into Charter Oak Park in Hartford and teach the mighty sons of Vikings the proper manner to boot a pigskin around the lot.

A team may take liberties with the locals, that is it can go just so far, and then things start to happen. The Swedes are considered pretty much the class in these parts. But then, too, the Manchester team is some pumpkins when it comes to playing the now popular game of soccer.

The local players are out to even up the count even though the game played with the Swedes did not count in the State League season. The team will leave Hartford on the 1:15 trolley.

Ruth's Two Home Runs Create World's Record—Nehf and Jones Likely to Start Today.

(By David J. Walsh.)
New York, Oct. 12.—With the status returned to its pre-war condition of Wednesday, the deep thinkers of the Giants and the deep thinkers of the Yankees will resume operations in the third game of the world's series at the Yankee Stadium today each harboring the conviction that theirs, and some other, is the system that must prevail. The Giants, thinking deep, subtle thoughts, conspired to win the opening game the Yankees, hitting deep, non-subtle hits, won the second. The rest of the series may now be entitled the hangman's choice, or pull the rope and run.

However, those of speculative turn of mind are pleased to believe that the odds lie with the Yankees. They again made the latter six to five in the betting today and one hardy soul even went so far as to lay $7,000 against $6,000 at a famo Broadway rendezvous.

He was still under the spell of the two home runs waffled out of the park yesterday by our Mr. Ruth, tending to indicate that John McGraw can no longer think faster than our hero can hit.

John will try again today however, and is almost certain to use Art Nehf's left hand as his medium of expression. Nehf, long a source of mystery to Yankee hitting, is somewhat overdue in this series. He was the unanimous selection of the narrow-eyed, calculating experts to pitch the opening game. He did not. They spoke for him as the inevitable choice for the second game. He was not. They have now decided that he will pitch the third game for a certainty and we can do no less than string along. If our certainista Nehf is enough, Mr. Nehf will pitch the game and the experts will be right, severally and in toto.

Sam Jones, the best pitcher on Huggins' staff and known as Sad Sam, more for the sake of euphony than the fact of his lugubrious outlook, will appear for the Yankees unless he breaks a neck or drinks meadage by mistake. He is the curve ball wonder of the staff and

A large cheering section will probably follow the team through its first baptism of fire. The moral encouragement will be sorely needed in this game. The faculty are behind the movement and will also attend the game.

Fast Aggressive Aggregation.

From the start of the season it was apparent that the team would be fast, light and above all else aggressive. This first opinion has been borne out to a great extent. The team will be fast, it will be aggressive, with just the right amount of heft in the center of the line.

WARREN'S WARRIORS TRIM QUIMBY'S BOYS

Angeli Invincible on Mound While Mates Slam Humphrey All Over With Stick.

Angeli's wonderful pitching for the Trade school faculty yesterday afternoon won for them against the High school by the overwhelming score of 10 to 2. The High school team were able to garner only three hits off Angeli's delivery and these, with two errors on the part of the Trade school, allowed them to score their two runs.

A wonderful catch by Bill Hanna for the Trade school in the second inning was the feature of the game. Hits for the Trade school were scattered but Warren, Dillon and Angeli were the bright lights, each of these men getting two out of three.

Four innings was the limit for darkness. If it had gone more than four there is no telling the score that the Trade school might have piled up.

THE YOUNGESTER WHO OWNS A HIGH POWERED RADIO IS ARRIVING HOME FROM SCHOOL ON THE DEAD RUN THESE DAYS ACCOMPANIED BY MOST OF HIS PALS.

Backfield Well Balanced.

The backfield is fast and well balanced. Squash can fit in anywhere on the team and it will not be amiss if Coach Clarke decided to send him in at end for a while. Dalquist looks like one of the best halfback men ever developed in town and if he keeps up his present pace, college scouts are going to be after him when he completes his course at the local school.

Masey has played with outside teams and has football sense. Carlson, captain and a veteran of the Pirates team is sure to give a shining example to the rest of the squad. At quarter, Zwick seems to have the call over the rest of the candidates. It may be possible that Dowd will be used in there for a few minutes.

LaCross at center handles the ball well for a first year man. Quish might make it go for part of the game but he does not seem sure of himself. Potterton and Dugan with Allen and Horton make up the real heavy part of the squad and will alternate at guard.

The backfield are well taken care of. Joyce and Little seem the most likely of the four candidates to get the call at the start of the game. Mistretto will probably be forced to remain at home. He is another find at the local school that bids fair to make a name for himself. Treat is not consistent at practice but takes to football like a duck to water and he might get the call in one of the periods.

Gill, Karnski, Kerr and Rice will be on the sidelines ready for instant playing. These players are almost sure of a chance tomorrow against East Hartford. The team will leave here at 1:45 o'clock.

the only Yank ready and Bush having been eliminated, in the first game and Shawkey and Mays being laid aside for a rainy day or so.

Speaking of rain, the early morning conditions today were suggestive, a heavy mist hanging around like a man out of work. Later, however, the fog lifted and a pale, anemic sun cast optimism over the scene, if any. The official forecast called for fair weather. It was right. So far, the weather has been just fair.

To the several hundred prominent street cleaners who waited outside the closed gates this morning, the sun was the most beautiful sun seen in the east since yesterday. At least, this was the report of the police, who speak with authority since they are held responsible for whatever the Mocos may do.

The overnight line up was as a harbinger of a near-capacity crowd at the stadium this afternoon. Had the Yankees been beaten yesterday the attendance would have fallen off after the manner of a drunkard from the curbstone. But the ability of the Yankees, particularly Ruth, to hit them high and far, in spite of the intelligence of the Giant manager, has captured the popular fancy and it is probable that all the buttonhole makers in the Bronx will be there today.

Another matter that has appealed to the Merry Villagers is the fact that McGraw has continued to have his men pitch to Ruth at all times. In no instance since this annual bromide began in 1917, has the Giant manager issued instructions to pass Ruth intentionally, although there has been moments when this proceeding would have been the best of good strategy. One of these came in the ninth inning of yesterday's game, with two out and Dugan on second base. The trick, there would have been to walk any dangerous hitter but Bentley pitched to Ruth with all the aplomb of one facing a sham 2 pitcher and retired him on a long fly to Stengel.

Atlas Basketball Team Meets Tonight

Members of the Atlas basketball team of last year, and anyone else interested in joining the club, are requested to attend a meeting at the School street Rec. center at 7:30 o'clock.

The Atlas quintet enjoy a fine reputation throughout the state and it is expected that a new aggregation will be played in the near future. The makeup of the team this year will remain in doubt until after few practice sessions. The squad looked fine at the close of the past season, and indications point to the return of most of the players for fall sessions.

Herbie Playell will probably be the business manager. He has had a lot of experience in this work and would make the club a first class outfit.

THE EVENING HERALD'S MARKET PAGES

MACCABEES ENJOY A MERRY EVENING

Pleasant Gathering Featured by Presentation to Mrs. "Mary Taylor" of the Herald.

More than twenty-five persons, members of the Maccabee Guard Club and invited guests, gathered at the home of Mrs. Ethel Cowles of 461 Woodbridge street last evening and enjoyed an oyster supper, which also included cold meats, delicious salads, and all the other accompaniments of a bountiful meal. The banqueters filled two long tables in the apartment building and did full justice to the good things placed before them. Vocal and instrumental music helped to pass a merry evening.

Following the supper, Mrs. Cowles in behalf of the members of the Guard Club, presented to "Mary Taylor" of the Herald, one of the invited guests, a box of beautiful Madeira embroidered handkerchiefs as a token of their appreciation of the favorable publicity received through the columns of the Herald by her reports and notices of local, state and supreme Maccabee affairs.

Mrs. Taylor, in thanking the ladies for their dainty gift which prompted it, said it was honor enough to be invited to such a banquet without in addition receiving such an acceptable gift. Though a member of the order and for many years its head, she disclaimed showing any special favoritism to the Maccabees. It was the aim of the Herald at all times to exploit the activities of the local men and women's and church organizations for the public good whenever favorable reports were obtainable. One of the pleasant features of newspaper work, which is trying at best, is the letters and words of appreciation that are frequently received—the bouquets outnumber the bricks.

The regular monthly business of the club then followed and matters of importance were discussed. A report in regard to the rest room provided by the members during the Centennial celebration, indicated that this room was very well patronized and appreciated by visitors. Over one hundred registered but more failed to do so. Mrs. Sheridan, wife of the proprietor of the new Sheridan Hotel, offered the use of one of the stores in the building for the rest room, which was comfortably fitted up by a committee appointed by the W. B. A. of the Maccabees.

Many of the local members will attend the meeting at Sunshine Hall, Hartford, this morning.

NUMBER THREE

was grilled for several hours early today.

Developments

Investigation into the affair during the morning has revealed the fact that Mrs. Leslie and Maas on Wednesday night dined at a local roadhouse and there struck up an acquaintance with nine Bridgeport men who were on their way home from a baseball game. New York. Four of the men, it is said, went to the Leslie home with Maas at her invitation and remained there late in the evening. Mrs. Leslie at the time was in bed. Local police say they have the men's names and are inquiring into that phase of the story.

Maas at noon today was declared to be out of danger in the hospital and in a statement revealed the fact that he has no idea of any motive behind the attack. He told local authorities he heard screams from outdoors and rushed onto the porch to be shot down. Mrs. Leslie at the same time today declared that she believed robbery to be the motive, but investigating authorities have dismissed that idea and are working on the theory that jealousy was the cause.

Mrs. Leslie, with her maid, was closeted with Prosecutor Walsh in Greenwich until nearly noon, gave her age as 42 and Maas' age as 52. She also stated her husband had been dead for fifteen years.

Authorities have learned also that the house on Ledge Road, Sound Beach, has been the scene of great activity in the line of entertainment, especially of theatrical people. Geraldine Farrar has been a frequent visitor there.

a more vital and active part in conducting dry raids.

3. That prosecuting attorneys and courts deal more severely with liquor law violators, imposing jail sentences as well as heavy fines.

4. That purchasers of contraband wet goods be dealt with as severely as sellers.

5. That more speed and preference be given liquor cases in the courts.

Other Subjects.

Besides prohibition two other important subjects, and only two, suppression of the dope traffic, and "bootlegging of immigrants" are on the program of the conference which has received the official sanction of President Coolidge.

An official White House spokesman said today that the meeting will deal "solely and totally with law enforcement." This means that there must be no questioning of the exigency or propriety of the laws; that these measures are on the statute books as the law of the land, and as such, regardless of personal or sectional opinion, must be enforced strictly—and by cooperation of federal and state units. President Coolidge, in outlining the program has made this point emphatically clear.

private ends; threats of prosecution; jail sentences and investigations flew thick and fast.

Max D. Steuer, attorney for Stokes, went on record as charging Samuel Untermyer, chief of Mrs. Stokes' counsel had prevailed upon First Assistant District Attorney Ferdinand Pecora through Untermyer's son-in-law, Stanley Richter, formerly of Pecora's staff, to force Stokes' witnesses to admit perjury in testimony they gave at the first divorce trial in 1921.

Pecora, in court, pledged to go upon the stand and refute this charge.

Untermyer, in turn, countered with the repeated charge that Stokes had bought testimony with gold.

floor of the bridge with wooden blocks. The Park street bridge is altogether too narrow and perhaps within a few years it will be necessary to widen it, and it was deemed advisable to have the bridge re-planked for the time being.

Property owners on Middle Turnpike East have petitioned the board for sidewalks and curbs. A hearing will be accorded the property owners within a short time, but it is doubtful whether it would be possible to have the sidewalks built this year. An effort will be made to have the curbing on the south side of the street laid for some distance. This would give the Manchester Construction Company an opportunity to build a temporary walk in front of their new building at the corner.

George E. Keith and John Alford, who were appointed at the last meeting as grand jurors, did not care to serve and Arthur E. Bowers and John Jensen were appointed in their stead.

A letter from H. L. Wilson, town sealer of weights and measures, stated that he did not care for the job any longer at the present salary. He claimed he put more than half his time into the work and for that he gets $360 a year. He said he would be willing to resign the position for $400. The board voted to investigate the matter, by finding out what sealers received in other towns of Manchester's size.

Letters were received from most of those who received appointments at the last meeting of the selectmen, such as cemetery committees, etc., accepting their various duties.

Emil L. G. Hohensthal, Jr., sent a letter to the board asking for an extra light on Ridgewood street. He also wants a portion of Ridgewood street accepted as a town highway. The letter states that he and his sons had practically built up the street and intended to build more houses there. By having the street accepted all the way through it would be possible to get sidewalks and curbing. The matter was referred to the highway committee.

Building Inspector Elliott rendered his report for the month of September. Practically all of the permits issued during the month have been referred to the Planning Board for their consideration. The building permits issued during that time amounted to $500.

The board at the last meeting voted to buy the five foot strip of land on Eldridge street from Main to the dry brook. The price asked for the strip is $1800. This is practically what the owners paid for it. This land is needed for the purpose of widening Eldridge street to the regular forty foot limit. An option is to be secured on the property and the matter will be brought before a special town meeting.

Either Hollister or Washington street are almost an absolute necessity. These sidewalks will lead to the new school of the Eighth District and the school building committee have asked the selectmen to see that a walk is built there. However, the present sidewalk contractor has all he can do to complete the walks on Starbuck and Strickland streets before frost sets in. It is probable another contractor will be asked to undertake the job and that a walk will be built on Hollister street.

Building Inspector Edward Elliott, Jr., asked for a raise of salary. He claims he is devoting almost his entire time to the work of building inspector. He asked the selectmen for a salary of $1200 a year and transportation, or $1500 a year and he would take care of his own transportation. As in the case of the sealer of weights and measures, the board will investigate and see what other building inspectors receive in other towns and cities of Manchester's size.

The meeting adjourns about 10:45.

HIGHLAND PARK.

There will be a dance following the entertainment by the Griswold Duo tomorrow evening. An orchestra has been provided to furnish music for the occasion. All those who have not already secured their tickets for the entertainment course should apply to L. M. Foster. The same series of entertainments has been chosen by the Manchester Community Club. Sunday afternoon at 2:30, on the Highland Park Community Club athletic field, there will be a photograph taken of the Highland Park group who participated in the Centennial Pageant. It is desired that all appear promptly at 2:30, attired in the costumes they wore in the pageant.

WILLS IN BOUT

PROVES HIS ABILITY.

New York, Oct. 12.—Harry Willis, the giant negro heavyweight, dispelled a lot of uncertainty today as to whether he is a latent contender for a match with Champion Jack Dempsey. He is.

The big black had everything his own way throughout the bout. Homer recently gained a lot of fame by striking ten rounds with Luis Angel Firpo. Willis was faster on his feet than Firpo, for he succeeded in catching up with Homer and plastering him all over the lot in slightly less than two rounds. Homer was running most of the time except when he was in a reeling position on the canvas.

It was an unusual fight, this come-back of Harry Willis. He never landed a clean blow from distance during the battle. The reason was that Homer would not get far-enough-away from him. That being the case, Willis resignedly proceeded to cut Homer down with terrific body smashes at close range. Every time his glove landed it left an angry red mark on Homer's white body. Whatever else the bout proved, it showed that Willis can hit. Whether he can take it or not is another question. He did not have to take anything from Homer. Smith went down and took a count five times in the first round—all from body punches. Each time he went down there was a grunt that could be heard fifty feet from the ringside. Willis can hit. Ask Homer.

C. N. G. CHANGES

Hartford, Conn., Oct. 12.—John H. Liebig, second lieutenant, Headquarters Company, Second Battalion, 168th Infantry, has resigned that commission and is honorably discharged, according to an announcement today by the adjutant general's office. Sergeant Harry S. Stengle, of the same company, has been promoted to succeed Lieut. Liebig.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Rye, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Election of officers was the outstanding feature of the annual convention of the Savings Bank Association of New York state which was to close today. No opposition is expected to develop to the re-election of the present officers headed by Victor A. Lerner, president, and it is believed they will retain their positions.

WORLD RECORD.
New York, Oct. 12.—Although individual players have hit two home runs in the same World's Series game, the feat of Babe Ruth in smashing a pair in successive innings yesterday constituted a World's Series record, it developed today. Others who made two home runs in one game include Pat Dougherty of Boston, against the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1903; Harry Hooper, also of the Red Sox, against the Phillies in 1915 and Benny Kauff of the Giants, against the White Sox in 1917.

TWO KILLED BY AUTO.
Southport, Conn., Oct. 12.—Following a collision between a car driven by James M. Brown, 244 Plymouth street, New Haven, and a truck driven by D. Rosanoff, 231 Pine street, Bridgeport, here today, both cars plunged down an embankment on the Post Road and injured Brown and his young daughter while Rosanoff escaped with a shaking up. The Browns were treated by a local doctor.

LITTLE JACK RABBIT By DAVID CORY

In the valley, green and neat,
I see the print of little feet;
And, way, way, yonder in the glen.

Little Jack Rabbit gave Dapple Gray a gentle tap and away went his pretty little pony and by and by, not so very far, they came to the place where the little men were at work. And what do you suppose they were doing? Why, you'd never guess if I gave you till next Christmas.

They were making maple syrup from the sap of the maple trees. First they boiled the sap in great big pots and then put it away to cool in queer little dishes of various shapes and when the sugar hardened, it was in the form of funny little fish, queer little houses, strange animals and goodness knows what.

"Oh, we are the sugar candy men. And we work all day in the snow To make the maple sugar cakes. To sell in the town below."

sang one little man who wore a red peaked hat and long turned-up, pointed shoes.

On seeing Little Jack Rabbit, however, they all stopped their work and the little man who had been singing, pulled off his cap and asked:

"What brings you here? Are you fond of maple sugar candy?"

"I know lots of little boys and girls who are," answered the little bunny with a grin.

"Well, hold open your pockets," said the little man, and standing up on a stump along side Dapple Gray, he filled the bunny boy's pockets to overflowing. Wasn't that nice of him?" said

There was a toll keeper.

Little Jack Rabbit, "what can I do for you?"

Go to yonder town and tell the dear old lady who keeps the Goody-Sweet-Tooth Shop that we will bring her candy tomorrow."

"All right," answered the little rabbit boy and off he went to the little town down the valley.

By and by, after a while and many a mile, and a song and a smile, for he felt very happy with all those nice candies in his pocket, he came to a bridge over a river, on the other side of which nestled a little town among the trees.

Now there was a toll keeper, a funny little old lady with a crutch under her arm at the entrance to the bridge, but you must wait until the next story to hear what she did.

FREIGHT CAR LOADINGS BIGGEST IN HISTORY.

In the week ended September 29 more cars were loaded with revenue freight than in any other week in railroad history.

The total was 1,097,274 cars. This exceeded by 4,707 cars the previous record which was established for the week of September 1, this year, when the total was 1,092,567 cars.

While freight loadings are ordinarily heavier at this time of year than at any other owing especially to the seasonal crop and coal movements, the total for the week of September 29 far exceeds other weeks in the autumn months in previous years. Up to 1922 the record loading for any one week in history was 1,018,533 cars, in the week of October 15, 1920, but that figure has been surpassed eleven times out of the fifteen weeks this year that the million car loading mark has been exceeded.

THE FLAG GOES BY

By Henry Holcomb Bennett
Hats off!
Along the street there comes
A blare of bugles, a ruffle of drums,
A flash of color beneath the sky:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!

Blue and crimson and white it shines,
Over the steel-tipped, ordered lines;
Hats off!
The colors before us fly;
But more than the flag is passing by.

Sea-fights and land-fights, grim and great,
Fought to make and to save the State;
Wearry marches and sinking ships;
Cheers of victory on dying lips;

Days of plenty and years of peace;
March of a strong land's swift increase;
Equal justice, right and law,
Stately honor and reverend awe;

Sign of a nation, great and strong
To ward her people from foreign wrong;
Pride and glory and honor,—all
Live in the colors to stand or fall.

Hats off!
Along the street there comes

And loyal hearts are beating high:
Hats off!
The flag is passing by!

SHIPPING BOARD SELLS GROTON PARK.

Groton Park, the colony of wartime built houses near the Groton Iron Works, was sold at auction yesterday for $165,000. The auction, ordered by the U. S. Shipping board, was the largest realty action of its kind in years for Connecticut.

The entire colony, built in an emergency to house the influx of iron workers, comprises 98 dwelling houses, most of which are fitted with all modern improvements and 30 or more tracts of land from a hundred feet square to five acres in area.

Every unit of the colony was sold individually and the small village was almost entirely cleaned out by realty operators from New Haven, Bridgeport and New York. —New London Day.

STOGIE HAKS WARNING

The stogie habit is losing ground in favor of the cigarette, and the cigar makers of the United States are grumbling about it. There was a decrease of over a billion and a half in the number of cigars smoked last year while cigarette consumption in 1922 jumped to fifty billion as against two and a half billion in 1920.

THE POLITICAL PAY ROLL.

A Chicago writer on finance, George W. Hinman, in response to an inquiry as to whether it is a fact that the enormous sum of $4,000,000,000, or thereabouts, is spent annually upon the political payroll throughout the United States, presents for consideration many interesting facts and deductions for the taxpayer to take into account when he rages at the high cost of living. It is true that this huge amount, more or less, is actually paid to the 3,500,000 persons who are attached to the payrolls of the federal, state and local governments from which it appears that nearly one-half of the $3,500,000,000 which is required to meet the cost of government in the United States goes to officeholders.

The first impression made by this statement of fact is that nearly one-half of the revenues of the governments, which are raised by general taxation, go into wages so that it is inevitable that the greatest direct burden placed upon the business of the country is the cost of executive, administrative and clerical service. Says this writer: "In the federal service alone there are about 150,000 more government employees than there were before the war. These 150,000 employees probably amount for $250,000,000 to $300,000,000 a year with salaries and expenses included. For local governments the waste on superfluous officials cannot be less. It probably is far more. And it all comes out of taxes; most of it out of taxes that burden business and wages and employment that divert and scatter the capital of enterprise, that are really as useless for the serious purposes of a great nation as the money spent on vanity tags, joy rides, lip sticks and gum." It is impossible to believe that this obvious waste of the peoples' hard earned money originates elsewhere than in the reckless attitude of the politicians who seek in numerous employees so many political units to utilize for personal ends. The business of the country managed on any such understanding of financial responsibility and directing integrity would go under in a year's time. If the government was actually in business, it would speedily correct

Hoover Announces Better Homes Prizes

School Children of Port Huron, Mich., Capture First Award in National Competition.

Secretary Hoover has announced the awards for the demonstrations held during Better Homes Week, June 4 to 10, throughout the country.

Port Huron, Mich., wins first prize in competition with 1,000 towns and cities.

The demonstration was conducted by 150 school children, the Community Civic class of the Washington Junior High School. They built, demonstrated and sold at a profit a model home.

The prize, which is $500, is one of seven cash prizes given by The Delinicator for Better Homes week.

The second prize, $200, went to the committee of St. Helena, S. C. This is an island community with a population of 6,000 negroes and sixty whites. The third prize of $100 went to the committee of the Atlanta Woman's Club, Atlanta, Ga. The remaining four prizes of $50 each were won by Clarkburg, W. Va.; Greenville, S. C.; New Haven, Conn., and Sacramento, Calif.

The Delinicator awarded a special prize of $200 to the Upper Montserrat, N. J. Committee for unusual features, and particularly for obtaining a permanent demonstration in their department of education.

Notifying Miss Elizabeth Carlisle, teacher of the civic class at Port Huron, of the award, Secretary Hoover, who is chairman of the national council of Better Homes in America, states:

"The members of the council felt that the management of the demonstration by a group of students proved most effective in obtaining a well-balanced demonstration house at a moderate price, and in carrying the message of Better Homes to the families of the entire community."

The cities receiving honorable mention are Atlanta, Texas; Baton Rouge, La.; Bethesda, Md.; Birmingham, Ala.; Bluefield, W. Va.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; Clayton, Mo.; Cuba, N. Y.; Duluth, Minn.; Edgewood, Ala.; Elizabeth, N. J.; Fargo, N. D.; Florence, S. C.; Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Gulfport, Miss.; Hamilton, Ohio; Hampton and Newport News, Va.; Iowa Falls, Iowa; Jefferson City, Mo.; Logansport, Ind.; Lorain, Ohio; Miami, Fla.; Newark, N. J.; New Brunswick, N. J.; Oakland, Calif.; Ogden City, Utah; Oklaoma, Okla.; Paterson, N. J.; Petoskey, Mich.; Plainfield, N. J.; Rahway, N. J.; San Antonio, Texas; Seymour, Ind.; Spokane, Wash.

School Children at Port Huron, Michigan, win first Better Homes Prize of $500.00 by building this home, demonstrating it, and selling it at a profit.

Sterling, Ohio; St. Louis, Mo.; Toledo, Ohio; West Hoboken, N. J.; Zanesville, Ohio.

The Port Huron demonstration began last January when the students of the class secured a loan of $500 from a local citizen. With this money they built a workman's home, induced the local stores to lend them furniture to furnish it, demonstrated it to the interested inhabitants of the city and then sold it at a public auction at a profit.

In his letter, Mr. Hoover states further: "The relation of the home to the entire welfare and development of the community, that you emphasized in your civic class. With this money they built a workman's home, induced the local stores to lend them furniture to furnish it, demonstrated it to the interested inhabitants of the city and then sold it at a public auction at a profit."

"It was our feeling that the example set in Port Huron will serve as a stimulus to other communities."

"I wish also to state my commendation of the Delinicator, in its public spirited disposition of funds needed to maintain headquarters for the movement. This year's campaign, just as last year's, had its inspiration through Mrs. William Brown Meloney, and I feel that the people of the United States are indebted to her on that account."

Mrs. Meloney nationalized the Better Homes movement by organizing the first Better Homes week in October 1922, during which 521 houses throughout the country were carefully fitted out and opened to the public for the purpose of demonstrating the best standard practice of home-making. This year, 1,000 towns and cities took part.

A feature of the campaign which attracted nationwide attention was the Home Sweet Home house built within a stone's throw of the White House in Washington by the co-operative effort of several of the largest materials associations and concerns as a sample of the best standard practice in construction.

The model house, which was designed by Donn Barber as a replica of the homestead on Long Island which inspired John Howard Payne to write "Home Sweet Home," has been visited by more than 40,000 people.

Better Homes week will be celebrated in 1924 the first week in May.

Besides Mr. Hoover and Mrs. Meloney, the members of the national council are: President Coolidge, Honorary President; Secretary Henry C. Wallace; Secretary James John Davis; Col. Theodore Roosevelt; C. W. Fugaley; Dr. Hugh S. Cumming, Surgeon-General, U. S. Public Health Service; Julius H. Barnes, President, United States Chamber of Commerce; Donn Barber, Fellow American Institute of Architects; Mrs. Charles Schuttler; Livingston Farrand; John Barton Payne; Mrs. John Sherman; Mrs. John F. Lyons, President, National Federation of Music Clubs; Dr. John James Tigert, U. S. Commissioner of Education; John M. Gries; John Hilder; Dr. Lee K. Frankel; Mrs. Lena Lake Forrest, President National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs; Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, President General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Clara Sears Taylor and Miss Lida Hafford.

TELLS OF FIGHT TO SAVE AMERICAN CHESTNUT CROP

Washington. — Efforts to save the chestnut industry of this country, which is rapidly being swept out of existence by the chestnut blight, were described to the Northern Nut Growers' association in its fourteenth annual convention here by C. A. Reed, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He told of failures, disappointments, and promising successes in securing trees resistant to this damaging plant disease.

The chestnut blight is the result of a fungus growth which gets under the bark of chestnut trees and destroys the trees by girdling them. It was discovered in 1904 in trees on Long Island which had been introduced from Asia. Since that time it has spread through the United States, made great headway in what were once the chestnut belt, and threatens to completely wipe out the American chestnut crop.

Lincoln prepared for old age. When Abraham Lincoln was elected President he had accumulated $25,000. In 1860 he was in the American Magazine when he read his obituary and was shocked. Lincoln was not a money maker, but he had the saving instinct. He saved something every year.

LINCOLN PREPARED FOR OLD AGE

Until he was elected President, Mr. Coolidge had a small or a moderate income. But his friends have said that he always has made it a point to save a percentage of the income every year. Sometimes it was not much, but it always was something.

NATIONAL HELP FOR ENGLAND'S JOBLESS ASKED

Only Way to Alleviate Workers' Troubles.

London.—Labor's remedies for unemployment, and industrial discontent in England demand government action.

While the government shows no signs of adopting any policy likely to increase employment, labor leaders are insisting that the present trade depression and its consequent unemployment can only be alleviated by government projects which will require large employment of labor.

Reaching for a Highball—With a Racquet

What they want to do for sport's sake: We have here water tennis, and as one of our famous humorists would say, the game is a piece of cake. Picture shows Miss Wanda Sibbald and Mary Elizabeth Noble playing the game in aquatic games at Los Angeles.

way and create a demand by increasing their and thereby releasing production power for other services.

"I have a pile of agriculture, but it is so heavy that in this country we are industrially top-heavy, and in order to get more stability we should get more men on the land. How is to be done is a big question, but we should make an attempt to do it."

the Prince was "for it" wholeheartedly. They merely considered themselves as "law-abiding citizens," and the Prince as a "neighbor," and so it was.

The Prince mixed with the chauffeurs and the cow hands and enjoyed himself immensely. George Lane, one of the old-timers, they met on the morning together and "talked the situation over."

Lane has made and lost three fortunes in the cattle business. During the terrific winter of 1905-07 his main herd of 30,000 head strayed across the open prairie, for there was no fencing then on his 200,000 acres. They were split up in a three-day snowstorm. Then the round-up crew got busy and collected what was left of them.

ASSESSORS IN SESSION.
Property owners in Manchester should remember that the town board of assessors are now holding daily sessions at the Hall of Records. The board sits every day in the week except Saturday from 1.30 in the afternoon until 6.30 in the evening. So far the number of taxpayers who have appeared before the board has not been as large as it should be. The assessors will be in session the first five days of next week at the same place and hours and taxpayers are urged to attend to this duty of filing the lists of their taxable property. Those who fail to file their lists will be assessed an extra ten per cent.

The Centennial
Is over; the long, cool evenings are here. What better way to spend them than sitting before the open fire with a good book or the latest magazine? You will find your favorite author's latest books here; also the worth while magazines—Atlantic, Century, Harper's, Scribner's, Current History and the like. Stop on your way home and get something to read over the week-end.
