

REV. BEARDSLEE RESIGNS; SPLIT IN CONGREGATION

His Action Seen as Protest to Recent Business Tactics—Favored Purchase of Frank F. Spencer Property for Parsonage—Church Meeting Friday Night.

Rev. Raymond A. Beardslee, who has been pastor of the Second Congregational church for the past three years, read his resignation to the members of the church at the morning service yesterday.

Split in Congregation. A split in the congregation is believed to be the direct cause of the pastor resigning.

No Funds Left. The congregation voted to purchase the property but it was learned that because of a stipulation made in the Lucy G. Spencer will, the present parsonage, formerly the Lucy G. Spencer home, could not be disposed of to the financial benefit of the church.

When it was learned that the American Missionary society would give the present parsonage to the church, the members of the church did not purchase the property.

Opposition Won. The opposition won the dispute by a close vote. It is believed that Rev. Beardslee translated the action of the congregation in turning down the proposition as a move against him.

Another Meeting. A meeting of the congregation will be held Friday evening, June 26, at 7:30. At this time the pastor's resignation will be considered.

GOVERNOR GETS COPY OF NEW PUBLIC ACTS

Watkins Brothers Display Valuable Old Persian Rug

The showing of an antique Persian rug which is said to be more than 400 years old is causing much comment among those who have seen it at the Watkins Brothers companies the rug, it is learned that it was made as a kind of thank offering by one of the famous kings of the East who was married to the daughter of the Shah of Persia. The rug shows the meeting of the store where it is on exhibition. The rug, which is said to be worth more than $4,000, is the property of Edgar Selwyn of New York, who purchased it while on a visit to Persia some years ago. Around the border of the rug in ancient Arabic letters is the story of its manufacture and the reason that it was made. From the translation which was made by a Harvard professor of languages, and ac-

HIGH BLOODPRESSURE

Blood pressure is dependent upon two big factors, namely, the force of the heart beat and the elasticity of the blood vessels over the whole body.

The reason the pressure in our water pipes is always high is because the pumping station is giving the same force at each stroke and the pipe that leads into our homes is incapable of any elasticity. Consequently, a high water pressure is present at all times.

The difference between our water pressure and our blood pressure is accounted for in that the blood vessels over the body are elastic and will stretch to allow the blood to pass through.

High blood pressure is inevitable when the walls of the arteries become crusted with a calcium deposit. The tubes, or arteries, through which the blood flows become smaller, because of the deposit, and the elasticity of the vessels diminishes. When the blood vessels become crusted and the heart's pumping force remains the same an equal amount of blood must pass through smaller tubes, hence a rise in blood pressure.

Many people seem to think that high blood pressure is a sign of impending death. This is far from true. It does signify that physical or mental overwork should be eliminated, for the vessel walls may break under the strain. Numbness or faintness, in persons over 50 years of age, are the usual warnings of too much strain on the heart and arteries.

In middle life there is a tendency for the walls of the arteries to become hardened, due to the deposit of calcium salts from the blood. This change in the blood vessels is called "arterio sclerosis." Sometimes, the vessels at the wrist feel like pipe stems because of this sclerosis.

The heart always bears the brunt of high blood pressure. It expands in order to try and keep the same amount of room for the blood in the arterial system, that has been lessened by the hardening of the arteries over the whole body.

The vessels of the brain are among the first to be affected by the deposit of calcium. When these vessels break we have the "stroke," which is the general description of the condition. The chief causes of high blood pressure are overeating, mental or physical overwork, chronic tobacco poisoning, alcoholism and acute infections.

Questions on health topics may be addressed to Dr. Perry in care of this newspaper.

Question—I have Prostrate Glands, but because I am 76 years of age I feel that I am too old to undergo an operation. Please tell me how to ease the affliction and just how I must order my manner of living.—J. W.
Answer—Your problem is one not easily answered. If you are having continual pain it would be well for you to submit to Dilation or X-Ray treatment. This will give relief and will definitely aid the condition. You will be obliged to lead a very simple life, as regards habits and diet. Plenty of fresh air and sunshine will be helpful. Drink large amounts of pure water. Alcoholic drinks will aggravate your condition.

CONSIDER "BUTTONS" DEFECTS IN HIGHWAY

Accidents Caused by Bases in Highway Used as Traffic Signals.

The use of so called "buttons" at the intersection of highways by different cities and towns in Massachusetts is becoming so widespread as to constitute a menace to users of the road. These buttons are constructed of concrete with flat bases and round tops projecting several inches above the surface of the road. At least, one instance has come to attention where the use of these contrivances caused an accident, had the driver of the automobile not been driving carefully, might easily have resulted in a fatality.

According to W. A. Thibodeau, General Counsel for the Automobile Legal Association, it is the duty of the road surveyors and road commissioners of the different towns to remove these obstructions for Chapter 84 Section 7 of the General Laws requires that "surveyors of highways and road commissioners shall remove whatever obstructs the public ways within their respective towns or districts; or endangers travelers therein. If the road surveyors or road commissioners do not remove these obstructions they may be compelled to do so upon information filed by the Attorney General.

Surveyors of highways or road commissioners have absolute authority to remove these obstructions as their decision that a certain thing is an obstruction is conclusive. In the Bay State Brick Company case, under authority of the selectman, and had left them there for ten years, that the surveyors of highways of the town could remove the tracks even though the removal was actuated against the brick company, and the Supreme Court said in that case even though the surveyors of highways did not act in good faith, but were instigated to their action by motives other than public spirited ones, that it was still within their right to remove the obstruction and that the court would not review the judgment of the surveyors of highways to pass upon the question as to whether there is an obstruction or not.

In the opinion of Mr. Thibodeau, such obstructions may constitute a defect in the highway and the city or town using them is liable for any damage caused by them. In Indiana the courts have decided that a town is liable for damages sustained by one who ran into an unlighted traffic post at night and the North Carolina Courts have held that a city may be held liable for injuries to an automobile passenger incurred in a collision with concrete post maintained by a city in the traveled portion of a street. In Massachusetts, the Supreme Court has held that it is the duty of road surveyors to remove stonewall built within the line of the highway even though the wall does not interfere with the use of the way.

"Don't have to?" answered a cherry voice. "It's your old Uncle Lucky. Raining over your way?"

"Well, I should say so," replied the bunny boy. "There are so many rain drops falling I can't count them."

"Ha, ha!" laughed the dear old gentleman rabbit. "Don't try. You might be two months behind when Mr. Merry Sun comes out and turns the spigot in the old water spout."

"Well, I'll tell you," replied dear old Uncle. "I was thinking how nice it would be if it would stop raining by half past three."

MONDAY, JUNE 22, 1926.

GOOD TIMES.

A survey by the Labor Department shows a continuance in the upward trend in employment conditions throughout the country. There is a heavily increased demand for farm labor, no apparent let-up in building construction and increased employment in the automobile industry.

Good times, such as we are now having in this country, with high wages and little unemployment, are not generally productive of strikes on a large scale.

There also are ominous rumblings on the railroads. W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, announces the indefinite postponement of the proposed conference of railroad labor leaders and railroad managers to discuss the labor situation.

Mr. Lee also says that joint divisional meetings of the leaders of the men and conductors will meet November to consider the possibility of seeking a wage settlement.

hibitor who showed foreign films to show an equal amount of British films. More particularly since the war, English economic thought has begun to question the wisdom of general free trade.

VOICES FROM THE ARCTIC.

As the last minute tests of the radio apparatus on the Bowdoin and Peary, the two ships of the MacMillan Arctic expedition, were being made, the radio men expressed their firm belief "that there will be no day when we will not be in communication with you folks down here in civilization."

This information is of especial interest to Manchester in view of the fact that John Reinartz, the designer, builder and operator of the Bowdoin's apparatus, is a well known citizen. But, it already has appeared in full detail in the Herald.

The radio telephone will be in constant use by Reinartz and in the months to come his voice should become familiar to the many radio experts of this and other countries.

WILLMANTIC EVICTIONS.

Tomorrow the eviction notices served on the striking employees of the American Thread Company at Willmantic will become effective. The company declares that it needs its houses to accommodate new workers that are ready to come in from outside points.

The union leaders contend that the company earned a net dividend of ten percent in 1924 and that the wage reduction of ten per cent in January last was unreasonable.

Indianapolis, Ind.—James Whitcomb Riley, immortal Hoosier poet, was as keen a student of spiritualism thirty years ago as there is in the land today.

It was the death of his mother that first got Riley interested in spiritualism, according to Miss Kendall, who vividly described a scene in the Riley dining room back in the '90s.

"They all sat around a table, and the medium gave one in the circle a slate to get messages from their dead relatives," she recalled.

"They said to me: 'Well, if there's anything in it, when we get on the other side we'll let you know.'"

Then, after a long pause, she added, whimsically: "They're all over there now, but I haven't yet heard from any of them."

Pacifists are the "damndest fools," and the best citizens are those who look favorably on preparedness as the best means of combating the menace of future wars, according to Major-General Robert Lee Bullard, retired.

"Don't listen to people who tell you there are not going to be other wars," Bullard urged, in an address here at the annual dinner of the Eighty-fourth Division of the Organized Reserve.

THE SUCKER.

Despite the shallow esteem in which he is held by anglers, and the deep opprobrium under which he swims, the sucker is a respectable member of fish society.

At the risk of provoking snorts of ridicule, a suggestion is offered to anglers on the upper Delaware River, both expert and amateur, namely, during the spring and early summer, pretty well through June, if a sockolager sucker is caught, take him home and eat him.

Fishing recently for trout in the West Branch of the Delaware near Hancock without a strike from a trout, the angler substituted a lively fishworm for the fly. The bait was taken by a sucker in swift, cold, running water—possibly a hole. He fought like a good fish.

True, the fish-hawk lifts the sucker out of the rift, but the angler is surprised to encounter him there. Remembering what Isaac Walton wrote about cooking the chub, his disciple fried this 24-ounce chap in butter, after rubbing salt on his insides as a doughnut.

Forests primeval and the seas have been alike explored and mapped and charted. Only the regions about the poles, and these only to a limited extent, remain unknown.

There is fitness in the "red" for achievement that sends the Arctic explorer forth into peril. MacMillan, like Amundsen, has said "I do the North not to benefit myself, but in a desire for the ultimate benefit of fellow men."

PRISON LABOR IS TO BE ABOLISHED UNDER DAVIS PLAN

Instead Labor Head Intends to Teach Criminals Useful Occupation.

Washington—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis has begun a campaign to wipe out entirely the employment of prison labor in competition with free labor.

"I would not have prison-made goods marketed even for Government use," Davis said. The Labor Secretary had the Bureau of Labor Statistics compile figures covering the subject of convict labor and he was startled to find that of the 84,751 convicts whom the Bureau found in the State and Federal penitentiaries, less than 10,000, or only about 19 per cent, were working outdoors on public highways and public works.

"These men are working at an industry which has no educational value for them, which is not fitting to earn an independent livelihood after their term in prison. I found they were 'unlearning' sewing machines, putting out 12,000,000 workers' shirts a year, to enable a contractor to underbid in the markets and thus bankrupt outside shirt makers employing people trying to earn an honest living."

Secretary Davis claims that not only is this an unfair advantage given to prison contractors at the expense of the criminal of the State, but it makes practically impossible any reform in the treatment of the convict himself.

"The prisoner who does a good job in a workshop is given a reward that is not given to the free worker."

Do you know what a little bird told me today? I'd never have dreamed it, my lad, that a brave, manly fellow would throw clear away his courage and manliness, even in play—four to five million dollars a day for a number of months and thus enable China to win a victory against Japan without resort to arms, because they brought in merchant class of Japan in direct opposition to the militaristic aims of their own government.

EDUCATION IN CHINA.

In 1903 there were only 1247 students in all schools of a modern sort under Chinese auspices, and yet, when in September 1915 the government determined to establish a general system of public schools, before the end of that year they had established 5,000 such schools, going so far as to convert Buddhist and Taoist temples into school-rooms; and in 1918 under government auspices alone there were 134,000 schools and 4,500,000 students.

China's educational problem is enormous. A population of 400,000,000 would require, for an adequate public school system, not less than 2,000,000 teachers for all grades, and naturally this educational army cannot be developed overnight. It will require at least a generation. When it is considered that China faces the dual task of simultaneous development of a representative form of government and the development of a public school system to form the foundation of such government; and when we realize how closely these two are dependent one on the other, it appears that to attempt to establish a republic before the people, by education, are prepared for it, or attempt to establish public schools by stable to finance them, gives a combination which justifies the statement that China faces the greatest educational problem of all time.

There is a new factor in China which not only modifies the conditions for her internal development, but also her international relations, viz., the modern student, for the students of China, women as well as men, are not only her hope for the future, they are power in the present time.

LOCAL MEN INCORPORATE TO SELL BIG FLORIDA LAND DEVELOPMENT

Frank H. Anderson and Robert J. Smith in Firm to Develop and Sell Seminole Estates— Will Be Ultra-Modern Allotment— To Open Offices in Large Cities.

Frank H. Anderson, general manager of the J. W. Hale Company store, and Senator Robert J. Smith, local real estate promoter, with Edward Stanley Klein, of Suffolk, Conn., a brother-in-law of Mayor Robert V. Treat, have incorporated a real estate firm in the name of Anderson, Smith and Klein, and will develop and sell allotments of land in Florida. The company has secured control of a large real estate development near the city line of St. Petersburg, Florida, and is now preparing the land for sale.

The three plots of land which make up the tract aggregate 202 acres and overlook Boca Ciega bay. The entire property is now owned by the Seminole Estates syndicate, in which nearly 50 Manchester men are shareholders.

Sales Managers
Anderson, Smith and Klein have incorporated under the Florida laws and in addition to the large Seminole Estates proposition they will be sales managers for a number of other real estate developments in the southern state.

Up-To-Date Tract
Seminole Estates will be one of the most up-to-date allotments in the South as seen. It will have beautiful drives and parkways, paved streets, an ultra-modern hotel, and a drinking water supply no city in Florida can beat. Electric lights will be installed throughout the development and there will be a complete sewage system. Sidewalks will be constructed on all streets and to accommodate those property owners who have children a large playground and paddling pool will be built.

Other Features
A nursery will be established to provide shrubs, trees, flowers, and plants for the residents and a landscape gardener will be employed to supervise the planting of the trees and shrubs. All buildings on the tract will be restricted and titles will be guaranteed by an insurance company.

Treasurer

Senator Robert J. Smith, Named Treasurer of New Real Estate Corporation.

Option Secured

An option was first secured on Seminole Estates by Walter J. Lewis, well known to many Manchester people as the manager of two large hotels at Bethlehem, N. H., and a personal friend of Frank H. Anderson. Mr. Lewis is the trustee of the syndicate which now owns the tract. Associated with Mr. Lewis in acquiring the option was Edward Condon, a retired lawyer now living in St. Petersburg. Frank N. Tyler formerly a resident here knew of the tract and approved of Mr. Lewis' judgment in securing the option. Both Mr. Condon and Mr. Tyler are now share holders in the syndicate.

Bind the Bargain

About a month ago Mr. Lewis telegraphed F. H. Anderson that he had an option on a tract of land that would make one of the best developments in Florida. He had talked Florida's possibilities with Mr. Anderson previously and knew the local man would consider investing. He suggested that enough shares of stock be sold to bind the bargain. Mr. Anderson has great respect for Mr. Lewis' business judgment and immediately set out to sell shares here.

Senator Smith Interested

In consulting Senator Robert J. Smith about the proposition, Mr. Anderson found that the Senator was interested to the extent of making a trip to Florida. Consequently, after the Florida land had been secured by a first payment Mr. Anderson with Senator Smith went to Florida.

Study Florida Conditions

In this first trip to Florida together Mr. Anderson and Mr. Smith visited the best allotments in the state. They studied Florida conditions and learned the methods adopted by real estate men in the

Heads New Firm

Impressed With Plot

Visiting Seminole Estates they were convinced that its location was one of the best they had seen. They found the tract to be three miles north of the city line of St. Petersburg, on Boca Ciega bay, and just a few miles south of Belleair, in the rapidly growing city of Sarasota they met Frank N. Tyler, who is one of the most prominent real estate dealers in that city.

Propose Sales Firm

The proposition was made that the two local men, Frank H. Anderson and R. J. Smith, incorporate a firm, plan and execute an up-to-date development and sell the entire Seminole Estates. The good judgment of Mr. Lewis, Mr. Tyler and both Anderson and Smith combined indicated that such a proposition would be successful and it was decided to do so.

Sell More Stock

In order to acquire the property in full and develop it as Mr. Anderson and Mr. Smith hoped to, it was necessary to sell more stock in the syndicate. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Anderson, returned to Manchester enthusiastic about the deal. Many Manchester people were seen by the two and it was not long before practically all the stock was sold. Some of Manchester's most enterprising business men invested in the syndicate. A considerable portion of the stock was sold to business men in Hartford, Springfield and New Haven.

Incorporation Completed

Mr. Klein, who is also a personal acquaintance of Mr. Lewis became interested and upon their second trip to Florida from which Mr. Anderson and Mr. Smith returned last Thursday, incorporation was completed and Mr. Klein was brought into the firm. F. H. Anderson was named president, Robert J. Smith, treasurer, and E. S. Klein, secretary.

Hon. George Bacon Interested

As a legal adviser they took along Hon. George Bacon, a Springfield, Mass. lawyer, former chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Massachusetts, and the man who managed President Coolidge's campaign when he ran for governor of the Bay State. Mr. Bacon is a corporation lawyer whose judgment is recognized throughout the East. He is a share holder in the Seminole Estates syndicate.

To Open New Office

An office of the firm of Anderson, Smith and Klein is soon to be opened in St. Petersburg. Although the site has not been made public, both local men assert that it will be one of the most prominent in the Sunshine City.

To Sell Other Land

There are between five and six million dollars worth of property in Seminole Estates to be sold and the exclusive agency for a term of three years has been granted Anderson, Smith and Klein. Mr. Anderson is confident the property will all be sold in the next twelve months. It is planned to have one of the three firm members at the St. Petersburg office at all times.

Clearing the Tract

Several tractors are now being operated on the land, clearing it and a crew of 32 men is busy preparing the development so that it will be suitable for building. Forty acres have already been cleared. The type of land which makes up the tract is unusual for Florida. The land slopes gradually away from the water front until at the rear of the allotment it reaches an elevation of 35 feet. Such an elevation in Florida is a hill to the natives. Every lot in the 202 acres has a view of beautiful Boca Ciega bay. The plot is covered with southern pines, live oak, and palm trees.

The Water Front

An unusually fine water front adds considerably to the value of the property. A sea wall will be constructed and it is the plan to have a yacht basin protected by the wall. The land within will be deeded and sold.

To Be Widely Advertised

Seminole Estates will be extensively advertised both in the North and throughout Florida. E. E. Naugle, Inc., one of the best advertising concerns in the south and the man who put across Florida's wonderful Pasadena development will have complete control of the advertising in Florida. Newspaper, billboards, circulars and maps will be used to place the name and ad-

Advantages of Seminole Estates before the public.

Mr. Anderson, Able Manager
Frank H. Anderson's ability to direct a big task, whether it be business management, real estate development and sale, or impressive celebrations, is well known to Manchester people. He is best known for the enterprise he shows as a store manager. The J. W. Hale Company's name has gone out from Manchester as one of the most up-to-date department stores in a city of Manchester's size in the country. Mr. Anderson's managerial ability is largely responsible. Manchester's Centennial celebration in 1923 proved to thousands, not only in Manchester, but in the visiting throngs that Mr. Anderson had an almost unlimited imagination and ability to execute his plans. His recent stroke of real estate fever first came to light when he purchased the Green Hill tract and planned its development. This development will prove to be one of Manchester's finest and the completed plans for it will soon be announced.

Senator Smith's Influence

Senator Robert J. Smith's popularity in Manchester is well known. He has been sent to the Legislature as Manchester's representative and he is now the Senator from the district in the General Assembly. He is one of the most popular members of the Board of Selectmen. A number of years ago Mr. Smith decided he could make more money working for himself than in the employ of another and acting upon that belief he launched into the real estate, insurance and steamship ticket business. His success was assured almost from the minute he started. He gained immediately and has since upheld the reputation of being absolutely honest and upright in all dealings no matter how small or how large.

Something About Mr. Klein

For many years Edward Stanley Klein conducted a casket hardware business in Thompsonville, Conn. The business is now a part of the National Casket Company and Mr. Klein is manager of the concern. He married Miss Bessie Manning, daughter of Arthur Manning of this city, and is known to many local people.

Mr. Bacon Is Well Known

Hon. George Bacon, legal adviser of the firm, and an interested member of the Seminole Estates syndicate, is a political figure in New England. He organized the Longmeadow Country Club and as a state before is an intimate friend of President Coolidge. For eleven years he has been guardian of the interests of the G. O. P. in Massachusetts. His name and ability as a corporation lawyer have been found a valuable asset to the syndicate.

Mr. Lewis Capable

Walter J. Lewis derives considerable of his business ability from his many years as manager of resort hotels. He managed syndicates before and has not met failure in any of his attempts. His personality can be relied upon to a considerable extent when business deals are transacted.

Mr. Condon Experienced

Edward Condon is a St. Petersburg man. He formerly practiced law in New York and has had a very extended experience. He will cooperate with Mr. Bacon in the legal matters.

Frank N. Tyler Successful

Frank N. Tyler another prominent member of the syndicate is well known in Manchester. He formerly managed the Manchester Lumber Company and has gained considerable wealth in dealings in lumber. He is now on his way north to complete a few business deals. Mr. Tyler lives the year round in Florida since retiring from active business here.

Will Furnish Information

Mr. Anderson and Mr. Smith will be glad to furnish local people with information about Florida property. They have investigated real estate developments throughout that state and are in a position to give good advice. They have plans for future Florida developments when the Seminole Estates property is sold. These will be announced later.

Boom Will Last

In the judgment of Mr. Anderson and Mr. Smith the Florida boom has only started. The boom, they believe, is some years distant. Robert Bacon, one of the country's most able students of business conditions, has invested in Florida property and claims Florida has yet to see its best year. Arthur Brisbane and Thomas Edison are other Florida boosters and investors.

Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car Company is "sold" on the Florida idea. He believes that Florida's greatest assets are roads and climate. The State of Florida believes that development and growth follow the best roads. For that reason the finest highways in the world are being constructed in that state. The Florida climate is such that the newspapers are free every day the sun falls to shine.

In Path Of Growth

Seminole Estates is in the path of development. It is so situated that a fine new Pinellas County highway borders it. A new causeway has just been constructed leading to the beach from its tract and the development lies between St. Petersburg and Clearwater, the Pinellas County seat.

Only 38 Hours Away

Manchester had a large colony in Florida last winter and most of the local people lived in and around St. Petersburg. All of those who have been South from here boost Florida. It is the rendezvous of every man from the tired store clerk to the business executive weary with making money. It is only 68 hours away and traveling accommodations are of the best. One can leave Manchester Friday night and be in St. Petersburg Sunday morning. There is a twenty minute bus service between St. Petersburg and Seminole Estates. Living is cheap in Florida and bungalows are rivaling grapefruit for quantity production.

The Contract

The contract whereby Anderson, Smith and Klein are given the sales agency for Seminole Estates shows explicitly the type of development in which the local men are interested. The contract follows:

Witness: This agreement by and between Walter J. Lewis, of St. Petersburg, Florida, Trustee of Seminole Estates, party of the first part, and Frank H. Anderson and Robert J. Smith, both of Manchester, State of Connecticut, and Edward Stanley Klein of Enfield, said Connecticut, parties of the second part, as follows:

1. The first part agrees to clear, grade, lay out, prepare and develop a tract of land in Pinellas County, Florida, known as Seminole Estates, together with all side of said tract, ready for residential purposes in an attractive manner, and in so doing among other things agrees to do at his own expense the following:

1. Fill and reclaim as much land on the Boca Ciega Bay front as can be legally and properly reclaimed, cause the same to be graded, filled and graded ready for building residences; cover same as much as possible, the soil to be of the best quality and suitable for building construction of all kinds, and provide at least one adequate yacht dock with like cement or wall, and work to begin if possible by October 1, 1925 and completed as soon as can be by use of at least dredge.

Streets and Parkways

WAPPING

It was struck by a Marmon touring car near Burnham's corner at about 10 o'clock last evening. Though the Ford was almost wrecked, no one was hurt. The Marmon suffered little damage. The blame for the accident is still a matter of dispute.

Daughter, Josephine Ann, was born to Rev. and Mrs. Truman H. Woodward yesterday morning at the Washington Street private hospital in Hartford.

George Hills attended the Senior Prom of the West Hartford high school last Friday evening.

The Master Mason degree will be worked at Evergreen Lodge in South Windsor tonight.

Rev. Truman H. Woodward spoke at the dedication service of Wesley Methodist Episcopal church in Warehouse Point yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. McMahon of Hartford were the guest at the home of Eugene Bentley yesterday. Lights were out in the village last evening because of the storm. Services at the Federated Church were held in spite of this handicap, several hand lamps being utilized.

Miss Irene Lydall of Hudson street, Manchester, sang two solos. Sixty-five were present.

The Sunday school will be held on the lawn of the M. E. church next Wednesday evening.

SONS GET REVENGE FOR FORMER LOSS

Genovese Strikes Out 11 Men and Gives Five Hits While Team Bats Hard.

The Sons of Italy got even with the Postoffice team of Hartford yesterday afternoon at the West Side Oval when they gave them an unmerciful clouting 17 to 2. The surprising thing is that the Hartford team ever beat them in Hartford. Of course, being on the home grounds helps some teams more than others.

The Sons made 17 hits and a run for every hit which is what is called getting fine results for goods delivered. Mantelli, Lovett and Farr were the members of murderer row which did the most damage to the visiting pitcher. Genovese pitched fine ball keeping the five hits well scattered.

McKenna pitched well until the fifth when the Sons began to solve his system and from then on it was a regular slaughtering match. Stacy made a single and triple and single. The shortstop and third baseman had five errors which helped make the Sons' runs come easy. The box score:

FLORENCE WINS CLOSE GAME FROM MANCHESTER SATURDAY

Slippes Strikes Out 16 Men Support Falters at Inopportune Times and Game is Lost.

The Manchester team journeyed to Florence last Saturday and were beaten 4 to 3. It was only one more game to be added to the long list of lost opportunities which are accumulating against the local aggregation. The story of nine men on bases tells the same old tale of the much wanted base hits that never came. A man may be the best looking ball player in the world until he comes to a pinch and then he continually falls down on his little value to his team. A man can beat nearly anybody anywhere in this game and lose to any player. To one sitting on the sidelines that seems to be the principal trouble with the Manchester club today.

Slippes pitched a fine game of ball for a man who is not in pitching condition and it was not his fault if men were put on the bases through bad plays of his support and then a hit would follow to score the run. He struck out 16 men, seven in succession, and made most of them look foolish. He walked nobody and still he lost his game. He had a world of speed and not very good control of a sharp breaking curve. It was surprising how either pitcher could get a ball near the plate considering that the pitcher's rubber was on a mound with a deep hole all around it. The umpire tried to be fair but two decisions went against Manchester that hurt. He called Kane out at second when there was nothing close about it and he allowed a Florence man to score that had not come within three feet of touching third base.

Lorch's error was responsible for the second run and Wright's muff of a pop fly and Johnson's mis of a ground ball that was barely moving when it got to him caused the third run. Johnson also attempted to score on a fly ball but was caught between bases and ran down for the third out. Kotsch was responsible for the fifth run. Wright flew out to right and Budnick hit the pitcher. In the sixth with three on bases and one out Lamprecht struck out but Hanna came through with a nice single to left but only one man could score. Then Kotsch lined to the center fielder.

Bachman, who pitched for Florence, was wild and grooved a great many balls and still the Manchester team could not hit him effectively. They had another pitcher in the bullpen warming up on two different occasions but Bachman finally weathered the storm. There were not over three hard hit balls off him all afternoon. The battery were at the plate six times and waved at their friends every time which caused them to get in a lull. The third baseman had no chance for a run all they had to do was hit it to Ryan and he would proceed to make the widest kind of a throw. The first baseman did not help him out in any way in the way he handled low thrown balls. Dunn, the Fordham college baseball captain, did well what little he had to do in the field and made a timely single and double. Elliott also hit well. The umpire did not handle the balls but when one went out of play another was thrown in from the bench and all went well until the final inning when Florence was at the bat when they started throwing in new balls when old ones went out of play.

Florence started the scoring in the second when King doubled to left and scored on Dunn's single to right. After two were out in the third Elliott singled to right and stole second and scored on Lorch's bad throw of Coughlin's ground ball. In the fourth on Kane's single down the center alley, John's walk, Slippes sacrificed down the third base line and all hands were safe when Bachman threw to third too late to catch any one. Lorch flew out to the first baseman, the pitcher made a bad throw trying to catch Kane and he scored. Lamprecht skied to Jones and Johnson was doubled when he tried some foolish base running. Manchester scored again in the sixth and tied matters up. Kane went out, Johnson singled to left, Slippes hit one too hot for the pitcher to handle and Lorch walked, Lamprecht beat the air and Hanna singled to left scoring Johnson.

In the latter half of the sixth Florence unknotted the score by scoring on Wright's and Johnson's errors and did not hit a ball out of the infield. In the first half of the ninth Manchester tied the score again on two runs of the third baseman since since came in and won when the one man out when Dunn double down the right and scored when pinch Matthews scratched a single which partially knocked out the Manchester.

HUSKIES FAVORED IN TODAY'S RACE

Washington Has the Edge, Experts Declare—Navy Has Slight Chance.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 22.—Join the Navy and beat Washington. That slogan smote the visiting eardrums from ever; side today as 50,000 trekked the hills of this upstate river town awaiting the annual four mile race between the crews of seven universities, a race which is destined to establish the official identity of the inter-collegiate rowing champion for 1936.

Beat Washington. "Beat Washington" was the sentimental by-word of an eastern public which had become a bit fed up on the fact that the huskies have come out of the west to score two victories and a second place in the last three years.

But Washington, said the wise money, which was, as always about as sentimental as a junk dealer's wife.

And bet Washington the great majority did, giving the huskies just a slight edge over the Navy, official hope of the East. It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that, since the Middies finished behind Washington for the last two years, they were due to repeat the performance late this afternoon.

Other crews, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Syracuse, Cornell and Columbia, also were scheduled to go to the mark at Krum's elbow but their existence was regarded as likely to be tolerated, like the animal act that follows the sing and dance team. They were expected to follow the Middies and Washington very successfully from start to finish.

Owing to a rather tempestuous head wind, the start of the varsity race probably will be delayed until well into the gathering gloom of twilight. The early weather was clear but the course was choppy and the wind was strong.

Saints Are Under Big Strain Holding Their Ground First Place Position in Twilight League.

The annual banquet of the Manchester Soccer Club will be held in Orange Hall next Saturday, June 27, at 7:30 p. m. By these fortunate enough to be invited this is one of the most looked-forward-to events of the season because of the good time always ensured and the good fellowship and camaraderie engendered.

The Manchester team will play another Twilight game next Thursday night with the St. Mary's team of Providence, R. I. This is said to be one of the fastest semi-pro teams around a city that abounds with good ball players.

They say that Bachman, who pitched against Manchester at Orange Hall next Saturday, June 27, at 7:30 p. m. By these fortunate enough to be invited this is one of the most looked-forward-to events of the season because of the good time always ensured and the good fellowship and camaraderie engendered.

The Red Men will hold a regular practice on Mt. Nebo tonight at 6:15 and all members are requested to be on time. Bill Brennan may be unable to play this week because of an infected leg from spike wound received last Tuesday night.

The old Morning Glory team is about to be organized for the season and any players wishing to join this club will do well to communicate at once with Charlie Coughlin, 22 Birch street. He wants to hold a practice this week and get in a challenge for a game next Sunday with some local club. Players who have been with him in former years will be given the preference.

The Manchester ball club will hold a regular practice tomorrow night at the Stadium at 6 sharp and all players are expected to be in uniform. Page was expected to sign up for the season but after yesterday's game when he was touched up so consecutively in the fourth it was concluded that he was not strong enough to stop Bristol so he was allowed to wander in other fields.

MANCHESTER FANS JOURNEY HOMEWARD HAPPY WITH MEMORY THAT ROCKVILLE HAD BEEN BEATEN IN FIRST BATTLE

C. B. A. A. BEATEN BY KNOWLES CLUB

Georgetti Pitches Well with Poor Support But Senkbell's Speed Was Just Right for Knowles.

The C. B. A. A. team went to Worcester Saturday to inspect the Crompton & Knowles club. Incidentally they were used in every way until it came to the ball game when they felt they were not treated exactly right. The hitting of both clubs was about a par but Stratton and Cervini had five boots between them and kept Georgetti in the hole a great deal of the time, especially in the second inning. A serious mistake was made when Senkbell was substituted in the box as his speed was not what the doctor ordered for the locals.

Manchester was ahead once in the game when they scored a run on Wilkinson's double and Stratton's single.

The locals got busy in the second and scored five runs on two hits, two errors and two walks and they were never headed during the rest of the game.

In the fourth Benny strolled and scored on loose play by the locals. Again in the sixth Senkbell singled, White doubled and Cole singled which resulted in two runs. Senkbell was hit for five hits and gave four walks in the sixth and seventh which resulted in seven runs.

The last Manchester run was scored on White's triple and an error on Cole's hit. The box score: Crompton & Knowles.

Runs and Settles First Rockville and Manchester Series Game—Locals Hit and Field Well—Slippes Gets Four Hits.

Yesterday afternoon people living in the vicinity of the Stadium heard more real oldtime baseball rooting than has been heard since the field was built. It was mostly men from Rockville who were giving verbal support to their team and in the excitement some of the Manchester people forgot their dignity long enough to go right back at them in a good natured way and a bona fide rooting match was on. Rockville came, saw and did not conquer but for four innings it was a real battle with Rockville having the better of it. In the fifth the Rockville team blew up and the old ball game slipped out of their grasp. The final score was 8 to 2.

The Rockville backers made a commendable effort to bring back the old friendly rivalry by placing the best local talent they had on the team with the addition of a batter to find out whether there was enough talent in baseball between the two towns to justify them in gathering a stronger team and make a more determined effort to win the series which will be eventually arranged. Some of the men on the team had a slight case of stage fright especially in the fourth inning when Manchester took advantage of their slips and, supplemented by some hard hitting, scored eight runs. Outside of that inning it was a nip and tuck affair and it would have been a question which team would have won. Rockville hit hard enough in the fourth to drive one pitcher to the stable, making two singles, a triple and two singles in succession and all hard hit balls.

The winning crew, Graf, Patton and Miller made several out of the ten hits made by Rockville and were responsible for three out of four runs scored. The second baseman, Tobin, at times seemed to be all at sea and he was responsible for the spectacle of a runner being dropped safely at his feet while he was running around in a circle for no apparent reason at all. Reynolds pitched a fair game of ball considering the discouraging support he received and though his score shows 19 hits against him quite a few of them should have been caught or handled easily.

Graf made two nice throws to plate getting Budnick each time. Pace started on the rubber fairly well until the fourth when Rockville landed hard on his curves and in the twinkling of an eye had jumped into the lead. Johnson then took the burden and succeeded in stopping the victors dead in their tracks. He allowed four hits and struck out four men. Manchester made two errors but only one of them counted in the scoring. Slippes was late in arriving at the mound but went into the game in time to make two hits in the big fourth inning when 12 men faced the pitcher. Lorch also made two singles in the fifth besides playing a swell game in the field, according to the cheering clearly. Everybody but Adams and Page made at least an out.

The scoring started in the first inning when Smith ambled but was thrown out on Hunniford's hit to center. Adams passed ball advanced Hunniford to second and then to third on Graf's out and scored on Miller's hit to second. Manchester went them one better by scoring two runs. Kotsch flew out to Hunniford, Wright singled to center and immediately stole second, was advanced to third on Adams's long fly to right and scored on Kane's hit to left, he reached second on an error of Burke's and scored on a fast single to center from Hanna's bat.

The fourth was a whole ball game in itself, 11 runs being scored. Graf started the inning for Rockville by riding a hard single to center; Miller followed with one to right and Patton took this suspicious occasion to park the longest drive of the day against the center field fence for three bases, scoring two runs. Lehrmatt kept the good work up by depositing a single in left scoring Patton.

In Manchester's half 11 men went to bat and scored eight runs setting the ball game for good and all. Slippes made his debut in the game with a rattling single to right, Budnick flew out to Burke, slugging a one-baser in left. Lorch placed a one-baser to left. Lamprecht shot a fouling single to center, Reynolds and Smith commiserated with errors, Johnson hit one between his hands to center for a single, Kotsch was safe on Adams's choice, Wright went out on a hit to third, Adams was safe on an error of the third

SAINTS PULL GAME FROM FIRE AGAIN

McKay is Hero When He Clouts Triple with Two on Bases and Scores Himself.

The Saints came through with their usual garrison finish at West Side oval Saturday afternoon when they defeated Mechanicville A. A. for the second time this year, 7 to 6. The Saints were unable to touch a ball without booting it in the first two innings and four runs were in before they concluded to settle down and start their uphill battle. Seelert kept plugging away and when his support failed him he did not lose courage and in the end he was rewarded by having another win added to his credit. W. Stevenson and Plitt worked well together and accepted 15 out of 17 chances. McKay made two bad errors in early part of game but all was forgiven and forgotten in the eighth inning when he clouted a long triple with two on and later scored himself thus winning an exciting game. Carlson caught his usual steady game and spilled encouragement frequently, and where it would do the most good.

SAINTS PULL GAME FROM FIRE AGAIN

McKay is Hero When He Clouts Triple with Two on Bases and Scores Himself.

The Saints came through with their usual garrison finish at West Side oval Saturday afternoon when they defeated Mechanicville A. A. for the second time this year, 7 to 6. The Saints were unable to touch a ball without booting it in the first two innings and four runs were in before they concluded to settle down and start their uphill battle. Seelert kept plugging away and when his support failed him he did not lose courage and in the end he was rewarded by having another win added to his credit. W. Stevenson and Plitt worked well together and accepted 15 out of 17 chances. McKay made two bad errors in early part of game but all was forgiven and forgotten in the eighth inning when he clouted a long triple with two on and later scored himself thus winning an exciting game. Carlson caught his usual steady game and spilled encouragement frequently, and where it would do the most good.

The Saints made their first two runs on a hit and an overthrow of the center fielder trying to catch a man at third. In the sixth and eighth innings they bunched seven of their hits with two walks for five runs. They have come from behind to win their last three games. The box score:
